

Cooch's Bridge and Glasgow

Mildred Ludwig, Correspondent
Phone: Newark 8-8496

Reports of vandalism at the construction site of the Old Apostolic Lutheran Church are deplorable in view of the enthusiastic, hard work each Saturday by volunteers in the congregation. Not only do most local members of the church turn out, but carloads of church members come each week from Virginia, Washington, and Maryland.

Interment for the late Mrs. Isabel C. Anderson, who died recently at the Chestnut Hill Road home of her son, J. L. Anderson, was in Lorrain, Ohio.

Localities in the news: Miss Helen Leasure of Glasgow received her GOC observer wings at the National Guard Armory last night. R. L. Folsinger and Mrs. W. E. Morgan, Jr., have been appointed to the nominating committees of the Greater Newark Little League Association. Thomas Nowell was named road chairman of the Delaware Road Club, which met at the Rod and Gun Clubhouse at Smalley's Dam Friday night.

Falling Lake

It's a shame that this lovely lake, which supplies not only the Pennsylvania Railroad with water, but also several communities, including Newark (when summer consumption is high), is fast filling with sand from a nearby pit. Efforts over a period of years have been made to halt this, but to no avail. The water depth is only inches in places, and the fishing and boating for the many lakeside cottagers and club members.

Mrs. Eva Scott of the old Post Road is in room 416 at the Delaware Hospital following surgery performed last week.

The Cooch's Bridge Chapter, DAR, will be hostesses for the state meeting Feb. 12 at the Hotel du Pont. The chapter will meet Saturday afternoon at 1:45 p.m. at the home of Mrs. R. W. Helm on Orchard Road. Committee chairmen will submit their reports at the annual meeting. Delegates for the state meeting and the Continental Congress in April will be elected.

Route 40 News: The state highway department has installed a new permanent counting station along the highway west of Bear. The first record for this station showed a daily average of 17,937 vehicles, the largest single day being Sunday, Dec. 26, when 26,009 were counted.

The application for the planned suburban residential development of Brookmont, on the northwest side of Route 40, a mile below Bear Station, has been turned down by the county regional planning commission for re-study.

Fire gutted the interior of the David Boulden residence, owned by Edw. W. Cooch, last Tuesday morning. The Newark and Christiana Fire Companies promptly arrived at the two-story house on South Street Extension, but the firemen found the blaze well underway.

Two tiny infants were removed from the living room, where the fire originated, by Mrs. Boulden and her daughter.

Precator Presbyterian Church. The formation of a Westminster fellowship has been accomplished with the assistance of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Stevens, who come each week from their home near Lincoln University, where Mr. Stevens is a theological student. Mrs. Stevens is an accomplished artist and organizer.

The Sunday school is growing by leaps and bounds from an average of 25 students to the enrollment of 31 pupils attending Sunday school. Eight-year-old Jimmy Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Allen of near Porter Station—recently recovered from hepatitis—is down with chicken pox. Mrs. Allen, who recently gave premature birth to a baby girl, is hospitalized at the Dorchester Memorial with hepatitis.

West Park Place School. The West Park Place PTA will meet Thursday, Feb. 3, following a brief business meeting. Mr. Wilder's orchestra of 4th, 5th and 6th graders will present a half-hour musical program. Parents will then have an opportunity to meet the teachers in their home rooms.

St. Paul's Church Increases Council At Annual Meeting

Six Elected In Council Boost From Nine To 12; Rev. Hagus Cites Gains

The church council was expanded from nine to 12 men at the annual congregational meeting of St. Paul's Lutheran Church last Sunday night; six men were elected to the council, and annual reports for 1954 were overshadowed by an announcement that attendance records were broken that morning at both the church service and Sunday school.

The annual meeting, preceded by a covered-dish supper, was held in the Masonic Hall, Delaware Avenue near Haines Street, where worship services are conducted.

The men elected to the council are: Elwood Bittenbender, S. Kennedy Fell, and F. William Jahns, Jr., all reelected for three years; William Lambert for a new three-year term; Louis Kraft for two years, and Robert W. Rohm for one year.

The report of the Rev. Howard S. Hagus, pastor, showed membership gains in three categories for the calendar year: Communicant members, up from 115 to 182; confirmed members, up from 147 to 209; and baptized members, up from 219 to 331.

Mr. Rohm, superintendent of the Sunday school, reported an enrollment of 173 up to Dec. 31.

Other reports were given by the church treasurer, Charles Dickson; Sunday school treasurer, William Purke; for the Brotherhood by Theodore E. Huggler, president, and Carl Karlsson, treasurer; and for the Women of St. Paul's by Mrs. Elizabeth Steltz, president, and Mrs. Mary Paterlund, treasurer; for the Luther League by Miss John Fell, president, and for the every-member canvass by Dr. Russell Stauffer, chairman.

Mr. Hagus will install the new councilmen during next Sunday's 11 a.m. service.

Local FFA Chapter Starts Commercial Hatchery Project

W. R. Kent Supervises Vocational Agriculture Program For Students

The Newark chapter, Future Farmers of America, has started operation of a hatchery project for the season. The hatchery, located in the high school workshop, is designed for commercial hatching on order, and is affiliated with the Delaware Hatchery Cooperative.

Under the supervision of William R. Kent, agriculture instructor, the students in vocational agriculture operate the project similar to a regular commercial hatchery.

The boys on the hatchery committee are Thomas Carter, Ronald Abrams, Gene Lloyd and Paul Abrams. These students carry most of the responsibility for the success of the hatchery.

The equipment consists of two battery brooders with a capacity of 300 chicks, and a hatching incubator with a total capacity of over 7500 eggs. Hatching eggs are obtained from reliable, local poultry farms.

The hatchery project was started in 1940, with an initial capacity of 300 chicks, and a hatching incubator under the supervision of Theodorus Warrington, former agriculture instructor. The present equipment was purchased two years ago.

Proceeds from the hatchery business are credited to the FFA treasury.

Elementary School Teaching Vocation Subject Of Survey

Elizabeth Lloyd Conducts Study In Requirements For Elementary Teaching

What does it take to make a good elementary school teacher?

Some surprisingly varied answers to this question have been supplied through the findings of a recent survey conducted by Dr. Elizabeth C. Lloyd of the University of Delaware's school of education.

Dr. Lloyd is adviser for the university's conversion program, designed to train college graduates with no previous college training or experience for certification in the state elementary schools. Recent questionnaires disclosed that almost anyone with the desire to teach can be trained, regardless of age, education background, or previous vocation.

From 25 replies, it was learned that 11 present candidates are from 20-30 years of age, nine from 30-40, and two over 50.

Among the prospective teachers are those with undergraduate majors in speech, music, mathematics, home economics, sociology, English, theology, chemistry, biology, mechanical engineering, physical education, history, and library science.

Present vocations include theatre cashier, speech therapist, high school teacher, football coach, sales promotion executive, college teacher, secretary, librarian, research assistant, and social worker.

Dr. Lloyd has conducted this study in the hope that other persons who may be considering a change from their present vocations to the teaching profession will be encouraged by the success of present students. Registration for the second semester course work in the conversion program will be held Feb. 1, but Dr. Lloyd will be happy to make special appointments at any time with persons interested in detailed information.

Opportunities for positions in the teaching field are excellent. Many openings are available within the State of Delaware.

During a five year period which began in 1953-54, it has been calculated that 871 more teachers will be needed in the public schools of Delaware. This requirement is needed to meet expanded enrollments.

In addition, it is necessary to replace approximately 10% of the state's teaching staff annually. During the five year period in question an average loss of 230 teachers can be expected.

Perkins Named On Board Of Dairy Advisory Group

Dr. John A. Perkins, president of the University of Delaware, has been elected to membership on the advisory board of the Philadelphia Dairy Council, Inc., a non-profit agency sponsored jointly by milk producers and distributors.

The purpose of the board is to keep the work of the council on a high educational level.

There's a new zip to Dynaflow*

— and better gas mileage to boot!

This is something you really ought to try.

Even though you may be familiar with earlier versions of Dynaflow Drive—either from personal experience or from hearsay—you owe it to yourself to press the pedal of a 1955 Buick with Variable Pitch Dynaflow.

Just as simple as ever to operate—easier, in fact, with the new positioning of the lever. Just as smooth as ever, with nary a lag, halt or hesitation throughout the speed range.

But brother!—hang on to your hat when you call for action!

Because that's what you get, instantly.

Because twenty power blades inside the very heart of this wondrous automatic transmission switch their pitch for getaway performance—much like the airplane's propeller is angled for take-off.

It's as simple as that—but far more thrilling than words can tell.

And it's a big boon to your gasoline money, too. For, just as the plane's propeller changes pitch aloft for greater fuel efficiency in cruising, so the Dynaflow "propellers" change pitch to deliver a lot more miles per gallon in normal driving and cruising.

Come in and try it—this week. You'll find it harnessed to the highest V8 horsepowers in Buick history—and housed in the bold new styling that says Buick and nothing but.

*Dynaflow Drive is standard on Roadmasters, optional at extra cost on other Series.

Delaware Food Market Report

By Anne Holberton
Consumer Information Specialist

Meat

You can find great economy in the lamb sales featured by some Delaware stores this week. Seasonal price rises due in the months just ahead make it advantageous to store extra lamb in the freezer or locker.

Plentiful pork continues to be a "best buy" in meat and with careful buying genuine bargains will result. In addition to ham and shoulder, pork loins are offered at very low prices. Only the middle of the pork loin (where the chops come from) is in great demand and at large discounts. Much tenderloin is included in the loin end and it makes a splendid small roast. The bony shoulder end actually contains 50 percent more meat than spareribs and costs much less.

Poultry and Eggs

Low egg prices are encouraging farmers to sell many hens which are being marketed as stewing chickens at depressed prices. Eggs remain inexpensive and stand out as one of the best food values of the week. Medium and large eggs are priced in correct proportion to their weight so either can be recommended.

Fresh Fruits

Citrus continues to be the "best buy" in fresh fruit. Florida oranges, grapefruit and tangerines are the lowest priced citrus but other good values are possible on California apples and temple oranges. Stayman and Red Delicious apples from nearby states are steady in price yet both are much cheaper than western grown apples.

Fresh Vegetables

Leafy greens are arriving in abundance from southern states and shoppers can choose from collards, kale, spinach and turnip tops, all low priced. The most favorable retail prices of the winter are appearing on mushrooms. Many root crops can be recommended this week as good buys. Included among them are parsnips, carrots, radishes and turnips. Keep in mind also the favorable prices on old crop cabbage, sweet potatoes from nearby states and white potatoes.

Look for lower prices on canned green beans and sweet corn with corresponding reductions in the frozen food department. Raisins and prunes are in plentiful supply with favorable prices.

Dry Groceries

THE ANSWER IS PRODUCTIVITY

With little attempt to understand the why of it, some nations look upon our achievement of the world's highest standard of living as a stroke of luck.

It isn't, of course. We have worked hard, risked much, produced much—the growth factor of our economy averages about 3% a year.

We have been able to produce more because of constant new technological developments, investments in new factories, management ability and employee skills.

We were once an underdeveloped country ourselves—and give our success-formula to any country that will accept it. And to maintain and strengthen it here at home, we can hope and work toward a long-range "tax program for economic growth" which will diminish present tax rates inequities and at the same time encourage economic growth and development.

Newark's Trick Horse

A local horse that can tell the number of past presidents of the United States, the number of states in the Union—a horse that can multiply, add, and subtract by bowing, shaking his head, and a horse that can dance—is owned by Col. J. Smith, Chaplain's Corps, U. S. Army, retired, 222 South Col. Avenue.

Princess, who is retired along with his owner, is an 18-year-old. I purchased him as a three-year-old," Col. Smith relates, "and because of his education by teaching him to pick up my handkerchief, hat, or glove—to lie down on command—to answer questions with a shake or nod of his head.

Annual C. of C. Dinner
James M. Tunnell, one of the leading members of the Delaware Association, will be the principal speaker this evening at the annual meeting of the Newark Chapter of the Commercial and Industrial Association of Commerce in Old College Hall.

Warren A. Singles, secretary, is in charge of dinner arrangements. A musical program will include selections by the Stausbach Orchestra and vocal numbers by the Adelphi Quartette.

Legion Revue
The J. Allison O'Daniel Post of the American Legion will present a musical show at the Newark Theater next week, with Ray Kingham, John Fader, Griff Wayne, Barrett, Guy Hanes, and Eddie Parlett as featured performers.

Ballad singers include Wesley Maysey, Phil Meyers and Mrs. Musselman, and the cast of more than 100 will also include a number of grade and high school students.

Tea Room Addition
The Blue Hen Tea Room addition has been opened to the Newark public Monday.

Reynolds took charge of the room in 1926 and under her management, the business has increased until it has outgrown the quarters. The addition was made with the acquisition and building of the old Motherall room.

Baptist Green Fire
The Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Company responded to a fire at the home of Eliza Lewis at Baptist Green, just outside of Newark, Monday morning.

The fire, which started from a defective chimney flue, had gotten started before the alarm was sounded, and the house was burned to the ground. The building, but the contents, was insured.

Miscellaneous
At the movies it was Joan Crawford in "The Intimate Stranger" and Lloyd Lloyd in "Welcome to the New World."

The new De Soto Straight Eight was advertised "Under $1,000;" the five-room bungalow with cellar, garage, and 5 acres of ground near Newark was still for sale at $3,000 on easy terms; and chuck roast was 25 cents a pound.

University Drama Group To Present Final Major Play

Robert Cornelius Directs Prize-Winning Production "Death Of A Salesman"

Rehearsals for the University Drama Group production of Arthur Miller's "Death of a Salesman," which is scheduled for Mitchell Hall at 8:15, Feb. 10, 11 and 12, are progressing under the direction of Robert Cornelius.

The group's choice for their final major production of the season opened on Broadway in 1949, starring Lee J. Cobb and Mildred Dunnock, and won the Drama Critics Circle Award for the year.

It portrays the tragedy of Willie Loman's inability to face reality, his inability to self-evaluate his failure in life, and the consequent effect upon his wife and two sons. There are lighter moments in the drama, as the action flashes back to the main characters' younger days, and an especially written musical score follows the varying moods of the play.

Willie Loman and his wife Mildred will be played by Edward Mulcahy and Mary Ann Hartman, the two straight leads in the recent production of "Harvey." Their two sons will be played by Daryl Calder and Ernest Sutton.

Mr. Sutton is well-known to Mitchell Hall audiences for his complete versatility in many roles last season.

Mr. Calder, a newcomer to the group, has been an active member of the University of Pittsburgh Pitt Players, the Pittsburgh Civic Opera and the Beaver Valley Opera Association. His wife, Eleanor, has also been cast as Jenny, the secretary, Mrs. Calder took part in college theater at Erskine College, S.C.

Another married couple included in the cast are Earl and Geraldine Wyatt, both well-known for previous UDG roles. Mr. Wyatt appears as Willie's older brother, while Mrs. Wyatt takes the part of The Woman.

Willie's next door neighbor and undoubted best friend will be played by Alan Duff, recipient of the Critic Judge's special award in last year's Delaware Play Festival. His son is being played by Daniel McVey, a former E32 player who has also had experience in summer theater at the University of Virginia and at the Cape Playhouse.

Hugh Pendexter III, who, along with Mr. McVey and Director Cornelius, is active in both the Brandywine and the Wilmington Opera Association, is to play the part of Willie's boss.

Two new young members of the group will make their UDG debut as "light loves." They are Martha Bergh and Barbara Moehring. A guest actor, Thomas Waters, of the E32 Players, recently returned from three and a half years army service, will be remembered for his role of Joxer in "Juno and the Paycock." During his army days, he also appeared with the Presidio Players, in Monterey, California.

The Mitchell Hall box office opens next Wednesday and will be open daily, excluding the weekend, from 3:30 to 4:30 and 7 to 8.

Decline Of Able Science Teachers Topic At Meeting

Math-Science Conference Speaker Discusses Needs For Qualified Instructors

The supply of qualified science and mathematics teachers in secondary schools is declining, and the number of poorly prepared instructors is growing, Dr. Philip G. Johnson, chairman of nature, science, and conservation education at Cornell, said in addressing a conference of instructors on the local campus last week.

The shortage of students going into the biological sciences, and the complex, complicated, Dr. Johnson said, by the number of ill-prepared secondary school instructors who are "a potent influence on the post-high school plans of students."

In addition, high school teachers are often responsible for five or six classes, with little time between classes and a multitude of non-teaching duties.

For this, the Cornell professor said, they receive comparatively low pay and inadequate recognition. No early change in the trend of poorly prepared secondary science and math teachers is foreseen, the speaker continued, and thus many students who might be encouraged to enter such teaching fields will seek other careers.

The discussion groups were directed by Dr. Fred Somers, George Henry, Dr. G. Outhbert Wehner, and William V. Smith and Dean E. V. Arms of the faculty. Topics covered were the contributions which schools, colleges, business, and industry might make to improve quality of instruction, increase teacher recruits, and provide other assistance.

The meeting in Old College included a luncheon and afternoon session by Dr. William O. Pennington of the university's school of education.

Extension Division Offers Added Engineering Course

A course in advanced engineering drawing has been added to the University of Delaware's extension curriculum, according to Gordon C. Godfrey, associate director. Offered on Tuesday evenings in Evans Hall on the Newark campus, the study, under the direction of Professor Frank Zozzora, is particularly designed for persons interested in engineering design.

Students may register for the engineering course, as well as for other extension subjects, on Friday, Feb. 4, from 5 to 9 p.m. in Wilmington High School and on Saturday, Feb. 5, from 8:30 a.m. until 1 p.m. in Carpenter Field House.

The first meeting of Professor Zozzora's class will be held on Tuesday, Feb. 8.

Three members of the General Assembly—Senator Calvin R. McCulloch (D-Holloway Terrace), Speaker of the House James R. Quigley (D-New Castle) and Rep. B. Walter Johnson (D-Glasgow) attended and advised members on the program, including a referendum. The three-room school must be expanded by six more classrooms and one all-purpose room at an estimated cost of $240,000, a figure based on the estimate of $30,000 for each classroom, plus $60,000 for an all-purpose room.

JOHN R.C. CHURCH WOMEN PLAN MEETINGS

An informal group to be known as the Women of St. John's R.C. Church had their first get-together January 23. Rev. Francis J. Corbett presided over the group. He expressed the satisfaction of Rev. Leo W. O'Neil in having more than sixty women.

Report To Parents

by Dr. Martha M. Elliot Chief, Children's Bureau

You remember that old and very corny joke "What's the quickest way to spread news? Telephone, Telegraph, and Tell a Woman."

That came to the mind of the general secretary of the Family Service Association in Cleveland not long ago when he was puzzled how to get word to the people in trouble who might need the services of the society but who didn't know about them, or know where to turn for help. His own staff was not equipped to do a large scale information drive.

PTA Counsel

He went to the president of the Parent-Teacher Association Council for the help. Together they worked out a plan by which 15 volunteers were to visit 90 of the 130 local PTA presidents with information about the society's services.

These would inform their members of the society's services. It was agreed that the volunteers would go to the neighborhood where they might have need of the services. It was the idea of the pebble dropped in the pool, spreading the water out in greater and greater rings.

It was a good augury that every one of the first 15 women asked to do the job accepted the assignment.

Kits were prepared for the volunteers' use. One was for their own information, basic information on the agency's services, and another, how appointments were made, what fees were charged, and similar facts.

Also included in this kit was a set of one-page case histories, illustrating the kind of help the agency gave. Later, the volunteers said these were invaluable. When a PTA president, for instance, would mention a family or neighborhood problem, one volunteer said she could answer, "Oh, let me tell you about a problem similar to that and how the agency helped."

For the Presidents

The second kit of materials was to be given to the PTA presidents. It consisted of a printed, general interpretive folder about the Cleveland Family Service Association; a group of "human" charts giving some statistics about the number of people helped; reprints of several articles, such as the booklet, "The High Cost of Unhappy Living."

There were also suggestions as to how the PTA president might best bring this information before her membership. These included two pieces describing the family life education and the interpretive speech programs of the agency; a single mimeographed page, with drawings, portraying the various services of the agency; and a return-addressed post-card that the president could use to order quantities of the literature.

No High Pressure

Volunteers were not asked to do any high pressure selling of the agency, but simply to acquaint community leaders with the services that the agency offered, so that they could pass that information on to others, where it might eventually reach somebody who needed help.

The volunteers relate that it was a fascinating experience. Not only did the local PTA presidents know of families who could be helped immediately, and were immediately told about the agency's services, but the presidents were so interested they sometimes called in their neighbors, too, to hear the story of the agency's service.

More tangibly, within the next few months there were 2,000 requests for additional copies of the literature and requests for speakers at local PTA meetings.

Coach Harry Squatrito and his goals and a foul—and Martin was runner-up with six field goals and a free one.

Ten of the 11 Newark players in the line-up figured in the actual scoring with Joe Lehman cashing in for nine points; Wright Poffenberger, Bob Downes, and Larry Blasiotto, five apiece; Ed Chase and Lee Schaffer, four; and Capt. Bill Hiddleston and Burt Chase, two points apiece.

Newark is scheduled to play their second home game of the season on Friday night, with Claymont. On Tuesday, the Yellowjackets get another crack at Archmere—also at home—and on Thursday night Squatrito's cagers travel to Wilmington for a repeat engagement with Brown Vocation High School.

In the first meeting, Newark defeated the Bears, here, 58-40.

SPORTS FLASHES

Sporting
News
by J. G. Taylor Spink

Sports writers and fans have been loudly protesting against the prevalence of fouls called in basketball games. They particularly shout about the new bonus free throw. But Coach Eddie Hickey of the St. Louis University Billikens defends the bonus rule. It has, indeed, he says, caused more whistle-blowing than ever before. But in the long run, he believes it will be a betterment to the sport. It makes a penalty stiffer against the offender. As soon as the coaches realize this, he says, there will be less whistle-blowing.

In Hickey's opinion, the coaches themselves are to blame for the seemingly endless parade of players to the free throw line. Let them teach their boys, he says, not to commit mayhem.

Cheap Home Runs
To make cheap home runs even cheaper, Busch Stadium at St. Louis, for example, is to be minus the usual screen in front of the right field stands. Balls that use to go for doubles against that screen will now be homers. If such moves continue, the home run will tend to lose its meaning, and many pitchers will lose their arms.

Home runs should be offered only to those players who can swing hard enough to deserve them. It will be a little more risky this year giving ball players intentional walks. Under a new rule change, the catcher's box will be only 40 inches wide. And the catcher must stand with both feet inside the box until the ball leaves the pitcher's hand. Otherwise it's a balk.

Since the plate is 17 inches wide, it allows the catcher only 13 inches on each side of the plate in which to maneuver. Previously, the catcher's box flared out so that he could move eight feet to either side without committing a balk.

Mays vs. Musial
Manager Eddie Stanky of the Cardinals says he's not ready yet to get into any arguments over Leo Durocher's statement that Willie Mays is a better player than Stan Musial.

Stanky said: "When Willie Mays compiles the record that Musial has over the length of his career, he has been in the league then I'll talk about comparing them." As an afterthought, he added jokingly: "The only thing is that I wish Musial were only 22 years old."

Baseball managers ban golf for their players during the playing season. But Mavo Smith, the new Phillies manager, believes golf is a good conditioner. A player himself, in the low 80s, Smith says he'll not bat on off days during the season. "Where I object," he says, "is when the boys come from the golf course to the diamond and are not sharp for the ball game."

Stanky & Son
There will be two uniforms from Number 12 on them when the St. Louis Cardinals start spring training. But Manager Eddie Stanky, who will wear one of them, isn't too concerned about it. The other Number 12 will be Stanky's four-and-one-half-year-old son, Dickie. That's not particularly new, Leo Durocher's son Chris wears a Number 2 Giants' field wearing a Number 2 uniform just like his dad's.

The fact that the National League will play 59 more night games in 1955 than it did last summer doesn't bother the world's best night players. They were the best night players in the league in 1954, winning 31 night games while losing 19. They also have led the league in batting averages at night in three years out of the last four.

Water-Proofing
It's possible to wear waterproof gloves while procuring bait from the ice water of the minnow bucket, and perhaps it's possible to cast a cold, wet rod and reel with protective handgear. But we've always used the bare-handed methods for simplicity's sake. And those methods are cold ones.

Wild Method
Norman Wilder, Delaware's conservation director, conditions himself for the outdoor rigors of duck hunting—Norman does draw the line somewhere, and insofar as we know, studiously avoids winter fishing—by driving to the blind with the car heater blower on full blast of cold, early morning air whistling around the automobile interior. But from personal experience, that procedure just results in the occupants getting cold—quicker.

On the other hand, rolling out of a nice, warm automobile, into the fresh, frigid air beside a millpond, is a discouraging experience, and if the pickerel are slow in responding to the baited offering, the watcher at the bank can speedily tire of shivering, stamping his feet, and blowing on his numbed hands.

A fire helps, but there are a lot of intruding cold drafts on a windy, winter day, and you have to simulate a whirling dervish to stave off the chill breezing in from all quarters.

But that water-front, wintertime stand can be well worthwhile when the fish are willing.

There was a morning at the turn-of-the-century Stanley's Dam, when the ice fringed the shoreline and the float was still bobbing amid the ripples of that first cast when a hungry pickerel dragged it down.

In A Hurry
After some recent experience at the same station, the sight of that submerged float was a relief indeed, and so was the thrilling thrust of the fish against the slender rod. A round and a half golden-green pickerel bouncing on the shoreline leaves was followed by another—

Newark Jayvees Crush Elkton, Wm. Penn., Tiger Juniors For 4-Game Win Streak

Evidently relishing the first taste of victory in their initial win at Archmere, Coach Al Brayman's Jayvees returned to action last week to romp and stomp over the Elkton junior squad, 45-18; crushed the Wm. Penn. Colonials at New Castle by a score of 50-35 last Friday night; and wrapped up their fourth straight victory by overwhelming the A. I. duPont Baby Tigers on Tuesday evening, 57-25.

And all of this following four initial losses to Mt. Pleasant, P. S. duPont, Brown, and Conrad. The sparkling brand of basketball displayed by the Newark junior varsity should be a welcome factor in the Yellowjacket varsity campaigns to come.

Nels Ludlow led the Jayvees in the Elkton fray, with six field goals, while Bobby Conway was one point of the top scoring pace with 11.

Elkton was unable to score in the first quarter—mustered but two points in the second period—and the Jayvees were riding high on a 22-2 lead at the half.

Conway caught fire at New Castle, contributing 21 big points to the Newark cause with eight field goals and five out of six free shots.

John Heitzendorf, the runner-up in the scoring department with 11—ten of them, the competitive brand.

The Yellowjackets moved away from their opponents, out early in the opening period, outscoring them 17-7—demonstrating their superior offensive power in the second period, 13-8—and were overshadowed only in the third quarter. In the final period, it was Newark again, 14-7.

Ted Boutwell came through with a junior varsity cagers swamped the A. I. duPont junior Tigers last Tuesday night.

Ludlow was runner-up with five field goals and four free shots, while Conway totaled three of each for a total of nine.

POSTED
The Swede dropped in at the Post early this week for a morning cup of coffee and extended an invitation to accompany the Anderson father and two sons on a pickerel fishing expedition to the generally productive waters down Seaford-way on Saturday.

Swede came back last week-end, Axel said. "After catching 21 pike. And one of the pike weighed three and a half pounds. Come along. We'll build a fire on the bank, grill some steaks, heat up the old coffee can, and we'll live it up. You bring the steaks. And we'll catch some fish, too."

It sounded good. It still does, and we'd like to go were it not for the previous commitment. But maybe a change—indoors—on the hook. We've been out there with the Swede before—in January. And January fishing in Delaware leaves a lot to be desired.

Baby, It's Cold Outside
Watching a cork floating unerringly on the surface of a tumble of ice and extended an invitation to accompany the Anderson father and two sons on a pickerel fishing expedition to the generally productive waters down Seaford-way on Saturday.

Members of the All-State team were guests of honor at a special banquet table in the Gold Ballroom at the Hotel DuPont.

And another. For a couple of hours, the fishing was all that one could hope, and we came away after a busy day with a heart-warming string of pike, yellow perch, and great blue and silver crappie.

On another winter day, down at the Chester River, near Millington, the first cold cast was followed by a pickerel-like pickerel that weighed in at nearly four pounds.

The Other Side
There have been some rough ones, too. One, in particular, was a midnight, mid-winter sortie from the Fenwick Island clubhouse in quest of strippers in the icy, moonlit surf.

It was a beautiful night—and if possessed with the constitution and insulation of a particularly rugged polar bear, it could have been a pleasant experience. But we weren't, and it wasn't.

Only one member of the party was any colder—and he was upset and bounced around in the icy wash by a roaring reaker that came foaming up out of the ocean early in the night. But Pop Stretton kept treated, despite the deep-freeze treatment.

Sunrise disclosed the seawater freezing slushily on the reelpools, and we agreed with unanimity to call it a day—without a single strike.

Rip Smith and Marty Inden are a couple of local winter fishermen who persistently—and consistently, too—take fish under all manner of unpleasant weather conditions.

Rip employs the novel, bare-hook method, which has to be seen to be believed, while Inden is the more conventional, bait-fisherman.

Better Luck
Among the sports fans attending the annual WSBA banquet in Wilmington last Monday night was Newark's Sam Diehl—a customer who had been relegated to a miscellaneous table of singletons at the previous WSBA affair. A year ago, at the Wilmington Armory, the poor acoustics were not improved for Mr. Diehl when his companions—all strangers—stared a personal celebration during the course of the program.

Last Monday night, Hard-to-Discern Sam was back again—with no table reservation.

The diner at his elbow was Bob Trivits, Delaware's durable guard who was acclaimed "Delaware's Outstanding Athlete of 1954." And a good choice, too.

VFW Cagers Win Seventh Straight In Adult League

Leaders Stop Brookside 59-40 In Monday Night Card At Newark Armory

The league-leading VFW cagers wrapped up their seventh win in an unbeaten season last Monday night at the Newark Armory, defeating the Brookside squad, 59-40.

In other Adult Recreation Basketball League games played Monday night in Newark, the second place Main Streeters nipped the lowly Continentals, 29-27, in a surprising near thing; and the Shamrocks shaded the Guardsmen by two points for undisputed third place in the league standings, 39-37.

Next Monday night the Vets will be pressed to preserve their unbeaten 7-0 record when they face the strong Shamrocks in the second game of the evening, beginning at 8 o'clock.

Second place Main Street meets the win-less Brookside in the evening opener at 7 o'clock, and the National Guardsmen engage the Continentals in the wind-up at 9 p.m.

Ray Ciesinski, director of the Newark Recreation Association's adult basketball league, urges local sports fans to come out and witness some exciting basketball—at no charge—in the Newark Armory each Monday night.

Volunteer referees, particularly, are invited.

End-of-the-season playoffs will include the top four teams in the league, with the eliminations tests slated to begin Feb. 28.

A trophy will be awarded the playoff champions, Ciesinski states.

Hen Cagers Return To Action Feb. 5 At West Chester

Following the mid-year examination lull—from an athletic standpoint only, that is—the University of Delaware varsity cagers of Coach Whiz Wisniewski return to action next week with West Chester, away, on Saturday.

Stopped in their last two MAC outings by Haverford and the PMC Cadets, the Fighting Blue Hens take a 3-1 conference record against Swarthmore, away, on Wednesday, Feb. 9, and then play successive conference opponents in Haverford, Drexel and Ursinus.

Drexel's defending champions handed the Hens their first conference loss in the opener, and Delaware returned to unset Ursinus for their lone MAC victory to date.

Jarrell Scores 49x50 Tie For First In Trapshooting
L. L. Jarrell of Newark and George Cottrell, professional marksman from Wilmington, tied for first prize in the 50-100 yard target event in the Wilmington Trapshooters Association's registered open shoot Sunday.

A three-way tie also resulted for second position as William Barrow, Newark, Jeff Trader, Pocomoke City, Md., and C. L. McCallister, Wilmington, all shot 47x50.

LANCASTER LEADER
Hank Biasatti, 33, former first baseman for the Philadelphia Athletics, will manage Lancaster, of the Piedmont League, it was announced by Frank Spahr, general manager of the club.

Biasatti succeeds Lena Blackburn, who has been retained as scout for the Kansas City organization.

Bob Trivits Honored by WSBA As 1954 Outstanding Athlete

Blue Hens' Starting Guard For Past Three Campaigns Selected "Delaware's Outstanding Athlete Of Year" With WSBA Award Of John J. Brady Memorial Trophy

Bob Trivits, a starter at guard in every half of the game in three years of varsity competition with the University of Delaware's Fighting Blue Hens gridgers, was awarded the John J. Brady Memorial Trophy at the sixth annual Wilmington Sportswriters and Broadcasters Association banquet last Monday night as "Delaware's Outstanding Athlete of 1954."

Receiving the trophy as a result of his performance from the unsung, rarely noticed, but always hard-working guard post, is evidence enough of Trivits' athletic prowess. And the decision, too, reflects favorably upon members of the WSBA who saw more than the ends and ball carriers during Delaware's grid play, and who weighed the Hens' stalwart guard against the best individual performers in other events on the state sporting scene.

Nelson, Lude Agree
Delaware Head Coach Dave Nelson and Line Coach Mike Lude, along with the other 448 persons in the audience at the Hotel DuPont Gold Ballroom, were enthusiastic at the decision.

"Bob is the best guard I ever had," Nelson said. "And he's also one of the finest young men I know. The right man got the award."

And from Mike: "He's just about the hardest worker I've had the opportunity to coach. And I'm glad the award was made to a boy of such high ideals and character. It's one of the greatest thrills in coaching."

Trivits himself was most humble in his acceptance talk, after receiving the huge cup from George Frick, president of the WSBA, which annually selects the No. 1 athlete.

Thanks
"It's a great honor and I'd like to thank the Wilmington Sportswriters and Broadcasters Association for making this award possible," he said. "I've been fortunate on being able to play on such fine Delaware teams as I've had the past three years. The players and the coaches were of the highest calibre."

Trivits was born at Stanton on Sept. 12, 1931, and has lived there since. He's a son of Mr. and Mrs. George Trivits. He has two brothers, George 24, and Ronnie 16, the latter a regular guard on the Conrad High team.

Nelson Returns To Campus After Indiana Conference
Back on the Delaware campus, Dave Nelson said there were no new developments over the week-end involving him with the University of Indiana athletic directorship.

Nelson, now in his fourth year as Delaware's athletic director and football coach, indicated he'll have no further comment on the Indiana offer unless he hears from Indiana officials.

Dave was invited to Bloomington, Ind., last week by university officials to confer on the athletic directorship at the school. He spent last Friday and Saturday on the Hoosier campus.

Solid Front
Defensively, the handled the rampant middle guard not at Stanton, Brookside and Nick Mays provided a solid frontier in three of the line.

Delaware's Bobbie Roberts contributed to a Delaware victory in the 1954 "Constitution" test at Stone Withers. He had an offensive of 7.7, a low quick kick that launched him on a 28-point last quarter victory.

Trivits' greatest thrill was a sophomore, in the triumph of Brookside's defense over Stanton, Brookside and Nick Mays provided a solid frontier in three of the line.

Perkins Opposes Bonded Indenture In Teacher Grants

University Head Addresses General Assembly At Dover On Budget, Teacher Grants

Dr. John A. Perkins, University of Delaware President, stated before the budget committee of the General Assembly that he is opposed to the type of teacher scholarships which require a student to serve in the public school system for a certain number of years as a return for the help.

"A student going to college under that kind of indenture probably will never make a good teacher," Dr. Perkins said.

The president likened this system to the colonial days in the United States when bonded servants were brought from Europe and were required to work three or four years for a master here to rid themselves of their indebtedness.

Dr. Perkins said: "I wouldn't have it misunderstood for a moment that I do not believe in scholarships. But I think we should work out the scholarship system on a different basis."

According to the university president, one of the greatest wastes in the United States is the waste of brain power.

Discussing his budget requests for the biennium starting July 1, Dr. Perkins said the actual increase will amount to about $1,687,500. This includes $91,725 in salaries, and the president said that if that amount is granted, it will make possible an average 5 per cent raise for all employees. He emphasized that he is particularly interested in providing more remuneration for some 40 key people "who bring this university its distinction."

Another $21,000 would be used for scholarships, $5,500 for two professional employees in the library, $30,000 for academic growth, $6,000 for educational activities, $12,200 for school operations, and $6,950 for plant service.

Legislator, School Official, Address PTA At Brookside

Henry Wolf, Wilmer Shue Discuss Education Bills, School Fund Allocations

State Rep. Henry Wolf (R-Newark) explained to the Brookside Parent-Teacher Association last week the course a school bill must follow for passage in Dover, and Wilmer E. Shue, superintendent of the Newark special school district explained the division of school funds into salary, capital outlay and "all other" accounts, and explained the $550-per-unit state appropriation for a vote.

Such bills start in the unified school legislative committee, Mr. Wolf said, and then go to the education committee of one of the houses of the General Assembly before going to the floor of that house for a vote.

Among measures now in the mill, he said, are a teacher pension plan revision, a salary increase, reorganization of districts, state-supported kindergartens, and plans to construct new buildings.

The most effective contribution the public can make toward getting school legislation passed is to write letters about it, Mr. Wolf said.

Mr. Shue mentioned the growing shortage of teachers as a major problem and suggested that teacher standards may have to be revised downward—perhaps to two years of college—in order to obtain enough instructors in the next few years.

Groundhog Lodge

The fat, friendly rodent, who is slated to make his annual weather prophecy next Wednesday, is expected to delay his return to interrupted hibernation for the chance to occupy the guest of honor spot at the forthcoming, but just in case Herr Groundhog takes a dim view of Newark's weather, Russell Stauffer will pinch-hit as the weather prophet on the program.

As a special feature of the evening, Woody Roth will conduct an auction, assisted by Elwood Bittenbender as clerk or clerk, with auctioneered offerings of Pennsylvania Dutch specialty sausages, scrapple, bologna, liverwurst, schnitzel, schnapps—aprons and bonnets.

The groundhog will have two days in Newark—Feb. 2 and Feb. 4. And judged by the past—the Fourth will be the big one. This year's celebration should prove no exception.

War tu fil bobbl'd, grick'n nett zungung tu esa, or as Sam Diehl translated with a bit of help from Russ Stauffer, "He who talks too much won't get enough to eat. But there will be plenty of both interesting talk and food at the Groundhog Lodge fest.

Prof. Hanson

Asked about the cost of such a policy, Mr. Hanson quoted Governor Munoz Marín of Puerto Rico, who said in a recent speech that we must not try to shop for survival at the bargain counter. The survival of civilized man is a bargain at any price.

Professor Hanson was actively connected with the Puerto Rican effort as planning consultant in 1935-36. In 1944-46, he was chief of the first U. S. economic mission to Liberia, instructed to make surveys and draft plans for the African republic's economic development. He has been a student of the problems of economic development in such diverse regions as the Amazon basin, Iceland, and the Canadian sub-arctic, and at present is doing consulting work on these problems for the Venezuelan State of Monagas. He has been knighted for his work by the governments of Liberia and Iceland.

Boggs Proclaims February "American History Month"

February should be marked as "American History Month," Governor J. Caleb Boggs said in a proclamation this week. He urged that schools and patriotic organizations give special attention to American heroes.

Stating that citizens should "emphasize again during February the great heritage which is ours, and which could only come about through the sacrifices, disappointments and the great faith of our forefathers," the chief executive called for special events to recall their feats.

You may be whatever you resolve to be.
