EAST'S BIGGEST AIR MEET OPENS BELLANCA FIELD

More Than 90 Planes Will Take Air Saturday, As Wilmington's Airport Is Dedicated; Affair Attracting National Interest

LINDBERGH MAY COME

The largest air meet ever held in the East will formally open Wilmington's Airport, Bellanca Field, on Saturday. Over ninety planes will take part in a program as spectacular as any ever given in a meet of this kind. There will be every thrill furnished by airmanship practiced in war or peace, except the actual shooting down of planes and pilots. This meet has attracted national interest and arrangements have been made to accommodate an unlimited crowd. The grandstand, of 4000 seating capacity, is now practically sold out.

Noted flyers from every branch of the armed service will take part in races, stunts and maneuvers in 56 service planes, and there will be at least 35 civilian planes take part in the meet. It is possible that Colonel Charles Lindbergh and William Brock and Edward Schlee will be present. All three have been asked to come, but as yet no word has been received from them.

The service planes entered in the meet will include 9 bombing planes from the Second Bombing Squadron; 7 planes from the First Pursuit Squadron; 7 Pursuit planes from Selfridge Field, Michigan; 6 planes from the Pennsylvania National Guard; 6 planes from the New York State National Guard; 4 planes from the Maryland National Guard; 6 Marine Corps planes; and 10 Navy planes.

The civilian planes will include 4 from the Chesapeake Aircraft Corporation; 2 from the Delaware Flying Service; 4 from the Philadelphia Levington Service; a tri-motored Ford and a number of Bellanca ships.

At 11 a formation of bombardment planes of the Army will take off for a 45-minute flight over Wilmington, followed five minutes later by a formation of Army pursuit planes for a 45-minute flight over the city. Five minutes after the pursuit planes take off a formation of Navy and Marine Corps planes will fly over the city.

The tentative program of events begins at 12:30 when the National Guard race will be held. This event, which will be for 40 miles, is open to the planes of all National Guards and to date entries have been received from Maryland, Pennsylvania and New York. On this basis there will be sixteen planes in the race.

The next event will be a 30-mile race for civilian planes of the OX-5 commercial type with no handicaps or load requirements.

EACH SUBSCRIPTION SECURED BY WORKERS EARN AT LEAST 30C IN POST'S CIRCULATION CAMPAIGN

20% Commission Clause Guarantees Big Pay for Everybody, and Workers have Wonderful Opportunity to Win Buick or Durant Sedan, or Other Wonderful Awards

EXTRA GOLD THIS WEEK

They're off! Fourteen wide awake men, women and young folks in Newark and surrounding community are "Bucking the line" fighting for the wonderful prizes which will be their reward for work in the Newark Post's "Help Yourself Travel Club" during the next four and one-half weeks. They are all going at it with a determination, knowing that even if they do not win one of the wonderful awards that the liberal commission will richly pay them for all work that they do. They are finding the Post easy to sell. The public has gladly received the campaign, and many complimentary remarks are heard on the liberality shown by the Post in offering such attractive and valuable awards. Never before has such a liberal prize list been offered in this community, and indications point to a close hot fight for the lead on the evening of November 3rd. All the workers are getting the loyal support of a large following of friends, and the Post bids fair to treble its subscription list.

Room For More Workers

While fourteen workers are already working for the prizes there is plenty of room for peppy new workers to get in and win. Those who have already started have only a few days start and none of them have a lead that could not be threatened by even a new worker who would "Put on steam" for a few days. Many parts of the Post's territory are still unrepresented by workers, and somebody in these communities is overlooking the opportunity of a lifetime by not getting in the campaign. Elkton, Hockessin, Appleton, Marshallton and many other localities will prove fertile fields for local workers who will get in and demonstrate to their friends that they are in to WIN. There are only six prizes, but what makes THIS campaign so attractive is the fact that even if you do not win a prize you will get a liberal commission on all the money you turn in. So you CAN NOT LOSE. You are bound to get well paid for your work if you remain active until the close of the campaign.

Gold Week

This is GOLD WEEK, and those workers, both old and new, who get in and REALLY WORK this week will be given an EXTRA REWARD for work done this week. But somebody is going to work, and work HARD, for that gold, and if YOU expect to win it you must show some speed!

Race Is Close

The race is too young to demonstrate yet who will prove the best worker because they are all closely bunched, and it looks like a hard fight for the car winners. With the extra gold prizes this week, and the first (Continued on Page 4.)

The Race Tightens

A slight "shake up" is noted in the standings since Monday morning, and indications point to more when the last report is made Saturday night. All the workers are swinging into a rapid stride, giving notice to all concerned that the Buick and Durant automobiles are not going to be won without a struggle.

There is still plenty of room for peppy new workers to get in and WIN. The race is still young and nobody has the prizes in the bag yet.

STANDINGS TUESDAY, NIGHT, OCTOBER 2

Mrs. Albert Lewis, Newark	35,000
Miss Kathleen Boyce, Stanton	5,000
Mrs. Elizabeth B. M. Miller, Elk Mills	5,000

Who Will Win the Gold?

Nobody knows, and nobody will know until every worker has reported Saturday night, for it looks like the winner will come under the wire only a nose ahead of the field. There are ONLY THREE MORE DAYS to win or lose the extra gold this week, so you had better get busy. And remember, also, that there are only ten more days of the big double credit period.

WHO WILL HEAD THE LIST MONDAY?

MANY IGNORE SEWER TAXES

Bill Provides For Penalty If
Not Paid In 30 Days; Text
Of Bill; Town Reports

At the regular meeting of the Council of Newark, held Monday night, it was reported that a large number of property owners had ignored their sewer taxes, and that the sewer bill covering the Newark sewer extension provided for a penalty when arrangements were not made to pay the tax within thirty days after the tax bill was rendered.

The payments for the sewer tax have been divided into five portions, covering a like number of years, but while bills have been rendered for the first payment, many property owners have made no response. It is provided in the sewer bill that if a payment is not made within thirty days after a tax notice is received, the full amount of the tax becomes collectible, and interest of 6 per cent may be charged during such period as the tax remains unpaid.

It was argued that probably the majority of taxpayers did not know of this provision, and the Council decided that it be brought to their attention. It is not the desire of the Council to bring this provision into force, but it does expect delinquent taxpayers to advise the treasurer of the town as to when they will meet their tax payments. Section 9 of the sewer bill as incorporated in the acts and laws passed by the General Assembly in session in 1927 reads as follows:

Section 9. In all cases where the property owner does not elect to pay in installments, or having elected to pay in installments, fails to pay the first installment within thirty days after the date certifying the assessment to the Treasurer of "The Council of Newark," as aforesaid, he, she or it shall be held to have waived the right to pay in installments, and the entire assessment, together with accrued interest thereon from the date of certifying the same to the Treasurer of "The Council of Newark," as aforesaid, shall immediately there- (Continued on Page 8.)

PLAN POULTRY TOUR TO INCLUDE NEW CASTLE

The executive committee of the Delaware State Poultry Association, in making arrangements for its annual poultry tour, is planning a two-day affair, the first day to be spent in visiting poultry plants in New Castle county. The second day of the tour will be spent in Sussex and Kent counties, ending in the evening with the convention and banquet in Milford.

An effort is being made to secure Dr. Morris Hall as the main speaker at the banquet. Dr. Hall is parasitologist for the U. S. Department of Agriculture, at Washington, D. C., and will probably talk on "Treatment of Poultry for Internal Parasites."

VISITS UNIVERSITY

C. P. Wilson, head of research for the California Fruit Growers Association, visited the University of Delaware Monday, and held a conference with Professor P. B. Myers on fruit jellies. Mr. White was entertained at lunch by a group of the Delaware Research staff.

DAHLIA SHOW FINE DISPLAY OF BLOOMS

Quality Of Flowers Exceeds Wilmington Show; New York Winners Exhibited; Exhibition Closes Tonight

AWARDS

The Newark Dahlia Association opened its third annual exhibition and show, last evening in the New Century Club, with the finest display of blooms ever shown in Newark. Experts who viewed the displays last night stated that in quality of flowers, the Newark show outdid the show recently held in Wilmington. There are 19 classes and 220 entries, 30 more entries than last year. The show will close at 10 o'clock tonight.

The displays were judged last night and awards placed. The show is strictly an amateur affair and no professionals are exhibiting. Mr. T. Smith Curry, of West Chester, a dahlia expert of national reputation, was the judge. The officers of the Newark Dahlia Association are: A. D. Cobb, president; Elmer Ellison, vice-president; Dr. H. L. Dozier, secretary-treasurer.

Two blooms, which were not entered in the competition, but placed on display and attracted a great deal of interest were "Peggy Dozier," 1928 blue ribbon winner in the New York Show of the American Dahlia Association. (Continued on Page 4.)

SAYS POLITICS STUDENTS' DUTY

Prof. Myers Tells Students To Get Into Politics In Convocation Address; Dr. Hulli-hen Confers Degrees.

Professor William Starr Myers, professor of Political Economy at Princeton University, stressed the duty of politics, in his convocation address to the students of the University of Delaware, at the convocation exercises, held on the campus in front of Old College, last Wednesday afternoon. The topic of Professor Myers' speech was "Personal Government." Dr. Walter Hullihen, president of the University presided at the exercise and introduced Professor Myers.

A cold raw wind was responsible for a small attendance at the exercises. Those who wore caps and gowns were forced to wear overcoats or sweaters under them. The exercises were opened by an invocation by the Reverend H. Everett Hallman, who also pronounced the benediction at the close of the convocation. Dr. Hullihen made a number of announcements, and also conferred degrees on seven graduates as part of the convocation program.

Those who received degrees were: Delaware College—Bachelor of Arts, Theodore Roosevelt Fleetwood and Robert Henry Richards, Jr.; Bachelor of Science, Marshall McDowell Manns; Women's College—Bachelor of Arts, Margaret Burke, Nellie Pauline Lawton and Marion Louise Kenney; Bachelor of Science, Jane Cole Warner.

Professor Myers, in his address, spoke of present day politics, not only in this, but in foreign countries. He said that he hoped that all the students present would go into politics, "Not to get something out of it, but to put something into it." He said that politics were a duty.

He made some interesting comments on American politics, citing Tammany Hall, the Vane Machine and (Continued on Page 8.)

TAKES MANY PRIZES

A. D. Cobb, with an exhibit of dahlias, zinnias, snapdragons, and a collection of annuals, took fourteen firsts, five seconds and one third at the flower show, held in connection with the Wilmington Fair, last week.

Democratic Rally Tonight

The first local Democratic mass meeting will be held tonight, at 8 o'clock, in the Newark Opera House. The speakers will include U. S. Senator Thomas F. Bayard, candidate for re-election; Dr. Charles M. Wharton, nominee for Governor and John M. Richardson, nominee for congress. Frank Collins will be chairman of the meeting. The Continental Band will furnish music.

U-D FACES HARD TEST SATURDAY

Opens Season Against Drexel Eleven, Which Has 2 Victories Already To Its Credit; Delaware Should Take Close Game

The University of Delaware has picked a soft spot to open its football season, in scheduling Drexel as its first opponent, for Drexel will bring a heavy, experienced team to Newark this Saturday afternoon. A team with two fresh scalps tied to its belt. Last Saturday Drexel beat Muhlenberg, 6 to 3, and the preceding week it downed Juniata College, 13 to 0.

Drexel will have a line weighing in the neighborhood of 180 against an average of from 165 to 170 for Delaware, but its backfield will be likely to yield a few pounds to the Blue and Gold, as with Hubert in the backfield, Delaware will average around 170.

While Drexel has had two more weeks of preparation than Delaware and the valuable experience of two games, Coach Rothrock's combination should be able to halt, abruptly, the winning streak of the Philadelphians. Rothrock has been driving his squad hard this week and has developed a satisfactory smoothness in new plays he has given the team.

While this Saturday will be first blood for the Blue and Gold, it won't be a new experience for most of the line-up that will take the field. Delaware has a team of workmen, this year, that have not only experience, but every player has demonstrated keen football sense. Delaware should take a close game from Drexel.

The varsity line-up in this week's practice has been Captain Glasser and Sloan on the wings; Benson and Kane, tackles; Draper and Reese, guards; and Staats, center; Squillace, di Joseph, Hopkins and Taylor in the backfield. Hubert, 180 pound fullback, has been out of scrimmage with an injured shoulder, but will probably be back in the line-up today, and undoubtedly will be on the field Saturday.

NORTH EAST DEFEATS ELKTON, WINS TITLE

The North East team won the championship of the Tri-County League, by defeating the Elkton team, on the former's grounds, 4 to 2. Friday afternoon. The North Easters won the first half, and the Elkton team won the second half. Each team had won a game in the play-off, up to Friday afternoon. The Elkton boys outfielded their opponents in the final contest, but were weak with the bat, a failing which they had all season. Both Arrants and Bryan pitched good ball, the former fanning thirteen batsmen. The score:

ELK MILLS-RISING SUN DECIDING GAME, SAT.

The deciding game for the championship of the Susquehanna League, which was to have been played last Saturday by Elk Mills and Rising Sun, was postponed because of rain. It will be played this Saturday, at Perryville, at 3 o'clock.

This will be the last of a three game series in which each team has a game to its credit. The deciding game is played on a neutral diamond. Elk Mills was the winner of the first half of the league race, and Rising Sun topped the league in a close finish in the second half.

NEWARK TIES IN SOCCER
Last Friday the Newark High School soccer team played a 1 to 1 tie with Claymont in the opening soccer game of the season. Claymont is considered Newark's strongest rival in this division of the D. I. A. A., and it is probable that these two evenly matched teams will fight it out for the divisional honors.

Both teams played a pretty game considering that it was the first of the year. Potts and Coverdale stood out in the Newark lineup; Potts, a halfback, making Newark's score, and Coverdale, at goal, playing a strong defensive game.

The Newark lineup included: Rittenhouse, E. Coverdale, R. Walton, Carroll, P. Walton, Potts, Smith, Collins, McGilligan, Johnson, D. Coverdale, Barnett, Bunting and Singles.

This Friday Newark will play Beacom College, here.

NEWARK' SEASON MAY OPEN FRI.

Trying To Schedule Game With Middletown; Team Pounding Into Shape

There is a possibility that Newark High School will open its football season this Friday at Middletown. Middletown wants to be admitted to D. I. A. A. football competition and Major Prince, field agent for the Association, is considering this game.

The Newark squad is rapidly shaping into a fast machine under vigorous driving by Coach Gillespie. The team will be light, but rugged and fast, with two complete backfield combinations of experienced players. "Rip" Smith, with two seasons of smart football under his jersey, will probably be first choice for quarter, with Ned McCully as understudy. Fullback position will be divided between the Mayer brothers, Winnie and Frank, in the order named. However, there is no position on a football team that these boys can't fill to complete satisfaction, and both will probably be in every line-up put on the field. Holloway, Edmondson, Jackson and Barrow will look after the halfback duties, and also see service in the line.

Jaquette will put the ball into play from the line and looks like one of the sweetest centers that Newark has ever had. Other line prospects are Willis, Surrat, Schwartz, Campbell, Gallagher, Coverdale, Milliken, Benson and Fell.

If the game with Middletown can not be arranged for this week, Newark will open against W. C. I., at Dover, Friday, October 12.

MAP OF DEL-MAR-VA BEING DISTRIBUTED

The map of the Del-Mar-Va Peninsula and immediate surrounding country prepared by the Publicity Department of the Del-Mar-Va Eastern Shore Association has been completed and is now being distributed from Association headquarters at Salisbury.

This map was compiled with the cooperation of the State Highway Department as represented, showing the permanently improved highways in each section of the Peninsula as they will be January 1, 1929. It covers the entire Peninsula highway system in detail, the railroad, ferry, steamboat and bus lines. The plate for its reproduction was prepared by the American Automobile Association who gave their personal supervision to accuracy and correct proportions.

In preparing the map, the Publicity Department of the Del-Mar-Va Association included the territory lying directly north of the Peninsula, as far as Lancaster, Pa.; as far west as Alexandria, Va.; and as far south as Norfolk, Va., and that portion of New Jersey lying south of Philadelphia to Cape May Point. This was done so that direct routings from this territory to Peninsula entrances might be followed by those seeking the best routes in their plans to visit Del-Mar-Va. It also presents the geographical location from the metropolitan centers, being an easy guide to those at a distance who may not be familiar with the Peninsula.

The map is rated as being the most complete portrayal of the Peninsula as a unit, of any ever prepared for general distribution. The Association has had a heavy demand for a map of this nature and feels that this latest product will fulfill the most exacting request.

an explanation of the BELLANCA AIRPLANE

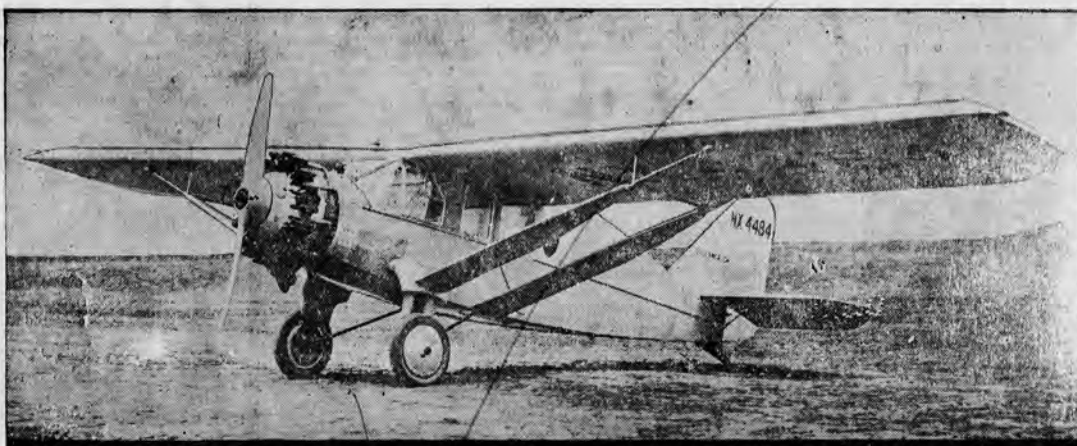

The triumph of Bellancas in every efficiency competition entered; the Columbia's flight to Germany, and Floyd Bennett's statement that his Bellanca handled easier than any ship he ever had flown, attest air attributes of which every Bellanca owner can justly be proud.

To attain such air-worthiness requires something more than merely fine material and precise workmanship. That something more is pure design with safety and pay-load superiority the practical objectives. Safety is assured by the remarkable balance of the ship. Of equal importance is the Bellanca cantilever, axle-type, landing gear which sturdily withstands any unusual strain. As most crash casualties are caused by a weakening of fuselage members, that hazard is nullified in Bellancas by a fuselage whose cabin gives utmost protection to passengers and pilot.

The range of the Bellanca CH (powered by a 200 h. p. Wright engine) at a cruising speed of 110 miles an hour, is 800 miles when the plane carries its full useful load of 2200 pounds. This high cruising speed, besides being of added commercial advantage, constitutes a safety factor, for with increased speed, proportionately greater stability in flight is assured.

The Model CH provides seating capacity for 5 to 7 passengers and pilot.
The Model M. and P. provide seating capacity for 14 passengers.
"All Monoplanes"

We are proud to be associated with this Air Meet and it being held at our front door seems as though we are the sponsors of this generous and unusual exhibition of the world's most able aviators in action, using planes of like ability.

We wish to make paramount the fact that the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce and its executives together with the National Aeronautics Association have planned and completed this Air Meet and that it will be a once-in-a-lifetime happening for most of its spectators.

The celebrities of the air will meet here Saturday, October 6th, and use eighty airplanes in displaying the speed and accuracy that has made the airplane the most outstanding vehicle of today's transportation.

Wilmington's Airport

On Saturday, Delaware will again distinguish its title of "First State" by staging the largest and most spectacular aeronautical exhibition ever given in the East. This air meet will mark the dedication of the Wilmington Airport, Bellanca Field, and another step in the progress of the State.

The flying exhibitions will include every variety of aviation that is practiced, including daring parachute jumps, and other death defying stunts and maneuvers. More than 90 service and civilian planes will take the air in a program whose scope may never again be witnessed in this part of the country.

The program itself has already attracted national interest, and will procure for Delaware an important place in the history of aviation. The field, which this program will dedicate, will place Delaware and Wilmington in the fore rank of those States and cities which have been progressive enough to provide adequate facilities for the development of air transportation. The Wilmington Chamber of Commerce and the Bellanca Company cannot be accorded too much credit for their work in bringing this field into being, and for arranging the program which will put it into formal operation.

Newark Should Respond

The Delaware Red Cross quota of $25,000 for relief of the Florida sufferers is still over $2,000 short of being collected. Newark is behind its quota by the same or a larger proportion. The local chapter reports generous donations of clothing, but that contributions of money have been coming in very slowly.

Newark has a reputation of always over-subscribing its quota for Red Cross relief, shortly after the appeal is made. It would be a shame to lose this reputation at the time of one of the worst disasters that this country has ever known.

A group of children from the Newark Schools attended the exhibition this morning and were given a talk by Mr. Cobb.

Alfred C. Stiltz Dead

Early Sunday morning death came quietly to Alfred C. Stiltz, one of Newark's best known business men. Mr. Stiltz was in his 57th year and had been confined to his home with illness for nearly a year. He had not been in good health for the past nine years, but carried on a direct supervision of his business until last November, when he was forced to give up all active work.

Mr. Stiltz was born in Torrington, Connecticut, in 1871, and came to Wilmington when a young man. He was the son of the late Joseph and Mary Stiltz. He married Minnie O. Little and the couple moved to a farm near Milford Cross Roads, where they lived for two years, then moving to Newark. Mr. Stiltz conducted a fruit and produce business for a number of years, but he was best known as one of the pioneer transportation leaders in Delaware. He conducted a large livery stable here, and ran the first buses to the stations in Newark. When motor buses became practical, he opened a bus line between Newark and Wilmington, which he operated successfully until he sold it to the Wilmington-Philadelphia Traction Company, four years ago. He also furnished bus service between Newark and Dover, and has continually had the contract for furnishing transportation to Newark School pupils coming from the outlying districts.

Mr. Stiltz was always a lover of fine horseflesh and his teams and turnouts were famous throughout the state. When he gave up the horses for motor vehicles, his buses and cars reflected the same pride in the fine appearance of these.

In July, 1925, Mrs. Stiltz passed away. Mr. Stiltz is survived by one daughter, Olive Stiltz, and two sons, William and Eugene Stiltz. There is also one grandchild, Alfred Stiltz, 3d, a brother, Eugene Stiltz, of Bridgeport, Conn., and three sisters, Mrs. Louise Crow, of Newark; Mrs. Howard Pelham, of New Haven, Conn., and Mrs. Arthur Livermore, of Bridgeport, Conn.

A great many people attended the funeral services, held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at his late home, 51 East Main street. The floral contributions were numerous and beautiful. The Reverend Disston W. Jacobs conducted the services. Interment was in Riverview Cemetery, Wilmington.

PROF. PARKER PROMOTED

Word has been received of the appointment of Miss Ethel Lee Parker, formerly Head of the Home Economics Department at Women's College, University of Delaware, to the position of Professor of Home Economics Education at the University of Kentucky, Lexington, Kentucky.

Miss Parker was Director of Home Economics and resident supervisor of the practice house for four years, from 1923 to 1927, during which time the Home Economics Department showed sufficient growth to place it among one of the most popular departments at Women's College.

Last year Delaware was honored through Miss Parker with her appointment as one of the National Fellows for the study of Child Care and Development under the Laura Spellman Rockefeller Foundation. This Fellowship enabled Miss Parker to spend an entire year in study at the University of Minnesota and Columbia University with six months' residence at the Merrill-Palmer School of Homemaking in Detroit, Michigan.

Miss Amy Rextrew, who has been acting as Head of the Home Economics Department at Women's College during Miss Parker's leave of absence during the past year, has been appointed her successor. Miss Rextrew took her B. S. degree at Buffalo State College and her Master's degree at Teacher's College, Columbia University.

G. O. P. PRIMARY ELECTIONS SAT.

10,000 Votes Polled In County Primaries In Which Only Two Important Officers Were Contested.

Over ten thousand New Castle County votes were polled in the Republican primary elections, held last Saturday. There were only two important contests on the ticket in which two candidates appeared for the offices of County Comptroller and Coroner. Frank R. Pool, of Macdonough, won the nomination for Comptroller from Henry W. Wenninger, present incumbent, and Thomas White won the nomination for Coroner from Isaac S. Jones.

Newark takes its place on the head of the ticket in the person of Harvey Hoffecker, who was unopposed for the nomination for Prothonotary. Mr. Hoffecker is the present incumbent.

Whichever way the general election goes, Newark will have able representation on the Levy Court. Frank B. McFarland, of Ogletown, is the Republican nominee and will be opposed by H. Warner McNeal, Democrat, for Commissioner from the Fifth District. Both are men of thoroughgoing and successful business experience, and who understand the needs of this district.

John W. Spicer, of Delaware City, was nominated for Senator from the Fifth District, and Wayne C. Brewer, an alert and active young business man, of Newark, is the nominee for Representative from the Ninth District.

Lodge Notes

JR. O. U. A. M.

The American Flag Council No. 28, Jr. O. U. A. M., in session Monday evening, sifted the ashes, put on more coal and has the steam up for a bright spirited Junior campaign this winter. We intend on adding 50 new members by spring. Backsliders are now coming back to the old fireside, plenty room for all and then some. Juniorism has taken on a new hold. Next Monday evening there will be features of unusual importance. Brother Norton has the secret.

At the Junior's Home, Tiffin, Ohio, a beautiful Memorial Chapel was dedicated recently. This building is of Tudor architecture, costing $250,000. The boys and girls of the Home purchased a set of chimes for the tower, at a cost of $14,000. These children have various ways of saving money. Our Home cares and provides for over 1000 children of our departed brothers. Next week I shall tell more of Our Home.

Bear in mind next Monday night, around the fireside in the Council chamber, 7:30 p. m.

A. Neal Smyth, Councilor.

EAST'S BIGGEST AIR MEET OPENS

This race will be followed by a bomb dropping contest in which nine bombardment planes of the Army will compete.

The field will be formally dedicated with appropriate exercises at 2:15, by William P. MacCracken, Jr., Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Aeronautics will make the principal address. Addresses will also be made by Mayor G. W. K. Forrest and Governor Robert P. Robinson.

Among other notables who will be on the speakers' stand will be Edward R. Warren, Assistant Secretary of the Navy.

Immediately following the dedication exercises, one of the most spectacular events on the program, parachute jumping to a mark will take place, followed by a 40-mile race for commercial planes of 800 cubic inch displacement or less.

Following this race, the spectators will be treated to a half-hour of maneuvers by crack pilots of the Army, Navy and Marine Corps. All the stunts that are used in aerial warfare will be demonstrated.

What will probably be the three fastest races of the afternoon will follow in quick succession. The first will be for Falcon two-seater planes for 40 miles. The second, a 40-mile race open to Corsair two-seaters. The third of this group should crown them all for speed as it will be confined to Army pursuit planes of the Hawk aircooled motor type and will be for a distance of 50 miles. These will probably be the fastest planes at the meet as they develop a speed of almost 200 miles an hour.

All the races will be run over a ten-mile triangular course with the start and finish line in front of the grandstand. The home turning pylon will also be located there.

Domino-Dobbins Match Race A Turf Thriller

Although there have been some great match horse races in the past decade, notably the Man o' War-Sir Barton special in 1920 and the International Derby between Zev and Papyrus in 1923, turfmen of the older generation still remember the classic contest between Domino and Dobbins thirty-five years ago. This race, staged at Sheepshead Bay on Aug. 31, 1893, ended in a dead heat.

Man o' War won in ridiculously easy fashion from Sir Barton by seven lengths, while Zev coasted to victory over Papyrus by five. But in the Domino-Dobbins match, both rivals were compelled to give every pound of speed they possessed, making the race perhaps the greatest struggle between two-year-olds ever witnessed on the American turf.

In 1893, after the great Salvo had retired, no horse became more popular than Domino, by Himyar—Mannie Gray, and he rewarded his backers by becoming the sensation of the two-year-old season. He won nine races, retiring that year unbeaten and standing far in advance of all American two-year-olds in money won, with the record sum of $170,890 for his first year on the turf, a mark which has never been approached.

Domino was bred at Dixiana Stud, Kentucky, by Major B. G. Thomas, being later purchased by James R. and Foxhall P. Keene. He was a handsome dark colt of good size and a shining coat that looked black but was actually a deep chestnut. The only two-year-old that rivaled him in any way was Dobbins, by Mr. Pickwick—Thora. Dobbins was owned by Richard Croker, the Tammany chief.

Stake of $10,000 Posted

Both Domino and Dobbins carried the top weight of 130 pounds in the Futurity of that year and Domino just managed to win after a whirlwind finish, beating Galilee, which carried 115 pounds, by a head, while Dobbins was hardly a head behind the second horse. Although Mr. Keene believed that the question of supremacy had been definitely settled when his colt withstood a terrific drive in the stretch, Mr. Croker was not satisfied, and the two owners made a match at 118 pounds over the Futurity course for $10,000 a side, with $2,500 to be added by the Racing Association. The distance was to be the same as in the Futurity, about 170 yards short of three-quarters of a mile. The $10,000 stake for Dobbins was posted by M. F. Dwyer.

A match race between two great thoroughbreds holds one of the greatest thrills to be found in sport. Thus the occasion of the Domino-Dobbins match found a crowd of 12,000 in the stands awaiting the outcome of a virtual re-running of the Futurity. Perfect weather prevailed and the race was set for a fast track.

Domino, with Taral in the saddle, was the first to show himself and was greeted with a burst of cheering as he cantered past the grandstand. Each of his forelegs was banded with red flannel and his dark coat shone like fine satin.

A few moments later the appearance of Dobbins, ridden by Sims, was the signal for another ovation. The book-makers were active, Domino starting at 2 to 1, while Dobbins was at 8 to 5.

There was a five-minute delay at the post and then a false start, but Starter Rowe called Taral back, and at the second attempt the pair got off on even terms. Domino led into the dip, where Dobbins got his head in front. But Taral went wide at the turn, carrying Dobbins out, and the pair raced side by side so closely that they bumped slightly twice and seemed to hang together.

Close Race All the Way
At the head of the stretch, with Dobbins having a slight lead, Taral drew his whip, while Sims was riding hard with hands and heels. The pair reached the furlong pole with Domino hanging on gamely. The critical part of the race was now at hand. They were but a sixteenth of a mile from the wire when the masterly riding of Taral began to tell and slowly but surely he was wearing down the short lead of Dobbins. James R. Keene was in the timers' stand watching the struggle.

Finally, with a supreme effort, Taral spurred the brown sides of Domino and brought his whip down with cruel force on the horse's flank. Domino shot forward and, as the horses crossed the wire, got his nose up on even terms with the leader and the pair flashed past the judges' stand amid the greatest excitement. Hats went sailing skyward and the spectators shouted themselves hoarse.

There was much speculation as to whether the race would be run off. Mr. Croker expressed himself as willing to send his horse to the post again, but Mr. Keene thought it would not be humane, so the stakes were divided.

Domino also ran another great match with Henry of Navarre the following year, this also ending in a dead heat, and following the close of his four-year-old season was retired to the stud. Death overtook him at an early age and his owner erected a monument over his grave in Kentucky. Dobbins finished his career in England, where he proved a failure in the stud.—N. Y. Times.

Purchasing Ancestors

They entered the paneled hall, and the rich manufacturer pointed to its magnificent appointments.

"See," he said, "I chose every piece myself."

The visitor was duly impressed. Suddenly he caught sight of a magnificent picture and started perceptibly.

"Ah," remarked the other, pointing to the distinguished cavalier that stared haughtily down at them from his gilded frame, "that is one of my ancestors."

"And he was very nearly one of mine," returned the visitor. "I bid up to $500 for him myself."—Answers.

A Kitchen in the 60s

It became a habit for me to spend a couple of hours every afternoon with Mary Daly in the big, sunny kitchen, to which the willow-ware and pewter plates on the dresser gave the brightness of a living room. . . . I fully realize, as I close my eyes now and the whole scene takes vivid form, that there was nothing about the home kitchen that was anything but healthful and wholesome for childhood. It was a clearly defined and respected part of the house. Those who came to it stayed for years, as they do with me now even in this time of upheavals.

There were so many people among our friends who had comfortable and lovable colored help. There were some who had waiter-men such as Hopkinson Smith loved to portray; others who had ladies' maids, who did up the fine musline and laces and renovated ball-gowns; these latter were always supposed to be French. Help was the term used, at least by people of New England ancestry, and the number for a family such as ours, of educated New Yorkers of middle-average purse, was at most two women and a chore-man. Of course at times we had what Bea called fit-ins and Gatha supernumeraries, flotsam and jetsam where were as much employed for their need as our own. . . .

At Christmas time the kitchen wore a festive air somewhat akin to what one read about in the stories of Old England. Gifts came from many places to plish the store room and pantry, or to hang in the grated cold closet in the cellar. The Aunties always sent a barrel, as carefully as if the contents had been of priceless porcelain. In the bottom, well slatted down to prevent crumbling, came an array of mince pies and two plum puddings, one rich and very fruity, one less so, supposedly for my benefit. Then a box of Aunt Mary's very best oak-leaf cookies, that only at Christmas time had caraway comfits dressed in colored sugar on top. Next, packages of nuts, raisins, homemade peppermint drops and molasses candy, pulled until it was almost white and quite brittle. On several occasions the padding necessary at the top was made up of a dozen damask napkins exquisitely hemmed, or a pair of linen pillow shams (as they were called) with an elaborate border and center initial done in beautiful exact knot stitch. . . .

The dresser was a sort of museum in itself. The top shelf was flanked by pitchers of all sizes, shapes and colors, for Uncle Isaac, who lived in Boston, took great delight in haunting auction sales and frequently sent Mother a barrel of odds and ends of china and earthenware. He was especially fond of bowls, pie plates and other dishes of deep yellow color mottled with brown like imitation tortoise shell. One pitcher that was my delight was a white syrup jug with a pewter lid and was so exactly in shape like the lighthouse on Fair-weather's Island opposite our beach at Fairfield that I used it as such in the make-believe scenery built on the washroom tubs, and it has been called the "lighthouse jug" ever since.

The kitchen ware of daily use filled the next two shelves, this being the remains of Grandmother Murdock's blue willow set with its drooping trees, bridge and pagoda design, then scorned and moved down in the world. This had been forced below stairs by a new white porcelain set with glittering gold bands and a red line, a parish gift, and the very last word in elegance. Please remember that this was the ugly American period, plush furniture, albums, was flowers which I adored, or Roger groups for the centre table (ours was less awful than some others, being Ichabod Crane and Katherine Van Tassel), and homemade plaques, all of which lasted well into the eighties until the year of the Centennial Exhibition which made people realize how new we were as a people, and awakening and looking back to find their roots, they began to realize the beauty and simplicity of the put-away furniture of Colonial days. But even then I preferred the willow ware with its dramatic scenery. And presently, though the pieces were few in number, the set crept upstairs again into its own, now ranking with the respectable antiques.—Mabel Osgood Wright, in "My New York."

One Defender

After morning service the family dined, and churches and their procedure came in for criticism. Father criticized the sermon. Mother disliked the blunders of the organist. The eldest daughter thought the choir's singing was atrocious. But the subject had to be dropped when the small boy of the family volunteered the remark: "Dad, I think it was a mighty good show for a nickel."—Pittsburgh Chronicle.

"Never too old to learn" might be changed to "Always old enough to learn" if one considers education in its largest sense. We may think of our brains as being soft and pleasantly pliable up to a certain age and then hardening, so that new ideas have a hard time getting through, but if experience is the best teacher, age is surely an asset as one travels the road of education.

Kills Negro Who Wounded Him

Deputy Sheriff Manlove Bouchelle, of Elkton, shot and killed James Turner, a Negro, Friday afternoon, after he had been shot in the arm at Cokesbury by the drink-crazed Negro.

The bullet from the officer's gun struck the Negro in the breast. He died while being taken to Union Hospital, Elkton.

Turner had been on a drunken rampage threatening to kill several people at Cokesbury, and the sheriff's office in Elkton was notified. Deputy Bouchelle was sent to place the offender under arrest. At North East Officer Jesse Crouch joined the deputy. After the officers alighted from their car the deputy sheriff entered the house where the Negro was staying.

As soon as Turner saw the officers he pulled out his revolver and started out the back door. Bouchelle followed and the Negro whirled around and fired, the ball striking the officer in the left arm. He fired four more shots at the officer, two of them passing through his coat.

In the meantime Bouchelle drew his revolver and fired, the ball taking effect in his assailant's breast.

The officers placed the wounded Negro in their car and started for Union Hospital, but the Negro was dead when North East was reached, where Dr. Cantwell gave medical aid to the wounded officer, who is now in Union Hospital for treatment.

Coroner Green will hold an inquest as soon as Bouchelle is able to leave the hospital.

CLOTHES ARE EXPRESSIVE

Clothes, to a large extent, express the feelings and the moods of their wearers. We get a line on a man by his appearance nine times out of ten.

If he dresses carefully and stylishly—we didn't say expensively—we are favorably impressed.

Style says "good-by" when wrinkles appear. Why neglect the appearance of your suit when all it needs is steaming and pressing to brighten it up. We do this quite reasonably and will call for it if you will let us know.

Christian Science Churches

"Christian Science" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, September 30. The Golden Text was from Isaiah 52:7, "How beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of him that bringeth good tidings that publisheth peace; that bringeth good tidings of good, that publisheth salvation, that saith unto Zion, Thy God reigneth."

Among the citations which comprised the lesson-sermon was the following from the Bible: "Behold I will bring it health and cure: and I will cure them, and will reveal unto them the abundance of peace and truth." (Jer. 33:6.) The lesson-sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health, with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, "In the year 1866, I discovered the Christ Science or divine laws of Life, Truth, and Love, and named by discovery Christian Science. Through Christian Science religion and medicine are inspired with a diviner nature and essence; fresh pinions are given to faith and understanding and thoughts acquaint themselves intelligently with God."

WOMEN ARMY OFFICERS

It is not commonly known that women hold commissions in the United States Army. There are several commissioned officers in the Nursing Corps. In the Medical Corps, though there are no Second Lieutenants—nor in the nursing unit—yet there are several women First Lieutenants and Captains. There is only one full-fledged woman Major, Major Julia C. Stimson, who is Superintendent of the Nursing Corps and Dean of the Army School of Nursing at the Walter Reed Hospital at Washington.

Keep Late Molters

A hen regularly renews her worn-out coat of feathers once a year. It should be of special interest to every poultry raiser to know how he might help his hens through the molt and avoid too great a loss in egg production.

Beware of Slow Early Molters

While the fall is the natural time for the birds to molt, it is not uncommon to find individual hens molting even in early summer. The time of year a hen molts is a guide as to the past and future production of the bird. Repeated tests have shown that the hens which begin to molt before September are usually slow molters and are low producers.

Occasionally a whole flock will start to molt in July or August as a result of improper management. Parasites, hot, stuffy, poorly ventilated houses, sudden changes of ration and insufficient fresh, clean water are a few of the probable causes. It would be poor policy to dispose of a whole flock, but beware of the individual slow molters.

When the hens are molting it is unfair to expect very much in the way of production. There is a heavy drain on the system of the birds to make a complete new coat of feathers, so it takes all the nourishment you provide them. You can help them molt by good feeding.

Help the Hens Molt

So many poultrymen make the mistake of closing the mash hoppers when the flock starts to molt in the fall. Just because they stop laying while molting does not permit cutting down on the feed. If there is ever a time when the hens need a ration that is highly digestible and one that contains the different nutrients needed to nourish all parts of the body it is when they molt. Feathers roughly represent 5 per cent of the bird's total weight.

Ancestors of the hen of today took anywhere from four to six months to molt as there was little else for them to do. Their average production was from 15 to 20 eggs, all of which were laid in the spring. We today are far from being satisfied with a production of 15 eggs and most of our hens are willing to lay many times that number if we provide them with the proper feed.

If you have never fed an egg mash the year around, now is a good time to start. A good mash will bring the birds through the molting period faster and keep them in better health and in better condition. It will shorten the molting period a month or more and get the hens back into laying when the egg prices are still high. It is poor economy to force your hens to build a new coat of feathers on a ration composed principally of scratch grains.

What To Consider In A New Poultry House

If you are thinking of building any new poultry houses, now is a good time to do it. To wait until fall is quite certain to mean that the houses will not be ready when you need them. It is bad to have pullets come into production and then have to move them to the laying house.

Before going ahead and building a new house, make sure that you have chosen the best location. The ideal place for a poultry house is on high land with a gentle southern slope. Good soil drainage is very important. The soil best adapted to poultry is a sand or sandy loam because it drains well and also is less liable to become contaminated.

Almost as important as soil drainage is air drainage. A house that is built in an air pocket becomes difficult to properly ventilate—not only that, but you will have trouble with early frosts and heavy fogs. Hens are very sensitive to an excess of moisture in the air.

A few trees or bushes near the house will provide shade for the birds during the hot summer days and thus keep them happy. Try to avoid having the house or the ground in front of the house shaded by trees, for that will keep the house and the ground damp.

Large Units Economical

It very often is easier to decide where to build than it is to decide the type or size of house to build. This should depend partly on how many birds you plan to keep and whether you intend to increase the size of the flock at some later time. A large house holding a good many birds is cheaper to construct and easier to take care of. One man can look after a certain number of units almost regardless of the size of the unit. Convenience in arrangement and accessibility of location will also help to cut down the amount of labor required.

The kind of house you will build should be determined by the other buildings, as it always adds to the appearance of a place to have the buildings match. As to the materials you will use—whether it be paper, boards, shingles, or brick—makes very little difference in so far as the birds are concerned.

The house wants to afford lots of sunshine and fresh air—free of drafts, dry, and prove easy to clean. It should never be extremely hot or cold at any time.

A question that probably most commonly arises is which type of floor to use. Concrete floors seem to give the best satisfaction. They are easy to clean and disinfect and will keep out rats, in addition to lasting a good many years. A bed of rocks or cinders beneath the floor will tend to keep it dry.

Poultry House Fixtures

There are a number of things in the way of equipment that need your attention when building. The first of these is plenty of hopper space for the hens to eat all the mash they want. Provide at least two running feet of hopper space for every ten hens. The more mash we can get the hen to eat, the more eggs it will ordinarily mean. This is especially true when feeding a good commercial mash.

Provision should be made for an ample supply of fresh, clean water, as 55 per cent of the hen's body and 65 per cent of her product is water. Dropping boards under the roost makes it easy to clean the house and provide additional floor space. Last, but not least, we want to supply plenty of nest space. There should be one nest to every four to five hens, and they should be well ventilated so the hens will not be affected by hot weather.

CIVIL WAR TIME BOTTLES SELL HIGH AS ANTIQUES

Old glass bottles, especially those made in odd shapes in Civil War times, bring very high prices today, according to F. B. Tuck of Kennelbunk, Me., who has scoured New England and the Southern States in the pursuit of this hobby. He has an assortment of antique bottles that has attracted wide interest.

"Bottles used by dealers as containers for liquors many years ago," said Mr. Tuck, "are worth more today than the pre-Volstead goods they might have contained even at present inflated quotations." Pointing at a bushel basket of antique glass bottles such as might have been found in the rubbish barrels of many New England homes in the 60s, he continued, "Roughly estimated, that basket of bottles is worth more than $500, each one being valued at from $25 to $30."

"Sixty-five or seventy years ago it was the practice of liquor dealers to exploit the name of a statesman or other prominent man in their merchandising methods. They would have a picture of the personage, with some sentiment appropriate to that period blown on the face of their bottles. Today, such containers are readily disposed of at such prices as I have mentioned."

Mr. Tuck said the fad for collecting old liquor bottles started with a student at Princeton University, who began buying them at prices ranging from two or three cents for any odd-shaped container, to twenty-five cents for those of more elaborate design. At the end of his college course, when Volsteadism was well under way, he sold his collection in Delaware for $8,000. Since then the liquor bottle market has been decidedly active.

BUILDING NEW HOME IN KIRKWOOD

REASONS WHY WALLS AND CEILINGS CRACK

Mr. James T. Thornton, the contractor at Kirkwood, is taking a dose of his own medicine. He is building a new home just on the outside of Kirkwood on the highway. In talking with Mr. Thornton the subject of cold weather effects on walls and ceilings was discussed.

Mr. Thornton assigned the following reasons why walls and ceilings crack.

Building a house on a fill. Failure to make the footings wide enough. Failure to carry the footings below the frost line. Width of footing not made proportional to the loads they carry. The posts in the basement not provided with separate footings. Failure to provide a base raised above the basement floor line for the settings of wooden posts. Not enough cement used in the concrete. Dirty sand or gravel used in the concrete.

Failure to protect beams and sills from rotting through dampness. Setting floor joists one end on masonry and the other on wood. Wooden beams used to support masonry over openings. Mortar, plaster, or concrete work allowed to freeze before setting. Braces omitted in wooden walls. Sheathing omitted in wooden walls (excepting in "back plastered" construction). Drainage water from roof not carried away from foundations. Floor joists too light. Floor joists not bridged. Supporting posts too small. Cross-beams too light. Sub-flooring omitted. Wooden walls not framed so as to equalize shrinkage. Poor materials used in plaster. Plaster applied too thin. Lath placed too close together.

SALES BIG ON NEW CHANDLER

"The introduction of the new Royal '75' De Luxe Sedan by Chandler," states Kenneth A. Drake, Wilmington Chandler distributor, "has been followed by an unusual buying interest that bids fair to make this model one of Chandler's most popular Eight body styles ever presented."

"At the exceptionally low price, it can be rightly classed as a remarkable Eight at an unusual price," further states Mr. Drake.

"Built on a 118" wheelbase it presents long, low, graceful body lines. A custom style body with high hood effect gives it an aristocratic appearance. One has the choice of four different body colors with this new model."

DOES YOUTH FORGET

In this maddening day of speed, and more speed, the age that seems to be so controlled by youth, does youth neglect or forget the time honored customs. Mr. Ayars, the monumental stone man in Wilmington says, that for years he has been engaged in this business and in his opinion youth does not forget or neglect. It is true that this business has changed, it also is done in a more rapid manner. Today the younger generation really remembers and they show more taste and want to know more about what they buy.

A FRAME DWELLING STUCCOED BY DUFFY

This picture gives an excellent view of an old-fashioned frame dwelling which has been stuccoed by Wm. Duffy, 613 Orange street, Wilmington. Stuccoing over frame walls had been quite a problem up until the last few years, but now it is possible to apply it with the certainty that it will be of equal permanence as that applied on stone walls. Mr. Duffy guarantees his work because he has full confidence in it.

They not only demand a more artistic finish, but they also are interested in the length of life of the cutting and the stone. In fact these demands have resulted in a big improvement in every respect in our business. The old time fellow that just takes an ordinary piece of stone and cuts it today is on the losing side of our business. The volume of our business is greater than ever but have found that you must have the quality, artistic finish and be in a position to render service anywhere. It is on this basis that I have built this business and it is my purpose to continue to meet improvements and render satisfactory service to all my customers.

COLD WEATHER BATTERIES

Mr. H. L. Solomon, the battery man at 102 North Union street, Wilmington, says that "Car owners could save themselves dollars upon dollars by having their batteries attended to right now. It will only be a short time before the old engine will need extra cranking in the morning and then the drain on the battery starts. Again the change in time also requires the use of lights. If your battery is not in good shape, it will not be long before you will start to have trouble and perhaps expense. The most of this trouble and expense could be saved by having your battery tested now." Mr. Solomon suggests that in driving up to Wilmington and as you go by his place, stop for a few minutes and he will gladly test your battery. This offer of Mr. Solomon's might mean a lot to you, so we advise all our readers to take advantage of it.

ATTENDS TILE MEETING AT ATLANTIC CITY

Arthur Pavoni, proprietor of the Artificial Stone and Tile Company, at 1906 West Ninth street, Wilmington, is attending the annual convention of the Eastern District of the Tile Manufacturers' Association, which is being held at the Traymore Hotel in Atlantic City. The convention opened Friday and concluded yesterday. A number of speeches were delivered on various phases of the tile industry. One of the features was an exhibit of tile products. Mr. Pavoni will return home today.

OLD TIME JEWELRY

Mr. Parrish, the local jeweler remembers when a piece of jewelry was mostly made by hand. The individual really when buying got a piece that was different from anybody's. That is the design might have been similar, but as the work was hand work, there was always a personality to each piece.

Now in these days of quantity production, the difference in each piece has disappeared. Mr. Parrish seems of the opinion that to obtain the greatest amount for your money and also the satisfaction in possession is to purchase the best grade and quality. Mr. Parrish does not try to carry a large stock, but he makes a careful selection from the best offered on the market. His years of experience becomes of great value to his customers, as they receive the benefit both in value and design.

THE COMING SOCIAL SEASON

The time for the fall social season is nearly here. Mr. Hanna, the Caterer, has received several inquiries in reference to affairs now being arranged. We suggest that if you are intending to entertain any this season that you avail yourself of the services offered by Mr. Hanna. You will find yourself greatly relieved of the trouble and worry connected with your entertaining, you will be surprised at the peace of mind you can enjoy. You will find yourself a hostess who can really enjoy every minute of your time.

Mr. Hanna can arrange and care for everything. It will be done correctly and in an up-to-date, efficient manner. The greatest surprise of all will be how little it really costs to have this service, and your social obligations will be more than paid, for you will earn a name for your ability to carry off your entertainments in a manner that will cause your friends to always desire a bid.

CONTRACT WORK PROGRESSING

Mr. J. P. Hutchison, the local contractor's work is progressing very well. The Dennison Garage on East Main street is going along fast. The outside brick work is practically done. The flooring is nearly finished, and the roofing about ready to go on.

The Brewer and Fader houses are started. The excavations are completed, and the setting forms for the foundation are ready. Weather permitting these walls will be poured in the next few days.

The retaining wall on Orchard Row extending from Amstel avenue for about 500 feet is now well underway. This wall is for the purpose of retaining the sidewalk and is being erected for Mr. J. P. Wright.

Dielectric Products plant at Newport is just about completed, unless some addition is required. The work at Farmington for Mr. J. P. Wright, which has been underway since last May is now about complete.

PROVIDE NESTING PLACES

Birds like a garden. They will almost invariably select one, in preference to a lot grown up with weeds or grass, in which to feed. The garden, apparently, with its exposed soil, furnishes insect food in greater quantity.

It is only logical and natural that birds should wish to nest near the source of food supply; that is, in a garden. Here, however, a difficulty presents itself—too many ordinary gardens contain no trees, bushes, or vines suitable for nesting purposes.

The remedy for this is very simple. If trees grow on the lot they will be frequented and perhaps built in by such birds as robins, orioles, etc. For the benefit of such cheerful and ground-loving fellows as cat-birds, brown thrashers, chickadees, and perhaps mocking-birds, however, simply forget to clean out the blackberry bush that starts up beside the back fence. Allow rambling roses or honeysuckle to sprawl in a fence corner.

In such places cat-birds, mocking-birds, and thrashers will nest gladly. The chickadee is primarily a ground nester; however, he, too, may make use of a low tangle for home-making purposes.

The above-mentioned four birds are among the sweetest singers of all the feathered company. Though they may indeed peck a few strawberries and cherries in season, they are chiefly insectivorous, and they more than make up for the little fruit they take by the bugs they consume. Also, and a fact to delight the true bird lover, they will become tame and friendly if met half way.—William R. Moses.

40,000 FANS WON'T GET SERIES TICKETS

First Game Sold Out of Reserved Seats; 40,000 Bleachers on Sale

Reservations for 75,000 seats for World Series games between the New York Yankees and the St. Louis Cardinals are being returned by the Cardinal management, Sam Bredon, owner of the pennant winning team announced yesterday. Forty thousand letters were left after the 27,000 reserved seats were sold and Bredon estimates that practically every letter was a request for two seats.

Indications are that Sherdel and Haines will pitch the first two games at New York and that Alexander will be sent to the mound in the third game at St. Louis on Sunday. For reasons easily understood, Huggins is extremely uncertain as to how he will work his pitchers but it is generally agreed that he can start no one but the well known mortician, Hoyt. Huggins possibly will shoulder the burden in Friday's game and Zachary, who already has seen a world's series with Washington, may get the call on Sunday.

All the reserved seats for the opening game at the Yankee Stadium have been sold but 40,000 unreserved tickets go on sale the day of the first game. Prospects are for an opening day crowd of close to 80,000.

The World Series opens in New York City on Thursday, October 24. There will be two games played in New York and then the Cardinals will take the New York Tanks to their own battle field. The first two games are in New York, the next three in St. Louis, and if any more are necessary they will be played in New York. The Cards are favored in the early betting with the odds 10 to 7. The sporting fraternity are all counting on the Yanks to be laid up, and as one sport said if the game was to be played in a hospital, he would then reverse his bets and take on the Yanks.

The umpire is McGowan and Owens of the American League, and Riegler and Pfirman of the National League. A good many New Yorkers know McGowan, as he is a Delawarean, hailing from Wilmington.

Contenders—New York Yankees, of American League, and St. Louis Cardinals, of National League.

Managers—Miller Huggins, Yankees, and Bill McKechnie, Cardinals.

How decided—Best four out of seven games.

Game schedule—First two games at Yankee Stadium, Thursday and Friday; third, fourth and fifth games at St. Louis, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday; sixth and seventh games at Yankee Stadium, Thursday, October 11, and Friday, October 12.

Postponements—In event of postponements, teams will remain in whatever city they chance to be until games scheduled for that city have been played. Dates of following games will be shifted accordingly.

Time of games—New York games will start at 1:30 p. m., eastern standard time, in St. Louis at 1:30 p. m., central standard time.

NEW USES FOR APPLES

County Home Demonstration Agent Gives Unusual Recipes for Use of Apples

"Because apples are so abundant and cheap this year," says Mrs. Kate Henley Daugherty, County Home Demonstration Agent, "they may as well be substituted part of the time, at least, for more expensive fruit and vegetables. Their slightly tart, rather bland flavor, make them particularly good for combining with other foods. As a 'stretcher' for fruit cup and fruit salad with pineapple, orange, grapefruit, banana, etc., they are excellent as they carry the flavor without detracting from the food value."

"Used in jams and jellies," says the Home Demonstration Agent, "with blackberries, strawberries, raspberries, etc., they actually improve flavor and texture. These, however, are uses with which most of us are familiar. Less common are some of the following suggestions:

Apple and Sweet Potato Casserole. Wash, core and slice apples into a buttered casserole. Fill about two-thirds full. Fill dish with sliced parboiled sweet potatoes. Season with salt, brown sugar and butter or bacon fat. Bake until potatoes and apples are tender.

Bacon and Apple Sandwiches. Spread slices of toast with a generous supply of stewed apples or thick apple sauce. Cover with thin slices of bacon and bake until bacon is done. This is a delicious lunch or supper dish.

Stuffed Celery. Work grated cheese into thick apple sauce and stuff stems of celery with the mixture. A little boiled salad dressing may be added if desired.

Apple, Celery and Carrot Salad. Dice apples and celery, mix with boiled salad dressing and garnish with finely grated raw carrot, seasoned with lemon juice or French dressing.

Mint Balls. Make a syrup of equal parts of sugar and water, color green and flavor with mint. Scoop out balls from apples with a vegetable cutter. Cook apple balls in the green mint syrup until tender but still firm, drain and cool. These are a delicious garnish for salads for a change.

Apple Muffins. Two cups flour, 5 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 cup milk, 1 egg, 4 tablespoons melted fat, cooked and sweetened apple sauce. Sift the dry ingredients. Add the milk and the beaten egg, and mix well. To this add the melted fat. Drop spoonfuls of the mixture separately in greased muffin tins. Add 1 tablespoon of apple sauce to each muffin, and then cover the sauce with the muffin mixture. Bake from 25 to 30 minutes in a moderately hot oven. This recipe makes one dozen muffins.

Apple Rings and Bacon. Select firm, tart apples. Wash and core, but do not peel, the apples. Cut them in rings or slices about 1/4 inch thick. Place the rings in a frying pan (do not crowd them) with a small amount of bacon fat, and sprinkle them with brown sugar. Add just enough boiling water to cover the rings. Cover the pan and cook the apples until tender, browning them on both sides. Lift them on to a hot platter, and serve them with a border of crisp bacon.

Apple Ham Casserole. Select a slice of ham 1 inch thick, rub well with brown sugar, and place in a baking dish. Stick 2 cloves in the ham, and add 1 tablespoon of onion juice. Peel, core, and quarter tart apples. Cover the ham with the apples. Sprinkle with 4 tablespoons of brown sugar, and add tablespoon of butter, cut in bits. Add 1 cup of boiling water, and bake in a covered dish until the meat is tender.

Apple Cheese Betty. Cover the bottom of a greased baking dish with bread crumbs. Add a generous layer of thinly sliced, tart apples. Sprinkle with sugar, bits of butter, a little nutmeg, and 4 tablespoons of grated cheese. Cover with another layer of buttered crumbs. Add 1/2 cup of water, and bake in a covered dish in a moderate oven.

Baked Apple Dumplings. Cut plain pastry into six inch squares. Wash, pare, and core small, tart apples. Place an apple in the center of each square of dough. Fill the centers with sugar, a little nutmeg or other spice, and butter. Moisten the edges of the dough with water, and bring them together over the top of the apple, pressing them well together. Place the dumplings in a baking dish, adding boiling water to about one-fourth the depth of the dumplings. Sprinkle with sugar, and bake in a moderate oven for about one hour. Serve with thin cream, whipped cream, or hard sauce.

Apple Sauce Spice Cake. One cup sugar, 1/2 cup fat, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg, 1/4 teaspoon cloves, 1/4 teaspoon allspice, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 cup thick, unsweetened apple sauce, 1 1/2 cups of flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 1 egg and 1/2 cup English walnuts.

Cream the fat and sugar, and add the apple sauce and the beaten egg. Mix and sift the dry ingredients, add the nuts, and combine the mixtures, mixing them thoroughly. Bake in a loaf, in a moderate oven (300 to 400 degrees F.). If preferred, the cake may be baked in two layers.

INCREASE ENROLLMENT IN HEALTH CRUSADE

How enthusiastic public school children of Delaware are over the doing of health chores through the Modern Health Crusade conducted by the Delaware Anti-Tuberculosis Society, may be realized from the tremendous increase in the number already enrolled for this year, although the schools have been operating less than a month.

At this time last year there were 1,617 enrolled. This year, so far, the total enrollment is 2,244, with hundreds more coming in each day.

Miss Helen M. Thompson, executive secretary in charge of the Modern Health Crusade, was almost swamped this week with applications for supplies. As speedily as they can be taken care of, these health chore supplies will be forwarded. The name of the school and the teacher who has enrolled the children in each of the counties are as follows:

PLAN WEATHER BUREAU FOR DEL-MAR-VA

Considerable interest is being aroused in the project of having a regular U. S. Weather Bureau Station established on the Del-Mar-Va Peninsula, and from statements issued at the offices of the Del-Mar-Va Eastern Shore Association and by Carl H. Monsees, of the South Ocean City Development Co., who approached the Weather Bureau concerning this matter when in the employ of the Association, a Peninsula-wide effort will be made towards securing this service.

It is probable that leaders in each of the 14 counties will be asked to bring pressure to bear on their representatives at Washington, so that the necessary appropriation may be secured. The need of a weather bureau station in Del-Mar-Va is emphasized as at present none exists between Norfolk and Atlantic City. Because of the agricultural and fishing interests of the Peninsula, and the section extending directly inland in the Middle North Atlantic States, it is said by all familiar with this subject to be a vital necessity.

Since the matter was first introduced more than a year ago, Del-Mar-Va Association officials have been active and now plan to request the representatives from Delaware, Maryland and Virginia at Washington, to advocate the plan.

Letters from several influential business concerns and private individuals have already been addressed to the Congressmen and U. S. Senators urging their support in the effort to secure the appropriation necessary.

PROTECT HOUSE METALS

How's your brass? Not the brass that everyone wishes would line the pockets, nor yet the brass that which he so deprecates, others, the brass in the form of gutters and leaders that adorns the outside of house.

You think it is all right, and probably it is, for brass will rust like iron, but sometimes brass (and copper and bronze) we left to rot, coated may evolve staining which badly disfigure the paint work on stonework of a house. Varnish or painted occasionally, the are prevented.

Clean and Paint

Varnish paints or oil paints, which there is a rather large quantity of drier are applied to the metal after it has been thoroughly cleaned with naphtha. Spar varnish containing aluminum powder as a priming coat and over this the usual type of oil paint is another method of covering the metals.

Tin plate roofs and tin signs also demand that they be well dished, fair, and Mrs. Arthur corrosion will set in rapidly unless they are protected by paint. Before both morning and evening painting, tin, too, must be thoroughly cleaned to remove any oil; kerosene turpentine is used.

Although we often see metal painted the bright orange red color, this is used as the priming coat, this is the reason why another color which harmonizes with the surroundings cannot be applied over it. So, at the same time you are protecting your house metals you can also beautify your home. The first is a wise economy and the second an equally wise activity since a down-dwind burglar is to most observers a net without much money, or, at best, who does not see how his looks.

NEW INDUSTRY COMING TO WILMINGTON

Best Lock Corporation, a Delaware corporation representing the Best Universal System, is establishing its headquarters at 908 Orange street. This new industry is built around a basically new and patented universal locking system in which one key replaces the bunch. This system makes it possible for every user to replace the cumbersome bunch of keys with a single key. This wonderful accommodation is accomplished without the loss of security, in fact, with an increased security. It is a very great improvement over the ordinary master key systems in present use. Hundreds of the biggest companies of the world are using this system and speak most highly of it. In fact, it appears destined to completely revolutionize lock thinking and to ultimately replace all other locks. Mr. Frank B. Best, the inventor and president of this new company, is in Wilmington at the present time assisting with the organization. The new lock is creating considerable interest and Mr. Best has consented to remain for some time and give a number of free public lectures upon it. These lectures will be held at the offices of the company at 908 Orange street on each Tuesday and Friday evening until further notice. An invitation is extended to the public to avail itself of these very interesting and instructive lectures.

FIND CAUSE OF CHICK LOSSES

Campaign Results In Valuable Data On Chick Mortality; Figures To Be Made Public

Results on the "Grow Healthy Chicks" Campaign started last spring in the state by the Agricultural Extension Department of the University will soon be complete, and available figures for New Castle County will be released in the near future by County Agent, Ed Willim, Jr.

This campaign in New Castle County to reduce the baby chick mortality among the poultrymen of the county, had 34 farmers and chicken raisers enrolled in it on May 18. Of this number 26 returned actual figures on the losses of baby chicks up to the end of the first month. From these replies the county agent figured that a 22.3 per cent loss had occurred in these flocks.

It is the purpose of Mr. Willim to find as closely as possible the number of chickens lost during the period since the last reports from the poultrymen were secured. To make the campaign more effective not only will the 34 poultrymen enrolled in it be questioned as to their poultry losses during the summer, but a questionnaire will also be sent to all known poultry raisers in the entire county. With the results of the year compiled from all interested poultrymen in the state, the extension people believe that they will have the "dope" on the causes of the high losses sustained this year by some of the poultry people of the state.

the Thompson Machine, as examples of personal government, built up by those who took an active part in government, while others failed to take any part of or interest in politics.

Dr. Myers said in his opinion the outstanding achievement of the Wilson administration was the Federal Reserve Bank act but that it required many years of progress to accomplish that fine piece of legislation.

He spoke of the discussions from time to time of national elections every four years upsetting business has resulted in some advocating extending the term of the president to six years. The speaker argued that the election arguments result in good in getting the people interested in the affairs of the country and that he would oppose extending the term of the president as that would be sure to lead to more amendments or attempts to amend the constitution. He argued that we should stand by and enforce the amendments that we have before we adopt any more.

Dr. Myers in conclusion said that it required 30 to 40 years to solve the currency question and that it might require that to solve the prohibition question and therefore there were sufficient amendments to the constitution at this time.

OBITUARY

William C. Matthews

William C. Matthews died at his country home, near Hockessin, on Sunday night. He was 67 years of age. Private services were held this afternoon at his home, at 3 o'clock, and further services were held at 4 o'clock, at the Chapel at Brandywine Cemetery. The Reverend Harold E. Mr. Matthews retired in 1921 after 34 years of service with the Du Pont Company. At the time of his retirement he was assistant to the vice-president in charge of sales of the explosives department. He had a magnificent country home and farm near Hockessin, the management of which he actively directed. He was president of the Delaware Poultry Association and did much in the rapid building of that organization.

Mr. Matthews is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mae L. Matthews, whose maiden name was Dennison, and three children, two daughters, the Misses A. Louise and Margaret, who resided at home, and one son, Paul D., employed by the Du Pont Company at Parlin, N. J.

Delaware, and a deed from the Council of "The Council of Newark" shall convey to the purchaser of such ground, or grounds and buildings, as full and complete a title to said premises, in fee simple or otherwise, as if the same was executed by the said owner thereof; and it shall be the duty of the said Council of "The Council of Newark," out of the purchase money of said ground, or grounds and buildings so sold, to pay the costs arising from said process and sale to the parties entitled thereto respectively, and to retain the amount of such assessment, with accrued interest thereon, as aforesaid; the residue of said purchase money, if any, shall be deposited by the said "The Council of Newark" in some Bank or Trust Company in the Town of Newark, Delaware, to the credit of the owner or owners of the properties so sold, or the said Council of "The Council of Newark" may, at its option, proceed forthwith to collect such assessment or assessments, and the accrued interest thereon, in the manner now provided for the collection of delinquent taxes levied by the Council of "The Council of Newark," for town purposes, under an Act entitled "An Act to Reincorporate the Town of Newark," being Chapter 175, Volume 19, Laws of Delaware, and all Acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto, and under an Act entitled "An Act to Provide for the Collection of Taxes levied and assessed on real property and persons within the Town of Newark, Delaware," being Chapter 419, Volume 22, Laws of Delaware, or any other Act now or hereafter enacted providing for the collection of taxes in said Town of Newark.

It was brought to the attention of the Council that water from two properties in the vicinity of the Pennsylvania station was draining into the street and holding up the work of laying the curb at that point. Sewer connections have been laid to the curb on these properties, but have not been connected. The Mayor was ordered to consult legal counsel on the point of joining these properties to the sewer and to act on the suggestion and authority of the council.

The Council voted authorization to the Mayor to borrow such funds as might be necessary to meet obligations for the month of October. This authorization is made necessary by the State Bank examiners.

A communication was read from Platt and Cohen regarding telephone poles removed from their property when the town replaced them with poles of their own. It was decided that the poles removed were property of Platt and Cohen, and should be returned to them.

Councilman Lovett expressed appreciation and thanks of the Methodist Church for the light service rendered during their campaign.

The chairman of the street committee was ordered to have mowed slightly weeds on a property on Main street.

The Council voted a $10 increase in salary to Jacob Shaw. The Treasurer reported a balance of $2,953.78 on October 1, and fines from the Alderman amounting to $71.
