TERRITORY ENLARGED

Erosion Control Area Increased To 41,540 Acres

Richard S. Snyder, Delaware state coordinator for the Soil Conservation Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture, today announced that 13,540 acres have been added to the Christiana Creek erosion control demonstration project of the service. The present 28,000 acre area was enlarged to bring into the boundaries a larger number of both coastal plain and piedmont farms, and thereby give Delaware farmers a more complete demonstration of the methods used to stop soil washing and fertilizer losses.

Since the first of the year, technicians in the project office have been working with farmers in the Christiana Creek watershed to set up complete soil saving plans on their fields. Actual field work has already been completed on partly completed on nearly 1,500 acres where farmers have agreed to carry out these plans and help the service set up a demonstration.

Survey Shows Erosion

Snyder said that preliminary surveys of the new area show that erosion exists on practically all cultivated fields located on sloping lands even though some of the slopes are comparatively gentle. One of the most important causes of this erosion, he believes, is the very considerable loss of organic matter which has occurred in the past. This loss has left the topsoil in poor condition to resist the washing action of water running off the fields after heavy rains.

Some of the measures farmers are using to control erosion in the area are better crop rotations, contour plowing, strip cropping, terraces, diversion ditches that carry excess rain off the fields before it can do any harm, sodded waterways, and many other methods adapted to Delaware farming conditions.

Of the land added to the Christiana Creek project, about 6,000 acres lie in the northern part of the county near Korner Ketch, while the remaining 7,540 acres are in the tidal-water section of Red Lion Hundred.

Poultryman Advises About Broilers In New Bulletin

"Chickens being raised for broilers should be fed a ration containing at least 18 per cent protein during the early weeks of the feeding period if the most rapid growth is to be obtained."

This fact is brought to light in a new publication of the University of Delaware Agricultural Experiment Station, titled "BROILER FEEDING EXPERIMENTS," which is now being distributed to Delaware broiler producers.

The new bulletin, written by A. E. Tomhave, animal husbandman and research poultryman with the Animal Industry Department of the Delaware Experiment Station, is a summary of broiler feeding tests conducted at the university to furnish experimental data on broiler feeding.

Expansion Extremely Rapid
"Such data," Tomhave pointed out, "are rather limited because the broiler industry is relatively new and its expansion has been extremely rapid."

To obtain the data reported in the bulletin, four pens, each containing 207 chicks, were fed different rations with protein contents varying from 16 to 22 per cent in two per cent increments. The broilers were brooded in an open

EXTENSION COURSE TO BE GIVEN

Instructions In Chemical Engineering

Announcement was made this week that a chemical engineering extension course will be given during the school year at the University of Delaware. One two-hour class will be held per week for thirty weeks.

No definite prerequisites have been set, but it is highly desirable that students have had several years of college chemistry and some training in mathematics through elementary calculus. Six credits toward a college degree (three each semester) may be had, if desired, by properly qualified students.

It will be a course in chemical engineering calculations, covering fundamental methods of calculation of heat and weight quantities involved in industrial processes. Particular attention will be devoted to stoichiometry weight and heat balances of combustion, chemical and metallurgical processes, condensation and vaporization, thermochemistry and thermodynamics.

Detailed Solutions

The application and combination of principles will be developed by detailed solutions of typical problems. As a text-book, Houghton and Watson's "Industrial Chemical Calculations" will be used.

Membership in the class has been limited to 30 members and applications will be accepted in the order received. It is important, therefore, that applications be filled out and returned promptly. The first meeting of the class was held Tuesday.

Playbill Program To Be Presented Tuesday

The first playbill program of the year, inaugurating the dramatic season at the University of Delaware, will be presented in Mitchell Hall, Tuesday evening at eight o'clock.

In the cast of "The Faraway Princess," presented by the Footlights Club, will be Dorothy Thompson, Walter Mook, Gabrielle Muller, Jane Hastings, Shirley Fuller, Charlotte Mead, Frances Williams and Virginia Evans.

Acting in "No, Not The Russians," to be given by the Puppets Club, will be: Betty Jane Brown, Joseph First, Barbara Bonham, Richard McNett, Harry Stutman, and Leona Blocher.

In the University Drama Group's offering, "Tonight At 8:30," will be Dorothy Conahan, Lawrence Wilson, Mrs. Walter Wilson and Catherine Ort.

Meetings Scheduled For New Castle Poultryman

A series of three meetings are scheduled for New Castle County poultrymen, according to the announcement made by County Agricultural Agent George M. Worrell and County Home Demonstration Agent Kate Henley Daugherty.

Organization of local poultry committees to take part in a movement to interest a large number of Delaware poultrymen in the production of high quality poultry products, will be made.

The schedule of meetings is as follows: Newark, Wolf Hall, University of Delaware, tonight at 7:30 p. m.; Hockessin Public School building, Tuesday, at 7:30 p. m.; and Middletown Fire House, Wednesday, October 12, at 7:30.

Mrs. Lee Lewis To Be Installed Monday Night

Mrs. Lee Lewis, recently elected president of the J. Allison O'Daniel Unit, No. 10, American Legion Auxiliary, will be installed with other new officers Monday evening at the local Legion headquarters in the Academy Building.

Afterbach, retiring department president, will be in charge of the installation ceremony. Mrs. Harold Sheffer, retiring president of the unit, will also officiate.

On Tuesday evening, Delaware Unit, No. 1, of Wilmington, will be hostess to the five units in New Castle County. The session will be held in the Legion Home, Lancaster Avenue, Wilmington.

The O'Daniel Unit will entertain the patients of Ward 6 at Perry Point on Tuesday evening, October 18.

Local Boy Appointed Student R. O. T. C. Head

James C. Robinson, Jr., of Newark, has been appointed cadet major of the University of Delaware R. O. T. C. for the college year. John E. Connor, Jr., of Dover, has been appointed captain in charge of the band.

ENFORCE ONE-HOUR PARKING

Police Ordered To Tag Autos; Council Meets

Enforcement of the one-hour and three-hour parking regulations on Main Street is being carried out to the limit of the law, following the issuance of instructions by Chief of Police Cunningham last week.

"Now that parking limits are plainly indicated on Main Street," said Chief Cunningham in announcing the campaign, "we plan to break up the evils being committed by motorists. By enforcing the limits laid down by Council, I feel certain that the hazardous practice of double-parking will quickly be eliminated."

While only six cars were tagged for parking violations in September, 20 have been marked for transgressions since Chief Cunningham issued his orders last Saturday. Despite numerous warnings, almost half of the tickets issued have been given to employees of Main Street stores, police state.

Council In Session

In an effort to aid the Chief enforce local ordinances, the Council of Newark at its October session Monday night assigned Officer Samuel Tibbitt to full-time police duty.

Tibbitt, heretofore, has divided his time between police work and duties with the light and power division.

Chief Cunningham's September report submitted to Council showed 81 police calls for the month. Sixteen arrests were made and 16 overnight transients were provided with lodging.

Four accidents and two breaking and entering cases were investigated, one bicycle was recovered and returned to its owner, and one case of larceny in a store was investigated.

Two arrests were made for each of the following offenses: Reckless driving, trespassing, disorderly conduct, and assault and battery. Single arrests were made for larceny of mail and embezzlement. Magistrate Daniel Thompson reported $3 collected in fines, and Magistrate Benjamin Eubanks reported $16. One case was dismissed for the payment of costs.

New Work Approved

Mayor Frank Collins presided at the session which was attended by Councilmen Charles C. Hubert, George E. Ramsey, C. Emerson Johnson, John F. Richards, Herman Westrauer, and George F. Ferguson. Treasurer C. Vernon Steele and Engineer George C. Price were also present.

New work approved consists of a sanitary sewer line and a water main to be laid on Lovett Avenue between Haines and South Chapel Streets. The approximate cost of the sewer job will be $1,034.76, while the water main will cost about $1,013.56. The sewer assessment to property owners will amount to approximately 70 cents per front foot on each side of the street.

Advice Given On Problems Of Dogwoods By Detjen

In order to make the best possible showing with their recently-purchased dogwood trees, L. R. Detjen, assistant horticulturist at the University of Delaware and a member of the Newark Garden Club, sponsoring organization, this week stated that residents should determine first the best location for the plants.

Location Of Trees

"Choose the best and most effective location on the grounds that will give the most pleasing appearance to the home," Mr. Detjen said, "for it is infinitely better to use the trees as decorating material for the buildings and grounds than to make of it a museum specimen which is to be admired."

"The corners, both front and back, of buildings and the angles of the yard offer splendid opportunities for such trees and on large estates, they may readily be grouped with other shrubs and trees or even planted by themselves in proximity with other plants," he continued.

"How close such trees are to be set to the house or other building depends much on the extent of the grounds. With sufficient yard space, such trees ought not to be closer than eight or ten feet so as to give the tree, in years to come, ample space in which to grow and develop."

"When trees are to be planted in the yard, they will appear best when set in front of green shrubs, or better still in front of or under tall trees," Mr. Detjen pointed out. "Never plant them under Norway maples," he said "because these are too low-headed and cast too dense a shade."

Backgrounds Emphasized

When a green background is lacking, it is best to plant the white-flowered variety in front of a dark background, and the pink-flowered variety in front of a white wall or building for better contrast. Planting between the regular street trees or by themselves creates a beautiful effect, but only when the whole street is so planted.

"Another important detail is proper preparation of the soil well in advance of the actual setting of the trees," Mr. Detjen said. "When the soil is deep, well drained, and of good garden loam, no early precaution is necessary, but (Please Turn To Page 5)

BALTIMORE LEADER TO ADDRESS ASSEMBLY

W. H. Meese Is Outstanding Citizen Of Maryland

Final plans for the open-house civic meeting to be held in the University of Delaware's Wolf Hall Monday evening have been completed by the Newark Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of the affair.

George M. Hancy, chamber vice president and chairman of the committee in charge, announced this morning that the session will start at eight o'clock. Mr. Hancy is being assisted by Carleton E. Douglass, superintendent of Newark schools; F. J. Boyd, treasurer of the Newark Trust Company; Charles E. Grubb, business administrator, and Dr. Walter Hüllbren, president, both of the University of Delaware.

W. H. Meese, vice president of the Western Electric Company and works manager of the Point Breeze Works, Baltimore, has accepted the chamber's invitation, issued through Mr. Douglass, a life-long friend and former neighbor, to speak before the open-house meeting.

Community Problems

As a former president of the Baltimore Association of Commerce, Mr. Meese ranks as one of the outstanding leaders in the Maryland metropolis. His speech will be devoted to community problems and civic affairs pertaining to growing communities.

While the affair is open to the general public and special efforts have been expended to have all classes of citizens represented, direct invitations have been forwarded to all local organizations, fraternities, clubs, school and university faculties, the Council of Newark, and officials of the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce. No admission fee will be charged and no cards are required from anyone desiring to attend.

Mr. Douglass will introduce the speaker, while Mayor Frank Collins, Lieut.-Gov. Edward W. Cooch, Superintendent of State Police John R. Fader, George F. Jackson, president of the local Chamber of Commerce, and other dignitaries will provide music for the session.

Outstanding Figure

Mr. Meese, who is listed in the current issue of Who's Who, is one of the foremost community leaders and industrialists in the United States.

Born at Michigan City, Ind., on September 3, 1885, he is the son of William M. and Harriet (Cook) Meese. He was graduated from the University of Michigan in 1905 with a B. S. in electrical engineering and immediately entered the employ of the Western Electric Company at Chicago as a member of the student corps at the Hawthorne Works.

In 1910 Mr. Meese was advanced to chief of the inspection investigation division. In 1911 he was transferred to England as chief inspector of the London plant of the International Western Electric Company. In 1913 he was transferred to the Antwerp, Belgium, plant in the same capacity. After the German army occupied Antwerp during the World War, he directed the installation of telephone systems in the Scandinavian countries, in France, and in Switzerland.

Climb Is Rapid

Mr. Meese returned to the United States on October 1, 1916, and was made assistant general foreman of the machine division at Hawthorne. He was promoted to general foreman on February 19, 1917, and was advanced to assistant operating superintendent on February 2, 1920.

SPIRITUAL WORSHIP

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 20:4-6; 32:1-6;
John 4:19-24.
GOLDEN TEXT—God is a Spirit; and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth.—John 4:24.

"The First Commandment bids us to worship God exclusively; the Second bids us to worship Him spiritually. The First Commandment forbids us to worship false gods; the Second forbids us to worship the true God under false forms" (Farar). Israel had lived among the Egyptians, a people known for their worship of images, and were about to enter into Canaan where there were many false gods. The Lord was therefore careful not only to forbid the worship of other gods, but also to forbid the making of images of any kind, whether they represented the many gods of heathendom, or were attempts to symbolize the true God. In studying this lesson we need to exercise care lest we miss the point by talking only of the gods of wood and stone which the heathen worshiped, and fail to apply the truth to any improper use of images which may prevail in our land and in the present day. Let us lay aside any preconceived notions and face the facts in the light of God's Word.

I. True Worship Required (Exod. 20:4-6).

This commandment expressly forbids idolatry in any form. The injunction is twofold. (1) Men are forbidden to make any material likeness which to them represents a being to be worshiped. It matters not whether it be an image of what men believe God to be like, or the image of an angelic being, a heavenly body, in fact "anything that is in the heaven above," or on the earth—such as a man or animal; or under the water—such as a fish. (2) If such objects have been made either by ourselves or others we may not bow down to them, nor render any service to them. Let us all examine our religious ceremonies and practices in the light of God's commandment.

Observe that obedience to this command brings rich blessing to "thousands" (v. 6), whereas disobedience is a curse not only to the man who disobeys, but also to his descendants. Spiritual blight so often runs through whole families, while spiritual life just as often blesses those who follow us. Blessed is the man who gives his children and his children's children a true spiritual heritage, but who be unto that man who passes on the darkness and spiritual death of unbelief to his children!

II. False Worship Established (Exod. 32:1-6).

It comes to us as a real shock that a people so highly privileged, so well-instructed and so ably led as Israel should turn to idolatry. The story reveals the depravity of the human heart. Their excuse that Moses was gone was only an excuse without foundation. They did what their hearts wanted to do, and they used his absence to put forward their wicked desires.

Let us be careful lest we be misled or indeed, mislead ourselves into creating a God after the concept of our own heart and mind. We, like Israel, may be tempted to "make us gods" to which we will bow down and worship. It may not be out of place at this point to warn against a folly which seems to have laid hold of the church, that of almost deifying our Christian leaders. A man who is called to speak for God is a highly privileged man, worthy of our support and our respect. But let us remember that he is only a servant, an instrument in God's hand, and let us never be guilty of worshipping and serving "the creature more than the Creator, who is blessed forever" (Rom. 1:25).

III. True Worship Defined (John 4:19-24).

One would suppose that a truth so vital and fundamental as that stated in these verses would long since have completely saturated the life of the church as well as of the individual believer. "God is a Spirit, and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth." Even in this year of our Lord 1938, countless men and women still believe that worship has something to do with place (v. 20, 21) or race (v. 22) or some other external device or formula. What a pity that this should be true when the gracious and delightful way to worship is through personal spiritual communion between God and man.

Deadening formalism is not our only enemy. There is the powerless preaching of modernism—and in all honesty must we not admit that even some so-called fundamentalism has in many respects lost the true spirit of the faith for which it rightly contends. We who cherish the truth of God's Word will shun modern liberalism. We may not be tempted to obscure the worship of God by formalism. But we may be in danger of a dead orthodoxy, being as someone said "orthodox about everything except 1 Corinthians 13"—or failing to worship God in spirit and in truth and not living out that spirit in loving service to our brethren.

Rev. T. O. M. Wills Accepts Call To Springfield Church

Has Served At Ebenezer M. E. For Seven Years

AWAITS APPROVAL

The Rev. T. O. M. Wills, pastor of Ebenezer M. E. Church, Pleasant Hill, near Hockessin, has accepted a call from the First Presbyterian Church, Springfield, Ill., to be assistant pastor and director of religious education. The Rev. Dr. John T. Thomas is pastor.

Acceptance of the call, Mr. Wills announced Tuesday, is subject to the approval of Bishop Edwin Holt Hughes, Washington Area of the M. E. Church; the Rev. Dr. Walter E. Gunby, superintendent of the Wilmington M. E. Conference, and the official board of Ebenezer Church.

Mr. Wills, who has been at Ebenezer for the last seven years, hopes to be able to take over work at the Illinois church about Oct. 31.

Have Mutual Agreement

No difficulty is attached to a Methodist minister transferring to the ministry of the Presbyterian Church, it was said, because the two denominations have a mutual agreement on this point. Qualifications have been set up by each denomination and credentials are presented and examined by the Presbyteries and Methodist Conferences involved in the change of ministry.

Graduation from the Seminary of the Presbyterian Church at Princeton, N. J., simplifies the change for Mr. Wills.

Mr. Wills, who began his ministry in the Wilmington M. E. Conference eleven years ago, served in several smaller Delaware churches after which he went to his present charge where he has remained longer than any previous pastor in its history.

Mrs. Wills, the former Miss Elizabeth Wood, a native of Blantyre, Scotland, is a graduate of the Women's College, University of Delaware, and also of the Westminster Choir School, Princeton, N. J. The Wills have a baby son, Theodore O. M. Wills, Jr., their only child.

Southern States Patrons Show More Interest

Attendance At Sessions Makes Increase of 63 Percent Over Last Year

The attendance record of Southern States Cooperative patrons' meetings reached a new high this year, according to L. E. Raper, director of membership relations, who reports a 63 per cent increase over that of 1937.

This farmer-owned, cooperative purchasing organization sponsored a total of 1944 patrons' meetings throughout its operating territory in five states during July, August, and September. These gatherings brought together 64,990 farm people in the interest of agricultural cooperation.

Rapid Growing Interest
The establishment of this attendance record of nearly 65,000, as compared with the 39,831 recorded present at the 1937 meetings, reveals a rapidly growing interest among farmers in cooperative effort.

Of those present, 6,018 participated in the programs, which featured entertainment, music, and fun as well as business. Approximately 1700 advisory board members were chosen to voice the will of the patrons in the selection of the cooperative's directors, and in determining policies.

Members of this board, with the directors of affiliated cooperatives, will attend the annual meeting of Southern States Cooperative scheduled to convene in Baltimore, Md., November 3. This annual meeting of leaders in the cooperative movement among farmers was held in Richmond, Va., last year.

"Anniversary Week" At Newark M. E. Church

THE WEDGE OUTLINED IN GUIDE

Once Claimed By Maryland, Penna., And Delaware

By Anthony Higgins, Asso. Editor
Federal Writers' Project

Everyone who has lived or gone to school or college in Newark has heard vaguely of "The Wedge," that implish little piece of Delaware which juts out from the curved boundary at the junction of three states. But how many persons have had a chance to enjoy the fascinating geographical comedy of the 800-acre tract that kicked up a fuss out of all proportion to its size?

The Wedge was the last area, in what might be called Delaware's Sudentland, to be battled over before the final establishment of the boundaries. Just before the Revolution, the surveys of Mason and Dixon had officially given to Delaware what Maryland long claimed—land now the southern part of Sussex County and a narrow strip along the western side of the state. But the fanciful and unique curved northern boundary of Delaware did not meet the point where Delaware, Maryland, and Pennsylvania were supposed to come together. Instead of a point where a nice stone could mark the spot, there was this sizable piece of ground that nobody quite knew what to do with.

No Man's Land

The Wedge, as it came to be called, was a No Man's Land. Duels, prize-fights, cockfights, and other illegal doings were held here with no danger of a sheriff's raid. When a resident of The Wedge was elected to the Delaware Legislature, his colleagues jokingly addressed him as "the gentleman from Pennsylvania." More serious was the plight of landowners there who did not know what state they lived in.

Up to now, it was very difficult for anyone but a person who made boundaries his hobby to make head or tail of the Wedge and its history. Though Newark has always had someone who had taken the time to figure it out, most people gave up trying. But with the publication of the Delaware Guide, the Wedge becomes clearer. The Wedge Map on page 438, with its chief points discussed in the tours of the region, is the basis for a clear understanding.

KENMORE GROUP IN SESSION

Improvements
Requested At Recent Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Fourth District School Improvement Association was held in the Kenmore High School recently with a large number of members and friends attending.

After hearing reports of various committees and transacting some minor items of business, C. Otis McCauley addressed the meeting and explained the purposes of the County Council P. T. A., of which he is president.

Mrs. Josephine Mackie read the program for improvements to this and other schools of the community which a delegation presented to the County Board of Education last March.

Board Discussed

The attitude of the School Board in regard to the school was freely discussed, also the delegation of individuals headed by Mrs. Robert C. Mackie, who presented to the School Board at its last meeting, a proposal to consolidate some of the schools of the community and remove the high school scholars to Elkton.

It was pointed out that this delegation represented nobody in the community except those present and that the members were composed of some residing in the third district, while others were neither voters nor taxpayers of Cecil County and the entire delegation represented only two children attending the schools in question.

It was decided to have a representative delegation from this association present the sentiment of the community to the board at its next regular meeting.

To Better Conditions

It has been previously and erroneously published that it was the desire of this association to have ALL children in the Fourth District attend the Kenmore High School. The idea of the association as presented to the County Board of Education last March was to alter the present Kenmore High School building to properly accommodate the present high school; consolidation of the Providence and Fair Hill Schools with such other schools of the district as the board may see fit; to provide modern sanitary conditions and reroute busses to provide transportation for both grade and high school pupils, of the Fourth District, to the school.

Scout Program Given

Joseph E. Plumstead, secretary of the Jessup & Moore Paper Company and manager of the Kenmore Mills made a few remarks explaining his reasons for assisting in the fight for better school conditions in this community.

After the meeting adjourned, Scoutmaster Bob McCauley had Providence Troop No. 125 give a few demonstrations in their work with patrol competition in compass work, knot tying and signalling. Scout C. Otis McCauley talked about the troops' week at Camp Rodney and gave a detail account of its fourteen mile hike.

Eight second class badges and one tenderfoot were presented by Mr. Plumstead.

Englishmen On Dole

Refuse Job Offers

Men who cannot afford to work because they would earn less than they get by taking the dola have been found in England. Some are listed in the new report of the Unemployment Assistance Board in London.

One, an unskilled worker, gets $9.50 when he is at work. But as he has a wife and eight dependent children, the unemployment pay, according to the U. A. B. rules, would be $13.50. As this is $4 a week more than he would earn, the board scaled him down to $11.25, but still leaving him more profitable for him.

Another with seven children was entitled, according to the scale, to $12.15 a week, while his normal wages were $10.10. Many others declare it would be inflicting hardship on their wives and families if they accept jobs.

The heating problem in the homes of a few centuries ago was not met by fireplaces alone. Metal braziers containing small fires and mounted on wheels were used for local heating. These preceded even the bed-warming pans.

Neatness And Order Important For Children

Care And Storage Of Games And Equipment
In Definite Places

Habits of neatness and order can be cultivated more easily in children if they have definite places to keep their belongings.

Most growing children have play and sports equipment for both indoor and outdoor use. Things used out-of-doors, such as skates, bats, croquet sets, tennis racquets, sleds, skis, and scooters, are convenient if stored near one of the entrances frequently used by the children. If it is possible to arrange a closet, fitted with shelves and racks, or a chest, nearby, many of these articles can be kept accessible but out of the way. If the basement is dry, sometimes it is the best place for bulky playthings.

Bookshelves Can Be Used

Indoor game boards, folding tables, and other recreational equipment that is generally used in the living room or dining room is most conveniently stored in those rooms or in a nearby hall closet. Bookshelves in the living room need not be used entirely for books. They often prove to be a good place for keeping the various games in an orderly way, musical records, magazine files, and so on.

A walk-in closet in the living room or hall is a great help, as shelves can be made the right size for the different articles while folding card tables or game boards will go underneath. Window-seat lockers or chests are more satisfactory when the interior is divided into compartments for specific uses so that the article wanted will not always be at the bottom of the pile.

How would you like a shower bath not for a bathroom but for a bed? It is a burglar-alarm device calculated to protect deaf people or very sound sleepers. A spray nozzle located over the sleeper's head connects with a door or window, which, when opened by an intruder, produces an "alarm" in the form of a shower of cold water.

afternoon for 12 weeks at the home of Mrs. Leonard Nelson.

Seasoned by Service

Most of the people in this company are in telephone work to stay. This is an organization of men and women seasoned by service and tested by time.

The figures prove it. More than half of our 446 people have had ten or more years of telephone experience. Over one hundred have served 20 years or more. Fifteen have been in this business from 30 to 50 years! And those who have reached top positions have earned and learned their jobs by rising through the ranks.

Today this state and nation enjoy the finest telephone service in the world. It is our aim to keep your service constantly improving—at a price that insures a fair deal for all.

When orders are few and far between and sales costs must be cut, smart business men turn to the telephone. Long Distance calls cover out-of-the-way customers quickly, easily and economically. They bring in extra sales at a cost that leaves you a profit. The Diamond State Telephone Company.

The Truth About Astrology

By LAWNE CULVER

All territorial publishing rights reserved by The Newark Post

Sixth Installment

A world famous author, writing in a magazine for authors, said that there are over two hundred thousand persons in America aspiring to be authors, while our schools add ten thousand more each year.

That includes only the ones who seriously work at the task of becoming writers. It is only a small portion of those who aspire less actively and persistently. In fact, just about everyone who reads has had at one time or another a desire to be a writer. There is probably no other one thing, with the exception of the primitive urges, that has been felt by so many people as this urge to write. It is a good urge. It should be encouraged.

Do you know that you who are reading this have a far better chance of becoming successful story writers than the average person has? For Que? Because you are reading your local newspaper. This is a very important indication of the type of person you are. And the editor of any magazine that buys stories will tell you that it points to a very important quality in an author. It shows that you are interested in people, places, and things with which you are acquainted. That is absolutely essential if you are going to be a successful author.

High-Strung Failures
The high-strung, nervous, sensation-loving ones who prefer the big city dailies with flash news of murders, disasters, scandal, sensations about unknown people in unfamiliar places can never be anything but failures as story writers. They flood the offices of editors with stories about soldiers of fortune in Timbuktoo when they have never as much as seen a soldier of fortune or been within a million miles of Timbuktoo, and about the favorites of fortune at Newport when they have seen such favorites of fortune no where outside of the rotogravures.

No matter how good such stories may be in other respects, any intelligent reader would know immediately that the writer simply did not know what he was talking about. And of course no editor can for a moment consider publishing such stuff.

And also, as far as this writer knows, there has never been a really great story written about soldiers of fortune in Timbuktoo, or about favorites of fortune at Newport. ALL REALLY GREAT STORIES HAVE BEEN WRITTEN BY HOME TOWN FOLKS ABOUT HOME TOWN FOLKS. The stories that editors are looking for are about people who live right in your own home town, who work at the kind of work you know best of all, because it is your work also, who are members of your church or lodge or favorite circle whatever that may be.

Weaving Scenes Of Childhood
Do you think for a moment that the author of Lum and Abner was born a Turk in Timbuktoo? If he were not weaving the scenes of his childhood into these tales, do you think that he could weave so good a tale about a Turk in Timbuktoo?

Therefore, friends of mine, weep no more because you are not familiar with strange places and stranger people about which to write. But rejoice if you have stayed in one place much of your life so as to know one place and one group of people well enough to write about them.

If all would-be writers would learn this lesson well, half of the troubles of editors who buy stories would be over. If all would-be writers would learn this lesson well, half of their own troubles will never even start to be.

Characterization Requirement
What has all this to do with astrology? It has a lot to do with our brand of astrology. For the most important single requirement in story writing is characterization—the ability to make your readers see your characters so vividly that they will exclaim: "If that isn't Aunt Jenny to a T" or "Isn't that just like old man Shebangian!"

In order to do that, it is necessary for most of us to make a special study of human nature. And that is exactly our object in these articles on astrology. No where outside of astrology have we been able to find such a cleverly arranged and easily remembered system of characterization.

As we have mentioned before, character study is the only thing about astrology that holds the least interest for us personally. We hope that aspiring story writers will study with us. They will receive special help and encouragement throughout this series.

Twelve Signs Of Zodiac
We shall, however, endeavor to give ALL the truth about astrology. Those who are interested in fortune telling are requested to stick around. We intend to tell the truth about that also.

But first of all, no matter what our motive is, we must have a good understanding of the nature of the twelve signs of the Zodiac. Does that sound like a formidable task? Well, we were afraid so. Therefore we gave the hardest part first without saying anything about it. Those who have followed this series so far have a good start toward understanding the twelve character types.

Count them: 4 types—Fiery, Earthy, Airy, Watery. 3 divisions of each type—Active, Fixed, Changeable. 4 x 3 = 12.
All we need do now is to apply what we have learned to the 12 character types as represented by the twelve signs of the Zodiac. The next chapter will contain key-words that will make it easy for us to remember them. They will help story writers in characterization. They will help all students to clarify their knowledge of human nature.

But your own individual temperament chart cannot be given here because it is different for each one. Only your own astro-map will show you exactly where you stand in this line-up of the 12 character types. Get yours at once.

Questions and Answers
Question (or, rather, reproach): I think you might find something better to do than to try to get people to believe in astrology. My Bible mentions astrologers nine times and has not a single good word to say for them.
Answer: You cannot possibly have a higher regard for your Bible than I have for mine. It is the greatest book in the world. BUT—You could tell the world the truth about sinners without being a sinner yourself.

You could even tell the world the truth about green cheese without yourself being a green cheese.

Likewise, may I not tell the truth about astrology without being an astrologer? Mercy, lady, mercy! Question: Why can't my husband see himself as others see him? Even when his astro-map shows him just exactly as he is, he will not believe it. He says that he guesses that he knows his own self. The poor ignorant dear! What can I say or do to wake him up?

Answer: Just keep on loving him, lady. Character study is the most valuable and interesting study in the world when we are ready for it. But not before. When we are ready for anything, we awake to it naturally. No one likes to be awakened out of time. So do not be an alarm clock. He is awake to the necessity of providing for you and the children. He is awake to your love. Keep on loving him, and let him sleep as far as character study goes.

Address your questions about astrology, about any of the occult sciences, about character study, about any of your problems which seem to be due to temperamental incompatibility, to the author in care of this newspaper. Attach sufficient postage so that your letter may be forwarded unopened out of town. And enclose postage for reply.

STATE THEATRE BRIEFS

Seldom has history been so excitingly told and characters out of the distant past so vividly brought to life as in Paramount's epic of the South's struggle for freedom during the dark days after the War Between the States, "The Texans." It recaptures the spirit of one of the most thrilling periods of this country's history and is a powerful story of the men who rebuilt America after the national destruction of the "brothers' war."

Lovely Joan Bennett, as a free-living belle of the Old South who fights a one-woman war against Northern oppression, and Randolph Scott, as a gallant Southern soldier who counsels a clashing of hands during the bloody chase after the War, play the romantic leads in the story of the ten-year battle between corrupt carpet-baggers and proud natives for the control of the desolated South.

The struggle of the Texans for freedom and a new life is mirrored in the thousand-mile trek across three states while Scott and Miss Bennett undertake in order to find a market for their cattle and save the herd from confiscation by the officials who rule the State. Some of the most startling mass action scenes ever filmed appear in the cattle stampedes, the prairie fires, the Indian attacks and chase by Northern cavalry.

Monday and Tuesday
Harold Lloyd returns to the screen, his last appearance was over a year and a half ago in "The Milky Way" in the new comedy, "Professor Beware." He introduces a new leading lady, as has been his custom in years past with each new film, in the person of Phyllis Welch, lively young graduate of the legitimate stage and radio stations.

The picture, a typical Lloyd story, the like of which has made him world famous, deals with his mad dash across the continent to arrive in New York in time to catch a boat sailing to Egypt. Broke, and out of a job, he starts the trip with Miss Welch at his heels, and arrives at his destination, after a myriad of dizzy adventures, still broke, but now pursuing Miss Welch.

Wednesday and Thursday
Sparkling with novelty and action, RKO Radio's "This Marriage Business" will prove itself a charming comedy-romance at the State Theatre.

With the ever-popular Victor Moore in his first solo starring role, and the husky Allan Lane sharing romantic honors with a lovely newcomer, Vicki Lester, the picture offers plenty of entertainment to screen patrons.

A sudden burst of fame comes to Moore, a kindly old country clerk when Lane, a New York newspaperman, discovers that none of the marriage licenses issued by Moore during twenty years has ever been followed with a divorce.

The ensuing publicity makes Moore famous as a practicing cupid, and brings a flood of the matrimonially-inclined for one of his "Lucky Licenses." In the meantime, Lane has succumbed to romance in the person of Moore's daughter, and at her suggestion he sets about putting Moore in the mayor's chair.

But this irritates the dominant political group and the campaign develops some exciting phases that make the film a thoroughly entertaining one.

Moore himself is at his best as the well-meaning official. Lane and Miss Welch are excellently cast. A noteworthy supporting person adds much to the offering, which also has Christy Cabanne's deft direction and the fine production values given by Producer Cliff Reid.

The second picture for these two days will be "Racket Buster," starring George Brent, Gloria Dickson and Humphrey Bogart.

Now! We Give You "Road Actionized" Lubrication

Under Actual Road Conditions

This modern, patented device, the first one to be used in Newark, rocks your car gently up and down while we lubricate it, giving the same "road action" as when you are driving it 50 miles an hour or more. The gentle rolling action enables the lubricants to be forced in thoroughly and completely, as the weight is lifted off springs, shackles and spindles. Knee action bearings, king pins, and steering knuckles also receive perfect lubrication, and squeaks are entirely eliminated.

Time Out--For Thought

Syndicated by the Rostercians Amore, San Jose, California

Life is a continual process of sorting and choosing; yet most of our choices are based on the emotions, or on habit, rather than on reason, and this causes haphazard results. Even as a mechanic knows now which bolt to tighten and how much grease to put in the transmission, so some day a mathematically-minded philosopher may work out a chart showing how many children we should have and how to inspire them to eat spinach—to say nothing of how to pay the bills. Meanwhile, there is one simple mathematical formula we can apply ourselves. That is the theory that any accomplishment is merely a summation of many tiny accomplishments or parts; that the value or effect of each separate part may be increased or decreased at will but, that when an increase in the value or effect of any separate part no longer enhances the whole then such separate part is at its most efficient value and any increase of that part creates an undue load on the whole and reduces its value.

In every day life that means that a person wears enough clothes to keep comfortable but not so many that they become a burden. It means that he eats enough food to satisfy hunger, but not so much that he will have indigestion. That he will drive his car fast enough to make the trip worth while but not so fast that he will upset on some curve or intersection.

As individuals, we have the opportunity of considering arbitrary changes in whatever goes to make

Remember The Swallow

While the tumult and shouting still rings through the local ozone, following the Blue Hens' sensational and somewhat surprising grid triumph over Ursinus last Saturday—and there is every reason for rejoicing—we are wont to regard the "official" reaction of non-football-minded members of the faculty with misgivings.

Just when Steve Grenda, George Lee, Joe Shields and Company, using a flock of inexperienced material mixed with several outstanding players, get things started on the proper track, and as staunch efforts are being made by everyone really interested in placing Delaware football on a higher plane, along comes the "official" faculty attitude that says in effect: "Nothing more is needed, at Frasier Field. We have won a game. We beat Ursinus."

Unhappily believing that the miracle performed by Steve Grenda and a group of fighting lightweights before their eyes last Saturday can become a steady diet without addition and improvements, numerous faculty members are convinced that the pre-season hubbub was so much malarky.

Look Out, Steve!

Sweet thought the victory over Ursinus proved to be, it is, in reality, a setback to the plans being advanced for improving football at the Blue Hen institution.

Just as the revived movement was gaining momentum and as important officials of the university, heretofore lukewarm to the whole thing, were beginning to take interest in the sad state of affairs, along comes this win over the Collegeville Bears. And native faculty members, in many cases, numerous officials, and far too many alumni promptly take the stand that Delaware's football is okay. Any movement to improve things is so much time wasted, and is a lot of ad about nothing, they opine.

Steve Grenda's the tonic, the doctor, and the miracle worker. He can take our run-of-the-mill boys and slap the ears off most of our opponents on the schedule, they add. And that's a bad sign for Grenda.

—F.W.—
The Sunshine Boys
Many of those babies who celebrated around the Hens' dressing room entrance last Saturday and almost turned Grenda's sturdy shoulders into raw meat with their hearty pats of approval, either can't conceive, or refuse to recognize the true state of affairs.

Ursinus had a good ball club. It was more experienced than Delaware's. It had a weight advantage that was easily 15 pounds, or more, to the man. The Hens downed that team by refusing to recognize defeat, fighting like madmen against tremendous odds, playing smart football on occasion, utilizing their limited assets to the fullest, and by getting more than their share of breaks.

The local lightweights won a ball game, but were forced to take a hell of a physical beating in gaining their objective. Delaware's team had the combination last Saturday.

WE'RE KNOCKING OFF THIS COLUMN STANDING UP AND IT'S a pretty tough job trying to type with the machine up on the mantle so if you detect a few mispunched keys blame it on the Inotype man or our position.

We have just finished kicking ourselves around the three city blocks and extend a cordial invitation to all our happy readers (there aren't many so we're safe) to pay us a visit and enjoy the pleasure of giving us one well-placed boot in the back of our lap.

For obvious reasons, this offer holds good only for a limited time. Those interested may call at this office between the hours of 8:00 a. m. and 6:00 p. m. on Friday.

Why are we so determined to mete out the punishment, to ourselves? We deserve it, we can assure you. Well, we'll have to admit . . . we didn't have a bet on the University of Delaware football team Saturday. For two weeks we talked about it and advised our faithful readers (all eight of 'em) to back the Hens in the opening tilt of their current grid campaign. And for two weeks, we sought to place a bet, but somehow or other, we never could connect with a Bear backer.

And so, after the game, we kicked ourselves around three blocks of our beautiful Newark streets and only hope you'll all be sports enough to mail us a percentage of your winnings for giving you the "hot" tip.

Address all communications in care of Concentration Camp 0000. We've isolated ourselves as further punishment.

BLUE HEN FANS WHO SAW the Delaware eleven turn in that upset victory over Ursinus saw what was distinctly a "team" conquest. You could single out individual stars . . . Earl Sheats' great play on the Hens' left flank, Howie Viden's ball carrying, Tommy Ryan's defensive work, Ed Homan's punting. These were highlights of the Blue and Gold's excellent performance, but when it's all summed up, it was a University of Delaware "team" that turned the tables on the Grizzlies . . . a team equipped with an ample supply of deceptive maneuvers . . . a team with a fighting heart . . . and what's more important, a team that can come back in the last quarter, in fact the last six minutes of the game, to overcome the curse of a blocked kick. You fans saw the Hens trailing in the third quarter and undoubtedly believed, as we believed, that the apparently demoralized and tired Blue and Gold contingent was slated to drop another ball game via the blocked kick route, but we reckoned (and maybe you did too) without the great heart that was down for a moment but not out.

Within the next ten minutes, the situation reversed itself and Coach Steve Grenda's men ripped the claws from a snarling herd of Grizzlies and plastered their hides up in a Delaware trophy room as bare as that famous fan dancer would be in the throes of a heat wave.

A Delaware team came back to win. And the boys were probably bearing in mind Grenda's advice that when you have given all you've got . . . just give a little more.

But now, through all the rejoicing, there is still one deadly undercurrent flowing that cannot be overlooked . . . a lack of reserve material.

BI-STATE FINALE IS CARDED FOR SUNDAY

Conway Chased As Oxford Rally Nets Six Runs In Seventh; Final Count Is 9-5; Wharton's Errors Costly; Aiken Winning Hurler

By "The Roamer"

A six-run outburst in the seventh frame of the second contest of the post-season series for the championship of the Bi-State League enabled Taylor Biles' Maroons to march off with a 9-to-5 verdict over the Jackets before a huge crowd at Cooper Field, Oxford, Sunday afternoon. The series is now tied at one game apiece, with the deciding battle listed for the coming Sabbath at Oxford.

Conway Riddled

Holding a lead of 5-2 going into the fatal seventh, the Jackets were completely routed when the Maroons unleashed a six-hit barrage, including successive doubles by Scotten and Goldey, to chase Reggie Conway from the knoll. Paul Whiteman, still nursing an injured thumb, finished the contest and gave up the final Oxford run in the eighth.

Touched for single runs in the first and second, Conway settled down to hurl steady ball until he was bombarded in the seventh. The Jackets picked up a trio of runs in the second, added another in the third, and counted their final tally in the sixth.

Ragged fielding marked the play of both teams. Four errors were charged to the Jackets, with Ferris Wharton turning in three boots and Manager Shorty Chalmers being charged with the other miscues. Jackie Myers kicked two chances on the Maroon side of the ledger, while Jim Yerkes and Sadie Aiken, the winning battery, had an error apiece.

Aiken Is Steady

Aiken, sorrow stricken over the death of his father who was buried on Friday, held the Jackets to six singles and three earned runs in gaining revenge for the 2-to-1 reverse he suffered in the first game of the series. Chalmers led the Jackets' limited attack with a pair of hits, while Joe Cooney, who had a double and single, and Myers and Larry Preston, with two singles each, paced the Oxford delegates.

Although he failed to get a safety, Babe Argo batted two Jacket runs home in the second when Myers booted his roller. Jack Edmaners and Ernie George drove in single runs.

Preston batted three runs across the rubber for the Maroons, Scotten two, and Cooney, Goldey, and Woodworth one each.

Oxford Breaks Ice

Edmaners opened the ball game by singling to center. He took second on Barrow's sacrifice, but was stranded when Whiteman lifted to Cooney and Dick Roberts rolled out, Woodworth to Richardson.

The Maroons lost little time in counting their first run. Cooney singled and held first while Richardson whiffed for the fourth straight time in two games.

Myers' sacrifice bunt, Roberts to Argo, advanced Cooney. Preston singled him home. Goldey, safe on Chalmers' error in the second, advanced on Woodworth's out, Barrow to Argo, and crossed on Cooney's double.

Chalmers opened Newark's second inning by working Aiken for the only pass he has issued in two games. George singled to center and Wharton loaded the bases when Yerkes fumbled his bunt.

Argo rolled to Myers who kicked the ball as Chalmers and George scored. Wharton pulled up at third and Argo at second. Conway hit to Myers who retired Wharton at the plate. Argo scored on Edmaners' squeeze bunt.

Marcel Camp Opens Exhibitions At Martin's Saturday Afternoon

Fifth Ranking Pocket Billiard Star Heads Program Of Champions

By "Cue Keeley"

Marcel Camp, "snooker" champion and fifth ranking pocket billiard player of the world, will open the exhibition season at Jimmy Martin's State parlor Saturday afternoon at four o'clock.

Camp won the "snooker" championship in 1937 against the greatest players in this country without losing a single game. He then met and defeated the English champions in a special series staged at New York.

"Baby Face," as Camp is termed by his fellow players, was regarded as the "hardest luck" starter in the 1938 pocket billiard tournament.

Victor Over Greenleaf
Off to a great start, the Detroitier ran into a series of disheartening setbacks that pulled him down to the fifth position in the final standings.

Participating in several world's tourneys, Camp made his initial bow in international circles in 1933 at Detroit where he was the only entrant to defeat the great Ralph Greenleaf and then the ever-powerful Frank Toberski in the same affair.

Camp is regarded as one of the greatest "money players" in the country at all styles of games. He is always at his best when the chips are down and play is close.

A native of Detroit, he is 28 years of age.

The above play is from a single wing back formation with unbalanced line to the right. We have been more successful with this play than the regular off tackle play. No. 3 received the ball from center, spins and gives it to No. 4 for a regular off tackle play. No. 2 heads back into the line and blocks the first man through. The blocking assignments are as shown.

The Phillies have picked four men from the Montgomery club, Southeastern League, for delivery next spring—two outfielders, a catcher and one pitcher. The fly-chasers are Harry Walker and Norman De Weese, while the hurler is Thomas Lanning, a left-handed slinger, and the catcher, Norman Whitten.

De Weese has quite an impressive record for a 20-year-old. The youngster has played in 103 games, made 125 hits for 202 bases and has an average of .320. He leads the league in triples with 17.

Walker is a brother of Dixie Walker, of the White Sox. He stands 6 feet, weighs 180 pounds, and is said to be faster afoot than his brother.

European U. S.

than the French had a right to give away. The case of Hungary illustrates my contention and proves without doubt that the succession states were created to uphold French supremacy in Central Europe, and their frontiers were drawn without regard to natural and nationalistic lines.

Using a large map to illustrate the points of his talk, Mr. Hauser reviewed the history of Hungary from its founding in 900 A. D.

"In her one thousand years of existence she did not engage, as an independent nation, in one single aggressive war. But her defensive wars, especially against the Turks, almost drained the national blood stream."

Minority Problem Born

"To replenish it they invited nationals of other countries to come live with them, and acting upon this invitation hundreds of thousands of Rumanians, Serbs, Slovaks, Saxons, Ruthenians and Germans settled down to a new existence within the borders of Hungary. And this is how Hungary's minority problem was born."

"Instead of insisting upon assimilation the Hungarian government permitted these newcomers to live their own lives, speak their own language, wear their own national costumes, build their own schools and churches."

"When the Austrian cabinet met in 1914 to decide upon the ultimatum to Serbia, there was but one man who opposed the ultimatum because it meant war. That man was Count Tisza, the premier of Hungary. When the war did come, however, Hungary marched with the Austrians and the Germans because, like honest people the world over, they felt compelled to live up to their obligations."

Pay Heavy Penalty

"When the Central Powers were defeated, Hungary was staggered by the punishment inflicted upon her. Two-thirds of her blood-soaked territory was given to her guests. Approximately 68 per cent of her cattle, 71 per cent of her sheep, 66 per cent of her hogs, 70 per cent of corn-producing lands, 99 per cent of her iron ore mines, 90 per cent of her wood industries, and 100 per cent of her salt mines, lost most of her national shrines, out of 16,681 schools she lost 11,216, and all but two of her centuries old universities."

"To crown this masterpiece of the angel of peace, Burgenland, with almost 100 per cent Hungarian population, was ceded to Austria. This was the bitterest cup of all to the Hungarians. This was done by the Allies to provide a bone of contention between the two nations and to keep them apart."

"The Trianon Treaty completely disarmed Hungary, therefore she was compelled to accept the injustice and humiliation."

"American, English, and even French statesmen and newspapers, on occasions, admitted her right to a new deal, so to speak, but nothing was ever done about it. So Hungary . . . approached the so-called totalitarian states. And lo and behold, as a result of the Munich Agreement, she is about to receive her first territorial adjustment since the World War."

Painter In Big Hurry

"The history of the past 20 years and especially of the past 20 days brings to my mind the joke about Farmer Jones. It seems Farmer Jones hitched up old Dobbin to make one of his periodical visits to the city. While driving down Main Street, the fire siren sounded and the policeman at the corner ordered Farmer Jones to 'Pull to the curb and watch out for the fire engine.'"

"Farmer Jones complied, but as soon as the fire engine passed, he pulled away from the curb and was hit by the hook and ladder. When the excited policeman wanted to know why he did not watch out for the fire engine, Farmer Jones replied, with great indignation, 'I did look out for it, gosh darn it! But why in thunderation were they painters in such a big hurry?'"

"The point I wish to bring out is that the whole world watched the fire engine of 1914-1919 pass by, but it failed to look out for, anticipate, or acknowledge the existence of a hook and ladder."

"And when it thundered by us, as it did a few days ago, like Farmer Jones, the world blamed its existence on painters. An ex-painter (Hitler), in fact, the Hungarian case seems to disprove this claim as it certainly existed long before ex-painters came into power."

Chamberlain Disregards Formula

"At this point you may ask, why should nations find it so hard to admit they are wrong, or made a mistake? Because nations are influenced and guided by their statesmen and diplomats, and diplomats are not trained to tell the truth. To use a popular saying, 'When a diplomat means yes he says perhaps, when he means perhaps he says no, but if he says no he is not a diplomat.'"

"Chamberlain decided to disregard this formula when he flew to see Hitler and claims it was the right thing to do. If he is correct in claiming that the Munich Agreement is a step in the right direction, why was and is this move opposed by so many nations?"

"France opposed it," said Mr. Hauser, "because the acceptance of Hitler's demands meant the undoing of all her plans in Central Europe. With the succession states reduced to natural size, French prestige and French investment will suffer heavily."

"Czechoslovakia was opposed to it," he continued, "because it is only natural to endeavor to hold that which we already have . . . The Rumanians and Serbs opposed it for the same reasons the Czechs

Diphtheria Immunization Now Being Carried Out In Schools

December Rated Danger Month By State Board Of Health; Consent Of Parents Needed For Treatment

Pre-school age children of Delaware families of upper and middle income groups, are, on the average, the most poorly protected against diphtheria, according to observations of state health authorities. Natural inertia often prevents families from taking their children to their family physician for this treatment, and an erroneous belief has persisted that only those of low income may bring their children to well baby conferences, and to school immunization clinics to be given this treatment.

Campaign Has Started

The diphtheria immunization program for the 1938-39 school year has started and doctors and nurses are visiting schools on a pre-announced schedule to administer the toxoid to those children whose parents have signed consent slips. The program is being carried out earlier this year, in order to give protection before December, the first real danger month.
