OWNERS OF DOGS TOLD OF DANGER OF RABIES

Infected Animal Found; Believed To Have Bitten Two Persons

"Do not take your dogs into Northern Delaware, or accept dogs from there," is the gist of a joint warning issued by the executive [illegible] of the Game and Fish Commission and the State Board of Health. The warning was issued last week as the result of the discovery of a Wilmington dog, believed suffering from rabies. The head of the animal was taken to the laboratory of the State Board of Health, Dover, and examination showed it to be infected. This dog is known to have bitten, or scratched, two persons. They are under medical care.

A veterinarian was reported to have been bitten by a dog believed to have been rabied. The head of the animal was sent to the Veterinary School of the University of Pennsylvania, and thence to the Pennsylvania State Board of Health at Harrisburg for more complete examination.

Treatment Available

Arrangements have been set up by the State Board of Health to furnish material for treatment of persons bitten by supposedly rabied dogs. These materials will be furnished free of charge to indigent persons. Health authorities have advised that persons, bitten or scratched by dogs that may be rabied, should put themselves to their private physicians for immediate treatment. Physicians are being advised to communicate immediately with the State Board of Health, Dover, to obtain the necessary materials, at cost for indigent cases. These arrangements have proven efficacious in the majority of cases.

Dog owners that take their animals into the northern Delaware area, are advised to take extreme precautions to see that they do not come into contact with other animals.

It is not necessary that an animal appear rabid to be infectious, and it bite another animal to transmit the disease. The disease may be passed on through the action of saliva from an infected animal to a cut in the body of a non-infected one.

Owners Being Cautioned

Owners are being cautioned to keep their dogs completely out of contact with other animals, lest they incur a transmission of rabies. They are cautioned against the practice of allowing pets to take "a short run alone." No loss of time is necessary for an animal to acquire the germs of rabies from the occasional solo run may be entirely as dangerous as a dog day on the loose.

Health authorities have repeatedly advised owners to consult veterinarians about the protective results to be expected from inoculation, but if this treatment is used, complacency over-confidence and a belief that it is the only preventive measure that need be put into effect.

Dogs suspected of having rabies should not be killed, if avoidable, especially when he shows the [illegible] proposed signs of the disease. According to a pamplet issued by the State Board of Health. If possible, lock him in a secure place from which he may not escape to do any harm, and give him small amounts of food and water; Dr. Hugh, an amateur diagnostician, having rabies are so [illegible] and the animal may recover. If he actually has rabies, he will die within a few days, usually within a week, by progressive paralysis.

Figured In Local Safety Programs

Pontious (left), Farm Bureau safety directory, who conducted the tests, spoke before the school assembly in the morning and before the Lions Club Tuesday evening.

ROTARY SESSION

District Head Guest Speaker At Meeting

The Rev. Thomas Wingate, of Salem, N. J., governor of the 184th district of Rotary, was the guest speaker Monday evening at a meeting of the newly-organized Newark Rotary Club at the Deer Park Hotel. Dr. Thomas F. Manns, president, was in charge of the session.

A student at the University of Delaware from 1911 until 1915, Mr. Wingate described a Rotary Club as an organization of business and professional men banded together with the ideal of service. He praised members of the Middletown organization for their efforts in forming the group here and spoke about the charter presentation about the first of the year.

Middletown Guests

Attending the meeting from Middletown were: Thomas Newman, president; H. Wallace Cook, vice-president; Harlan Fisher, Cedric Cooper, and Herbert Phillips. Music for the affair was furnished by Miss Madeline Manlove, of Middletown.

Officers of the local organization are: Dr. Manns, president; F. Allyn Cooch, Jr., vice-president; Samuel E. Dameron, treasurer; William S. Hamilton, secretary, and Ralph Smith and Jack Dayett, directors.

SAFETY IS DISCUSSED

Speaker At High School Assembly And Lions Club

"The statement 'you can stop her on a dime' is frequently heard in connection with the modern automobile, but few folks know just how large the dime has to be," said Harry M. Pontious, safety director, Ohio Farm Bureau, Columbus, Ohio, in speeches before the Newark High School assembly Tuesday morning and before the weekly meeting of the Lions Club at the Newark Country Club Tuesday evening.

Mr. Pontious was the guest of Louis T. Jarmon, local representative of the Ohio Farm Bureau. He was accompanied by H. F. Warren of the company's Baltimore district office.

W. K. Gillespie, principal, presided at the high school session, while President Paul D. Lovett officiated at the Lions meeting. George M. Haney introduced Mr. Pontious at the latter assemblage.

Swimming Fund Aided

With the Newark Swimming Pool Fund showing a deficit of $150 for the year—$71 of which is needed immediately for the settlement of pressing bills—an appeal has been sounded by Dr. J. S. Gould, chairman of the committee, for help by local organizations.

A collection among members of the Lions Club of Newark netted $34.75 Tuesday evening after a speaker had urged the group to contribute only $25 to aid in meeting the deficit. Other organizations are being contacted for support.

Christmas Barrels To Be Packed By Organization

The Women's Auxiliary of the First Presbyterian Church of Newark will meet in the lecture room on Tuesday evening at 7:45 o'clock. All those who have articles for the Christmas barrels to be packed at this meeting, are requested to bring or send them.

Gay Days Of Sleighing On Main Street Are Recalled

Who can remember the sleighing days of the gay nineties—when Main Street was turned into a race track and it was harder to get across the street than it it today with the automobiles? That was the time of old-fashioned winters.

There were no concrete streets, and few improvements. But when the snow fell on the rough, dusty road, and was packed from side to side, it shone like crystal. And when all the trees were touched with magic, and the vines on the houses looked like precious lacework, then the street became like fairyland.

Beautiful horses with silver bells and many colored sleighs dashed down the shining street. The Deer Park was the starting point, and Chapel Street the ending.

Everyone who had a good horse aimed to be out early in the afternoon. Owners of good horses came from miles away to race on the Newark street, and the interest taken in the racing by the town people was scarcely less than that at the Delaware track today.

Always preminent in the racing was Herman Tyson, with Cockran's fine trotters. Bob Morrison, who also had horses of good trotting stock; Jack Pilling, and Dan Thompson; Sam Donnell, whose driving was rather joyful; Joe Eastburn with his big black mustache, and his dashing horse and cutter, and always the same lady by his side.

Joe Swaney, who drove a big, lanky horse with old-fashioned bells to a basket sleigh. Dolly Boyles, who had the only horse from the colored section of the

Tolerance Set At 7 Grains Per Pound

Tolerance for flourine is set at seven grains per pound, effective today, according to the announcement made this week by Secretary of Agriculture H. A. Wallace. The notification was made by the Bureau of Markets. The ruling applies to fruit shipped in the jurisdiction of the Federal Food and Drugs Act.

Previously in the lead tolerance was set at the time the movement of apples began. The residue now in effect is: Lead .025 and flourine 10 grains per pound.

Party At Glasgow For Benefit Of Grange

A card party will be held in Glasgow Hall, Glasgow, Saturday night at eight o'clock for the benefit of Deer Grange No. 60. Prizes will be given and refreshments served.

SERVICES HELD FOR J. N. WHITE

U. of D. Graduate Victim of Heart Attack

Funeral services for James Nelson White, Jr., a graduate of the University of Delaware, who died Saturday night in an automobile en route to a doctor's office here, were held Tuesday afternoon from the Pippins Funeral Home, Elkton, Md.

Employed as assistant engineer of the War Department, in charge of a survey of the Delaware and Chesapeake Canal, he was a native of Wilmington and formerly resided here. At the time of his death, he was making his home in Elkton.

He had been shopping in Wilmington and on returning to his home late Saturday afternoon, was taken ill. Thomas Shenks, an assistant was asked to drive him to the office of Dr. Wallace M. Johnson, 257 East Main Street, and about two miles from Newark, Mr. White suddenly slumped over. He was pronounced dead by Dr. Johnson. A heart condition was blamed.

Won Scholastic Honors

Mr. White, who attained high scholastic honors at Delaware, graduated in the class of 1928 with a Bachelor of Science degree in civil engineering. He was a member of the Phi Kappa Phi honor society and of the Theta Chi Fraternity.

In 1926, the deceased figured in one of the worst automobile accidents ever to occur here. When riding with three companions, their car was struck by a railroad train at the North College Avenue crossing. Two students, James Hawke and Ernest McRoberts, were killed, and White and Carl Heil, of Wilmington, were seriously injured.

Thirty-three years of age, White is survived by his wife, the former Ethel Marie Moore, of Milford, a graduate of the Women's College, class of 1930, a five-year-old daughter, and a brother and sister.

Blaze Causes $2,400 Loss At University Of Delaware

Fire which broke out Tuesday night in the electrical engineering radio laboratory of Evans Hall, University of Delaware, caused considerable damage to equipment and supplies.

Located on the first floor of the building, the laboratory contained a number of radios, technical books, and equipment for research work. A short circuit is believed to have started the blaze.

The fire, discovered by Charles W. Lumb, night watchman, attracted hundreds of students and townspeople. It was confined to the one room which is under the direction of Prof. George Koerber, professor of electrical engineering.

The loss was estimated at $2,400, according to Charles E. Grubb, business administrator, who stated that radio equipment received the greatest damage.

The Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Company answered the call.

Insure before the fire. W. Harry Dawson. Dial 2-0441.

Newark Student To Take Part In School Program

John P. Sinclair, 227 Orchard Road, a third year student in the law school at the University of Pennsylvania, has been appointed to a campus committee which will aid in conducting a Christian Embassy at the institution from December 5 to 8.

Designed to emphasize the place of Christianity in the modern world, the four-day program will include special convocations, seminars, and informal meetings, and will bring to the Pennsylvania campus more than forty guest speakers nationally known for their leadership in religious work.

In addition to student committees, a number of administrative officers and faculty members will cooperate in plans for the embassy, while the Federal Council of churches also is assisting. Mr. Sinclair is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Sinclair.

Young People To Present "The Old Crab" Dec. 7

The Salem Young People's Society of the Salem M. E. Church will present "The Old Crab" in the Christiana-Salem Consolidated School on Wednesday evening, at eight o'clock.

Staged under the direction of Mrs. V. Myers Goodhand, the following will take part in the production: Jack Thorp, Edyth Stafford, Dolly Walls, Betty Geesaman, Jack Masten, Mable Murray, Naomi Veit, Louisa Moore, Sam Thorp, Clarence Walls, Margaret Brown, and Grace Johnson.

Applicants For Benefits Must Sign At Office

All applicants for benefits under the Unemployment Compensation Law after January 1 will be required to register for employment at an employment service office as part of the procedure in claiming benefits, according to F. Allyn Cooch, Jr., manager of the Wilmington office of the Delaware State Employment Service.

"A great deal of time will be saved and possible delays avoided, Mr. Cooch pointed out, "if eligible applicants who are now unemployed will register at the Wilmington Employment Service office before the first of the year. If this is accomplished, the only further registration necessary at the time of claiming benefits will be the filing of a claim.

Interview Short

"The average time for an interview," he continued, "is 20 to 30 minutes. However, during the period of benefit payments it may be necessary to curtail the time allotted to each employee. It is therefore distinctly to the advantage of a worker unemployed at this time to have his interview as soon as possible in order that he may be available for any possible vacancy to which he may be certified by the service."

Mr. Cooch also pointed out that the facilities of the service are available to employers and employees not only in the employment covered by the Unemployment-Compensation Law, but also in agricultural labor and domestic service.

Future Farmers' Exhibit To Be Concluded Friday

The Newark Future Farmers' Fair which is being held today and tomorrow, includes an exhibition of many products raised on the farm, including poultry, corn, wheat, oats, rye, barley, potatoes onions, turnips carrots, beets, pumpkins, and cabbage.

Judging will be in the hands of two capable men: Carrol W. Mumford, manager of the poultry flock at the Delaware Experimental Station, who will judge the poultry, and Claude Phillips, assistant agronomist at the University of Delaware, who will judge the crops. Prizes will be awarded for first, second, third, and fourth places.

The committee in charge includes: Chairman Robert McCormick, Charles Nelson, Charles Reed, Elwood Moody, Joseph Gaylor, Jr., George Danby and Thaddeus Warrington, advisor.

Edwin Greenplate Injured Monday By Fodder Cutter

Edwin Greenplate, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Greenplate, Sr., of Pleasant Hill, sustained a severe cut on his left hand Monday afternoon while feeding fodder to a corn shredder. A glove caught in the machine, pulling his hand across the knife, making a wound across his palm that required eight stitches to close.

He was rushed to the Wilmington General Hospital by Clarence Little, a neighbor, where he was held for observation in order to check the spread of infection.

Greenplate, who is on a night shift at the Curtis Paper Company, was helping his brother, Norris, with the farm work due to the illness of their father.

"First Lady" To Be Presented In Mitchell Hall Friday Night

University Drama Group In Third Major Production

"First Lady," by Katherine Dayton and George S. Kaufman, the third major production to be given by the University Drama Group, will be presented Friday night in Mitchell Hall at 8:15 o'clock.

In 1936, the organization made its debut with an old-fashioned melodrama, "The Dead Sister's Secret," a successful initial attempt which stamped the group as an outstanding amateur dramatic society, and then followed up last year with "The Devil Passes."

Third Major Production

One of the most pretentious ever attempted by the organization, the current production, which is being staged under the direction of G. Taggart Evans, is in three acts and four scenes, calling for two elaborate sets which were designed by Camilla Day and built under the direction of John Skinner.

Leading roles will be played by Virginia Harrington, Etheline Evans, Eleanor Rees, Elizabeth Kase, who is also assistant director; Ola Cann, Gertrude Spencer, Parker Thomas, Richard Ryan, Richard Cooch, C. Robert Kase, and Stanley Gibbs. Supporting parts will be taken by: Joseph S. Gould, Carolyn Thomas, Margaret James, Ellen Gabriel, Alma Cooch, Rachel Hastings, George Brinton, Walter D. Holton, Walter C. Wilson, Maude Boli, George H. Ryden, Kathleen Musselman, Cyrus L. Day, John Monroe, George Boli, and Almer Reiff. Tickets are now on sale at Rhodes Drug Store.

Committee Members

Committee members are as follows: Costumes-Chairman Alma Cooch, Miss Frada E. Ritz, Mrs. Almer Reiff, Mrs. Richard Ryan, Miss Jane Newcomb, Miss Emma Ehlers, Miss Laura B. Rutherford; building of sets—Chairman John Skinner, E. M. Schoenborn, Philip Goodwin; lighting-Chairman Gilbert Chase, Milton Baker; make-up-Chairman Esther Still, and the Misses Margaret Waples, Harriet Baily, and Mildred Bierney.

Benefit Show

Through the cooperation of Louis Handloff, owner of the State Theatre, all children will be admitted on Friday afternoon, December 9, by paying the admission of one good toy.

The show, which will start at 3:30 o'clock, will last two hours. A Western, cartoons and newsreels will be on the program. Toys collected will be turned over to the local Boy Scout troop and rebuilt for distribution among the poor this Christmas.

Thanksgiving Day Marked By Local Girl Scouts

Local Girl Scouts observed Thanksgiving day with a "Scouts Own" service which was held at nine o'clock Thursday morning in the scout home on Academy Street.

Dorothy Simons had charge of the program and introduced H. K. Preston, who gave the Thanksgiving message, and Mrs. C. E. Douglass, who spoke for the troop committee. Melissa Baker read the Scripture and led in prayer. Group singing was accompanied by Ella Mae Maclary.

Following the service, the basket filled by the three local troops, were delivered to a needy family.

On Friday afternoon, members of Troops 8 and 13 went on a snow hike and returned to headquarters for cocoa.

Francis A. Cooch Retires After 42 Years Of Service

Announcement was made yesterday of the retirement of Francis Allyn Cooch, vice-president and trust officer of the Equitable Trust Company, Wilmington, who leaves the bank after more than 42 years of active service.

Mr. Cooch, who resides with his wife in Newark, will take over the active direction of "Homestead," his farm of 176 acres, near Dillsburg, Pa. They will, however, retain their house here as their winter home and voting residence.

The industry, ability and enthusiasm which have characterized his long service to the Equitable Trust Company, and which have contributed substantially to its progress, were extolled in a resolution adopted by the board of directors and spread upon the minutes.

Regrets were also expressed by the board that Mr. Cooch's retirement brings about a severance of his connection with the institution, a feeling that is shared by his many friends and associates.

Following graduation from Delaware College in 1893 with a bachelor of civil engineering degree, he was appointed deputy register of wills of New Castle County. In 1896, he entered the employ of the Equitable Guarantee and Trust (now Equitable Trust Company) as bookkeeper of the trust department. The assets of the trust department were at that time $3,000,000; now they are in excess of $52,000,000.

In 1918, he was elected trust officer after serving as assistant trust officer for a number of years. The additional title of vice-president was conferred upon him in 1931.

A resident of Newark since 1903, Mr. Cooch is the eldest son of Joseph Wilkins and Mary Evarts (Webb) Cooch, and brother of Lieut.-Gov. Edward W. Cooch. He was born at Cooch's Bridge, November 25, 1873.

GOVERNOR WITHHOLDS NAME OF SELECTION

Killoran Chief Deputy Attorney General; Four Others Chosen

Governor Richard C. McMullen has called an extraordinary session of the State Senate to be held on Wednesday to "confirm the appointment which will be made to fill the vacancy in the office of chancellor." The Senate is also "to transact such other executive business" as may come before it.

Chancellor Josiah O. Wolcott died at his home near Dover on Armistice Day. The state constitution, as Governor McMullen pointed out in a proclamation this week, requires him to convene the Senate within 30 days after the vacancy to act upon a successor. Lieutenant-Governor Edward W. Cooch will preside at the special session.

Three men are being mentioned prominently as successors to the late chancellor. They are Judge W. W. Harrington, Judge Richard S. Rodney, and E. E. Berl, Wilmington attorney.

To Withhold Name

It is also rumored if Governor McMullen selects a member of the bench for elevation, that vacancy will be filled by Secretary of State Charles L. Terry, Jr., of Dover.

(A law associate of U. S. Senator James Hughes, Terry is looked upon as Governor McMullen's "fair-haired boy" in political circles.)

While speculation has brought many names to the fore as possible successors to the chancellorship, the Governor will not disclose his appointment until the Senate meets.

Attorney-General-elect James R. Morford announced on Tuesday the appointment of Clair J. Killoran, Wilmington, as his chief deputy and four other deputies who will serve under him when he takes office January 3.

The other deputies are: Thomas Herlihy, Jr., Wilmington, for New Castle County; William J. Storey, Dover, for Kent County; Daniel J. Layton, Jr., Georgetown, for Sussex County, and Albert W. James, president of the Wilmington City Council, for the State Tax Department.

Killoran Moves Up

Killoran, present deputy attorney general for New Castle County, will be moved up to the post now occupied by C. Edward Duffy. It is thought that Duffy will be named city solicitor for Wilmington to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Morford, effective December 31.

Herlihy, present first assistant city solicitor in Wilmington, will take Killoran's place as deputy attorney general for New Castle County.

Storey will succeed himself in Kent County and Layton will succeed Deputy Attorney-General Caleb Wright in Sussex. James will replace George C. Hering, Jr., in handling legal matters for the State Tax Department.

Morford also announced that Mrs. Goldie King will continue as his secretary.

Miss Dorothy Handloff Elected To Debate Group

Sixteen women have been elected members of the Debate Club at Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y. Among them is Miss Dorothy Handloff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Handloff, of Newark. Miss Handloff is a senior at the school.

Local Soil Conservation Officials At Meeting

Headed by Richard S. Snyder, project manager, a party of four officials from the Newark office, Soil Conservation Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture, are attending a farm-planning meeting in Freehold, N. J., today and tomorrow. The local party includes: Allen McClellan, conservationist, and Paul Nefflin, Jr., and Dewey L. Outen, junior conservationists.

Technicians from New Jersey and Kutztown, Pa., in addition to the Newark group are discussing full-time farm planning at the session.

THE SIN OF LYING

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 20:16; John 8:42-47; Ephesians 4:25.
GOLDEN TEXT—Behold, thou desirest truth in the inward parts.—Psalm 51:6.

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

"God is truth. The word truth describes the very nature of God. Lying, therefore, reveals a character opposite from God. Satan is a liar. He was a liar from the beginning and is spiritually the father of all liars. A lie does not necessarily have to be an untruth. A statement of a truth may be a lie if its purpose is to deceive. A half truth may be the worst kind of a lie. Satan's lies . . . are usually mixed with truth." Consider "modernism, which has enough truth in it to make it accepted by thousands of people, but sufficient error to deprive it of any power to save souls" (L. D. Higley).

I. Forbidden to Lie (Exod. 20:16).

This commandment specifically forbids perjury, which is one of the worst forms of lying, because it may result in the forfeiture of the very life of a fellow being. It is obvious, however, that it includes all forms of lying, whether in business, in social contacts, in the home, or in the church. We might do well to consider what the Bible has to say about whisperers, talebearers, backbiters, and others (see Lev. 19:6; II Cor. 12:20). A man's reputation may be as easily ruined by a whispered lie over the back fence or the luncheon table as by formal perjury in the courtroom. "Thou shalt not bear false witness" at any time, anywhere, or in any way.

II. Fountain of Lies (Matt. 15:19, 20).

Our constant concern for the body that it may be healthy, clean, and well groomed is commendable up to the point where it becomes an attempt to "glorify" the flesh. But after all, the body is not the most important thing. The heart is what makes a man (read Matt. 15:7-11). But what comes out of man's unregenerate heart? What a horrible catalogue we read in verse 19! It is not what a man eats or what he wears that makes him, but what is in his heart. How foolish then to hope to redeem humanity by improving housing, having better schools and bigger playgrounds. All these are desirable, but the one thing needful is that man's heart be washed in the blood of the Lord Jesus Christ, that he be born again.

III. Father of Lies (John 8:42-47).

Liars had better consider their "family tree" and see how they like their spiritual father. He is lustful, murderous, and there is no truth in him (v. 44). If you belong to that family would you not like to change families and be born into God's family.

As we have already suggested, the prize lie of Satan is modern religious liberalism. We quote again from Mr. Higley: "The first lie was told by Satan and it brought about the fall of the human race. The last lie . . . by Satan is being told even now . . . in the form of modernism, that makes the Church impotent even to save its own people." Let us have no part in putting forward this falsehood.

Note that in verses 45-47 Jesus challenges His enemies to convict Him of sin or of falsehood. No one has ever been able to meet that challenge. Even those who deny His Godhood and Saviourhood speak swelling words of commendation of His pure life and exalted moral teaching. If then He told the truth about other things, surely He spoke the truth about Himself. The claims He made for Himself as the Son of God and the Saviour of the world are plain and unmistakable. If we deny them we either make Jesus a liar, or we lie ourselves, and it is obvious that the latter is the case.

IV. Forsaking of Lies (Eph. 4:25).

"Wherefore" refers us back to the preceding verses where we are told how, as Christians, we have put off the life of the "old man" (v. 22) and put on the "new man"; therefore we are to live in true holiness. But evidently the Ephesian Christians still fell into their old heathen habits of lying. Would that the tendency had died out with the early Church, but as a matter of fact, it seems to have become aggravated as the years have come and gone.

Being in Christ—members of His body and thus united to one another in Him—should make us scrupulously truthful toward all men. Let us—which means you and me—scrutinize every relationship of life and be sure that we have not by word, act, or inference told lies. Think carefully of your family life, your church life, your community life. Deal with such practical things as grocery bills, taxes, tendencies to gossip. We preachers need to consider our sermons. Are they true to God's Word? Are they honestly prepared? Do we "stretch" our illustrations to make them effective? Surely all of us who bear the name of Christ must put away every form of falsehood.

Schedule Change

The end of Thanksgiving vacation (Yes, we had a grand time, thank you— and that home-cooking surely tasted good! !) brings another change in the W.C.D. sports schedule. The snow storm forced soccer off the schedule before the final game was played. For Mondays and Wednesdays, volley ball has replaced soccer and will continue until Christmas vacation. Frances Lully is the college manager.

The Athletic Association Council has announced the resignation of Thelma West, Vice-president. Virginia Rupert, Virginia Tyler, and Mary Vasselo have been nominated for the office. The student body will vote on these nominations in the near future.

Miracle Play

Dr. Cyrus L. Day, in the hope of establishing a tradition at W.C.D. of presenting one Miracle Play at Christmas time, is helping his Drama Class present the first one this year. "The Angels and the Shepherds" and "The Coming of the Three Kings to Herod" are the two plays that have been modernized as one by Alice Breme and Jean Mason from Lucy Toulmin Smith's text, "York Plays" which will be given. These two mystery plays of unknown authorship were acted each year on Corpus Christi day throughout the fourteenth, fifteenth, and part of the sixteenth centuries by the chandlers' and masons' guilds of the city of York in England.

The cast is not complete as yet. Those who are definitely in the cast are: Janet Grubb, Jane Trent, Pauline Piunti, Sylvia Cohen, Blanche Lee, Mary Lee Schuster, Ann Dawson, Eleanor Moyer, and Jeanne Remmington. Jane Trent is directing the play. Members of the production staff are: Phylis McClain, costumes; Barbara Bonham, prompter; and Betty Hellen, properties.

The play will be given on December 14 in conjunction with the choir and glee club recitals.

Dramatic Tournament ....

Preparations for the University Dramatic Tournament are attracting a lot of attention. Leona Blocher has announced the members of the Freshman cast and staff; the play, which she as director has chosen, is Margaret Cameron's "The Kleptomaniac." Those in the cast are Jane Hastings, Doris Gibney, Ruth Wilson, Helen Van Guilder, Anne Clayton, Patrica Henderson, and Charlotte Mead. The girls working on the staff are: Helen Welsh, make-up; Marion MacCormack, properties; M. C. Stericker, costumes; Leona Blocher, stage manager and prompter; and Mary Armor, Junior adviser.

The Juniors will present Florence Ryerson's and Collin Clements' "The Devil on Stilts;" Blanche Lee is director. Ginny Rupert, Elaine Owens, and Blanche Lee are in the cast. Betty Jane Brown is the director and Jane Trent is the adviser. Members of the production staff are Thelma West, make-up; Kay Rosenthal, stage manager; Jeanne Remmington, Kay Burke, Jane Staving, and Peg Teitsworth, properties; Mary Salmons, costumes; and Betty Hellen, prompter.

Under the direction of FernWilson, Lois Kness, Phyllis McClain, Ruth Elliot, and Martha Neese of the Senior Class will present Alice Brown's "Joint Owners in Spain." Members of the production staff are: Barbara Morrell, stage set; Idair Smookler, properties; Ruth Elliot, costumes; and Hester Smith and Martha Ziebutski, make-up.

Mina Press, Sophomore director, told me that she could not definitely announce her cast and staff as yet. The plays will be presented on the Mitchell Hall stage on December 4 and 5. Twenty-five cents will admit you to the performance of both evenings.

Modern medical science not only treats the sick body, but aims toward vocational rehabilitation. These activities, which are aided by Christmas Seals, are resulting in hundreds of men and women returning to useful lives.

Pleasant Valley P.-T. A. Holds November Session

The November meeting of the Pleasant Valley Parent-Teachers Association held its November meeting on Tuesday evening with Mrs. Eleanor Howell, president, in charge of the session. A brief business discussion was preceded by a reading of the minutes by Secretary Jennie Hoffman and a financial report by Mrs. Anna Brown, treasurer.

Pupils of the school then presented recitations, singing, and a play, after which refreshments were served. The next meeting will be held Thursday, December 22, at 7:30 p. m.

Thirteen hearts were held in one hand in a contract bridge game played recently at the home of Mrs. O. M. Johnson in Wytheville, Va.

Care Of Children's Teeth Discussed; Date Of Meeting Changed

The November meeting of the Glasgow Parent-Teacher Association was held in the schoolhouse on Tuesday evening of last week. The meeting was called to order by Mrs. C. C. Brooks, president, who officiated. The Lord's Prayer was repeated in unison.

Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. The treasurer's report showed receipts of $6 realized from the bingo party held on November 17, with a balance of $4.10 after all bills had been paid.

Two communications were read by Mrs. Brooks. One was relative to the Teachers' Retirement Bill and the other a resolution to be sent to the next session of Legislature requesting additional sanitorium facilities for the care of colored tuberculosis patients in Delaware.

Supplies Are Purchased

The first communication was tabled for further consideration and the second was signed by the president and secretary and was forwarded to the Delaware Anti-Tuberculosis Society.

Mrs. W. L. McElwee, secretary, reported that paper drinking cups were obtainable for as little as 40 cents per thousand. In view of the saving, Mrs. McElwee suggested that sanitary tissues be purchased for the children to use as handkerchiefs. The purchases were ordered made.

The project of the year: "Care of the children's teeth" was discussed at length. It was decided to change the next meeting night from Tuesday to Thursday in order that it be held before the school Christmas holiday. Following the business session a program of entertainment was presented by pupils of the Glasgow School.

Miss Esther Melvin Is Guest At Surprise Party

Honor Society

The newly elected Senior Honor Society held its first meeting this week. Officers were chosen as follows: President, William Hancock; Vice-president, Jane Larson; secretary and treasurer, Vivian McMullen. A committee was chosen to plan a program for the group. They plan to hold the next meeting the first part of December.

Football Honors

Three boys from Newark High School had the honor of being chosen for the All-State Team. Robbie Robinson, Bill Hancock, and Bill Bellman were elected. The selections were made by football-coaches throughout the state, sports-writers, and David S. Hogg.

Primary Assembly

Miss Staats' class gave the assembly program this week for the Primary Department. It included tableaux of Newark years ago, a poem by Joyce Buckingham, and two songs by the entire class.

Other Assemblies

A pep fest was held in the auditorium Wednesday afternoon in preparation for the Thanksgiving game. Coach Gillespie gave a very stirring speech followed by two short talks from the co-captains—Robbie Robinson and Bill Hancock.

On December 7 we are to be entertained with a special Delaware Day assembly. A song-fest will also be included in the morning's program.

Tuesday, November 29, the world's champion woman typist preformed in the assembly. Miss Stella Willins is the new champion and can type 128 words a minute. Her trip here was sponsored by the Royal Typewriting Company.

Elementary Paper

Miss Madeline Johnston's sixth grade section is making plans to publish an elementary school paper. No staff was chosen as everyone is to take turns in the production of the various issues. This paper is in no way to interfere with the high-school paper—the "Buzz."

When police in New Orleans accused Ovell Bennett of robbery, he turned his empty pockets inside out and shook his head. But his jaws bulged suspiciously, so the cops pried his mouth open and found seven $1 bills.

Xmas Decorations Theme Of Garden Club Session

A discussion of Christmas decorations took place at the Newark Garden Club meeting, held on Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Hanson, West Park Place.

Several types of displays were brought by the members, including a candle table arranged by Mrs. R. W. Heim, a mantel by Miss Freda Ritz, and a tray arranged by Mrs. A. B. Eastman.

Mrs. R. L. Spencer, the speaker of the evening, gave an interesting and instructive history of Christmas decorations, going back as far as the eleventh century.

A committee headed by L. R. Detjen was appointed to plan a landscaping project for the Girl Scouts building on Academy Street, and Miss Freda Ritz was chosen chairman of a group to have various types of holiday decorations on display in Main Street store windows.

Mrs. L. A. Stearns was appointed chairman of a nominating committee to select officers for 1939.

PRISONER ESCAPES!

Guard Killed By British Officer In Daring Escape From German Prison Camp

Hunted by all the police in Germany, he found refuge in the heart and home of this lovely little girl of the Berlin streets . . . Calmly, bravely she faced the police and lied for him—lied for an enemy of her country whom she had known but one short night . . . Not even the threats of certain death could break her devoted loyalty to him.

You'll be held breathless by this exciting story of escape from a German prison camp. You'll be thrilled and fascinated by this romantic girl who took such desperate chances to hold the only tender, sincere love she ever knew . . . No wonder the late O. O. McIntyre called it "The most absorbing book I've read in five years."

Because we want you to know Mercury Books, we'll send you this one—"Everything Is Thunder," by J. L. Hardy—practically free. We'll supply the book, if you'll pay 10c for postage and handling.

Out of more than 100,000 copies printed we have less than 5,000 left—and they're going fast. Hurry and send a dime for a complete copy of this intensely interesting book of more than 90,000 words. (Sorry—only one to a customer).

Christmas Season In Newark 1938

Against a background of fir trees, colored lights and holly wreaths, Newark merchants are showing the finest collection of Christmas gifts that has ever been brought into the community.

For many weeks, the new merchandise has been arriving—in big and little packages, boxes, cartons and crates. Now it has been unpacked and the new and exciting gifts have filled the showcases and shelves.

Newark merchants have bought wisely and well. In every department, they are showing nationally advertised products. But, they have cut corners to give you this merchandise at reasonable prices. No matter how limited your Christmas budget, it will stretch farther in Newark stores and shops.

On the busiest shopping day, there is no parking problem in Newark. If you have ever driven miles to a large city and arrived tired only to find no provision for parking near the shopping center, you will appreciate the convenience of shopping in Newark.

The friendly familiarity of Newark merchants engenders a spirit of neighborliness that carries over into the cultural, educational and spiritual life of the community. This courteous service is not a pose. Your home merchant is really your friend.

Your home merchant's sense of obligation to the community is indicated by his membership in the Chamber of Commerce. Here, he earnestly supports any project designed for public benefit, and opposes all that is detrimental to the best interests of the community.

The Chamber of Commerce, through its sympathetic knowledge of local affairs, has become a vital necessity to all community programs of progress. By its influence, the community spirit of interdependence is promoted.

For many years, people who have kept an accurate record of all of their expenditures have found that it is cheaper to buy in Newark. During this Christmas season, with merchants displaying the largest and finest stocks of merchandise ever brought into the community—jewelry, cosmetics, radios, books, bookcases, lamps, sportswear, electric shavers, pen and pencil sets—you, too, will want to buy in Newark and save.

THE du PONT COMPANY—A BLESSING TO DELAWARE

By Edgar Pennington Young

The publication of a pamphlet, concerning the activities of the E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., Inc., makes it possible to pay the concern a justified and deserved tribute.

From a modest beginning, it required 100 years for the du Pont Company to get a real start. Eleuthere du Pont de Nemours, the founder, was 31 years old when he launched the project in 1802. This young and capable French gentleman had learned the secret of making black powder from a celebrated chemist who was associated with the French Government.

Mr. de Nemours was a close personal friend of Thomas Jefferson, then President of the United States, who encouraged the erection of a powder plant near Wilmington.

Until 1889, the sole product of the Company was black powder. From that date, however, the du Pont interests began to branch out into kindred lines and today 78 plants are operated in 27 states.

But what I am more interested in getting before our readers is what the du Pont Company has done for Delaware. Delawareans owe this great concern a debt that can never be repaid. Not only has the Company been progressive and liberal, but the individuals comprising the Company have contributed untold millions for the advancement of the State, and for the security and comfort of its citizens.

In 1920, it was my privilege to be the week-end house guest of the late United States Senator Henry A. du Pont at beautiful Winterthur. Here was a truly great man. I have never seen such a host. The Senator was a most adorable individual. He knew the secret of entertaining. You never felt bored or uneasy.

In his own wonderful way he quietly arranged for the comfort and entertainment of his guests without their realizing it. On Saturday and Sunday nights he sat up with his guests until well after midnight. Those talks I will never forget. He held us spellbound. A big, kindly gentleman, he was generous to a fault. He cared nothing for money except to use it for good purposes. He was the benefactor of many the world will never know about.

The du Pont Company has made Wilmington . . . and Delaware. It has transformed Wilmington from a small town to a thriving city—a city of beautiful homes and commercial activity born of the tremendous weekly payroll. It has made of Delaware a model state with the finest roads in the world. The personal contributions of the late Coleman du Pont for highway construction alone served to vault Delaware ahead of the nation in the building of good roads.

And now the Company goes to Seaford to erect a giant factory which immediately gives that entire section new hope and new life.

I say that such a Company, owned and operated by such generous and outstanding individuals, is an asset that surpasses valuation . . . one which the people of Delaware should respect and admire . . . and appreciate.

Is It Football's Fault?

Historic St. John's College, which hit the trail back to the classics a year ago, took another bold step away from the convention pattern of American colleges recently by abolishing intercollegiate athletic competition. President Stringfellow Barr (Is it mere coincidence that he should happen to have an unusual name?) has termed college athletics as a part of a "semiprofessional system."

Already the champions of scholastic grades, the makers of doctors of philosophy, those erudite brethren of the classroom are raising hallelujahs of approval.

We'll agree that intercollegiate athletics in general and football in particular are not like the driven snow from an angle of purity, but is that sad state entirely the fault of the games and activities in question? Can't it be that the academic disciples are happy over football's decline—even at a freshwater institution such as St. John's—because they have permitted the game to slip away from them while they have specialized on some favorite subject?

Can it be that President Stringfellow Barr is incapable of handling a situation that has been mastered elsewhere? Intercollegiate athletics have been played at St. John's for more than half a century, but Dr. Barr suddenly decides that they do not fit into the picture. Wonder if he feels like Columbus?

—r w r—

Happy Ending

St. John's and Johns Hopkins University ended 56 years of football rivalry on Thanksgiving afternoon. It was appropriate that the day should have been bleak. Bury an individual at the age of 56 and there is a lot of weeping attached to the ceremony. We wonder how happy Dr. Barr felt when he sat down to his Thanksgiving turkey, realizing, like he must have, that his decision had ended one of the grandest small-college rivalries in the country.

Despite the dolefulness of the occasion, St. John's last football team (if Dr. Barr's edict is permitted to stick) rose from its grave, so to speak, by checking a highly favored Johns Hopkins array.

With the steller performance of Harold (Hank) Zebley, graduate of Newark High, as an incentive, Coach Dutch Lentz's "vest pocket" forwards displayed excellent form that held the heavier Hopkins team in check.

Routed in four previous games on their final and abbreviated schedule, the Johnnies arose in all their might to register an upset, the likes of which have created the appeal whereupon football and other sports have grown in this country.

St. John's football finale was in keeping with the American custom of battling to the end. With no great stadium filled to capacity and with nothing in sight but an empty athletic slate, still those kids fought a superior Hopkins team to a scoreless draw.

Isn't it a shame that that never-say-die spirit couldn't have permeated the walls of Dr. Stringfellow Barr's office?

Such Is Fame

It is unreasonable to think that there is a student at the University of Delaware who cannot associate Tommy Ryan with campus activities. It is absolutely shocking to learn, therefore, that at least five Delaware students know as little about Tommy as they do Joe Zilch.

But we have it straight from a prominent and reliable Wilmington businessman that Tommy Ryan is a total stranger on the Delaware campus to five fellow students, at least.

It so happened that on Monday night the gentleman from Wilmington had business to transact with Tommy. He knew that Ryan was co-captain of football and president of the student council, but he did not know Tommy's name.

Coming to Newark, he stopped a chap on Main Street. "Are you a student at Delaware?" asked our friend. "Yeo," came the reply. "Is the name of your football captain?" queried the Wilmingtonian. Moving from one foot to the other and scratching his head in thought, the lad finally replied, "I dunno."

A second student was approached without response. A third chap knew that the team had co-captains and one of them (Ernie George) lived in Newark, but he didn't know the names. A fourth try brought no results and a fifth was fruitless.

Just as our friend was about to dash out of Newark, thinking he had stumbled into the hospital grounds at Farnhurst instead of the U. of D. campus, he encountered a policeman who possessed the necessary information.

"I know you wont believe the story," said the gentleman in relating it, "but it actually happened in Newark. I wonder if such a lack of interest and spirit has anything to do with the fact that Delaware's football teams are so inferior?"

Inferior is hardly the word, but we do think that lack of interest is mixed up in the situation. (Inferior's not strong enough.)

HEN—PECKS

By

E. J. WILSON

With their first game the day after tomorrow, the University of Delaware basketball squad has been going through long and strenous workouts every afternoon this week under the direction of Coach Steve Grenda. There are a large number of candidates that have reported but the majority of them are not of college caliber.

Only five of last year's lettermen have reported. They are "Spike" McCord, Captain Bruce Lindsay, Phil (Two-point) Reed, Eddie (Call-me-Hank) Anderson and Bill Gerow. They will probably be among the starting lineup against Rutgers this Saturday.

Among the players who have not reported as yet are Earl Sheats, Jack Daly, and Fred Mitchell, all former lettermen, and Bob Duffy, a member of last year's crack Beacom College five.

Delaware will not have a good basketball record this fall but they should certainly have a better record than that of last year.

HEN PECKS

One of the unusual features of the squad is the fact that it has two members who are over six and one-half feet in height. They are "Carty" Douglas and Hecht, a freshman. It is not probable that either of them will make the varsity but it should result in a gigantic J. V. team.

HEN PECKS

A great majority of the players who have reported for the team appear to be only interested in sharpening up their eye, and getting a little equipment, for the intramural leagues.

The swimming team will be built around a nucleus of Reid Sterns, Al Mock, Steve Saltzman, and Frank Holt. Last year's freshman flash, Bob Monihan, will not be eligible until after mid-years. Marty Howard, a dash man of great repute of several years ago, will also be eligible after mid-years, when Ed Bardo's proteges should really go to town. Until then, only a mediocre record can be expected.

HEN PECKS

In the intramurals, the snowstorm has terminated the touch-football schedule for some time. The only games left were the play-offs between the winners of the several leagues. These games have been indefinitely postponed.

The intra-mural basketball schedule got under way Monday night with a large number of teams entered.

Some of the students at the University are trying to organize a boxing team. There are a number of students who are quite proficient at the manly art of self-defense and they have been trying to get a team started for some time. For the present, only intra-collegiate matches would be scheduled with the future possibility of a team for inter-collegiate competition.

HEN PECKS

From the sorry looks of things a few weeks ago, it looked like most of the football team would be confined to wheel chairs for some time but at this writing, most of them have come around nicely and it appears that the only complete loss was Kenny Lockwood.

Intramural swimming will get under way but it seems that varsity men will be allowed to participate which makes it only an exhibition of the ability of the varsity and very little entertainment for those students whom it is supposed to benefit most. The best they can hope for is a second or third, if they are lucky, which is not a little bit of fun.

Steel Was "Out" in 1905

Alan Lard, who in 1905 introduced a steel golf shaft, was advised by Charles B. MacDonald, first amateur champion, that if Lard took his shaft to Scotland he would be "lynched." Lard also introduced the first steel tower in America from which clay birds were thrown for skeet shooting.

LACK OF MEN HAMPERS BLUE AND GOLD TANKERS

Ed Bardo Hard-Pressed To Equal Record Compiled By Swimmers Last Year; Basketball Squad Overstocked By Vast Horde Of Aspiring Passers

By Bill Fletcher

While a wealth of material turned out for basketball at the University of Delaware on Monday, following Thanksgiving recess, and gave promise of a winning cage combination, swimming was forced to go begging with only nine candidates working out.

Tankers Hit Hard

A wrecking crew, composed of graduation, scholastic regulations, and illness, has torn yawning gaps in the 1937-38 tank combination that swept successfully through nine of eleven dual meets last year and prospects, due mainly to the lack of material, are black for this season.

On the sick-list are Bob Lippincott and Bill Gregg, both lettermen, who swam the dash and distance events respectively. Sinus is their reported trouble and their appearance in the Delaware tank this year is extremely doubtful.

George Houchin, freshman speed star last season, has fallen down scholastically, but may be eligible to compete following the mid-year examinations, and graduation removed from further competition, ex-Captain Heimie Swartz, holder of the fancy diving record and dash man, former Captain Charles (Sonny) Kenworthy, holder of the Delaware breaststroke mark and relay swimmer, and Olaf (Swede) Drozdow, breaststroke and distance artist.

Local Boy Captain

Led by a local boy, Reid Stearns, the nucleus for the new edition will be two other lettermen, Frank Holt and Al Mock, sprinters, and Bob Monihan, distance man, who was ineligible after mid-term tests last year.

Much is expected of Al Lemleine, Tome School turnout, who performs on the board, and Harry Neese, former Wilmington High School star, who swims the distance events. Others working out are: Ed Manchester, breaststroke; Del Stearns, freestyle, and Steve Saltzman, who saw diving action last year.

With only two gaps to be filled, Coach Steve Grenda will build his 1939 cage squad around a nucleus of six lettermen and two former varsity stars who were kept out of action last season due to illness. Lettermen returning are: Captain Bruce Lindsay, Eddie Anderson, Phil Reed, Bill Gerow, Earl McCord, and Earl Sheats, while Ferris Wharton and Ed (Bruzz) Wilson, former stars, have returned to the court following a year's layoff.

Upperclassmen who have not reported in the past, but who have had cage experience are: Randy Cooper, Alex Timmie, George Jackson, Dave Buckson, Ralph Groves, Leon Lotstein, Baynard Roe, and Guy Wharton.

Frehman Candidates

Freshmen working out are: Al Berg, who won four cage letters at Middletown; Harry Quilen, who was awarded four at Harrington; Dave Parvis and Warren Grier, Wilmington High School; and Lew McKay, Dover.

The most promising first-year man is Ed Homan, who performed on the gridiron this fall. The Cape May, N. J., athlete, was awarded four basketball letters during his high school career and captained his team for his final two seasons.

Eddie Samuels, Wilmington High School graduate, who has returned to Delaware following a three-year layoff, is also placing his bid for a berth. He was a member of the varsity squad three seasons ago.

Sheats, regular center last year, is nursing an injured ankle sustained during the grid campaign and may not be out for some time, while J. Fred Mitchell, who earned his letter in 1937, may not turn out.

Walter Hagan played the Zurich (Switzerland) golf course in 59 strokes in 1928.

JACKETS WORK OUT

Large Group Of Cagers Out For Court Team

Thirty Newark High School candidates, of them inexperienced, reported to Coach William K. Gillespie on Monday and started workouts for the current cage season which gets underway with A. I. du Pont High School on December 22.

Seven lettermen will form the nucleus for the 1938 Jacket edition, but prospects for a good season are not much brighter than they were last year when the locals went through their worst court season in the history of the school.

Again the lack of size is expected to handicap the Jackets and Coach Gillespie is pessimistic about the outcome of the nineteen-game schedule.

Candidates Listed

Varsity men working out are: Newt Sheaffer, Bob Stewart, Bill Hancock, Ackie Stiltz, George Norris, Bill Bellman and Albert Aiken. Others are Bob Sheaffer, Angelo Cataldi, Bill Edmanson, Joe Moore, Roger Attick, Joe Taxter, John Moody, last year's junior varsity; and Charlie Weldon, Fred Ingham, Lynn Preston, Ed Hurlock, Rodney Mansfield, Bob Weimer, Edgar Jaquette, George Truitt, George Schoen, Bob Saucerman, Harry McHenry, Arnold Wells, Augustine Cosetti, Stump Cataldi, and Andy Tryens, who have had no previous experience. Bob Ewing, who attended Fishburne Military Academy last year, is also a candidate for the team and is expected to grab one of the starting guard berths.

Fibremen Capture Third Loop Victory On Court

Continental-Diamond Fibre remained in a first-place deadlock with Allied Kid in the Wilmington Industrial Basketball League by outlasting DuPont-Edge Moor, 22-19, in a hard-fought game at the Wilmington Y. M. C. A. last Saturday night.

Ferris Wharton, playing his last game for the Fibremen prior to reporting for practice at the University of Delaware, set the scoring pace for both teams with a collection of nine points. Jack Daly, high-scoring forward for the locals, ripped the cords for six markers. Borecki, with six points, topped the losing outfit.

Allied Kid marked up an easy, 35-20 win over Hercules, while Bancroft took command of third place by defeating DuPont Experimental, 29-18.

No games are carded in the loop this week. The schedule will be resumed on Saturday night, December 10, with the Fibremen and Allied locking horns in the feature attraction of the three-game card.

MARKSMEN TO OPEN SEASON

Blue Hen Gunners To Start Firing On December 10

More than thirty candidates have been working out for the University of Delaware rifle team with prospects in view for the most successful season ever enjoyed by Blue Hen sharpshooters.

Coached by Captain T. L. Waters, of the military department, the nucleus of the squad will be formed by eight veterans of past campaigns who are again available this year. According to Captain Waters, the freshman turnout has not only been large, but also shows fine promise of developing.

Show Good Form

Seth Eberhardt, last year's high scorer, is showing his usual excellent form in practice while Captain Tommy Leach, who has been kept out of practice by an injured foot, is now showing the skill that has kept him among Delaware's best shots for the past three seasons. Much is expected of Ray Hecht and Joe Amalifitano this year, whose shooting so far has been in the upper bracket. Phil Derrickson, Dave Taxter and Lloyd Shorter, high scorers last year, have not been able to appear for practice so far, due to academic requirements, but they are expected to turn out in the near future.

Several freshmen are showing good form in practice so far, according to Captain Waters, including Gilbert Thornton, Williard Scott, Warren Snow, and Robert Jackson, all of Wilmington.

Included in the Hens' schedule this year are four shoulder-to-shoulder matches, tow each with Delaware's long-standing athletic rivals, Pennsylvania Military College and Drexel.

The Schedule

The postal match schedule is as follows: December 10—City College of New York, University of Maine, and Washington University, St. Louis; December 17—Clarkson Tech; Jan. 14—Pittsburgh, Ruthgers, University of California (Los Angeles) and V.P.I. (freshman match); Feb. 4—New York University; Feb. 11—Gettysburg; Feb. 18—University of Cincinnati, Cornell University; Feb. 25—University of Utah.

On February 4, the P.M.C. shooters will come to Newark for a shoulder-to-shoulder match, and the return combat at Chester, Pa. will be held on Feb. 25. Drexel Institute of Technology will entertain the Hens on Feb. 11 and then come here for a match on March 4.

The Intercollegiate Championships of the Second Corps Area, United States Army, will be held from Feb. 4 to 25, while the Hearst Trophy National Championship Tournament is slated from March 4 to 11.

Last year, the Blue and Gold riflemen copped eight of twelve postal matches and ranked high in the Hearst championships.

Joe Diehl, Songster And Billiard Star, At Martin's Saturday Night

By "Cue Keeley"

Joe Diehl, billed as the Rockford (Ill.) Flash, who will play an exhibition match at Jimmy Martin's State billiard parlor Saturday night at seven o'clock, is the latest addition to the ranks of championship pocket billiard players now touring the country.

Although he began playing the table game in 1920, it was not until last year that Diehl joined the "big time" circuit after playing in his first world championship.

Born in 1900 at Harrisonville, Mo., a small town of about 3,000 population, Diehl migrated to Rockford early and has dwelled there ever since. He became a professional in 1930, finishing fourth in the Eastern All Star tournament in New York City that year.

Has Spread Fame

Rockford, which was first made famous in the sporting world when Joe Mandell, a native son, copped the lightweight boxing title from Rocky Kansas in 1925, has had its fame added to by Diehl's feats.

During the one year he has toured the nation, the cue star, who, incidentally, is possessed of one of the finest senses of humor in the business, has lost only four out of 250 contests. In one of these matches, he turned in a high run of 195 against Johnny Sanders at Rockford.

Like Edwin Rudolph, the Cleveland veteran, Diehl often amazes crowds with his conception of seemingly impossible multiple combination shots. It has often been said that "if Diehl says it's on—it's on."

As a feature of his program, Diehl presents a novelty act. After the game, which precedes several trick shots, the "Flash" renders ballads in a rich baritone. He accompanies himself with a guitar. There is no fooling about Diehl's singing, either. For a number of years he did radio work in Illinois, both on commercial and self-sustaining programs. He is of German, Irish-English descent.

"CHEESE, DAT AIN'T NUTTIN' WHEN U TINK OF DA

"Da daze I was in wen I went to dis school," Professor Willis Lawrence, a member of the faculty of the physical education school at the University of Delaware, observed one afternoon this week in Taylor Gymnasium.

In case youse readers ain't met him with Professor Willis Lawrence, he's what you might call a character. Professor Lawrence is the commonest sort of commoner and makes a speech out of it. Ask him everyday questions like: "How are you?" or "Howya-doin'?"—Professor Lawrence makes you feel like he has mounted a soap box and is preparing to plunge into a lengthy narrative. He cannot utter a word, phrase, sentence, paragraph or two paragraphs without leaving you think he is gashing along to branch off into some kind of philosophy which may or may not be truth—certainly it is interesting. Professor Lawrence is certainly not a pout. That is what you think when we say he is a statesman. No, Professor Lawrence is a politician and should we say more, Professor Lawrence is a professor.

SPEECH OF A PROFESSOR IS

He has taught his soccer players enough to win several games when a Delaware team can be expected to win many, many games—he is some professorin', even if we say it himself.

Professor Lawrence is also a wit. He has been heard to say such witty remarks as: "So's your old man," "Git a horse," and "Drop dead in it," which is really getting to the point of side-splits and laughs from too much laughin'. He is frequently known to have carried this fine wit with his membership.

Professor Lawrence is versatile. He is also a gentleman. Professor Lawrence has been known to carry cats into choice alleyways, help blind men across the street, sell anything about the tin pan alley, and retrieve handkerchiefs for ladies. No Professor Lawrence is not a retriever. He is a gentleman.

WHEN HE WAS VERY YOUNG,

Professor Lawrence is reputed to have been very wicked. Not only did he pull wings off flies, but he dipped his sister's braids and stuck chewing gum in her hair, put frogs in the ink-well at school, stole apples from the fruit stand, and he also a story about Mr. Farmer's chickens coming down his cherry tree. No, he is not Jack Horner. He is a professor.

Time has slowly etched lines of wisdom across Professor Lawrence's face and today he is not a boy prone to childish pranks—he is a professor, and he has learned much from life. He is also a man and a wit—but not a pout.

So much for Professor Lawrence's mental adornment.

PHYSICALLY, HE IS MUCH like a professor. A slight cough and slight yet sinewy build, however, decidedly contradict the harnessed energy resting dormant therein. His athletic prowness may best be described by this quotation.

"Undaunted, Lawrence plunged into the foaming waters of Taylor Pool, determined to give his all—determined to conquer. Slowly nibbling at the lead which seemed to mock a Delaware victory, the slender Blue and Gold merman plunged on an on . . . stroke . . . stroke . . . stroke . . . and his grit—his determination—his courage, at last payed dividends. He spit through the water and if the judges hadn't been so lousy, he'd have been given a fourth place."

THE ABOVE QUOTATION WAS taken from a thesis entitled: "The University of Delaware's Most Outstanding Athlete and Why Am I," by Bill Lawrence, who graduated a few years ago.

Since that time, Bill Lawrence has become Professor Lawrence.

Since his professorship, he holds his head high aloft and walks with light and springy steps. He looks proud—like the figure on a radiator cap.

Before his professorship, he held his head high aloft and walked with light and springy steps. He looked proud—like the figure on a radiator cap.

Professor Lawrence is proud—also wise.

A PAST MASTER IN THE ES-teemed art of mid-flopping (shinin' the apple to you), Professor Lawrence can detect even the slightest symptom of a student's attempting to curry favor with him. He is very well educated in this art of leadpiping.

Professor Lawrence is wise.

So wise is he, in fact, that when he finally realized he was to be the subject of our wanderings this week, he stamped his foot and yelled: "I ain't sayin' nuttin, see."

This made us very sad, indeed, since we were prepared to pay Professor Lawrence a very fine tribute.

As we walked away, we heard him muttering: "Cheese, dat aint nuttin' when you tink of da daze I was in wen I went to dis scool."

A man of few words, this is Professor Lawrence's entire interview.

MANY JOBS AVAILABLE ON LIST

Civil Service Schedules Examinations

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced open competitive examinations for the positions named below:

Principal chemist, principal chemical engineer, $5,600 a year, Department of Agriculture. A four-year course leading to a bachelor's degree in a recognized college or university, with major study in chemistry or chemical engineering, is required.

Except for the partial substitution of postgraduate work in an appropriate specialized branch of chemistry or chemical engineering, applicants must have had recent, progressive and responsible experience in chemistry or by inventions, discoveries, or writings, or in certain outstanding work demonstrating the ability to plan, organize, direct and coordinate research of difficult and important character.

Applicants must not have passed their 53rd birthday. The closing date for this examination is December 27.

All-American Degree Is Conferred By Red Men

On Tuesday evening, Minnehaha Tribe No. 23, I.O.R.M., held in class adoption in Red Men's Hall when the all-American degree was conferred upon six members. The degree team, under the supervision of Captain Vaughn Heavellow and Assistants Orville Sidwell and James Scarborough, is working well, and with the Red Men showing a gain at their Great Council held in Milford last month, a big year is anticipated by the outfit.

After many short talks by members from Maryland, Pennsylvania, and New Jersey, refreshments were served.

Road Engineer Cautions Delaware Motorists

Snowstorms of the past week demonstrated the necessity of motorists using extreme caution while driving over the highways, not only because of the condition of the roads, but also because of the presence of snow removal crews on the highway, W. W. Mack, chief engineer of the State Highway Department, announced this week.

He pointed out that sometimes these snow plows work in the opposite direction from that in which traffic is moving, in order to push the snow clear of the roads. Motorists using the highway during a snowstorm are advised to keep a careful watch for the snow plows at all times.

Because of the unknown condition of the dirt shoulders along the improved roads, which at present are covered with snow, motorists should be very cautious in driving on these shoulders, at least until the snow covering disappears.

Regular Auxiliary Session To Be Held Monday Night

The regular session of the American Legion Auxiliary, J. Allison O'Daniel Post No. 10 will be held in the Legion room on Monday at eight o'clock. Mrs. Lee L. Lewis, president, will have charge of the session.

The New Castle County meeting, scheduled for the same date, has been postponed until February.

We, the undersigned President and Secretary, respectively of Quality Food Stores, Inc., a corporation organized and existing under the laws of Delaware and having its principal office in the State of Delaware at Wilmington, do hereby certify:

That, at a meeting of the Board of Directors duly held on October 24, 1938, at which a majority of said Board were present, a resolution was unanimously adopted that the capital of the corporation be reduced from $306,700.00 (represented by 3,067 shares issued and outstanding) to $280,500.00 (represented by 2,805 shares issued and outstanding) by retiring 262 shares of stock owned by said corporation and held as Treasury stock; that $26,200.00, the par value of said 262 shares, be charged against the capital of the corporation in respect to such shares and that said 262 shares so retired should have the status of authorized and unissued shares.

We further certify that said resolution of the Board of Directors was submitted to the stockholders of said corporation at a meeting of the stockholders called for the purpose, on more than ten days notice given in accordance with the by-laws of the corporation to said stockholders, which meeting was held in accordance with said notice on the 10th day of November, 1938; that at said meeting, at which there were present in person or duly represented by proxy, holders of record of 97% of the issued and outstanding shares of stock, (not however, including 262 shares of treasury stock) a resolution was unanimously adopted that the capital of the corporation be reduced from $306,700.00 (represented by 3,067 shares issued and outstanding, including 262 shares held in the treasury) to $280,500.00 or 2,805 shares issued and outstanding, by retiring 262 shares of stock owned by said corporation and held as treasury stock; that $26,200.00, the par value of 262 shares, be charged against the capital of the corporation in respect of such shares, and that said 262 shares so retired should have the status of authorized and unissued shares.

We do further certify that said sum of $26,200.00 does not exceed that part of the capital of the corporation represented by such 262 shares, and that the assets of the corporation remaining after such reduction are sufficient to pay any debts, the payment of which shall not have been otherwise provided for.

In witness whereof we have hereunto set our hands and the seal of said corporation this 12th day of November, 1938.

WEDDINGS

Krapf—Reed

George W. Krapf and Miss Elizabeth S. Reed of Newark were married on November 27th by the Rev. Frederick Doer, of St. Stephens Luthern Church, Wilmington. They were attended by Miss Nellie Reed of Newark. Upon their return they were given a reception at the home of the bride's parents, Newark.

McCormick—Reeside

A quiet little wedding was solemnized at the Head of Christiana Manse last Thursday evening, November 27, when Miss Elsie T. McCormick became the bride of Edwin Reeside, of Newark. They were accompanied by the brother of the groom and his mother, Mrs. W. F. Lewis.

Mr. and Mrs. Reeside will make their home for the present with the mother of the bride on Prospect Ave., Newark.

Dr. Harter Honored

President G. A. Harter of Delaware College, was elected vice-president at the convention of the Associated Colleges and Preparatory Schools of the Middle States and Maryland, which closed recently at Albany, N. Y.

Rehearsals Progressing

The entertainment by The Strollers for the benefit of the Delaware College Agricultural Club is expected to prove as great an attraction as any of Mrs. Murray's previous plays, especially as Mrs. Murray is taking a part in it herself. The casts in the plays are: in "Between the Acts," Mrs. Jane Murray, Miss Katherine Bowen, Miss Anna Tracy Campbell, George Allcorn, A. Bailey Thomas, James Salavan. In "The Burglar Alarm," Miss Anna Gallaher, Miss Anna Willis, Miss Dora Law, Miss Frances Warren. These actors are very busy rehearsing and they expect this entertainment to be as successful as any they have given heretofore. Reserved seat tickets will be on sale at Rhodes' Drug Store in a few days.

Social Notes

Professor and Mrs. E. Laurence Smith entertained at cards, Friday evening in honor of their guest, Professor Heading of Washington, D. C. Both "Auction" and "500" were played there being four tables of each. The auction prizes were won by Mrs. Houghton, who was the recipient of a handsome plate. Dr. W. Owen Sypherd won the gentleman's prize, gold tie clasp. The consolation prize, a fine turkey stuffed with confections was very consoling to Mrs. Hayward. Duplicate prizes were given to the successful "500" players who were Mrs. Preston, Mr. R. R. Whittingham and another turkey consoled Mrs. Reed. At midnight, refreshments of salad, rolls, coffee, ice cream, cake, nuts and candies were served. Those who enjoyed their hospitality were Prof. and Mrs. Hayward, Prof. and Mrs. Penny, Prof. and Mrs. Tiffany, Prof. and Mrs. McCue, Prof. and Mrs. Whittier, Prof. Dutton, Prof. and Mrs. Preston, Mrs. Houghton, Dr. and Miss Harter, Dr. Sypherd, Prof. Heading, Miss Bessie Whittingham, Mr. R. R. Whittingham, Miss Whitehead, Mr. Bonham, Mr. and Mrs. Penrose Wilson, Mr. Lee Cooch and Mr. Elmer Blades.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Dayett entertained at a small card party Saturday evening.

Miss Annie Whitehead was the guest of Mrs. Hayward Thanksgiving.

Mrs. Marion Blake of Baltimore, Md. spent the Thanksgiving holidays with Dr. and Mrs. Blake.

Miss Lavinia Bye spent the Thanksgiving holidays with her father at Denton, Md.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Cooch are receiving congratulations upon the arrival of a little daughter, Phoebe Lawrence Cooch.

Mrs. Frederick Armstrong returned to her home in New York on Monday after a pleasant visit of several weeks with Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Armstrong.

Prof. Srager will entertain the evening card club Thursday evening, December 4th at the Omega Alpha Fraternity House.

Personals

F. H. Dean greeted friends from the car window as he passed thru town on Saturday, returning from the Army-Navy game played in New York last Saturday.

A. H. Raub of Philadelphia was the recent guest of his sister, Miss Jennie Raub.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Evans spent the Thanksgiving holiday with relatives in Brooklyn, N. Y.

Miss Adelaide Vandergrift of Philadelphia spent the week-end with Mrs. L. B. Jacobs.

Dr. J. S. Gilfillan conducted services in Eastlake Presbyterian Church, Wilmington, last Sunday.

Her Gobble Is Gone

She was born on the plains of the "Diamond State," where she lived, and loved (perhaps), and pruned (again perhaps) her bronze-hued feathery habiliment. She came to us, the day before Thanksgiving, to meet the destiny of the American turkey.

Her debut on our family table was heralded by scarlet-lipped olives, from the grape-hung slopes of Sorrento, and stalwart hearts of celery, harvested on the sunkist acres of Florida. Her ladies in waiting represented the best in the vegetable kingdom. Blushing cranberries from the Sovereign State of New Jersey, emerald-tipped asparagus, (canned, origin unknown), golden yams from the Old Dominion, and, more plebeian, but equally tasty, green beans, peas, and fluffy mashed potatoes. Stuffed with chestnuts, toast, fragrant spices, and surrounded by the court, she presented a magnificent picture in her golden brown nudity.

Other famous concoctions, as Imam Bayilda, served to favorites of scented oriental harems, or Le Caviar d'Astrakan, preferred by jaded Bojars under mellow Moldavian moons, are but a grease spot, insignificant and un-Lucullan in comparison.

Her epicurean glory, under soft candle lights, was short lived however. After some inspired preliminaries, customary and prescribed, her swan's act began. Hungry eyes followed the fast moving carving knife, and plates, bearing luscious chunks of her white young breast and dark brown limbs, were passed and repassed with alacrity. Until, oh alackday, only her naked ribs and bared backbone remained, to prove, beauty is but skin deep.

Very appropriately we inscribed, upon her imaginary tomb, this realistic epitaph: "Her gobble is gone, but our unpaid bills make her memory linger on."

We Laid An Egg

For weeks we have engaged in a barrage of epithets, and worked ourselves into a foaming frenzy, over the fate of the German Jew. Important individuals, accused, denounced, and condemned. Less important individuals, and individuals with the cobweb of the political scrap-heap about them, lost no time to bask in the light of free publicity. Sob-sisters, politicians, religious and labor leaders, joined hands, to voice, promote (yes, promote), and direct our wrath and indignation. Placard-toting amazons picketed German consulates, and, little men in big offices, assigned a Finkelstein and a Goldstein to guard, both the amazons and the consulates. We held mass meetings and passed resolutions. To what purpose and with what result?

How much Jewish property did we save from confiscation, and how many Jews did we keep out of the concentration camps? Did we make the lot of our own German-Americans easier? Did we make our own American Jews more American? Will it aid our representatives in Europe, when they discuss with Berlin, the mass removal of the German Jews? The answer is decidedly and definitely in the negative.

A climb, by proxy, up our thorny tree of ridicule and public condemnation may invoke political deaths to our own politicians, in our own affairs, but it will certainly not compel the leaders of 80,000,000 people, three thousand miles across the sea, to do penance or moan Mea Culpa.

All of which leads this column to conclude by saying, either we are insincere in our concern over the fate of the German Jew and care not what additional misery we cause him, or, because of our daily stress and strain, we are fast becoming emotionally as irresponsible as a Prima Donna. In either case we succeeded laying a nice big egg into the lap of our own State Department.

Wedge Or Obstacle

Recent disorders in Ruthenia, were blamed, by the Czechs, upon Polish and Hungarian "terrorists" and "irregulars."

Ruthenia lived in peace with the Jungarians, as an integral part of pre-war Hungary, for centuries. It is, therefore, quite possible, she prefers Budapest to Prague. In fact, she petiitoned the League of Nations, long before Munich, for permission to cast her lot with the Hungarians. As her territory was strategically important to France prestige in Central Europe, her petition was denied by the Paris map-makers. Now, with French influence eliminated, the Czechs oppose her union with Hungary, under orders from Berlin.

A glance at the map makes clear the reasons for German opposition. Ruthenia, controlled by Nazi-dominated Prague, becomes an open road to Russian Ukraine and Rumania. A German wedge, in the entrails of Eastern Europe. As a part of Hungary, and serving as a common frontier between Hungary and Poland, she might become a serious obstacle in the eastward march of the Nazi giant.

The Munich argeement, stipulates the eventual guarantee of Czech frontiers, therefore, Ruthenia must unite with Hungary before that guarantee makes her a permanent province of Czechoslovakia. With this guarantee forthcoming soon, January 1939 in fact, Ruthenia has no time to lose. Hence the recent pitched battles between Ruthenian peasants and Czech soldiery.

Thus, little Ruthenia, with less than two million population, the size of Connecticut, and with no real national resources, is today, the most important spot in Europe. Her fate will be decided very soon. If she joins Hungary, she will become a factor for peace, as a common frontier between Poland and Hungary will enable Colonel Beck, Polish Foreign Minister, to organize what he calls a "Third Europe." A powerful neutral bloc, composed of Hungary, Poland, Rumania, and the Baltic republics, to resist Nazi domination on one side, and Red Russia on the other.

As a German wedge, she might become the jumping off place for the invasion of Russian Ukraine, and, thus, become a second Sarayevo.

E. B. Griffin of Norfolk, Va. spent the Thanksgiving holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Griffin.

Miss Lola Schrutchfield of Columbia, Mo., is spending the month of December with her sister, Mrs. E. V. Vaughn. Miss Schrutchfield is assistant to the secretary of the faculty, University of Missouri.

Misses Leila Herbener and Edna Chalmers spent Thanksgiving week in Philadelphia.

Joseph H. Hossinger and Victor G. Willis were on a ducking trip to the Northeast River early this week. They found the sport good and killed 15 ducks including several canvas backs.

Mrs. A. N. Raub has returned after an extended visit with her daughter, Mrs. G. G. Henry, Brooklyn.

"Good Lookers" Popular

Memory only recalls a few of those who were on the street at such times. Every young man who had a good horse and square-backed cutter aimed to get the best-looking girl he knew to go with him.

The racing was not very popular with the girls, because it was very hard on the appearance. The swift motion through the icy air made the noses very red, and the hats, which had bandeaux in those days, would not stay on right, although they were moored to the padded pompadours with 10-inch hat pins.

One had constantly to use a handkerchief, and move a muff from the ears to the nose to keep them from freezing. Hoods were taboo, and were only worn by the sensible old ladies.

In the evening the racing continued, but with less enthusiasm. The best horses had gone home, and the street was rather dark, unless there was a moon.

There were only the gasoline street lamps. Those were lighted by a faithful man called "Gasoline Jimmy," who went all around in the early evening carrying his ladder with him.—A. H.

A card party will be sponsored by the Orpah Lodge in the I.O.O.F. Hall on Tuesday evening at 8:30 o'clock.

sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

The device used in the demonstrations consists of two 38-caliber revolvers loaded with yellow bullets mounted on a frame fastened on the front bumper of the car.

One gun is fired by a rope running alongside the car, being pulled by a passenger. This is the signal to stop and the place is marked by the yellow bullet on the pavement. At the time the first gun is fired a red flag is released and appears above the radiator, so that the driver has a visual as well as an audible signal to stop.

Second Gun Fires

The other gun is connected with the brake pedal and is fired when the brake is applied and makes a mark on the pavement where the brake is applied. The distance between these two marks is the reaction distance—which is the distance traveled while the driver reacts to the signal and gets his foot off the accelerator and on the brake.

From the second mark to where the car stops is the braking distance or the distance required to stop the car after the brakes are applied. The total of the two distances is the stopping distance, or the size of the "dime."

"Safety is a state of mind." M... Pontious used as the text of his speeches. "Menial attitude" was the subject.

Dr. E. Earle Weggenmann, prominent local physician, was greeted as a new member of the Lions Club at the meeting of the service organization.
