7 Fires Keep Aetna Busy; $400 Loss Is Caused To Dwelling

Volunteers Called Twice To Blaze At Warwick Home
On Saturday

Seven fire alarms, three for minor fires, gave the Aetna volunteers another strenuous workout last week. The most serious blaze occurred Saturday around 2 a. m. at the newly built home of William J. Warwick, 123 West Park Place. Cause of the fire, which started in the bathroom and worked its way to the roof, is still unknown. The firemen, after extinguishing the flames once, were called back a short time later to subdue a new outbreak. Total damage was estimated at $400.

The week's rash of field fires started Thursday with a blaze in the rear of the Chrysler plant. Friday flames were reported on Winslow Road. Saturday afternoon grass caught fire on East Main Street in the rear of John Moore's home. None of the fires caused serious damage.

The week's rash of field fires started Thursday with a blaze in the rear of the Chrysler plant. Friday flames were reported on Winslow Road. Saturday afternoon grass caught fire on East Main Street in the rear of John Moore's home. None of the fires caused serious damage.

Varying the monotony slightly for the volunteers were three calls on Sunday and Monday. The first, which sounded around 6:45 a. m., sent the engines to the Edward Roofing Company on Capitol Trail, where an over-heated fireplace burned out some flooring in the kitchen. The damage came to about $100, according to firemen.

Monday morning a dump near Roseville Bridge on property owned by Walter Maxwell became ignited. The flames were soon brought under control. Later that morning a chimney caught fire at the home of William Bird, 58 Corbit Street. The damage was slight.

IN AMATEUR SHOW

Miss Janice Olson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Olson, 171 South Chapel Street, will appear Tuesday, March 21, at the Crest Theatre, Woodcrest, as a soprano soloist in an amateur show.

Judge Melson To Speak At Methodist Laymen's Service

A special service in observance of Laymen's Sunday will be held in the Newark Methodist Church this Sunday at 7 p. m.

Judge Elwood F. Melson of the Family Court in Wilmington will be the speaker. His subject will be "Our Faith in Christian Love." The talk will include illustrations from his experience as presiding officer of the Family Court.

A chorus composed of twenty-seven men will sing a special arrangement of "Onward Christian Soldiers." It will be directed by James P. Crome.

This service will be the fourth of the Special Lenten Sunday Evening Services being held at the church and is being sponsored by the Men's Bible Class.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

They Will Remember Mama

You'd never suspect it, but the gay group above is really hard at work rehearsing for "I Remember Mama," to be presented by the faculty of the Newark High School on March 24 and 25.

One of the first faculty productions planned here in many years, the comedy promises to be a lively affair. The script is presenting some problems in the way of stage props. Anyone know, for instance, where the teachers can find an early model Ford car or a nice, stage-broken but lively cat?

Dedication Exercises For New Elementary Building Rescheduled For April 1

Dedication exercises for Newark's new elementary school, once cancelled due to a construction hold-up, are now scheduled for April 1, Supt. Wilmer E. Shue announced yesterday.

Gov. Elbert N. Carvel has again accepted an invitation to be present, along with Sen. J. Allen Frear and Rep. J. Caleb Boggs. The speaker will be Dr. John R. Miller, state superintendent of schools.

The exercises will be held in the high school auditorium at 2 p. m., rather than in the evening as originally planned.

Elementary pupils will move into the new building the first week in April. The overflow classes now meeting in the Methodist Church will then be discontinued.

The dedication exercises, originally set for March 16, were cancelled when a moisture condition developed in the ceiling of the second floor and held up the interior painting. This threw the construction work out of schedule.

The dedicatory exercises in the auditorium will be followed by a tour of the new building, which will be thrown open to the public.

Firms Supply Prizes For Aetna Carnival

Firms which have supplied prizes for the Aetna firemen carnival were listed this week by Walter Wassmer, general chairman. The purchase of the prizes was sought through bids, he said.

The suppliers are as follows: 4-door Pontiac, Union Park Motors Company; Westinghouse refrigerator and boys' bicycle, Trivits Appliance Store; living or bedroom suite, Eagle Furniture Company; lady's or man's solid gold wrist watch, Gregg Jewelers.

Horse Show Offers $2000 Cash Awards

A total of $3000 in cash prizes will be offered at the spring horse show to be sponsored by the Newark Kiwanis Club on May 20 at Foxcatcher Farms, Fairhill, Md.

Classes for hunters, pacers and ponies will be scheduled in the event, proceeds of which will go into the club's charity fund.

In addition to the cash prizes, trophies and ribbons will be awarded outstanding mounts.

Last Wednesday the Kiwanis dinner meeting featured a talk by Angus Robinson, Elkton businessman, whose hobby is collecting prize picture slides. He exhibited some of his best, collected from all over the world.

State Approval Seen Likely Soon on Town Fluorine Experiment

Health Board Spokesman Indicates Okay Will Come When Plans Received

State approval for the fluorine experiment here, the last step required before launching the project, is virtually certain, according to a statement this week by an official of the State Board of Health at Dover.

He is Donald K. Harnenson, director division of sanitary engineering, who said he has inspected the fluorine installation here and now awaits only the submission of plans and engineering drawings from local authorities.

Once these are received and checked, the board will probably give the go-ahead signal for the experiment in short order. Mr. Harnenson added that the final approval may carry with it some minor qualifications and recommendations for changes in the method for controlling the operations, conducting water tests and keeping records on the experiment.

The plans will probably be submitted to the board before the end of this week, Dr. A. P. Colburn, member of the town fluorine committee, said yesterday. The task of drafting of the plans has been turned over to him by Dr. P. K. Musselman, chairman of the fluorine committee. Dr. Colburn said the actual drawings are being made by Professor S. A. Guerrieri, a chemical engineer on the University of Delaware faculty.

Gulledge Again Hits Town Fluorine Plan In Talk At Rotary

Says Artificial Fluoridation Still
Only In Experimental Stage;
Cites Toxic Threat

Dr. Hugh C. Gulledge, research chemist, who recently took his case against the town's proposed fluorine experiment before the Town Council again attacked the plan in a talk Monday night at the Newark Rotary Club. His topic was: "The Negative Aspects of Fluorine."

"The artificial fluoridation of communal water supplies to control tooth decay is still in the very early experimental stage," said the speaker. He objected to the method of presentation of the project as a proven, sound public health measure, whereas, in fact, experiments on the artificial addition of fluorine started only five years ago.

It takes eight to eleven years for mottling to show up, and any conclusions based upon tests of five years or less are decidedly premature. "The assumption that the artificial addition of fluorine in water would have the same effects as fluorine existing in the natural state is unwarranted," Dr. Gulledge said. "There is no data available to justify this conclusion," he continued.

The speaker stated that the possibility of some toxic effects may be present and the residents of the community should have been permitted to decide whether they wanted to go into the project. The first signs of toxicity appear in mottling, and there have been only two or three studies made on older age groups, and these are contradictory. Once decay sets in as a result of mottling, he said, a mottled tooth may be difficult to fill if the mottling is severe. In conclusion, Dr. Gulledge stated that the presence of borates in the naturally fluorinated water may account for the differences in action between the natural and artificial fluoridation.

Next week's program will present the affirmative view on the fluorine question, when Dr. Paul K. Musselman will speak on "Fluorination of Community Water."

Dougherty Honored By Insurance Firm

Guest At Dinner On 25th Anniversary With Company

J. Earl Dougherty, of the Farmers Insurance Company, who has also been the local representative of the Home Insurance Company of New York for the past 25 years, was honored by the latter firm last night with a dinner at the College Inn.

Mr. Dougherty, who is also treasurer of the Farmers Trust Company here, was presented with a certificate of representation and a 25th anniversary medal by Charles Mecke, secretary of the Home Insurance Company.

Those attending were: Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Shakespeare, Mrs. Elizabeth Lovett, Miss Delena Amoroso and Miss Edna A. Campbell, all of the Farmers Insurance Company.

From the New York firm were: Mr. Mecke; John B. Moore, manager of the Delaware service office; Herbert R. Eggert, special agent; and Frank Hardcastle, special agent.

Election Race Becalmed With Filing Deadline 2 Weeks Off

No New Candidates Past Week; Mayor's Race Still Fails To Develop; Filing Ends April 1, Incumbents Stay Mum

With the deadline for filing only a little over two weeks away, the political front was strangely calm here yesterday.

No new candidates entered the race the past week, leaving three hopefuls, all newcomers to local politics, running unopposed for the seats open on the Town Council in the April 11 election.

The deadline for filing is noon, April 1. Hours of voting and the polling site will be decided upon at next Tuesday night's meeting of the Town Council. The mayoralty race still remained in the doldrums. Although rumors are rife, no candidates have been flushed out of cover yet. Mayor Ford McBerty, rounding out his term, had no comment this week when asked if he intended to run again.

Those most frequently mentioned in behind the hand reports as possible candidates for mayor are: George Rhodes, Dr. Wallace Johnson and William B. Swan.

The three currently running unopposed are: Ernest L. Nachod, Jr., in the western district; Dr. Charles N. Lanier, Jr., in the middle; and William M. Coverdale, in the eastern.

Councilmen whose terms are expiring and who as yet have made no move to seek reelection are: F. A. Wheeler, western district; Frank Durnall, middle; and Dr. Wallace Johnson, eastern.

The lack of activity may continue right up until the filing deadline, veteran observers of the local political scene claimed this week. They pointed out that if the campaign pattern established in the last few years continues, the seasoned candidates, who have been waiting eagerly to see what the opposition is up to, will only be smoked out of hiding by the deadline. The real action in the campaign will then come in the final ten days before the election.

Local Entertainers In St. Patty's Party

Joseph T. Redman

Mr. Redman, chairman for the annual St. Patrick's Day party tomorrow in the New Century Club, promises an entertaining and colorful program, featuring local talent.

Among the vocalists will be Miss Ann Pie, Robert Murphy, Jack Evans and Bob Jones. James and Francis McCann will entertain at the piano, and Jimmy Mank and Loretta Ross will play selections on the accordian. Ted McGovern and his orchestra will play for the dancing.

Newark Couple Joins Foster Parent Plan

Will Aid In Support Of 10-Year-Old French Boy

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Kay, 101 Briar Lane, Newark, have "adopted" Maurice Chadirac, 10-year-old French boy, through the Foster Parents' Plan.

Maurice, an only child, lost his father, a French pilot, as a result of the war. The latter contracted malaria fever while in the colonies and died two months after he was demobilized.

Mrs. Chadirac, who receives no pension since her husband's death was not considered to be in the line of duty, works as a charwoman for about 15 dollars per month. This along with relief gives her an income of about $37 monthly.

Maurice, who has suffered hunger and cold, is a likeable child, clever, gay, fond of music. His mother, not in good health as a result of hardship and self-denial, needs help for Maurice. The American Foster Parent is giving a much-needed "lift" to the Chadirac family.

Since its organization 13 years ago, the Foster Parents' Plan, has aided more than 60,000 children. "Adoption" is financial and carries no legal obligations. The plan merely promises to contribute $15 monthly towards a child's support for at least a year.

Morrison Renamed VFW Commander

Businesses To Be Canvassed In Iron Lung Drive

Curtis Morrison was reelected for his second straight term as commander of Post 475, Veterans of Foreign Wars last Thursday in the annual vote at the post home, Barkside Road. His only opponent was Lee Crossan.

Other new officers are: Addison Hall, senior vice-commander; Douglass Robinson, junior vice-commander; Kinsey Reynolds, chaplain; H. Maclary, quartermaster; George Foster, surgeon; and J. W. Grundy, trustee. Grundy won over Claude Gaylen and Edward Morgan in the vote for trustee.

Although final returns on last Saturday's coin card collection have not been tabulated yet, the response to the VFW's drive for funds to purchase a portable iron lung is highly satisfactory, according to Mr. Morrison.

Local business houses and industries will be canvassed this week.

CHRYSLER OFFERS

GOOD PENSIONS

Chrysler has offered to pay its employees good pensions.

This offer is the result of a very thorough study of the whole subject of pensions and insurance and the different ways of financing pensions. Chrysler wanted to be sure that any plan it offered would not fail.

Chrysler's offer guarantees that pension payments will be paid continually, year in and year out, in full, and on time.

Behind this guarantee are the entire financial resources, integrity and years of experience of Chrysler Corporation.

Chrysler made its proposal to the Union before the Union called 89,000

Chrysler employees out on strike seven weeks ago.

In an effort to end the strike and get its employees back to their jobs, the Company has repeated its offer to the Union many times since then, but Union leaders have turned it down each time.

What is Chrysler's offer?

The offer provides that employees with 25 years of credited service at age 65 will, when they retire, receive payments, including Social Security, of $100 a month for life. Eligible employees who retire at age 65 but who have 15 to 25 years of credited service will get proportionate payments.

Chrysler has also offered increased life insurance at lower cost, new free life insurance for employees after retirement, and improved sickness and accident and total disability benefits.

Chrysler has also made it very clear to the Union that it is willing to discuss and clarify questions involving eligibility, retirement age, and other points.

Chrysler's offer is a straightforward, sound proposal, made in good faith, to provide good pension and insurance benefits for its employees.

The offer still stands.

Chrysler Corporation

If the Union wants pensions, Chrysler's offer is a good way to get them

Mrs. Cashell's Room Honors Spring and St. Patrick's Day

Spring and St. Patrick's Day were well heralded in the Elementary School this year by Mrs. Cashell's fourth grade in their assembly program held this morning in the school auditorium.

The program was divided into two parts with an entertainment between.

The first part of the program consisted of two songs "Zip-A-Dee-Dee-Doo-Dah" and "Oh What A Beautiful Morning" by the entire class. Following the songs were spring poems by Nancy Davis and Mary Foster, Janet Johnson and Edith Yoder. Next came Mary Foster and her Twirlers, Nancy Gray, Virginia Poffenberger, Sidney La Fontaine, Betty Lou Martin, Cecil Batchelor, Nancy Davis, Janet Johnson, Rose Marie Beebe, and Bonnie Twaddel.

Musical solos and duets were next on the program. Cecil Batchelor and Dale Reedy played piano solos. Nancy Davis and Richard Valiant gave a piano duet. Virginia Poffenberger presented an accordion solo and Iven Bryant played a trumpet solo, accompanied by his sister Barbara at the piano.

For the second part of the program St. Patrick held the spotlight. Some class members sang "When Clancy Loved the Boom" and the entire class sang "A Little Bit of Heaven" and "An Irish Lullaby." Then there was a song, "Mistress Moore" and a dance, "Irish Washer Woman." Those in the Irish dance were Raynor Johnson, Edith Yoder, Elwin Jewell, Bonnie Twaddel, John Mueller, George Brown, Edward Riley, Clement Fowler, Virginia Poffenberger, Virginia Williamson, Dale Casey, Marie Blomquist, and Tommy Carter.

Some more, music, in the form of a demonstration by the flute class came after the Irish dance.

In order to tell the audience a little bit of Irish history and background, next fifteen boys told stories they had heard about Ireland. They were Wayne Hunt, George Aulen, Clement Fowler, Richard Gray, Reggie Walstrum, Kermit Dancy, Fletcher Truitt, Iven Bryant, Teddy Schwartz, Dale Reedy, Hazel Burrows, John Wimmer, Danny Boles, and George Brown.

The final number on the program was a class song "Has Anyone Here Seen Kelly?"

Alvin Sparks, one of the promising athletes in Newark High School, is very popular, especially with a certain sophomore.

In school Alvin plays baseball—his favorite sport, basketball, football, and is a member of the Boy's Leaders Club. During his spare time Alvin practices sports, dances, and listens to professional baseball games.

U. of D. Prof. Co-Invents New Insole To Keep G. I. Feet Dry In Arctic Snow

A University of Delaware professor is co-inventor of a plastic insole that is proving valuable in the current army maneuvers in Yukon territory. According to dispatches from the North, the insole, inserted in the Army's arctic felt boot, has been found to help keep soldiers' feet dry. Snow frostbite, caused by wet feet is a major military hazard in cold weather, the insole promises to have considerable military importance. The U. S. patent on the insole was granted last December to Robert L. Woodbury, of Washington, and Professor Earl Parker Hanlon, chairman of the University's Department of Geography.

"We designed the sole in 1942," according to Professor Hanlon, "but two others claimed prior invention and the resulting interference litigation took seven years. But that now turns out to be a blessing. Not only has the patent by this time been tested in the 'real' sense, but during those seven years the sole has been tested and proved under all possible conditions. In the arctic, the tropics, and the temperate zone, as well as military, civilian, and industrial use."

Western Electric Shows $42,565,511 Net For 1949

Western Electric Company, manufacturing subsidiary of American Telephone and Telegraph Company, recently reported net income of $42,565,511 in 1949 compared with $50,847,938 in 1948.

Western Electric sales, 89 per cent of which were to Bell Telephone companies, totaled $585,190,761 against the 1948 high of $1,132,971,842.

Stanley Bracken, president said that although sales were below 1947 and 1948, "the peak years of the emergency program necessary to meet Bell System post-war needs, the dollar volume of sales in 1949 was still about twice as great as the company's biggest pre-war year."

A. T. and T. holds 99.3 per cent of Western Electric stock.

NAACP Meet

He listed several local industries and retail establishments whose employment policies are discriminatory. Some, he said, will not hire Negroes at all; others will take them on in a janitorial or similar capacity.

The Rev. John G. MacKinnon, pastor of the Unitarian Church in Wilmington, reported to the group that "the time has come when those who favor segregation no longer cloak themselves in the guise of righteousness."

He pointed to legislative and social advances and called for the elimination of "permissive" legislation which neither condones nor attacks segregation but permits it.

Discrimination in Delaware was described as "vicious" by Miss Leah L. Brock, assistant field secretary of the NAACP. She told the group that NAACP always had taken the lead in legislative battles for the colored people. Twenty-six out of 28 court cases involving discrimination have been won by the NAACP, she declared.

"The NAACP acts as a buffer for Democracy," Miss Brock stated as she concluded her inspirational address, "It Helps Make Democracy Work."

The meeting was presided over by Rev. George Walton, pastor of the Methodist Church of Christians, open to the public.

FILLIN' IN

We were disappointed when the story of the flying saucer with the tiny pilot turned out to be just another hoax. When we first heard it, we thought: Well, the Martian invasion is on, and it's not going to be so bad after all.

Brought up as we were on H. G. Wells' theories of interplanetary warfare, we had been led to expect the worst. We were trained to believe that all creatures on other planets must be grotesque, one-eyed, diabolically intelligent monsters, mauve in color and all with pointed ears.

And here turns up this charming little fellow, only 26-inches tall, exquisitely built, and probably every inch a gentleman. It eased our mind and bucked us up considerably. Wouldn't it be pleasant, we thought, if the Martian invaders should all turn out to be little cavaliers, who would courteously but firmly take our H-bomb away from us and tell us all to settle down and be good morons.

We half suspect that the unreasonable petulance with which the Air Force and scientists dismiss all reports of flying saucers is due to a secret fear that they may be true. Our brains are a little miffed at the idea that someone may be ahead of them. Like the bright students in the class when the new boy arrives and threatens to grab the scholastic honors, all they can do is scoff and sneer.

Wouldn't it be embarrassing for mankind's masterminds, just when they're doing themselves so proud with the H-bomb and all, to be shown up by a lot of 26-inch squirts?

We had a severe case last week of what the advertisements call "chronic fatigue." It got so bad we took to leaning up against buildings for catnaps.

The only remedy, everyone told us, was to take vitamins. We had heard of these things, of course, but, being leery of magic in all its forms, we had never tried to experiment with them. We have always been a strict aspirin man. Aspirin is for us the first, and only genuine, miracle drug.

Still when you find yourself dropping off into your soup at lunch, it's time to do something, so we went to the drug store and asked about vitamins. We bought the hi-test, no-knock kind, which embrace the entire vitamin alphabet.

Our little bottle, we were told, was equal in food value to crates on crates of oranges, platters of raw carrots, whole roasts of beef and several summers of sustenance.

Scarcely were we out of the store than we began to buck up. Even the feel of the bottle in our hand seemed to give us new strength. Modern science, we concluded, has something; it is deep-rooted. We felt as happy as a savage who had just received a new and potent amulet from his witch-doctor.

As a registered voter of Newark, we are now deep in our annual period of confusion and mystification brought on by the town election.

To begin with, we're always puzzled by the fact that there usually isn't any campaign until the last moment. The first thing that seems to be required of a candidate for Council is that he keep it a secret as long as possible. Except for a few beginners at the game, no one ever files until just before deadline. And then the seasoned veterans seem to do it reluctantly as if they're being forced into it for the good of the town.

And why is it, once a candidate files, he must immediately plunge under-cover again? True, if you press him, he may issue a statement containing his name and address, and, if you probe further, you may wring from him some information regarding his early education and what clubs he belongs to, but beyond that his lips are sealed.

It seems to be a political axiom here that no candidate should mention aloud why he is running or where he stands on specific local issues.

The result is the campaign is one long period of silence—that is until the night before the election. Then the fireworks break loose. The town is suddenly flooded with inflammatory circulars, printed, it would appear, on secret presses the candidates keep in their cellars. These documents warn that the town is on the verge of moral and spiritual collapse, that its youth is degenerate and that the socialists are about to take over. In response, other candidates sometimes get out in sound trucks and attempt to calm the hysterical populace by pointing out that it is not too late to save the town from political chaos.

All this is the first official notice the voter gets that there are any issues at all involved in the election. Scared out of his wits, he retires to a sleepless night, half-expecting to find street barricades on the way to the polls the next day. Instead, he finds the candidates, all smiles and as mum as ever, waiting to greet him with a handshake. The terror of the night before now seems just a bad dream.

And thus the voter, more puzzled than ever, makes his way to the booth to face his ballot in lonely indecision. Last year we voted for Kilroy; this time, well, we'll probably just doodle

Delaware turkey growers intend to raise more turkeys in 1950 than in the past year, according to a report of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics. The number planned for the coming year is 74,000, as compared to 70,000 birds in 1949; an increase of 5 per cent.

Newark High's 1950 Basketball Record Second Best In County

Season's Mark Of 14 Wins, 3 Losses Second Only To St. Andrew's; Ceisinski Praises Jackets For Spirit And Team Play

Newark High's 1950 basketball team, which racked up the school's best record in years, earned outstanding team and individual honors in the county. The Jackets' season mark of 14 victories against three losses, not including last week's triumph over the Alumni, put them second only to St. Andrew in the county standings outside of Wilmington. The latter turned in 14 wins in 16 starts. The Jackets piled up a total of 1034 points for a 61.9 game average.

Coach Ray Ceisinski, who wound up his first campaign with the Jackets, and, incidentally, his first season as a high school coach, had nothing but praise this week for his players' spirit, team play and will to win. He said the season's record might have been better had it not been for unexpected illnesses and injuries among the players. Although he passed all the credit for the campaign's success on to the team, Ceisinski rates an orchid or two himself for his deft handling of the club. He proved himself, in his first year, both an excellent court strategist and a skilled hand at managing teenage players.

The Jackets also copped a number of individual honors in the county. Bernard Blaney, the team's top offensive threat, was the second highest scorer in the county, pouring in 285 points in 17 games for a 16 point average. The county leader, Bill Reeder, of Mount Pleasant, tabbed only 52 more points than Blaney although he saw action in five more games. Blaney's game average was actually higher than Reeder's.

Phil Harrison, an all-round standout for the Jackets this season, was picked on Salesianum's all-opponent team. Ceisinski says every opposition coach this year regarded Harrison as the Jackets' major threat. Although he trailed Blaney in scoring, he was Newark's most versatile player, being especially potent in ball recovery, pass interception and general defensive work.

Newark individual scoring records follow:

	G	FG	F	PTS
Blaney	17	130	25	285
Harrison	16	100	46	246
Nagle	17	72	29	173
Records	16	53	25	131

Newark AA Cagers Nip Roccas, 57-56

Take First Game Of Susky Play-Off Series

The Newark AA courtmen defeated the Wilmington Roccas, 57-56, Tuesday night in their first meeting in the Susquehanna League play-offs.

The two clubs will meet again tonight in the final half of a twin-bill at the Elkton Armory. The first game at 7:30 p. m. will bring together the Wilmington Chicks and the Elkton Legion.

A victory for Newark in the best two out of three series will eliminate the Roccas from the play-offs. Tuesday night's triumph was the first time this year the local club has managed to defeat the Roccas, who finished at the top of the league standings.

Should Newark lose tonight to the Roccas, the two clubs will meet in the series deciding game on Sunday at 2 p. m. in the Elkton Armory.

Newark's Girls, Faculty, and Varsity Basketball Teams End Season

On Friday, March 10, the Newark girls' team played the Alumni in the first game of the evening. Following the girls' game, the Newark Faculty played Conrad Faculty, and in the wind-up Newark's "Big Five" took on the Alumni.

The Newark Lassies downed the Alumae in a very close contest. This game was the final game for the girls and also was the first appearance at night before a crowd so large.

The Conrad-Newark Faculty game, another very close and also very rough contest, was the first time that any Newark Faculty team, in the history of the school, ever played any other school faculty. In the beginning of this game Conrad jumped out in front by a 6 to 2 margin, but when the game ended Newark was on top 38 to 37.

Fifth Graders Play

Mrs. Rose's 5-104 and Mrs. Miller's 5-102 played a basketball game Wednesday, March 8. It was very exciting. The timekeepers for the rooms were Joan Moore and Connie Parker. Teddy Boutin scored five times, Bobby Conway twice and one foul. The lone score for Mrs. Rose's room was made by Bill Shue.

The final score was 15-2.

Yellowjacket Courtmen Trip Alumni In Post Season

Now is the time to start preparing your garden for spring planting. According to R. F. Stevens, extension horticulturist, at the University of Delaware, the garden should be planned by this time, and preparation and fertilization of garden soil should be started soon.

"If the garden has not been limed for many years, it would be well to consider an application of limestone or hydrated lime before the soil is prepared," says Stevens. "An application of about 50 pounds of limestone per 1,000 square feet is usually sufficient to sweeten up the soil. Manures and compost may also be applied before the garden is plowed or spaded. It will soon be time to plant peas, onions, and other cool season crops."

A clean up of plant debris, weeds and so forth around the garden will aid in the control of insects and diseases later in the season. Most of this material can be composted if it does not contain too much weed seeds.

Ticket Speculators Rumored Peddling Rotary Show Ducats

Still Not As Hard To Get As Those For "South Pacific"

It is rumored that tickets for "Rotary Blackbirds of 1950" will be available only through ticket speculators who have been vigorously denied by the officers of the Newark Rotary Club.

"This is a plot of scalpers who have moved down to try to corner the ticket market, but we are doing everything in our power to keep the tickets available through regular channels," said the president of the club, which will produce the minstrel show at the Newark High School Auditorium on Tuesday and Wednesday evening, March 28th and 29th.

While tickets are not as hard to get as those for "South Pacific," there is a heavy demand for them. It is pointed out, however, that good seats are still available if sought without delay. They may be obtained at the Newark Department Store.

It has been announced that Charles Southwell is the director of the music and of the show itself. Mr. Southwell who has had considerable experience in directing minstrel shows, is well known throughout the state for his singing and performances in productions of various kinds. He is especially well-known in Newark as the choir director of the Presbyterian Church.

Rehearsals have been under way for some time and the show is rounding into shape. Several surprises have been introduced and the show is completely new. The chorus promises to be outstanding because of Mr. Southwell's capable direction.

It is hoped that the entire community will assist in making the "Rotary Blackbirds of 1950" a financial success, because the proceeds will be used to provide a scholarship to a graduate of the Newark High School and to provide a visual education laboratory for the school if the goal is reached.

Mitchell Hall Will Get New Electronic Stage Lighting Unit

Theatre Will Be Fourth In Country To Install Modern System

A new electronic control system for stage lighting in the University of Delaware's Mitchell Hall will be installed later this year, making the theatre the fourth in the country to have so modern a system.

Dr. C. Robert Kase, director of dramatics at the U. of D., said that mechanical limitations which have handicapped stage lighting have been eliminated by the electronic controls. "Never before," he said, "has stage lighting been controlled as it is by this system, which uses high-current, gas-filled thyatron tubes as contactors and dimmers."

The electronic controls have been installed previously only at Yale University, the Goodman Memorial Theatre in Chicago, and at Carnegie Institute of Technology. The system was installed at Yale by its designer, George C. Izenour, of Yale's staff.

When the system is installed, sometime after October of this year, the stage-lighting directors for E-52 productions and other Mitchell Hall productions will be able to pre-set the lighting arrangements for entire shows up to 10 scenes in length. Pushing of buttons during the performances will change the lighting, eliminating the manually-operated controls now employed. The switchboard will be installed in the present projection booth at the rear of the auditorium. The booth will be enlarged, and an intercommunication system installed between the switchboard and backstage.

The new system will have 30 circuits instead of 16, which will make possible the adding of lighting equipment, although the new controls do not in themselves increase the lighting.

The present Mitchell Hall switchboard, installed 20 years ago, has become virtually obsolete and has handicapped stage productions with its failures. The Izenour switchboard is believed unlikely to become obsolete within 20 years, and it is more adaptable, more efficient, and can be maintained at a lower cost than the customary reactance-type dimmers, according to Dr. Kase.

The Izenour switchboard was recommended to the university by David H. Stevens, director of the Humanities Division of the Rockefeller Foundation, and Jo Melziner, chairman of the American National Theatre and Academy who is one of the nation's outstanding authorities on stage lighting.

Most of the work on installing the switchboard will be done during the summer, when disruption of Mitchell Hall activities can be minimized.

Century Club Spring Luncheon Monday

Pennsylvania Educators Tour New School Here

Two Pennsylvania school administrators, looking for ideas in modern school design, toured Newark's new elementary building last week.

Faced with building programs of their own, they came here to see for themselves the unusual design and many unique features of the new grade school. They were especially impressed with classroom lay-out and the color scheme used throughout the building. The two were: Harvey C. Sabole, supervising principal of Springfield Township Schools, Delaware County; and Charles Brinton, supervising principal of Clifton Heights Schools.

Next 'Crusade' Chapter of War To Show Early Stages of War

"America Goes to War," chapter three in The Philadelphia Saving Fund Society's new television program, "Crusade in Europe," dramatically demonstrates that U. S. conversion from peacetime to wartime was a gigantic job.

Guns, planes, ships, tanks and trained soldiers had to be produced and transported quickly. And the American public had to be thoroughly educated to just what war meant.

Starting with President Roosevelt's famous nationwide broadcast on the conduct of the war—a five-point message based on what labor, industry, all Americans everywhere were expected to do to help achieve the final victory—next Sunday's program (March 19) leads up to the decision of the Joint Allied Staff to wage aggressive warfare against Germany first, then Japan.
