Record turnout for record race

DESPITE A RECORD FOUR candidates running for the First District council seat in Newark's Special Election this week, only two ever really got out of the starting gate.

Winner John Farrell, who made water resources for Newark his primary issue, received more than half of the 1,027 votes cast. Leading with 526 votes, his next nearest challenger was long time city activist Anita Puglisi with 346 votes.

"I think it was a fair campaign," said a smiling but emotional Puglisi after the vote count. "We all put out our best, campaigned hard, sensitized the voters to the issues, and the city's a better place for it."

Farrell told reporters that with all the issues out there, voters he met in the district were obviously well-informed. "That's what I really like about Newark," said Farrell, who plans to pursue the water issue when opportunity presents itself.

"Even if I didn't win, I wanted to at least have people know about that," he added.

Newark businessman Martin Reynolds received 95 votes and Scott Bowling trailed far behind with 59. There was also one write-in vote for the council seat vacated after then councilmember Hal Godwin was elected Mayor in April.

While waiting for the votes to be counted, Bowling observed, "It was a really good turnout - I can't complain about that. At least people cared enough to come out and vote."

Police continue investigation of Bowling incident

By MARY E. PETZAK

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Newark Police continued their investigation this week of the alleged attack on Abbotsford resident Scott Bowling on June 16.

Police Chief William Hogan said Bowling admitted to police that he lied about the incident. "He admitted it is not true that a stranger assaulted him," said Hogan. "And we are not absolutely sure that an 'assault' occurred at all, although 'something happened' between Mr. Bowling and another person according to what he told police on June 25."

Bowling admitted the story was not accurate after police told him the physical evidence found during their investigation did not support Bowling's story, said Hogan.

Hogan also said the incident, "as described by Bowling in his version on (June 25)," was not politically motivated and did not involve candidates for city office, or any city employee or elected official.

Bowling previously told reporters from the Newark Post and the News Journal that during the alleged assault the unknown attacker said, variously, "we don't want you on city council, or 'this will keep you off city council.'"

While Bowling did not give that information to police, the other city council candidates said they were told this version of the story by Newark resident Shirley Tarrant, who also told the Newark Post she filed the initial police report and gave the story about the incident to the media.

Bowling

"Mr. Bowling also stated in the News Journal report that, given what the attacker said, what else could it be, if not politically motivated?" said Hogan.

Hogan said police took the matter to the Delaware Attorney General because Bowling's statement to police was not true. "The other person involved was not a stranger as Mr. Bowling stated, and the circumstances as he described them were not factual."

Hogan also noted that the emergency room report on the night of the incident appeared to show minimal injury to Bowling.

POLICE BLOTTER

Bear man arrested in stabbing

Newark Police arrested a 17-year-old Bear man in connection with a stabbing near Delaware Avenue and Academy Street on June 26 around 10 p.m. Police said a dispute allegedly over a girl turned violent. Harvey B. Longacre IV, 18, of Brookside Park was stabbed in the throat with a hunting knife. He was treated at Newark Emergency Room and then transferred to Christiana Hospital where he was admitted in critical condition for emergency surgery. Roy McNelly, 18, of Newark was also cut slightly when he tried to break up the fight. The juvenile suspect was charged with assault 1st and possession of a deadly weapon during a felony. He was committed to New Castle County Detention Center in lieu of $30,000 bond.

Surgery required for ruptured spleen

A 17-year-old Bear man went to the hospital with a ruptured spleen several days after he was allegedly beat up in the Newark Shopping Center. The man told police he was attacked with hands and fists by an unidentified Hispanic on June 23. He went to the hospital several days later when he experienced severe pain in his side. Police are still investigating.

Security guard beaten

A 48-year-old security guard at the White Chapel community was severely beaten after he chased and attacked teens who allegedly robbed him earlier on June 27 around 10:30 p.m. County Police said two unknown black males allegedly took money from the guard by force and then fled toward Marrows Road and the community of Kimberton. The guard followed the group and found them on South Way Drive where he confronted a 17-year-old male as one of his attackers. During a resulting fight, the guard broke a glass bottle over the head of the youth and slashed him. After the teen was taken to Christiana Hospital by private vehicle, other unknown suspects severely beat the guard and dragged him across the street to a common area near tennis courts. The guard was in critical condition at Christiana Hospital after emergency surgery to repair several broken ribs and a punctured liver. The 17-year-old was treated and released with 75 stitches to his head and face. Anyone with information is asked to call Detective Clinton Watson at 571-7924.

Newark woman killed in collision

An elderly Newark woman died in a two-car collision as the car she was in attempted to make a left turn from Route 4 on to Harmony Road on June 30 around 8:20 p.m. County Police said Jeannette Smith, 72, was a passenger in the back seat of a 1991 Chrysler New Yorker LeBaron driven by Earl Griffith, 62, of Newark. Griffith's vehicle was struck by a 1994 Isuzu Trooper driven by Christopher D. Algard, 41, of Newark. Police said Algard had the green light when he struck the other vehicle. Griffith was treated and released at Christiana Hospital. Algard was admitted in fair condition. A second passenger in Griffith's car, 43-year-old Larry Smith, was admitted in serious condition. No charges have been filed. Police are still investigating.

Main St. businesses welcome UD debit card

► DEBIT, from 1

WSFS ATM card with the existing UD#1 Card, a campus cashless purchasing program. The first phase of the partnership will enable students to make debit purchases as early as the fall semester at participating locations on and off the campus with the new ATM card.

Local merchants, some of whom have long lobbied the University for an off-campus debit card system, expect some benefit once the program is in use.

"I think it's great," said Cindi Handloff, owner of the Indigo clothing boutique at Traders Alley. "When I opened the store I wanted to find out if that would happen in the future."

Handloff added, "I went to the University and I wish (an off-campus debit card) had been an option when I went there."

Annika Ekstrand, manager for GrassRoots at Academy and Main streets, said she thinks the new card is a positive thing. However, she doesn't think it will effect the majority of their business.

"I think that there are a lot of people who come in here now and wish they could use their (student) card in that way, but that's about it," said Ekstrand.

As a part of the agreement, WSFS will introduce the electronic transaction account to the students as well as offer parents of UD students accounts and special banking benefits. The second phase, which will be implemented by January 1999, will merge the function of both cards into one and will provide the ability to transfer funds between the accounts.

"It will probably benefit most first year students who don't have cars, because it will be easier for students so they don't have to search for a bank," said graduate student Marcia Cavanaugh. "I wouldn't use it though, 'because I already have a bank and I don't associate the University with banking functions.'"

Senior Alison Sloane agreed with Cavanaugh. "I might have considered it my freshmen year, but I wouldn't use it now."

Mieke Monen, parent of an incoming freshman, said she already has a son who attends college. Based on her experience, Monen said, "I think it might be helpful to have all of the functions in one card. I think that it will be more convenient, especially for freshmen."

Under the five-year agreement with WSFS, students will have access to a student checking account with special rates, an ATM card for debit purchases on and off campus, as well as ATM privileges.

WSFS will also open a banking site in the Trabant University Center on Main Street starting in the fall. The bank also plans to set up a system by which students will be able to access their accounts through the Internet.

While the system will be fully operational by spring semester of 1999, Barbara Kreppel, assistant vice president for administrative services at the University, said there are still a few technological hurdles. "We have to work out a computer systems interface, and we also have to work out a way of linking the ATM system to the current campus computer system," Kreppel said.

To insure the security of the cards, there will be a system with which the pin number will be used. Kreppel added that the card will also be easily replaceable if it is lost.

Davis seeking re-election

State Representative Richard F. Davis (R-Sherwood Forest) announced he plans to seek re-election in the 26th District, where he was first elected in 1983.

"The thing I like most about my job as a state representative is the chance it gives me to work with other residents interested in improving things in our communities," Davis said. "In a growing district like ours, the level of need is constant but we are making real progress in several critical areas like transportation improvements, increasing police patrols and buried construction wastes."

During his time in the General Assembly, Davis said he helped in the start-up of public bus service along Route 40 as well as the expansion of certain routes, and also helped to persuade DelDOT to undertake a multi-year program to install bus shelters, sidewalks, lighting and pedestrian crossings along Route 40.

Davis is the sponsor of pending HB 572 to help homeowners impacted by buried construction wastes on their property. Davis has chaired the legislature's Joint Finance Committee since 1992. He also serves as chairman of the National Conference of State Legislatures' Fiscal Affairs and Accountability Committee.

This year, Davis helped design HB 659, which would require the state to assume essentially all of the local share of school costs (K-12) in exchange for a matching reduction in local school taxes. It is now being considered by the state Senate.

Free parking extended at Newark train station

Free parking at the Newark commuter station and overflow parking on the east side of Governor Printz Boulevard Extension for commuters using the Claymont Train Station will remain available through July. The Claymont Train Station can be accessed from this additional parking area by using the pedestrian bridge over I-495 which leads directly to the station.

DART First State is offering the free and overflow parking as an acknowledgement of all rail commuters, and those commuters who recently choose to use the trains instead of driving during the I-95 repair crisis.

DART First State, operated by the Delaware Department of Transportation's Delaware Transit Corporation, provides commuter train service, intercounty bus service, fixed route bus service, paratransit service, commuter assistance service and the RideShare Delaware program. # Newark-Elkton plans aired

Over 60 residents attend transportation meeting

By MEGHAN AFTOSMIS

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

THE PUBLIC CAME OUT IN FULL FORCE TUESDAY night when almost 60 residents of New Castle and Cecil counties gathered at the Cecil County Library to review transportation plans for the area.

The draft recommendations from the Wilmington Area Planning Council ranged from plans for land use and growth, travel demand management, and bicycle and pedestrian circulation, to public transit, traffic operations and systems management and increased roadway connections.

"These plans make up package that must work together," said Anthony DiGiacomo, WILMAPCO senior planner, "in order to manage the expected growth of a 21 percent population increase and a 32 percent rise in employment by the year 2020."

The answers rest in a variety of combined and interconnected ways to travel including: two-way traffic on New London Road; designating a new truck route along Ott's Chapel and Pleasant Valley road; widening Cleveland Avenue to four lanes or constructing a new road between Route 273 east of Newark to Route 896 north of Cleveland Avenue, also known as the "Northern Connector" route; interconnections between neighborhoods; traffic calming along Elkton Road and residential streets in Old Newark; developing integrated greenway/bike routes and pedestrian amenities; local bus service between Elkton and Newark and express bus service between Elkton and Wilmington; route-deviation bus service on demand in neighborhoods along the Route 40 corridor; facilities for bikes on public transit; additional park and ride sites at Big Elk Mall, at Routes 40 and 896, at Interstate 95 and Route 279, Suburban Plaza Shopping Center, and the Delaware Technology Park; widening the CSX underpass at Casho Mill Road; and converting the Pomeroy Rail Branch Corridor to a multi-use facility.

Many people questioned the plans for increased roadway connections, especially the two alternatives presented to relieve traffic congestion on Main Street and Delaware Avenue.

Newark resident Jean White questioned the placement of the proposed "Northern Connector," expressing concern over the impacts on the White Clay Creek.

But Sheila Anderson, another Newark resident, seemed taken aback by the alternative plans to widen Cleveland Avenue. "That's destroying homes," Anderson said. "Maybe we should recommend there be no new roads."

Mel Lehr and Jim Hess, consultants from Lehr & Associates Inc., answered these comments by explaining that a major investment study would be done to measure both the positive and negative impacts of both alternatives, as well as the choice of not doing either, before a decision would be made.

Also, location studies would have to be done to determine the best placement of a "Northern Connector" route, if any, explained the consultants.

One man questioned whether the conversion of the Pomeroy Corridor, adjacent to Newark Shopping Center, into car and bike travel lanes with pedestrian sidewalks would spur new development in that area.

Lehr said that with future plans for the old Budd site on South Chapel Street and the former Newark Lumber Company, the access provided by the new road would be a complement.

Carl Walbeck, chair of the Cecil County Planning Commission, declared the recommendations as a whole much too timid, with the exception of those for the "Northern Connector."

"These are only band-aids," Walbeck said, adding that a limited access beltway was the only solution. "Now is the time when you should be thinking of Elkton before it gets to the same problems as Newark. I urge you to think larger than you have done in these recommendations."

However, Di Giacomo said under the regulations for the long-range plans, WILMAPCO had agreed to no new roadway expansions in Elkton.

Despite the concerns over new roadway connections, many residents expressed their approval of the traffic calming and enforcement measures, as well as the increased bike paths. "I thought they did a good job with incorporating bikeway plans into the larger regional planning," said Willett Kempton, Newark resident and member of a bike subcommittee in Newark.

Newark resident Ann Brown also was happy to see the details that had gone into increasing public transport and bike paths.

Residents can expect another public meeting to discuss the final recommendations in September, Di Giacomo said. Until then the public can fax, email, mail or call in their comments and questions to the WILMAPCO office. For information, call 737-6205.

day. The last shuttle runs at 4:30 p.m. Limited parking is available in the park for $2.

City officials remind visitors that the city's fireworks are not held at the state park.

"People are getting better at remembering, but every year a few show up there in the evening," said Parks and Recreation supervisor Jennifer Jones. "The state park is closed at dusk."

Fireworks by Zambelli Internationale, which stages pyrotechnic displays around the world, begin about 9 p.m. at the University of Delaware's practice football field off South College Avenue/Route 896.

Free parking is available in all the University's athletic complex lots as well as in Chrysler Lot #2. The fireworks will be visible from all lots.

City officials warn that no alcoholic beverages will be permitted in any viewing areas. Raindate for the fireworks only is Sunday, July 5.

For additional information about either event or weather cancellations, call the Newark Parks and Recreation Hotline at 366-7147.

Farrell wins District 1 special election

FARRELL, from 1

Vowing to remain active in the community after the defeat, Bowling said, "Tomorrow, I'll be back to business representing the people of Abbotsford."

Reynolds was glad the election brought the issues out into the light where they could be discussed. "I had a good time and I enjoyed the people," he said, adding he would definitely stay active in the community.

Poll watchers and residents said they were amazed at the number of persons voting, especially in a Special Election in June. "Now if we could only get them to come to city council meetings," said District 3 member Karl Kalbacher.

A steady stream of District 1 residents rolled through the polling station all day Tuesday. The 1,027 votes are a record for District 1, which usually turns out about 800 voters, according to Marilyn Kuhlman, the District 1 inspector at the polls.

"I think they're taking this election pretty seriously," she said.

Elections clerk Annabelle Wolaston added, "Everybody (that comes in) knows what they are doing and who they are voting for - there's no waiting around."

In 1997, 749 voters in the district turned out to choose Godwin over Bowling by 506-243. In April of this year, 833 people in District 1 voted in the race between Godwin and Marguerite Ashley for Mayor.

Farrell said despite having three other candidates as competition, it was a clean campaign. "It was very above board and we always spoke to each other," he said.

Farrell will be sworn in before the start of the next regular city council meeting on July 13.

Turner lawsuit fees paid by city

Newark city council has agreed not to appeal a decision by Chancery Court Judge William B. Chandler III awarding counsel fees and costs of former councilmember Nancy Turner.

Turner filed a Motion with the Court of Chancery asking for payment $19,046 in counsel fees and costs for the lawsuit she brought against the city of Newark under the Freedom of Information Act.

Chandler said he was exercising his discretion in ordering the city to pay $15,236.80 in attorney's fees and $429.49 in costs to Turner.

In making his award, Chandler stated, "I will take into account my earlier finding that, in violating the Act, neither the Mayor nor other members of the Council tried to mislead or deceive the public."

Freedom's ring in Newark

THIS WEEK WE START OFF immediately by paraphrasing a cliché.

You can fool all the people some of the time, and some of the people all of the time, but not enough people to win an election even some of the time in Newark.

Appropriately enough, more than a thousand people in Newark's First District exercised their constitutional right to vote in the week leading up to the July 4th holiday. The new city councilman, John Farrell, is just one of the candidates we would have been pleased to applaud in this space.

Freedom of speech has taken a hard knocking in Newark lately, including in the last weeks leading up to this election. Our efforts to present all the information known to us about these latest four candidates, just as we have done with others in the past, has not always met with general approval.

We believe, however, that the most astute decisionmakers reside in the homes throughout the city itself. They know what kind of government works best for them, and in the majority of instances, diligently inform themselves on the choices and issues — sometimes long before their community newspaper has interviewed the candidates or examined their platforms.

We hope this will continue. A thousand people took time out of mid-summer to pay attention to a Special Election and make a choice that will affect the city for years to come.

Now, as one current councilmember noted, if we could only get them all to attend the council meetings. We encourage those who wish to be well and truly informed, both before and after elections, to widen their horizons and add at least one city council meeting to their summer events this year. Plan to see your government officials in action at the municipal building near you.

WHERE CAN A MOM GO TO RESIGN?

Defending single parenthood

By RUTH KELLY

NEWARK POST COLUMNIST

MUCH HAS BEEN WRITTEN lately about single parenthood. We have seen single mom celebrities such as Madonna, Michelle Pfeiffer, and Jodi Foster openly share their plans and thoughts on raising children alone. Rosie O'Donnell recently adopted a second child which some might argue tends to glamorize and give acceptance to single parenthood. TV 10 news anchor Rene Chennault boldly announced her pregnancy via artificial insemination and many were appalled at such a thing. "What kind of messages are we sending our young people and society?" they screamed.

I write today in defense of single parenthood as I am a single parent. Although some may say it's nothing to be proud of, I am certainly not ashamed of it. First, let me start by setting the record straight from my point of view. Single parenthood is by no means glamorous and should not be encouraged. I do think, however, it is a choice a woman freely makes and she should not be condemned if she chooses to raise a child alone.

Whether a woman chooses single parenthood or is forced to raise a child alone due to divorce or other circumstance, one thing is certain, and that is she must be prepared emotionally, physically, and financially for it. Many young people today simply are ill equipped to handle a baby and this responsibility many times will fall on the shoulders of the parents of these young mothers. I will be the first to admit that if I had my daughter in my teens or early 20's, we would have really struggled.

My success at single parenthood comes largely as a result of being an older mother (I was 35). I had also been gainfully employed for close to 20 years and thus had excellent health insurance and other benefits crucial in raising a child. Having more knowledge and experience in my 30's was definitely beneficial for me and for my child. I was more responsible, competent and settled.

I've read and listened to people bash single parenthood over the years and I take offense. I will not argue that there are many advantages to a child being raised by both parents. But, the quality of parenting is what is more important. I've seen married couples with children and I thank God that I am not in some of these unhealthy marriage situations. Many husbands don't do anything to help and sit by and idly watch their wives do all the parenting. These women might just as well be single parents.

I was raised to be self-sufficient and because of this upbringing I have been able to take care of myself and not have to depend on a man for my well-being. I vowed to remain single forever if I had to. I am not anti-marriage, but when asked, why I never married, I explain, "I can do bad all by myself."

It is far better to remain single if one can't find that special someone who will enrich your life instead of someone who will bring you down.

Single parenthood has a few benefits. I don't have the conflicts that may arise when I need to make major decisions about my child's well-being. As her mother, I am the primary caregiver and advocate for my child. As a single mom, I can devote all of my time and my energy to my child. Life can really be stressful if you're saddled with a "needy" spouse who may require much of your attention. I often hear other mother's lament at having one additional child to raise.

Personally, parenthood has been the best thing that ever happened to me! Raising a child has given my life purpose and fulfillment. Caring for and nurturing my daughter

OUT OF THE ATTIC

The small building hidden in later years beneath the South College Avenue bridge at the old Newark Passenger Station, was reportedly used by the Railway Express Agency which provided freight transportation like that of package express carriers today. When passenger trains stopped at Newark, freight shipments were loaded and unloaded from baggage and express cars. Local pickup and delivery was done by trucks, perhaps like the one shown in the Newark Post "Out of the Attic" photo of June 5. After World War II, widespread discontinuance of passenger trains, including those to Newark, took away the Railway Express Agency's basic means of transport and the railway freight building at Newark became unused.

Old passenger stations have been carefully preserved but the freight buildings that once accompanied them have been less appreciated. This photo by Newark resident Owen Robatino shows the now demolished building as it appeared in 1989. Mr. Robatino also provided the information for the photo.

Readers are encouraged to send old photos to the Newark Post, "Out of the Attic," 153 E. Chestnut Hill Rd., Newark 19713. Special care will be taken. For information, call 737-0724.

Locals expect playground equipment soon

The several pieces of equipment for the Newark Public Playground which were to have been set up for the opening of the grounds on the Fourth of July, have not yet arrived, according to James C. Hastings, who ordered the goods.

When the equipment arrives, workmen will clear off the lot in back of the Primary School and erect the several slides, bar apparatus, and swings. Then officials will throw the playground open to the children of the town.

Festival and dance prove successful

The young people of the towns of Mechanicsville and McClellandville united in giving a festival and dance at the Strickersville Hall,

Wednesday evening, June 27.

Funds collected were for the purpose of aiding in work for the neglected children of Delaware. Fifty dollars was cleared. The sum was turned over to the Delaware Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children.

July 2, 1993

Bear library soon to be a reality

By the end of July, a sign announcing the future Bear Library will stand where it's to be built on the corner of Highway 40 and Route 7.

The Bear Library, which is being funded equally by the state, county and private contributions, is to be completed by 1997.

Help may be on the way for Castle Mall property

A near-vacant commercial property in Newark could be revitalized by late next year.

The owners of the Castle Mall, an eyesore located on Del. 72 near Del. 4, plan to bring a regional department store chain and a supermarket to the mall where only six of 32 units remain occupied.

Finalizing an agreement with the department store chain is the key, said Frank Vassallo of Fusco Enterprises, the developer who purchased the failing property from the Bank of New York early this year.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To: Editor

From: Kate Cowperthwait, Chapter President, National Multiple Sclerosis Society, Delaware Chapter

I'm writing because I'm concerned that other Delaware residents will be confused about calls for donations they are receiving at their homes.

The National Multiple Sclerosis Society does not raise funds by telephoning and harassing donors. Instead, we have many special events, like the MS WALK, Bike to the Bay, and the READaTHON, to raise money for the many programs and services we offer to people in Delaware living with the daily challenges of MS.

We urge all those who receive any solicitation calls to be aggressive in seeking information on exactly how, when and where their contribution will be used to aid people in the community.

For most of us, these are still difficult economic times and I'm sure there are people out there who want their charitable dollars to be used where they will do the most good for the most people.

To: Editor

From: Bernie Koch, former Newark Post reporter

While surfing the web, I found your site and thought I would drop you a note. I worked for the Newark Weekly Post in 1973 as a reporter and photographer covering local news, state government, and you-name-it. My boss was the flamboyant Rocky Rockwell, who wore an eyepatch and wrote outrageous editorials. I understand he's a professional storyteller now.

I have fond memories of my time there. Most of my family still lives in the Wilmington area. It looks like you're still beating the tar out of the Wilmington paper.

After 18 years in news, I now work for the chamber of commerce in Wichita, Kansas, where I'm the VP for Government Relations.

Ironically, I got a phone call last year from another former Post reporter and editor, Blake Wilson, who (it turns out) is also in chamber of commerce work. He recently moved from the Florida State Chamber to Mississippi's equivalent of a state chamber.

Regards.

Single parenting isn't easy, but it can also be very rewarding

has enriched my life in ways I never thought possible. As an example, I have been writing since I was young but never dreamed or had the courage to submit or share my work with anyone. I began to find that I had a voice and had much to say and boldly acted upon it. I am doing things in my life now that I am a mother, that I never dreamed of before the birth of my child.

I work hard at modeling the behavior for her to follow. When she demonstrates appropriate and acceptable behavior in school and in public I am very proud. It lets me know that I am doing a good job and I'm doubly proud because I'm doing it without a spouse.

On the flip side, single parenting can be very lonely and very frightening at times. Single parents need to make sure you have a will and arrange for guardianship should something happen to them before the child is grown.

As a child enters the pre-teen years, the benefits of a two-parent family also is missed in addressing adolescent issues such as boys, sex and relationships, etc.

I will confess, as a final thought, that I would much prefer not to have to go it alone in my parenting responsibilities. It's tiring and I could definitely use a break. In my 12 years of parenting, I've wanted to throw in the towel and scream many times. But, just when I'm ready to run away from home, something good happens to give me the strength to go on.

This good thing came in a note from my daughter one day out of the blue which read "Hey Mom, some kids in my class said that you are the nicest person in the whole world. I also said that you were a terrific mother. Love, Kim."

NEWARK OUTLOOK

Take me out to the ballgame

FOR MANY Newark parents, summer evenings are spent gobbling down a hot dog, fries and a soda at neighborhood Little League baseball games. Often, it's the only way to make a date with our spouses. I say football may make many a football widow, but baseball raises wives to the status of sainthood! The baseball park is not the only place we take our families to this time of year. There are plenty of summer camps for practicing basketball, soccer, hockey and golf. With the outdoor thermometer pushing 90 degrees now, many of us are heading for the swimming pool or the playground. All these summer activities are a great way to keep children busy and the family entertained. But I fear that parents and coaches neglect the most important part of any outdoor activity — safety. Organized sports, pools and playgrounds can be very dangerous, so it's vital that children are properly supervised at all times, that they wear the appropriate safety gear and that their playgrounds have cushioned surfaces. I have seen children seriously injured this summer in ways that could have been prevented. Let's face it — playing sports is risky business. The SAFE KIDS Coalition reports that half of all sports-related injuries among children could be prevented with the proper gear and safety precautions. "I hope you 'gear up' and keep your children free from injury," advises National SAFE KIDS Campaign Chairman C. Everett Koop. "Practicing prevention is the greatest act of love." SAFE KIDS gear up for the outdoors by wearing helmets for baseball, hockey, biking, skateboarding and in-line skating; elbow and knee pads and wrist guards for in-line skating; and mouth and shin guards for soccer. Other tips to prevent sports injuries are:

- * Make certain children warm up before playing a game.
- * Ensure that children drink plenty of fluids to prevent dehydration.
- * Don't overlook the protection sunscreen of SPF 15 or greater can provide.
- * Don't allow children to wear necklaces with uniforms, or purses, scarves and clothing with drawstrings on playgrounds; these could lead to strangulation.
- * Make sure children play on supervised age-appropriate

Newark Naturalist Honored

Miller has worked for White Clay Creek State Preserve for more than 30 years

By MARY E. PETZAK

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

NEWARK RESIDENT Dorothy Miller was out there again on June 6 to participate in National Trails Day at White Clay Creek State Park.

An active environmentalist for more than 30 years, Miller was recently honored with the Delaware Audubon Conservation Achievement Award.

Miller started as a bird watcher, then learned that one of her favorite birding habitats, the White Clay Creek watershed, was to be disturbed. She has been working ever since to protect the White Clay and the surrounding area.

She was very active in the original effort to prevent damming of the creek. There was no centralized data on the local flora and fauna that would support the position of the people who were working to preserve the watershed. What data there was existed only in the filed notes of Delaware's naturalists.

Miller consolidated their data which showed the damaging environmental impact that the dam would have. Miller said the fight was successful in the end because there was so much community support for the effort.

"We had bumper stickers that gathered lots of attention and people would wait by the car until the owner came back," Miller said. "They would ask where the bumper sticker came from and how they could help."

Miller added, "You never really know what works, so you have to do whatever you can think of. Individual acts themselves probably aren't enough. It takes all that you can think of to make it work."

In 1973, Miller helped form the Coalition For Natural Stream Valleys Inc. and currently represents the Coalition on the White Clay Creek Preserve Council.

Miller is also active as Delaware co-chair for the White Clay Creek Wild and Scenic River study.

"The water is a resource that we have to take care of, and it seems like taking care of the lands around the water is the best way to do that," she said. "Every resource like that has lots of competition for it."

Miller continues to enjoy watching birds as they go about their day-to-day activities. "People ask me, 'Don't you get tired of seeing the same birds all the time?' I say, 'No. It's the predictability that's exciting,'" said Miller. "You know that your old friends will be back at the same time."

Local genius recognized by national organization

Newark native Charles Lewis has been honored with a 1998 MacArthur Fellowship, popularly known as the "genius" award.

Lewis is the founder and executive director of the Center for Public Integrity in Washington, D.C., a nonprofit organization devoted to investigative journalism. He will receive $275,000 over five years from a Fellowship grant given to individuals in diverse fields who show exceptional merit and promise for continued creative work.

Now a resident of Alexandria, Va., Lewis holds degrees from the University of Delaware and Johns Hopkins University. He graduated from Newark High School and his mother, Dorothy Lewis, still resides in Newark.

Formerly a producer at CBS's "60 Minutes," Lewis founded the Center in 1990. In the past eight years, the Center has released more than 30 investigative reports on issues related to public service, government accountability, and public and private sector ethics.

Lewis is also the author of "The Buying of the President" published by Avon in 1996. In addition to providing information to the news media through hundreds of interviews, he has testified before the U.S. Congress. In late 1997, he and the Center launched a new project, the International Consortium of Investigative Journalists, a worldwide network of investigative reporters.

The John D. and Catherine T. MacArthur Foundation, with assets of about $4 billion, is a private, independent grantmaking institution dedicated to helping groups and individuals foster lasting improvement in the human condition. The Foundation has invested over $166 million in the Fellows program where a total of 531 Fellows, ranging in age from 18 to 82, have been named since the program began in 1981.

Hagley offers summer programs

WOULD YOU LIKE to add some real fun to your family's summer Sundays? Not only is it fun, but everyone can learn a lot about life in an earlier time. The program is being operated by Hagley Museum and Library and is called simply "Summer Sundays at Hagley." The program begins this Sunday and will operate through August 30 at the complex on the banks of the historic Brandywine Creek.

There are three types of programs to be offered. Each will enable the visitors to slow down and step back into the 19th century of both work and play. The programs are "Pleasures of the Past," "Rivet 'n Roll 'n More" and, saving my favorite for last, "Ice Cream Jubilee."

The Pleasures of the Past will open this Sunday and also operate on July 19, August 16 and August 30. It will be centered on Hagley's Blacksmith Hill. That is the restored workers' community at the museum. It offers a very revealing look at how the du Pont workers of the nineteenth century lived, worked and raised their children in the shadow of the original black powder mills along the Brandywine.

The Blacksmith Hill of today includes the Gibbons House, the Brandywine Manufacturers Sunday School and the Berlin House. These are, of course, just a few of the buildings that were there in the last century.

The Gibbons house was the home of John Gibbons, a powder yard foreman, and his family. Like many of the early du Pont employees, Gibbons was Irish. You may visit the restored garden to see how Mrs. Gibbons grew the vegetables for Irish stew. Inside the house is the operating wood burning stove. That is often quite a revelation to today's children, along with the fact there is no freezer with goodies available!

The building with the most impressive title is The Brandywine Manufacturers Sunday School. It was built in 1817 and operated only one day a week. It was the only day the black powder mills did not operate. While the children are there, you might let them try writing with a quill pen. Just be careful they don't try to "click" the point up after they are finished.

The third building open for the summer Sundays, The Berlin House, was once home to several du Pont bookkeepers. Today is a delightful restaurant with a panoramic view of the entire area. Speaking of panoramic views, may I suggest taking along your camera? There will be a lot of great photo opportunities.

During each of the Pleasures of the Past Sundays, youngsters can learn to play a variety of games of the past century. They may seem a bit tame after some I have seen my nephews playing with rockets, etc., but they can be fun and a history lesson as well. Some of the games are hoop rolling, bean bag tossing and games. I must admit, I didn't know about the last game but PR Coordinator Suzy Dottor was ready with an answer. "It is almost a sport. It involves tossing hoops on sticks," she explained.

Now for the most important part, ice cream! When asked, many children do know some of the ingredients of ice cream, but children of this decade always miss the same ingredient — muscle power. The youngsters can take part in the effort and help to make this summer treat of both centuries. On one Sunday, August 2, Hagley's Ice Cream Jubilee will be offered from 12:30 to 4:00 p.m.

Rivet 'n Roll 'n More will be offered on Sundays July 12 and 26 and August 9 and 23. This series focuses on the work side of living in the 1800s. The last century's methods of doing the laundry may come as a surprise, especially manually wringing clothes rather than simply dumping them in a dryer. The biggest eye opener for some is seeing a washboard for the first time. Once the young visitors get a chance to use it, the 20th century sounds pretty good. There will also be a chance to rivet in the machine shop, learn to quilt and can veggies the 19th century way. There is a lot of fun for all.

These three special offerings during the Sundays of this month and next are free with regular admission to the museum. Admission for the entire 235 acre museum is $9.75 for adults, $7.50 for seniors and $3.50 for children six to fourteen, under six is free.

For more information you may call 302-658-2400.

Safety is key to summer fun

► OUTLOOK, from 8

equipment that is cushioned underneath with mulch or shredded rubber.

* Never leave a child unsupervised — for even a second near a pool — and don't rely on swimming aids. Children can drown in a matter of seconds in less than an inch of water.

* Enclose the pool with a fence that has a self-closing and self-latching gate to safeguard children!

* Teach children age three or older not to dive into the water. Diving is a very hazardous sport.

In real life, no one gets three strikes. Before you rush out to the ball game with dreams of that grand slam or all-star diving catch, take the extra time to make sure your children are geared up properly. And don't forget to buy the peanuts and cracker jacks!

Social security in massive pyramid scheme

Baby Boomers are mired at the bottom of a massive pyramid or ponzi scheme when it comes to retirement, according to a University of Delaware economist.

William T. Harris' analysis of the Social Security system appears in the new issue of Humanomics, an international social science journal.

Since 1940, U.S. retirees have received an estimated $6.6 trillion dollars more in benefits than they've paid in taxes: an amount only slightly higher than the current national debt, Harris reported. This amount will rise and peak at more than $9 trillion around 2015, he said.

Harris, winner of four University of Delaware teaching excellence awards, said because of the system's huge payoffs to date, privatization simply wouldn't solve the problem.

"We're talking about the ultimate pyramid scheme," said Harris, whose study tracks Social Security benefits over a 65-year period, beginning in 1955 and projected to 2020. "Those who got in early received the biggest benefits for the smallest contributions. The rest of us will experience a very poor rate of return on our investment for the next 22 years, and those retiring after about 2015 will get back less than they paid into the system."

The late Ida M. Fuller of Vermont, for example, the nation's first Social Security recipient, paid only $44 in taxes for three years before she retired in 1940. She collected $20,884.52 in benefits over the next 35 years, according to Harris.

The trend toward soaring benefits peaked in 1980, when the average worker drew $145,400 in benefits, "over and above their contributions," Harris reported.

By comparison, today's 40-something employees, who entered the workforce in 1980 when the Social Security tax rate was comparable to current levels, "will pay large amounts into the system for 40 years and then get 15 years' worth of benefits," according to Harris' analysis.

Policymakers are evaluating various options for Social Security reform. Competing reform proposals call for differing degrees of privatization, all of which would divert some percentage of Social Security taxes into high-yield investments, coupled in some cases with higher tax rates and/or reduced benefits.

Harris compiled data from the monthly Social Security Bulletin and the annual Current Population Survey.

Local All-Star teams ready

Tournament action begins Sunday

Local Little League all-star teams have been practicing for weeks for the upcoming District II tournaments.

District II is one of three districts in the state and comprises the 14 Little Leagues throughout New Castle County. The Kent County teams make up District I and the Sussex County teams comprise District III.

Newark area teams representing Newark American, Newark National and Canal have consistently done well in the past. Last year, for example, Newark American won the District II Major (11-12 year-olds) baseball crown, Newark National won the District II, state and Mid-Atlantic Regional Junior (13 year-olds) championships and Canal won the Senior (14-15 year-olds) District II, state and Mid-Atlantic baseball titles. Canal, in fact, was one game away from advancing to the Senior League World Series in Florida.

In the softball brackets, the Canal Major team won the league's 16th straight District II and state championships. The Canal Senior team won the District II title but was beaten by Seaford two games to one in the best-of-three state championship series. Seaford went on to finish third in the Senior Softball World Series.

This year's tournament play begins with the Juniors on July 5. Newark American, which returns the bulk of the same team that won the district as 12 year-olds last summer, opens up against Claymont at Canal at 1 p.m. The winner of that game will play July 7 against Suburban at Leroy C. Hill Field.

The Newark National Juniors begin play at 4 p.m. July 5 at Canal against Naamans. The winner moves on to play Wilmington July 7 at Naamans.

Canal plays its first game July 7 against Brandywine at Brandywine at 5:30.

The tournament is double-elimination with the championship game scheduled for July 18 at the Midway Little League complex.

The Senior baseball tournament begins July 8. Newark National plays Midway at Midway at 5:30 p.m. The winner advances to play Canal at Canal July 10 at 5:30 p.m.

Newark American opens up at home July 10 at 5:30 p.m. against the winner of the Suburban-New Castle game. The district title game is slated for July 25 at Frawley Stadium.

The Major baseball tournament begins July 11. Newark American hosts Brandywine at 12:30 p.m. Newark National plays New Castle at Midway at 10 a.m. Canal National plays Capitol at Newark American at 10 a.m. Canal American gets

Gold team buries Blue

Local players help lead Gold to the victory

By MARTY VALANIA

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

IT DIDN'T TAKE LONG for the Gold team to establish what it wanted to do in Saturday night's 43rd annual Delaware High School All-Star Football Game before a crowd of 12,235 at Delaware Stadium.

Newark's Corey Wallace bulled and danced his way for 35 yards on the game's first play from scrimmage. The run led to a Gold field goal and got it started rolling towards its eventual 33-6 romp.

With an offensive line that was 30 pounds a man bigger than the Blue's defensive front and a talented stable of running backs, the Gold rushed for 299 yards on its way to the win.

"We were just a little over-matched up front," said Blue coach Dave Needs, from Caravel. "They outweighed us up front and by over 30 pounds a guy. Plus, they brought a lot of speed and power to the line of scrimmage with those backs." The Gold team scored twice more in the first quarter, with Wallace running into the end zone for 12 yards out to increase the lead to 16-0.

It was 23-0 by halftime. "You never expect to go out and win by that much," said Gold coach Tubby Dobrowski. "But this team had a great attitude all during camp and we really had some great athletes."

"We only had them for 10 days. It's a real tribute to their regular high school coaches that they were so good when they got here."

Wallace, who was named the game's Most Valuable Player, rushed for 150 yards on 23 carries. He had 122 of those by halftime.

"All during camp, none of our plays were working," Wallace said. "So I was worried about our line. But they definitely proved me wrong. They were great tonight."

The Blue team was never able to get anything going against the Gold defense.

St. Mark's John Testa, who was named the game's Outstanding Lineman, led a hard-charging Gold defensive line that continually disrupted the Blue's wing-bone attack.

"Our offense is based on continuity," Needs said. "We played different quarterbacks all night and never really gained any kind of rhythm. The Gold defense also made some adjustments early on that really made it difficult for our offense."

Caravel's Alex Faircloth saw time at quarterback for the Blue while childhood friend Bobby Johnson, from Newark, played quarterback for the Gold.

Faircloth completed one pass for 30 yards while Johnson connected with Yellowjacket teammate Chris Adams for 26 yards.

Caravel running back Robert Delgado gained six yards on two carries for the Blue while Glasgow receiver Brian Miller ran a reverse for four yards for the Gold.

Caravel's Bryan Boyer played most of the night at defensive back for the Blue while Christiana's Bryan Haman was part of a strong Gold defensive line.

Caravel's Dan MacElroy punted eight times for a 39.2 yard average for the Blue.

Wallace, line dominate early part of game

By MARTY VALANIA

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

The competition keeps getting stiffer but Corey Wallace's results remain constant.

Wallace rushed for 150 yards and scored a touchdown en route to leading the Gold to a 33-6 win over the Blue and being named the Most Valuable Player of the 43rd annual Delaware High School Football Game Saturday night at Delaware Stadium.

As he did all last fall in helping lead Newark High to a state football championship, Wallace dominated while the game was still a contest.

Setting the tone for the night, the Yellowjackets' back dodged his way to a 35-yard gain on the first play from scrimmage. He amassed 90 yards in the first quarter and 122 by halftime.

"I was really hyped up," said Wallace, who will attend junior college power Nassau (N.Y.) Community College this fall. "I was so intense I was shaking early in the game. I just had to calm down a little and let everything work for me."

In addition to his rushing yardage, Wallace compiled over 100 more yards returning punts and kickoffs.

"He's a special player," said Polytech coach Tubby Dobrowski, who headed the Gold team. "Corey's the kind of player you only see once every 10 years or so. He did a lot for us. He played tailback, fullback and returned kicks."

"Coaches [upstate] told me that in big games he takes [his play] to another level. He definitely did that in this game."

Continually, Wallace reversed his field, broke tackles and carried Blue players for extra yardage.

"I've never seen anybody run like that," said Gold teammate Ronnie Bovington of Sussex Central. "I've never seen anybody move their feet like that — except maybe Barry Sanders."

Newark High field to be ready

New scoreboard, track also added

By MARTY VALANIA

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Parents of Newark High football and soccer players can relax.

With the regrading of Newark's Hoffman Stadium going on, many parents, players and coaches feared that the stadium would not be ready for the upcoming fall season.

The prospect of playing an entire schedule of away games was not something either team relished.

Late last week, however, workers completed laying the sod on the newly graded field. That will give the roots two months to completely take. Glasgow's field had less time than that last fall and is in good shape.

"As long as people stay off the field for July and Aug. and it gets the necessary water, it will definitely be ready," said Dr. Capes Riley of the Christina School District.

The field had some low spots in it and repeatedly collected water after a rain.

"We tried to fill in the low spots with dirt, but that didn't work," Riley said. "So I decided the best thing to do was to regrade the field. And then we decided to sod it, instead of planting new seed, so it would be ready for the fall season."

In addition to Newark High's football games, the field is used for boys soccer in the fall, boys lacrosse, girls lacrosse and girls soccer in the spring.

The new field isn't the only improvement that Hoffman Stadium will receive this summer.

A badly needed new scoreboard will also be ready for the fall.

Lights out, clock malfunctions and "down and distance" readings being inoperable are problems that have plagued the 20 year-old scoreboard in recent seasons. In last season's Division I football state semifinal between the Yellowjackets and Cape Henlopen, there was a problem even turning the scoreboard on. It hasn't worked since.

The new $15,000 scoreboard was donated by Coca-Cola Bottling Co. There is no cost to the Christina School District. The Christina School Board approved the donation at the June 9 school board meeting.

The school will also have a new track installed this summer.

Riley said the installation and curing process should also be completed by the time school starts.

That will allow the soccer team to again use the inside of the track for its practices.

Gold rips Blue

► LINE, from 16

success was the strong performance of his offensive line.

"All during camp, none of our plays seemed to be working," Wallace said. "I was worried about our line. But they definitely proved me wrong. They were great all night."

The Gold line outweighed the Blue by nearly 30 pounds a man.

"We felt our line would be a strong point," said Newark lineman Josh Rutherford, who contributed to the Gold dominance up front. "We were bigger everywhere and we knew all of our backs were good."

Gold lineman John Testa, of St. Mark's, was named the game's Outstanding Lineman.

Johnson, Adams hook up

Newark's combination of quarterback Bobby Johnson and end Chris Adams hooked up once during the night for a 26 yard game.

On a third-and-10 play, Johnson threw to Adams, who was one broken tackle from going into the end zone.

Johnson also carried the ball twice for nine yards.

"We had the size and speed," Johnson said of the Gold's advantage. "Plus, we had great backs and they were able to take advantage of some big holes."

"Another thing is that we had great leadership on our team. Our captains (including Wallace and Testa) did a great job of helping us stay focused on the team and the game."

Kirkwood Vipers win tournament

The Kirkwood Vipers, under 9 year old boys, won the Premier tournament in their inaugural season. The tournament was played at the Kirkwood Soccer complex on June 20, 21. The Vipers advanced into the semi-finals by beating River Galaxy 2-1 and Mt. Laurel Red Lazars 3-1.

Then they advanced into the finals by defeating the Baltimore Twisters 3-1. In the finals, Ross Liberati, who was named MVP of the tournament, opened the scoring with a goal 8 minutes into the game. Michael Volk added another goal late in the first half off a direct kick from 25 yards out., as the team beat the Yardley Morrisville Hawks 2-1. Jerry Wegman coaches the tournament victorious Vipers, and is assisted by Joe Tuturro.

Keen Gas eyes run at Legion title

By STEVE WESTRICK

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Keen/Atterbury defeated Hall-Burke 1-0 in a American Legion showdown on June 30. Tom Ellis got the win pitching all six innings. The game was shortened by an inning because of rain.

Ellis scattered five hits, but allowed no runs. He was helped by his defense in the second inning. With two outs, Hall-Burke's Chris Golding got a hit to right field. The hit allowed Steve McMinn to advance to third base. However, Golding took a very wide turn at first base and Keen's second baseman, Ryan Husfelt, threw him out.

With two outs in the sixth inning, a Hall-Burke batter blasted a triple to left field. With the tying run only 90 feet away, Ellis struck out McMinn to preserve the win.

Hall-Burke stayed close throughout the game because of the pitching of Brian Elder. Elder allowed only three hits through six innings. Keen's one run, which was unearned, was scored by Husfelt, after an error and RBI single by Jim Murphy.

Presently, Keen/Atterbury is in second place, behind Post 1, with a 10-4 record.

Rinner said his pitching has been solid of late. Keen uses three regular starters: Matt Flocco (3-2), Joe Rineer (3-0) and Tom Ellis (3-1). In addition, Keen uses three pitchers in relief: Ray Parker (leads the team with three saves), Adam Brown and Mike Macalister. Bryan Chatman also is an occasional starter who can be used in relief.

Brown and Murphy lead the team in hitting with a .469 and .438 batting averages respectively.

Still, hitting, which was once a strong point for Keen has dropped off the last few games.

"We were hot for a while then we cooled off," Rineer said. "Our pitching is really coming around, but our hitting is struggling. We were getting nine, 10, 11 runs a game. Now we're getting about four runs a game."

Keen/Atterbury has 11 regular season games remaining. The playoffs, which begin July 25, feature a three game series in the semi-finals, and five game series in finals.

NEW Map of Maryland / Delaware Rivers, Streams, Lakes, and Chesapeake Bay

Stream MAP of Maryland/Delaware

Why every fisherman and boater needs this map

Professor Higbee's® Stream Map of Maryland/Delaware is the first and only highly detailed map of its kind. This new 2 x 3 1/2' foot color map shows virtually all of the 12,000 miles of Maryland/Delaware streams, plus lakes. Now, overlooked streams and lakes are easy-to-locate on one map.

Rave Reviews

"It is amazingly detailed and names some creeks in the Mohawk Valley that can't even be found on topographic maps." --John Pitarres, OBSERVER-DISPATCH-Utica

"If you're looking for the most definitive maps ever created depicting every single creek, river, stream, pond and lake...then 'Professor Higbee's Stream Maps' are without question the finest." --Howard Brami, THE NEWARK STAR-LEDGER

"Professor Higbee's Stream Map belongs on the den wall of every freshwater angler and paddler in the region." --Tom Meade, Providence Journal - Bulletin

Watershed Boundaries

Boundary lines for the 16 Maryland and Delaware watersheds, which drain into Chesapeake Bay, are shown on the Stream Map.

The entire Chesapeake Bay watershed covers 64,000 square miles in 6 states. Almost every drop of anything that falls on or spills in the watershed eventually ends up in the Bay.

Success in restoring the Bay begins with each individual protecting his or her own watershed.

You can also help by becoming a member of the Chesapeake Bay Foundation, and supporting its efforts to reduce pollution, protect and restore habitat, restore fisheries, and educate and involve more citizens. The Bay belongs to each of us. Its survival depends on our actions today.

A portion of the purchase price of each map helps the important efforts of the Chesapeake Bay

Young-Murray acquired by Patterson-Price

Patterson-Price & Associates Land & Farm Properties have acquired Young-Murray Realtors in Newark.

H. Gibbons Young, who together with Bill Murray founded Young-Murray Realtors, will work with Patterson-Price. Young and Murray specialized in residential and commercial real estate in the Newark area.

The new office in Newark will allow Patterson-Price, which specializes sales of farmland, land with development potential, and sub-divided lots for residential homes in Delaware, Maryland, Pennsylvania, and New Jersey, to be more active in the Pennsylvania market.

In addition to Young, Clint Rosenberger, and Kate Hutchings will work from the Newark office.

John Price will continue at the Middletown office and Duncan Patterson will work the firm's Greenville location.

Young said the growth at Patterson-Price and the opportunity to make a difference on a larger scale lured his firm to the consolidation. "Duncan Patterson, John Price and the rest of the team have been doing some exciting work, and I'm pleased to join them to become a part of it," Young said.

Patterson agreed that this move was part of the long-term critical expansion of the business, which was bought out from Patterson-Schwartz & Associates Real Estate in 1997. "Patterson-Price is becoming a significant regional player in the sale of land and farms, and the Newark location is an important part of our growth," Patterson said.
