NUMBER 48

Burglars Spend Active Night In Newark

Six Places Entered Christmas Morning; Sought Only Money Or Jewelry; Got Very Little; Broke In Rear

Christmas eve or rather early Christmas morning, Santa Claus was followed by a thief or gang of thieves who entered four homes on West Main street and the stores of Dr. George W. Rhodes and C. B. Dean.

Apparently the burglars were seeking nothing but cash and small jewelry, for although the homes were thoroughly ransacked, nothing else was taken, though valuable Christmas gifts were handled and left. In each instance the thieves made an entrance by either prying or breaking a back window and after making their raid left by the back door. The only clew as to the time of the robberies is that C. B. Dean's store was not entered until after 4.00 a. m., for at that hour he had been up to attend the heater. Their work showed the earmarks of seasoned professionals and they worked very quietly so that the invasion was not discovered until families and storekeepers found their homes and stores in confusion the next morning.

The homes entered were those of H. Edwin Vinsinger, James H. Hutchison, William Brown and Ernest Frazer. The burglars opened a pantry window in the Vinsinger home and took a gold watch chain and about $2.00 in cash. In the Frazer house they got a small sum of money and a Christmas package containing a pair of cuff links. They entered through a rear window of the Frazer home that was not tightly fastened. The Brown and Hutchison homes were also entered by opening back windows. As far as is known their efforts were confined to the first floor.

On entering the two stores, the thieves broke the windows near the locks and unlocked them. The windows were not cut with a diamond but shattered. They took Dean's cash register into the back yard and forced open the drawer to get a sum of money that was there. They made a very neat entrance to Rhodes' drug store, but apparently were frightened away before they could ransack the place thoroughly. It is thought that a wagon delivering bread, which parked in front of the drug store, was the cause of the alarm.

The local authorities were notified and have some theories to work on, but as yet have made no arrests.

CHRISTMAS AT NEWARK M. E. SUNDAY SCHOOL

The two Christmas services of the M. E. Sunday School were both well attended and much enjoyed.

The little ones spoke and sang their songs on Tuesday to a well-filled church. Everybody seemed happy. The banks were opened and over sixty dollars turned in from the two little departments.

On Thursday evening the big folks had their turn. The orchestra, Mr. Gaerthe, the Junior Choir, Mrs. Howard Williams, Mrs. Oscar Elliott and Miss Anna Gallaher furnished the entertainment. White gifts were received during the evening and reported in part at the close of the service.

A further amount was received Sunday and to date the fund including the Cradle Roll amount of $65.00 previously turned in, has reached over $425.00. A few more are to report and this will still further increase the fund. About $385.00 of this amount is designated for the building fund while the balance is distributed to Riverview Home, Babies Hospital, Ambulance Fund, needy families in Newark and vicinity and several of the classes gave of their time and talents in other directions without taking note of it.

Decorations were taken care of by Mrs. Leonard Lewis' class and they gave a good account of themselves.

The Superintendent and officers wish to express their appreciation to all those helping in any way to make this a happy and profitable season while thinking of our one Great Gift.—Superintendent.

Beloved Physician Has Birthday

Dr. Kollock Celebrates 76th Milestone; Retired After More Than 50 Years Active Service

On Monday, Dr. Henry G. M. Kollock, retired physician who is known and loved by every one in Newark, celebrated his 76th birthday. Dr. Kollock, who retired recently after over 50 years of active practice of medicine, is still active in his interest in all worthwhile activities in town.

Dr. Kollock started to practice in Philadelphia on March 9, 1872, and came to Newark two years later, where he has made his home ever since. His first place of residence here was in a house that stood about on the site of the former home of the late Dr. Walter H. Steel. Later he moved to what is now Purnell Hall, University of Delaware. He moved to his present home, nearly opposite the Washington House, on Main street, in 1880. Dr. Kollock's practice was not confined to the town, but he guarded the health of many persons in the rural districts and could be seen at any hour of the day or night, making his way to the bedside of some country patient; first with a faithful horse and buggy, and later in an automobile. Besides looking after his many calls to the sick, Dr. Kollock was active in business and civic interests, and was physician for both the B. & O. and P. & B. W. railroads.

Dr. Kollock is a native of Sussex county. As a boy he attended a private school in Milford and later the Newark Academy, one of the oldest schools in the country. From the Newark Academy he entered Jefferson Medical School, Philadelphia, graduating in 1872 when 21 years of age, and practiced two years in Philadelphia before coming to Newark.

Dr. Kollock has been a widower for many years. His wife, who was Miss Annie Evans, sister of Charles B. Evans, attorney, died 21 years ago. His sister, Miss Elizabeth Kollock, lived with him many years. She was killed in an automobile accident in front of their residence six years ago.

In point of service, Dr. Kollock is the oldest member of the Board of Trustees of the University of Delaware. He was appointed to the board of what was then Delaware College in 1882, forty-four years ago and has served on the board ever since. For several years he was chairman of the Committee on Buildings and Grounds.

He is a member of the Delaware State Medical Society and also the New Castle County Medical Society, and has served as president of both organizations. He served as president of the trustees of the Newark Academy and is a vice-president and director of the Newark Trust and Safe Deposit Company. He has been a member of Hiram Lodge, A. F. and A. M. for many years and is a former Worshipful Master of that lodge.

Several years ago, Dr. Kollock served as president of the Town Council and has served several terms on the local Board of Health. He was a member of the commission that had charge of building the present town sewer system. He has always been interested in base ball, and if he has a "hobby" it is probably fishing.

Dr. Smith Dead

A telegram was received in Newark this morning stating that Dr. Ernest A. Smith, aged 58 years, had died yesterday at his home in Toledo, Ohio.

Dr. Smith, who was president of Toledo University, was found dead in bed by his mother, Mrs. Martha Smith, death being caused, apparently by heart failure superinduced by indigestion. Dr. Smith leaves a number of relatives in Newark.

RECKLESS DRIVER PAYS PREMIUM

Two Slight Fires Over Week-end

The Newark Fire Department was called out once with apparatus, and members responded to one still alarm over the week-end.

Saturday noon the chimney on the house of William Wilson, Delaware avenue, caught fire and was put out by a fire extinguisher rushed over from the fire house.

Sunday, shortly after 6.00 p. m., apparatus made a quick response and extinguished a fire in the chimney of a house occupied by the Lockemann family, colored, on New London avenue. The first started from an overheated stove and quick action on the part of the fire company prevented damage.

Award Made In Del. Farm Essay Contest

Neal Welch, Of Milton, Receives Gold Watch From Millard F. Davis

Neal M. Welch, 13-year-old son of Major William H. Welch of Milton, and a freshman in agriculture at Milton High School, was adjudged winner, last Wednesday, of the essay contest growing out of the visit made November 20 to the Delaware University Experimental Farm by students in agriculture from high schools throughout the State.

On the day of the visit Millard F. Davis, of Wilmington, announced a prize of a gold watch for the best essay on "What I Learned at the Delaware Experimental Farm." Two hundred and one essays were submitted and after being judged by Dr. R. W. Heim, Professor George L. Schuster and Dean McCue, that of Neal Welch was chosen as the best. Accompanied by his father and Dr. Heim, Neal went to Wilmington last Wednesday, where Millard Davis gave him the watch as a reward for having written the following essay:

WHAT I LEARNED AT THE DELAWARE EXPERIMENTAL FARM.

By Neal M. Welch.

On November 20, 1926, the boys of the agricultural class of our high school went to the Experimental Farm at the University of Delaware at Newark. We were met there by Dr. Heim, who gave us a few instructions. Then we were led to the apple orchard by our guide.

The main topic that was discussed in the orchard was: "The Fertilization of Apple Orchards." The three elements which were mentioned in the talk were nitrogen, potash and phosphoric acid. The orchard was 17 years old and was laid off in 24 plots. The first few plots were check plots, having no fertilizer whatsoever. The results of this were that the trees did not have full growth and the cover crop was poor. The next plots had potash and no other fertilizer on them. The trees were not improved very much, but the cover crop showed some.

SURPRISE PARTY

J. Irvin Dayett was tendered a birthday surprise last Thursday evening at his home by a few friends. The guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Julian Ford, of Middletown; Dr. and Mrs. C. C. Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. John K. Johnston, Professor and Mrs. T. A. Baker, Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Bousman, E. W. Cooch, Colonel and Mrs. S. J. Smith, of this town; Lieutenant Barber, of Fort Wright, New York; and Mrs. A. D. Ayerst, of Pittsburgh.

WILL ATTEND TEA

Mrs. Walter Hüllihen, Miss Louise Hüllihen, Mrs. George L. Townsend, Jr., and Miss Catherine Townsend will be guests at the tea given at the Wilmington Country Club by Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Spruance, for their daughter, Miss Emily Spruance.

RECOGNITION

That Kells is known in the community for what the Craftsmen here wish the institution to be known, has been assured. Letters and packages come addressed in many ways. A few samples are: "The Kells," "Mr. Kells," "Mr. Kelly," "A. T. Kells" (at Kells), "Kells Mill and Lumber Company," "Kells Art Styles."

But a real thrill came when a letter addressed simply, "The Art of Printing, Newark, Delaware," was delivered promptly at Kells!

1927 Should Bring Continued Prosperity

Business Leaders And Experts Are Conservatively Optimistic For Business; Basic Factors In Healthy Condition

The consensus of opinion of the business outlook for 1927 by the country's leading bankers, business men and business experts points to a year of continued prosperity in general lines of business.

While 1926 brings to a close two years of unusual prosperity, none of the underlying business factors are over-extended to an extent that would point to an immediately approaching period of decline. The stock and bond markets are near record high levels and will possibly show minor reactions, but the conditions of the industries they represent is such that it is not likely that they have anticipated industrial conditions far into the year. While a slowing down in certain lines of business is likely, and commodity prices may show a decline, nothing drastic is expected and such declines will probably work toward a greater stability of general economic conditions. The ordinary forecasters of general business depression such as inflated prices, high inventories and over-expanded credit are absent according to the opinion of most business leaders.

Generally speaking, while the outlook is for continued prosperity, it does not mean increased prosperity but rather a hovering for an intermediate period of a year or more about the peak before a gradual decline into a major period of low prices.

Roger W. Babson, famed statistician and business prophet of Wellesley Hills, gives as the three most favorable factors to business for the coming year: (1) Large bank surpluses with easy money rates; (2) Freedom from labor troubles, due to protective tariff, low immigration and general employment; (3) The business administration at Washington.

Babson anticipates little slack in building as he points out that, contrary to general belief, people build at high prices, for easy money and credit parallel high labor and commodity costs. He says that 1926 closes with business 15 per cent above normal as compared with 1925 which closed with business 18 per cent above normal. This percentage is based on the area theory developed by applying Newton's law of action—reaction to human affairs.

The views of other prominent men who have a finger on the pulse of general business are as follows:

LAMMOT DU PONT President, E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co.

As the year 1926 draws to a close, we do not see any element in the industrial or economic situation which would indicate trouble or depression ahead. This view seems to be well supported by economists and bankers generally. If this is the present situation, it seems to follow that, for at least the next year, the country will experience a satisfactory volume of business.

This is our expectation for business in general, but as applied to our own lines, we feel that, due to the natural growth in population, together with the fact that many of the lines in which we are engaged consist in recent developments, our business for the next twelve months will run somewhat better than the current year.

ELBERT H. GARY Chairman United States Steel Corporation

Any well-posted man will say that general business conditions during the year 1926 have been extraordinarily good. Likewise he could, with justice, say the opportunities for success in business in this country have been better than they have ever been before.

We are rich in resources, including cash balances in the banks. Our banking facilities have been improving year by year ever since the Federal Reserve was established. This is likely to continue.

The labor conditions are unusually good. There is very little real dis-

"THE POPULAR SIN"

Sin, popular since the start of the world, first had its inception when the serpent gave Eve a nice, red, rosy apple. From that day to this, sin, in one form or another, has flourished. Lying, stealing, killing, and any of ten other forms have held the stage at various times. At the present moment, it would appear to be "the popular sin," which to quote Monty Bell, well known author and motion picture director, is—"loving two people at the same time."

"The Popular Sin" arrives at the Newark Opera House on Wednesday, January 5. Malcolm St. Clair, director of "The Grand Duchess and the Waiter," was at the helm.

Big Conowingo Dam Job Being Speeded

Work Will Take 33 Months More To Complete, Chief Engineer Says

Dr. W. C. C. Eglin, chief engineer of the Philadelphia Electric Company which is financing the great Conowingo hydro-electric power project, states that fully two years and nine months will be required for construction work. Thus far 175,000 cubic yards of concrete have been poured for the construction of the dam. A village has been built for employees and neither holidays nor snow will stop the work, it is announced.

If the span across Chesapeake Bay, from the Western Shore to Kent county, be erected it will probably become necessary to construct a modern bridge across the Chester river to replace the ancient wooden bridge now spanning that stream. It is thought the flow of vehicular traffic will be so great as to put too great a strain on the present bridge and that the erection of a steel and concrete structure will become imperative. This is the opinion of the newly organized Kent County Chamber of Commerce which is about to open its new offices and to start business in thoroughgoing fashion.

It also is concerned with industrial enterprises. The river bridge has long been under discussion by county and State officials and it is thought the Kent commerce chamber will shortly reopen the matter with State officials.

500 Autos Make Detour Daily

Indicating the need of a bridge across the bay, traffic authorities of the Eastern Shore estimate that 131,500 automobiles made the detour by way of Elkton across the Susquehanna River to Baltimore, during the year 1926.

This vehicular traffic originated from all points on the Eastern Shore of Maryland and Delaware. It is maintained that the erection of a bridge across Maryland's inland sea is a real need, and that the advent of motor traffic in larger volumes and advancement of engineering knowledge, have brought this problem with in the realm of practical business.

According to estimates just made public, the cost of taking a passenger automobile from Chestertown to Baltimore by way of ferry is $4.50; by way of Elkton and Havre de Grace, $5.10, while by way of the proposed bridge from Bay Shore to Rock Hall, it would be but $3.10.

The scale of toll rates proposed by the Chesapeake Bridge Company, which corporation is expected to erect the bridge, and upon which the rates are based, are as follows: Passenger vehicles, $1.25; light trucks, $1.50; heavy trucks, $3; passengers, other than driver, 15 cents. These are said to be maximum tolls proposed.

WITH two successive years of unusual prosperity just passed we are looking forward to another season prolific in all that is good in life and business. We are grateful for the share of the past that has been ours and we plan to reflect that success in increased scope of service so that our forty-eighth year will mark our greatest period of growth.

It would be vain to hope for ourselves or to wish you everything good for the coming year but we do wish everyone a brimming measure of success and happiness.

DECEMBER 29, 1926

Happy New Year!

(An Editorial by Everett C. Johnson, reprinted from the Newark Post, December 31, 1924)

Happy New Year—yes, trite perhaps, in its repetition—even commonplace, but Happy New Year to all, just the same.

The year closing with its mistakes and achievements, its sadnesses and joys, its defeats and victories, its lights and shades, its ambitions and realizations, its life and hopes attained, with its deaths, and dreams shattered has been a wonderful year. Whether glad today or sad depending on circumstance and interpretation, our Greeting is Happy New Year in 1925. In that, may we have a part and may that part add to your joy. Let the part be great or small, here's our best according to our light and lives.

Rather than preach ourselves, let us repeat what James Allen so pertinently writes:

As you think, you travel; as you love, you attract. You are today where your thoughts have brought you; you will be tomorrow where your thoughts take you. You can not escape the result of your thoughts, but you can endure and learn, can accept and be glad. You will realize the vision—not the idle wish—of your heart, be it base or beautiful, or a mixture of both, for you will always gravitate toward that which you, secretly, most love. Into your hands will be placed the exact results of your thoughts; you will receive that which you earn; no more, no less. Whatever your present environment may be, you will fall, remain, or rise with your thoughts, your vision, your ideal. You will become as small as your controlling desire; as great as your dominant aspiration.

Note:—The message for the New Year written in this editorial is our message to you, for the year 1927, but expressed for you much better than we could express it.—Ed.

The Dignity of Labor

"Efficiency of a practically flawless kind may be reached naturally in the struggle for bread. But there is something beyond—a higher point, a subtle and unmistakable touch of love and pride beyond mere skill; almost an inspiration which gives to all work that finish which is almost art, which is art."

—Joseph Conrad.

agreement or dissatisfaction to be found in industrial circles.

Now as to the future, no one can be certain as to what is going to happen. Many things may occur to change the business situation for the worse at any time. Some of them may be preventable.

But with the opportunities, as outlined, there is no reason why prosperity during 1927 will be seriously interrupted. There is nothing in sight to indicate that it will be. If business shall be seriously diminished during the coming year, it will be the fault of ourselves and not the fault of natural conditions or the lack of consideration and fair treatment by the National Administration.

President, National City Bank of New York

The year 1926 has been one of comparative stability in banking. For over a decade the financial world has been tossed about in a sea of alternating inflation and deflation caused by war and great shifts of gold on a scale heretofore unheard of. Gradually the effects of the war are clearing away and banking conditions the world over are getting back more nearly to normal.

In this country commercial demands have shown a healthy expansion during the past year, in keeping with the activity of industry, but there is no evidence of borrowing to excess. In fact, the conspicuous feature of the present situation has been the stability of financial concerns to finance themselves with comparatively little recourse to bank credit.

Such increases as have occurred in commercial borrowing have been offset in part by a decline in bank investments and security loans, so that the year closes with but a moderate advance in total bank credit outstanding over the levels prevailing at the beginning of the year.

Concern has been expressed in some quarters over the present large holdings of banks of securities and collateral loans which are ineligible for rediscount or pledge at the Reserve banks. The expansion of these holdings in recent years has been due largely to the fact that gold imports have caused supplies of funds to increase faster than they could be absorbed in the ordinary commercial channels, so that banks have had no other alternative than their employment in the security markets.

The problem of maintaining liquidity should engage the attention of all bankers, but there is no evidence that the banking position thus far has been impaired. If we do not get any more gold the savings of the country will gradually absorb this large floating supply of securities, and banks will increase their holdings of commercial paper.

Despite the large amount of funds employed in the security markets, growth of installment credit, and other demands upon the banks, the important thing to note is that the total volume of credit required of the Reserve banks is less than that of a year ago. The country is thus carrying on its business without drawing upon its ultimate banking reserves, a fact that speaks strongly for the underlying soundness of the credit situation.

With the resources of the Reserve banks practically untouched, money conditions continue easy, with no prospect of strain. What the trend of rates will bring during the coming year, depends, in the last analysis, upon the course of business. No one expects anything in the nature of tight money, but it is true also that aside from such temporary seasonal easing as always occurs in January no large reductions are likely so long as business holds up to current levels. It should be remembered that demands for capital have increased very rapidly during the past five years, and that heretofore they have been met, with funds to spare, largely because of the replenishment of our bank reserves through gold imports. With the probability that the period of large gold imports is now over, we can hardly expect to enjoy indefinitely the unusual combination of high business activity and abnormally low money rates.

ALFRED P. SLOAN, Jr.
President of the General Motors
Corporation

There is more reason to expect that 1927 will be another good year for the automobile industry—perhaps not so good as 1926, but a satisfactory year. It must be borne in mind that 1926 had exceeded any previous year in the volume of automobile production and sales, that domestic consumer demand has broken all records and that export business has been the largest in history.

During this year something over 4,500,000 passenger cars, trucks and buses were produced in the United States and Canada, or some 6 to 7 per cent more than in the previous record year of 1925. Indeed, the past four years have been a period of very satisfactory automobile volume, the total output of the industry in the United States and Canada in these four years having been about 16,500,000 vehicles, or an average of approximately 4,125,000 a year. It now seems reasonable to expect that the 1927 production will equal, if it does not exceed, this four-year average.

It must be recognized that the volume of replacement automobile business is increasing rapidly and that the overseas demand is steadily expanding, and that additional volume from these sources in 1927 will go far toward offsetting and reduction of new user buying in this country which may be experienced.

Expects No Drastic Change

Although there is some uncertainty as to what the level of general business activity will be next year, there appears to be little likelihood that any drastic change will take place, and that at worst nothing more than a moderate slowing down need be anticipated. This view is predicated upon the fundamental soundness of the present situation. Banking and credit conditions are very favorable, with the available supply of credit large and interest rates relatively easy. There has been no price inflation; inventories have not been piling up; the efficient operation of the railroads makes prompt delivery of the materials and finished products possible; agricultural purchasing power, while perhaps somewhat less than a year ago (primarily because of the decline in the price of cotton), is, on the whole, good, and the present volume of industrial employment and the current level of wages promise a continuance, at least over the near future, of a satisfactory purchasing power from this source.

The building situation, because of the high level of activity in this industry, holds an element of uncertainty, and the possibility of a decrease in building operations must be recognized. It is unlikely, however, that any sharper drastic reduction of building will occur next year.

In view of the foregoing, I think that we may look forward to a year of good general business, even though it possibly will not be quite so good as 1926. And the same applies, in my judgment, to the automobile business.

Eight Nobel Peace Prize Winners Living

26 Have Won Award, 4 Of Them Americans; Elihu Root, Winner 1912, Senior Living Winner

The twenty-fifth anniversary of the Nobel Peace Prize, created by the will of Alfred Nobel, Swedish chemist and inventor, found only eight living men who have won this award for work in promoting the fraternity of nations. Twenty-six, among them four Americans, have won this prize. Elihu Root, American statesman and former U. S. Senator, is the oldest living holder of the award.

The four Americans who have been granted the Nobel Peace Prize are: Theodore Roosevelt in 1906, for his work in establishing peace between Russia and Japan; Elihu Root, 1912; Woodrow Wilson, 1919; Charles G. Dawes, 1925 (co-winner with Sir Austin Chamberlain, British Secretary for Foreign Affairs.)

The eight living winners are: Elihu Root, U. S., 1912; Henri LaFontaine, Belgium, 1913; Christian Lous Lange, Norway, 1919; Fridtjof Nansen, Norway, 1922; Charles G. Dawes, United States and Sir Austin Chamberlain, Great Britain, 1925; Aristide Briand, France, and Dr. Gustav Stresemann, Germany, 1926.

Dawes and Chamberlain have been declared co-winners of the 1925 award and Briand and Stresemann the 1926 prize. The American Vice-President is the author of the reparations plan bearing his name and the other three were prominent in the Locarno Conference, which evolved pacts affecting the future peace of Europe.

The other winners of the peace prize were H. Durant of Switzerland, and Fr. Pany of France in 1901; L. Ducommun and A. Gobat, Switzerland, 1902; Sir W. R. Cremer, England, 1903; Baroness von Suttner, Austria, 1905; L. T. Moneta, Italy, and L. Renault, France, 1907; K. P. Arnoldson, Sweden, and F. Bajer, Denmark, 1908; A. M. F. Beernaert, Belgium, and Baron de Constant, France, 1909; T. M. C. Asser, Denmark, and A. H. Fried, Austria, 1911; L. Bourgeois, France, 1920; H. K. Branting, Sweden, 1921. The first awards were distributed on the fifth anniversary of Nobel's death, December 10, 1901.

The prize was given to the Institute of International Law in 1904, the International Peace Bureau in 1910 and the International Red Cross in 1917. No awards were made in other years.

When first distributed in 1901, the value of the prize was $40,409, but it has decreased under taxation.

For this year it is $31,356 and for last year $31,936.

A bill passed by the Swedish parliament removes the taxation after this year.

"RED DICE"
Bootlegging—America's huge criminal industry, until now carefully disregarded by motion picture producers because of the necessity of taking sides was chosen as plot material for Rod LaRocque's new star picture, "Red Dice," which will be presented at the Newark Opera House on Saturday.

The activities of a tremendous bootlegging ring have been realistically represented in the story, which was prepared for the screen under the supervision of Jeanie Macpherson. Miss Macpherson spent most of a recent visit to New York studying the methods of big bootleggers, the federal officers assisting her to obtain data by permitting her to go on board a revenue cutter to chase rum-runners, and to be present at the raiding of a huge liquor ware house.

P.T.A. News
A beautiful tree added greatly to the enjoyment of the program at Forest Oak school for the P.T. A. meeting on December 22. Christmas recitations, songs, and a little play, "Everywhere, Everywhere, Christmas Tonight," made up the pleasing program. A treat of candy and organes was given by the teacher, Miss Debbie Jackson, to her pupils, while she received many gifts herself.

The fourth meeting of Kirkwood Colored P.T. A. was held on December 22, with every member present. The children gave a most enjoyable Christmas program, and presents were distributed to the pupils at the close of the evening. Everyone is looking forward to the opening of the Night School on January 4.

The pupils gave a fine Christmas program at their school and the regular P.T. A. meeting was held December 20, at the Ebenezer Colored school. Besides an educational program, a display of the children's work was greatly appreciated by the parents. The members are working to secure a 100 per cent enrollment in the Night School to be opened January 4, for those in the district who cannot read and write. Individual lamps have been bought to furnish light for the adult pupils.

"To know how to wait is the greatest secret of success."
