Promising old-fashioned fun and entertainment, Newark's third annual Winterfest takes place today in the downtown business district from 4:30 to 8:30 p.m. In case of rain, the festival proceeds tomorrow at the same time.

New this year is a non-alcoholic hot drink contest. According to organizer Deirdre Peake, entries from Klondike Kate's, Sinclair's Restaurant, and the Brickyard will be judged by the public. "For $2, anyone can sample the drinks and then vote for their favorite based on originality, presentation and taste," explained Peake.

This event and others will be found on Academy Street which will be closed to vehicles during Winterfest between Main Street and Delaware Avenue.

Returning events, already proven to be popular, include carriage rides, store and restaurant specials, roasted chestnut sales, and strolling caroling by Razzmatazz.

Storytelling, face painting and balloon creations are planned especially for children. Starting at 5 p.m. the musical group Broadway Bound will perform on the Academy Building lawn.

The ice carving contest, new last year, returns again with the competitors expected to begin their kinetic art show at 4:30 p.m. Note that neither rain, snow, sleet nor dark of night stay their saws, since this one event takes place "rain or shine" today. Professional carvers expected include Darren Bisco, David Slaughter, Frederick Snyder and Richard Watson.

Prizes for the carvers, who will be judged by a

A RECENT PEDESTRIAN count done by the Wilmington Area Planning Council (WILMAPCO) in three local towns merely reinforces what recent accidents have shown in Newark. The highest counts locally were at Amstel and South and North College avenues.

Dannemann tenant was secret

By MARY E. PETZAK

WORK FOR a new tenant has begun at the former Dannemann Fabrics site at Ogletown Road and Library Avenue but, until this week, no one admitted to knowing who that was.

At a Newark city council meeting in October, councilmember Thomas Wampler asked, "What's happening there?"

City planning director Roy Lopata claimed to be in the dark and said he

Robbery arrests swift

ROBBERIES, which seem almost epidemic in Newark and the surrounding county, continued this week with two at local businesses. But this time, arrests followed almost as quickly.

Warrants were issued on Wednesday for the suspects in both recent incidents. Named in the warrants were: Derris Johnson, 19, of Cobblecreek Curve in Newark; Donald Williams, 18, of Avignon Drive in Bear; Brian Briscoe, 18, of Chambord Road in Newark; and Jason A. Moore, 18, of Postfield Road in Newark.

The four were being held at that time in Cecil County (Md.) Detention Center pending extradition to Drunk driving wrong way on Elkton Rd.

On November 30, a uniformed Newark Police officer driving home after his tour of duty saw a vehicle driving the wrong way and approaching him head-on in the westbound lanes of Elkton Road.

The officer and several other drivers were forced to swerve out of the way to avoid a collision. The officer turned and followed the vehicle which proceeded toward Newark, striking the cement center median near Chrysler Avenue. The vehicle struck the median again near Thorne Lane before the officer was able to signal the vehicle to stop. The driver, Howard I. Fitzgerald of Bear, was taken into custody and transported to Christiana emergency room for evaluation. Fitzgerald was charged with driving under the influence, driving the wrong way on a divided highway and leaving the scene of an accident.

Driver found asleep at stoplight

Newark Police report that on Nov. 28 around 5:10 a.m. a man was discovered asleep in a 1989 black Chevrolet Camaro at a stoplight at Elkton Road and Veterans Drive. Police said Ronald Davis, 34, of Newark appeared to be driving under the influence of narcotics. Found in his possession was a bag with a green leafy substance, Cansoprodol medication, Soma tablets and an Alprazolam tablet. Davis was taken to Newark Emergency Room for blood tests which were sent for toxicology analysis.

Loud stereo

On Nov. 29 around 6:30 p.m. police were called to apartments on Thorn Lane for a report of loud music. Police issued a noise summons after they heard a stereo operating inside while they were standing on the sidewalk outside the apartment complex.

School bus almost hit

A school bus driver told Newark Police that on Nov. 24 around 7:15 a.m. he was making a left turn from Tyre Avenue onto Delaware Avenue near Newark High School when a 1997 Ford Probe almost struck the bus. The bus driver said he had a green light and the Ford driver had a red light. The driver dropped the students off at school and found the Ford in the parking lot. He took the tag number to police who are investigating.

Number of people living with AIDS in Delaware is growing

While World Aids Day was observed this week, local agencies report the number of people living with AIDS in Delaware is increasing faster than the number of fatalities due to HIV disease.

In the 21-month period from January 1996 through September those living with Aids in the State increased from 748 to 880. At the same time, deaths dropped from a monthly high of 18 to 4 for each of June, July and August, 1997.

Since mid-1992, the pool of people living with AIDS in Delaware has increased five-fold. "Patient visits at the Wilmington Infectious Disease Clinic have gone up from 2,500 to 3,500 a year," said clinic coordinator Arlene Bincsik.

These data show that there is increased life expectancy for people infected with HIV. Although researchers still have not found the "magic bullet" that will kill the virus, advanced therapies are providing longer lives and better quality of life for many AIDS sufferers.

Increases in national incidence of herpes simplex virus type 2, gonorrhea and chlamydia are placing even more people at risk for infection with HIV in the 1990's. Those who are at risk should be encouraged to seek testing, and, if infected, seek medical care.

At the same time, public and private agencies are seeking ways to adequately assist a continually increasing case load that is benefiting from improved therapies.

Resources available through Delaware Health and Social Services are: HIV counseling and testing, clinical evaluation and treatment, HIV/AIDS case management, AIDS drug assistance, complimentary therapies; i.e.: acupuncture, massage, etc., nutritional consultation, mental health counseling, home health care and dental care.

CRIMESTOPPERS

Detectives at the New Castle County Police Department continue to seek information in regard to the homicide of Paul Cook on Sept. 21, 1996. Investigators indicate that while Cook was at home at Glasgow Pines in Bear, two black males broke into his home and began assaulting Cook and then killed him. Cook's female companion and her child were also assaulted during the incident which appeared to be a robbery. Anyone with information is asked to call 1-800-TIP-3333.

WILMAPCO unveils website and guide

The Wilmington Area Planning Council (WILMAPCO) has released a new Citizens' Guide and website. WILMAPCO created these features in an effort to expand public outreach and get greater citizen involvement.

WILMAPCO, which serves New Castle and Cecil counties, is responsible for overseeing transportation planning and programming in the region.

According to the Citizens' Guide, there will be a 41 percent increase in the number of vehicles which travel daily on roads in the region by the year 2020. For this reason both the guide and website focus on finding alternative forms of travel.

"In recent surveys, citizens have told us they want improved community design with better transit, walking, and biking facilities," said Jennifer K. Walsh, a planner/engineer and public participation coordinator for WILMAPCO. "By improving our outreach efforts, we can help people better understand the planning process that helps us achieve these options."

In addition to the guide and website, WILMAPCO offers a mailing list which provides a quarterly newsletter about ongoing projects. Monthly meetings, which are open to the public, are held every first Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in WILMAPCO office at 850 Library Ave. in Newark. Interested citizens' can obtain the guide by calling 737-6205. The website can be reached at www.wp.com/wilmapco.

Road contractors meeting completion dates

Traffic problems eased in time for holiday season

MORE GOOD NEWS is coming for holidays travelers and shoppers. The Delaware Department of Transportation announced this week that construction of Phase I of Route 141 between Burnside Boulevard and Kirkwood Highway is scheduled to be complete on Dec. 4.

This project began in October and included work on the shoulders of the road, crossover construction and ramp repair. "We are pleased to reopen the ramp that connects Route 141 with the Prices Corner area shopping centers before our target date of Dec. 8," said Secretary of Transportation Anne P. Canby. "Our contractor James Julian Inc. has done an admirable job during a rainy autumn."

Phase II of the project, which resumes in March 1998, will require shifting traffic during reconstruction of the northbound side of Route 141.

Governor Thomas R. Carper and Canby were joined by guests and local officials at a ribbon cutting and dedication ceremony during Thanksgiving week for the opening of five new toll booths at the I-95 Toll Plaza.

The new toll booths were constructed at a bid price of $4.75 million. The Daisy Construction Company of Wilmington built the new satellite plaza which consists of a total of five new booths in the northbound lanes. The construction project included the covering canopy and island area, employee walkway, all electronic wiring, lane widening and pavement, and new light standard towers.

"I am proud to say that with the completion of these new booths we now feature a total of 20 toll booths here at the I-95 Plaza," Canby said. "This allows us to meet the challenge of changing traffic patterns more effectively by adjusting as many as 13 booths to handle northbound traffic or a maximum of 11 booths to handle southbound traffic."

The toll booth project was the second I-95 construction project completed before Thanksgiving.

Contractors Greggo and Ferrara Inc. completed their work on the interstate at the Route 7 overpass two days ahead of schedule and approximately $250,000 under budget. Work at Route 7 consisted of reinforcing the overpass's deteriorated substructure and abutment walls of the bridges, and replacing the concrete slabs at the bridge approaches.

Cellular towers sprouting up in Newark

Two more towers may be installed

By MARY E. PETZAK

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Omnipoint Communications and AT&T Wireless are both seeking permission to install telecommunications equipment at two Newark-area sites.

According to a Special Use Permit application on city council's next agenda, Omnipoint proposes to install antennas and related equipment on an existing Delmarva Power and Light power pole in the Diamond State Industrial Park near Route 72 at I-95.

The antennas will add approximately seven feet to the 142-foot high DP&L pole which is located south of Bellevue Road adjacent to the Conrail spur line on Rodel Inc. property.

In papers filed with the application, Grady R. Jones, a professional consultant for Omnipoint, noted that "no towers similar to the one proposed by Omnipoint Communications presently exist within 2,000 feet of the proposed site."

According to the Newark city code, telecommunications towers cannot exist within 2,000 feet of each similar tower, measured from the base of the tower.

The application also noted that a walking survey of the site indicated there are no churches, libraries, schools, nursing homes, hospitals or residential lots within 450 feet of the site.

Meanwhile, the Board of Adjustment of New Castle County has received a request from AT&T for an 123-foot high telecommunication monopole at 248 East Chestnut Hill Road near Route 72. That site is approximately 4,000 feet north of the Rodel site.

The pole with accessory equipment requires a Special Exception to be placed on the property of John W. Slack because it will be within 500 feet of a residence. Slack, who has an address in Blue Ball, Pa., owns the property adjacent to the Conrail line where offices for Nationwide Insurance are already accommodated.

According to employees at the county Department of Land Use, Slack's application is on the Adjustment Board's Dec. 18 agenda but might be rescheduled for January.

Other telecommunications poles were recently approved in the Newark area for sites on Cleveland Avenue and at the Mayer Veterinary Hospital on Elkton Road. In January, telecommunications antennas were activated on the Windy Hills water tower owned by the city of Newark.

The county previously approved a cellular tower for the Interstate 95 Toll Plaza at the Maryland border as part of the statewide 800-megahertz emergency communications system.

City pedestrian/bike plans set into motion

The report that accompanied the study noted that Newark, Wilmington and Elkton had different characteristics that affected walking. In Newark, the pedestrian count was fueled by students from the University of Delaware.

Two University students were killed and one seriously injured in the past year near the intersection of Amstel Avenue and Elkton Road. David Toman was struck by a truck as he rode his bike near the Crab Trap on Nov. 12, 1996. On July 15, 1997, Ha-Kyung Jung suffered head trauma and a pelvic fracture near the same spot when she turned her bike into the path of a car.

On Oct. 2, 1997, Holly Hrupsa was fatally injured when she was struck by a car as she tried to cross that section of Elkton Road on foot.

Jennifer K. Walsh, planner/engineer for WILMAPCO, noted that pedestrian traffic peaked during class changes at the University. "Amstel and North College avenues are main routes between classrooms and dormitories," said Walsh in her report. "South College Avenue is a major destination due to the student center at the corner of Delaware and South College avenues."

According to the report, the purpose of the count is to obtain an accurate measure of the flow and patterns of pedestrians which can then be used to recommend and determine effectiveness of possible improvements.

In October, the Delaware Department of Transportation also began a series of workshops to involve the public in planning for statewide bicycle and pedestrian transit access. Initial areas chosen for the study were sections of Kirkwood Highway near Prices Corner, Centreville Road, Route 9, Commons Boulevard, Route 202 near Wilmington and Route 1 in Rehoboth.

However, according to DelDOT project coordinator Liz Holloway, the study will focus on other statewide improvements in the future to allow "citizens and visitors alike to be able to walk or bicycle safely across the road, across town or to the nearest transit stop."

In Newark, a recently completed underpass for pedestrians and bicyclists under the existing Route 896/South College Avenue bridge just north of the Chrysler Assembly plant links the Newark Train Station and the east side of South College so that crossing the road is no longer necessary. This project was a cooperative effort of DelDOT and the city of Newark.

In April, 1997, local residents were invited to give their views on bike and pedestrian access at a University of Delaware workshop hosted by the city of Newark, DelDOT, WILMAPCO, the Delaware Bicycle Council, and the American Planning Association Delaware.

Senator Roth to speak at the Newark Senior Center

Public welcome to Dec. 8 session

U.S. SENATOR WILLIAM ROTH, R-Delaware, will discuss federal finances and the new Roth IRA as well as other tax information during his appearance at the Newark Senior Center on Monday, Dec. 8, at 10:30 a.m.

Roth, who chairs the Senate's Finance Committee, will have the latest information on the progress of his sub-committee on the Internal Revenue Service. As a result of a Congressional investigation into IRS practices, the tax agency this week announced interim procedures requiring higher level management approval of seizures of property for non-payment of federal taxes.

"Our hearings in September demonstrated that the power of the agency and its employees needs to be restrained — especially in the use of liens, levies and seizures," said Roth following the IRS announcement. "I am working to address this issue in the IRS restructuring bill that is pending before the Finance Committee."

Roth said he believed that the IRS measures would safeguard taxpayers until the new bill could be approved.

The public is welcome to attend the session in the senior center located on White Chapel Drive off Marrows Road.

Dannemann site cloaked in secrecy had heard everything from a restaurant to an auto dealership. Councilmember Hal Godwin admitted he had heard a rumor of a steakhouse restaurant himself.

Calls to Collier and Axelbund, leasing agents for the site, only deepened the mystery. According to an employee who would not give her name, the property is the responsibility of leasing agent Richard Soloff.

"He promised not to tell what will be there," said the employee. "I can't tell you either."

When asked what type of service it would provide, if the tenant's name could not be given, the employee laughed and said she wasn't sure it could be called a service. "You would be very surprised," she said.

In a subsequent phone call, Soloff relayed the information that the new tenant will be moving in by April 1, 1998.

However, according to property owner Ernst Dannemann, the new tenant is Daewoo Motor America, a Korean car manufacturer with businesses already throughout the world. "They asked us not to say anything until just recently," Dannemann explained.

Dannemann said Daewoo will opening at sites around the country at the same time as the Newark location. "The United States is the only place they don't currently have businesses," said Dannemann.

According to Alex McKinney, spokesperson for Daewoo, the car company is definitely coming to this area but he is unsure of the status of the project.

In a related matter, Newark Police Chief William Hogan reported that traffic improvements to that high-accident intersection are at least three years away. "I spoke with DelDOT this week and they told me the plan for a new configuration there is definitely coming but has not passed the design stage yet," said Hogan.

community panel, are sponsored by Newark Toyota, the Newark Post, Copy Maven and Delaware Technology Park.

Throughout the evening, carriage rides will circle the business district where stores and restaurants plan shopping specials. The Newark Lions will be selling roasted chestnuts for the third year.

At 7:30 p.m. the evening will conclude with a tree-lighting ceremony and caroling at the Academy Building.

Peake said those attending in previous years have already shown their approval of this wintry celebration. Among the comments received last year was a letter from a woman who said she attended with her husband and 6-year-old grandchild.

"The face painting, storytelling, singing and the carriage rides were a great success in our books," wrote the woman. "Our compliments to the various entertainers who were first rate. Newark is really progressing."

Winterfest is co-sponsored by the city of Newark, the Downtown Newark business association, and the University of Delaware. For weather status of event today, call 366-7147.

Arrests made quickly in Newark robberies

► ROBBERIES, from 1

Delaware.

According to Newark Police, around 8:20 p.m. on Nov. 25, three black males entered the #1 Chinese Takeout Restaurant in the Fairfield Shopping Center on Route 896. The suspects displayed a handgun and demanded money from the cash register.

After taking an unknown amount of cash, the suspects fled out the rear door of the restaurant. One witness reportedly told police that he saw the men run into the apartments in the rear of the shopping center.

All the suspects were described as wearing dark clothes and ski masks. Three employees were in the restaurant at the time of the robbery but none were injured.

Four days later around 9:37 p.m. on Nov. 29, four armed black males entered the Peddler's Pit Stop liquor store on South College Avenue. Those suspects also wore dark-colored clothing with face masks and gloves and all were described as about 5 feet 10 inches tall and 190 pounds. The robbers took an undisclosed amount of money from the male clerk alone in the store and fled. The clerk was not injured.

What may have been an attempted robbery was foiled by a locked door around 8 p.m. on Nov. 25 at the BP gas station on Elkton Road. The female clerk in the station at the time told police two black males wearing bandanas attempted to open the door of the store which was locked at 5 p.m. When the door did not open, the men fled on foot in the direction of the nearby Pizza Hut. Police described these suspects as both approximately 5 feet, 6 inches tall, one wearing a black leather jacket with a hood and an orange bandana. The second suspect wore dark clothes. No suspects have been identified in this incident which is still under investigation.

Anyone with information about these or similar incidents is asked to call Newark Police at 366-7111.

Winterfest is not about the cold

YES, it's cold outside, baby. And yes, it gets dark a little earlier than it did a month ago.

But that's all the more reason to bundle up in those ski clothes and knitted scarves you've hardly worn yet this year and come downtown today for Winterfest. Huddling inside by the heater vent doesn't generate the kind of warmth that rubbing elbows with excited children and laughing neighbors can bring.

Newark's winter celebration, begun in 1995, has grown each year by leaps and bounds (no, not the lords or maids a-milking).

This year's event promises to be the best yet with ice carvers again performing their combination of mayhem and artistry to everyone's delight and horse-drawn carriages giving Main Street the look of a century ago.

Organizers are also giving the community a chance to participate in a new event as judges of non-alcoholic hot drinks. Come and see what you think for only $2.

While watching the contests and waiting for a carriage ride, festival goers can also sample that traditional cold weather treat — roasted chestnuts.

Restaurants and stores already decorated for the season will be open late for people who want to have dinner or shop for a special gift.

The event comes to a nostalgic and satisfying conclusion with caroling and the lighting of Newark's Christmas tree on the Academy Building lawn.

Don't be a Scrooge. The holiday lights, the fun, the almost-lost feeling of strolling outdoors in "the frosty air" can be yours for just a short ride downtown today.

Christina's theme schools should not be ignored

By RUTH KELLY

NEWARK POST CONTRIBUTING WRITER

AT DREW/PYLE INTERMEDIATE School my daughter is now in 6th grade and this will be her last year. We took advantage of the Choice Program and chose Drew/Pyle and I'm sure glad that we did.

Drew/Pyle is one of Christina District's Theme Schools. Our particular school's emphasis is on communication, arts and technology. When I listened to my daughter's teacher tell me what was in store for my daughter and events to look forward to as the school year began, I could hardly contain my excitement.

She told parents that she only had a single word classroom rule, and that rule was all encompassing. The word is "Respect," i.e., respect for self, others and the environment. She gave us her educational philosophy in which she stated her belief that all children can learn. She explained to us all the different learning styles, which she planned to incorporate, if not daily, weekly during the school year.

She explained to us how she bases her grades and as I listened to her I saw her dedication, her excitement and love of teaching and I was glad my daughter would be in her classroom this year.

The highlight, though, came next. Drew/Pyle and specifically her classroom, is participating in a national grant that WHY-Channel 12 was awarded this past year. The grant, "The Education Connection: A National Project Involving Partners from Six States In a Department of Education Challenge Grant," focuses on the use of technology and telecommunications to enhance learning.

Locally, WHY-Channel 12 wants to investigate the educational use of the computer, TV and VCR within the home. To do this, they placed a computer in each student's home for the student to use throughout the year. Each student's home has FREE Internet access and is custom-configured for each student. Students also use the computers for specific lessons designed by the University of Delaware, two teachers from St. Thomas who partner our classroom for the grant, and the teacher to help evaluate the effectiveness of the technology.

The classroom also benefits from this grant. WHY-Channel 12 is hoping to purchase a TV, VCR, color printer and digital camera for use in the classroom.

I am so happy that my daughter and the others in her class have this unique opportunity. I am also extremely glad to see the business and private community get involved in the education of our children. I think many corporations are realizing the value in supporting education and that is a good investment. For education reform to be successful, all facets of the home and community are needed to make it happen. Our district, even though there is much going on right now, is still in the business of providing quality, educational opportunities for its students. The offerings of our district's Theme Schools should not be ignored either. It would be wise to not just take the word of a nay-sayer or the fact that the number of families opting to send their children into the city was not as high as they hoped. I urge you to inquire and see for yourself what is being offered and how your child can benefit.

This picture taken about 1890 shows the water tank built in 1888 on Nottingham Road. The road is unpaved. The house on the left in the picture is 303 West Main Street, now the residence of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Murray. The deed to that property indicates the house was the manse for the Head of Christiana and Glasgow Presbyterian churches. The picture was loaned to the Newark Post by William G. Murray Jr.

We have with us

The Post takes great pleasure in introducing to its readers two of the prominent merchants in Elkton, who have reserved advertising space in our columns.

They have special displays and prices for the Christmas season.

For God and country (opinion)

When education is thought of as that which happens in a boy or girl in the years of their development into man or womanhood, the term includes in its scope all agencies of society that may in any way affect the developing child.

Education is not mere book learning, nor mere intellectual development. Nor does education aim make them think or act alike, but rather to put them into contact with the varied forces of society in such a way as to make them respond naturally and develop normally into strong, noble, active men and women.

Education, therefore, must be thought of as beginning at birth....

$4,000 damage

The Joseph Hutton family of Woodmere, was rudely awakened when a car rumbled into the living room of their home at about 2:20 Sunday morning.

Newark Police arrested their visitor, a Newark man, on charges of driving under the influence.

No injuries were reported, but police said that damages to car and house totaled more than $4,000.

5000 students do own thing for credit during Winterim

Very shortly, the fall semester at the University of Delaware will end and students will be packing up to go home for the holidays.

But the next nerve-shattering session of lectures, note-taking, required reading, and grade-sweating does not begin until late January.

The problem of what to do until the spring semester starts has been solved by a mini-semester called Winterim, a three-week session in January that allows students to do-their-own-thing for credit.

Dec. 4, 1992

Sessions target properties

While some county council members were arguing over new commercial building codes, others in the county were watching soap operas on television. The ordinance proposes stricter maintenance codes for commercial and industrial property, raising them up to the standards already in place for private property.

The proposed law was introduced this summer by Karen Venezky (D-Newark), and later co-sponsored by Richard Cecil (R-Wilmington). Venezky said looking at the dilapidated Brookside Shopping Center on Marrows Road in greater Newark inspired her to sponsor the new law with Cecil.

Currently, no laws are on the books to deal with maintenance standards for commercial property and the shopping center was a perfect example for why this is necessary, she said.

NEWARK POST ❖ LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To: The Editor
From: Catherine Johnston,
Newark

Your Nov. 28th editorial and your comments in the piece "I'll be thankful, if you stay to the end" were particularly meaningful to me. I have lived in Newark since 1969 and have always felt that I could be part of any city council meeting or city issue to the extent I chose to be involved whether it be the Casho Mill underpass, the budget, parking, rental property problems, or land-use issues. You were dead on when you said "the continued in-fighting will discourage community minded citizens from entering the public area." I have been sickened and discouraged by the small mindedness of Nancy Turner and her supporters. Somehow the "shenanigans" as you call them, have undermined the wonderful small town atmosphere that I have enjoyed all the years I have lived here. It has undermined the standard that many of us assume applies to our city government, that is, working for the common good, not for the gain of a particular component.

I was heartened to see that council member Tony Felicia is seeking long range planning ideas. First on my list would be to retain the wonderful relationships our city leaders have fostered in their work which, to me, has made this a delightful city to live in. I hope we can find a way to continue our progress as a vital and vibrant city without resorting to small minded bickering and in-fighting. We should be preserving and protecting that which makes us strong and our city government should be supported, not ripped apart ever so selfishly.

To: The Editor
From: Shirley Tarrant, Newark

Each time I think the Newark Post has reached a low point in biased, sleazy journalism, it fools me by sinking to even greater depths. It did so twice in the November 28 edition.

I first read with a mixture of shock and revulsion the poison pen editorial attack on outstanding Council Member Nancy Turner. It is quite understandable why the author of this ludicrous piece of drivel remains anonymous!

To re-phrase the question which appeared in this editorial: "Editor, have you no shame?" Yes, Council Member Turner did take "off the velvet gloves" at the Nov. 24 City Council meeting, revealing in the process hard hitting hands driven by a solid work ethic, integrity and commitment. The Mayor and the rest of city council need to show us their hands. Are they clean?

Do you honestly expect Turner to sit quietly, initiate no action, ask no questions and meekly support all proposals of the Mayor and council, simply because some of them "were serving the city before she ever took up residence here?" What utter nonsense!

Jim Streit's "I am thankful" musings sure did tug at my heart strings. Prior to his litany of "thankfuls," he declared that "only a few people know (he's) a parent representative on the search committee for the new Christina superintendent." Well, golly-ly, now ALL of the Newark Post readers are in the secret - both of them!

What shenanigans" affecting Newark City Council is Streit talking about, anyway? What "maneuvering" of Nancy Turner and me does he mean? For me, the word "shenanigans" means actions which are prankish, mischievous, even treacherous or deceitful. If the members of city council are affected by any "shenanigans", it is their own. What are they still hiding in those Executive Session minutes which Turner requested way back in June under the Freedom of Information Act? Such "shenanigans" by the Mayor and Council are the very reason why Turner filed a lawsuit against them. Those minutes are public information the Freedom of Information Act was adopted by the State of Delaware in 1977.

What "maneuvering" of mine is Streit talking about? Is he referring to my quest for a fair hearing before the Board of Ethics on June 19, after I filed a complain against Council Member Harold Godwin (at which I was denied due process)? Or does he mean my June 24th request for, among other things a verbatim transcript of the Board of Ethics Executive Session, which I did not receive until August 29? Or does he mean my unsuccessful Sept. 19 petition requesting the Mayor and Council to rescind its June 14 acceptance of the Board of Ethics decision in the Godwin case? Or does he mean my persistent search for integrity in our city government?

How refreshing to read in Streit's "thankful" diatribe that "Council people - including city staff members - are more interested in doing what's right for the city's future..." Is it "right" to deny a Newark resident and U.S. citizen due process?

Is it "right" to deny citizens access to public information which is guaranteed by the Freedom of Information Act? Is it "right" at a City Council meeting for the Mayor to refer to a petitioner and her petition as "dirt" which can and should be "swept under the rug?"

Streit cavalierly refers to the "unrelenting beating of dead dog." I am compelled to inform him that the dog is not dead and, indeed, it is not a dog at all - it's city officials who are being publicly challenged; Streit bemoans public, personal attacks; however, Harry Truman once said, "If you can't stand the heat, get out of the kitchen." Streit also says, "Those throwing spears should drop them." With such a philosophy, I suspect that had he lived in the 18th century, he should have advocated we remain English colonies!

If the Newark Post wants to defend the Mayor and City Council by attacking their critics, that's its privilege, but it should not be done at the expense of truth, fairness or objectivity. In other words: People who live in tin cans should not throw can openers!

Ed. Note: According to widely-understood principles of journalism, editorials are the public opinion of the newspaper and never signed.

As a former resident of Brookside Park, I felt I had to let the Newark Post know that I look forward to reading the weekly edition of your paper. I joined the Navy in 1978 and moved away regionally, but not in my heart. Surfing the

I would like to add some information to your article regarding the history of the Newark Lumber Co. in the Nov. 14 issue. In 1929, my father Weldon Waples came to Newark to manage the Newark Lumber Co. It was owned then by Mr. I.D. Short of Milford, and managed by his nephew Edwin Steele. Mr. Steele was leaving for law school.

My father, along with his friend Mr. Joseph Carey of Philadelphia, incorporated the company and issued stock. My father ran the company from 1929 until his death in 1952. Then Mr. Carey became the major stock holder. My husband Alvin Dollins with Jim Thompson then managed the company.

It was after 1957 that Jim Thompson became the major stockholder and president of the company.

In the picture on page 4 is my father W.C. Waples and "Buck" Buckingham who worked with Mr. O.K. Strahorn and George Getty. They were long time employees of the Newark Lumber Company as were Miss Hannah Marcy and Archie Saunders.

NEWARK OUTLOOK

Turning fall leaves into brown gold

■ This weekly feature on the Lifestyle page is authored by the staff of the Newark-based Cooperative Extension Service.

ONE OF THE most frequent cries for help I hear at the Extension Service concerns difficulty in establishing turf and ornamentals in the new developments. Northern New Castle county soils for the most part are low in organic material and high in fine particles such as clay and silt. This results in gooey mud during rainy spells and impenetrable pavement during drought. South of I-95 the soils become sandier, but still low in organic matter. Coarser soil such as these has limited ability to hold onto nutrients and water. Adding organic material to both types of soil is an effective, inexpensive way to improve soil tilth and drainage.

Shade trees and lawn mowing provide gardeners with a free and seemingly endless supply of valuable organic matter each year in the form of falling leaves and clippings.

Unfortunately, many homeowners rake and bag the leaves and grass and send them to the landfill. Then they go out to the garden center to buy pre-packaged compost and mulch for more money than home composting would require.

Composting is a process by which microorganisms break down dead vegetation in the presence of air and water. Gardeners who compost can think of themselves as curators of a microscopic zoo. They collect and confine bacteria, fungi, and tiny animals, and feed and water them. This effort is repaid manyfold in the formation of the valuable product called compost. When added to the soil, compost helps increase the size of fine soil particles, thereby "loosening" the soil to improve root penetration, water drainage and air infiltration. In coarser soils, compost provides water-holding substances and keeps nutrients from leaching down out of plants' root zones.

There are many methods of composting, from the simplest pile to sophisticated machine-turned drums. Some people have reported success with composting in large black garbage bags laid out in the sun. Others (with lots of extra time and energy I think) use complicated recipes of different raw materials to mix together, and may even supplement the pile with fertilizer and lime. Then they diligently turn the pile very week. True, this labor-intensive method gives you finished compost in record time, but it isn't necessary. After all, things compost in the woods all by themselves — and think how moist and rich woodland soil is!

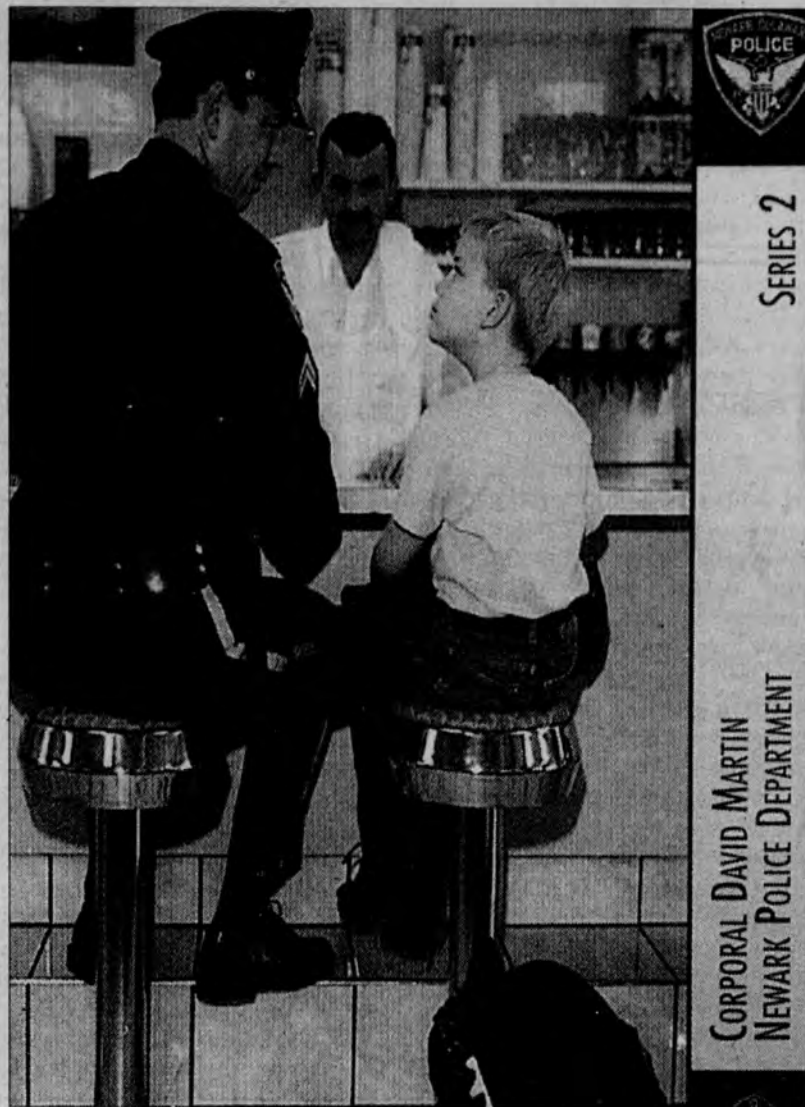

So if you want a compost pile, just start piling it up. A successful compost pile should be at least three feet on a side and as tall. This provides the mass necessary to permit heat build-up and to moderate moisture fluctuations. A compost pile can be formed from most any type of vegetation; leaves, grass clippings, kitchen trimmings, garden debris.

Avoid large chunks of materials such as branches, which will make turning difficult and decompose too

Newark Police release own trading cards

By STEVE WESTRICK

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

NEWARK POLICE ARE STILL PATROLLING THE STREETS, however, now they are armed with their individual trading cards.

Issued in September, the 21 trading cards are the second set featuring Newark Police officers. The first 35 cards, issued in June 1995, have become very popular, especially among neighborhood children, said Corporal David Martin.

"The first series focused on officers on the road," Martin said. "This second series focuses on people behind the scenes. So they are not the same cards."

Some of the officers featured in the second series are Police Chief William A. Hogan, animal control officer Donna Vickers, Lt. Roy S.

The Newark Police Department has its own trading cards. A few examples include David Martin with his son; Ralph Johnson's facts and Susan Poley, who's involved with Special Olympics.

Clough of the criminal investigations and drug unit, and Martin who works in the planning/training unit. With the printing of this second set, Martin said the entire active force is now represented on cards.

Each officer carries their own card to give out when approached by children and teenagers in the community. Officers featured on the first set will continue to carry their cards. However, Martin noted that seven officers from the first set are no longer with the force.

The photos were taken by G. Thomas Murry in March, however, a delay occurred between the photographer and publisher, thus the cards did not hit the streets until September.

The cards, printed at no cost to the taxpayers, were made possible through a grant from State Aid to Local Law Enforcement. A checklist card is available for both sets and the entire set can be purchased from the police department for $2.

According to Martin, Corporal James Weldin, who has since left the department, was the driving force behind both the first and second set of cards.

Martin said the purpose of the cards is to make the officers more approachable. "We want to eliminate the barrier between (members of the police department) and the kids," he said. "Unfortunately in the evolution of police departments, we started walking patrol, then got into cars and were isolated. This created a barrier. Now we are back to more foot patrols and bicycle patrols and the cards are all geared towards being more approachable."

Each officer writes their own biography and safety tip on the back of the card. Most of the safety tips focus around preventing alcohol and drug use. Some of the sites for the photographs include the Deer Park Road Fire Station, the Fire Hose, Hook and Ladder Company fire station on Academy Street, Eagle Diner on Elkton Road, and the University Mall.

Winterthur offers up splendid holiday cheer

'TIS THE SEASON when museums all over our service area put on their brightest faces for the glorious season of Christmas which is almost upon us. Winterthur, now through January 11, is no exception at either location. The former estate of Henry du Pont is resplendent in its holiday mantle as are the Historic Homes of Odessa.

At the main museum on Kennett Pike, recreations of several historic Christmas trees await you, including an 1835 tree from the home of a Boston abolitionist. I thought one of the most interesting was the one dating from the Victorian era displayed in a room with a "spiders web" of ribbons hanging from the chandeliers. If you had been a guest at that long ago Christmas party, you would have found your gift at the end of one of those ribbons, but, to reach the gift you would have to maneuver through all of those colorful tangled ribbons that filled the room. It did not look like an easy task to me.

In the Christmas time machine at Winterthur you may walk through-out an outdoor Yuletide Market of the 1850s in New York, a 1770 New England feast and a children's party in the White House of Andrew Jackson. That was the party, by the way, that ended up with a snowball fight in the East Room.

According to Winterthur's Hillary Holland, "All scenes on the tour are documented through diaries, prints, correspondence, paintings and books." Tours leave every few minutes beginning at 9:30 each morning. The last tour is at 3:45 p.m.

Now through December 31, you may step into Victorian England as the Historic Houses of Odessa recreate scenes from Charles Dickens' "Oliver Twist." This is the classic story of a workhouse orphan who falls in with a den of thieves lead by the evil Fagin. Don't worry, the story ends happily and Oliver gets lucky and moves to a grand home where he is safe from the streets.

While many of the houses in Odessa will be open, the Dickensian fun centers around the Corbit-Sharp House. In it you can see a scene from the workhouse, Fagin's den and the home of the wealthy Mr. Brownlow complete with an appropriately decorated Christmas tree.

Both sites are worth a visit from the entire family this year. Winterthur is on Delaware 52 about six miles northwest of Wilmington. Hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday and noon to 5 p.m. on Sunday. Admission is $8 for adults, $6 for senior citizens and students and $4 for children. For more information, 302-888-4600.

The Historic Houses of Odessa, owned and operated by Winterthur, are on Main Street, just off US 13 in Odessa, Delaware, about midway between Wilmington and Dover. Hours are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday and 1 to 4 p.m. on Sunday. Admission for adults is $8 for adults, $7 for senior citizens and students and $3 for children. For more information, 302-378-4069.

There is an adscititious treat at Winterthur, where special New Year's day preparations and festivities are on display. You may stroll through a New York family's New Year's Day celebration of the 19th century. Hillary explained that during the 18th and 19th centuries, January 1 was the most socially active day of the year. Gifts were more likely to be exchanged on New Years than on Christmas.

The display in the Phyfe Room depicts a New York celebration almost 200 years ago. It's a fun setting. As family members get their gifts ready for the ensuing party, a newsboy arrives to recite a poem in the hope of a Christmas tip. At the same time the callithumpians, roving youths who welcomed the New Year with raucous noise, come upon the scene to bestow their "gift" upon the household.

There is a series of rooms recreated from an 18th century Virginia house getting ready for New Years. If you go, you can move through the ballroom, entrance hall, back parlor and bed chamber. Every room shows how gracious holiday entertaining used to be. We even get a glimpse of all the preparations for the annual event with a behind the scenes look.

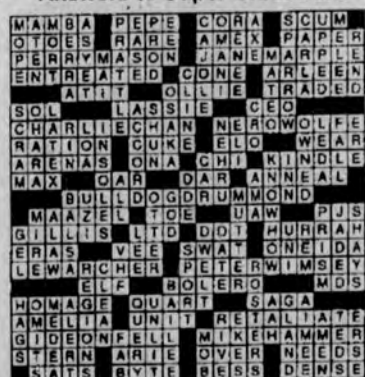

I hope you can work in a visit to these great Winterthur locations. While they are in position and offer us events all year long, they look especially nice during the joyous season of Christmas.

It's holiday time at Winterthur and this 19th century scene the museum features the decorations of the season.

slowly. Don't send meat, bones, dairy products, or fat scraps to the compost pile because they can make the pile odiferous and attract roaming dogs and other creatures that can drag garbage all over the neighborhood.

Smaller pieces of materials will decompose faster, so collecting leaves by bagging them through the mower is a great method. Finished compost will have a rich, earthy smell and be the color of coffee grounds.

THIS LIST IS UPDATED and published each holiday season by the U.S. Public Interest Research Group as a service to parents and others shopping for children.

than 1.75 inch diameter are banned for sale if intended for children under 3:

- Pounding Drum manufactured by Plan Toys
- Tub Squirts manufactured by Gerry

3. Balloons and balloon parts cause most toy-related choking deaths. Such use is inappropriate and hazardous:

- Baby's 1st, 2nd and 3rd Birthday Balloons

4. The 1994 Child Safety Protection Act requires all toys intended for children ages 3-6 to contain statutory choke hazard warnings. If they contain small balls, marbles or small parts. Commonly, toys are marketed with no label and toys already entered into commerce at the time of the act could remain on shelves. Parents should be aware that, even 3 years after the law was enacted, many toys posing choke hazards may be improperly labeled and remain on shelves:

- Frog Erasers manufactured by Sanrio

University of Delaware marine studies department wins award

In the Center for Remote Sensing at the University of Delaware Graduate College of Marine Studies, scientists use satellites to take the environment's pulse from space, tracking phenomena ranging from the salt marshes bordering Delaware Bay to the climate disturbance El Nino in the Pacific Ocean.

In recognition of the center's achievements in educating students and applying satellite technology to regional and global challenges, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) recently named it a Center of Excellence. The award carries a $150,000 grant for new scientific instrumentation to enhance teaching and research efforts.

"The award will be used for new equipment to enable us to advance studies related to the management of coastal ecosystems such as the Delaware Bay and Delaware's Inland Bays, and to the improved understanding of ocean dynamics and their effect on climate, water quality, even the path of an oil spill," said Vic Klemas, professor of marine studies and director of the center. "We will also be able to further our understanding of remote sensing physics — how radar and light waves interact with the ocean."

Klemas and colleague Xiao-Hai Yan, the center's associate director, have earmarked the grant for the purchase of such high tech tools as multi-channel radar, global positioning system receivers to better calibrate satellite data, and a new graphic work station for improving computing and image processing. They will also purchase a portable sensor called a spectroradiometer that is used on land to "read" the light signals reflected from plant leaves and rapidly translate the data into a general diagnosis of an area's vegetable health.

The Center for Remote Sensing, currently employing 18 faculty and staff, graduate students, and visiting scientists, was established at the University College of Marine Studies in 1976. Since the center's inception, about 200 specialists from 14 countries have been trained in remote sensing, coastal management, and environmental science.

New Castle County Chamber debuts new TV program

On December 16 at 7 pm, the New Castle County Chamber of Commerce unveils its new TV show, "County Chamber Today," on cable Channel 22. The business-oriented program is the culmination of nearly a year of research and development by Chamber members and staff. Running approximately 30 minutes, each program includes video profiles of two local businesses, a message to the business community from Chamber president Larry Bowman, and general information about the Chamber and its programs.

The five-minute video profiles offer viewers detailed information about local businesses. The program is an excellent way to shop for products and services such as temporary employment, Internet services, computer rentals, flowers, professional development training, and entertainment, without leaving the comfort of home.

The pilot broadcast on Dec. 16, profiles Kirk's Flowers in Newark and Gorin Communications, a Wilmington-based professional training company. The pilot show will air again in the same time slot on Dec. 18, and a regular weekly broadcast including new profiles will commence in January.

The New Castle County Chamber of Commerce is a not-for-profit organization of 2,000 businesses united to promote a positive economic climate in and around New Castle County. Members benefit from regular business seminars, workshops and roundtables; business-to-business trade shows and other special events; networking opportunities; group health care and other insurance benefits; and local, state and national legislative advocacy.

Pace Electric reaches milestone

Pace Electric of New Castle recently celebrated a safety milestone of which few companies can boast — particularly those engaged in the high-risk construction industry. On Nov. 5, Pace employees achieved 500,000 consecutive man-hours without an OSHA recordable accident.

Joining Pace in commemorating the half-million mark were Reggie Braud, vice president of Bancroft Construction Company and representative of PINS (Partners In Safety); Dan DeWeese, federal OSHA compliance officer; and Peter Brown, federal OSHA agency programs representative.

Brown put Pace's safety record in perspective when he noted that the company is doing 13 times better than the industry average.

Pace Electric is a full-service commercial/industrial electrical contractor, with complete design/build capabilities. The firm operates in Delaware, Maryland, Pennsylvania and New Jersey, and in addition to its New Castle headquarters, operates a regional office in Lewes. Pace has been nationally recognized as an Accredited Quality Contractor by the Associated Builders and Contractors along with their gold level STEP award (safety training and evaluation) and has been awarded the Business Roundtable's Construction Industry Safety Excellence Award.

Seniors get computers

In the first program of its kind, U.S. Senator Joseph R. Biden Jr. announced recently that eight Delaware senior centers, including the Newark Senior Center, have been awarded computers to help improve communication between the federal government and seniors receiving Medicare and Medicaid.

"Last July, I contacted every senior center in Delaware to encourage them to apply for this federal 'Computers for Seniors' program," Biden said. "This program shows that all of us - young and old can benefit from the efficiency, the instant, interactive communication and the wealth of information at our fingertips that computers provide."

Biden said, through this program the Health Care Financing Administration will provide computers and basic Windows operating software to the senior centers. The Centers will be responsible for installing and maintaining the equipment and providing Internet access.

"I hope that Delaware Internet Service Providers now will work with these senior centers to get them on-line."

Respite service helps caregivers

Christiana Care Visiting Nurse Association recently announced the introduction of a new respite service for caregivers of persons living with physical disabilities.

Respite care provides these caregivers with planned time off to attend to personal business, spend time with other family members or just to allow for a much needed break from the demands of continuously caring for their loved one. Respite care can reduce the stress and exhaustion experienced by the caregiver and can reduce the likelihood of early institutionalization as a result of caregiver "burnout."

Respite care is made possible by a grant from Delaware Health and Social Services' Division of Services for the Aging and Adults with Physical Disabilities. VNA provides the service to eligible families throughout the state of Delaware in clients' homes and in extended care facilities.

To participate in this program, individuals must be caregivers for persons living with physical disabilities between the ages of 18 and 59. To find out if you qualify to participate in this new respite program, contact VNA at 1-888-VNA-0001 (1-888-862-0001).

Pain may be eliminated for millions

(SPECIAL) A drug that is exciting researchers in the treatment of pain has been formulated into a new product known as "Arthur Itis," and is being called a "Medical Miracle" by some, in the treatment of debilitating conditions such as arthritis, bursitis, rheumatism, painful muscle aches, joint aches, simple backache, bruises, and more. Although the mechanism of action is unclear, experiments indicate that Arthur Itis, relieves pain by first selectively attracting and then destroying the messenger chemical which carries pain sensations to the brain, thus eliminating pain in the affected area. Arthur Itis, is available immediately without a prescription in an odorless, greaseless, non-staining cream or new roll-on liquid form. Arthur Itis, is guaranteed to work or your money back.

Jackets roll in semi

By MARTY VALANIA

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

If the third time is really the charm, Newark High's football team will find out Saturday night.

The Yellowjackets blanked Cape Henlopen 21-0 in the semi-finals of the Delaware High School Division I Football Tournament at Hoffman Stadium. In earning the shutout, the defense held the Vikings to just 5 total yards of offense and negative 18 yards rushing. Cape earned just one first down all night. Of the 35 offensive plays that the Vikings ran, just 16 of them went for positive yardage.

The win advances Newark into Saturday's state championship game against William Penn — a 26-14 winner over Salesianum. It will be the third straight year in which the Colonials and the Yellowjackets have met in the final. Newark hopes to reverse the two previous William Penn victories.

"We played great defense," said Newark coach Butch Simpson, whose team will seek the school's first state football championship since 1985. "Not just from the shutout point of view, but from setting the tone of the game."

A case can also be made for Corey Wallace and the offense setting the tone of the game. Wallace ignited the Jackets on their first offensive series by carrying the ball all three plays of the drive for 58 yards and a touchdown. The big play came on a 43-yard burst up the middle on the second play. He capped the short series with a seven-yard touchdown run to give Newark an early 6-0 lead.

Team hopes to reverse final fortunes

NEWARK-WILLIAM PENN.

For long-time Delaware high school football fans, it's a rivalry that goes back a long way. For current Newark players, it's a thorn that's been stuck in their side for two years.

The Colonials have defeated the Yellowjackets in each of the past two state championship games. In fact, Newark has lost five games over the past three years — and four of them have been to William Penn.

Two years ago William Penn was the clear favorite and the better team and won. Last year, Newark dominated the regular season game between the two teams but somehow lost in overtime. The Jackets seemed like the better team entering the final but were blasted in the mud of Baynard Stadium.

This year?

"We're in the final again," Newark coach Butch Simpson said. "If there truly is a football god, then

Defense keys victory

THE OLD ADAGE, "defense wins championships," never rang more true than it did Friday at Hoffman Stadium.

With Newark's high powered offense sputtering most of the game, the defense stepped-up and gave its best performance of the year. One can even make an argument that this was the best performance given by any high school defense, in Delaware, this year. Or how about saying this was the best performance a defense ever gave in state tournament history.

The facts are there to support all these statements: Cape Henlopen had negative 18-yards rushing and only 5-yards total, the Vikings managed just one first down the entire game.

Still the facts do not tell the whole story. The most telling sign of Newark's dominance on defense may be coach Butch Simpson's offense play calling. Armed with the knowledge his defense had totally paralyzed Cape Henlopen's offense, Simpson became exceptionally liberal with his play calling. Several times he elected to go on fourth down, despite Newark being in its own end of the field. He even called a fake punt, again while the ball lay in Yellowjackets' territory.

"We played great defense," Simpson said. "Not just from the beginning setting the tone of the game. But, also the number of times we put ourselves in jeopardy... I can't count the number of times [Cape Henlopen] got the ball in our territory with a first down and our defense prevented them from moving."

Blue Hens to host Ga. Southern

Win over Hofstra advances UD to quarterfinals

By MARTY VALANIA

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

ONE DOWN AND THREE TO GO.

After defeating Hofstra 24-14 last week, the University of Delaware will now take on Georgia Southern Saturday afternoon at Delaware Stadium in the quarterfinals of the NCAA's I-AA playoffs.

The Eagles, who won four national championships in five years in the late 1980s, have vaulted back into national prominence this season after a several year slump. With Marshall moving up to Division I-A, seventh-seeded Georgia Southern won the Southern Conference championship to earn an automatic bid into the tournament.

Last week in the opening round it defeated Florida A&M 52-37. The Eagles jumped to a 42-21 halftime lead and held on for the win.

"It was a shootout," said Georgia Southern coach Paul Johnson. "We were hanging on for dear life there at the end."

Other quarterfinal games include top-seed Villanova (12-0) hosting Youngstown State (10-2); Western Illinois (11-1) hosting McNeese State (11-1) and Eastern Washington (11-1) hosting Western Kentucky (11-1). All of the top eight seeds won last week to advance, although Western Illinois and McNeese needed last minute scores to avoid being upset.

The Delaware-Georgia Southern winner will play the Western Illinois-McNeese winner, while the winners of the other two games will square off. If Delaware and Western Illinois win, the semifinal will be in Macomb, Ill. If Delaware and McNeese win, the Blue

Hens will host the semifinal game.

Georgia Southern's two losses came at the hands of Appalachian State and the Atlantic-10's William & Mary.

The Tribe knocked off the Eagles 29-28 back on Sept. 6. Delaware defeated William & Mary 14-0 on Nov. 1.

"It's a very big opportunity for us," said Delaware coach Tubby Raymond, who now holds an 8-9 record in Division I-AA playoff games. "They're an outstanding football team. They have great tradition, winning those championships in the 1980s. They got to the mountain top in a hurry."

"It's exciting for our fans to see a team that they've heard so much about. I hope it'll be a good football game."

The Blue Hen defense, which was so outstanding against Hofstra will see an entirely different look Saturday.

While Hofstra threw the ball on nearly every play, Georgia Southern is a predominantly running team. The Eagles run the triple option exclusively.

Delaware Ducks host Thanksgiving tourney

While many people spent their Thanksgiving weekend eating, shopping and watching football, the Delaware Ducks youth hockey club hosted the first Delaware Ducks Thanksgiving Invitational Hockey Tournament.

All the tournament's games were played at The Pond, which is located in Newark off Marrows Rd.

Over 100 players, ages 9-12, representing seven teams from Delaware, Pennsylvania and Maryland squared off in an elimination-style tournament and skills competition.

Local teams won both divisions (squirrel and peewee) of the tournament.

The Ducks Squirrels compiled a 3-0 record to win the Squirrel Division, beating the Wissahickon Warriors 4-2 in the championship game.

The Delaware Junior Blue Hens won the Peewee Division by besting the Ducks 5-0 in the title game.

The Blue Hens compiled a 3-0-1 record to earn the crown. Both the Ducks and Hens defeated the Chesapeake Chiefs and the Delco Phantoms in the preliminary round. The two teams tied each other 4-4 as well to enter the championship game with 2-0-1 records.

The Blue Hens, though, prevailed with a 5-0 victory.

Local players help Del Tech

Local soccer talent helped Delaware Tech to one of its best soccer seasons ever this fall.

Del Tech compiled a 12-7-1 record under third-year coach Rick Meana and at one point during October was ranked No. 25 in the nation in the National Junior College Athletic Association (NJCAA) poll.

"It was by far our most successful season," said Meana, who works in Newark at The Chimes. "Not only in regards to our record but in the attitude of the players and the type of players we had."

Twelve of the Spirit's 16-man roster came from Delaware, including four former Glasgow High players and two former Christiana High players.

Ralph Belford, Joshua Katz, Robert Scholl and Steven Scruggs are former Dragons, who played this season for Del Tech. Matt Wellborn and Steven Thompson are the former Vikings.

Thompson was the team's goalkeeper and had a fantastic year. He recorded six shutouts and was one of the best keeper's in the region.

"He really had a super year," Meana said. "We were amazed at how much improvement he made during the course of the year."

Thompson, along with Andrew Boyle (22 goals), helped Del Tech reach the playoffs for the first time under Meana.

St. Mark's earns national ranking

State champion St. Mark's came in at No. 25 in the USA Today's final national soccer poll of the season.

The poll is conducted by the National Soccer Coaches Association of America.

The Spartans defeated Caesar Rodney 3-1 to win their second straight state championship and seventh in the last 12 years. They finished with an 18-1-1 record that also included a prestigious tournament championship in New York state.

Patrick returning?

The rumor mill has former

Newark High all-stater and current Virginia Tech freshman Butch Patrick returning to Newark to play for the University of Delaware.

That would again reunite him with high school and prep school buddy Butter Pressey. It would also bolster a Blue Hen backfield that appears to be strong for the next few years.

Football fest

It doesn't get any better than Saturday for area football fans.

At noon Delaware will take on Georgia Southern in the quarterfinals of the NCAA I-AA playoffs at Delaware Stadium. At 7 p.m. at Middletown High Newark will square off with William Penn for the Division I state football championship.

It's not often that two games with so much at stake will be played so close together on one day.

If you're really ambitious, then you can check out the Division II championship game Friday night at 7 at Glasgow High. Undefeated Middletown goes for a perfect season in a rematch with Flight B rival Concord.

Bundle up (it's going to be cold) and get out and enjoy the games.

Christiana girls prep for upcoming basketball season

Christiana High's girls basketball coach Charles Michael hopes success can be found in the fountain of youth that will comprise the bulk of his roster as the Vikings' Dec. 9 season-opener approaches.

Michael lost seven players, including his leading scorer, from last season's 11-11 team that made it to the first round of the state tournament.

However, Michael said senior Tawanda Thomas, a 6 foot, 2 inch tall center who will attend Norfolk State University next year on an athletic scholarship, could help make up for the losses.

In addition, the sophomore guard tandem of Ieshia Saunders and Cherelle Dennis should provide the Vikings with one of the quickest backcourts in Blue Hen Conference Flight A play.

Also expected to either start or get a lot of playing time are senior forward Stacey Lumb; sophomore forward Atonya Mobley, a transfer from Baltimore; sophomore center Rolanda Findley; sophomore forward Sherry Keene, and freshman guard Shakeira Brown.

Michael's team will look to Thomas for the bulk of the scoring and mix up full-court pressing because of the backcourt speed, as well as man-to-man and zone defenses.

Despite the inexperience of his team, Michael, who's entering his seventh season as Christiana's coach, said he's used to it by now.

"Here, we've always got to start from scratch," said Michael. "Very seldom do I get a kid in here who has played basketball before. We've always got to start them young and bring them through the program."

Michael cited Thomas' career as an example. "I began starting her the latter part of her sophomore year," Michael said. "She was so big, I just put her out there to try to get a couple rebounds or what have you. But she went to camp, she played ball year-round, and this is what hard work has done for her."

Michael expects Glasgow, William Penn and Alexis I. du Pont to be the strongest teams in Flight A this season.

Phyllis Daniels and Grafton Brittingham are Christiana's assistant coaches.

Goalkeeper Rachel Beatty made two diving saves to preserve the shutout and the victory.

Times for all four tryouts are the same: Under-12 and under-13 boys will be from 8:30 to 10:30 a.m.; under-14 and under-15 boys will be from 10 a.m. to noon; under-16 and under-17 boys will be from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. and under-18 and under-19 boys will be from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

Girls times for all ages (under-12 to under-19) will run from 1-3:30 p.m.

Cost for the program will not exceed $600 for under-13 to under-19 players. Under-12 cost will not exceed $300.

Head coach for the ODP will be Rick Meana - head coach at Delaware Tech.

To be eligible for the Delaware ODP a player must be a Delaware resident or be attending a school in Delaware.

Players are encouraged to attend as many tryouts as possible to have more of a chance to be identified. Players need to attend both upstate and downstate tryouts so that evaluations have level turn outs on each date. A one-time tryout cost of $20 is payable when the player attends the first tryout.

There will also be a mandatory organizational meeting for parents and players Jan. 22 at Glasgow High.

Wm. Penn rallies for semifinal win

By STEVE WESTRICK

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

FOR THE THIRD YEAR running the Yellowjackets and Colonials will square off in the Division I state championship.

William Penn assured the showdown with a 26-14 defeat of Salesanium on Saturday afternoon at William Penn's Bill Cole Stadium.

The title game, which is a rematch of Newark's 10-0 win on Oct. 11, has been anticipated since last December when William Penn defeated the Yellowjackets 26-6 for the state crown.

"I feel we owe them one," William Penn quarterback Wes Hayman said of Newark. "As for me personally I would like to get one back on them."

Following the win over Salesanium, William Penn coach Bruce Reynolds was asked about facing Newark. "We don't care who we play," he said. "I would rather talk about playing a good hard Salesanium team."

Sallies did its best to prevent the William Penn-Newark rematch. At

"I feel we owe them one."

WES HAYMAN

WILLIAM PENN QUARTERBACK ON FACING NEWARK AGAIN

halftime they led William Penn 14-6. A trio of seniors lead Sallies first half charge. Quarterback Andy French connected with receiver Joe Clark five times for 35-yards, while tailback Kevin Coen rushed for 63-yards on 17 carries.

William Penn missed a golden opportunity to score before halftime. Following Salesanium's second touchdown and a short squib kick the Colonials took possession at their own 40-yard line. Led by Hayman's running and passing William Penn got the ball down to the goal line with the clock running out. Hayman was twice stopped on head first dives and the half expired.

Fired up over the missed opportunity, William Penn dominated the second half. The Colonials managed just 42 rushing yards in the first half. On the first drive of the third quarter, William Penn racked up 38 yards on the ground. The drive was capped when fullback Scott Linus dove into the endzone from 1-yard out, cutting the Salesanium lead to two points 14-12.

It didn't take long for William Penn to take its first lead of the game, a lead it would not relinquish. The lead came when Hayman intercepted a French pass and returned it 30-yards for a touchdown.

Linus added a clinching touchdown on a 27-yard dash up the middle with 7:03 left in the game.

POST PICK OF THE WEEK

HERE WE GO AGAIN!

Newark and William Penn will meet for the third straight year to determine the Division I state football champion.

Let's take a look at the matchup.

NEWARK (10-1) VS. WILLIAM PENN (9-2) – Saturday night at Middletown High, 7.

The Colonials won each of the last two seasons and are gunning for an unprecedented third straight state championship.

Newark has not won a state title since 1985 and is hungry for one – especially with the opportunity to beat William Penn.

The Yellowjackets won the regular-season meeting 10-0. The Colonials, however, are a better football team right now than they were Oct. 11 – just like they were last year at this time.

Newark, though, is also playing better football now than they were at this time last year. Like last year, Newark opened the season with its five toughest games. One difference this year, though, is that the Jackets played better down the stretch of the regular season.

They also got a significant test (which they passed) from a tough Brandywine team in mid-November.

This team is also full of players that remember losing to William Penn the last two years.

As was the first game, expect a defensive struggle and a low scoring game. Both teams play very good defense and that won't change Saturday night.

What also won't change is the Jackets' propensity to make big plays. Corey Wallace and Richie Parson have breakaway speed and have come up with big plays all season.

If they do it again Saturday night, it will be the difference in the football game. If they don't, the game's up for grabs.

Newark got a bit of revenge for the last two years with the regular-season victory. The goal for Newark all year, however, has been this game.

William Penn, too, has set its sights on this game, hoping to become the first team ever to win three straight titles.

It should be a close one, which either team can win. We'll, however, stick with the Jackets.

The Pick: Newark 13, William Penn 8.

Jackets to face Wm. Penn Saturday

► FINAL, from 19

maybe it's our turn."

It won't be easy, though. The Colonials, as they did a year ago, have improved throughout the season. Their only two losses are to Newark and Christiana.

"Penn is always better at the end of the season," Simpson said. "It's part of their tradition. Only Coach [Bruce] Reynolds can tell you what road they take to get there, but you can pretty much assume they're playing their best football of the year right now."

It shouldn't be a surprise that William Penn is back in this game. The Colonials returned nearly all of their key components from last year's team.

"You have to remember what we're dealing with here," Simpson said. "This is the two-time state champions with everybody back."

"If any year was a surprise for them it was last year. That's a year where they came on and probably even surprised themselves. This year is no surprise."

Despite the consecutive final losses to William Penn, Simpson doesn't think that will have any bearing on his team or this game.

"Two years ago we had one of our best teams ever," Simpson said. "But William Penn's team was one of their best ever. Our best ever is pretty darn good — but it's not in the class with William Penn's best ever. Last year, we lost in terrible conditions."

The Newark players seem to agree.

"We just want to go out and play our game," said Newark quarterback Bobby Johnson. "We can't worry about the other two games."

"We have unfinished business," said Newark's Corey Wallace. "Last year we got there and we didn't finish."

"This year we really want it. We have to play hard and whatever comes, comes."

Simpson doesn't want the success of the season to be determined by Saturday night's outcome.

"There's that Buffalo Bills mentality out there," the coach said. "But all that means to me is that we've had some pretty good football teams. A lot of football teams in the state would love to be in our position. Our players have played some big football games in front of a lot of people. That's what high school football is all about."

"Sure, everyone wants to win. That's why you play for a championship. We want to win too. But this group has been to the tournament all four years and have been to the final three straight times."

"It's been a great group and it goes beyond football. It's really been an enjoyable coaching experience."

Defense keys win over Cape Henlopen

► DEFENSE, from 19

The defense has been led all season by junior linebacker Justin Caserta. Caserta leads the team in tackles for the year with 110. This game was no exception as Caserta racked up a team high nine tackles.

"We step it up big time," Caserta said. "We know our offensive line was struggling. And so we know we need to step it up and not allow a score."

Caserta said he doesn't see himself as the leader of the defense. However, he does feel that he sets an example for his fellow players.

"I think I bring a lot of heart and intensity to the game. This can really get those other guys involved in the spirit."

Caserta is not the only impressive player on the Newark defense. Senior defensive back Don Johnson leads the team with six interceptions. Johnson had four tackles against Cape Henlopen and has 39 tackles on the year. Corey Wallace who has made headlines for his running skills, is a solid feature in the Yellowjackets' defensive backfield. And Simpson has sang the praises of lineman Chris Adams and Orien Harris more than once this season.

Harris, only a freshman, was a big reason Newark's defensive line dominated a Cape Henlopen team that averaged 225-pounds along the offensive front.

Where Excellence Is The Expectation!

Blue Hens' safety Dorrell Green puts pressure on Hofstra quarterback Geo Carmazzi in Saturday's first-round victory.

Hens hope to advance to I-AA semis

► HENS, from 19

ONE DOWN AND THREE TO GO.

After defeating Hofstra 24-14 last week, the University of Delaware will now take on Georgia Southern Saturday afternoon at Delaware Stadium in the quarterfinals of the NCAA's I-AA playoffs.

The Eagles, who won four national championships in five years in the late 1980s, have vaulted back into national prominence this season after a several year slump. With Marshall moving up to Division I-A, seventh-seeded Georgia Southern won the Southern Conference championship to earn an automatic bid into the tournament.

Last week in the opening round it defeated Florida A&M 52-37. The Eagles jumped to a 42-21 halftime lead and held on for the win.

"It was a shootout," said Georgia Southern coach Paul Johnson. "We were hanging on for dear life there at the end."

Other quarterfinal games include top-seed Villanova (12-0) hosting

Youngstown State (10-2); Western Illinois (11-1) hosting McNeese State (11-1) and Eastern Washington (11-1) hosting Western Kentucky (11-1). All of the top eight seeds won last week to advance, although Western Illinois and McNeese needed last minute scores to avoid being upset.

The Delaware-Georgia Southern winner will play the Western Illinois-McNeese winner, while the winners of the other two games will square off. If Delaware and Western Illinois win, the semifinal will be in

Wallace helps lead Newark over Cape

► SEMI, from 19

If the third time is really the charm, Newark High's football team will find out Saturday night.

The Yellowjackets blanked Cape Henlopen 21-0 in the semifinals of the Delaware High School Division I Football Tournament at Hoffman Stadium. In earning the shutout, the defense held the Vikings to just 5 total yards of offense and negative 18 yards rushing. Cape earned just one first down all night. Of the 35 offensive plays that the Vikings ran, just 16 of them went for positive yardage.

The win advances Newark into Saturday's state championship game against William Penn — a 26-14 winner over Salesianum. It will be the third straight year in which the Colonials and the Yellowjackets have met in the final. Newark hopes to reverse the two previous William Penn victories.

"We played great defense," said Newark coach Butch Simpson, whose team will seek the school's first state football championship since 1985. "Not just from the shutout point of view, but from setting the tone of the game."

A case can also be made for Corey Wallace and the offense setting the tone of the game. Wallace ignited the Jackets on their first offensive series by carrying the ball all three plays of the drive for 58 yards and a touchdown. The big play came on a 43-yard burst up the middle on the second play. He capped the short series with a seven-yard touchdown run to give Newark an early 6-0 lead.

Cape's defense stiffened dramatically from that point on, however.

Home improvements can make big difference for the elderly

PEOPLE PREFER to stay in familiar surroundings as they age, according to studies by the American Association of Retired Persons. But for many, the home may present barriers to a happy and healthy lifestyle.

For instance, a threshold between rooms may become impassable, closet shelves or light switches may be out of reach, even faucets may be too difficult for an arthritic hand to maneuver.

If you have an aging parent, relative or friend, you may want to consider making modifications to their home, apartment or condo which will allow more independence and a greater sense of security at the same time. In reviewing home improvement projects to accomplish easier mobility, Home Depot expert Bob Leidberg cautions that everything should be planned to fit the needs of the occupants, with an eye for accessibility, comfort and safety.

The entrance

A barrier-free entrance is one that will accommodate people in wheelchairs and walkers. To do this, you need a smooth, firm, level or gently sloping pathway or ramp without any steps.

Doorways at both the front entrance and inside will need a clear opening of 32 to 36 inches. Make life simpler by moving the mailbox to the front door at the proper height, or install a mail slot instead. Also, add motion lights outside for safety.

The Bathroom

Installing a stall shower may make all the difference in the world to people who simply have no easy way to get into the tub. Although it may cost a few dollars more, adding a seat makes showering safer for older bathers as well as youngsters.

Bathtub seats with nonskid rubber feet may be used in the tub. Install a shower head on a flexible hose attached to a vertical bar so the hose is within reach. Rails set 33 to 36 inches above the bathroom floor provide grips over the bathtub and beside the toilet. A modified seat may be necessary for wheelchair-bound individuals. Lever-type faucets require little pressure and should be installed at the sink and tub or shower. Preset thermostat controls can prevent scalding or freezing.

Grab bars or safety bars are very important, and two are better than one, said Leidberg. Install a grab bar on the side wall and another on the back of the shower or tub and next to the toilet. Be sure both ends are mounted to wall studs, not simply to drywall. Consider installing a toiletry shelf and mirror at the right height for accessibility.

In the Kitchen

Lower a section of countertop and leave it empty underneath so that a wheelchair can roll into the space. You may also want to add a cook top at this height. "Install a dishwasher about six inches off the floor so it's easier to get to," said Leidberg. "If you can, move the cabinets a few inches lower than usual and add roll-out shelving."

Consider installing overhead sprinklers in the kitchen, where a forgotten pan may catch fire.

In Living Areas

You simply cannot have too much lighting. Add rocker switches, which can be turned on and off using an elbow, in place of wall switches in hallways, near the bed and outside the bathroom. In addition, light-colored carpeting is preferred because it is easier to see. If you have a stairwell, put light-colored handrails on both sides.
