4-Man Council Weighs Budget For Expense Of Water Division

1968 Expenditures Of $496,762 Proposed For Water Division With Responsibility For 72-Miles Of Lines Serving 22,000 Persons 2.5-Million Gallons Per Day

Four members of Newark City Council tackled the second phase of the proposed $4,684,310 budget for 1968 after a 10 o'clock recess of the regular meeting last Monday night, and discussed $496,762 recommended in expenditures for the municipal water division. Mayor Norma B. Handloff and Councilman William M. Coverdale were absent because of illness, and Councilman William E. Frame was unable to be present because of a business commitment. Deputy Arthur P. Mayer presided.

The proposed 1968 budget for the water division includes capital outlay of $235,000; personal services of $60,500; utilities purchased for $20,000; materials and supplies, $39,350; inter-departmental charges of $27,602; and other charges of $5,800.

Functions of the water division as explained by City Manager Edward R. Stiff, include responsibility for daily operation and maintenance of the municipal water system with some 72-miles of lines with installation of water services and meters for a daily 1967 consumption of 2.5-million gallons of water by some 22,000 persons.

"Our anticipated revenues are $345,000, and expenditures, $496,762," Stiff reported.

"The deficit is due to the large amount of capital improvements needed, and $100,000 of the deficit will be financed by general obligation bonds, and the remainder from general revenues."

Councilman David H. Doehliet made no comment on the budget, but said that he had submitted 36 questions in writing.

"Is there any place in the sewer and water divisions where we can save?" Mayer asked with reference to a proposed 49-cent per $100 tax increase for necessary financing.

Postponing—Not Saving
Public Works Director Benjamin J. Campagna said that he had "gone over it" but that deletions from the proposed budget "won't be saving, but will be postponing."

And Councilman Olan R. Thomas said "I can't vote for a tax increase this year."

Finance Director Albert K. Martin reported planned presentation of an "alternate proposal by the next budget hearing," but that this "does not mean cutting anything out—twisting them around a little," he concluded of the budget figures. An audience numbering as high as six persons, dropped off to a single individual during the budget discussion which was adjourned at 10:30 p.m. last Monday.

Bids are being requested for furniture and equipment to go into the finished building, and Grimm expressed confidence that the R. Elisabeth Maclary School will be completed on time.

Delinquent Taxes To Be Collected For School Board

Professional Collection Firm To Be Engaged; New High School Model Offered

The Newark Board of Education voted last week to hire a professional agency to collect delinquent capitation taxes, and unveiled a model of a new high school.

Philip T. Toman, assistant superintendent for information service, said the school board hired Kelly Credit Service, Inc., to collect delinquent taxes.

Every Newark resident 21 years of age and over must pay an annual $4 capitation tax for support of schools.

Dr. George V. Kirk, superintendent of the district, said he does not expect to collect a significant amount in capitation taxes. The chief purpose of the collection is "to make sure people don't feel they can ignore this tax."

He said that because of mobility in the area, he is not sure how many people actually are not paying, and how many simply are moving away.

District officials think they are losing about $6,000 per year in unpaid capitation taxes, he said, and this is about what they expect to collect.

Dr. Kirk said the agency will be paid a percentage of what it collects.

"The responsibility for collecting school taxes lies with the county government," Toman said after Tuesday night's meeting, "but they have no way to move on delinquent personal taxes. That's why the board acted."

The board unveiled an architect's model of the proposed new Newark High School, which is scheduled to open in September 1970.

Costing $4,463,444, it will enable the present school to double its enrollment. The new building will be constructed as an addition to the present school.

One wing will be three stories high, permitting more students to be housed on the same amount of land. Many existing areas of the present school will be refurbished and enlarged as part of the construction project, Toman concluded.

Mrs. Loeffel was assisted by Mrs. Alice Potts, Mrs. Ginny Cobley and Mrs. Virginia Johnson.

The course included bandage carry, artificial respiration, bandaging and splinting.

Following the afternoon session, the girls welcomed the chance offered by the YWCA for a dip in the pool.

Homes For Foreign High School Visitors Sought By Newark, Christiana Groups

Newark-area homes for foreign students are being sought by American Field Service chapters of Christiana and Newark high schools.

American families willing to take teen-agers from other countries into their homes will be considered for 1968-69 school year students. Qualifying families must include both mothers and fathers, at least 37 years of age.

It is desirable for the family to have either a son or a daughter who will be a high school junior or senior next year. In selecting homes for AFS students, flexibility, warmth and understanding are more important considerations than size of house or income.

Accepting an AFS student into the home is one of the few ways a family can personally take part in improving foreign relations. AFS officials stress. Thousands of American parents and teen-agers have found this an exciting and rewarding experience.

The Christiana High School attendance area, details may be obtained from Mrs. Albert H. Jones, Christiana.

C&O-B&O Railroad Automatic Gates Planned For Area

Rep. Wm. F. Hart Reports Red Mill, Harmony Roads Scheduled For Safeguards

The C&O-B&O Railroad and State Highway Department have agreed to install automatic crossing gates at two Newark locations, Rep. William F. Hart reports.

The Newark Republican identified the locations as Red Mill Road and Harmony Road, both sections of carter accidents.

Hart said he met Tuesday afternoon with Howard C. Zopp of the railroad's Baltimore office, and Ernest A. Davidson, director of operations for the State Highway Department.

"It was agreed that the gates will be installed as soon as possible," Hart said after the session. "They will be financed by 90 per cent federal money, which Mr. Davidson said the department has available."

The Pennsylvania Railroad recently installed gates at several of its Newark area locations," Hart continued. "I have been pushing for measures that would make these heavily-used crossings more safe."

"I shall continue to follow this matter, for what we really need are grade separations," Newark's state representative concluded.

Father Rebuilding Burned-Out Home After Thanksgiving

Gifts of a temporary home, food, and clothing provided the Clarence Lynch family a real Thanksgiving as Lynch, a carpenter, started rebuilding their burned-out home.

Lynch, his wife, their three small children and his mother, Mrs. Alice Lynch, who owned the house, were routed by fire on Saturday night, Nov. 18. The blaze, which started while Lynch was repairing an oil space heater, swept through the two-story frame building on Route 896 near Newark, gutting the second floor.

The family lost all bedding and clothing, and most of their furnishings, but all escaped without physical injury.

Friends, neighbors and strangers provided them with clothing, furniture and a Thanksgiving turkey, and an anonymous benefactor gave them use of a house on Creek Road for five months.

Lynch has spent all daylight hours since the fire clearing away that which is beyond salvage—which is just about everything.

"I'm going to have to work on other people's houses to get money to rebuild this," he said.

Christiania volunteer firemen headed the fire, and Lynch has two children enrolled, and from which an older son, Victor, graduated in 1965.

Change In Sidewalk Ordinance Proposed To Waive City Costs

Councilmen Mayer, Thomas Oppose Proposal To Exempt City From Grading Costs In Older Sections; Rezoning Sought; Negro, Tarrant Appointed To Board Of Ethics

Proposed amendment to the municipal sidewalk ordinance waiving city responsibility for costs of grading with walk construction in older areas was opposed by Councilmen Arthur P. Mayer and Olan R. Thomas; the initial reading of an ordinance to rezone 7.6-acres on the south side of Barksdale Road from RS to RR was approved; and Dr. Felix A. Nigro and Fred Tarrant were appointed to the local board of ethics at the regular meeting of Newark City Council last Monday night.

City Manager Edward R. Stiff said that city responsibility for sidewalk grading, driveway replacement, and retaining wall construction as specified in 1963, had not been included with revisions to the law in 1965, and urged that this position be clarified with amendment of the sidewalk construction ordinance. Stiff recommended that property owners be required to pay for necessary grading to save the city some $100,000 in older sections of town.

He defined such sections as starting "with advent of sub-division regulations," which require the builder to pay for grading costs.

Let the City Pay
"The city should be responsible for the grading with sidewalks to be installed in older areas," Thomas said, and Mayer—presiding as deputy at Mayor's meeting with Mayor Norma B. Handloff's absence through illness—added that "197 property owners" had benefited from city payment of grading costs, and that any waiver of such responsibility would be "discriminatory to others."

Councilman David H. Doehliet said that the law levying the city with responsibility for grading costs was "wrong to begin with," and that as developers have to pay, everyone should have to pay. "The city is people," he objected to all residents having to pay for such city responsibility.

Stiff said that the city "will proceed with the sidewalk program, and council will have a chance to reconsider" proposed amendment to the ordinance.

25 Of 28 Students Reinstated At U.D. In ROTC Incident

The University of Delaware has reinstated 25 of 28 students suspended last week.

The cases of the other three still are being considered, according to Dean of Men Donald P. Hardy and Dean of Women Bessie B. Collins.

The 28 were suspended for "confessed participation" in the Oct. 12 ROTC walk-on. All submitted letters explaining their participation to the two deans by the 9 o'clock deadline Monday morning.

Student spokesman Michael Billingsley said that 25 of the students repented of their participation "that of a moral nature," and that they had not physically participated in the walk-on.

Billingsley, one of the 28 suspended, said suspended students would accept nothing less than "absolute clearance of records because we have not committed any acts against the university."

Billingsley, who is registered for one extension class, said the 28 planned to ignore the requirement that none of them attend classes and all stay off campus until they had been reinstated.

According to Billingsley, 169 persons, including faculty members and parents, also have "confessed" to participating in the Oct. 12 incident. When 500 persons have signed this confession it will be submitted to the university administration, he said.

Layton's Murals
On Display At UD
In Student Center

Two historical murals are on display in the Dover Room of the University of Delaware Student Center. Measuring 7x22-ft., they are the work of Wilmington Artist Richard Layton, who spent some 16 months in research and final brushwork. Layton was commissioned by the university with funds donated for the purpose, to capture some of the historical flavor of colonial Dover in the murals.

One mural is set in a rural atmosphere and is dominated by the John Dickinson Mansion, now restored as a museum south of the state capital.

The other mural contrasts the town setting of the Dover Green.

COMMUNITY

Telephone dollars have regularly gone into projects for community betterment. But individually, too, telephone people have always been community minded. Installer Joe Baker's Civil Air Patrol unit is a perfect case in point. Founded by Joe, this unit has an enviable record of performance in time of need... rescue operations, search projects for lost children or downed planes, many other acts of mercy. And Joe isn't the only telephone man in this unit. Ron Gruver, Bob Miller, and Chris Siegel have also racked up lots of flight time.

NEW TOP MAN FOR DEL-AWARE... On January 1, Hervey W. ("Hoad") Froehlich caps a twenty-year career as a telephone man by becoming our new General Manager. It was in 1947 that Mr. Froehlich began his telephone career as a graduate of Gettysburg College. Now a General Marketing Manager in Bell of Pennsylvania, Mr. Froehlich will take over the top post in our company from Myrddyn H. Evans, who is retiring after almost 40 years with the company. Our best wishes to Mr. Evans in all his future endeavors. Our best wishes to Mr. Froehlich in all his.

SAVE! SAVE!... There's a new family special in effect for long distance. During the week, rate reductions now start at five P.M. Even lower rates apply after seven P.M. and all day Saturday as well as Sunday. Another good reason to use your phone for all it's worth.

NOW! No matter where you live in the Diamond State, dial 411 for local information.

Dessert Goes Glamorous With Pears

Gala canned pears top irresistible brownies for this attractive dessert. Begin with brownie batter rich with butter, sugar and nuts, baked in an unconventional way. In a pie pan the batter bakes to form a meringue-like crust. Whipped cream, with just a hint of coffee and cocoa flavors, is mounded over the brownie crust. Atop all, the juicy sweetness of canned Bartlett makes the perfect accompaniment to the chocolate base. Use chilled, well-drained Bartlett pear halves, sliced in thirds. For the finishing touch, shave a thick bar of milk chocolate with a vegetable peeler and sprinkle over the pears. The result is scrumptious!

Three Layered Brownie Pie

1 (1 lb.) can Bartlett pear halves
1 cup sugar
1/2 cup soft butter
1/2 cup flour
3 tablespoons cocoa
1 teaspoon vanilla

Pinch of salt
1/2 cup chopped walnuts
1/2 cup whipping cream
1 tablespoon cocoa
1/2 teaspoon instant coffee powder
Shaved chocolate

Drain pears and chill. Beat eggs, sugar, butter, flour, 3 tablespoons cocoa, vanilla and salt in small bowl for 4 minutes. Stir in nuts and pour into greased 9-inch pie pan. Bake at 325 degrees for 30 minutes or until done. Cool. Combine whipping cream, cocoa and instant coffee powder. Beat until soft peaks form. Spread over pie. Slice pear halves into thirds and arrange over top. Sprinkle with shaved chocolate. Makes 8 servings.

BOOKS IN REVIEW By Percy Maddux

THE PACIFIC STATES. By Neil Morgan and the Editors of Time-Life Books. Time-Life Books, Chicago, Illinois. 192 pp. $4.95.

In large format, "The Pacific States," dealing with California, Oregon, and Washington, by Neil Morgan and the editors of Time-Life Books, is the first of a series of books dealing with the American states.

This book is a real treat. It is historical, descriptive, and modern. It has pictures in black and white and pictures in color of cities, farms, factories, mountains, and a host of interesting places and activities. San Diego, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland, Seattle, and other cities are shown.

This is the far western part of the United States as only Life can present it.

ANCIENT AMERICA. By Jonathan Norton Leonard and the Editors of Time-Life Books. Time-Life Books, Chicago, Illinois. 606 pp. 192 pp. $3.95.

In the magnificent Great Ages of Man series, Time-Life Books offers "Ancient America" by Jonathan Norton Leonard, giving a panoramic view of North and South America as it was before the coming of Europeans and for a short while thereafter.

This book features Aztecs, Mayas, and Incas. It is not a book of Eskimos and North American Indians but deals rather with the great civilizations of Mexico and South America.

The book is sized 9 by 11 inches and contains many photographs in black and white and in color as well as reproductions of ancient drawings.

Jonathan Norton Leonard is well qualified to describe the ancient civilizations of Latin America and the reader will find a good summation of them here.

SMALL BOAT TO ALSACE. By Roger Pilkington. Illustrated by David Knight. Macmillan & Co. Ltd., London. 224 pp. 25s.

Roger Pilkington has a 45-ft.-long boat which he has named the Commodore and in which he sails the rivers of Europe, having the time and money to do so.

In "Small Boat to Alsace" he starts from a point in Holland, with a fresh admirably-reconditioned engine shipped from England to replace the Commodore's worn-out one, crosses Belgium and proceeds up the river Meuse, which he says the French list as the Canal de l'Est.

His book recounts his adventures with his wife on this boat trip, his encounters with the authorities, and his observations on the places visited. Description, history, legend, and some enter into the pages to provide interest and information. A series of maps helps the reader to follow the journey.

This is good reading and not a technical nautical book but an interesting account of a journey to and through the province of Alsace.

FABULOUS BEASTS. By Peter Lum. With illustrations by Anne Marie Jauss. Penthen Books, Inc., New York. 236 pp.

There are many more animals than a person will hear about during his lifetime than he will see, and there are indeed creatures that many of us have never heard of. It should not be surprising, then, that over the centuries there have been stories of imaginary beasts.

It is these that are dealt with in Peter Lum's book "Fabulous Beasts." If the book is not indeed unique, it is certainly interesting and informative. Of course, the authors mentions dragons, unicorns, mermaids, griffins, basilisks, salamanders, and other creatures famed in myth and legend, but she also tells of lesser known beings, such as the semurra of Persia, with wings and tail like a bird and head and paws like a dog; the tengu of Japan, a combination of bird and man; the makara, a combination of fish and mammal; the naga of India, a being with seven cobra heads; and others.

Here is bestial mythology in a nutshell, a sort of literary zoo in which the reader can wander not once but again and again with delight. The illustrations are helpful, and there is a bibliography.

CITY MANAGER'S JOB

Along with daily responsibility for providing residents of Newark with water, electric power, storm water and sewage disposal, reasonably pure air, police protection, street maintenance and fairly free flowing traffic; City Manager Edward R. Stiff faces other challenging confrontations. He must deal with municipal finances—disbursements and collections—street and utilities construction; and with the problems of municipal personnel, elected and appointed officials—and the general public.

All these are rugged routine, but another of his responsibilities is preparation of the annual budget for the City of Newark—a budget which proposes operating expenses of $2,784,480; capital improvements of $1,795,450; and $104,000 in debt retirement with a total of $4,684,310 in expenditures for the coming year.

This budget, which represents a staggering amount of hard labor in its derivation and compilation—it consists of 129 typed pages—is based upon a financial foundation that involves a 49-cent tax increase—from 65 cents to $1.14 per $100 assessed value of real estate.

No one knows better than Ed Stiff, the dim view the public takes of any tax increase. And some displeasure already has been expressed concerning the 129-pages of budgetary toil.

"You have to like the work," Mr. Stiff replied recently concerning his job as city manager—just after presenting the 129-page budget for 1968.

"My wife asked me the other evening—'What happened at the office today?'"

"And I said 'nothing.'"

100-Voice Interdenominational Chorus To Present "The Messiah" At Brookside

This Sunday evening at 7:30, a 100-voice interdenominational chorus will present Handel's oratorio "The Messiah" in Kingswood-of-Brookside Methodist Church. This will mark the seventh annual presentation of the oratorio directed by Mrs. Richard Blekeman accompanied by Organist Marie Knotts.

Soprano soloist will be Mrs. Thomas Beaudry, a resident of Brookside who has appeared with the Wilmington Opera Society, the Wilmington Chamber Opera Group, and the Brandenburgers. She has won acclaim for her work in the leading role of "Maurice Marthe" for the Wilmington Opera Society, and as "Maurice" in "Kismet" for the Brandenburgers. A former student at the American Theatre Wing in New York City, Mrs. Beaudry is a member of the choir of Trinity Episcopal Church, Wilmington.

On a cold night when a bird must call upon fat deposits for energy, its weight loss might be equivalent to a 20-pound loss by a 200-pound man.

Mayor Handloff, W.J. Conner Agree On Tax Aid Plans

County Reorganization Act Changes Expected Without Legislation After Meeting

Newark Mayor Norma B. Handloff and County Executive William J. Conner agreed last week after a meeting of county, local, and other municipal representatives, that a compromise on a bill to amend the New Castle County Reorganization Act may be reached without additional legislation.

Mayor Handloff, a principal backer of the bill, said Tuesday's session last week left her with the impression that the county will try to work out problems without legislation and that the bill will be a "stimulus" to closer cooperation.

Conner called Tuesday's session to discuss SB-256, which he said would sharply increase the tax rate for residents of unincorporated areas.

The bill would result in lower rates for residents of Newark and other incorporated areas.

The meeting lasted more than two hours, and representatives of the six municipalities—Wilmington, Newark, Middletown, Newport, Elsmere and Delaware City—said they are paying more than their fair share of county taxes, and are paying for county services they don't receive.

The bill would change the method of computing the local service function budget upon which tax rates are based.

The theory is that residents of incorporated areas pay only for county services they receive. If they have their own police force, for example, they don't pay taxes to support county police.

Conner expressed most concern about that portion of the bill which would repeal that section of the Reorganization Act permitting unrestricted use of funds raised at the former tax rate of 55 cents per $100 assessed property valuation.

Conner said killing that section would mean the county's budget next year, if the same size, would jump the 60-cent rate for residents of unincorporated areas to 77 cents.

Mrs. Handloff said that Newark feels it is not receiving proper credit for the services it provides.

Sen. Russell D.F. Dineen, D-Wilmington one of the principal sponsors of the bill, said the 55-cent

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Caveat Emptor—"Let the Buyer Beware"—is an old maxim of law. The buyers in this case are the taxpayers of the City of Newark. What the taxpayers are being asked to do is the "Alice in Wonderland" 1968 budget and capital improvements.

The budget has all of the old familiar "trimmings" of "something for everybody," a municipal swimming pool, small instant pools and so on.

The Newark Post is the only news media, including television and radio, that took the time to adequately inform the people what this will cost the taxpayers. This paper obtained a copy of the projected budget, analyzed it, and then told the public in its Nov. 23, issue that, IF PASSED, it will mean an INCREASE OF $490 PER THOUSAND of the taxpayers' assessment valuation of his property!

You all have read a lot of fanfare in other "news media" on how Newark is moving ahead, but none, with the exception of the Post, to my knowledge, informed you that they intend to move in on your pocketbook in so doing. Unless you as taxpayers move in and bring pressure to bear on council members to eliminate unnecessary items, you'll be paying through the nose.

As one member of council, for essentials I say yes—luxury items, NO!

Economy itself has always been a source of revenue. If you buy this statement, then be on hand when the budget comes up for final approval on Dec. 4.

In the meantime, pass the word, for other news media seem to reveal only the rosy side of things. Some people never get around to reading other sources of news.

I would appreciate hearing from any taxpayer who wants to stop this raid on your pocketbooks.

William M. Coverdale
241 District Councilman

Joseph Keller To Address Public On Mathematics

Prof. Joseph B. Keller of the Courant Institute of Mathematical Sciences in New York City, will address a mathematics colloquium at the University of Delaware this Friday.

The colloquium at 2:10 p.m. in Room 101, Sharp Laboratory, is open to the public without charge.

Keller's topic is "Nonlinear Wave Propagation."

was intended to be a ceiling on tax rates for incorporated areas to be succeeded only if additional services were offered.

Instead, he charged, the county has used the 55 cents as a door for the new rates, even though no additional services were offered.

Wins Bank Promotion

David McMillan

At a meeting of the Bank of Delaware directors on Nov. 22, David McMillan, an assistant vice-president in the commercial loan department, was promoted to vice-president.

McMillan began his banking career in 1951 as an employee of the book-keeping department and was elected assistant treasurer the following year.

He was assigned to the Newark office as assistant manager in 1955, and became manager in 1959. He was elected assistant-vice president the same year.

McMillan, a native of Wilmington, is a graduate of Wesleyan University and the Stonier Graduate School of Banking at Rutgers University.

City Council

Stiff said the project is being financed by both city and federal funds, with the city contributing $10,500, and that he assumed the planning commission attorney had reviewed the program.

England is to indicate in a memorandum, what points need to be applied.

Good Sports

Council adopted a resolution commending Newark and Middletown high schools on sportsmanship and conduct of the Nov. 17, football game.

At request of the Newark Parks and Recreation Authority for professional appraisal, at an estimated cost of $10,000, of the proposal to construct a high-rise building for office rental and public parking, council approved "firm proposals" to be submitted for consideration with the budget.

The resignation of Mrs. Constance Clark as a member of the Newark Parks and Recreation Advisory Committee, was recorded with appreciation for her service during one full term and a portion of another.

Density Mayor Mayer added that she was a "good cooperative team" only teacher."

Stiff said that he had received a report of the State Highway Department program for the 1968-74 fiscal period which included a "total

Another Barn Fire Being Investigated With Friday Blaze

John Zistl Farm Suffers Estimated $15,000 Loss With Building, Three Autos

Fire destroyed a barn, its contents and three autos parked nearby on the farm of John Zistl at Sandy Brae Road and Old Baltimore Pike early last Friday morning.

Raymond M. Harrington, Jr., deputy state fire marshal, said cause of the blaze, with a loss Zistl estimated at $15,000, is under investigation.

Harrington added that the blaze appeared to have been set.

Volunteer firemen from the Aetna Hose, Hook & Ladder Co. of Newark, Christina Fire Co. and the Singler Fire Co. of Elkton, Md., were called at 3:57 a.m.

Aetna fire officials said the barn was in flames; the blaze had spread to three nearby automobiles, and roofs of the Zistl home and garage about 100 ft. away were smoking when they arrived.

Firemen added that, although they couldn't save the barn and contents, or the automobiles, water was poured on the house and garage and neither caught fire.

believed as it affects Newark, of $14,500,000.

"All the squeaking and noises that residents of the City of Newark have made are beginning to show some profit," Stiff added.

The program includes Elkton Road improvements in 1968; improvements to Route 2 at the C&O-B&O underpass in 1969; improvements to Chestnut Hill Road from Elkton Road to Ogletown in 1971 at a cost of $5,500,000; a four-lane expressway on Route 273 to Ogletown at a cost of $3,500,000; and improvements to Routes 273 and 896.

Stiff invited council to attend a Dec. 1 meeting with the State Highway Department in Dover, for discussion of the program.

Mrs. Ethelyn Chambers in the audience asked for "an itemized list of what is wrong" with her 95 New London Avenue building that is scheduled for demolition as being in violation of the housing code.

She said that she had not received such a list; that she had "tried to do my very best to comply" with city housing requirements; and of neighboring houses, said that "95 per cent will have to come down other people in the area," Mrs. Chambers added.

The city manager said the house had been considered by the building inspector to be dangerous last Aug. 7, that the owner had been notified "she could appeal this decision," she said.

Stiff said that the board of building inspectors considered the case on Sept. 22, Stiff continued, but did not reach a decision until the board had inspected the property. And on Sept. 27, the board upheld the building inspector.

"After it reached the board of appeals, there is no action to be taken by council," Stiff said of the Chambers case.

England said that Mrs. Chambers could appeal to Superior Court, and Conner said that he would support the decision with a vote to "hear the next speaker."

The next speaker was an Arbour Park resident urging a more "reasonable way" with school construction grading cost requirements.

School Business Head

H. Lewis Miller

After-School Use Of Area Buildings Listed By Miller

Director of business for the Newark special school district, H. Lewis Miller reports that last month was a busy one for after-school use of the district's many buildings.

Groups using school buildings during the month included the Greater Newark Recreation Association, Little Theater, Girl Scouts, Newman Center of the University of Delaware, the City of Newark, Sylvan Manor and Cherokee Woods civic associations; the Democratic committee, Boy Scouts, Pennsylvania Ballet Co., Solomon Lodge, Evangelical Presbyterian Church, Todd Estates Civic Association; St. Nicholas Episcopal Church, and Unitarian Fellowship.

Miller points out that some of these organizations used the facilities as many as five times during the month so that a list of organizations using buildings is not a clear indication of activity.

The GNRA used Newark schools facilities 20 times.

The Newark Board of Education expressed pleasure at Miller's report, indicating that the more the public uses school facilities, the better the board likes it.

Since the public pays for these school facilities, when school buildings are not in use for the district's educational program, they should be available either at no cost or at only "out-of-pocket" costs to residents of the Newark district, the board reports.

ing inspector.

"After it reached the board of appeals, there is no action to be taken by council," Stiff said of the Chambers case.

England said that Mrs. Chambers could appeal to Superior Court, and Conner said that he would support the decision with a vote to "hear the next speaker."

The next speaker was an Arbour Park resident urging a more "reasonable way" with school construction grading cost requirements.

NVF Stockholders To Get 5 Per Cent Dividend, Dec. 22

Directors of NVF Co. have declared a stock dividend of five per cent, payable Dec. 22, to shareholders of record Dec. 8, 1967.

Previously in 1967, the Wilmington-based manufacturer of industrial plastics, materials handling containers and fine papers has paid three quarterly cash dividends of 30 cents each.

President Eugene R. Perry said earnings for the nine months were less than last year's minimums for payment of cash dividends. "Because of these agreements and the company's desire to conserve cash," he said, "the board approved the stock dividend."

Perry said that the sales and earnings decline suffered by the company to date in 1967 had been arrested and the forecast improvement beginning in the fourth quarter.

NVF Co. net earnings for nine months amounted to 52 cents per share compared with $1.86 per share in 1966.

The NVF Co. reported net earnings of $76,302 or 13 cents per share in the third quarter compared with $354,064 or 60 cents per share in the similar 1966 period.

Perry said simultaneous declines in most product lines and geographical markets were the major cause of the company's earnings drop.

"The developer was required to do the grading," Councilman Thomas explained.

"Agreed," the Arbour Park property owner replied. "But it wasn't done."

And the meeting was recessed at 10:48 p.m., five minutes prior to a budget review.

$6,653 Reported As Average Farm Income For 1966

Dr. Raymond Smith Cites Decline In Farm Income With Delaware Bulletin

Delaware farmer's net income went down $7-million in 1966 from 1965. Average farm income after expenses in Delaware was $6,653 in 1966, down nearly 12 percent from 1965, according to Dr. Raymond Smith, chairman of the department of agricultural and food economics at the University of Delaware.

Smith describes the income and expenses of Delaware farmers in a new publication "Delaware's Farm Income."

Despite a drought-ridden year, cash receipts from crops and livestock increased more than $2-million in 1966 over 1965. However, higher farm expenses and smaller incomes offset this increase causing the decline in net income.

Costs of feed, livestock, fertilizer and time set high records in 1966 — up a total of $6.8 million in one year. Costs have increased steadily since 1961. Farmers pay $18.1 million more for their farm expenses than they did five years earlier, according to Smith.

Cash receipts from corn in 1966 increased by $1-million despite the drought. Income from broilers, cattle and hogs was $4.4 million. However, poor soybean and vegetable crops accounted for $3-million less income than in 1965.

The price of most farm products was higher in 1966 than in 1965; only potatoes and peaches showed a decline. Potatoes were $1.10 a bushel, up from $1.00 in 1965. Peaches were $1.10 a bushel, down from $1.20 in 1965.

Music On Campus Hails Production Of UDC, E-52 Play

Songs from the melodramatic musical "The Streets of New York" are being performed at the University of Delaware campus by the E-52 University Theatre in conjunction with the University Drama Group, Dec. 6-9, including a 2:30 p.m. matinee on Saturday.

The production with music and lyrics by Barry Allen Graef and Richard Chodosh, is based on Dion Boucicault's melodrama, "The Poor of New York."

The plot centers around the efforts of a young bloodhound, a villainous banker, to get a wealthy, respectable husband for his daughter, Alida.

The chosen man, Mark Livingston, is in love with Lucy Fairweather, daughter of a man who has been robbed of all he had by Bloodgood. The plot thickens before the famous climax in the tenement fire scene, but in good melodramatic fashion, love conquers all.

The production was led by Donald Grimes as Bloodgood; Nona Kelly as Alida; Michael Burns as Mark Livingston; and Allison Mills as Lucy Fairweather. It is rehearsing under the direction of Dr. Thomas W. Van Pelt, chairman of the department of dramatic arts and speech.

Maryland County Libraries Visited By Newark Group

Members of the Newark Library Commission and a representative of the Friends of the Newark Free Library recently visited four libraries of the Montgomery County Library System in Maryland.

Dr. Cyrus L. Day, Dr. John E. Elledge, and Mrs. Jerry A. Noh of the commission, and Mrs. Ralph E. Purcell, a founder and past president of FNFL, were guests of George B. Moreland, director of Montgomery County libraries.

The purpose of the visit was to observe the operation of the libraries of one of the outstanding library systems in the Middle Atlantic States.

Montgomery County — a heavily populated area — has been building an average of one new library a year since 1950, and is now converting the older buildings to children's libraries as new facilities are completed.

Libraries visited by the Newark contingent were at Davis, Chevy Chase, Wheaton, and Noyes.
