Students Have Role In SGA Says Adams

Roy Adams questions students, "How do you see your role in SGA?"

Adams, president of the Student Government Association, stated, "Every member of the student body is a member of SGA and every Senate meeting is an open meeting to all members of the student body."

Adams has planned the reorganization of the SGA placing emphasis on the individual student.

In regard to his reorganization plan, Adams stated that students "should remember that this plan is an experimental idea to help guide thinking along lines which would make SGA as effective as possible. The 'idea' calls for Senate and SGA members to talk about and work on making effective use of the students."

Next week the plan will be covered by the Review in detail including explanations by both Adams and Wayne Calloway, newly selected Secretary-General of SGA.

Campus Chest Offers Charity Carnival Fun Tonight In Carpenter

Campus Chest Drive will be climaxed tonight by the annual Campus Chest Carnival in Carpenter Field House.

The Carnival, being held as a part of Spring Weekend, will feature the Ugly Man on Campus and dormitory and fraternity booths.

Cannon Hall and Alpha Epsilon Pi will run a refreshment booth with Cannon selling orange drinks and pretzels, and AEPI selling corned beef sandwiches. The class of 1962 will have a cotton candy booth.

Thompson Hall will have a fun house and Smyth will run a kissing booth. Kent will take couple or group comic photographs.

A "Playboy" booth will be run by New Castle Hall, complete with bunnies and playmates. Warner Hall's booth will offer shoe-polishing and manicuring. A gingerbread house will be Sussex' booth, where they will sell gingerbread. Squire Hall will take bets on a game of chance.

Carnival participants will have a chance to throw shaving cream pies at Sigma Nu brothers. At Alpha Tau Omega's booth, a ball thrown at a target will start bells ringing, flags waving, rockets flying, and, in one case, a cascade of water falling on a brother's head.

Delta Tau Delta will hold a hearse packing contest to see how many people will fit into their hearse. Kappa Alpha will have a human pinball machine, using their pledges. They will also sell chances to girls for a date with one of the brothers.

A strength testing machine will be provided by Phi Kappa

New York Philharmonic Orchestra. Maynard's music ranges from the hottest of progressive jazz to smooth dance music. The versatile Ferguson also is a showman, a constant study in motion. He is at a fierce pitch of concentration and exertion when he's leading the band. He plays trumpet solos, and works as section man with the trumpets and trombones. Tickets to the concert are now on sale at the Student Center desk at $2 per person and the concert will begin promptly at 2:30 p. m.

A big saving can be made by purchasing the package deal ticket for $5 which enables a couple to attend the dance and the concert.

The Spring Dance will star Eddie Allen Orchestra, well-known West Coast dance band. Decorations will feature a water fall, rock garden, and Japanese cherry trees. The dance will be held in the Dover Room and the roof will also be open. Dress will be semi-formal and begins at 8. Tickets are $3 per couple.

Tau, and participants at Theta Chi's booth will have a chance to help demolish a junk car with a sledge hammer.

A brother of Sigma Phi Epsilon will be the target for a dish of custard at the Sig Ep booth.

Harter Hall has a balloon shaving contest planned, and Brown Hall will have a contest to throw ping-pong balls into a fishbowl.

At Sharp Hall Joe Kilby and Bob Lavker are staying awake a minute for each penny contributed. In addition, Sharp Hall will have a grab bag of merchandise from Newark stores. The prize package in the grab bag is a car.

Co-Chairman of the drive and carnival are Sue Plotkin and Tom Burns.

All proceeds will go to the American Cancer Society. This drive is held in an attempt to unify the charity solicitation at the university, and is the student's one opportunity to contribute on campus.

Library Shows Reissue Paper Of Civil War

The Memorial Library is now subscribing to a facsimile reissue of "Harper's Weekly" for the Civil War period, 1861-1865, which is displayed weekly in a special rack in the Library's periodical reading room.

An exact reproduction of the original, each issue of the paper will contain battlefront news, together with the eye-witness sketches and drawings by Winslow Homer, Frederick Remington, and others for which the newspaper is justly famous.

"North American Review" carried the following prophetic judgement:

"It has been one of the most powerful organs of public opinion... It has been read in city parlors, in the log-hut of the pioneer, by every camp-fire of our armies, in the wards of our hospitals, in the trenches before Petersburg, and in the ruins of Charleston... Our historical societies and public libraries throughout the country should secure a complete set of the volumes of 'Harper's Weekly,' for every year will add to their value as an illustrated record of the times."

Students are urged to examine the "Weekly" and to follow the Civil War as it was seen week-by-week a century ago.

Toward Campus Unity

Growing out of the Tankin affair, but obvious even before that mushrooming incident, was a decided lack of communications among individuals and groups on campus. Probably the most glaring example of lack of sufficient understanding occurred between students and university staff.

It is refreshing to note that first one pole, then the other recognized this unpleasant fact and set into operation attempts to rectify the seeming vacuum between basic elements within the university.

Beginning with the second semester, luncheons between students and staff were planned Thursdays at noon at which time students could voice opinions about the university with concern primarily on areas of objection. In a pleasant, informal atmosphere there was generated a free flow of expression, equally beneficial, it is hoped, to both parties involved.

Last Wednesday afternoon, Colburn Hall initiated a similar venture, this time hosted by students for much the same purpose as the student-staff luncheons of older vintage.

While both attempts point up a serious deficiency existing on campus, they also demonstrate an awareness on both sides that measures to rectify this communications lack must be effected. Originally begun by the university staff because it hadn't been able to meet students on an individual basis, this venture has been picked up by students, equally desirous of a better, more beneficial relationship.

The idealism of campus unity, derived from mutual understanding, is further envisaged in the long range plans of SGA president, Roy Adams, who sees success of student government endeavors as closer cooperation among the various elements within the university.

The Review heartily endorses these attempts at self analysis and improvement. We hope, moreover, that in the future, the relationship, for which the groundwork is presently being constructed, will be greatly heightened, and that student ideas and opinions will be sought and considered in long range planning at the university.

Letters to Editor

Letter to the Sports Editor

Two issues ago, Ron Levitt as a Guest Columnist for The Review, attacked some of the "liabilities" of the Intramural Council.

Honorary Society

still sleepy eyed by the present Mortar Board members.

A breakfast was held in honor of the new members in the Student Center followed by a public tapping on the north steps of the Memorial Library at 9 a. m.

The nine new members will be officially initiated on Wednesday May 26 at 4:30 in the Faculty Lounge of the Student Center. A dinner will be held that same evening for present and past Mortar Board member of the university.

The nine women were chosen by the present Mortar Board members and will carry the organization into its second year at the university as a national honorary society.

As President of the Intramural Council, I would like to clear up some points about the situation.

Mr. Levitt attacks the officiating. As stated, the Physical Education class entitled Sports Officiating has been handling these duties, and let me say they have been doing a tremendous job. So for this year football, wrestling, swimming, and volleyball have been refereed by these men competently. The only sport that any sort of poor officiating occurs in is basketball. The reason that this class does not handle this sport is because there are so many games and teams that it would require too much time. To compensate for this we ask the teams to supply an official. I admit this has not worked out, but Mr. Levitt's suggestion of professional officials is also bad because: (1) the intramural council is designed for amateurs and for fun, not for pro's; (2) a professional would not want to referee an intramural game; (3) even if we did secure their services the factor of forfeits (very prevalent) would

As I See It...

By J. R. Wilder

Some sort of honors are sought by most students. Listening to conversations in the scrounge will show any observant eavesdropper the value of honors on campus.

It is possible for one student to achieve many honors. For instance, one fellow said that he had gotten one hundred and fifty honors the other day. All this and scrounging, too. It's luck really — let me explain.

Sit down with three friends at a pleasantly grubby table. A hand is extended to you, and you grab it, fearing the unknown. Gaze into your hand — a fortune may be at your fingertips.

Say you win, pure luck! You have four aces — 100 honors. You're on your way but suppose there is a trump suit — all honor flees. Look again. Your ace of trump may be followed by the king through the ten — 150 honors. Always check for honors — search diligently.

Only one thing bothers me. All this searching for honors and still no true honor system. Searching unsuccessfully? Maybe the methods are improper, maybe the people. It's neither really, or both. It seems likely that not all the rules are known. Nothing deliberate, maybe. "Our way of life." If it cannot be a total way of life, why a way at all? Never go half way. Whose fault? No one's really, but everyone's. Why not make the rules more abstract, like the system. Where trivia is dwelled upon, universality goes. Revisions seem necessary. Why not a committee? A committee on honors or systems of honor is needed in the quest.

Honors Day — That's a day when students who have succeeded in their quest are recognized. Can't find these honors in the Scrounge. Scrounge used to be in the library. That's still the right place. Libraries seem superfluous, just books and an inquiring mind. Those who find the answers, win honors. Honor's Day — that's their day and we salute them. They have met the test.

Tests — that's another matter. Tests and the marking system for another week. No more time discourage them from attending these games.

Mr. Levitt next attacks what he has called "the unequal balance of league competition." The large fraternity has dominated the Intramural scene at the university. One reason is because these fraternities have a definite interest in sports. They also organize and promote practices for the different sports. Of course, I realize that the bigger fraternity has many athletes and more men to choose from, but why can't the smaller fraternity organize a definite program. I should think it would be a challenge to beat the big boy or winner. The sports scene is filled with such accomplishments. Nobody is unbeatable as evidenced by Ohio State's loss in the NCAA tourney, and the Yankee's loss in the World Series. If the small fraternity is seemingly going to roll over and play dead for the bigger one, then they might as well not enter intramurals.

The Intramural program has a 50-50 program. Half of the sports are team and half are individual. There is no reason why a fraternity or anyone cannot win an individual sport. Most of individual sports are limited to four members from each organization. Anyone with practice under his belt can place in these sports. When the smaller fraternity realizes that they have to practice and show a definite interest in intramurals, that is when they will win, and, also, when the intramural program will achieve any sort of balance.

The intramural council is becoming stronger. As has been stated, we meet every Tuesday night at 7:15 in Recitation Hall. The smaller fraternities, namely PiKA and Delta Tau Delta, have made definite improvements in Intramurals, while others have been their usual lax

Theta Chi

A combination Theta Chi-AEPI closed jam session will be held Saturday afternoon. It is rumored that all refreshments will be kosher.

The Limbo has taken predominance over the Twist at the Theta Chi House. The lessons are given nightly at the expense of many vertebrae.

Delta Tau Delta

Last weekend the Delt Pledges honored the brothers with the "Blast" of the semester—the Apache Party. Entertainment was provided by the Playboys combo, Pablo "Shelly Berman" Wellborn, and various pledges, as well as several guests. The French theme was propagated throughout the entire house as brothers, pledges, and their dates got a detailed inspection. The pride of the pledges was the wall to wall carpeting in the Rathskellar, along with the DRIVE-IN sign which added that touch of sequalness. Now the time for Delt weekend is drawing near, and the brothers prowl the campus for their dates. Also the new awning on the Delt house is just what is needed to brighten the shaded area behind Hullahen Hall. The Delt's wish everyone a pleasant Spring Weekend.

Sigma Phi Epsilon

Sigma Phi Epsilon gained another laurel in their drive toward the overall intramural crown when they captured the inter-fraternity volleyball championship. This win gives Sig Ep a commanding lead over their closest competitors. Outstanding on this year's team were George Thompson, Steve Bosacco, Earl Eiker, Jim Eisman, Charles Seipel, Dave Dunn, and Wayne Walker.

Plans are now in progress for the Sig Ep Spring Weekend to be held May 5, 6, and 7.

Pi Kappa Alpha

Last Friday night's Scavenger Stomp turned out to be a complete success. The evening's champion scavengers were Barbara Trainer and Judy Whitmarsh. Plans are now being completed for the PIKA Spring Weekend at the Weldwood Yacht Club, Northeast, Maryland. A formal dinner beginning at six o'clock will be followed by dancing under the stars till midnight to the music of Jack Malloy and his orchestra. A picnic on Saturday will be held on the estate of Pledge Barry Norton. The afternoon will be highlighted by a baseball game. Prediction: the overly optimistic alumni will surely eat their challenge as they go down to defeat at the hands of the

Guenther's Topic

'Beat Generation'

For those of us who remember the Review series "And Saw That They Were Naked," the name Klaus Th. Guenther will undoubtedly have a significant meaning.

Guenther was an unusual student at Delaware, a German recipient of the Brittanham scholarship. Guenther is also an unusual student in Germany. He has written a book entitled "Protest der Jungen," a study of the "Beat Generation" in the United States. He has based his study on travels across the States during the summer of 1959, particularly a visit to San Francisco.

The book was originally a term paper for Dr. Charles Bohner required in his course of American Studies 201-202. The Delaware Review published part of the above in the series "And Saw That They Were Naked", during the spring semester of 1959. Credit is given to both parties in the bibliography.

Among the German chapter titles the American student can recognize the well-known popular terms of "Pizza Pie und Lowenbrau, Go, Go, Go and Ich heisse Allen Ginsberg and Rund um den Telegraph Hill." Dr. Bohner commented, "Guenther intends to be a college professor, a brilliant beginning with his first book at the age of 24."

Lucius Garvin, Philosopher Interprets Creative Freedom

By LARRY EMMETT

What is Creative Freedom? Dr. Lucius Garvin attempted to answer this question at the philosophy club lecture of April 17. Taking the viewpoint that the creative act is an entity, which has a fluid content of the spontaneous, self-directing originality of the subconscious and the controlled, planned critical analysis of the conscious, Dr. Garvin brought out that "creation is not free as would permit attribution to the artists the creator", "creation is the working out of fulfilling not wholly determinate intent," and "total originality reaches its ultimate in absurdity."

Dr. Garvin's lecture left some doubt in the reviewer's mind, as to whether or not the question of creative freedom or creative non-freedom was really resolved. Professor Garvin seemed to first prove that the ultimate fulfillment of the creative process is the sum total of the antecedents which precipitate that act. Yet he also, in answering a question from the audience, stated that one has to take into consideration the personal, the individual. In the two statements, Dr. Garvin seems to have left himself open to criticism. How is it possible for both determination and freedom to exist simultaneously?

"The artist is faced with the problem of what path of expression to take, in order to reach a fulfillment of his intent," Professor Garvin, in this statement, expressed both the plight and the salvation of the artist. For this existence of alternate paths of expression at times has the artist questioning which path to take, yet still provides him with a welcome wealth of expression. It may be that a large part of the creative freedom of the artist lies in the existence of these alternate paths of expression and his choosing the path which will best fulfill the intent he means to convey.

Abel Analyzes Administration

President Kennedy is a "very hard working fellow," he makes his own decisions, whether right or wrong; and he is not afraid of new ideas.

These were the summations made by Elie Abel, director of the Washington Bureau of the Detroit News, in his lecture on the Kennedy administration last Wednesday night.

Mr. Abel began by a discussion of the setting and problems surrounding Kennedy's administration. Although Kennedy has given a new vitality to many areas of the government, he must still contend with Congressional apathy.

Kennedy is a northern liberal and often opposes the southern Democrats, who are a "stronghold of conservatism." Still, he has made progress in his first few months because of his thorough knowledge of Congress and his association with many of its leaders.

His reorganization of the executive branch eliminates many complicated committee systems. Series of small meetings with only one or two cabinet members at a time seem more efficient to him.

In our foreign aid program Kennedy feels, according to Mr. Abel, that we should examine how our money is used and favor countries which have used it wisely. He has also emphasized the fact that the armed forces are servants of the government and as such do not make decisions on foreign policy. These are some of Kennedy's new policies which offer hope for a successful administration.

Is your future up in the air?

As the communications needs of our nation become steadily greater and more complex, the Bell Telephone System is continuing its pioneer work in microwave by "taking to the air" more and more to get the word across.

To this end, Western Electric—the manufacturing arm of the Bell System—has the monumental task of producing a large part of the microwave transmission equipment that knits our country together by shrinking thousands of miles into mere seconds.

In spite of its great technological strides, the science of radio relay is a rapidly-changing one. And new break-throughs and advances are common occurrences. A case in point: our Bell System "TH" Microwave Radio Relay. This newest development in long-distance telephone transmission will eventually triple the present message-carrying capacity of existing long-haul radio relay installations. A full-scale system of 6 working and 2 protection channels can handle 11,000 telephone messages at the same time.

To make microwave work takes a host of special equipment and components: relay towers, antennae, waveguides, traveling wave-tubes, transistors, etc. But just as important, it takes top-caliber people to help us broaden our horizons into such exciting new areas as communication by satellites!

And microwave is only part of Western Electric's opportunity story. We have—right now—hundreds of challenging and rewarding positions in virtually all areas of telephony, as well as in development and building of defense communications and missile guidance systems for the Government.

So, if your future is "up in the air," you owe it to your career to see "what's up" for you at Western Electric.

Opportunities exist for electrical, mechanical, industrial, civil and chemical engineers, as well as physical science, liberal arts, and business majors. For more information, get your copy of "Western Electric and Your Career" from your Placement Officer. Or write College Relations, Room 6106, Western Electric Company, 195 Broadway, New York 7, N. Y. Delaware Achieves Victory; Feldman Paces Blue Squad

By DENISE GRANKE

Westminster, Md., was the scene of a Delaware varsity tennis victory last Sat. as the Hen netmen pulled ahead of Western Maryland, 7-2, in the opening match of the season. This was the third defeat for Western Maryland this spring.

This was expected to be one of the Big Blue's roughest matches. Coach Roy Rylander thought that the game would be close, but predicted a possible win for his players. After the contest, Coach Rylander stated that "the outstanding events of the afternoon were the individual matches by Sam Allen and John Miller. They both lost their first set and came back to win."

FELDMAN LEADS

Jake Feldman continued to lead the Blue Hen's roster as he defeated Stephen Berman of Western Maryland in the 6-love:

6-4 contest.

Feldman's serve, has improved greatly, this year. He is developing a new technique in serve by using a twist serve which adds more spin to the ball.

Delaware Captain Tom Roe, holding down the second position, won his matches 6-1: 6-1 over Robert Price of Coach Frank Hurt's squad. Dick Dieckman, who was unable to participate, was substituted for by Erwin Lange. Lange came out on top of Western Maryland's captain, John Myers, 6-2: 6-2.

Maryland's only individual victory was registered by Gerald Miller over the Big Blue's Pete Barry. Barry played hard but finished on the bottom of the 6-1: 6-love score.

ALLEN WINS

The outstanding match by Allen was against Wm. Sitter, Maryland's number four netman, 4-6: 6-3: 6-1. At the same time, Miller topped Dennis Quinby, a new member of the Maryland squad.

Success by the Hen's was carried over to the doubles matches. Feldman and Roe teamed up to win 6-3: 6-1 over the opponent's combination of Myers-Bernas. The seventh point was won by a new doubles team for Delaware. Lange and Allen paired off for the first time and played to a 6-3: 6-1 victory.

POINT CAPTURED

Price and Quinby were able to capture a second point for their team as they defeated the Hen's Pete Hartman and Steve Young, 6-1: 6-4.

Captain Roe stated that "the team as a whole did a good job and got off to a good start. Johns Hopkins is our next match and we may not be as lucky there."

Tennis Champ To Show Skill Next Tuesday

By DENISE GRANKE

Mrs. Wm. Osburn duPont, Wyand Cup winner from Wilmington, will be one of four top-rated tennis players participating in a tennis exhibition next Tuesday, April 25 at 4 p.m. on the women's tennis courts.

A doubles match will be the main event at this clinic, which is open to all students free of charge. Participating, in addition to Mrs. duPont, will be Mrs. Bunny Harshaw, Miss Margaret Varner, and Mr. Edward Garcia.

TENNIS CHAMPION

The Wyand cup is not the only award which has been won by Mrs. duPont. She has taken honors at the United States and Wimbledon singles championships and was the winner of the mixed doubles for the third straight year with Neal Fraser, of Australia, at Forest Hills, N. Y. She has also participated extensively in Pennsylvania tournaments.

Mrs. duPont has been active in promoting the junior tennis clinics held in Wilmington during the summer. These are sponsored by the Delaware Lawn Tennis Association.

Mrs. Varner is a top-ranked tennis player. She holds the national women's squash title and has been the world's titleholder (Continued on Page 7)

Stickmen Sink Oppment Ten

By SAM JACOBS

Last Saturday the lacrosse team got off to a good start, as it handed their Swarthmore opponents a six to three defeat. This was the best game that Delaware has played against Swarthmore in over a decade and the first victory in five years.

The secret of the teams' success against their perennial victor was based on an aggressive concentrated team effort. The team rolled over their opponents to gain a 4 to 0 half time lead and a 6 to 0 lead in the third quarter until Swarthmore finally scored.

WAGAMON SWITCHED

Bill Wagamon, who was switched from defense to attack only one week ago, lead the scorers with three goals, which were scored in succession. Pete Wilson, with two goals, and Dave Schwefler with one, rounded out the Delaware scoring. Wagamon, Bill Lehman, and Mickey Heineken, each had one assist.

Jimmy Pappas, the goalie, made seventeen saves to the opponents ten. Pappas made the (Continued on Page 7)

Gridders Continue To Hold Practices

Fifty-five Delaware football candidates opened the second week of spring drills on Monday, with Coach Dave Nelson remaining non-committal on the Hens' progress.

"We're experimenting and re-evaluating our personnel," said Nelson, "and as yet we haven't reached any decisions."

Delaware will hold practices through May 6, according to Nelson, with scrimmages every Saturday on Frazer Field. The Hens will seek to rebound from a 2-6-1 record, the first loser in 10 years, when they open against Lehigh on September 23, at Delaware Stadium.

Gates Records Third Victory Stein Paces Frosh To Initial Victory

By RON LEVITT

When bumping into Coach Harold "Tubby" Raymond, one can't help but notice the personable baseball mentor's happy smile. Raymond's pleasure undoubtedly stems from the fact that his Blue Hen batmen have jumped out to one of their best starts in recent years.

Last week the Hens took two out of three contests. Two victories in Middle Atlantic Conference competition, sandwiching a cliff-hanging one run defeat, brought the Hens' log to a respectable 5-2-1.

HEN PROBLEM

The Hen diamondmen, who have had no trouble in getting men on base but problems bringing them around to score, seemed to have found the answers. The Blue Hens massacred hapless Ursinus, as the Delaware batteries laid down a 20 hit barrage in registering the 19-6 rout.

The Raymondmen exploded by "scattering" six home runs among the nine extra-base hits they sprayed throughout the loser's field. John Strobe, who brought with him a reputation for hitting the long ball, made a sensational debut as a starter. He smashed three home runs while personally accounting for nine of the Blue Hen tallies. The burly sophomore has seemingly blasted his way into future patrols of the Hen outfield.

Dave Beinert, Tommy Grenda, and Nate Cloud also found the range on the Ursinus 315-foot left field fence, as each stroked their initial round-trip ticket of the season.

SMITH WINS

The game also produced another encouraging development. Sophomore hurler, Denman Smith, came through in fine style, by limiting Ursinus batmen to four hits and one earned run in his six innings of work. Steve Sundra mopped up in relief.

In other contests, tough-luck righty Vern Walch was nailed with a 3-2 defeat at the hands of Fairleigh Dickinson. The visitors cashed in all their chips in a fifth inning uprising, which saw Walch's bid for victory number two go for naught.

It was a day of frustration for the Hens and their rooters as the Delaware nine stranded ten men on base. Tom Grenda's perfect day at the plate (3 for 3) could not save Walch from losing his first game of the season.

SHUT-OUT RECORDED

Between dodging raindrops, the Hens also conquered Swarthmore last week, shutting out the opposition 2-0 on a muddy Frazer Field diamond. Right hander "Rusty" Gates again showed why he is considered one of the best pitchers in the MAC in registering his third victory of the season. He has yet to lose.

Gates fanned nine Swarthmore hitters in hurling a nifty three-hitter. The Hens were literally given victory in the second inning. The combination of two walks, an error, a wild pitch and a fielder's choice produced the (Continued on Page 7)

WAA Picks Four Candidates For Basketball Official Jobs

Four members of the WAA Officials Club have passed their basketball qualifying ratings. They are Toni Duffy, Alice Hale, Elizabeth Hastings and Sandra Kimball.

The examination for the ratings consisted of written and practical tests. These four successful applicants are now qualified to act as paid officials for the community. Members of the officials club are now working toward their softball ratings.

TOURNAMENT ENDS

WAA table tennis tournament was recently called to a close,

even though all matches had not been completed. Top honors went to Alice Hale of Cannon Hall. Second place was won by Judy Hartman of Warner; while Marilyn Hession, New Castle, and Barbara Miller, Kent Hall, tied for third position.

There is a correction concerning the team standings in the WAA basketball tournament. Kent Hall was in second place with an 8-2 record, not Squire, as stated in the last issue of The Review. Barbara King took top place for Kent in scoring, as she compiled an 84 point record. The final victory for Kent was over Smyth A., 23-17. Our apologies to Kent.

BANQUET HELD

The annual banquet will be held in the M & V room of the Student Center on May 22 at 6 p. m. Awards for participation in the various activities will be given to those who are qualified.

Cannon started another victorious season as they won the first softball game of the season, 4-2. Warner-Kent was also victorious as they overwhelmed Squire-Thompson in the 14-3 contest.

Blue Hen of The Week

By DAN NEWLON

Lacrosse is a rough, bruising game which requires enough endurance to sprint back and forth a field at breakneck speeds and skillful handling of a long stick with a small, shell-like net at the end of it. David "Ace" Schwefler has demonstrated great ability at this during his four years on the lacrosse team. 6 ft. 200 lbs., attackman Schwefler is certainly a formidable adversary for anyone to have to face.

Schwefler has been playing lacrosse since his high school days. This season is proving to be one of his best. In scrimmage matches against Dartmouth and Union college he scored from 3 to 4 goals per game. He was also one of the chief reasons for Delaware's 6-3 route of the highly rated Swarthmore team.

Schwefler also served on the football team as a guard, tackle and a center. He is a member of Theta Chi fraternity, a junior counselor and a business administration major.

Golfers Split; Host St. Joe's

selves. In recent weeks we have been talking over our own weaknesses. This is what we have developed: (1) our constitution needs revision; (2) our point system needs revision; (3) there is a definite need to eliminate forfeits. These weaknesses will be discussed and I hope eventually solved. But the council is becoming stronger, and our meetings 'always open to suggestions and to the student body.

Respectfully yours,

Jack Baly

I must admit that Mr. Baly has many a fine argument. However, I feel that he has grossly misunderstood my stand. I am not one to advocate the smaller fraternities "rolling over and playing dead" for the larger fraternities. In fact, I myself have participated in many of these "upsets" and have enjoyed each one of them thoroughly. The part of my article is that in many of the team sports, particularly basketball and football, the odds have been tremendous as have been the scores mercilessly "run-up" by the bigger fraternities. These contests deteriorate into "walk-aways" and take out all of the competitive forces that they once possessed. I wished to point out how the little guy feels about some, but not all of the council's problems. Maybe it was a type of "sour grapes", but I feel that it was time someone had guts enough to come out and expound upon the situation of the matter organizations on campus. I respect Mr. Baly's opinion highly as being the council's president and would not wish to offend him or the organization, but one must admit that it is easier to back up and support an established institution and then come out and outwardly attack it.

Sports SLANTS

By BOB LOVINGER

Sports Editor

Already posting winning records, the teams participating in spring sports made their official debut this week with games scheduled in every sport.

After losing a squeaker to Fairleigh-Dickenson, Harold (Tubby) Raymond's diamondmen seem to have settled down to the business at hand and defeated Ursinus, Muhlenberg, and Lafayette. Notable in the Hen Nine's bid for victory this week, was John Strode. In the Ursinus contest, Strode banged three home runs and collected a single. He repeated his performance with another four bagger in the Muhlenberg game, Monday.

Strode's versatility extends beyond the realm of baseball. He is a member of the wrestling team, where he earned a varsity letter in the 167 pound class.

As a member of the fly chasing department, he joins Ralph Groves and captain Dave (Bugs) Beinler. Beinler, by the way, is one of the leading batters on the squad and is the object of a story floating around campus which says that although he batted .400 in one game this week, his batting average dropped twenty points.

Jimmy Flynn's trackmen seem headed for another undefeated season as they steamrolled over Swarthmore, one of their toughest competitors. Paced by such men as Marshall Johns and Larry Pratt, the trackmen have already set four new records this year, not to mention Lee McMaster who has broken the 1000 yard and one half mile records, although as a freshman, he is unable to receive official credit for his achievements.

In the contest with Swarthmore, Larry Pratt came to within two inches of breaking the university shot put record of 46.7 feet. Wednesday he broke his own discus record. Tomorrow, I feel, he will break his shot put record with a toss of 47 plus feet.

The Hen Lacrosse team who was plagued earlier this season by poor stock handling in the attack position, due to inexperience, seems to have ironed out its trouble, as indicated by its 6-3 victory over Swarthmore. Maley's main difficulty seems to be a lack of depth. With only three returning letterman in the attack position he must put a great deal of faith in his strong defense. Unfortunately, however, due to the injury of captain Roger Huber, he must make changes in his defense in order to fill the gap. Thus, it seems as if the starters will be doing a lot of running this year.

With a victory under their belts, the Hen netmen are confident of another successful season. Outstanding on the team are Jake Feldman, a transfer student from the University of Pennsylvania, and captain Tom Roe, Feldman, who has developed an improved serve this year, is rated as extremely potent, while Roe is rated as a close second. This year, so far, the squad has demonstrated excellent balance and versatility in its efforts to gain success.

The golf team also seems to be an adept and coordinated unit, as exemplified by its triumph over St. Joseph's, Wednesday. The flaw that I find in the team is not one of ability but of transportation. These fellows, if unable to get a ride, must walk to the course every day. Once out on the green they must decide either to quit early and lose valuable practice time or to play and possibly miss supper. I feel that if the university wants to have a golf team they should at least provide the boys with transportation back from the golf course so that they may spend their time on the green and not in walking the four miles from Louviers.

Delaware's freshmen baseball team won their opening game of the season on April 15. Borden-town Military Academy was the victim of Frosh catcher Dick Stein's clutch ninth inning home run. The three run blast proved the margin of victory.

STEIN HOMERS

Stein slapped a liner to right center that rolled all the way to the fence. He then rode home behind two teammates in bringing Blue Chick hurler Jim Umstead a well earned 4-3 verdict. Umstead, a local Brandywine High product, struck out 16 and walked five in pitching the four hit decision.

through universities.

Applications for the Russian trip were filed by interested students who then met for an interview with three members of the university staff, Drs. Bohning, Knapper and Ott.

The program was open to freshmen, sophomores and juniors. Money was collected from various organizations on campus and in the area to help finance the program.

After an orientation period in New York City, students will travel by ship to Genoa, Italy. An overland trip through Hungary will precede their stay in Russia, after which they will take part in an evaluation conference in West Germany. Following a week in Paris they will return home by air.

Final performance of the Contemporary Music Festival will be held tonight in Mitchell Hall at 8:15 p. m.

COLUMNIST'S NOTE

As of this issue the Greek Column has a new writer. The purpose of this column is to publicize the activities of IFC, and the individual fraternities, thereby hopefully making the general public aware of the positive accomplishments of the fraternity system on the Delaware campus. Therefore, in the future, the articles contributed by the individual fraternities will not be composed of fraternity gossip or personal dribble. As a fraternity man, I am interested in seeing the fraternity system grow on the campus. Consequently, I intend to include a columnist's note each week on areas where improvement is being made or should be made.

surprise play of the game, as he took the ball after a save and went the length of the field unmolested, only to have the opposing goalie block his shot.

The victory had its effect on the team, however, as Captain Roger Huber was lost indefinitely after injuring his leg toward the end of the game. Bob Reed has been moved from one of Coach Maley's mid-field units to replace Huber.

Dear Dr. Frood: Our college mascot is a great big lovable Saint Bernard. He loves everyone—except me. In fact, he has bitten me viciously eight times. What can I do to get him to like me?

Frustrated Dog Lover

DEAR FRUSTRATED: Mother him. To carry this off, I suggest you wear a raccoon coat, let your hair and eyebrows grow shaggy and learn to whimper affectionately.

LUCKY STRIKE PRESENTS:

DEAR DR. FROOD:

DR. FROOD'S THOUGHT FOR THE DAY: A penny saved is a penny earned. And if you could put away a penny a week for one year... why, you will have fifty-two cents!

Dear Dr. Frood: Most of my life here is extracurricular. I carry the drum for the band, pull the curtain for the drama society, wax the court for the basketball team, scrape the ice for the hockey team, clap erasers for the faculty club and shovel snow for the fraternity houses. Do you think these activities will really help me when I get out of college?

Eager

DEAR EAGER: I don't think the college will let you out.

Dear Dr. Frood: On New Year's Eve I foolishly resolved to be more generous with my Luckies. My friends have held me to this, and I've been forced to give away several packs a day. What do you think would happen if I broke this resolution?

Resolute

DEAR RESOLUTE: It's hard to tell, really. Lightning, a runaway horse, a tornado—who knows?

Dear Dr. Frood: Before vacation, my girl and I agreed to exchange Christmas presents. I sent her a nice hanky. You can imagine how I felt when I awoke Christmas morning to find a sports car from her. What can I do now?

Distracted

DEAR DISTRACTED: Remind her that Easter giving time is just around the corner.

Dear Dr. Frood: Can you help me convince my girl that I'm not as stupid as she thinks I am?

Anxious

DEAR ANXIOUS: Perhaps, but you'll have to convince me first.

TO GET A QUICK LIFT, suggests Frood, step into an elevator and light up a Lucky. Instantly, your spirits will rise. When you savor your Lucky, you're IN—for college students smoke more Luckies than any other regular. They're a wise-up bunch who've known all along that Luckies taste great. Get the cigarettes with the toasted taste—get Luckies.

CHANGE TO LUCKIES and get some taste for a change!
