ART CLUB

The Art Club was formed in 1934 and since then interest in it has developed rapidly. All Art Majors, and also those who are interested in the field of art, whether it be artistic talent or appreciation, are members.

Our meetings are teas at which members give talks on branches of art in which they are interested. We have also been able to sponsor a few trips to art museums, and to places such as the Peasant Shoppe in Philadelphia, and Strawberry Mansion in Fairmount Park. This year we spent a delightful evening at Stanley Arthurs' studio in Wilmington, and visited the Graphic Art Club in Philadelphia.

In our club we mix business with pleasure, for every June we have a picnic, usually at Lovers' Retreat, at which time the officers for the next year are elected. We hope that through the influence of our club more people will become interested in the broad field of art.

SOCIAL COMMITTEE

College without a social committee is something we trust we shall never know. One of the other clubs we might be able to forget if absolutely necessary, but never, no never, the social committee. For this impressive group of nine members from the three upper classes arranges and plans all our dances and teas. Its efficient members take full charge of music, decorations, and programmes for the Hallowe'en, Christmas, Spring, May Day, and Farewell dances. Besides these affairs, they sponsor one dance each winter for the benefit of another organization.

The most important occasion of the year for the committee is May Day, when a great many responsibilities are loaded upon these most adequate shoulders. The tea and the dance are only two of those responsibilities.

And so we are very grateful to our social committee, and are confident that whatever affairs rest in these hands are bound to be a success.

Y. W. C. A.

The Young Women's Christian Association, one of the oldest activities of the Women's College, was organized just a few months after the college first opened its doors. The aim of the Y. W. C. A. was stated thus—"The Student Christian Association endeavors to strengthen the spiritual life of the students, to help in forming Christian ideals, and to develop Christian leadership that will have a far reaching effect."

Weekly Bible classes were conducted, and, in connection with these, there was a Sunday vesper service presided over by the president of the college. Groups also met to discuss missionary and Social Service Work.

From the very first the Y. W. C. A. engaged in campaigns to raise money in order that the college might be well represented at conventions. Japanese Sales, Bakes, Shoe Cleaning Services, and the sale of that well-known candy bar, the "Brewster Bar," constituted the most numerous money saving ventures.

Today the Y. W. C. A. still has charge of the weekly religious meeting which is now called Matins. The service at the present time is entirely planned and conducted by the college girls.

This organization sponsors the little sister, big sister movement, by which each Freshman, as she enters college, is given a Junior big sister to whom she may go for help and advice.

Once a month Supper Club meets in Kent Dining Hall, where, after dinner, speakers talk to us on many interesting subjects. This is a comparatively new phase of the Y. W. C. A. work, but it is very popular on our campus.

Besides these more serious matters, the Y. W. C. A. also has many social activities, such as the annual picnic at Welsh Tract Church, scavenger hunts, and the annual Japanese Sale.

GERMAN CLUB

The German Club of the University of Delaware grew out of the effects that the Foreign Study Plan with its Student Exchange System had on our student life, for those girls and boys who came almost every year over here from abroad, awoke a new and especially vivid interest in foreign countries, their people, customs, culture.

"Der Deutsche Verein der Universität Delaware" was founded in the winter of 1932-33. It had the purpose of uniting, under the guidance of professors, those students who were greatly interested in German, of practicing the German language and of having speakers who gave talks about various aspects of the German country and German life.

The constitution of the club is, according to its size, very simple. A president, elected by general vote, and a secretary-treasurer, take care of the affairs of the club. The German Clubs of Delaware College and the Women's College exist independently; they cooperate only on special occasions.

The German Club performs various activities. There is a regular meeting every month, at which tea is served, German songs are sung, and to which professors from other universities and speakers are invited. Two or three times each semester a paper is published which contains news about our Club and other German Clubs of the East. The first two winters, the Club had as a special event the performance of a German movie which attracted quite a large audience. Last year the club as an active student body came for the first time in close contact with other colleges by arranging the big German Evening in Mitchell Hall, and the great success of the event showed that the club is already of considerable importance not only in our own college life but also in intercollegiate activities.

SCIENCE CLUB

The Science Club was organized in the fall of 1934 by a group of Science majors who felt that we needed some medium other than the classroom in which to become better acquainted with each other and with our field. All students taking advanced elective science courses may become members of the club and take advantage of the opportunities it offers.

We have taken frequent field trips to laboratories, museums, and other places of scientific interest in the vicinity. We have gone star-gazing and tree-hunting. We have had a number of lectures by outside speakers and members of the club. And we shall always look back with pleasure to the day we spent with Dr. Beebe when he was here last winter.

And in this, our second year, we feel that we are closer than ever to accomplishing our set purpose—the development of a firm bond of mutual interest and fellowship among ourselves, and an increasing awareness of new developments in the scientific world.

MATHEMATICS CLUB

All students who are interested in mathematics, whether they take mathematics courses or not, are invited to be members of the Math Club. The meetings are held monthly and consist of a tea and a discussion of some subject closely related to mathematics. Last year the discussions dealt with the history of mathematics, with a member of the club leading the discussions each time. We held one open meeting last year, at which Professor Mylrea gave a talk on "Bells." This year the club studied various instruments for measuring and calculating, such as the transit, the level, the telescope, the slide rule, and the sun dial.

The Mathematics Club has two purely social meetings each year. The first is a party at the home of Professor and Mrs. Rees. The second is the annual banquet in Kent Hall which closes the season for the club.

FORUM

In 1923, Dr. Ryden's class in Government, in order to promote a better understanding of current problems, founded the Forum. The club has since then become a member of the International Relations Clubs which are sponsored by the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace. Each year we send delegates to the regional conference. Twice a month meetings are held—the first one an open meeting to which anyone may come, the other a cabinet meeting in which only the most interested take part. The talks given by faculty members, by speakers from nearby cities, and by students are not formal lectures, but friendly discussions over tea cups. In cabinet meetings we learn about current problems and try to understand the world situation. To us belongs the credit for reviving the debate team and for conducting inter-collegiate debates. To each dormitory we distribute daily and Sunday papers, which service is made possible by a small contribution from each resident student. Forum makes a valuable contribution to college life in that it seeks to promote a greater friendliness, sympathy, and an appreciation of world problems.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

The Home Economics Club is composed of the students and faculty of the Home Economics department. Formerly, the Freshmen were elected to membership during the second semester of the school year; now, however, the privilege of membership is extended to them during the first semester so that they might benefit through the activities of the club.

The purposes of the club are to bring about a closer relationship among those people on campus who are interested in Home Economics work, and to keep members informed as to the people and activities which are foremost in the field. The programs are planned with this idea in mind. They usually take the form of demonstrations, fashion shows, and lectures. These different types of programs include many people who are experts in their chosen fields. Any of these meetings which are of general interest are open to the entire student body and are usually well attended.

The Home Economics Club also has charge of the Christmas Dinner which is given every year for the student body just before the Christmas vacation, and sponsors other forms of entertainment from time to time during the school year.

DRAMATIC BOARD

It all started when the kids in the neighborhood used to put on shows and charge an admission of 5 pins. Most of us never outgrow the desire behind those childhood plays—the desire to act—or the desire for dramatics in general. The purpose of the Dramatic Board at Women's College is to awaken those dramatic desires and to furnish an outlet for their expression. Each year the Board sponsors the Class Competitive Plays, given by each of the four classes in competition. One act plays in the Hilarium are also produced under the Board direction. By these arrangements it is hoped that every single girl may be reached in order that she may give and receive the benefits of the "Play." Members of the Board are elected by the entire Student Body on the basis of their dramatic interest and ability.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

Everyone in college belongs automatically to the Athletic Association. And contrary to our ideas concerning things of which we sometimes find ourselves automatic members, we are very glad, for the council of the Association elects college and class managers to plan the sports programs, and without them our hockey, soccer, volley ball, basketball, baseball, swimming, track, and archery competitions would be impossible. Each class has a team for these sports, and with each one competition runs high.

But besides sponsoring these activities, the Outing Club is under the jurisdiction of the Association, so we really have another sport to add to our already long list.

And thus the Athletic Association, high in our esteem, finds a sport for everyone in every season.

FRENCH CLUB

Le Cercle Français did not become an active organization until the fall of 1933, when, under the vigorous guidance of Miss Mandell, a member of the French Department, it quickly developed into one of the most active clubs on campus. To be eligible for membership one must obtain a grade of B for the first semester of Intermediate French, or else be enrolled in one of the Advanced French courses.

We hold two meetings every month; one, a business meeting, and the other a social meeting. As only French is spoken our meetings are instructive as well as entertaining. Our social meeting is usually a tea at which we give a program. It often consists of the singing of French songs, readings, the presentation of a one-act play, or a talk by an Exchange Student. Two of the major events of the year are a picnic, and a formal dinner.

Every year Le Cercle Français is becoming more instrumental in creating an interest, not only in the French language, but also in the customs and life of the French people.

MUSIC CLUB

Just one year ago, the Music Club was started for students of applied music. Today it still exists, but includes other students who are interested, in order that they, too, may learn to appreciate and understand good music, and to perform before an audience if they are so gifted.

The club meets twice a month, when tea is served, music is heard and discussed in a new and delightful social way, and the beautiful new Steinway is admired.

Although the club is still young, we have already been able to feel an increase in the musical atmosphere here on campus, and trust it will not be long before everyone here will discover the value of the music building, and all that goes on within.

STUDENT SELF-GOVERNMENT

Student Self-Government Association is a cooperative association of which every student automatically becomes a member upon entrance to college. It is perhaps the one campus organization which holds the interest of every student, for although we place the immediate executive control in the hands of a small body, it is we ourselves who automatically run it.

Through this association, the honor system can be successfully operated and by the cooperative support of each member, the various campus organizations are financed.

It is the officers who assume the active responsibility of the organization. They sponsor Founders' Day exercises, the Thanksgiving Banquet, and Parent-Student Day. It is this same student council, composed of members from each class and elected by the student body, who hold the judicial power and assume responsibility for maintaining the association's standards.

A faculty advisory committee approves any changes made in the constitution and gives counsel in the activities of the association.

BLUE AND GOLD

The BLUE AND GOLD may be classified as one of the campus activities similar to Press Club. It is composed of a staff elected from the two upper classes and chosen by the student body. This staff assumes the active work of the bi-annual publication of the Women's College. The editing of the book involves extensive work in photography, art, business management, writing, and advertising. The entire student body cooperates in the financial support, and each student receives a copy of the book—in which she has recorded for her a short history of her classmates and a picture of her college days.

OUTING CLUB

One of the most remarkable institutions of our college is the Outing Club. Remarkable, for after 11 years of its existence, ambitious young ladies still will arise at 5:30 to go hiking over the country side.

It is a select group, for unfortunately there are not a great many who can manage to arrive on the steps of Science early enough to go tramping down to White Clay Creek, or Welsh Tract Church, before breakfast. Blistered feet, and 10 mile hikes also reduce the number of aspirants, but those who find they can endure such hardships, assure us that cocoa and hot-dogs are never so delectable as when cooked in the great out-of-doors.

So this year we are celebrating the 11th birthday of the Outing Club. "The acquaintance of some knowledge of scouting and woodcraft are part of the program of this club," are words found in the 1925 edition of the BLUE AND GOLD. We fear the more modern members have not been aspiring to such heights, but burned cocoa and charred hot-dogs are the same delicacies today as in 1925.

PRESIDENT—
JEAN SIGLER

GLEE CLUB

The Glee Club was organized in 1925 with an enrollment of 25 students. Since then it has steadily and rapidly increased until its present membership is approximately 65. It has increased not only in number but also in its activities and is now one of the most active organizations on campus. The club is featured on all special occasions, among them being the Thanksgiving Dinner, the Christmas Dinner, the Parent-Student Dinner, and Class Night.

All students who show interest and ability along musical lines are eligible. As the club is now organized on a credit basis, attendance is compulsory at each weekly rehearsal.

Our outstanding performances are two concerts: the Christmas Concert, and the Spring Concert.

Closely connected with the Glee Club are the string trio and the string quintet. We are extremely proud of these organizations and hope that the interest shown at present will continue and that past records will be an inspiration for greater and finer accomplishments in the future.

PUPPETS

Puppets, the only honorary dramatic organization at the Women's College, was organized in 1925. Since then the productions have improved each year due to the enthusiasm that the students have shown for dramatics. To become a member of Puppets, it is necessary to accumulate a required number of points which may be earned by working on any phase of a dramatic production. Many have failed for one reason or another to acquire the number of points needed, and for this reason all those who are Puppets have every right to feel honored in belonging to the organization. Only students at the Women's College are eligible for membership. However, the late Frank Stephens, prominent dramatist and artist of Delaware, was an honorary member. Since 1932 we have produced such plays as "A Murder Has Been Arranged" and "Three-Cornered Moon." This year we are giving "The Dark Tower" by Alexander Woolcott. Never before at the University of Delaware has such an elaborate set been attempted as is being used in one scene of this play. Delaware College has been very kind in their assistance to Puppets in such phases of production as the building of the scenery.

In the spring, the new members are tapped and are made Puppets at a formal dinner in May. These incoming members are from the Sophomore Junior, and Senior classes. However, Seniors, who are eligible, are tapped at the end of the first semester and honored with the rest at the dinner in May.

PRESS CLUB

Press Club is made up of all those students who are interested in journalism. We sponsor the publication of the college literary organ, Pambo. Membership in the club is on the basis of points earned through work done on the issues of the magazine. The first issue of Pambo was published at Christmas in 1928. Up until last year there were three issues yearly, until it was decided to have two large issues instead of three smaller ones.

Last year, under the editorship of Marjorie Slider, Press Club had a particularly successful year. The spring issue was unusually well done. Beautiful work by the art staff coupled with outstanding literary contributions on the pertinent theme of War and Peace made this issue one of the best since 1928.

Press Club closed a most successful year with a formal dinner in the small dining hall. At this time the new members were welcomed into the club and the new officers were introduced.

This year Miss Anna De Armond is our Faculty Adviser. In addition to the publication of Pambo, the club plans to inaugurate a service through which hometown newspapers will be kept informed of what the local girls are doing. The club is also cooperating with the Review of the Men's College in furnishing information of the Women's College to the Review. Later in the year a tour of the Press of Kells, our printers, is planned so that every member of the club will be familiar with the mechanical side of journalism.

What can I do for you?

Gat rid of that chewing gum!

Relax now, and I will read to you.

Instead of an oral quizz, I will ask you some questions.

I personally . . . but of course that won't affect your appreciation.

. . . and what's in back of that?

I had a sort of a date with this man.

If I had 50 daughters . . .

It seems to me . . .

. . . 'n all that sort of thing.

I think I am safe in saying that this is the finest production staff

This isn't a white collar class.

Get to work!

I want a south sea island.

Jephthah's daughter . . . if you please.

Now er uh where uh was I? um hmmm um hmmm.

We'll start out this way.

Now next time we will have a ten minute quizz.

Danke bestens, meine Dame.

Do you see what I mean?

I'm from Missouri, as per text, so to speak.
