COUNTY POLITICAL POT IS SIZZLING; LIVELY PRIMARY FIGHTS EXPECTED

Local Men and One Woman Active in Seeking Republican Nominations for Representatives and County Offices—Light Vote Forecast

September 10th, 2 p. m.—

J. Pilling Wright, of Newark, has resigned from the White Clay Republican Hundred Committee it became known this afternoon.

As the candidates for various county offices and their supporters large down the last few days before the Republican Primaries Saturday, renewed interest in the political situation is evidenced on every side. Primary Day is Saturday, September 13th. The polls in the three districts of White Clay Hundred will be open from 7 a. m. until 7 p. m., standard time, for the casting of ballots. The polling places are: First district, Deer Park Hotel; Second district, Washington House, and Third district, Deer Park Hotel; Second dis-

Many Candidates Out
Many candidates have come to light following the closing date for filing at week. Only one candidate for county office, John L. Wright, is unopposed for nomination. The Sheriff, Ivy Court, and Coroner fields are opened.

Three local men are out for Levy Court, John F. Richards, Charles P. Clouston and Thomas R. Claringbold. George W. Burris of Red Lion Hundred is also to be voted on by White Clay residents for this office. The representative fight between James C. Hastings of the First district, White Clay, and Clarence E. Vey, Third district, waxed merrier every day. Both candidates were actively at work last evening in Newark.

The only local woman running for office is Mrs. Bessie R. Whittingham, Newark. Her opponents in the district are W. C. Brooks and Charles Walton.

Light Vote Forecast
The vote at the primaries in White Clay is expected to be very light this year by political experts. Two years ago there were close to 1500 votes cast. This year between 700 and 800 expected to cast ballots.

NEWS EDITOR'S NOTE

In response to many and insistent inquiries as to whether Thomas Claringbold, candidate for the Levy Court nomination, is a resident of White Clay Hundred, we have made every effort this week to find the facts.

STATELY TREES GO

Effort Fails To Save Elms On College Camps

Despite efforts about three years ago to save them, two lofty elms on upper campus of the University are being cut down this week. These trees are considered the finest in the State, and it is with a deep sense of regret that officials decided they were useless to lives and property.

Expert tree surgeons worked for several weeks in pruning and filling in places with cement when the trees showed their first signs of dying. A treatment probably saved several others of the stately sentinels, but two have since perished.

BUYS VALUABLE FARM

Clements Estate In Kent County, Md., Goes To Local Realtor

The valuable Clements farm, lying about one mile west of Galena, Md., on the Sassafras River, containing 614 acres, and a 22-room mansion house, was sold on Tuesday of this week by S. Scott Beck and H. R. W. Mitchell, assignees, at the court house door in Chestertown, Md., to James D. Davis, Jr., of the Newark Trust and Safe Deposit Co. of this town. Mr. Davis is a resident of Galena at present. The price was $18,400.

The new owner is to be congratulated on his purchase, as it is understood that an offer of $40,000 was refused by the former owners a few months ago.

GOLF MATCH SATURDAY

Easton, Md., Team To Tackle Local Putters In "Rubber" Match

An interclub golf match of considerable importance will be played over the country club course here next Saturday afternoon, when the local clubmembers will take on the team from the Talbot Country Club, Easton, Md. The Easton golfers evened things recently by taking the second of the series of matches at Easton by a 17-11 score. The match Saturday will decide the issue, and some splendid exhibitions are looked for. Dr. Foster is looking after the local team. The defenders of Newark's laurels have not been announced as yet. The Easton visitors and their friends will be entertained by the Newark Club that day.

LOCAL FANCIERS WIN

Robinson and Renshaw Take Many Honors At Fair Poultry Show

Newark poultrymen carried high honors in the exhibition at Delaware State Fair Tuesday. Two exhibitors, Clyde Robinson and W. E. Renshaw, practically cleaned up in their divisions.

Mr. Robinson's white leghorns took down 1st and 2nd Cock Bird; 1st, 2nd, 3rd and 4th Hen; 1st and 3rd Pullet; and 1st Cockerel (only entered one bird).

Mr. Renshaw swept through the Barred Rock classes easily.

World Fliers Viewed

By Many Newarkers

Lieutenants Smith, Nelson and Wade, piloting the three Round-the-World planes, passed over Newark at 11.50 a. m. standard time, yesterday morning. They were enroute to Washington from New York. Four escorting planes, one a big Martin bomber, accompanied the pioneers.

The World Fliers surged along in "V" formation, at an altitude of about 500 feet as they passed over Newark. The insignia on their planes was plainly visible.

The heavy drone of their motors drew hundreds of people to windows and streets as they passed. It was Newark's first view of a plane which had flown around the world. General Patrick, flying in a tiny fighting plane, led the squadron. The planes passed over Elk Mills, Elkton and Havre de Grace during the noon hour.

Newark Dairymen Plan Changes In Market On Close Of Creamery

Interstate Association Representatives Meet With Farmers Last Night—Newark Station Closes on 15th

In response to a call sent out by the local unit of the Interstate Milk Producers' Association, some seventy farmers gathered in Wolf Hall last night to find ways and means to elude out of the difficulty arising from the order to close the Newark milk station on the 15th of the month. The order as posted on the door of the Dolinger station here gives the cause for the shutdown as "market conditions and excess milk supply."

The station is operating under a temporary permit from the Association, pending the installation of new wells so that the farmers may have their cans washed each day at the creamery. It is reported that Dolingers closed the station because the expense of putting in such equipment was more than they cared to spend.

Milk Taken Care Of, Claim

Messrs. Frederick Shangle, a vice-president of the Association; Twining, chief tester, and Henderson, field man, were present at the meeting last night. H. B. Williams, president of the local branch, presided.

It was decided after considerable discussion to endeavor to make arrangements with three creameries, those of the Clover Dairy in Wilmington; at Kelton, Pa.; and at Landenberg. The latter two take only grade "A" milk.

Thirty-one men, shipping about 3800 pounds of milk daily, agreed to ship to Clover Dairy if arrangements can be made for their product to be taken on.

Eleven men shipping about 2000 pounds daily agreed to have their milk hauled to Kelton, Pa., in the truck of Joseph McCluskey, who handles the Appleton-Kemblesville route.

Still others are considering shipping their milk by the P. and N. to Landenberg to the Supplee station there each morning.

The upshot of the whole meeting, however, made it plain that the Interstate organization will be able to take care of all the milk of its members first and then non-members will be attended to. Practically 60 per cent of the farmers present last night were members. Mr. Shangle said he would take the tonnage figures to the various stations and see if they will take on the added amount of milk. Another meeting will likely be held on next Monday evening, to make report, he said.

It is understood the Interstate members in the Elkton district are arranging to send their milk by truck to the Kirkwood, Del., station.

SATTERTHWAITE CHOSEN

Reuben Satterthwaite, Jr., a Wilmington lawyer, was chosen State Republican chairman today in Dover, succeeding former Mayor Leroy Harvey, of Wilmington, who declined the post tendered him recently. Mr. Harvey's letter of resignation was read at the meeting of the committee today.

GENERAL Du PONT FORMALLY ACCEPTS SENATORIAL NOMINATION

In the Sunday Star General du Pont issued the following statement: "I stated many times before the convention that I was not a candidate for the United States Senate. The Republican convention nominated me by such an unmistakable vote that I felt I could not refuse the nomination, and have since been arranging my affairs to enable me to accept the nomination so graciously tendered. I am a Republican and shall do all in my power to accomplish the election of the Republican ticket. It will be up to the people of Delaware to decide whether they want me to serve them. If they draft me as the Republican party has done, I expect to serve throughout my term to the best of my ability."

William V. Gallery Dies Following Operation

Former Station Master at Newark Center Succumbs to Pneumonia in Wilmington

William V. Gallery, agent at the Newark Center station of the P. R. R. for the past four years, and who was recently promoted to a higher position in Chester, Pa., died at the Homeopathic Hospital in Wilmington on Monday afternoon, following an operation made in a last desperate attempt to save his life. He was 38 years of age.

Mr. Gallery was stricken a few weeks ago with a severe attack of grippe, which later developed into pneumonia.

At the time of his illness he was living with his family in his new home on East Main Street. He had purchased a house in Chester, it is understood, and contemplated moving there shortly. When his condition became serious he was removed to the Wilmington hospital.

The funeral will be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow (Thursday) morning, from St. Patrick's R. C. Church, Kennett Square, Pa. Interment will be made in St. Patrick's Cemetery in that town. Relatives and friends are requested to meet at the home of his father, Patrick Gallery, near Rose-dale, Pa., at 9 o'clock.

Was Veteran In Service

Although a comparatively young man in years, Mr. Gallery was a veteran in the service of the Pennsylvania system. Born near Kennett Square he received his education in the public schools there. He entered the employ of the Pennsylvania while a youngster. His first position was as assistant at the West Grove, Pa., station. For several years he held this post, then became assistant agent, being sent on relief work at various points on the division. Shortly later, he was appointed agent at the Toughkenamon, Pa., station.

About that time he was married to Virginia Reardon, daughter of Mr. (Continued on Page 4.)

Light Vote Cast Here In Democratic Primaries

Majority of Local Delegates Said to Favor Ruppert for Governor—Collins May Run Again

Only thirty-three ballots were reported cast at the three White Clay Hundred polling places last Saturday when the Democratic delegate primaries were held.

No contests appeared in this hundred, hence the light vote. Numerous local political lights gathered at Fader's Garage, Ewing's harness shop, and at Christians, discussing the situation, however. All day long the relative merits of aspirants for national and state offices on the Democratic ticket came in for a grilling.

Pledged To Boyce

The six delegates from White Clay Creek hundred, it is understood, went to Dover yesterday pledged only to support Judge William H. Boyce for United States Senator.

On the much mooted question of Governor, it is said that the local delegates split. Four are reported to be supporters of Ruppert, one one each for Marvel and Lewis. Prominent Democrats when seen Monday, said they could not tell how each man will vote, however.

"The solidity of White Clay support for Judge Boyce, augurs well," said one local Democrat. "The sentiment in this community seems overwhelmingly in favor of the Congressman from Delaware. Tomorrow, however, will be another day. It's hard to tell what might happen."

HOUSTON FOR CONGRESS

Robert G. Houston, attorney of Georgetown, was selected to be the nominee of the Republican Party for Congressman at the November election. Mr. Houston takes the place of Dr. Frank Grier, of Milford, on the ticket. Mr. Grier resigned last week.

The new nominee, who is well known to many Newark people, was chosen unanimously by the State Committee in session at Dover this afternoon.

Dusky Sam Anderson Among Missing; Drops Shovel For His Runnin' Shoes

Sight of Chief Lewis Heading His Way Causes Victim of Digging Ditch

"I's goin' to lay down de shovel and de hoe, An' pick up de fiddle and de bow. For Ah'm headin' for to roam A right smart ways from home, To a place where de good niggahs go."

And Sam Anderson, residence, Newark; occupation, shovel expert, did that very thing last Monday.

Sam, you know, was the victim of a sociable stabbing affair on New London avenue about two weeks ago. It followed that since everyone had such a delightful time, the case never appeared in local courts.

The above lines cannot be wholly vouched for as to accuracy of wording and style, but it serves to outline the state of mind Sam was enjoying one day last week down by the new Library, when Officer Lewis' ponderous bulk hove into sight.

From brother Lewis, we gather that he was looking for Sam, the dusky one, so that he might impress upon him the advantages derived from airing the stabbing case in Magistrate Thompson's court. Police knew his assailant, and no doubt Sam would have been the beneficiary in the matter. Who knows?

But Sam Demurred

And so it happened that the Chief, bent upon his peaceful errand, plodded across the lower campus of the University to where Sam was indus-

Average Enrollment In Men's College Seen From Early Registration

Report About 85 Applications Acted Upon Favorably Up To This Week—Six Newark Boys Enter

That the Freshman class enrollment at the Men's College of the University will be around the average this year is indicated by the early registration figures compiled at the office of the dean, George E. Dutton.

About 85 prospective students in the class of 1928 have been accepted by the Entrance Committee up to yesterday. The dean's office is of the opinion that the early registration is entirely up to the standard. The last week's rush of new students is expected to bring the class up to the mark of the past several years.

One hundred and ten Freshmen enrolled in the Men's College last September.

Six Newark Boys Enter

Six Newark boys, all graduates of Newark High School, have applied for entrance into the Freshman class. The Entrance Committee has acted favorably on most of the names; there is no doubt but that all will be admitted. The names of the boys and the courses elected are:

Samuel Handloff, Arts and Science. Robert T. Jaquette, Arts and Science.

William Rupp, Agriculture. Abraham Hoffman, Arts and Science.

Henry Townsend, Arts and Science. Amos Collins, Electrical Engineering.

There is a possibility of other Newark boys entering during the next week or two. Marion Hopkins, star athlete at N. H. S. for the past three years, is contemplating taking a course in Electrical Engineering, but has not as yet applied for entrance.

Plans For Convocation

Plans are already being made for holding of convocation exercises on Wednesday, September 24th, at 3 p. m., standard time. Dr. Walter Hüllihen, in speaking of the plans, yesterday, stated that in all probability the speaker for the occasion would be either Provost Penniman of the University of Pennsylvania, or Dr. William Lyons Phelps, professor of English at Yale University. Dr. Hüllihen said that he was expecting word from Dr. Penniman this morning.

The convocation ceremony, through which college is officially opened, will consist of an academic procession from Wolf Hall to the upper campus where the speaking will take place under the trees. Both the men's and women's college student bodies and faculties will take part in the ceremonies. In case of rain, it is probable that the speaking will be held in the Armory on Delaware avenue.

September 18th and 19th are scheduled for admission examinations, while Monday, September 22nd, is Registration Day.

MORFORD EXPECTED TO SPEAK DEFENSE DAY

Dr. Walter Hüllihen, on behalf of the Newark Defense Day Committee, of which Clarence A. Short is chairman, announced unofficially yesterday that James R. Morford, Wilmington assistant city solicitor, has tentatively accepted the invitation of the local committee to speak in the Armory here on Friday evening in behalf of Defense Day.

Due to the critical illness of a close relative, Mr. Morford is unable to promise definitely that he would be able to speak at that time. It may be impossible for him to come to Newark Friday. He has accepted, however, providing that nothing untoward occurs. He will be one of the several speakers, mostly local men, who will be present.

Plans for the parade prior to the meeting with the Continental Band as an escort, are being made by the Mayor's committee.

Attending Convention

Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Vansant left last Saturday to attend the annual meeting of the F. P. A. at Lake Conneaut, Allegheny Co., Pa. Mr. Vansant is a delegate from Strickersville Council. They will return via Buffalo, Niagara Falls and New York City. Lake Conneaut is the largest inland resort in America.

Who Said Anything Was The Matter With Newark?

And Other Outbursts by MR. JOE SPIVUS

Cooch's Bridge, Del.
September 9, 1924.

Mister Editor:

Now I don't aim to be any Expert on Civic Beauty or nothin, but I do have a somewhat warmer regard for Newark than most folks down here at Cooch's—and when I reads in your paper that all them merchants on Main street is goin to sell gasoline to the Wilmington busses, instead of sellin store clothes and candlesticks to the home folks, right away I says to Sally Ann, I says, "Sally, old girl, I just got to say something in this critical moment." Sally says something about all I do is get into arguments, which don't help the pantry none, so I ups and says back, "Oh, Hursh up." Now ain't that tellin 'em, Mr. Editor?

Now I been a-talkin to Walt Geist, Looney Hanloff, Doc Rhodes and all them fellers up there, not to mention the hours I have spent in "Tammany Hall," listenin to Frank Collins and Ben Wirt and their pea-shooting arguments, and I tells you, Mister, I knows what is and what ain't. I'll do my pitchin right here and get down often the load:

The whole trouble is that the Town of Newark is too attractive and pretty and clean to suit these here Shoppers. They go to Wilmington cause they get the smell of the streets in their noses.

Why, man, over the whole length and breadth of Main street there ain't more than 70 or 80 holes in the pavement. And almost 1/2 of the sidewalks are paved with cement. Why most anyone can walk from the Deer Park down to the P. O. without stumblin more than twice.

And when folks come in cars, why the bumps in the street makes them forget about shoppin and they just go back over 'em again for fun.

Huh, talk about there ain't no money bein spent in the stores here any more. That's all applesauce, I tells you. I bet there's enough money layin around on the floor of some of these stores in Newark to buy the owner a new auto, if he could dig down through the old stock he's got piled up and reach it.

Any town the size of Newark what has only 11 or 17 dump heaps and one slaughter house (thin the town limits ain't got nothin to worry about. The people is too durned healthy to be buying much except bread and beans and a little salts at the druggists now and then. I points with pride to that slaughter house. It's the busiest place in town. What's an ordinance, when there's a chance to keep a good slaughter house in Newark? Why they order throw the Ordinance out of the window, along with the Mayor's bouquet.

And what is more, Mr. Editor, I happens to know that Eb Frazer and His Council Boys (not minstrel) agrees with me on this point. Eb has the dope all right. He was down to see me at the farm the other day, and while we was down at the spring house a minute, he up and told me that old Newark ain't a bad village, an' what's the infernal use of tryin to make a city out of it. "Let's just keep it like she was when we was boys together, Joe," he says, as he makes a dive for the buttermilk. And Eb ain't far wrong. Let's keep the bumps and the hollows and the dump heaps and by all means—the slaughter house. Them's the onliest things what makes the old town seem like Home.

Of course, them fellers what wrote the letters last week about "sole in business" and "do it now," has probably been subscribing to some business magazine and got all that fol-de-rol stuff. I used to read them farm papers, too. Yep, I read one onct about "Raise Hogs For the Bank Account." I did; only I raised H—I with the bank account and lost the Hogs. Them fellers mean well; so does Bill Bryan.

Yr's Without Respect
JOE SPIVUS.

P. S.—Some of them know-nothings up around Sol Wilson's insist on callin that big exhibit comin off next January, a "chicken" show. Being a Chief exhibitor, I wishes to correct this onct and for all; It's a Poultry show, not a chicken show, and it's bein given by the Pigeon Club of the Diamond State. I hopes that settles 'em.

Another P. S.—I was awful sorry not to have been to Taylor McKenney's party to the Elkton firemen, of which I am a Honorary Member, down along the Elk River last week. Maybe it was best for me though, because I didn't have $2 to my name that day, and I guest I would have been embarrassed some without it.

County Grangers Are Against Child Labor

Also Disapprove of Proposed Bonding State for Schools, Claiming "Unbearable Borden of Taxes"

WANT LEVY COURT CHANGE

Distinct opposition to the proposed Child Labor Amendment to the Constitution, and disapproval of the proposed plan to bond the State for $9,600,000 for the building of new schools, were the principal developments at the meeting of New Castle County Pomona Grange at Newport last Thursday. A resolution against the Labor Amendment was ordered drafted and will be presented at the December meeting of the State Grange in December.

The Grange took this action after a lengthy discussion of the amendment. They took the view it would work an injustice on children if they are prohibited from engaging in some useful occupation before they reach the age of eighteen years, holding that every child should be taught to do something useful during the formative period to give them a foundation for becoming useful men and women instead of a burden on society.

While opposing the employment of children in cigar factories, cotton

500 Autos Have Headlights Adjusted

A constant stream of cars flocked into local garages where arrangements were made to adjust headlights last week. The recent order from the State Highway Department went into effect Tuesday of last week.

From a casual survey of the Newark garages, it appears that at least 500 cars have been submitted for examination in the week ending Saturday last. Of this number, practically all were in need of headlight adjustment, it is reported.

One garage owner stated that about 90 cars were brought in on Tuesday of last week alone.

The ten-day limit advanced to motorists expires tonight. After this date, traffic policemen will pick up and have fined any car owner whose lights do not conform with the State laws. The minimum fine is said to be $10.

mills and factories where sometimes there are conditions which menace the health and lives of children under eighteen the grangers were in accord with the opinion that other avenues of employment should not be closed to children until they have reached an age where it is too late for them to be taught useful trades or occupations.

Abolition of the seven-member Levy Court system was endorsed in another resolution which favors the establishment of a three-member elected-at-large commission, such as that which now exists in Chester County, Pa. It was contended by a number of the members that the present Levy Court system has created a political body which has greatly hampered its usefulness to the citizens of the county.

The meeting was opened by Frank F. Yearsley, worthy master, who introduced Frederick C. Snyder, master of the Delaware branch of the Grange, who delivered an address of welcome. John Niven, of Newark, responded. A resolutions' committee was appointed comprising R. G. Buckingham, of Union Grange; John Niven, of Newark; E. Woodward, of Harmony.

Reports of masters of the various granges were enthusiastic as to prospects for activities during the fall.

ELKTON PARKING LAW WILL BE MODIFIED

Parking Now Allowed For 15 Minutes During Daytime

The Town Fathers of Elkton have been discovered between the Devil and the deep blue sea during the past few weeks.

They approved a new ordinance forbidding parking of cars on sections of North and Main streets in the center of town, believing that they were doing a great thing for everybody concerned.

Then the merchants arose on their respective hind legs and howled to high Heaven. Many harsh words are reported to have been said, many fierce glances exchanged, and a lot of comment pro and con was indulged in following the arrest of scores of motorists accompanied by the smacking of $1 fines upon them.

Now the Councilmen have decided that perhaps the law is a bit too stringent, and have thus passed an amendment, ordering that parking for 15 minutes be allowed from the hours of 7 a. m. until 5 p. m. with no parking in the evening.

In a way this has appeased the merchants of the town, but there is still a considerable group of townspeople who believe that the absolute restriction of parking on streets immediately adjacent to the Court House corner is the only way to make the central part of town safe to drive through. They also point to the fact that with this let down in discipline, the motorists are bound to over stay their 15 minute privileges.

In the meantime, Council is taking the brunt of the shock from each side of the fence. They want to do something for the town, but can't seem to please everyone.

The new modified parking law is to be given a trial for a few months, anyhow, say Councilmen.

CONSTABLE RECOVERING

E. Leland Ott Able To Return To Home This Week

Word from Elkton reports that E. Leland Ott, county constable, who was shot down and seriously injured last week by Augustus Carr, of Bald Friar, near Conowingo, was discharged from Union Hospital recently, and is now recovering at his home in Elkton. At first his injuries were believed to be extremely dangerous, but expert attention and careful nursing is expected to bring him around. He was wounded three times by the bullets fired by Carr. The latter is in Elkton jail awaiting a hearing.

DEATH WAS ACCIDENT

Coroner So Rules in Drowning Along Elk River

Coroner Howard W. Green, of Cecil County, issued a certificate of accidental death last Friday in the case of Roland Miller, a Negro of Baltimore, who fell off a piling on the new McClane pier along Elk River and was drowned.

Miller, who was 47 years old, was working along the pier when his foot slipped and he fell into the water. He was unable to swim, and before fellow workmen could reach him, sank for the last time.

The pier is situated on the west shore of the river just below Town Point, and is being built for a Clay and Gravel Company, who are about to start operations in that vicinity.

FIREMEN ON OUTING

Taylor McKenny's Cabin Scene Of Gayety Last Week

Several score firemen of the Singlerly Fire Co. of Elkton, accompanied by Dunbar and his band, spent a pleasant evening at the Elk River cottage of Taylor W. McKenny, Tuesday of last week. A buffet supper was served, and the firemen enjoyed every minute of the party. Several selections by the band enlivened things considerably. Mr. McKenny is a garage owner of Elkton, and a member of the Singlerly Company.

DREDGE BREAKS CABLE

Delaware City, Del.:
The dredge Clinton, recently removed from the new canal here to Wilmington for repairs, while passing out of the canal Thursday night broke the cable used by the ferry over the canal where the road used to be, and also broke a number of telephone wires when she ran into them. The cable on the ferry has not been repaired to date, and the work of getting across the canal has been made harder than usual. The telephone wires that were broken were repaired by the telephone company Friday.

FARMER'S SON KILLS SELF NEAR RISING SUN

Illness Believed To Be Cause of Sudden Death of Curtis Cox, Aged 22

Curtis Cox, 22 years, son of George Cox, shot and killed himself in a tent on his father's farm near Rising Sun, Monday last.

The young man had been living in a tent in the woods on the farm some distance from the house. When one of his brothers went to see him Monday morning, he found him dead, with a bullet wound through his mouth and back of his head.

Young Cox, according to his family, had been ill for some time and had lived in the tent to be out in the fresh air as much as possible. Lately he had become melancholy.

Coroner Howard W. Green, of Elkton, and Sheriff Pierson went to the Cox farm after being sent word of the suicide, and made an investigation. No inquest was held.

Mr. Cox is survived by his parents and several brothers.

Vote At the Primaries

We are presenting in another column the list of candidates for the nomination of Representative to the General Assembly and the various County offices on the Republican ticket. The selection will be made at the Primaries on Saturday next.

As we have said many times, this is the place where the power and influence of the voter is strongest. At the Primaries, we choose those whom we think best qualified to represent the Party at the election and best qualified to administer the office, if elected. These men are known to our readers, and Republicans qualified by registration to vote should by all means attend to this personal, political and civic duty.

The local candidates are known. They have lived here. We have seen them and know them by reputation and observation, in office and as private citizens. We know their civic interests and activities. We are in position by association to judge their abilities and qualifications.

They are asking to represent us in the Halls of Legislation and County offices where they will conduct the business of our State and County Government. This is asking much, for they are not jobs nor political honors merely, but civic and serious responsibilities, requiring judgement, business sense and civic sanity.

They are all well-known—neighbors. Without personal favoritism or partisan prejudice, every voter should voice his honest conviction and record his choice. And should base that choice on character, ability, experience and civic integrity.

Vote at the Primaries.

Join A Party

The very future—and in the minds of many—the near future of our Republic under its present system of government depends not only on a thinking citizenship but an active participation in the electoral opportunities and duties of citizenship. Warnings from the platform and the editorial desk have been sounding for several years, yet the situation has been constantly growing more serious and imminent.

It is indeed worthy of note and recognition that the Lawyers' Club of New York City, consisting probably of the outstanding legal minds of the country, have so viewed with alarm the downward trend of political thinking and activity that they have appointed a committee on government administration and are in active campaign by voice and circularization of literature to arouse interest in registration of qualified voters and party affiliation. No greater civic shock have we had in our reading and observation than the statistics given in a recent circular issued. It says:

That there is a widening gap between the American citizen and his Government is indicated by the steadily decreasing vote of citizens of voting capacity throughout the United States as follows:

In 1880—81% of qualified voters cast a ballot.
In 1900—74% of qualified voters cast a ballot.
In 1920—50% of qualified voters cast a ballot.

The circular prints further extracts from an address of the president of the club, Robert C. Morris, to the government administration committee. Without personal comment from me we call seriously these figures and these comments to the attention of our readers.

"Government in its primary sense means more than mere governmental officialdom. Those holding public office are the temporary agents in fact of the people at large who are really the government. Sometimes those holding public office think they are the government and in this they are mistaken. To those in public office is delegated the making and execution of laws regulating the life, health, happiness and business welfare of the people at large. The people create a trust; their agents administer it. It will be well administered only when the people are alive to what they want, are keenly sensitive of their responsibility to the present and to the future, and see to it that their agents rightly represent them and fully realize their fiduciary obligation. The people's sovereign control is through representation, partywise or otherwise, by those whom they have chosen to act for them."

"In its true sense a political party is an organization of citizens who act under a common leadership because they believe in certain broad principles and because they believe that those principles are essential to the well-being of their country. Their activities are directed to securing control of public affairs in order that they may make their principles effective in government."

"Each qualified citizen, therefore, should join a party, otherwise he cannot take a real part in the government of his city, state or country. Joining a party does not mean that he is irrevocably committed to maintain a hide-bound continuous membership in the same organization. If he does not approve the policies or candidates of his party he may change his party allegiance. The great essential is to affiliate with a party, so that he may use his party membership as an instrumentality to enable him to participate in the administration of his government."

The Citizen and Law

I have no objection to the man who, honestly disbelieving in the Eighteenth amendment, tries through the forms of law to get it set aside. I know well that he is working at a hopeless task, but he has the same right to his convictions that I have to mine. So long as he obeys the law, he is a good citizen. The man for whom I have no use whatever is the man who claims to be an American citizen, and then arrogates to himself the right to say what part of the Constitution of the United States he will obey and what parts he will slap in the face.

As an enforcer of the law, I propose to obey the law myself, not only in my personal life, but as a public official, and that means that I recognize my duty as a public official and defender of the law to live within it. I will do nothing in the fight for law enforcement that the law forbids me to do. In the enforcement work I will see to it that the rights of the people are respected. No homes are being entered save those in which liquor is sold. The individuals who handle their own affairs without infringement upon the lives and rights of others are not being molested.

If any of you want to change the Eighteenth amendment; if any of you are in favor of light wine and beer, go to the ballot box, but in the meantime be American citizens. Obey and uphold the law. In the end the law always wins.

From Governor Pinchot's Labor Day Address.

"Good Roads, Flowers, Parks, Better Schools, Trees, Pure Water, Fresh Air, Sunshine and Work for Everybody"—OUR MOTTO

I Am the Law

"I am the law. I protect the worker while producing the fruits of his toil, and in the enjoyment of them. Without me the grass would grow in the pavements of your cities, and the wolf howl in your parks; with me, your lives, liberties, and property are safe, and your higher faculties left free for development. He who attacks me attacks civilization, and he who defends me exercises and proves a patriotism not limited to the boundaries of his country, but in the truest sense embracing all mankind. Just as I am essential to you for your defense against the assailant, the thief, and the anarchist—against the lawless—so are you essential to my defense against the acts and tongues of the malevolent and the foolish. In the first rank of my legions stands the incorruptible and conscientious judge, striving day by day to do even-handed justice as my minister. In the second rank stands the able and upright attorney, pleading each suitor's cause as in him lies, but always within the limits of honesty and decorum. And in the third rank stands the plain citizen, not skilled in the law, in my principles and rules, but rather in the arts of production and trade, which I protect. All these defend me, and them I defend. I am the outer wall of the fortress of society, and the cement that holds in place each brick of its whole structure. In doing me reverence, you reverence the life-philosophies of your greatest men; by reviling me you would sow broadcast the seeds of anarchy, destitution, and despair. Let no man raise hand against me or unloose tongue, for the consequences of his treason, if effective against me, would destroy the lives and happiness of millions. I am the Law, and I call upon you in the name of humanity to do me true reverence in word and deed."

and Mrs. John Reardon, of Toughkenamon.

About four years ago, Mr. Gallery was appointed agent at Newark center in place of William H. Evans, and held that post with great success until a few weeks ago, when he was promoted to be agent at the Highland Avenue station in Chester, Pa.

He was very popular among railroad men of the Maryland Division and his death has cast a pall of gloom over the shops and offices where he was known. Local railroad men and fellow workers at the Newark center station are arranging to attend the funeral tomorrow.

Mr. Gallery is survived by his widow and three children, one girl, 12, and two boys, aged 4 and 2 respectively.

People Responsible

For Government

I ask each of you to remember that he cannot shove the blame on others entirely, if things go wrong. This is a government by the people, and the people are to blame ultimately if they are misrepresented, just exactly as much as if their worst passions, their worst desires are represented; for in the one case it is their supineness that is represented exactly as in the other case it is their vice. Let each man make his weight felt in supporting a truly American policy, a policy which decrees that we shall be free and shall hold our own in the face of other nations.—Theodore Roosevelt.

We need more of the office desks and less of the show window in politics.

People's Column

LETTER FROM SUPERVISOR FORD

Newark, Del., Sept. 8, 1924.
Newark Post,
Newark, Delaware.

Dear Sir:

In the issue of the Newark Post for September 3, 1924, we note an article on page 9 headed, "Caught on the Railroad Tracks," from which it would appear that our crossing watchman at Elkton was inattentive to duty, and I bring this to your attention for the purpose of stating that the facts as given in the article in question are to a great extent incorrect.

The true facts of the incident are as follows:

There is a garage located a short distance away from our track, opposite the jail, and the street was congested with automobiles which had stopped at the garage for oil or other items. The automobile in question, coming north, had difficulty in getting through the jam at the garage and when it reached our northbound track the engine of the automobile stalled and it stopped on the northward track. At this time the crossing gates were up and there was no train in sight and automobile backed off the crossing, after which the gates were put down for an approaching train, and after the train had passed the automobile went on its way. The crossing watchman on duty was an experienced man, having been doing this work for four years.

Yours truly,

R. G. FORD,
Supervisor, Track No. 82.

MORE SUGGESTIONS FOR BETTERMENT OF OUR TOWN

Embedded in every moment is a golden opportunity.

Reminds us of opportunities drifting from our grasp every day, Newark is most conspicuous to visitors and tourists, and may say with authority our surroundings are appreciated by visitors. While we are content to drift along in a slow plugging way, we know every body and every fellow knows where the other fellow lives. But it causes us to blush when a stranger happens along and inquires where we can find Dr. Walt Steel, or the mayor's home, or try to direct him. Now the writer feels there could be methods in which more economic and convenient ways than wasting many tiring and valuable minutes directing, or even time saved in drawing a map of our town, laying out streets and numbering houses.

I feel when this unpleasant task falls to me, without hesitation and embarrassment, I don't try to direct, but immediately show spirit of good fellowship and invite the inquirer in my car, then deliver him or her to the parties they are seeking. Naturally leaving a feeling with the stranger that is boosting our town, at the same time leaving a feeling with me that would be well to think and not wise to shout.

I have inquired repeatedly as to possibilities of placing some identification at street crossings. Say a sign giving the name of the street, and just at the same time could the houses be numbered.

I have been informed this has been talked of some years ago but some of the older residents have a number and they can see any use of such foolishness. They have lived in Newark all their lives and can get along little while with the old number. The spirit of progress prevails. Let's Go.

VARIETY SHOWER FOR MRS. GRAY LOMAX

Mrs. Cameron, of Milford Cross Roads, surprised Mrs. Gray Lomax, Labor Day afternoon, with a variety shower. She was the recipient of many useful and beautiful gifts which she certainly appreciated. Mr. and Mrs. Lomax wish to thank Mrs. Cameron and friends for the gifts.

Miss Eleanor Duffy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. G. Duffy, was hostess to a number of people at a bridge luncheon yesterday in honor of Miss Emma E. Dayett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Irvin Dayett, who will be married Friday to Albert D. Ayer of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Attractive decorations were used in the Duffy home. Guests were present from Newark, Wilmington, Elkton, and other nearby points.

SURPRISE FRIENDS BY REVEALING MARRIAGE

Elkton Young People Wedded Two Months Ago; News Just Gets Out

A great surprise was tendered the many friends and relatives of Miss Mary Mendenhall, of Blue Ball, and John W. McCool, Jr., of Elkton, this week, when the news leaked out that they had been married in Bel Air about two months ago. Both are well known in and around Elkton.

According to reports, the bride "let the cat out of the bag," when she started teasing her elder sister concerning the marriage recently. Before she knew it, the report was spread that she and young "Bus" were actually married. There was nothing left to do, then, but to confess.

Mrs. McCool is the younger daughter of A. H. Mendenhall, a merchant of Blue Ball. The husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McCool, of Elkton.

"Bus," as he is better known by his companions, is well known in Newark as well as Elkton and has many friends in this town. The bride and groom had planned to announce their marriage next Spring. The bridegroom recently started in the grocery business for himself at the corner of High and Bow streets in Elkton.

OBITUARY

NORMAN R. LYNCH

Norman, the bright little 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil R. Lynch, died at the home of his grandmother, Mrs. Laura M. Willis, on Cleveland Avenue here, September 4th last.

The funeral services were held from Mrs. Willis' home Sunday afternoon at two o'clock, with Rev. Frank Herson officiating. Many relatives and friends of the family attended the services, following which interment was made in the Newark M. E. Cemetery.

The deceased was a bright and favorite in the local community. He was greatly attached to his grandmother, Mrs. Willis, and the shock of his untimely death was very hard on the well-known lady.

Joseph Casho

Elkton and Newark relatives of Joseph Casho have been notified of his death at his late home, 1798 Allegheny avenue, Philadelphia, on last Wednesday, aged 85 years. Mr. Casho was a grandson of Jacob Casho, who served as interpreter for General Lafayette, at Valley Forge, and who died at his home "Prices Patent," in Cecil County, Md. Joseph Casho was a son of Isaac (only son of Jacob Casho) and Nancy Ash, his wife, and was born on "Prices Patent" February 25th, 1840. He was a noted engineer of his day. With his brother, Jacob Casho, he established the Casho Machine Company at Newark, whose threshing machines were among the first on the market. Funeral services were held from his late home in Philadelphia on Saturday afternoon. Mr. Casho is survived by his wife, three daughters and one son, Mrs. Thomas Johnson, of Massachusetts; Mrs. Bentley Collins, of Philadelphia; Miss Edith Casho, a well known educator of Michigan, and Henry Casho, of Baltimore.

THE SICK

Dr. Walt H. Steel is able to be about again after an attack of grip suffered the latter part of last week. He was confined to his bed for a few days.

A. F. Fader was ill at his home on West Main street early in the week. He is reported to be better at this writing.

GOING AWAY TO TEACH

Miss Hazel Collins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Collins, of this town, leaves the latter part of this week for a private boys' and girls' school near Cooperstown, N. Y., where she has accepted a teaching position this year.

She will be accompanied as far as Albany by her father. Mr. Collins expects to spend the balance of the week on a short vacation trip.

LIGHT VOTE CAST

Collins May Run Again
Considerable conjecture as whether or not Frank Collins, of Newark, will run for re-election to the General Assembly, seems to prevail in Democratic ranks this week.

Mr. Collins stated Sunday that he would not attend the Convention in Dover, unless he changed his mind at the last minute. He said he would be away all the latter part of the week, and wanted to get in one day at the State Fair, at least.

When asked whether he would run again for Representative, Mr. Collins said he had not as yet decided.

"It is possible, even probable, that I may run again," he said when further pressed.

The White Clay Delegates who were at Dover yesterday, were David C. Rose, Walter H. Steel, Benjamin Wirt, Irving Crow, Alvin Morrison and Charles Barrett.

"Am Not Seeking Any Office"—Boyce
William H. Boyce, Congressman from Delaware, stands square on his statements that he is not seeking re-nomination to that office or nomination to any other office, in the opinion of Frank Collins of this town.

Mr. Collins was recently in receipt of a letter from Judge Boyce written from his office in Washington, where in the latter states he "Is not seeking any office."

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

"An Act proposing an amendment to Article V of the Constitution of the State of Delaware, relating to Registration of Voters.

BE IT ENACTED by the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Delaware in General Assembly Met: (two-thirds of all the members elected to each House agreeing thereunto):

SECTION 1. That Article V of the Constitution of the State of Delaware be amended by striking out all of Section 4 of said Article, and by inserting in lieu thereof a new Section 4, in the following language, viz:

"SECTION 4. The General Assembly shall enact uniform laws for the registration of voters in this State entitled to vote under this Article, which registration shall be conclusive evidence to the election officers of the right of every person so registered to vote at any General Election while his or her name shall remain on the list of registered voters, and who is not at the time disqualified under the provisions of Section 2 of this Article; and no person shall vote at such General Election whose name does not at that time appear in said list of registered voters.

"There shall be at least two registration days in a period commencing not more than one hundred and twenty days, nor less than sixty days before, and ending not more than twenty days, nor less than ten days before, each General Election, on which registration days persons whose names are not on the list of registered voters established by law for such election, may apply for registration, and on which registrations days applications may be made to strike from the said registration list names of persons on said list who are not eligible to vote at such election; provided, however, that such registration may be corrected as hereinafter provided at any time prior to the day of holding the election.

"From the decision of the registration officers granting or refusing registration, or striking or refusing to strike a name or names from the registration list, any person interested, or any registration officer, may appeal to the resident Associate Judge of the County, or in case of his disability or absence from the County, to any Judge entitled to sit in the Supreme Court, whose determination shall be final; and he shall have power to order any name improperly omitted from the said registry to be placed thereon, and any name improperly appearing on the said registry to be corrected, and in any manner incorrect, to be corrected, and to make and enforce all necessary orders in the premises for the correction of the said registry. Registration shall be a prerequisite for voting only at general elections, at which Representatives to the General Assembly shall be chosen, unless the General Assembly shall otherwise provide by law.

"The existing laws in reference to the registration of voters so far as consistent with the provisions of this Article, shall continue in force until the General Assembly shall otherwise provide.

JOSHUA DANFORTH BUSH,
President of the Senate.
SAMUEL N. CULVER,
Speaker of the House.

Approved February 13, 1923.
WM. D. DENNEY,
Governor.

L. A. R. Benson, Secretary of State of the State of Delaware, do hereby certify that the above and foregoing is a true and correct copy of Senate Bill No. 5 entitled "An Act proposing an amendment to Article V of the Constitution of the State of Delaware, relating to registration of voters," as the same appears on the enrolled bill filed in the office of the Secretary of State and approved by the Governor, February 13, 1923, which said Bill proposing such Amendment to the Constitution of this State is published in accordance with the requirements of the Constitution of the State.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and official seal at Dover, this twenty-eighth day of July, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty-four.

A. R. BENSON,
Secretary of State.

Two Local Ball Teams Wage Red Hot Struggle

Ebenezer Downs Appleton in Young "World Series" Here Saturday

Appleton, conquerors of the sporty contests from Christiana and various and sundry other nearby teams struck a martar in Ebenezer, the prideful team from Mill Creek Hundred, in a hot game Saturday afternoon. At the end of nine hectic innings, the Church boys emerged victors, 5-4.

R. Whiteman let the Marylanders down with three hits, and pitched fever ball throughout. His team backed him up with precision and very an error is recorded. Appleton took advantage of their hits, few as they were, and gave a good account of themselves all the way.

The game was hard and fast throughout, even though Ebenezer jumped into a 3-run lead in the first frame. Appleton came right back in the seventh and eighth and drew a big scare into the Buckingham-Whiteman factions, but couldn't get the required hits from Whiteman's stingy pitching.

Quite a crowd attended the game. There is a possibility of the two teams playing a return match in the near future. The score:

ELECT A. A. OFFICERS

William Doyle Chosen Head of High School Body

William Doyle, a member of last year's football team and active in all sports at the High School, was elected president of the Athletic Association at a meeting last Thursday. George Chalmers was named vice-president, and Daniel MacCurry, secretary.

Football practice started this week, with a host of young candidates out for the team. Coach Nunn has been busy arranging for proper equipment for the eleven and this week is putting the boys through preliminary paces to work the kinks out.

CHECKER EXPERTS TO HAVE BUSY SEASON

Local Wizards of the Board Expect To Start Battles In January

Renewed interest in the ancient game of checkers has enveloped Newark and community, and the prospects of an exceedingly busy season looms up.

The town boasts of many expert players, and talk of forming a club or league is going the rounds.

The 1925 season will no doubt begin about the second week in January. Grover Henderson, undisputed champion of the Deandale district is already busy practicing up, as is "Art" Busby, one of the star performers back in 1922. He was absent last year during the checker season but is back in full force now.

The Post is arranging to conduct a permanent Checker Column during the season, and will make preliminary announcements in a few weeks. Contributions to this column can be received now, especially problems and solutions.

"NATIONALS" ARE LEADING

M. E. Men's League "Ball Game" Becomes Fast and Furious

By scoring three "runs" during the past month, the "Nationals" swept into a 4-0 lead over the "Americans" in the building fund ball game being waged by the two teams of the Men's League. A. S. Barnett is captain of the "Nationals" and L. A. Rhodes leads the "Americans."

The next meeting of the Men's League will be held on the evening of September 16th. It will be "Musical Night," and an interesting program is promised. Henry F. Mote is chairman of the committee in charge.

Elk Mills Wins In First "Consolation" Game

Elkton Baseballers Go Down To Defeat At Hands of Rivals Saturday, 5-4

Despite the fact that Perryville took down the pennant handily, the upper Cecil County entrants in the Susquehanna League are in the heat of a private war of their own.

It's just a long debated question again coming up for decision. Elk Mills and Elkton can't get through a season without tearing each other's scalp, so they arranged a series recently to find out once and for all, just which is the better team. So far, we are called upon to announce that Elk Mills landed the first blow, a stiff uppercut to the chin which floored Manager Boulden's hirelings Saturday, score 5-4.

Close Game Throughout

The knockout was duly saved until the last inning, for Elkton showed signs of upsetting all the dope and staging one of their famous last minute finishes. They were checked within one run of a tie score, however, after frantic maneuverings on the part of the Weavers. So it stands recorded as above. Elk Mills reigns supreme until next Saturday at least.

The heavy artillery held off until the fourth and then broke out all at once from both trenches. Elk Mills lost the first skirmish and trailed for one inning. In the seventh, however, they put two runs together and led the field, simply by means of a batting rally that had Arrants clutching for air more than once. That rally really won the game, as Elkton could do but little with Foster's shoots.

Jerry Dunbar had a big day with the stick for Elkton, gathering in three lusty blows. Kay, Spence and Divert led the Elk Mills' sluggers. Elkton was ragged afire, thereby helping out their bitter rivals in the run making. No less than six errors were charged against them. Until next Saturday, then:

Says Visitors To Newark Walk With Bowed Heads and Humble Glances

New Jersey Writer, In Survey of Crop Conditions Visits Town; Deplores Advent of So Many Garages, and Lessening of Farm Families

Says Visitors to Newark—9-4-24 HG
The following excerpt, dealing with the country in and around Newark, was taken from a series of articles written recently by a southern New Jersey editor.

The writer recently passed through on his way to Chester County, Pa., for a visit. Along the trip he took occasion to make a survey of crop and farm conditions in general. His references to Newark and the outlying communities are of particular interest.

Between Wilmington and Newark, 13 miles, is a magnificent paved road, a part of the New York-Philadelphia-Washington highway, that parallels two of the greatest of trunk line railroads, the Pennsylvania and the Baltimore and Ohio, both double tracked the entire distance of their right of way, and carrying an enormous traffic. Shortly after leaving Wilmington you come into the wheat lands, the average farmer having all the way from 20 to 50 acres so seeded. Threshing was finished and the straw cast outside the barns, as there was no room. I found on inquiry that the yield was from 15 to 30 bushels to the acre, a very few reaching the latter figure, the average probably 20 bushels. The warehouses and mills were then paying around $1.24 per bushel. Counting cost of labor, fertilizer, seed, threshing, etc., there was little or no profit, and this "rolling in gold" prosperity as pictured by the city-bred propagandists is as much a myth to the Delaware and Pennsylvania wheat growers as those seventeen horned behemoths we read about in the Book of Revelation. In fact, they were hard pushed to make ends meet and to face their bankers without side-stepping the debtor page.

By no means, however, is Delaware dependent on its wheat crop; they would have all been in the poorhouse ages ago if so. Diversified farming was extensively practiced, some very fine cornfields seen and the crop as a rule excellent. At Newark the local cannery was just beginning to put up corn. A considerable volume of produce is grown, and "going to Wilmington market" is an aged and venerated practice. The ubiquitous real estate developer was already on the ground, and everywhere were planted signs shouting of the incredible wealth, happiness and prosperity of those who bought lots in the Ballyhoo subdivision, and the unutterable gloom and despair of those who did not. More tea houses, more garages, more roadside shops.

Contiguous to a populous city and on a main traveled highway, naturally the price of these lands was kept from sagging seriously, due to speculative influence. But we could observe signs of "slipping." The villages were models of neat perfection, for this is an old and fertile country; but on the farms was noticed a tendency to let things "go by"—an infallible sign of labor shortage due to its high cost.

In Newark

A warm welcome awaited at Landlord McKelvey's Deer Park Hotel, in Newark, this a famed and historic old inn, its dining-room now converted by Mrs. McKelvey into a popular tea room. Newark is a college town, old, prideful, and rich in traditional lore, so saturated with "Delawareism" as to believe that Caesar Rodney pitched the Boston tea overboard, and began and finished the Revolutionary War. If your name is not emblazoned on their blue book, you are cast into utter darkness, and you are expected, while there sojourning, to walk softly, with bowed and abashed head.

But Newark farmers must eat, and by combining dairy and grain, with some produce, seem to be about holding their own. The Agricultural College and Experiment Station attached to the college help much. The beneficent du Pont influence is most marked in the rapidly developing university, as well as the Women's College, also in flourishing operation.

Farther South on the Delaware peninsula they are given much to fruit growing, notably apples and the smaller fruits, but the writer did not invade this; rather, porting the helm and putting on all sail, the black road mare steered a course due west into Pennsylvania. A few miles west of Newark is a point where, if a man had legs enough, he could place one in each of three States—Delaware, Maryland and Pennsylvania.

GETS TEACHING POST

Frank I. Garatwa, of this town, and a graduate this year from the University, has accepted a teaching position in the High School at Flemington,

N. J., for the ensuing term. Mr. Garatwa also expects to do some graduate work at the University of Pennsylvania during his spare time.

Two Good Squeezers

Two men were boasting about their brothers. The first one said: "My brother once went to a billiard match, picked up a ball in his right hand and another in his left, squeezed them, and the result was powder."
"That's nothing," said the other. "My brother once went to a farm, and he took a bull in his left hand and one in his right; he squeezed them; result—bottle of meat extract."

POLITICAL POT SIZZLING

An attempt to reach Mr. Claringbold both at his farm near Roseville and at his house on Prospect avenue failed today. The owner of the Newark dwelling in which Mr. Claringbold is understood to be living, Mr. J. K. Johnston, stated in an interview this morning, that Mr. Claringbold was a bona fide tenant of his property and is living there.

On the other hand, it has been rumored that Mr. Claringbold, while maintaining a house and paying rent in White Clay is actually living at his farm in Mill Creek Hundred.

Whatever may constitute a bona fide residence is certainly not up to us to render decision. It is the business of another profession to decide such intricate points. However, rumors are flying on the street thick and fast, and it was with a sincere desire to serve our readers' requests that Mr. Claringbold was sought for a statement.

As it stands now, the only news fact is the statement of Mr. Johnston, who, as property owner, has rented his house to Mr. Claringbold. What constitutes a residence is a legal question.

TWO CECIL FARMS ARE BEAUTY SPOTS

Farmers On Tour of County Delighted at Evans and Hobson Places

Two Cecil County farms, those of Frank B. Evans near Elkton, and Hobson Brothers, near Appleton, came in for a large share of attention from farmers who took part in the annual County Agent's tour on August 30th.

The following account of the tour gives an adequate gist of the opinions formed of these two places. Mr. Evans has always been interested in the welfare of the county agent work in Cecil and has aided in many ways toward the betterment of farm stock and crops in his district.

The account of the tour:

"Frank B. Evans, with a splendid herd of pure-bred Guernsey cattle entertained the party and here they were able to see a herd of pure-bred Guernseys that are paying their own way.

"Mr. Evans also showed that alfalfa can be successfully and profitably grown in Cecil County, even if the soil does require considerable preparation before planting.

"Dinner was next in order and from the look and expression every member was ready to move to the beautiful home of Mr. Robert Jacquette, Singers, and spend an hour enjoying lunches.

"After lunch the County Home and Farm were inspected and everything was found in good condition.

"Hobson Brothers of Appleton, who have rapidly come into the limelight in recent years for their ability as real farmers was next visited.

"Here the party had an opportunity to visit a 10-acre sweet clover demonstration, which is now carrying over 40 hogs, 6 heifers and some sheep. This demonstration was a real lesson to everyone to illustrate economical work production. It was felt that the field would safely carry at least 300 hogs.

"Their fields of corn were also making a good showing and 10 acres of corn for silo was looking well. Five acres more corn was planted to hog feed in the fall.

"Another attraction on this farm was a real herd of high grade Holsteins headed by a pure bred sire. This herd showed real milk production and the farm displayed the fact that most of the feed going into the cows for milk production was home grown. A visit to Hobson Brothers' farm will prove an inspiration to any farmer."

ACTION IS BEGUN ON HUGE POWER PLANT

Conowingo, In Cecil County,
Selected As Site For Hydro-
Electric Center

Plans for the financing of the hydro-electric development on the Maryland side of the Susquehanna river at Conowingo Falls have been completed and the development will be carried out by the Susquehanna Power Company, which has been taken over by the Philadelphia Electric Company. Drexel & Co. is the financial agent.

Construction of the plant will commence immediately. The plans call for a concrete dam 3300 feet long, with average head 62 feet above the level of the river. The power-house will be 120 feet wide and 7000 feet long. Ten turbines of 30,000 horsepower each will be installed eventually, but the initial number will be five, with a capacity of 180,000 horsepower. Cost at the outset is estimated at $15,000,000, and $30,000,000 when maximum capacity is developed.

Part of the preliminary work will be raising 20 miles of the roadbed of the Columbia and Port Deposit Railroad, a branch of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

All rights of way along the river have been acquired and large tracts of land for the transmission of power from Conowingo to Philadelphia have been bought. The current will be distributed by the Philadelphia Electric Company.

We wish to express our most sincere thanks to our many friends for kindness and sympathy shown to us in the death of our dear son, (Signed) Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Lynch.

Playing the Game

The young fellows of Newark are campaigning for a Football Team this Fall. Once more they are coming to citizens of the Community for aid. They have been called "roughnecks," "rowdys"—all sorts of titles have been bestowed upon them. They've swallowed these things without flinching and have gone out and PLAYED THE GAME.

This Fall, they are being led by men of standing and influence in the town. Football, under their guidance, will become a civic institution. It is not a flash in the pan; it is permanent. They may come to you as a citizen for help. We know they will come like men. It is the mark of a good business man, a good citizen—above all, a Good Sport, to give them a lift.

A Letter From France Former University of Delaware Professor Now Studying For Degree Writes To Newark Friends

Orville W. Mosher, Jr., professor of history at the University last term, and at present studying for a degree in the University of Grenoble, near Paris, has written to friends in Newark, graphically describing some very interesting places and scenes during his summer in France.

Professor Mosher will be greatly missed by both the University and the town this winter. An accomplished violinist, he has pleased many gatherings of music lovers. His many friends here will be pleased to thus hear from him. Parts of the letter follow:

"Pension Marvies,
10 Rue Lieutenant Charnaron,
Grenoble, France.
August 10, 1924.

"I am now busily engaged in acquiring French at the University of Grenoble and if you were to pass the door of one of our classes in phonetics which includes two Tchechs, a Chinaman, three Britishers, a Dane, an Algerian and Mosher, you would think from the sounds that someone was feeding a menagerie raw meat.

"By the way, Woodrow Wilson did a fine thing when he helped the Bohemians to form a new state—Tzecho-Slovakia. They are wild with enthusiasm, filling the schools of France with young people hungry for knowledge.

"Ninety arrived here a short while ago and they are working hard in their classes and show plenty of snap and go. They gave a concert for the other 500 in summer school the other night and carried off the whole in excellent style—solos, choruses, piano compositions of their Composer, Dvorak, rollicking peasant songs and curious peasant dances—and then Gypsy songs in costume. After that they danced with everybody and I am here to say that if any of those Bohemian girls were any better looking it would be positively irreligious.

As Edward VII of England aptly remarked after one of his clandestine visits to Bohemia, 'The scenery was simply great.'

"I'm not very good at dancing but that evening I danced with and on seven different nations.

"I went to see my old friend Georges Queannel of the University of Delaware, at home in Valence now. His father is a well-to-do banker. Several years ago he purchased the estate of one of the nobility, a count, and the family lives in this lovely old home behind high walls. There is a park with a little brook wandering through it, an ancient private chapel with stained glass windows and above, rising among the pines, the statue of the Virgin of Lourdes. Over the door of the mansion is the escutcheon of the count's line and within are many beautiful and interesting examples of the furnishing of different periods.

"In the mornings at 7.30 a fencing master comes to train the family in fencing and to keep them in good physical trim. You can imagine the refreshments served to the appreciative Mosher. George will be back the first of September, but I stay on working and hoping for my advanced degree in history.

"As ever,
"Orville Mosher, Jr."

"POP" GEERS REMEMBERED HERE

Used to Train His Charges and Race at Old Track
Near Summit Bridge

"Pop" Geers, the Grand Old Reinsman who was killed while driving a trotter in a race at the Wheeling, W. Va., Fair, last week, was well-known to Delaware horsemen who follow the fortunes of harness racers. Geers came to Delaware 18 or 20 years ago with some of the stars of the Hamlin string and made an effort to break two pacing records on Dr. J. C. McCoy's kite-shaped track near Summit Bridge. He first drove Hal Pointer, the ace of his day among pacing horses, sending him a mile in 2.11. This speed, however, was not fast enough to mark up his own performances, but he gave a beautiful exhibition of a perfectly bred, trained and driven horse in action and every one of the spectators was delighted. It was indeed a great achievement for a horse to pace under 2.12 twenty years ago and Hal Pointer's splendid effort won the admiration of all horsemen who witnessed the exhibition.

The same afternoon Pop Geers sent Hamlin Maid and Globe over the kite track for a record and they succeeded in making a new mark of 2.11 flat, much to the delight of the great crowd of horse lovers who witnessed the splendid exhibition. The pair were driven to a four-wheeled wagon just large enough to seat the king of drivers. The wheels were two or three feet high. Geers mounted the vehicle and after a warming up for a couple of miles, put the pacers at the top of their speed and drove them the mile and under the wire without a skip. The time, 2.11, was the best ever made hitherto by two horses driven abreast, and it was some considerable time before the mark made on the Delaware track had to give away.

The horsemen who witnessed the two "trys" for records recall the fine afternoon's sport and the pleasure of meeting "Pop" Geers, who so long has held the supremacy as the best driver of harness horses in the world. Dr. McCoy and Mr. Hamlin, the owner of the pacers, were close friends and the former introduced his intimate Delaware friends to both Hamlin and the reinsman of a string of almost priceless horses. Both are remembered well, and the occasion is still regarded as the Red Letter Day for harness horses in the Diamond State.

LEWISVILLE MAN FINED FOR BOOTLEGGING

Two Months In Jail Is Penalty
For Peddling Liquor At Nearby Carnival

Two months in jail and a fine of $50 was the sentence meted out to Walter Anderson, of Lewisville, who was recently arrested for bootlegging at the Oxford carnival. Anderson entered a plea of guilty and thus escaped with the minimum sentence. His automobile and several quarts of whiskey were confiscated.

Anderson was first arrested under the borough ordinance for disorderly conduct and fined one hundred dollars, which he paid. Immediately afterwards he was re-arrested upon a State charge and taken before the Court. There was considerable discussion about the ethics of such arrests, many persons arguing that Anderson was mulcted out of the $100, inasmuch as if he had refused to pay it, nothing could be done to him.

This idea is altogether erroneous. Had he refused to pay the borough fine he would have been summarily committed to jail for thirty days and after that the Court charge would be made just the same. What it really amounts to, is that Anderson traded $100 to escape an extra thirty days in jail, which in the eyes of most persons, is a rather profitable transaction. The borough authorities are determined that bootlegging in Oxford must be made so hazardous that no one will undertake it.

Newark Bankers Show Up In Big Convention

Messrs. Singles and Frazer Receive Places on Important Minor Bodies

The "high haters" from the Newark banking colony carefully sewed their money in the lining of their coats, and sallied forth to Rehoboth last Thursday, where they met other "six per centers" in annual convention assembled.

Newark was heard from time and again during the two-day meeting. Our two banks are represented on important minor bodies connected with the convention, while several of our commuting financial experts managed to horn into the party and came out with honors.

Along with the officers and staff elected for the coming year can be seen the name of Warren A. Singles. Mr. Singles was named a member of the advisory committee from New Castle County.

Mayor Eben B. Frazer, who carries on banking as an added vocation, being head of the town government, was found to have been chosen State Vice-President of trust company division of the Delaware Branch of the American Bankers Association. Quite a title. It follows that the meeting at which he and other bankers were elected to keep up the A. B. A. organization, was presided over by none other than George L. Medill, a commuter, also a Wilmington banker.

Francis A. Cooch, commuter (also Wilmington banker), manager to get the floor and the spotlight too. Mr. Cooch read to the A. B. A. branch convention a report which he, together with other members of a committee, prepared in relation to the establishment of a uniform schedule for allowances of fees in connection with the management of trust funds.

The Case of "John E."

A very careless reporter made a very careless mistake when he announced that "John E. Dougherty" of Wilmington made a speech. He'll pay more than six per cent for that if he moves to Newark, like George Medill wants everybody to do.

We have discovered that it was none other than our own J. Earl Dougherty, of NEWARK, who made the speech, and a very fine speech it was. He, being in charge of the financing of Boys' and Girls' Clubs and Cattle Clubs for the interests of the State Bankers Association, felt called upon to make a report of his stewardship. It was brief, it was concise, it was extremely refreshing. Scholarships and all that sort of thing, you know. Helping the boys is lots of fun, said Mr. Dougherty. Bankers need the boys; boys need the bankers. There you are.

Yes, the local wizards of cash drawer and interest figgers had their share of the glory, got new angles on how they do it down State, and in general behaved in a dignified and most pleasing manner throughout. Mr. Medill was noticed in the midst of his "commuter's lockstep" on the boardwalk, Warren Singles had his car washed for the occasion and the Mayor—you should have seen the Mayor! He was most certainly "among those present." He was there with a Bang, as the go-getter would say. He arrived early and stayed late. He was the life of the party.

MARYLAND CROPS

Corn, tomatoes, tobacco, late potatoes, sweet potatoes, truck crops, and pastures improved under the influence of a week of very warm, dry and sunny weather that followed the heavy rain of August 25-26, and these crops are now in fair to good condition, except generally poor in Allegany, Washington, and Frederick counties, where the rain on the 25th was light, and dry weather has prevailed for three weeks.

Corn is only fair to good generally, except poor in Allegany, Washington, and Frederick counties. Late corn has tasseled and silked and is now earing; as a rule it is in somewhat better condition than the early corn. Corn is extremely variable as to growth and condition.

Thrashing of wheat, rye, and oats has ended in north-central and western Maryland, except that harvesting of oats continues in the Allegheny Mountain region.

Pastures and grasses are now fair to good, except poor in Allegany, Washington, and Frederick counties.

Digging of early potatoes has ended generally; the yield was only poor to fair, owing to dry weather during July. Late potatoes are blooming.

Tomatoes are now of good quality, but the crop is short; harvest continues.

Picking of apples, peaches and pears continues.

SHOOTING OF BIRDS OUT OF SEASON TO BE SUMMARILY STOPPED BY GAME WARDENS

A meeting of the State game and fish wardens was held recently at the office of John F. Lynn, Wilmington, to map out the plans for an intensive campaign to prevent the illegal shooting of reed birds, summer duck, snipe, flickers, robins and other protected game, before the migratory season opens.

During the past three years there has been considerable trouble caused in Delaware, particularly in New Castle county, because of the excessive shooting of birds before the opening of the season, and last year the Department of Agriculture in Washington shut down the season entirely in this State. This year Delaware is on probation, and it depends upon the conduct of her hunters whether or not this state will ever again be allowed to have gunning privileges.

The State Warden, assisted by a number of Federal wardens, will closely patrol all marshes and river banks in an effort to prevent this illegal practice of killing off the best of the game before the season. The new restrictions will apply to rabbits and squirrels, as well as to birds, and the sheriffs and magistrates, in order to co-operate with the wardens, have decided that they will no longer issue warnings to violators of this law, but will arrest persons for their first offense. The fines range from $100 to $500.

This deliberate violation of the law is generally done by foreigners, and therefore, so that the trouble may be nipped before it has gained root, it is planned that this winter a series of talks, explaining these bird protection laws, will be given in the various Americanization schools throughout Delaware.

POLITICS ENTERING INTO ROAD SQUABBLE

Little Creek Section Near Dover Is Center of Disturbance

Dover, Del.—The Kent County Levy Court and the State Highway Department appear to be still deadlocked over the proposed Little Creek road, and the Levy Court appears to be still determined to build a road of greater cost and longer route rather than defer to the State Highway Department, which is building roads in accordance with a carefully thought-out plan, prepared by the best engineers and with the idea of a complete State Highway in their minds.

The residents of the Tenth Representative District have sought to relieve this situation and have presented petitions to the Levy Court asking that they build the road, already recommended by both the Levy Court and the State Highway Department, from the Tub Mill near Milford to South Bowers. They have pointed out the great need of this road, the fact that it passes through a populous and valuable farming section and that it is practically impassable for heavy hauling.

REMODEL SCIENCE HALL

Women's College Building Altered For New Offices

Work has about been completed on extensive alterations in Science Hall, one of the large Women's College buildings. Painters are now finishing up the job started early in the summer.

Two new offices have been installed, after partitions have been torn down. Another new feature in the building is the arrangement of a branch post office for the use of the students and faculty of the Women's College. Individual mail boxes will be installed. Miss Marion Neide, a student at the college, will be put in charge of the post office.

The buildings and grounds about the college are in splendid shape, due to the hard work of D. Lee Rose and his corps of assistants. An enrollment which will severely tax the facilities of the college is reported.

NEW GRANGE HALL

Several new Grange halls have been dedicated in the state of Ohio in recent weeks, some costing as high as $10,000 apiece, and most of them dedicated practically free of debt. One of the best of these is the property of Clinton Grange in Knox county.

UNCLE SAM'S PEACE TIME HEROES

Being a Story of the Faithful Mailman on Some of the Dangerous Trails; Ice, Snow, Open Water, Blistering Heat—He suffers with them all to "Bring the Mail."

Special Release to The Post

Uncle Sam has his heroes in peacetime as well as in war.

Records of bravery and of heroism equal to the deeds of daring performed by those patriots who have faced shot and shell of an enemy country are not lacking among the army of employees of the United States government. While the hardships encountered and the loss of life are not so great in number as those recorded in actual warfare, nevertheless, they bear mute testimony to the valiant service rendered by these faithful servants of the people, bent on performing the onerous and difficult tasks assigned them.

And the praises of these heroes are not sung in either prose or poetry. They are not broadcast throughout the land. There is no Congressional Medal of Honor bestowed on them; no decoration of any kind awaits them. There is not even so much as a citation for bravery and meritorious service performed in the line of duty.

But these faithful employees of Uncle Sam never complain. They are not seeking notoriety. They are being content to carry on their daily labors without thought of reward other than that which goes with the consciousness of duty fulfilled.

There is no class of employees of the government that faces more actual perils of life and limb and are subject to more vicissitudes of the elements in their daily routine than some of the men who carry the mails over some of the more difficult of the star routes. These men are not paid salaries but work under contract, awarded under the law as a result of competitive bidding. It might be said that they differ from all other government employees in that they fix their own salaries.

When it is pointed out that during the past two and a half years 55 carriers have lost their lives while in the performance of duty, it will be seen that the tasks assigned them are hazardous in the extreme.

The Star Routes

There are star routes scattered throughout the country where "sets of mud" are considered of slight moment and where the perils encountered from ice packs and fogs many times result in death or serious and permanent injury.

To the city dweller a reference to the mail man brings a picture of the gray-coated carrier who delivers his letters and packages unhampered to any great extent by wind or weather. But the denizen of the rural district thinks of him as the driver of a horse-drawn or motor vehicle, whose arrival is regarded as an event in the daily life of the occupant of the farm, putting him, as it does, in touch with the outside world and with his fellow man.

In January of this year Reinhold Dreahn, carrier on the star route between Buffalo and Murchison, South Dakota, fell a victim to duty. For several years Dreahn had been making twice-a-week trips between the two hamlets, encountering all sorts of weather conditions but never failing to carry out his part of the contract with the Post Office Department. He had started from Murchison as usual on a certain Saturday and when he did not put in an appearance the next day at Buffalo, a search was made for him. He was found just one mile outside of town with both hands and feet frozen. He was dead when discovered and it is estimated he had been exposed to the intense cold for over sixteen hours. The theory advanced for his death was that, becoming exhausted from a hard day's work and while attempting to crank his car, he fell and was not able to recover his senses before he succumbed to the cold of the night.

Four Bad Routes

Records of the Post Office Department show that among the most dangerous and difficult routes served by rural carriers and star route contractors are those extending from Newport to Otter Rock, Oregon; Ellison Bay to Detroit Harbor, Wisconsin; Rocky Bar to Atlanta, Idaho, and from Sandusky to Kellys Island, Middle Bass and Put-in-Bay, Ohio.

On the Rocky Bar-Atlanta, Idaho, route, the service is performed in the winter season by carriers travelling on snowshoes, packing 50 pounds of mail. Not infrequently, carriers on this route have been caught in snowslides and swept to death. Only a year or two ago, a carrier lost his life in this way early in January and his body was not recovered until late the following June.

The routes from Ellison Bay to Detroit Harbor, Wisconsin, and from Sandusky, Ohio, to nearby islands must be operated over the ice in the winter and in the fall when the lake is frozen. During the spring thaw it is extremely difficult and hazardous to carry on the service. A number of carriers have lost their lives in endeavoring to transport the mails between these points.

Probably one of the most hazardous experiences that ever befell one or more of Uncle Sam's mail carriers was that of the Hitchcock brothers, carriers on the routes out of Sandusky. Some winters ago, while endeavoring to deliver mail to residents of some of the smaller islands in Lake Erie they were caught in a storm and running ice. They were carried down the lake by the resistless force of a drift in which they had become wedged. The carriers were given up for lost by the excited islanders. A cablegram wired to Kelly Island read:

"Look out for the carriers; they are fast in the ice and drifting that way."

But the two men, after many efforts, were rescued. They were in an exhausted condition and so completely covered and weighted down with ice as to be helpless. Their caps were frozen fast to their heads and their clothes so loaded with ice that the wearers were unable to bend.

On arrival at home their friends were obliged to cut and tear away their ice-encased garments. After changing clothing a bushel of ice that had fallen off in the process was swept from the floor.

For several years George and Charley Morrison were employed as carriers on the Bass Island route. They, too, passed through many arduous and trying experiences, being the victims of many close calls from death. Out on the lake in all kinds of weather, with ice conditions of every description they battled with storm, running ice, fog and blinding snow.

Formerly associated with George Morrison in the mail carrying service was his brother-in-law, Carl Rotert. The two were unexpectedly overtaken by an accident which resulted in the drowning of Rotert. Among the articles carried in the boat operated by the two men was a long, unwieldy piece of metal. This in some way shifted, capsizing the boat. Morrison found himself struggling in the water. With great difficulty he succeeded in extricating himself, but Rotert was carried under the ice. His body was not recovered until late the following spring.

Henry Elfers

Henry Elfers carried the mails to Kelley's Islands for over forty years. During that time he had many hairbreadth escapes and adventures galore.

"When I was a youngster," said Elfers not long ago, "I was out in a boat about all the time. Now I don't care for ordinary sailing but battling with the ice has a fascination for me. As soon as the ice begins to form I feel eager to get out one of the ironclads and fight my way across. Each is a flat bottomed ship. There's a sail in the bow to carry us through the water or over the ice when conditions are right. There are two iron shod runners on the bottom so the boat may be used as a sled. The sides are sheathed with galvanized iron. This is very important because thin ice will cut a boat like a knife.

"From here to Sandusky is ten miles in a direct line and I go there when conditions are good. At other times I go to Marblehead which is four miles away and the nearest point on the mainland. I have sailed these four miles over smooth ice in 20 minutes. I have covered the same distance in eight hours. That was when the ice was about an inch and a half thick and I had to break my way every foot of the four miles. At times the lake has been covered with icebergs 20 to 30-feet high and I have had to travel 15 miles in a roundabout course to reach Marblehead.

"In the winter of 1896 I started back from Marblehead with my son and we got within half a mile of the island when we were caught in a blizzard. The wind blew 53 miles an hour. Snow filled the air so I could not see my son at the other end of our sixteen foot boat. Our sail was torn to pieces and we battled with the blizzard four hours before we succeeded in reaching Marblehead.

"At 8 o'clock one night, I had almost reached the island when I found I could not land on account of running ice. I turned toward Marblehead but lost my way in a fog and did not reach there until 3 o'clock next morning. Twice the live savers came out and got me when high seas and running ice made it impossible for me to land without their help."

The craft used by Uncle Sam's carriers to deliver the mails to these points on Lake Erie is a combination sailboat, rowboat, ice yacht and sled.

The star route from Ellison Bay, the northernmost post office in the Door County peninsula to Detroit Harbor, Wisconsin, is one that is covered by carrier entirely by water, crossing the famous passage called "Death's Door."

"Death's Door"

During the months when navigation is open, that is, from May 1 to November 1, carrying the mail on this route is a comparatively safe occupation, and free from difficulties. It is during the winter period, however, from November 1 to May 1, that the carrier has more than a man's size job on his hand.

Let the postmaster at Detroit Harbor tell his own tale.

"The chief difficulty encountered while crossing Death's Door in winter," he says, "is drifting ice fields. The ice bridge that forms in extremely cold weather hardly ever remains for more than a few days at a time. It is speedily dissembled by shifting gales and currents. Sometimes this breakup occurs so suddenly that the carrier is caught out on the ice with his horse, sleigh and mail. It is at these times that the proximity of the U. S. Coast station at Plum Island is a God send. One such incident took place some few years ago. The breakup occurred while the carrier was transporting the mail to this side over the ice with horse and sleigh. The ice became so thoroughly broken up

To Get Out Votes

The Delaware League of Women Voters has decided to arouse every man and woman eligible to vote to the realization of their civic duty.

"It is a very poor outlook for democracy when, as has happened in more than one state, one-quarter of the voters can elect a United States Senator, because so few people vote that 25 per cent is a majority. Corrupt politicians count on a small vote and want a small vote because a small vote can be manipulated. No corrupt boss can carry bad plans through when a big vote comes out, and when such a vote is expected the boss gives up his plans and tries to win by putting up the best man he can find.

"If a huge vote can be brought out, there will be something like a revolution in this country, for it will become what it is now only in name, a government by the people—a real democracy.

"Nobody can rightly call himself an American who does not perform a citizen's duty, which is the casting of an intelligent and conscientious vote in every election, and no man or woman is entitled to complain of bad government unless he does all he has a right to do to secure good government." — Del. League of Women Voters.

THE PARENT-TEACHER BATTLE LINE

Where flags are set in the map of Delaware as shown above, there can be found a local Parent-Teacher Association, doing good work every day for Education and Cooperation in this State.

As another school year rolls around and these Associations take account of stock, it has been learned that Delaware again commands a high national standing in Parent-Teacher work.

Some years ago, Columbia University undertook to make a survey of the country in this respect. At its close, Delaware was found to stand FIRST in the number of local units.

As far as can be learned this year, the Blue Hen State has not been given a national rating, but is conceded to be the largest Parent-Teacher State in the Middle Atlantic group, comprising all the commonwealths along the Atlantic seaboard from New England to the cotton states of the South.

Is this not a standing worth keeping?

THE POST BELIEVES IN NEWARK DO YOU?

Years ago The Post adopted the slogan "If you can't get it in Newark, buy it in Wilmington." The idea back of this is, "Buy at Home." The citizen who is most interested in his town does this. If a Newark Merchant by chance does not have the exact article wanted, the real citizen places his order through him. The merchant makes the profit, the citizen gets the article at the same price, the money stays at home, the town prospers. It is good citizenship, good sense, and good business to buy in Newark.

BUY AT HOME

The Advertisers in the Post are good business men and good citizens. They are working for a profit, of course but that is not all. They are real citizens who contribute in taxes, in gifts, time and energy in making Newark the worth while town it is. Without their support of every good movement, without their taxes, the town would not have the rank and record that we now enjoy.

They boost Newark not by lip loyalty but by service. They are friends of ours, friends of yours, friends of Newark in a very practical way.

Let our readers try their service.

A roll call of the members of the audience was taken. As the national anthem was played, the members of the audience stood and sang.

DR. STEEL

Alarm Felt Through Was Taken To

Reports from the hospital yesterday indicated that H. Steel is recovering and will soon be able to resume his practice here. He was admitted to the hospital after a cursory examination by a fellow physician, who reported that a recent fall had developed a fracture of the leg and arm. The leg was set and the arm was in a cast. It is believed that the patient will be discharged with a severe arm.

Dam Ready To

Reports from Sunbury that the recent break in the breastwork has been repaired and that water is being held back more. It is expected that the anglers' Association will undergo no further delay.

PLEADS NOT

Lee Savage, colored, pleaded guilty in General Sessions before Judge Rodney to indictment with a criminal assault, 15 years of imprisonment, upon Alvin's aged grandfather. The assaults are alleged to have occurred in the Cross streets on August 10.
