At a mass-meeting in Wolf Hall at noon yesterday, the students of Delaware College contributed their promotions since he arrived at of Dean A. R. Cullimore, is conpart to the million dollar Student Friendship Fund of the Young Men's Christian Association. The claims of the cause to which this fund is to be devoted were presented by Mr. C. Pardee Erdman, who is in charge of Hut No. 4, at Camp Dix, Wrightstown, N. J. Their presentation of the cause was followed by appeals from Dean Cullimore, of the Engineering School, Mr. Donald P. Horsey, speaking for the students, and President Mitchell.

The drive which culminated in the meeting yesterday was a part of a campaign covering Delaware launched this week. The object is to raise $35,000,000 which is neceswork of the Young Men's and Young Women's Christian Associations here and abroad in providing diversion and homelike surroundings for the soldiers in camp, and in bringing relief to the prisoners of war, in all the belligerent countries. The students of the United States are making an heroic effort to raise one million of this sum. The cause is one preeminently theirs, in view of the numbers of their fellow-students who have surrendered all that makes life dear, to enter the national service.

The subscription at Delaware College and the Women's College vesterday exceeded by three hundred dollars the quota assigned to be raised by all the schools of Delaware. This quota, fixed at the hundreds of miles, or even thouconference of the Eastern Districts in New York, was $1,000.

The first step in the local campaign was taken a month ago when Mr. Horsey and Dr. Greenfield, representing the faculty and students of Delaware College, and Miss Ware, Miss Schunder, and Miss Bishop, of the Women's Col-(Cointinued on Page 4)

This Saturday Delaware will have a chance to show her true ability. Swarthmore makes its first appearance on Frazer Field and it will prove the strongest foe we have met on the gridiron this year. The Quakers and Delaware should be natural enemies in athletics owing to the proximity of the two institutions. This year's game should open a footbal: relationship life. The value of lessons is s that will be a benefit to both colleges and should foreshadow many keen struggles in the future.

"Pep" wins many games, and "Pep" can win for us Saturday. Although we have a strong team this year it will require the support of the entire student body to chalk up a victory against the counts of the Friendship War held an envied place in the gridiron world for many years and a Delaware victory will give our voluntarily to the fund. Each player must learn the little peculiarties of his team mates or else the united action of the team is impossible and as a result all players are constantly thrown into the closest touch with each other. In all other associations wherever you find a sufficient number of students with a common interest, there you will find a society to care for that interest. Each student then, learns how to get close to his fellow-students and consequently in later life he should have little difficulty in associating with men who have similar interests. Beside learning to mix with his fellow-students each man has a direct training in leadership. All students are ambitious to become student leaders and are constantly trying to cultivate those qualities which they think will make them the choice of the student body. In so doing they are receiving excellent training for leadership.

Lessons. of course, are not to be overlocked; they constitute the most important factor in college obvious and the value of association so often questioned, that this plea for association seems indeed,

CHAPEL TALK

On Monday, Dr. Moore of the English Department addressed the student body in chanel upon the subject: "The Relations of Will and Body." The speaker's point was this: that a strong mind can always control and often strengthen a weak body. The only nation that ever attempted to regulate the physical condition of its people was Sparta; today the Spartans-

Students To Select Chapel Speakers

At the Chapel exercises Tuesday past, speakers had been selected by Doctor Mitchell. "A more satisfactory method would be for the students to select their own speakers as it is the students who are to be considered," said Dr. Mitchell.

A motion was then made and carried whereby each student shall hand in the name of his favorite speaker each week, the three highest to be the speakers for that week.

Among the first and incidentally one of the most significant accomplishments of the Council, was the establishment of a self-government system for the new dormitories. It was foreseen that the success of the "dorm" life depended primarily upon the selection of an appropriate method for governing Harter Hall. Accordingly, rules were drawn up, and a committee of dormitory men was chosen to dispose of problems arising in that particular building. Floor Leaders were appointed to be responsible Liberty Loan drive, the managefor the discipline of their respective floors. These Floor Leaders constitute a House Committee of seven, of whom John F. Acting upon the same principle of local representation as in the case of the dormitory, the Council has appointed a permanent House Committee to take charge of Old College Hall. It consists of Donald P. Horsey, chairman, and the four class presidents: Lauritsen, Stewart, Bernard, and Foulk.

The formulation of a definite code of rules concerning student life in general is another important step which has been initiated by the Council. A scheme of regulations as to behavior in, and care of, the new biuldings is being worked out with a view to establishing an attitude among the students which would become traditional.

The members of this ed to make recommendations in the Mitchell, Prof. Counts, Prof. Short, case of each of the buildings. These will report rules to be ratified and harmonized by the Council. The Rules Committee for the dormitory consists of John Davis, chairman; Michael Plam, and D. M. Dare. The permanent House Committee will act for Old College Hall.

Another important matter decided upon was the question of social functions for the year. A plan was School, and the Wesley Collegiate adopted whereby four dances, of the popular informal type, are to be held during the collegiate year; two in each semester. One has already been held and the second will take place on Thanksgiving Conference Academy. night. The dates of the two occurring in the Spring term have not yet been decided upon.

The allotment and supervision of the lockers in the basement of Old College Hall was taken over by the Council and Dr. Greenfield.

A new and more satisfactory DENT COUNCIL method of selecting chapel speakers was also taken up. It was decided to have the individual members of the student body hand to the president of the Council, the advice of the faculty. This method body a voice in the selection of Another item which deserves which would have been paid for a hall off the campus will go toward liquidating the debt. It is thought their share toward paying off the indebtedness.

In addition to the above, the Council has had charge of various such as the instigation of the ment of dances, etc. The accomplishments to be emphasized, however, are those which have a more permanent effect on student life. It is obvious from the survey made that the Council is doing everything in its power to carry out the wishes of the student body. It bears repetition that the welfare of the Delaware of the future depends to a very great extent upon the adoption of measures which express a high standard of honor and morals, and which reflect the true Delaware spirit.

For the purpose of fitting young men to take positions of responsibility in the business world and to fill them intelligently and efficiently, Delaware College has established a course in Business Administration as a part of the work of the Arts and Science Department. The course is conducted by Dr. Fred Clark, who came to Delaware this year from the University of Michigan, where he has been an instructor for several years. In addition to taking subjects which are designed to give a broad cultural training, the students in the new course will have work in economic problems and in the problems and practice of actual business.
