LOSSES DURING WAR OF FRENCH UNIVERSITIES

Account of the Sacrifices of the French Students

Editors Note.—The following is an abstract of an address delivered by Pierre Maury at the Student Volunteer Convention in Des Moines, Iowa. The address was delivered in French. It shows the attitude which the French students took toward the war, and is, on that account, of interest to college men.

The sacrifice which France made during the war was one of great gravity, importance, and solemnity. It was not a small portion of France, it was the entire country, which found itself from the very beginning engaged in the great struggle. All physically fit men from twenty to forty-eight years of age were immediately mobilized, and the majority of those above the latter age came to know the awfulness of the front, the cruel solitude, the daily sacrifice of life. Now we have emerged impoverished from this struggle with over 1,500,000 killed. No other nation can point to such heavy losses; four per cent of the entire population of France lies in the cemeteries of the great battle-fields. For long years to come, the entire history of the country will be dominated materially, morally, and spiritually, by the tragic fact of this great drama. For years to come, there shall always be before us, but a few miles distant from the capital, the desolate spectacle of death. But, nevertheless, it has been a privilege during this time of struggle to have communed with all that is best in the soul of France, and to have felt the inextinguishable throbbing of a magnificent ideal.

During the war the students did not separate themselves from the mass of the people, and did not wish to be regarded as a separate class. They threw themselves into the conflict, and were in the mud of the trenches and in the elation of the attack shoulder to shoulder with the most humble, the most ignorant. They have become acquainted with all that is great in the soul of the people, and have experienced a love for the throng. Many remained privates during the entire war. They suffered and died like the rest, and the proportion of losses was greater, for many of them had the costly privilege of being under-officers. One fourth of them did not return from the war. Of the approximately five hundred men who attended "L' Ecole Normale Supérieure de Paris," between the years 1908 and 1917, 146 have been killed; of the classes of 1914, 1915, and 1916, 161 went to the front, 81 were killed or reported missing, 64 were wounded, and 18 taken prisoners. You will understand by these simple figures something of the heroism of our university students, and of the irreparable losses which have been inflicted in the ranks of the leaders of thought in France and even throughout the world.

When you think of France, therefore, think of the France of Verdun and you will have the most truthful picture of her: her tenacity, her idealism, her spirit of sacrifice.

Footlights Club To Give Benefit

On the evening of Friday, March 5, the Footlights Club will hold a benefit performance for the Delaware College Review. The show will take the form of a minstrel of the old fashioned type made new by novel treatment. Applicants for positions in the cast of the show are requested to give their names to any of the club officers and to present at the same time a short written statement as to what they can do. The final tryouts will be held the early part of next week, and are open to everyone, whether members of the club or not. Prizes will be offered for the best performers.

It is requested that every student take a careful note of these tryouts so that the best possible selections will be made and that no one will be overlooked. As this show is for the benefit of the Review, it is requested that everyone work to make it a success.

No applicant will be considered if his application is received later than Thursday at four o'clock.

Health Association To Be Organized

The formation of a Delaware Public Health Association is scheduled for the State House in Dover, March 10 at 10:30 o'clock, and Delaware College is asked to take part in the meeting. Mr. C. H. Wells, the Special Health Commissioner, is arranging for the meeting. This is a cause with which it will be well for every Delaware College man to align himself.

Wolf Chemical Club Hears Talk On Sugar

The regular meeting of the Wolf Chemical Club was held on Thursday evening, February 12th, in the Lounge in Old College. Mr. Whitney of the duPont Co., who was to be the speaker of the evening, was unable to be present, and, in his absence, Prof. Firman Thompson, Dean of Engineering, gave a very interesting talk on "Sugar." Before coming to Delaware College, Prof. Thompson was intimately connected with sugar production, and therefore was able to give a clear outline of the various processes through which the raw product must go before it is finally refined and made ready for use. Following this talk, a short business session was held in which it was decided to make a special effort to stimulate interest in the society and its meetings among the chemists and chemical engineers of the college. Refreshments, consisting of cocoa and cakes were served.

Footlights Meeting Postponed

The Footlights Club was unable to hold its regular meeting last night as scheduled, but it will be held next Tuesday evening when an interesting program will be presented. Professor Dutton will tell of the early American plays, and the final plans for the benefit performance to be held on March 5, will be presented. This performance will be followed shortly afterwards by the first regular Footlights Show. Everyone interested is requested to attend.

Tonight the big blue team goes up against the hardest team on the schedule—the University of Pennsylvania. Every student or alumnus who can buy, borrow, beg, or steal the price of admission and carfare, is expected to be on the job by 8 o'clock. The big team has proved itself loyal to the college in fourteen successive games and by weeks of tedious practice. Now is the big chance for the college to prove itself loyal to the team. The five will need the support of everyone who can get into Weightman Hall. Come out and do the best from the time the whistle blows until the game is over. Everybody be ready at 8 o'clock with "a big Delaware Yell for the team."

Address Tomorrow By Michael Dorizas

Michail Dorizas, a professor at the University of Pennsylvania, will be the speaker at the meeting of the Engineering Society tomorrow evening. The meeting will start promptly at 6:45. Professor Dorizas' address will be illustrated with lantern slides. As this meeting is of interest to students of all departments, the Engineering Society is inviting all the members of the students body and of the Faculty to be present.

Professor Dorizas is a man of international reputation, both as an athlete and as a scholar. He holds the Intercollegiate wrestling championship, and he has distinguished himself at the Olympic Games. He was a delegate to the Peace Conference at Paris.

Research Work In Engineering

The Engineering Experiment Station of the University of Illinois has sixteen research graduate assistantships open to graduates of approved universities and technical schools for research work in engineering, physics, and applied chemistry. Appointment must be accepted for two consecutive collegiate years, at the end of which the Master of Science degree will be conferred if all requirements have been met. Assistantships carry $500 stipends and are free from all fees except matriculation and diploma fees. Application must be made to the Director not later than the first day of March to become effective the following September.

Council Dance On February 28

On February 28, the third Student Council Dance will be held in Old College. Plans are now being completed for the dance, and, from the indications, it will be a most enjoyable affair. The proceeds of the dance are to be given to the Review to aid them in meeting the costs of publication, so increased this year. The dance will be limited to seventy-five couples. The tickets will be placed on sale soon in order to give all students an opportunity to attend the dance. The price of the tickets is $1.50.

BLUE AND GOLD QUINTET VICTORS IN THREE GAMES

INVASION OF PENNSYLVANIA RESULTS IN DEFEAT OF GETTYSBURG, DICKINSON, AND F. AND M.

Gettysburg
After a rousing send-off last Thursday, the big Blue and Gold squad left for a three-day invasion of Pennsylvania. The invasion resulted in three more victories added to the long list. The team had a nine-hour ride to Gettysburg, then took the floor immediately against its opponent.

Coach Shipley started the old five. The team not only succeeded in handing Gettysburg the first home defeat of their season, but defeated them by the most decisive score that has been rolled up on them on their home court in five years. The Gettysburg floor is very small and the team had hard work getting the passing game to work. As it was, the fast playing of the three big men, Sank, Alec, and Gray had rolled up the total of 15 points, whereas "Bess" and "Frankie" had turned the opponents back with 5 points when the first half ended.

The second half was closely contested. Delaware continued to play the steady game, which assured a good lead. The close guarding held the Gettysburg team to one field goal in this half. Field goals by "Alec," "Sank," and Gray together with Gray's foul shooting kept Delaware in the lead.

Gettysburg was dangerous at only one stage and that was when Baker, their star, through his clever foul shooting and a field goal, put his team within four points of Delaware. Shipley's five, however, soon had a commanding lead of 10 points, which it maintained.

Doctor Mitchell Tells Of Lincoln

As last Thursday was the anniversary of Abraham Lincoln's birth, it was particularly appropriate that Dr. Mitchell should tell in chapel some little known aspects of the great President's life. Dr. Mitchell treated briefly of the life of Lincoln under three distinct heads.

He first explained the "Historical background" of the man telling of his early life spent in slave territory, and his later boyhood spent in regions free from slavery. He thus had the opportunity of seeing the slave question from both sides, and as a consequence

Dickinson
After a morning's rest in Gettysburg the team ploughed its way through the heavy snow-fall to the town of Carlisle, the seat of Delaware's old rival Dickinson.

Coach Shipley, in order to save his first string men, started the game with Twoes and Keith at forwards instead of G. Carter and Alexander, and Rothrock in place of Wills.

The game was fast from start to finish and the fine work of referee Kennedy did much to keep it fast and clean. Delaware upon the toss up jumped into a lead through the clever work of McCaughan, and foul shooting by Twoes. The three reserve players in the line-up played exceptionally well together and the first half ended with the score 17 to 11 in favor of Delaware.

The clever playing of Kreps, the Dickinson center, and the fine guarding of Minker kept the score down for Dickinson. Coach Shipley shot his regulars into the game for the second half. From that moment on, the game was a walk-over for Delaware. The lanky forwards scored from all positions and "Alec" and Gray were matched by "Sank" who bagged six field goals. Even "Bess" Carter and Rothrock slipped up the floor to bag a two pointer on long shots.

The general team work was good and the passing was excellent. The opponents were held to four field goals by the clever guarding of Rothrock, Wills, and Carter and by the fast covering and floor work of the three big scorers. Twoes looked good in the first half bagging two field goals and six out of ten fouls. Keith also played a fine game.

Kreps and Minker starred for Dickinson. The game was fast, and despite the large score, was interesting in that real basketball was shown.

The score:

Other Interests

In his recent review of collegiate journalism, Dr. Vallandigham made the criticism that other college interests are "decidedly and unfortunately" being sacrificed to sports in the college papers. This criticism deserves the attention of college students. Since this tendency is shown in the college papers, there must be some reason for it, deeper and more fundamental than is to be found in the papers themselves. The papers represent, within reasonable limits, their college communities. Certainly they are not all in league to over-advertise sports and to sacrifice other interests for sports. No, other interests are "sacrificed," only because those other interests are non-existent.

Since, then, as seen by able critics, certain legitimate interests are lacking in the colleges, it might be worth while to determine just what they include.

They are evidently the more "intellectual" interests which the college man is expected to have, and they include questions of good taste and the like. They are the interests which formerly sustained literary societies and similar organizations.

But perhaps, after all, the lack of these interests is not so much a flaw in the college as it is an evidence of a new development in education. Perhaps the students of the present day obtain in the class room what former students obtained from outside activities. Perhaps, too, the sports which hold such a prominent place in the colleges, have actually displaced some of these other interests as means of developing men, and of forming character and personality.

The question is one which cannot easily be answered. Fair judgment can be made only after a considerable period of time, and after careful study. Meanwhile, however, it is a problem that is of the utmost importance to the colleges and one that deserves the serious and unprejudiced thought of every college student.

That Will Beabout All

The stranger walked in at the Newark Y. M. C. A. and inquired of the janitor, "Is Mr. Bebout?" "Yes, he is," said the janitor, "but he'll Bebout again in a few minutes." "Are they going to have boxing here this evening?" "Yes there will Beabouts here this evening." "How long will they Bebout?" Just then they heard foot-steps outside. "There," said the janitor, "I think that's Bebout now; let me peep out and see." But he never peeped for the stranger crowned the poor kookoo with an Indian Club.

Intercollegiate

Brown—There is a movement on foot at Brown University to found a Brown University School of Sociology in China. This movement has received renewed impetus as a result of the Des Moines conference.

Harvard—Having met the conditions imposed by the General Education Board, Harvard is assured of a new graduate school of Education. A total endowment of two million for the new school is now practically assured.

Carnegie Tech—The Arts School is arranging extensive plans for its annual ball and this year's affair promises to outshine all others in its beauty and extravagance of design. The ball will be termed "Frolic des Vanities," and an "extravaganza" of unusual merit is anticipated.

Kansas State College—A campaign has been started among some of the students of the college in an effort to abolish the use of slang and bad English.

Penn State—Ex-president Wm. H. Taft has accepted the nomination to Phi Kappa Phi, which was granted him in absentia by the chapter at Penn State.

N. Y. U.—New York University receives considerable publicity through pictures of college life taken for the weekly news features of many film companies. Scenes around the campus appeared seven times in the last nine weeks, it is reported.

Value of Latin Shown In High School Test

An efficiency test in English vocabulary was given recently to the students in the two upper classes at the Wilmington High School. Twenty-five words of Latin derivation were given to be spelled and defined. The pupils' papers were then graded and grouped according to the amount of Latin studied by each, with the following result:

Number of Pupils	Number Years in Latin	Average Grade in Spelling	Average Grade in Definition
31	0	57.5	17.4
11	less than 2	63	31.5
45	2	64.5	41
20	2½	68.7	58.1
11	3	76.4	59
12	3½	79	64

In commenting on this result, the school paper says, "This seems to indicate that the study of Latin has a very definite influence upon a student's knowledge of his own tongue."

The team rode nine hours and then won. Hats off to the team.

Coach Shipley is to be congratulated. He played his men "wisely and well" and he looks out "for his own."

British Women Seek For World Federation

Three distinguished British university women, Prof. Caroline F. E. Spurgeon, Dr. Winifred Cullis, and Mrs. Ida Smedley MacLean, are visiting the United States in the interests of a world federation of college women. This federation is backed by many of the leading educators in America. In a tentative constitution for the federation, its purpose is defined "to promote understanding and friendship between the university women of different nations and thereby further their interests and develop sympathy and mutual helpness between the peoples of the world." The federation provides for the interchange of students and professors between the countries represented.

It is expected that in the United States the movement to federate will be fully carried out when once the college women have learned of it. Miss Spurgeon, Dr. Cullis, and Mrs. MacLean have arranged tours to all the leading colleges for women in the country to make all the students acquainted with the plans of federation.

C. B. Shaffer Suggests French Scholarship

C. B. Shaffer, a former student of Delaware College in the class of 1911, now holds the position of French representative of the Export Department of the Barrett Company of New York. Writing from Paris on January 24, he says that he is trying to work out a plan for a reciprocal scholarship for Delaware College and the Sorbonne, with which he has been identified. He states that he has a sincere friend in Mr. Georges Gerald, Deputie from the Department of Charente, who will help in this matter. Mr. Shaffer gave up his own scholarship in The Sorbonne to become Superintendent of roads for the Base Section No. 2, the Bordeaux Area, the largest the American Army had in France. Here his engineering ability, developed at Delaware College, told immediately.

"Alma Mater" Music To Appear Soon

The "Alma Mater" will come from the printer in a few days in its final sheet music form. The music, which has never been published in its present style before, will enhance the rare melody of the Delaware song. This edition of the "Alma Mater" is being published by the "Review" and it now remains with the student-body to make it a success. Every Delaware man loves the old song. Its music thrills him. But few have a copy of it. That is why the Review has undertaken to publish this edition, so that every loyal Delawarean can have a good copy of the song of the Blue and Gold. In this issue is a form on which to send orders for copies; or if anyone does not care to use the form they may just send the money to the Review. The price is thirty-five cents, and the edition is limited. Send for your copy today! This is your last chance.

Chess Team Loses To Brandywine Club

Friday, the thirteenth of February proved to be a "hoodoo" for the Delaware College Chess Team. In the first match played this collegiate year, they lost to the strong Brandywine Chess Club of Wilmington. The score was 3 to 2.

W. T. Broughall captained the Delaware Team in the absence of J. F. O'Neill. He was pitted against Dr. T. H. Norton, supposedly the strongest player in the Brandywine organization. Dr. Norton is a graduate of Cornell and Heidelberg Universities, and was for fourteen years American Consul in Turkey. Dr. H. H. Morris was captain of the Victorious Brandywine Team. In addition to those contesting in match play, there were several Brandywine players who were engaged in informal matches with Delaware players.

The score:

Brandywine
1. Dr. T. H. Norton	1
2. C. L. Reid	1
3. F. C. Zeisberg	0
4. Dr. H. H. Morris, Capt.	1
5. J. H. Emmons	0

2. A. Johnson	0
3. R. H. McMullen	1
4. W. D. Smith	0
5. Stanley Loomis	1

Following the match, the Brandywine Club invited the local club to play a return match in Wilmington. This invitation was accepted, and it is likely that the match will be played on March 20th.

Manager Minker of Dickinson proved to be a wonderful host. His arrangements were appreciated and the stay at Dickinson was a most enjoyable one.

Fouls committed—Delaware 14, Dickinson 14

Referee—Williams.

F. & M. Game

The long hard trip was ended in great shape when Shipley's tossers put the rolls under the F. and M. team by a score of 32 to 28. Once again the usually fast game played by the Blue and Gold was hampered by the small floor and the numerous jump balls. The score would have been larger had not the referee ruled out three Delaware field goals.

The first half was opened with a rush, F. and M. taking the lead on two fouls. G. Carter tied it up with two free tosses. With this initial scoring the team work started. "Sank," "Alec," and Gray all played brilliant games and by scoring a field goal apiece and by fast floor work, they managed to keep a small lead. During the first half G. Carter's foul shooting was excellent. With a final rush Delaware managed to finish the first half on the long end of a 16 to 11 score.

The second half was featured by the fast work of "Alec" in getting the ball going after the tip off. Gray poled a beautiful field goal and "Sank" slipped through a "snow bird" for two points. G. Carter's clever work from the foul mark kept Delaware on top and she was never headed. With about ten minutes to play "Alec" in an effort to reach the ball, bumped the referee and was straightway put out of the game; the first time he has ever been banished in an inter-collegiate contest. An argument followed with F. and M. having the best of it in that "Alec" was "out" and two free throws given to F. and M. Keith went in for "Alec" and during the remainder of the game his work was the feature. He was everywhere and proved an excellent target for the accurate passes of the Delaware guards. Near the end of the game, with the pleadings of "Alec" and the rest of the squad on the bench ringing in their ears "Sank" and Gray dropped through a field goal apiece and Gray added a straight string of fouls and the game was won.

To pick a star in this game

would be unfair to all who took part. The general team work and fundamental basketball drilled into the players by Coach Shipley carried the team through despite the handicaps. Nothing has been said about the guarding. It was as usual very "tight." "Frank" and "Bess" held F. and M. to one field goal in the second half and did some smashing damage to the F. and M. attack. It might also be well to note that G. Carter tossed 18 out of 23 fouls. Garvey starred for F. and M.
