NHS STAFF TRAINS THRU SCHOOL YEAR IN WORKSHOP

Teachers Study Latest Methods In Educational Field At Meets

Teachers are still pupils at the Newark Schools under an in-service training program, instituted here early this year and featuring workshop sessions for faculty members abreast of latest advances in educational technique.

The program, which calls for weekly sessions by faculty groups, is showing satisfactory results, according to Superintendent Wilmer E. Shue.

The workshop plan, he said, replaces the old, frequently routine faculty meeting, and its advantage is that teachers undertake specific projects which they learn to apply to their methods and advances in the teaching profession.

The program here is under the direction of the School of Education at the University of Delaware, and teachers learn the work for credit towards higher degree, or certificate renewal, or merely from personal interest.

The Newark staff is taking part in the workshop sessions, which feature panel discussions and graphic demonstrations through which faculty members exchange information on technical matters in their fields.

Under the plan the faculty is divided into three groups, intermediate, primary, and high school, each working independently. Currently, the elementary group's project is language-arts and community resources. At the moment, the group is seeking techniques which will stimulate interest in reading among pupils, a basic incentive to learning and education. Specifically, the teachers are attempting to use methods for developing four (Please turn to page 8)

Three New Type Street Lights Installed Here

Three mercury lamps, regarded as the latest and most efficient method of public illumination, have been installed on the south side of Delaware Avenue along the university campus.

Chief advantage of the new lights is their high intensity. The devices generate twice the power of the older types on the same current. The lamps, which emit a metallic, bluish glow have been erected on Delaware Ave, because that area has always been regarded as one of the most poorly illuminated in town.

George Ramsey, head of the street and light commission, supervised their installation. If public reaction is favorable, he said, more may be placed in other hazardous areas.

OCHELTREE AND STEERS OPPOSED FOR ROTARY VOTE

Three Contests On Slate For Club Election Here, April 5

Clarence Ocheltree, chairman of the Delaware P.M.A. State Committee, and Ken Steers, member of the athletic department at the University of Delaware, are opposing candidates for president of the Newark Rotary Club in the annual election to be held April 5.

A full slate of nominees, with opposing candidates lined up for several posts, was completed at the club's monthly business session on Monday night.

Other nominations were as follows: Vice-president, Jack Handloff and Ken Steers; secretary, Gilbert Nickel; treasurer, Ken Steers and Vincent Mayer. Mr. Steers, who has been proposed for three offices, appears certain of winning at least one.

The contests on the ticket developed when several additional nominations were made from the floor, following the announcement of the official slate drawn up previously by a nominating committee, headed by Dr. T. F. Manns.

Nominations for directorships were: T. D. Mylrea, William Shack Martin, William Campbell, Rodney Dann and Dr. Arthur Jackson. In addition, Dr. T. F. Manns was nominated from the floor.

A plan for establishing a $1,000 student loan fund was also approved at the session. The money will be raised through yearly installments of $200. Once completed, it will become a revolving fund from which loans for worthy educational purposes will be made.

Five trustees to administer the fund will be named in the club's election next month. Six members nominated for the posts are: Dr. T. F. Manns, Ken Steers, William S. Hamilton, Samuel Handloff, Gilbert Nickel, and Rodney Dann.

PARKING VIOLATIONS HIGH HERE

54 In February; Drunkeness Tops List Of Arrests

Thirteen arrests for drunkenness topped the list of law violations in Newark during February, according to Police Chief William Cunningham's report, released this week.

Next most common offense was speeding, with police nabbing nine motorists. In addition, 54 parking tickets were issued.

A total of 34 arrests were made during the month, with the complete breakdown as follows: disorderly conduct, 4 arrests; drunk, 13 arrests; speeding, 9 arrests; passing red light, 2 arrests; reckless driving, expired chauffeur's license, trespassing, assault and battery, passing stop sign, driving car without consent of owner, one for each offense.

Investigations by police were as follows: five accidents, one larceny, one accident fatality, one sex offense. The last was cleared. One case was dismissed during the month.

A total of 230 phone calls were handled by police, and the car travelled 2,996 miles. Lodging was provided eight, and one person was committed to the County Workhouse.

NORTH SIDE SEWER LINE WORK 30 PCT. COMPLETED

$75,000 Project Will Connect Whole Area To Sanitary Sewer

The $75,000 north side sewer laying project, begun here last November, is now 30 per cent complete, according to Town Engineer, George E. Price.

To date, sanitary sewers have been placed on portions of Cleveland Avenue, Annabelle and Race Streets, as well as the area in the rear of Race Street. Work still remaining includes the laying of sewer lines on North of Race and Ray Street, plus the construction of a new pumping station on North Chapel Street.

When completed, the project will provide modern sewage disposal for the entire north section of town, much of which has never been connected with the town's sanitary sewer system. A long planned program, delayed following the war because of material shortages, the sewerage extension will step up sanitary standards here considerably.

Only one building permit was issued by the town during February, according to Price's report, the license going to Howard W. Evans for a $6,500 one and a half story cement block dwelling on Continental Avenue.

Three new electric loops were run and one new transformer installed during the month. Also, a street light primary was erected from East Main Street to East Park Place on South Chapel Street. New street lights were placed on Delaware Avenue.

In the water department, three new water taps were made, four leaks repaired, one service renewed, and two services thawed.

During the month, 19,631,200 gallons of water were pumped for a daily average of 676,938, an increase of 5,038 over the previous month and a jump of 3,397,200 gallons over February, 1947.

CAR PARKING PROBLEM IS ACUTE AGAIN

Residential Sections Are Now Effectuated

The town's chronic parking problem, finally eased on Main Street a few months ago with the application of a 1-hour rule and the opening of the free parking lot, is cropping up again on adjacent streets much to the dismay of town authorities.

The question was brought up at the February meeting of the Town Council here Monday night, when a number of complaints were received. Most critical areas now are reported to be streets surrounding the university as well as some business houses and plants, where all-day parkers are bringing protests from homeowners.

Specific complaints have been received by town authorities from the Kentway-Amstel Avenue area, where, it is claimed, the cars of university students are blocking residents from free access to their property.

In an effort to work out some solution, a 3-man Council committee met with university president, Dr. William S. Carlson this week. The object was to ask the university's cooperation and suggest that more adequate parking facilities be provided students on college grounds. It is expected some agreement will be reached.

The Council's committee included: George Ramsey, Rodney Dann and Herman Wollaston.

For some time, signs have been installed on the following streets: north side of Delaware Avenue, portions of South College Avenue to a point below Kentway; Cleveland Avenue from North Chapel Street east some distance; and the west side of North College Avenue from Main Street to the B and O tracks.

Lecture On Famed Retailers Tonight

A plan to formulate uniform store hours and improve business relations in Newark will be discussed at a dinner meeting of the Retail Merchant's Division of the Newark Chamber of Commerce tonight at 6:30 p. m. in the Academy Restaurant.

NEW PLAN IS PUSHED BY HEALTH UNIT HERE

Local Restaurants Getting Periodic Checks; Personnel Are Shown Films

Sanitary standards in public eating places here, including restaurants, lunch and soda fountains, are expected to be among the highest in the state soon as a result of an educational program currently being conducted by state authorities working with the local Board of Health.

The plan is being directed by W. P. Gainer, state restaurant inspector, and will include periodic check-ups of all local restaurants to determine progress made.

While health standards in eating establishments here are relatively high, there is still room for improvement, Mr. Gainer said, his aim being to make conditions in Newark a model for the remainder of the state.

All restaurant personnel, especially food handlers, are being asked to join the work, which will feature a number of informative films, detailing proper restaurant practices.

The first of these, entitled "Twist Cup and Lip" and "Food Handlers and Hash Slingers" were shown recently at Frank Glenn's State Restaurant. A sizeable turnout of waitresses and kitchen personnel from a number of restaurants was on hand to view the films, which gave pointers on the correct way to handle and serve food.

CORPS OF 175 VOLUNTEERS PUSHES RED CROSS DRIVE

Solicitors To Canvass Every Family In 39 Zones Of Area

A corps of 175 volunteer solicitors for the Red Cross began knocking on doors here this week in an intensive drive to cover the Newark branch area before the mid-March deadline.

The volunteers are charged with the task of interviewing every family in this section, which includes 39 zones and some 12,000 people.

In addition, the managements of local industrial plants are being approached by members of the Special Gifts Committee. Employees of these firms will be canvassed by zone solicitors in the house-to-house drive.

Exact boundaries of the Newark branch area are: Limestone Road on the north, to and including Christiana, Bear Station and Red Lion; the south to and including the Glasgow dual highway.

Dr. Allan P. Colburn, Area Chairman, has completed the appointing of all zone captains and solicitors. In addition to those previously announced they are:

Zone 12, Murray's Hill to Maryland Line, Captain, Mrs. Orville E. Otter.

Zone 21, East Main from Newark Center to Leek's Garage and Tyre, Captain, Mrs. Harold Sheaffer.

Zone 22, Capitol Trail, Leek's Garage to Lumbrook, Co-Captains, Mrs. Leon Case and Mrs. George Tweed.

Zone 23, Lumbrook to Cochran's (Please Turn to Page 8)

Town's February Cash Balance Totals $9,828

A total of $9,828.31 cash on hand in the town treasury at the conclusion of February business was reported by Treasurer Vernon Steele at Monday night's session of the Town Council. Receipts of $50,632.63, less disbursements of $40,804.32 accounted for the figure.

Two $10,000 U. S. War Bonds were cashed by the Council to provide a portion of the total income for the month. Electric light receipts amounted to $10,018.57, electric power returns came to $6,754.90 and water rents $6,272.75.

Monthly clean-up days have been set for March 17 and 18.

Dr. Wallace M. Johnson

Governor Walter W. Bacon has announced reappointment of five members of the State Board of Medical Examiners, among them Dr. Johnson, for terms of two years each, effective Monday, March 1.

TOWN UNIT WILL MEET EACH WEEK ON CHARTER

Rough Outline Of Draft Completed; Weekly Meets Are Planned By Group

The task of writing a new town charter for Newark moved beyond the initial stages last night as the 13-man Citizens' Committee held its second meeting since its formation a few weeks ago.

An outline of a new draft, listing sections and departments to be incorporated in the document, was drawn up by the group. Also, a schedule of meetings was agreed upon, with sessions to be held every Wednesday night at 8 p. m. in the Council Offices until the difficult job of writing an acceptable municipal bill is completed.

At the committee's first meeting a week ago, copies of last year's rejected draft were distributed for home study by the members. Each was asked to work out a list of sections and departments he thought the new charter should contain. These were used in drawing up a rough outline of the draft last night.

At succeeding meetings, the group plans to work through the outline, section by section, avoiding the omissions that have marked previous drafts.

The committee is optimistic about this latest attempt to revamp the town government and place it on a modern, efficient basis.

However, authorities stressed that the new draft when completed probably will not please everyone. The aim, said P. A. Wheelless, chairman of the charter committee, is to reach an acceptable compromise on all controversial points.

He added that the current committee, composed of members of all leading civic organizations, is the most representative group yet chosen to work on the project and its chances of success are high.

Two New Members Enrolled By Lions

A plan for aiding scholarship in grammar schools here was proposed at the weekly dinner meeting of the Newark Lions Club on Tuesday night. Ford McBerty was named to study possibilities for club assistance.

Two new members were enrolled at the session. They are: Jacob A. Correll, sales director of Ralston Purina Company and Jack F. Fell, agriculture engineer at the University of Delaware.

Appointed as delegates to the Council for Delaware Education, Incorporated were Charles Cooper and Harold Sheaffer.

Lecture On Framed Telescope Tomorrow

A lecture-demonstration of the great 200-inch telescope on Mount Palomar, California, will be given by Robert T. Edgar at a Newark school assembly tomorrow at 2 p. m. for grades seven to twelve.

VOTE HERE FOR MAYOR, COUNCILMEN NEXT MONTH

3 Council Posts Open In Election On April 13

Despite the fact that the annual town election is only about a month away, the political scene here has failed to produce a ripple of activity thus far, with no candidates filing as yet for the four posts open.

Local voters will name a Mayor and three Councilmen at the election scheduled for April 13. Deadline for filing will be 10 days before the balloting on April 3, and, under provisions of the charter, candidates will be required to submit written notice of their intention to run by then to town secretary Vermin Steele.

Mr. Hubert, who has served continually on Council since 1928, was first named Mayor in 1943 on the death of Mayor Frank Collins. After completing Mr. Collins' term, Mr. Hubert was twice reelected and is now ending his second full term as head of the town governing body.

Others whose terms expire in April are: John S. Hopkins, representative of the eastern district, now completing his second term; Herman Wollaston, middle district, first elected in 1933 and serving continuously since then with the exception of the year 1935; and F. A. Wheelless, successor to the late J. F. Richards, Mr. Wheelless, who has seen only a few months service, is filling out Mr. Richards' term.

None of the incumbents has formally filed for reelection as yet, although it is expected the majority will do so. Neither have any newcomers appeared thus far to challenge the race, although it is a common opinion that the campaign may develop into a heated contest by the time balloting begins. Last year, things got off to an equally slow start, but, by filing deadline, opposing candidates were in the race for all three Council posts. The victors then were Rodney Dann, George Ramsey and Norman Battersby, all of whom have another year to serve.

Election officers will be Robert Galaher and Frank Lutton.

CENTURY CLUB MEET ON MONDAY

Dr. C. N. Lanier Plans Talk On Labor Relations

Dr. Charles N. Lanier, economics professor at the University of Delaware, will be the speaker at the New Century Club here on Monday afternoon. His topic will be "Collective Bargaining in Labor Relations."

Dr. Lanier, who received his degree from Vanderbilt University, has been a member of the university faculty in economics since 1940. He is currently chairman of economics and business administration there.

Mrs. Thomas D. Mylrea, program chairman, arranged for Dr. Lanier to speak. Mrs. E. Newman Rose will serve as hospitality chairman.

The list of Piano Fund committee members published recently omitted the names of Mrs. Leon Case and Mrs. Samuel Handloff.

ST. PATRICK DAY DANCE

St. John's R. C. Holy Name Society will hold its annual St. Patrick's Day Frolic and Dance on Wednesday, March 17, at the Newark New Century Club. Many valuable prizes will be distributed to patrons during the evening.

Johnny Wooleyhan and Sextette, known throughout the state for its danceable rhythms, will provide selections for both square and swing dances.

The program will start promptly at 8 p. m., continuing until midnight. The dancing will be broken by an hour's entertainment staged by Frank Rago.

There will be prizes for the kiddies, refreshments and free bingo. Proceeds from the event will help swell St. Patrick's new school fund.

POULTRYMEN TO COMPETE IN CONTEST

The National Chicken of Tomorrow Contest will be held in Delaware this spring got off to a start this week with the placement of 28,800 eggs in incubators from breeding flocks of the 40 finalists from 26 states that are competing in the contest to select the nation's outstanding meat-type broiler.

A. E. Tomhave, head of the University of Delaware poultry department and chairman of the Delaware committee states that the chicks in the contest will hatch on March 22 and will be moved on March 23 from the hatchery to the poultry plant at the University Substation near Georgetown where they will be reared under identical conditions for a 12 week period. Karl S. Seegar, assistant research poultryman at the Substation, will supervise the rearing of the birds.

At the conclusion of the growing period the birds will be dressed and judged and the prize winning breeders will be announced at the "Chicken of Tomorrow Field Day" to be held at Georgetown on June 24.

Selection of Delaware as the site of the contest is hailed by Chairman Tomhave as a compliment to the great poultry industry in this state and will provide not only the industry in Delaware, but poultrymen throughout the country, with valuable data on hatchability, rate of growth, feathering, feed consumption of the many breeds which are entered in the contest and reared under Delaware broiler conditions.

HOMEMAKER SUGGESTIONS

Thrifty homemakers in New Castle County are glad they haven't thrown away their old feather mattresses. Outmoded feather beds, they've found, can be made into fluffy comforts.

Two leaders from each of the 14 home demonstration clubs were trained recently by Miss M. Katharine Jones, home demonstration agent, and Miss Louise Whitcomb, extension home management specialist, to present demonstrations on making feather comforts to their own club members.

The women discovered that the secret of success in making these comforts warm and durable lies in the careful selection, preparation and construction of material. Small feathers or a mixture of down and feathers are preferable; a portion of half and half for 60 per cent down and 40 per cent feathers makes excellent comforts. To make a comfort that will not lose its feathers, a feather-proof material should be used. For a comfort 72 inches by 90 inches, which is the size for a standard bed, 10 yards of material and about 5 pounds of feathers are required.

PLANS FOR UNIVERSITY PLAY FETE

Varied Dramatic Fare Is Expected At Festival Here

Wide variety in the types of drama to be offered by participants in the sixth Delaware Play Festival is indicated by entries received to date. Dr. C. Robert Kase, director of the Dramatic Center at the University of Delaware, said recently.

Dr. Kase pointed out that the different kinds of production were typified by "The Happy Journey," a comedy, to be given by the Laurel High School; "The Valiant," a drama, to be given by Dover High School; and a cutting from the satirical "Pygmalion," to be given by Wilmington High School.

Three groups already entered will be participating for the first time in several years. Coatesville, Pa., High School never has taken part in the festival; while the Tower Hill School and Delmar High School players have been entered for the first time since the war.

Entries in the community theatre and out-of-date divisions closed March 1. The plays selected for presentation in the festival's finals will be staged at Mitchell Hall on the university campus at Newark on April 30 and May 1.

Chairman of the state committee for the festival is G. Taggart Evans of Newark, aided by three sub-chairmen, Miss C. Louise Jackson, of the New Castle County Public School Division; Mrs. Myrtle Cabbage, of the Kent County Public School Division; and Dr. Emil Ott, of the Community Theatre Division. The play festival is an activity of the Delaware Dramatic Association, in collaboration with the University's Dramatic Center.

State Check-Up
Reveals Flaws

About 30 per cent of the vehicles with March 31 deadline for inspection and reregistration are defective, Frank L. Reed, state motor vehicle commissioner said this week.

Mr. Reed said that if these motorists continue to wait until the last few days to present their vehicles at the inspection lanes, the repair garages will not be able to complete their adjustments in time for the car owners to return to the inspection lane for reinspection and renewal of registration before the deadline. He added that "it would be advisable for the owners to have the vehicles checked before presenting them to the inspection lane."

Ware Abouts

W. O. W. could and does stand for most any old thing you might want it to; could be Woodmen of World—Weakness of Women—Wallop old Wallace—Wild or Woolley—Wondering over Wyatt—Widdows, Ott W—Wily old Wolf (Henry)—Writing our Wareabouts—Worrying over Worriwow—Winning our Wives—Willys or Wentcha—but, none of these are what we had in mind when we went off on this binge.

Our thought was W. O. (Bill) White, erstwhile editor of the Curtis Gazette who is doing a bang-up job of publishing that company bi-weekly newsletter, despite taking time off to spend several days in New York—ostentatiously attending the paper convention.

And, the thought of Curtis Paper Co. brings to mind the work now in progress of erecting a Bailey Bridge across White Clay Creek preparatory to dismantling the old Curtis covered bridge, which is undoubtedly a forward and progressing step but, for sentimental reasons, we'll hate to see the demise of this 200-year-old structure that has served the populace hereabout so well—so long.

If we never said anything, we'd never have anything to take back. But, again, if we never said anything you wouldn't be reading this weekly tripe and our chores would be slightly lightened.

However, to stop beating around the bush, we erred last week when we said the university was erecting ornamental lights along its campus on Delaware Avenue. In the first place we should have known better.

Fact is that the Town of Newark has erected these much needed lights, also they have erected No Parking signs along the north side of Delaware Avenue which eliminates a considerable amount of traffic congestion and danger when two cars tried to pass with cars parked on both sides of the street.

Wouldn't be at all surprised to soon see parking restricted to one side along other narrow streets—or, where double side parking creates a hazard.

During the past ten days we have had no less than four young girls apply for employment—quite a change from a year ago when you couldn't hire help for love nor money. Wonder if this portends a change of times—or the coming of spring.

Two column heading on the front page of the STAR, last Sunday, proclaimed: "Chrysler Plant at Newark to be ready in 6 Weeks." Well, it may be ready, insofar as the construction is concerned but you can take it from us that it won't be officially opened and operating within that length of time.

As a matter of fact, a letter from a department head of the Chrysler Corporation, dated February 24, stated: "We do not have any news about plans for opening our Newark plant." And, we can't conceive of this plant being ready to open within six weeks and the corporation not being in the process of formulating plans for such an event.

Another interesting bit of propaganda, in the Star, that caught our attention was the musings of one who purports to be Thomas Jefferson writing under the heading of "Democratic Musings."

The alleged Mr. Jefferson said, in part: "Delaware Democrats are actively engaged in planning their state ticket for this year's election.... In every district party leaders seem unanimously in favor of Elbert N. Carvel, of Laurel, to head the ticket.... Two or three New Castle Countians have been approached with respect to the second place on the state ticket. John R. Fader, of Newark, and Howard Stayton, Sr., have been mentioned but, we are informed that Mr. Stayton has positively declined."

It's true that Hearn Bros. (Wilmington grocers) are dickering for a site in Newark. But, no deal has been made—as yet.

The Dayton (O.) Daily News reported: "Among those evacuated as flood waters poured in, was a 72-year-old blind man with one leg and a two-month-old baby."

Ain't it the truth: "Lots of things are opened by mistake—but none so frequently as one's mouth."

The Ides of March are with us and

Income Tax Day is just around the corner—when so many of us haven't got what we ought to have to pay up with on what we had last year.

On our calendar, notable days in March are:

6 General Sherman's Birthday, 1820
14 First Trans-Atlantic Radio, 1925
15 Andrew Jackson's Birthday, 1767
17 St. Patrick's Day
26 Good Friday
28 Easter Sunday
Influenza, lagrippe, Virus X or whatever you call it, taking its winter toll of victims, has many uncomfortably bedded with temperatures, aches, soreness and accompanying discomforts.

Town election, only a month away, is going to see many would-be candidates fling their intentions too late to give much chance of winning.... If they had any chance in the first place.

MEETING BY LEGION UNIT ON MONDAY

Contributes $25 For Special Bus Fund For Vets

A $25 contribution to help defray cost of a special bus to be presented for the use of war veterans at the New Castle Air Base was voted at the March meeting of the J. A. O'Daniel Unit, No. 10, American Legion on Monday.

The money will go to the World War Mothers I and II, who are raising a fund for the specially designed vehicle, which will carry disabled vets to athletic events and other outside activities.

Seven new members have been enrolled this year, Mrs. William Mote, president, presided.

The local unit, along with others throughout the state, is preparing boxes of clothing to be sent to St. Die, France, where the national auxiliary has taken over the care of some 1,600 children.

The Child Welfare chairman reported on the conference held at Washington, D. C., recently, where a 3-phase program, education, legislation and emergency aid, was studied. Over $3,000,000 was spent last year by the national auxiliary and subsidiaries on the Child Welfare Program.

Mrs. William Beswick, Pan-American chairman, gave a talk on this year's study, which is Argentina.

The Sports Post

By Sean N. Hurd

Such minuscule hopes of coping the MAS Southern Division basketball crown as the University of Delaware may have had a week ago vanished as completely as a genie in an Arabian Nights tale last Friday when PMC gained revenge for an earlier upset by the Blue Hens by trouncing the Newark collegians 77-58 at Chester.

The Hens final court encounter of the season is a home engagement for this Wednesday (March 3) with Haverford. The hardwood charges of Joe Brunansky defeated the Main Liners on February 7 and are expected to repeat that performance and thus make Haverford the only league team over which they will have registered twin victories. The only team which already has fallen twice this year before the court attack of the Delaware dribblers is Washington College.

If the Carpenter Fieldhouse courtmen can caper to another conquest over Haverford the Hens will complete the season with a record of ten wins and eight defeats—a mighty fine achievement in view of the fact that they lost six of their first eight games. Humbling Haverford will also mean that for the third year in a row Delaware will have won five and lost an equal number of games in the conference competition.

Although football and many other sports are played on areas of regulation size, faint true with basketball—unfortunately, in our opinion. According to a poll taken recently of 640 of the nation's basketball-playing colleges, actual court sizes range from 98' by 50' to 60' by 40'. This poll also produced the interesting fact that in the states of Maine, New Hampshire, Connecticut and Rhode Island there are no two collegiate courts of identical dimensions.

We liked this story of an amusing incident said to have occurred in a recent Holy Cross basketball game. It appears that the Crusaders' great All-American center, George Kattan, was having his hands full keeping the opposition center from scoring. At one point in the game Alvin (Doggie) Julian, coach of Holy Cross 1947 NCAA champions, cupped his hands and shouted to Kattan, "George, that guy couldn't score on my grandmother." "Yeah?" the All-American shouted back as his opponent swished another field goal through the cords, "Then you'd better get your grandmother out here—quick!"

With Bill Murray getting spring football practice underway at the U. of D. it might be well for us to look at some of the recent activities throughout the nation pertaining to that sport. Most of this has to do with the great migration of football mentors to what appear to them to be greener pastures. Fortunately for Delaware, the Blue Hen institution is not involved, as the able, effective and usually silent Murray rounds out his eighth year here and prepares for his ninth.

One of the first grid coaching changes became known when Howie Odell, former Pitt star and Yale mentor since 1942, signed a contract to coach the Huskies of the University of Washington. The spot at New Haven still remains vacant after General Eisenhower himself, soon to become president of Columbia University, reportedly talked Lou Little, for eighteen years the Foghorn of Baker Field, out of accepting an attractive Yale offer.

Down at Annapolis, Naval Academy officials, after two disastrous years in which the Middies won only two games, decided to follow Army's lead and obtain a civilian coach. Captain Tom Hamilton was made director of athletics and his football coaching shoes were filled by George Sauer. The latter, a former Nebraska backfield star and for five years head coach at the University of New Hampshire, had led his 1947 University of Kansas team to a co-championship of the Big Six. Selected to succeed Sauer at Kansas was Jules Verne Sikes, former end coach at U. of Georgia.

Even the pros and the collegians did some swapping. First, Bud DeGroot, who coached the Washington Redskins in 1944 and 1945 and then the Los Angeles Dons, was named to replace Bill Kern at West Virginia. This pro to college shift was more than offset when the Detroit Lions announced that Alvin N. (Bo) McMillin had been signed to a contract believed to be for seven years duration at about $30,000 per annum. Head coach at Indiana University since 1934, McMillin's ten-year contract there still had seven years to run. Bo, it will be recalled, first gained nation-wide fame in 1921 when he was quarterback of Centre College's Praying Colonels who astounded the football world by upsetting Harvard.

And speaking of Harvard calls to mind the fact that authorities at Cambridge (Mass.) have but recently selected 32-year-old Arthur Valpey to succeed the great Dick Harlow, who resigned because of ill health. Valpey, relatively unknown, was an assistant to Fritz Crisler at Michigan.

Another coaching change of importance took place at the University of Nebraska where Bernie Masterson, who still had three years of a five-year contract to serve, resigned for undisclosed reasons and was succeeded by 53-year-old George (Potsy) Clark. Clark had coached the Cornhuskers once before—during the 1945 season.

MARTIN CALLS DRILLS FOR BASEBALL OPENER HERE ON APRIL 1 AGAINST HARVARD

Hen Mentor Has Experienced Squad; Al Thorpe Tops Mound Candidates; 16 Game Schedule Planned For Two-Month Period

With the 1948 basketball season now tucked in the moth balls, the sport's light at the University of Delaware is already swinging to the baseball diamond, where Coach William Shack Martin will trot out his latest Hen nine for the season's debut on April 1. Harvard University will provide the opposition on that date, with another home game set for the following day against LaSalle College.

Coach Martin, who is working with an experienced squad, liberally sprinkled with talented material, had his moundmen limbering up in the field house early this week. Heading the candidates is Al Thorpe, mainstay of last year's pitching staff.

Martin expects to have a varied assortment of hurlers this year. Among them will be Bill Roy and Jim Collins, neither of whom were pitched last year. The possibility that Tom Silk, Newark High product and veteran infielder, may be converted for a mound job, was also mentioned.

In addition to his diamond duties, Coach Martin will also be assisting Coach Bill Murray with spring football practice which will continue during March until the baseball season opens. Sandwiched between these jobs will be his work with the wrestling team, which Martin is preparing for the Middle Atlantic championships.

The baseball schedule follows:

April 1—Harvard, home.
April 2—LaSalle, home.
April 14—Johns Hopkins, away.
April 17—Lehigh, away.
April 21—Swarthmore, away.
April 22—West Chester, home.

The "Old Bird" race scheduled was approved as follows:

The Special race, scheduled for June 12, will be an open race open to any member of the Wilmington Homing Pigeon Club. The Special race scheduled for June 5, will be the second annual contest for the "Secretary's Trophy."

Mrs. Bessie Miller, of 129 East Delaware Avenue, Newark, was the winner of the drawing held during the meeting.

A social gathering followed the business session.

The next meeting is scheduled for March 19, time and place to be announced.

HEN CAGERS THUMPED BY P. M. C., 77-58

Tenth Defeat In 17 Games For Delaware

Delaware's courtmen absorbed a 77-58 thumping from P. M. C. at Chester, Pa., on Saturday night. The loss was the Hen's tenth in 17 games.

The setback was something of a surprise since Delaware had downed the Cadets here earlier by a 58-55 count.

The first sign of life from Delaware came towards the end of the second quarter, when the Hens rallied to knot the count at 30 all, but they were behind again 38-31 at the half.

The final two periods saw the Cadets stage a shattering offensive, scoring 20 points in the third period alone while the Hens managed 10. The Chertites let up slightly in the final quarter, dropping in 19 to Delaware's 17. Bill Nash topped the Blue and Gold scorers with 11 points.

JACKET FIVE CLOSES YEAR TOMORROW

Will Play At Claymont In Finale

Smarting from defeats by Brown and Wilmington High the past week, the Newark Yellow Jackets face a gloomy wind-up to their campaign tomorrow night when they meet potent Claymont on the latter's floor.

The defeat by Wilmington High here Tuesday night, which was the Jacket's last appearance this season before the home fans, was a heartbreaker, with Newark losing the decision in the dying moments.

Taking an 11-4 advantage in the opening quarter, the Jackets maintained the lead until the final session, when the Red Devils, who had been steadily whittling down Newark's margin finally forged into the lead.

Bobby Gregg was the offensive stand-out for both teams, pouring in five field goals and five fouls for a 15-point total.

Earlier Brown Vocational administered a sound, 53-40, thumping in the Wilmington's school gym.

Despite the score the Jackets went down the hard way. Overcoming an opening period deficit, Newark had a 23-20 lead at half-time. However, by the end of the third quarter, Brown was on top again by four points and was never headed again.

NHS GROUP AT PARLEY

Thirty-three Newark High School students joined with pupil delegations from a five-state area in staging the model Republican National Convention last week at Temple University.

The Newark group represented the state of Missouri.

Following an opening rally, the convention broke up into sub-committee meetings, where provisions of the platform were worked out. Later, the general assembly reconvened to hear committee reports.

Nominations for president were heard at the afternoon session, and on the third ballot Harold E. Stassen was chosen the G. O. P. nominee, with Earl Warren his running mate.

VFW PLAN IS PUSHED

Seek Civic Group On War Memorial

Letters asking cooperation in the plan to erect a permanent war memorial to all Newark veterans are being sent to every civic group in the community this week by the local unit of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, which has proposed the project.

Any organization which fails to receive a notice is asked to notify William Coverdale, chairman of the V. F. W. committee.

The form letters are asking permission to send V. F. W. delegations before club meetings to describe the plans for the memorial.

Meantime, Edward Ratti, noted sculptor and Newark resident, who has agreed to design and erect a suitable memorial, is currently working on three miniatures of varying design for display to interested groups.

qualities: oral language background, sight word vocabulary, phonetics and thoughtful reading. Methods for teaching these were demonstrated at a recent session.

Periodically outside speakers are invited to address the workshop groups. Recently, Dr. Catherine Geary, assistant superintendent of schools at Chester, Pa., and director of the elementary workshop there, spoke to local teachers. She discussed "A Developmental Program in Reading."

The importance of reading skill as the basis of a student's education makes the current workshop sessions here of incalculable importance to the future of Newark's educational program.

E-52 PLAY OPENS 2-DAY RUN TONITE

Dr. C. Day To
Be Narrator
For Comedy

Dr. Cyrus L. Day, professor of English at the University of Delaware, dons the traditional sock-and-buskin tonight and tomorrow night to portray old William Shakespeare himself. He is scheduled to serve as narrator for the streamlined version of "The Comedy of Errors," being presented by the E-52 Players.

Dr. Day appears in a prologue especially written for the Players by Dr. Ned B. Allen, faculty specialist in Shakespearean lore. Dr. C. R. Kase, who directs the drama, has had the task, self-imposed, on condensing Shakespeare's traditional five acts into two, meanwhile maintaining the original spirit and mood of the play.

Important in preserving this original mood has been the staging of this E-52 production. To accomplish this, the inner-outer stage technique, dear to Elizabethans, has been employed to full advantage. Scenery is of the stylized sort common to the 16th century theatre, where a tree represents an entire forest. Special costumes for the production have been prepared by the Philadelphia firm of C. H. Haentze, Inc.

Scene designs based upon drawings by Robert Niemeyer and William Allen, Wise, have been executed by the stage crew, under the guidance of Harry Bidlake, technical director of Mitchell Hall.
