NEWARK POST, NEWARK, DEL., DECEMBER 22, 1920

NUMBER 43

Popular Vote Decides for Bond Issue

Outvotes Opposition 4½ to 1
Newark Children Now Assured of Much Needed New School Building

A decided victory in favor of the proposed bond issue which will enable the Newark Special District to receive the $225,000 offered by the Delaware School Auxiliary Association, was won by the friends of the movement at Saturday's special election when they out-voted the opposition about 4½ to 1. The total number of votes polled for the bond issue of $155,000 was 17,301, and 4,717 against. 182 persons voted "for" and 39 persons "against."

The election officials were A. F. Fader, inspector; Orlando K. Strahorn and A. L. Beals, judges; W. C. Jester and Chester Ewing, tellers. J. Pearce Cann, counsel, was present throughout the entire election.

The School Board will meet tomorrow evening and will sit as a canvassing board to examine the certificate of the vote submitted by the election officers. Following this, unless a recount is ordered by request in writing of 25 voters, they shall in turn certify the result to the State Board of Education. This procedure is in accordance with the law which states that this meeting shall be held on the fourth day following the election (Sundays excepted).

The next step taken by the Board will be the procuring of plans and specifications for the new building preliminary to beginning the work of construction in the Spring.

No steps will be taken toward issuing the bonds until after the next meeting of the State Legislature.

Previous to the election the school children and the teachers paraded through the streets carrying banners telling of their needs and asking for better conditions. The response to their appeal was prompt and gratifying.

"THE FIRST CHRISTMAS" A DECIDED SUCCESS

Eighth Grade Stars Delight
Large Audience Last Night

Beautiful scenic effects enhanced by clever lighting arrangements; costumes in brilliant Oriental colorings; and carefulness in having every detail entirely congruous and every character letter perfect in his part, made the presentation of "The First Christmas" by the Eighth Grade pupils last night, a source of great pleasure to the audience.

The production was all the more remarkable from the fact that the dramatization, business management and every detail of the entire play was worked out by the students themselves under the direction of Miss Beatrice Naylor and Miss Madeline Raby.

The prelude was spoken by Dr. Walt H. Steel, President of the Board of Education, who told the history of the production, its purpose and the work of the students in preparing it for presentation.

The play was adapted from the account of the first Christmas as related by General Lew Wallace in "Ben Hur." Much of the quaint Biblical phrasing was retained and delivered effectively by the participants.

The meeting in the desert and the exchange of experiences, telling the revelations which brought thither the wise men, were depicted by Walter Blackwell, Justin Steel and William Doyle in costumes appropriate to the respective nationalities represented.

The second scene showed the inn at Bethlehem and the crowds of weary pilgrims seeking shelter. Joseph, represented by Martin Doordan, and Mary, Lillian Snyder, with their friends seek quarters for the night and secure through the friendliness of the

METHODISTS TO HAVE EARLY CHRIST- MAS SERVICE

Will Have Unique Entertainment Tomorrow Evening

Following a custom inaugurated several years ago, the Christmas service at the Methodist Church will be held at 6.30 a. m. and will last one hour. Rev. Frank Herson has chosen for the topic of his sermon, "His Star."

The annual Christmas entertainment for the little folk when they look forward to a visit from Santa Claus, will take place at the church, tomorrow (Thursday) evening. A unique arrangement planned this year will be that of having two trees, one trimmed as usual, and one untrimmed. The latter will serve to illustrate the spirit of giving instead of receiving that the Sunday School has determined to emphasize this year.

On the untrimmed tree will be hung the gifts of the different classes to some charitable institution or to some benevolent purpose. Each is keeping its gift a secret from the others until tomorrow night. Much interest is displayed in the decorations for the "giving tree."

Because of the Christmas activities the regular Wednesday evening prayer meeting will be omitted this evening.

The committees working on plans for the entertainment are as follows:

Entertainment: Miss M. Pennington, and Mrs. T. T. Martin.
Candy: F. A. Cooch, Mary Hoffecker, Marjion Gallaher, M. O. Pence.

Platform: H. Harrison Gray, S. H. Duhanell, G. G. Porter, Edw. Cloud.

Decorations: T. F. Manns and committee.

Permanent trimmings: Rev. Frank Herson, Mrs. E. V. Rhodes, E. F. Dawson.

Early in the new year, probably on January 7, the cantata now in course of preparation will be given. Mrs. E. V. Rhodes and Mrs. E. C. Van Keuren are directing the production. C. A. Short's class comprises the house committee; Howard Williams and H. Harris Gray are the treasurers.

FOR YOU AND YOURS, A CHRISTMAS WISH

"Wherever one is weeping
May tears to smiles give way;
Wherever sadness hovers
May joy come Christmas Day.
To every heart that's aching,
May peace and comfort come,
And may an outlook rosy
Supplant each outlook glum;
May friends now separated
Soon reunited be,
And every one find gladness
Upon the Christmas tree."

VOCATIONAL STUDENTS EXHIBIT TERM'S WORK

Home Economics and Agriculture Students Have Creditable Display

The value of vocational work in high schools and the remarkable progress possible under right leadership was clearly demonstrated on Friday afternoon when the work of the first term was on display at the Newark High School.

Students of the two departments, Agriculture in charge of H. M. McDonald, and Home Economics in charge of Miss Charlotte Smith, had transformed the upper rooms in which the exhibit was held, with artistic Christmas decorations. Holly, laurel, ground pine and cedar, gave a festive appearance to the display and showed it off to excellent advantage.

An attractive booth was fitted up for the display and sale of articles suitable for Christmas gifts, and of home made candy.

The exhibition of hand and machine work covered a wide range of articles suitable for wear and household decoration. Dresses for every occasion, shirtwaists, skirts, aprons, kimonos, underwear, towels, doilies, centerpieces, fancy bags, men's shirts and miscellaneous articles in great variety and clever design were on display.

The materials in every case are furnished by the students, planned and designed by them under proper guidance, for their own use or as gifts for friends.

The exhibit of the agricultural students while not large, maintained a high standard of excellence. Apples, corn, onions, and white potatoes were shown. These were grown on the home farms by the boys constituting the class, John Lewis, Clifford Buckingham, John Mayer, Earl Mote, Arthur Mayer, Eugene Mayer, Nelson Bryson, William Schwartz and Louis Stafford.

The young ladies exhibiting needle work were:

Freshmen — Marian Durnall, Mollie Getty, Marie Gregg, Margaret Lauer, Florence Miller, Laura Perkins, Marlan Slack and Pauline Widdoes.

Sophomores — Elizabeth Cook, Mary Griffith, Alma Johnston, Mary Ottey, Sarah Pierson, Violet Rowan, Gladys Rose, Alice Williams, Luella Whiteman and Lydia Young.

Juniors — Jessie Conner, Annabelle Jarmon, Delena Leak, Olive Porter, Naomi Riley, Marjorie Rose and Catherine Barnard.

Seniors — Evelyn Carpenter, Beulah Law, Margaret Rupp, Hazel Kennedy, Elizabeth Minner, Helen Schwartz and Celesta Sammons.

Owing to the stormy weather on Friday afternoon few visitors came to enjoy the exhibit.

STUDENTS PRESENT LOVING CUP TO H. RODNEY SHARP

Surprise Host at Farewell Christmas Dinner Monday

To keep secret the plans for a big dinner as not an easy task. This H. Rodney Sharp accomplished, however, so that no one knew just what, other than an excellent dinner, was to be provided at the delightful Christmas party given by this popular alumnus of Delaware College to the faculty and their wives, the students, and a number of invited guests last Monday evening at Old College Hall.

The affair was a farewell party, since Mr. and Mrs. Sharp will start the first of the year for a tour around the world which will occupy approximately two years. None of the sadness of farewell was permitted by Mr. Sharp to enter into the spirit of the occasion.

The decorative scheme was of a truly Christmas nature. Decorated Christmas trees of sufficient size to make a conversation across the table an interesting process were placed at frequent intervals upon the tables. Tall candles occupying the intermediate spaces furnished the only light. Holly wreaths suspended from the picture molding by brilliant red streamers decorated the walls and the balcony where the orchestra played throughout the dinner.

Grace was led by Reverend Frank Herson, pastor of the Methodist Church.

The menu consisted of grapefruit cocktail, turkey, raisin dressing, candied sweet potatoes, petit pois, tomato salad, rolls, olives, mince pie, coffee and salted nuts. The "smokes" were attached to the Christmas trees.

Mr. Sharp acted as toastmaster and after a few remarks expressive of his pleasure in playing host to the assembled friends, he introduced Frederick Wyatt, brilliant soloist of Wilmington, who sang "That's Where the West Begins." He was enthusiastically encored and responded generously by singing three other selections. Mr. Sharp explained that no set speeches had been prepared but that certain of his guests would doubtless consent to say a few words.

Dr. Walter Hulihan, president of the College, in a particularly gracious and witty speech, expressed for himself and for the student body gratitude for the kindly interest manifested by Mr. Sharp in the college. He commended particularly the spirit which brought together on such excellent terms of fellowship and good will, representatives of the trustees, the president of the college, the "old pros" and their young wives, the verdant freshman, the dignified seniors, the intermediate classes and friends of the college. He expressed the faith that all Delawareans have in the future of the college and

Red Cross Branch Gives $400 to Hoover Fund

Answers Appeal of National Organization

Officers Meet Monday and Vote Surplus Over Local Needs to Worthy Cause

The officers of the Newark branch of the Red Cross, at a meeting held at the home of the chairman, Mrs. Daniel M. Thompson, voted to send $400 to the Hoover fund for straying children of Central Europe.

This was in response to an appeal from the National Red Cross asking that the local branch turn over to this fund as much money as could be spared after the running expenses and needs of their branch are provided for.

In the opinion of the officers this cause was one worthy of their support. Ample provision was allowed for the needs of the approaching winter when as in the past the branch stands ready to render assistance whenever necessity demands. They are very much gratified to be able to contribute through the generosity of the local members such a creditable sum.

PROMINENT DELA- WARE ATHLETE HAS INJURED BACK

Gray Carter Suffers as Result of Accident last Summer Holloway—Jarmon

Gray Carter, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Carter returned on Monday evening from University of Maryland Hospital where he had been under observation by specialists for nearly a week. Young Carter has been suffering pain in his back at intervals for several months and physicians were of the belief that the trouble was rheumatism.

He reported for basketball practice at the opening of the season and in one of the bouts felt something give way in his back. He was sent to the hospital and several X-ray photographs taken. The trouble was finally located and said by the specialists to be a lacerated arch of one of the spinal vertebrae. The portion of the body containing the injury is encased in a plaster cast in order to give the lacerated arch an opportunity to heal.

Carter's injury, it is thought, was received last summer while playing baseball at a southern camp, when he fell backwards over a fence in his effort to get a fly ball.

Much sympathy is expressed by friends of the young man who is an exceedingly popular student and an accomplished athlete. This injury will doubtless prevent his playing basketball for several weeks. He is one of the best forwards ever developed at Delaware College and one of the best foul shooters in college ranks. His enforced withdrawal from the team at this time means a serious loss to the college.

OBITUARY Everett Guest

Everett Guest, of Marshallton, met with a tragic death on Monday, when a girder under which he was standing, gave way and striking him on the head inflicted injuries which caused his death in a few hours. He was rushed to the hospital immediately after the accident but never regained consciousness. Mr. Guest was well known in this vicinity. He is a brother of Lewis B. Guest.

The funeral will be held from his late home tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock and interment made in Red Clay Creek cemetery.

Elizabeth James Wilson

Elizabeth James Wilson, aged 31 years, died at the Homeopathic Hospital, Wilmington, last Thursday.

Funeral services held at her late home here last Monday were largely attended.

his easy chair, while the children came one by one to choose their toys and return home.

To please Mrs. Santa, Santa was there, but still complaining that children were selfish, and he was done with them.

The first to arrive was a pretty, light-haired, blue-eyed girl. She gazed about in amazement. "Oh what a beautiful place!" she said.
"May I have any toys I wish?"
"Indeed you may," said Mrs.
Santa.

"Then I shall take this lovely doll."

"Santa chuckled."
"But not for myself," she continued, "I wish it for little Jane Bessie, she has nothing with which to play. And this doggie I shall take for the poor little boy who lives on our street, he wants a doggie so badly. And oh, this beautiful ring! I shall take it for Jane; she never has anything nice."

"But aren't you going to take anything for yourself," said Mrs.
Santa.

"Oh no," said the little girl, "I shall wait for Santa; he always brings me such beautiful things, and the nicest books. I take them over and read them to the little blind girl who lives next door to us. She can't run and play like the rest of us and never has any fun. I can hardly wait. I have just been counting the days until Santa comes; and please don't tell him, but I have made a nice warm muffler for him this year."

Santa arose quietly from his chair, and addressed the child in a shaky voice, "Do you still believe in Santa Claus?"

"Why of course I do! We all do! We couldn't get along without him," said the child.

Mrs. Santa's face fairly beamed.
"Do you hear," she said, "they do believe in us; they are not selfish."

Santa waited to hear no more.
He bustled out of the room, giving a rapid fire of orders as he went. "Helpers come, one and all! Pack up the toys in a jiffy;
get out the largest and swiftest
aeroplane, the reindeer are too slow for me tonight."

In one-moment of a twinkling,
dear Old Santa was off, to make a happy Christmas morn for the eager little children, who had gone happily to sleep, and were now slumbering peacefully in their downy beds, never once dreaming how near they had been that night to experiencing the greatest possible tragedy—a Christmas without a Santa.

SANTA CLAUS

Beyond the ocean many a mile,
And many a year ago
There lived a wonderful queer old man
In a wonderful house of snow;
And every little boy and girl,
As Christmas times arrive,
No doubt will be very glad to hear
The old man is still alive.

In his house upon the top of a hill,
And almost out of sight,
He keeps a great many elves at work
All working with all their might
To make a million of pretty things,
Cakes, sugar-plums and toys.
To fill the stockings, hung up, you know,
By the little girls and boys.

CHRISTMAS SHIPS

By Margaret Aliona Dole

Over the sea of memory the Christmas fleet will go,
And wafting the flock of white-winged ships the winds of love will
blow;
With many a captain and many a crew and every kind of gift,
Merrily forth on Christmas morning
over the waves they will drift.

Some will be old and broken and frail with cargoes fragile and small,
And some will be large with many decks and cabins wide and tall,
Some were built by wealthy kings to carry myrrh and gold,
Others made for a little child the-tiny wings unfold.

But the ship that leads them all was made a long, long time ago,
And though the name is clear above
and its lights are bright below,
Men have forgotten whence it came
and what its mission now,
Behold it bears the anchor of hope across its steady prow!

Over the sea of memory the Christmas fleet will go,
And wafting the flock of white-winged ships the winds of love will
blow;
With crystal tones of silver bells the children's laughter sweet,
With fire and feast and evergreen
greet the Christmas fleet.

For The Homemaker's Eye

Pineapple Hearts

Take a Hawaiian sliced pineapple, cut heart shaped with large sided cutter to fit pineapple slice, put Maraschino cherry in center of each; what was cut off of pineapple mince and spread over top, wit ha sprinkling of sugar and a teaspoonful of the Maraschino liquid to each, serving on individual plates.

Chocolate Brownies.

Put one cup of sugar in a mixing bowl; beat in one-fourth of a cup of melted butter; break in an egg and beat in thoroughly, then add two squares of chocolate (melted over hot water), three-fourths of a teaspoonful of vanilla, half a cup of flour, half a cup of walnut meats broken in pieces, in the order named. Spread the mixture evenly in tins about 7 inches square lined with buttered paper. Bake about half an hour. Turn from the pan and at once remove the paper and cut into oblong pieces.

Sweet Potato Pie.

Wash and cook three medium-sized sweet potatoes and when tender remove the skins and mash well. Rub through a fine sieve into a bowl and add one cup of milk, two-thirds cup of brown sugar, one-half teaspoon of cinnamon, one-quarter teaspoon of nutmeg, yolk of one egg. Beat it thoroughly, mix, and then turn into a pie plate lined with plain pastry and bake in a slow oven for 35 minutes. Cool, and when ready to serve top with a whip made of one-half glass of curd jelly, white of one egg. Beat until the mixture holds its shape. Pile on the pie and serve.

Spiced Pear Sauce.

Canned pears may be "fixed up" a little with a teaspoonful of cinnamon, one-fourth teaspoonful each of ginger and mace and one-fourth cupful of candied sugar, cooked slowly for a few minutes. This gives a zest to the rather flavorless pear that is most desirable.

Cocoanut Dainties.

One dozen ladyfingers or six slices stale sponge cake, three-fourths cupful cold coffee, one-third cupful maple syrup, soft custard, three-fourths cupful heavy cream, two tablespoonfuls powdered sugar, three drops vanilla. Put the sponge cake, which should be cut in strips, or the ladyfingers, in a moderately deep glass bowl and pour over the coffee and maple syrup, which should be mixed. Let stand until the liquid has been absorbed. Then pour over a pint of soft custard and let stand in a cold place. Just before the serving beat the cream till solid with the remaining coffee, sugar and vanilla. Heap over the mixture in the bowl, garnish, if desired, with a little shredded cocoanut or some toasted almonds, and serve. If desired, macaroons may replace half of the sponge cake or ladyfingers.

Molasses Taffy.

Two cupfuls of New Orleans molasses, one cupful of granulated sugar, a small lump of butter; boil until it hardens in cold water, add a tablespoonful of vinegar, a scant half teaspoonful of bicarbonate of soda; pour into shallow buttered pans until cool enough to pull.

Coffee Charlotte Russe

Three tablespoonfuls very strong coffee, one cupful heavy cream, six tablespoonfuls powdered sugar, one teaspoonful gelatine, one-third teaspoonful vanilla, ladyfingers or strips of sponge cake. Pour the coffee over the gelatine, let stand a few minutes, then melt it over again, but do not allow it to stiffen. Pour the cream into a deep bowl, set it in ice water or very cold water, and beat it rapidly with an ordinary egg-beater, at the same time whipping in the sugar and the coffee gelatine mixture. Then add the vanilla. Line sherbet glasses with the lady fingers, which may be cut in halves, or the sponge cake, pile the coffee whipped cream in heaping it up.

LITTLE BROTHER OF ALL

The Christ Child unto the stable came,
Twist the midnight and the morn;
His mother laid Him softly down,
By the beasts of hoof and horn.
The friendly kine a-near Him stood,
In the frost of the early day,
And, little Brother of all the poor,
He slept in the fragrant hay.

The Christ Child slept in the stable dim
And over Him flamed the star,
That was golden-bright with the light
Of heaven.

Where God and the angels are,
Then journeying far, came king and priest,
With a wealth of spices sweet,
And, little Brother of all the rich,
They knelt to kiss His feet.

A REAL CHRISTMAS PRESENT

The holiday season with its joys and its problems is upon us. What shall we do to add to the happiness of the occasion? Each one of us would like not only to wish our friends a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year, but to give them one. We cannot do this by means of ill-considered presents. Thoughtless gifts cause the January ash can to bulge with debris. Only when our gifts have lasting meaning do they carry the true message of good-will which is the spirit of real giving.

We can give happiness and contentment and safety for the future as well as pleasure for the moment. Such gifts are within reach of all. They are to be found in the Savings Securities of the United States Government. From the 25 cent Thrift Stamp to the $1000 Treasury Savings Certificate, they will carry with them not only the greetings of the season, but happiness for years to come. In presenting the child a card with one Thrift Stamp affixed, you bestow not only a present but a habit which will grow in value as the days pass, for he will wish to fill the card. That little gift will have grown wonderfully before another Christmas comes around, and the recipient will be on the way to a life of independence.

In recommending these lasting gifts the Savings Division of the Treasury does not suggest that a single American curtail his Christmas giving. It suggests only that he broaden it to include this present which will bring future well-being to those he loves.

Opera House Offerings

Titled Dressmaker

for Shirley Mason

A Belgian countess, sojourning near the studios of William Fox at Hollywood, Cal., is reported to have become so interested in Shirley Mason, the petite star of "Flame of Youth," which will be shown at the Opera House next Monday, that she asked and received permission to make with her own hands the costumes of a Belgian peasant girl which Miss Mason wears in the picture. She also directed the designing of all the costumes used in the picture. The woman was unwilling to have her name made public, it is said, but Howard M. Mitchell, who directed "Flame of Youth," was pleased to receive the services of the distinguished Belgian, and accepted her assistance in getting the proper atmosphere for many scenes in that quaint land.

Actor Has Many Accomplishments

Craufurd Kent, leading man for Olive Thomas in her new Selznick picture, "Youthful Polly," has many accomplishments that don't show on the screen. He is very musical. He recently entertained the tubercular children at Bellevue hospital with pianologues and whistling solos.

"The children really were a marvellous audience," Kent reports. "They laughed and applauded most politely at exactly the right time. I couldn't have hit it better myself. But on the whole, I think I enjoyed it more than the children."

Mr. Kent is one of the veteran leading men of the screen, having been before the public in support of leading stars for a number of years. He is a prime favorite

A Movie Auto Show

An elaborate automobile show, complete in every detail, was staged at a large auditorium in Los Angeles for scenes in "Excuse My Dust," the exciting automobile picture starring Wallace Reid, which will be at the Opera House on Wednesday. Many people attended, believing it to be a real display of new models of motor cars. The names, "Darco" and "Fargot," which are the rival makes of automobiles in the picture, rather stumped many of them. Director Sam Wood was, of course, mighty glad to see the crowds, as it eliminated the necessity of hiring "extras" for the scenes.

WHEN THE CLOCK STOPPED

A little clock in a jeweler's window in a certain Western town stopped one day for half an hour, at fifteen minutes of nine. School children, noticing the time, stopped to play; people hurrying to the train, looking at the clock, began to walk leisurely; professional men, after a look at the clock, stopped to chat with one another; workmen and women noted the time and lingered a little longer in the sunshine, and all were half an hour late because one small clock stopped. Never had these people known how much they depended on that clock till it had led them astray.

Many are thus unconsciously depending upon the influence of Christians. You may think you have no influence, but you cannot go wrong in one little act without leading others astray.

SOCIAL AMENITIES

Booth Tarkington, the novelist, was talking about American village life.

"I'm afraid our American villages," he said, "don't practice the social amenities to any great extent."

"I know a short-story writer who moved recently into a quaint Vermont village. I met him the other day in a magazine office and asked him how he liked his new life."

"Fair," he answered.

"Have you called on your neighbors yet?" said I.

"No," said he, "but I'm going to if I miss any more of my wood."

F. H. GREEN TO LEAVE WEST CHESTER

Wilmingtonians who have had the pleasure of hearing Dr. Francis Harvey Green, head of the English Department at West Chester Normal School on the occasion of his several visits and addresses here, will be interested to learn that he has just presented his resignation at that institution and will become the head master of the Pennington School, a preparatory school for boys in New Jersey, conducted under the auspices of the Methodist Episcopal Church. The resignation was presented last week.

Dr. Green has been rated as the best lecturer and speaker who has appeared in Wilmington in late years, and his audiences have become almost hysterical over his humorous sallies.

A north shore citizen took Junior up on his knee and asked him, "Well, my little son, what would you like Santa Claus to bring you for Christmas?"

"Oh, I want him to bring me a humdinger!"

"A humdinger, eh? And may I ask you to describe one?"

"I don't know how they look, but when you and Mr. Jones came up from the basement the other evening you said to him, 'wasn't that a humdinger?' and he said, 'it sure was! I would like to have one just like that for Christmas.' So I thought if it was something nice for Christmas I would like to have one too."

"Look here," he said indignantly, to the man with the hungry cow,—"don't you see that 'keep off the grass' sign?"

"Yes."

"Well, yer cow's on the grass."

"I know it, mister," was the placid answer. "I know it just as well as you do. You see that cow can't read."

MAKING MONEY

Some men make their money in business—some in stocks—some by toll-some saving of their daily wages. But we submit to you the unquestioned fact that more men have achieved a comfortable competence through the ownership of property—houses and land which bring in a fixed income—than in any other way.

A word to the wise is enough. Watch your neighbors gradually rise in the world and then ascertain how they are doing it.

In nine cases out of ten you will find they have purchased their home or farm—often on easy terms—while their less enterprising neighbor is still paying rent.

A word to the wise is sufficient. If you have not yet started on a place of your own do not delay. Get full particulars about some of the following properties.

DELAWAREANS RESPOND GENEROUSLY TO HOOVER APPEAL

Christmas Spirit of Giving Prevails at Campaign Opening

The spirit of Christmas, which softens all hearts toward little children, and the straightforward appeal of Herbert Hoover, who seeks $33,000,000 to care for 3,500,000 orphans until next harvest, inspired the 600 guests at the dinner held Saturday night at the Hotel duPont, to subscribe for the care of 11,774 of these orphans.

No emotional appeal was made and no set speech except that of Mr. Hoover. Several brief complimentary speeches were made, but no emotional appeal. The subscription was entirely a free will offering. The affair was a very auspicious opening for the drive which was inaugurated by the tolling of bells in all the churches on Sunday.

Mr. Hoover arrived in Wilmington on a train from New York reaching there at 6:25 o'clock, and was met at French street station by Major Edmund Mitchell and Chairman Henry P. Scott of the Delaware joint committee. He was taken to the hotel, and shortly before 7 o'clock held a brief reception to hundreds of Delawareans in the lobby of the ballroom.

Distinguished Receiving Line.

In the receiving line were Governor Townsend, Congressman Caleb R. Layton, Colonel Hery A. duPont, Secretary of State Everett C. Johnson, General T. Coleman duPont, Judge George Gray, Henry P. Scott and others. The guests arrived early, and by a few minutes after 7 o'clock most of them had been seated. For the overflow, the du Barry Room was utilized. After the dinner room for these guests was made in the ballroom, so all could hear the speaking.

The dinner opened with an invocation by Bishop Philip Cook. There was but one set speech. That was Mr. Hoover's. But there were many minute and three-minute and five-minute addresses.

These short expressions of commendation and greeting to Mr. Hoover and Chairman Scott carried with them the strongest feelings of brotherly love and sympathy with the cause which the former food administrator represents. There was no doubting that fact. And, what was most convincing of the sincerity of Delaware in the meeting and movement, were the returns read by Mr. Scott.

Mr. Hoover was introduced by Mr. Scott, who said:

"Mr. Herbert Hoover is the 'man of the hour.'"

"Already we are forgetting marshals and generals, the leading statesmen of the great war; but Mr. Hoover's achievements grow in appreciation."

"For the many million lives he has saved we honor him."

"His amazing genius for organization has made available supplies go to the farthest possibility."

"Our ideals are of peace, not of war. We do not live under the law of the jungle nor of the law of the littoral."

"Our law of life is Christian—we succor the weak—we help the helpless."

"That the whole world delights to honor such a man is the greatest promise of the future."

Emergency Most Pressing.

Mr. Hoover was given an ovation when he rose. Then he spoke for 25 minutes in that quiet conversational tone of voice peculiar to him, but which always attracts closest attention. He told his Wilmington friends that this great responsibility of caring for these war orphans of Europe was theirs as much as his. The emergency was now and it was a most pressing one. If the orphans and those children starving to death are not cared for immediately, they will be turned into the streets of Europe within sixty days.

Mr. Hoover told of some of the things that have been accomplished in Europe by the Red Cross, American Relief Association, Friends Service and Jewish Distribution Committee. They have saved 15,000,000 lives in the past six years.

"We have all come to recognize,"

he said, "that the first thing to be considered is the saving of the lives of the children. That done, then the work of reconstruction can follow. Four times have our people come to the aid of Europe in a life-saving effort. Hundreds of millions of lives have been saved." Here the speaker described the work done by the army of American soldiers engaged in relief. Each year he said, the work of salvaging human lives grows less, and he predicted that after the next harvest the number now needing aid would be reduced seventy-five per cent.

"Peace," said the former food administrator, "is not one of documents, but is the product of good will of mankind. This is the greatest movement we can undertake. It is sure to bring a peace that is better in my opinion than any that battleships can bring about. I would rather have the picture of the flag embedded in the heart of these children of Europe than placed over any citadel."

He closed with an appeal for help, but said he did not believe in playing upon the emotions of the guests.

Subscriptions Generous.

Mr. and Mrs. Pierre S. duPont subscribed to care for 1500 children; Mr. and Mrs. Irene duPont gave 50,000 yards of white cloth, so badly needed in Europe now and valued at $20,000; Mr. and Mrs. Lamont duPont agreed to care for 1000 children; Mrs. H. M. Barksdale will care for 500 children; Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Sharp will care for 100 children; Mrs. W. K. duPont will care for 50 children; Mr. and Mrs. F. H. duPont, 100 children; Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Laird, 50 children; Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Scott, Sydney Scott and Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Scott, Jr., 150 children. William Bancroft will provide for 300 children, and Mr. and Mrs. Coleman duPont, 1000 children.

Dean Robinson, of the Women's College, at Newark, wrote Mr. Scott said, that the students had made arrangements to go home for the holidays, when the news of the movement became known to them. But they agreed on their return to care for 50 children.

J. Hall Anderson, of Dover, wrote Mr. Scott that he was an inveterate cigarette smoker, but he would match any man in the State to cut his smokes in half in order to give to the movement.

Mr. and Mrs. Harlan G. Scott announced their desire to care for 50 children. General James H. Wilson will look after 5.

Next followed an appealing announcement. The Home for Aged Women sent in $11.50 in cash.

Henry M. Canby subscribed for 16 children; Mr. and Mrs. William Corey, to 20 children, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Thompson, 50. Rev. Dr. J. W. R. Sumwalt followed Dr. Robert Watt, matching him to care for 3 children.

Silverbrook Sunday school created a stir with the announcement that it would look after 110 children.

Governor's Splendid Offer.

Governor Townsend arose and made one of the most remarkable announcements. He said: "I have six children. They have agreed at this time that they will forego their Christmas gift to their father, and their father has agreed to omit the Christmas gift to his children in order that this money may go to this fund. We will care for 50 children."

Scores of other pledges announced follows: Rev. C. L. Candee, 10; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bancroft, 20; Mr. and Mrs. John Bird, 20; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Wilson, 30; Mrs. W. F. Curtis, 10; H. Leroy Harvey, 60.

A diversion was given the subscriptions by remarks from three citizens of foreign birth, members of the Americanization classes, who, Miss Helen Hart, head of the Americanization classes, introduced. These men gave a brief recital of conditions in their home lands. John Ostrowsky, of Poland, came here in 1913. During the war, for six years, he heard nothing from his wife and family. Mr. Goulard, of Lithuania, told how it cost a man fifty days' work in his country to earn enough to buy a pair of shoes. Capito Plankela, of Soviet Russia, said he was seeking news even now of his family. He subscribed to care for one child.

More subscriptions were received. Secretary of State Johnson subscribed for 10; the Acorn Club, 1; Retail Women Druggists, 10; Mr. and Mrs. Donald S. Ashbrook, 4; Congressman Caleb R. Layton, 5; Mrs. Layton, 5; Mayor Taylor, 3; Mr. and Mrs. George Bissell, 50; J. B. Owens, 5; Hagley Community House, 2; W. F. Sellers, 100; H. J. Krebs, 25; Alfred L. duPont, 50; Charles C. Copeland, 50; Mary Harper, 30—and many others of one and two and three, and so on.

Bishop Philip Cook closed the speaking. He said he would rather be Mr. Hoover than any other man he knew. He said that he wanted to vote for Mr. Hoover for President last month, but the pleasure was denied him. He referred to the great need for the movement undertaken by Mr. Hoover and wished it Godspeed.

Then came the closing feature of the meeting, the singing of the "Battle Hymn of the Republic," led by William P. White.

commented the splendid spirit manifested by the people in support of it. Henry P. Scott, recently elected to the Board of Trustees, issued a warning to the young men apropos of the changed attitude of the young women toward them. He set forth the ideal of service by recounting with telling effect the story of a self-sacrificing country physician.

Mr. Klauder of Day and Klauder, architects for the college, lauded Mr. Sharp's interest in the development of the college.

At Mr. Sharp's request the assembled guests sang the Alma Mater at the conclusion of which H. B. Alexander, president of the Student Council, asked for the privilege of the floor. He presented to Mr. Sharp on behalf of the student body, a loving cup, and expressed appreciation of the many generous things Mr. Sharp has done for the students in the past few years.

The gift came as a complete surprise to Mr. Sharp who was so overcome that he was unable for a few minutes to make any acknowledgment. He stated that he appreciated this more than any gift he had ever received. In bidding farewell to the men, he assured them of his continued interest in their welfare and of his willingness to serve them in any possible way upon his return.

The loving cup stands upon an ebony base and is inscribed with the words, "To H. Rodney Sharp, from the Students of Delaware College, December 20, 1920."

The singing of college songs under the leadership of Dr. C. F. Miller was the closing event of the successful affair.

Inkeeper, shelter in a rude cave. The parts of friends of the young couple were taken by Loring Cordrey, Hattie Lewis, Frances Harkness, and Marjorie Connell. Roy Stephan was the innkeeper, and James Thompson, the stranger.

The third scene showed the visit of the angel to shepherds on the plain. Catherine Townsend realistically portrayed the angel. The shepherds were Irvin Chalmers, John McCue, James Watson, Frances Richards, Ferdinand Fingernagel, Paul Maxwell and Horace Patchell.

The beauty of the fourth scene elicited the admiration of the audience. It showed the manger wherein the Christ Child lay. Joseph and Mary gazing in awe and wonder, while the wise men bring their gifts and the shepherds bow down in adoration.

Much was added to the effectiveness of the production by the singing of the angelic choir composed of Liddle Towson, Erika Grothenn, Emma Robinson, Mary Rose, Reba McConaughy, Agnes Davis, Ethel Abelson and Helen Barnard, who rendered softly to accompaniment by Miss Dora Wilcox, the fine old Christmas hymns.

In the intervals between the acts, a volunteer orchestra from Women's College, Elizabeth McNeal, piano; Frances Worthington, violin; and Margaret Moore, mandolin, played accompaniments for Christmas carols sung by the audience with Miss Dora Wilcox leading. At the conclusion of the performance Miss Naylor was presented with flowers.

The Opera House was filled to capacity. The gross receipts were about $130. The net proceeds are not yet known but will doubtless be sufficient to clear off the debt standing against the Grammar School News, and help defray the cost of the first issue of the new year.

"The University of Delaware"

Would Change Corporate Title of State College

"Stroller" Cites Wealth of Precedent in Support of Movement Suggested Recently; Urges Citizens to Boost the Idea

America, indomitable and unconquerable, has emerged from the great World War crowned with a halo of imperishable glory. Some one attributes our remarkable success to the superior training afforded by our American system of education. As a result of the war we are confronted with decidedly new and greatly enlarged responsibilities.

America must continue to be another word for Opportunity.

There has never been a time in the history of this country when greater stress has been placed upon educational extension. During the recent political campaign, the candidates of all parties emphasized the necessity of providing ample funds to promote the work of elementary, secondary and higher education. Moreover, President-elect Harding in a recent interview, intimated that he is giving some thought to a Federal Bureau of Education. This spirit of educational betterment fortunately is not confined to any one state—it is nation-wide, and the work in this country is now attracting international attention and in all probability is likely to receive more and more attention in the reconstruction period of the war-torn nations of the Old World. Our returning soldiers all have a new vision of life. They view it from a different angle. Contact with fellow soldiers proved an inspiration to them. Army life demonstrated more clearly than it was ever demonstrated before that the man with the higher education had a decided lead over his less favored comrade. The superior adaptability and fitness for leadership of college-trained men was noticeable in every camp. Now what proved to be true in Army life with all the attending difficulties is equally true in civil life.

Business today is becoming more and more highly specialized with a nicety which demands thoughtful and immediate attention.

The State of Delaware did her full proportional share in making the world safe for democracy and at this hour stands ready to extend a helping hand to the ambitious young men and young women who now realize more than ever before the vital importance of a broad education which implies a rational understanding of the sound, economic, political and industrial civilization.

The spirit of Delawareans is unquestioned, but if the people of the State are anxious for the advantage ground, there is still a deserving work which remains undone. For many years Delaware College was in a trance. It stood still. The institution was sick, just like certain industries appear today. For the want of a better name a diagnostician might have pronounced it financial paralysis. Just when some friends of the College were fearing a coroner's inquest a good Samaritan administered effective although silent treatment. When lo and behold, the institution began to rejuvenate. It has improved slowly, continually and continuously. The heart beat is approaching normal. But don't permit a relapse. And it goes without saying—you won't.

Delaware College is a State institution. Forty other states have similar institutions which are called universities. Merely to verify that statement, here they are:

University of Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maine, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Mexico, New York (Cornell), North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Vermont, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, Wisconsin, Wyoming.

The suggestion was made recently that the corporate name of Delaware College should be changed to that of the "University of Delaware." Such a change is in every sense reasonable, desirable, and immediately necessary to insure development.

The scope of the work at Delaware College even now warrants such a change. If some of the state institutions are entitled to University distinction surely the State of Delaware is justly deserving of similar distinction. For instance, Lehigh University which is recognized as one of the foremost scientific schools in this country, provides instruction solely in engineering courses.

Delaware College does more; and likewise more than Colgate University, Vanderbilt, Stetson, Taylor, Alfred, St. Lawrence, Ohio, Illinois, Wesleyan, Rochester, Brown, Miami, Furness, Drake, Emory, Denver, and others that might be mentioned.

The "University of Delaware" will put the State on the educational map of the nation.

The demand of the progressive intelligent citizenship of the State can secure this change. Such a change does not spell expense but it does spell progress and what is more, it insures it.

Get the Rah! Rah!! Rah!!! spirit and go to it!

And believe me, that before another decade, every Delawarean mother's son and daughter will have reason for righteous exultation and there will be glory enough for all.

University of Delaware? And why not?

FACULTY CLUB HOLDS CHRISTMAS PARTY

Awards Prizes to Winners of Shuffleboard Contests

Those who are sufficiently fortunate to be "wives, sweethearts or friends" of the Faculty Club members at Delaware College, had a rare treat on Monday night, when they enjoyed the Christmas Party given by that famous organization.

The affair was held in the Lounge of Delaware College, which presented a festive appearance with small trimmed Christmas trees and candles on table and window seat, holly wreaths and other holiday decorations.

Dr. R. W. Heim presided and in his introductory speech told the origin of many quaint Christmas customs and beliefs.

Dr. W. O. Sypherd in his inimitable manner read Dickens' "Christmas Carol" to an appreciative audience.

A double quartette composed of Misses Tevis Miller, Dora Wilcox, M. E. Rohr and Gladys Pratt, Messrs. G. E. Hancock, R. B. Harris, R. W. Kirkbride and E. C. Van Keuren sang "It Came Upon a Midnight Clear." Miss Winifred Bach was accompanist.

The awarding of prizes in the second shuffleboard tournament was the occasion of much mirth. The witty presentation speeches of R. W. Kirkbride and the evident embarrassment of the bashful winners adding much to the general merriment. First prize was awarded to E. M. R. Lamkey, who won every game played, and second to H. Burton Shipley. The former received an ivory cigarette holder; the latter a purse. For the third prize there are four contestants, A. G. Wilkinson, Dr. W. O. Sypherd, R. W. Thoroughgood and Guy E. Hancock. Contests to decide the winner will be played off this week.

The singing of "Silent Night" by the members and their guests concluded the program. A social hour followed during which refreshments of candy and doughnuts were served.

H. Rodney Sharp, Henry P. Scott, and Frederick Wyatt, of Wilmington; Harry P. Cannon, of Bridgeville, and Mr. Klander, of Philadelphia, were among the out-of-town guests.

Holloway-Jarmon

In the presence of the immediate families of the contracting parties, Miss Elizabeth Jarmon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Jarmon, and William Hastings Holloway, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arch Holloway of Newark, Maryland, were married at noon yesterday. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride on Delaware Avenue, by Elder J. G. Eubanks. The bride was attired in a traveling suit of jade blue velour broadcloth with hat to match. She wore a corsage bouquet of white sweet peas and maidenhair fern. She was attended by her sister, Miss Helen Jarmon, who wore blue charmeuse, and Miss Mary Holloway, of Snow Hill, Md., a sister of the groom. Miss Holloway wore a gown of blue tricolette. Both attendants carried bouquets of carnations, snapdragons and asparagus fern.

Cleveland Bailey, of Snow Hill, Md., was best man. Reese Jarmon, a brother of the bride, was also a member of the bridal party.

The wedding march was played by Mrs. William E. Holton.

After the ceremony a wedding dinner was served. Pink and white constituted the color scheme of the table decorations. Holly and Christmas greens were used in the house decorations, and the lights were shaded with pink.

The young couple left on the 1.52 B. & O. train for Washington, D. C. and vicinity, where their honeymoon will be spent. After February first they will be at home in Newark, Maryland.

Hutchins-French

Last Saturday morning at 9.30, Katherine H. French of Newark, and Payton E. Hutchins of Hampton, Virginia, were married by Elder J. G. Eubanks at his residence here.

Following the ceremony a wedding dinner was served at the residence of the Misses Campbell on South College Avenue, where Miss French made her home. Amid showers of rice and confetti the happy young couple left on the 11.32 train for Staunton, Va., where they will spend the holidays with the groom's parents.

They will be at home after January 2, at Hampton, Virginia.

A marriage license was issued in Elkton, Md., last Saturday, to Robert W. Morrison and Martha L. Capel, of Newark.

The Minneha Orchestra will hold a dance in the New Century Club on Christmas night.

The young people who have been conducting a series of dances this winter will hold one in the Armory on December 31 and will see the Old Year out.

It is the Christmas time; And up and down 'twixt heaven and earth, In glorious grief and solemn mirth, The shining angels climb.

INCREASES GIFT TO PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Pierre S. du Pont Makes Substantial Addition to Fund

Pierre S. du Pont has added $919,000 to his many previous generous gifts on behalf of the development of Delaware's modern school system, according to the report of Dr. Joseph H. Odell, director of the Service Citizens submitted at a joint meeting of the executive and finance committees of the Service Citizens yesterday. Mr. du Pont has now donated a total of $3,419,000 to the progress of education.

Dr. Odell's report covered the work of the organization since the last meeting, June 4. Henry P. Scott presided at the meeting. H. Rodney Sharp was secretary. A feature of the report covered the work on thirty-one schools throughout the State built or being constructed under the direction of the association.

With the foundation laid by the Service Citizens for the proper development of the school system, the report points out that the Americanization committee should ask the Legislature for sufficient appropriations to cover the work now carried on by the organization and other agencies. According to the report the State Board of Education has been advised to ask the Legislature for $16,100 a year, which has heretofore been provided by the Service Citizens for vocational education. The report also suggests that the Legislature should provide for the teacher training department of Delaware College.

CENTURY MIDNIGHT WHIRL COMING TO WILMINGTON

Big New York Success Playhouse Attraction Next Week

At the Playhouse in Wilmington for the first half of the week starting Monday, December 27th, the offering will be a novelty to the city and one just suited to the holiday season. It will be the "Century Midnight Whirl," a genuine and original roof show, and it will be the first time an entertainment of this sort has been brought to that city. The public is familiar with the nature of this entertainment and will welcome it.

"The Century Midnight Whirl" is the show that for three years was on the Century Roof in New York. During all that time it was one of the foremost attractions in the city, not alone for New Yorkers but for all visitors who wished to see how the big metropolis enjoyed itself after hours.

The Artists Producers Corp., John Henry Mears, director, is sending the "Whirl" to Wilmington and the cast is exceptional. It is composed of popular and celebrated stars. First of all there is Richard Carle, one of Wilmington's particular favorites, and also Blanche Ring, Charles Wininger, Jay Gould, Winona Winter, Maxson and Brown and others. There is also the famous "Millionaires' Chorus."

Mail orders may be sent into the Playhouse now for reservations for "The Century Midnight Whirl."

COUNTY ATTENDANCE AVERAGE GOOD

New Castle county school teachers and children are working hard to boost the attendance in the schools, with excellent results. During November 19 white schools and five colored schools throughout the county had averages of 90 per cent or more.

The list is as follows: Mt. Pleasant, 96; Stanton, 96; McClellandville, 96; Christiana, 95; Marshallton, 95; Hare's Corner, 94; Middletown, 94; Harmony, 93; Mt. Pleasant, 93; Kirkwood, 93; State Road, 92; Welsh Tract, 92; Howell, 91; Hickory Grove, 91; Arden, 91; St. Georges, 90; Townsend, 90; Hockessin, 90. Colored schools: Williamsville, 95; Port Penn, 94; Mt. Pleasant, 94; Kirkwood, 93; Christiana, 90.

STANDING IT

A dusky chauffeur who recently brought the frame of a big truck from Detroit to Youngstown, rode part of the way sitting on the gas tank, but the seat was so hard he soon became tired of it.

"Ah don't see haw you could stan' it, Henry," a friend observed. "Stan' it," Henry replied. "Mah goodness, dat's jes what Ah couldn't do nothin' else but."—Youngstown Telegram.

"Fractions is awful tough," said Tommy. "I'll be glad when I am a man like pa and can forget all about them like he has."

EFFICIENT USE OF HEATER KEEPS DOWN COAL BILLS

Government Engineers Give Valuable Hints to Householders

Too much coal is burned by the average householder in heating his house, say engineers in the Division of Rural Engineering Bureau of Public Roads, United States Department of Agriculture, who have recently completed a study of how to heat the farmhouse efficiently. That too much coal is burned is due primarily, studies show, to lack of knowledge of how to regulate the heater. It is not enough to install a heater, fill the bins with coal, and then expect it to heat the house properly. The first season after installing a heater should be devoted to a study of fuels and their burning in the particular heater.

Some of the things in general which the engineers who have been in charge of this work advise the furnace operator to look after if he wishes to heat his home comfortably with a minimum amount of coal are: Be sure the chimney is large enough for the size of the house and, if possible, have it straight up and down with a lined round flue. Study the dampers and use them intelligently in regulating the fire. Experiment with different kinds of coal until the best kind or the best mixture for your special heater is found. Do not use the poker too often unless the coal is of the kind that fuses, forms a crust, and interferes with the draft. Do not leave ashes in the ash pit; clean them out each time after shaking. Insulate pipes and warm-air ducts; it saves heat. Maintain, if possible, a humidity between 40 and 50 per cent; moist air heats more quickly and is much more healthful.

THE OTHER FELLOW AND YOU

Have you ever noticed? When the other fellow acts that way, he is "illtempered"; when you do it, it's "nerves." When the other fellow is set in his ways, he's "obstinate"; when you are, it is just "firmness."

When the other fellow doesn't like your friends, he's "prejudiced"; when you don't like his, you are simply showing that you are a good judge of human nature.

When the other fellow tries to treat someone especially well, he is "toadying"; when you try the same thing, you are using "tact."

When the other fellow takes time to do things, he is "dead slow"; when you do it, you are "deliberate."

When the other fellow spends a lot, he is a "spendthrift"; when you do, you are "generous."

When the other fellow holds too tight to his money, he is "close"; when you do, you are "prudent."

When the other fellow dresses extra well, he's a "dandy"; when you do, "a duty one owes to society."

When the other fellow runs great risks in business, he is "foolhardy"; when you do, you are a "great financier."

When the other fellow says what he thinks, he is "spiteful"; when you do, you are "frank."

When the other fellow goes in for music and pictures and literature, he is "effeminate"; when you do, you are "artistic."

playing I closed my eyes. It was "Oh, professor, while you were heavenly!" "Thank you, ma'am. If the ladies would—ahem—close their mouths when they close their eyes, the soul of an artist would not be tortured."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

NEWS OF THE NEIGHBORHOOD

As told by Correspondents and Exchanges

KEMBLESVILLE

Mrs. James F. McMullen was a Wilmington shopper on Monday.
 Mrs. Samuel Howett, Mrs. Geo. R. McCleary and Mrs. Mary McMillan are on the sick list at this writing.

Just about $200 was cleared at the bazaar held by the ladies of the Sewing Circle the past week, and they wish to thank their friend for their patronage.

Mrs. E. P. Crossan, of Hockessin, spent a few days with Mrs. Annie Crossan.

Mr. Wm. Lynch, one of our hustling young farmers, has just bought a Fordson tractor and double plow from C. T. Richards.

The Kemblesville Public School will hold their Christmas entertainment on Thursday afternoon, December 23rd.

The ladies of the M. E. Church will hold their annual supper on New Year's night, January 1, 1921. Come and enjoy another good supper.

HOCKESSIN GRANGE TO HOLD CHRISTMAS CORN SHOW

A fitting occasion for the Christmas season will be the corn show to be held in the Hockessin Grange Hall Monday evening, December 27. Corn may seem a little dry for a Christmas feast, but the menu will be complete as there will be apples, pears, pumpkin pies, doughnuts and coffee.

Prof. C. R. Runk of Delaware College will judge the exhibits and be the main speaker of the evening. County Agent R. O. Bausman will be present and assist Chairman Fred Trimble with the show. The New Castle County Farm Bureau has had special premium ribbons printed and everything is in readiness for the big evening.

The premium list follows:

Corn
 Best single ear white corn.
 Best single ear yellow corn.
 Best single ear white 'cap' or mixed corn.

Potatoes
 Best one-half peck of white potatoes, any variety.

Apples
 Best plate of five Stayman Wine Sap.

Best plate of York Imperial.
 Best plate of Roman Beauty.
 Best plate of Peridon.
 Best plate of Stark.
 Best plate of any other variety.

SANTA CLAUS MAY HAVE TO PROVIDE EXTRA TEAM

While we may lament that there is not sufficient gold in circulation to use coin of the precious metal for Christmas gifts, we have the far more important consolation of knowing a piece of paper printed under the authority of the United States is worth all its face calls for. Almost all the other nations that engaged in the world war are not only without gold, but their dollar is depreciated to the point where it is worth only about 25 cents as a medium of exchange for Christmas wares. At the present rate of exchange the bulk of money needed for Santa Claus, with which to buy his gifts, will in the Old World be so big that he will be compelled to have an extra team of reindeer to convey his pocket book, provided he pays spot cash for all the millions of gifts he buys for girls and boys.—Every Evening.

PRESIDENT OF HOLSTEIN FRIESIAN ASSOCIATION TO SPEAK HERE

Will Come to Delaware College December 30

In response to the very urgent invitations of several prominent members of the Delaware College Commons, the National Holstein-Friesian Association, D. D. Aitkin, of Flint, Mich., President of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America has consented to come to Delaware to speak at the meeting of the State Association, which is to be held on Thursday, December 30, at the Delaware College, Newark.

The National Holstein-Friesian Association, of which Mr. Aitkin is the President, is the largest organization of its kind in the country. It now has over 18,000 members and does an annual business of $700,000. This association has registered nearly 600,000 females and over 310,000 males, and each year shows a material increase in the number of animals registered as compared with the previous year.

This is one of the first opportunities which has ever been offered to local dairymen to hear this noted authority speak and his views on the various phases of the dairy and live stock industry should be of great value to every farmer and dairyman, especially in view of the very unusual and trying conditions through which the dairy industry is now passing.

President Aitkin is considered one of the very best speakers connected with the dairy business.

It is planned to serve luncheon at 12 o'clock on the day of the meeting to members of the Delaware Holstein-Friesian Association, and the Delaware Corn Growers' Association in honor of the Delaware Holstein-Friesian Association, and the Delaware Corn Growers' Association in honor of the Delaware Holstein-Friesian Association, and the Delaware Corn Growers' Association in honor of the Delaware Holstein-Friesian Association.

President Aitkin has requested that a special invitation be extended to the dairymen and farmers who have grade cattle or but a small number of registered ones. He has a special message of vital interest for this class of dairymen.

If you expect to attend the luncheon you are requested to at once notify J. R. Danks, Secretary, Winterthur, Del., so that proper reservation can be made.

The addresses by President Aitkin and Dr. Walter Hüllihen, President of the Delaware College, will follow the luncheon.

Hoary Month of Snow and Santa Claus Has Record of Wild Youth

December hasn't always been December. It was at one time called Amazonius. The cause of the change is told thus facetiously by the New York Sun:

"December, alias Amazonius! For several centuries now December has had a highly conservative and dignified reputation. But even the hoary month of snow and Santa Claus sowed a few wild oats in its youth. There was a time when the mention of the last month of the year connoted instantly, not Christmas presents, but the very choicest bit of high life scandal.

It was back in the reign of the Roman Emperor Commodus in the second century A. D. Commodus, it seems, had a lady friend upon whom he was particularly anxious to lavish some delicate and at the same time unique attention. A short time before the lady in question had presented to Commodus a portrait of herself posed as an Amazon. Gazing at it gave Commodus an inspiration. He issued an imperial edict changing the name of December to 'Amazonius.'

The change was a bit difficult, of course. You were so apt to forget and ruin a perfectly good check by dating it December when there was no such month. And besides, there were other objections. Only no one said them out loud, because in those days people seldom did argue with an Emperor—it really wasn't done.

HAVING ENEMIES

We believe in the man who has enemies. Your milk-and-water people who content themselves by simply doing no harm, at the same time do no good. They are mere negatives. Your man of force, who does not wait for a stone to get out of his way, but manfully rolls it over, may, unintentionally, hurt someone's toes in the process, but thousands who pass that way will thank him for having removed the obstruction. The man who has no enemies is generally a mollycoddle, caring for no one but himself—smirking and creeping his unchallenged way to the obsecrity he merits. He adds nothing to the common stock, does no good to the world and is lowered into his grave with no regrets. He has had no enemies; but has he had a friend?

TOTHER WAY ROUND

He was a very small boy, and the apples he was eyeing were very large. He eyed them for ten minutes, longingly and furtively, while the green-grocer bustled about serving customers. Now he edged near the tempting basket. Now he edged away again. And at last the green grocer thought it time to intervene.

"Now, then, Tommy," he exclaimed, "what are you doing?"

"Nothin'," replied the small boy.

"Nothin' eh?" said the green grocer. "Well it looks to me as though you are trying to steal those apples."

"You're wrong!" retorted the youngster. "I'm trying not to."—London Answers.

"What do you think is the cause of unrest?" "Haven't noticed any around this place," rejoined Farmer Corntassel. "The resting part takes care of itself. What I am worried about is unwork."—Washington Star.

FOURTEENTH ANNUAL CORN SHOW HERE NEXT WEEK

Many Interesting Speakers Secured for Program

The fourteenth annual State Corn Show will be held December 28-30 in Newark, in the Armory building. This is the first time in the history of the Corn Growers' Association, under whose auspices the show is held, that the annual meeting and exhibit has come to Newark. The State Corn Show will be one of the attractions of the Farmers' Week and the corn growers' program, held on December 29-30, will make up part of the short course program.

The Corn Growers' Association has, by State appropriation, $500 for cash prizes in addition to special premiums and sweepstakes prizes. As a stimulus to the Grange exhibits the Association has given $50 in cash as prizes and the State Grange will award a handsome silver cup for the best Grange exhibit of three ten ear samples of corn.

Three thousand copies of the premium list and program have been mailed to Delaware farmers. Newark merchants and business men have backed up the show by taking advertising in the premium list. It is hoped that local farmers will exhibit freely and that they will attend the program.

The program of the Association will be held on December 29 and 30, with morning and afternoon sessions, which are all open to the public. Some of the best authorities in the United States on corn growing and breeding, will address the meeting. Prof. A. E. Grantham, formerly of this place and secretary of the Association since it started, will judge the show and address the meeting of Wednesday afternoon. Thursday morning Prof. J. E. Metzger, of Maryland State College, will discuss Rotation and Fertilization to Increase Our Corn Yields. Dr. T. F. Morris, Plant Pathologist of Delaware College, will discuss the Corn Root Rot, which is causing heavy losses in Delaware's corn crop. His address will be illustrated with cornstalks, ears and roots taken from infected fields.

Thursday noon the Corn Growers' Association will join with the Delaware Holstein Breeders' Association in a dinner to be given at the College Commons. A joint program will be enjoyed immediately following the dinner, which will be addressed by President Walter Hullihen of the College and D. D. Aitkin, President of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America. It is very fortunate for Delaware to secure such an able man as President Aitkin and one who can bring a great message to dairymen.

The Corn Growers' Association will make the awards and scholarships for the best yields of corn grown in 1920. A corn club team will demonstrate how to select corn for seed and for show.

PREPARATIONS FOR CHRISTMAS

The house is cluttered up with spools and ribbon, lace and thread; There's "makin's" piled upon the floor, the bookcase and the bed; Mysterious lists are lying 'round of members of the clan, And "business" seems better than since ever time began.

Della's making lantzeray with flowers, knots and bows, Grandma's knitting woolen socks with double heels and toes; Clara's making something out of pinky satin goods, Jess is painting pictures of the brooks and fields and woods; Auntie's making handkerchiefs with colored threads pulled through, Mother's got the cook-book out to see what she must do To make her dinner better than it's been in other years, And pay the tribute asked of her by grocer profiteers, Ralph is reading all the ads to see where he shall buy The gift to make his little sweetie smile and blush and sigh; Willie's counting up his pennies on the kitchen floor, Wond'ring if there's coin enough to give the kid next door A little doll with eyes that close, and buggy for it, too, While Ethel writes to Santa Claus to bring her something new.

But dad just sits and figures with the bank-book in his hand— And though the winter winds are cold, he sweats to beat the band! —Charles Frederick Wadsworth.

PROGRAM FOR JUNIOR SHORT COURSE ANNOUNCED

Achievement Champions to Have Profitable Time Christmas Week

The Second Annual State Junior Farmers' Short Course will be held at Delaware College in connection with the Farmers' Short Course from December 27th to January 1, 1921. The club champions from the State will attend. These have won achievement scholarships, which consist of room and subsistence free of cost at Delaware College from Monday noon until after breakfast Saturday morning, and a part or all of the railroad fare for the round trip.

The full value of the scholarship is $10, of which $6 will be paid for 15 meals at the rate of 40 cents per meal, and $1.00 for the room in the dormitory, which will leave $3 for railroad fare. Club champions from the upper part of the State will not use all their traveling allowances, thus the amounts that are saved on their accounts will be applied to the traveling expenses of down State members, so that in as far as possible the entire cost of travel will be paid for all champions.

The next ranking member who has achieved will be authorized to attend the Short Course free of cost for every additional ten dollar scholarship that is provided up until December 27th. A limited number of other club members may attend by paying $7.00 for room and subsistence. The general public is cordially invited to attend any or all of the club program.

All club members from a distance will room in the college boys' steam-heated dormitory, known as Harter Hall. The boys will room in the section nearest to Main Street, and the girls will live in the south section, farthest away from the street.
