Deer Park farm fate finally decided

By JENNIFER L. RODGERS
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Newark City Council has apparently ended the "elusive fate" of the old Deer Park farm house property with its unanimous vote to "undivide" the 1.2 acres Monday evening.

Bob Cramer, a member of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, told council the church would "take ownership" as soon as the land was reduced from four lots to one.

The new church, which members plan to start building "as soon as possible," will mark the end of proposals and rezonings that started in the early 1980s.

The most recent plan, four single family homes, was proposed in July by the owner of the land, Ed Sobolewski. Months before this, however, he proposed five townhouses, which council denied.

In fact, Sobolewski has been associated with plans for the property for more than a decade.

It began while he was John Presley's attorney. Presley bought the property in 1975 and had it rezoned in 1982. He planned to build townhouse condominiums as an addition to the farm house, which was built around 1840 by James S. Martin.

Presley's plan never materialized and Sobolewski eventually purchased the land from him.

Given the experience he gained, the lawyer was no stranger to the criticism launched by the surrounding community.

Residents were reluctant to embrace the church as their neighbor. They expressed concerns about parking, appearance, possi-

Reynolds to challenge for Godwin's seat

City elections slated for April

By JENNIFER L. RODGERS
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Most politicians are winding down after the November election, but the action has just begun in Newark City Council's April election.

Political newcomer Martin Reynolds has filed for candidacy for the District 1 council seat currently held by Councilman Hal Godwin.

Godwin, incumbent since 1987, has not filed for reelection, but said he plans to after the holidays.

Reynolds said his participation in the community, as president of the Woodmere/Timber Creek Civic Association and a volunteer at Aetna Hose, Hook & Ladder Co., has led him to pursue a seat on city council.

He said he also believes the "flow of people" on council is important so that it will not become stagnant. Godwin has served on council eight years and Reynolds believes it is time for a change.

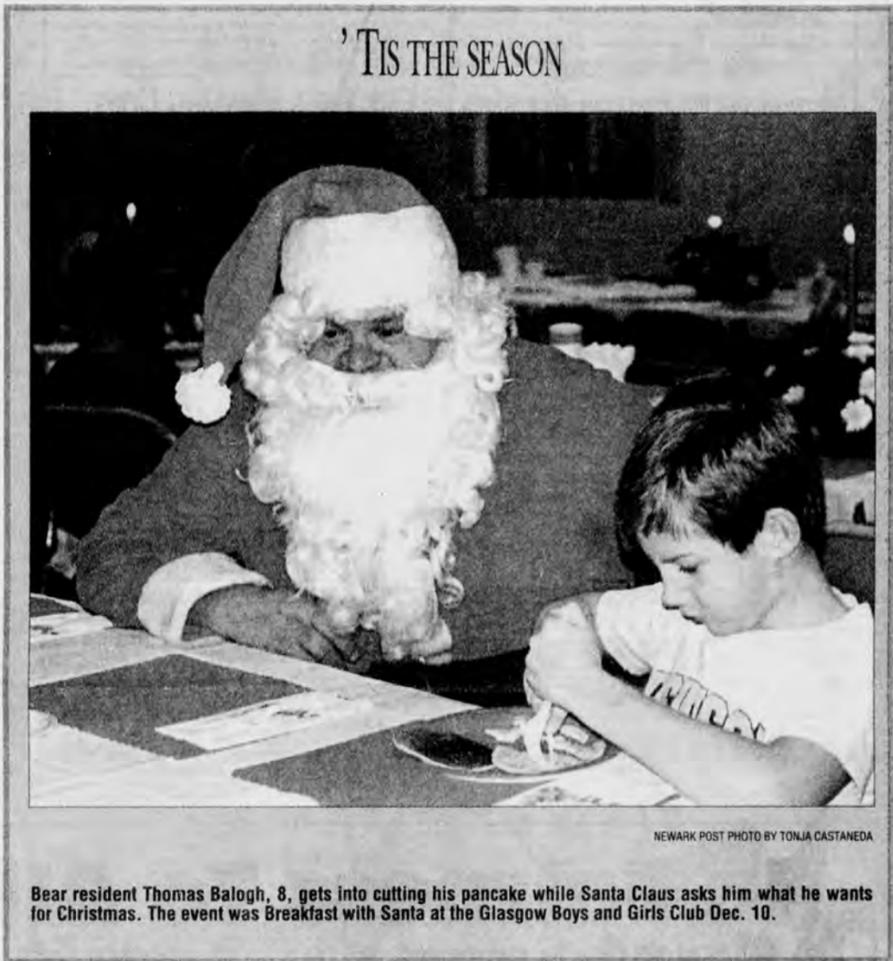

Some of the issues Reynolds believes are important are traffic and a bypass around Newark, the University of Delaware's zoning immunity and police relations.

Referring to traffic issues, Reynolds said, "Those roads (West Main Street and Hillside Avenue) aren't built for trucks, they are built for cars—actually they're built more for buggies."

Although council does not have the power to determine whether or not a bypass is built, Reynolds said he plans to put pressure on state legislatures and work on relations with Maryland delegates. Council has passed a resolution of support for the bypass.

"We need to have continuous concern," Reynolds said. "As I see

Emotional crowd listens to special education proposals

By TONJA CASTANEDA
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Although Special Education in Delaware's schools may seem closest at heart to those students, parents and teachers involved with the process, revamping of the system will effect all those in public schools.

About 80 people showed up for a public hearing about the proposed changes in the Delaware Special Education system Dec. 7 at Glasgow High School. The Special Education Study Committee was formed in 1993 by the Delaware Legislature to review the structure and funding for special education in Delaware.

Currently there are 12,149 students in special education programs in Delaware public schools, that is almost 12 percent of children in the schools.

The meeting was at times emotionally charged, with deaf students and teachers from Sterck School for the Hearing Impaired cheering with deaf applause, by raising their hands above their heads and shaking them to show emotion.

Although the proposal says Sterck will be exempt from the changes, some deaf students and teachers appealed for the Sterck School to remain unchanged.

"Please keep Sterck School open," Jeff Dennison, a Sterck alumni, said in sign language. "It's a center for deaf culture and learning. If you mainstream deaf children, they become isolated."

Sterck teacher Les Anderson asked both

BELL RINGER SIDELINED

Salvation Army volunteer's illness keeps him off sidewalk

By TONJA CASTANEDA
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Although bells are ringing this holiday season, to some local residents in Newark there may be one friendly Salvation Army Bell Ringer not part of this season's scene.

Newark resident James Rosel, the College Square Kmart Salvation Army Bell Ringer for the past 3 years, is not greeting people and ringing the bell this year because he is recovering from heart bypass surgery he underwent in late October.

Rosel, 55, is known for wearing his cowboy hat and ringing the bell with a red kettle at the Newark Kmart for five hour stretches each day. He said he misses the interaction during the holiday season but per his doctor's instructions is bed ridden through the new year and has not heard, nor seen any of this year's bell ringers.

"The doctor told me I couldn't stand out in the cold," Rosel said. "I do miss it — the smiles, laughter and helping people."

"But I've made it through the operation with a lot of prayers and friends," he said. "I didn't think I was going to live because they gave me six months to live without having the operation."

In a 1993 Newark Post article, Rosel said he has been a Salvation Army Bell Ringer the past 8 years because, "I ring for the poor people who don't have anything," he said. "I've been there. One day I didn't have food and one day I had to go to church and ask for food. You never know when the time will come that you will need some help."

He said next year he plans on ringing the bell. And for this year, he said, "I wish everybody happy holidays and a Merry Christmas."

Major Norman Rock, Delaware regional coordinator for the Salvation Army said last year in New Castle County, $101,000 was raised. The goal this year is to raise $125,000.

Rock said there are 32 kettles in the county and the money goes to helping the needy for toys and food at the holidays as well as to prisoners, their families, nursing home residents and hospital patients.

Compiled from files of the Newark Police Department

Arson suspected in Elk lodge fire

Newark police report arson is suspected in the Dec. 10 fire of the Pride of Delaware Elks Lodge No. 349 at 57 W. Cleveland Ave. Police said they believe a fire was set deliberately to railroad ties in back of the building, which caught fire to part of the Elks building while people were inside. Police said no one was injured.

The fire was mostly extinguished with a fire extinguisher and Aetna Fire Co. arrived on the scene to insure the fire was completely doused. Police said the back part of the building was charred from the fire. To report information to Newark police, call 366-7111.

Stranger offers student ride home

Police report a man stopped his car Dec. 9 and asked a 14-year-old girl, walking home from Newark High School near Washington Street, if she wanted a ride.

Police said the girl ran but the car followed her until a police car drove by and the man fled. Police describe the man as white and about 30 years if age with shoulder length hair. To report information to Newark police, call 366-7111.

Motion light deters break-in attempt

Police report the motion light being turned on by an intruder alerted the asleep homeowners of an attempted break-in to their house in the unit block of East Galloway Court Dec. 11.

Police said when a resident of the house went downstairs to investigate he saw a man trying to enter the house. The resident called police and the suspect fled. Police describe the man as black, age 20 to 30 with a thin build. To report information to Newark police, call 366-7111.

Newark student threatens bus driver

Police report a 14-year-old male student of Newark High School threatened a 38-year-old female bus driver twice in two days last week.

Police said the student threatened to punch the driver in the mouth, used racial comments and then grabbed the bus door handle and gear shift while the bus was in motion. Police are investigating the incident.

Ladder, construction equipment taken

A 40-foot extension ladder and siding construction equipment was reported stolen Dec. 10 from the yard of a house in the 700 block of South Chapel Street, police report.

Camera missing from Newark High

A student's 30 millimeter camera was reported stolen Dec. 9 from a backpack during a camera class at Newark High School, police said.

Car vandalized

Police report feces were smeared on a 1989 Plymouth Van parked in the unit block of Amherst Drive on Dec. 10.

Television taken from restaurant

A 19-inch, color television was reported stolen Dec. 6 from T.J.'s Place restaurant on South College Avenue.

Police said the restaurant was entered through a ventilation opening.

Car break-ins in Newark

A camcorder was reported stolen Dec. 8 from a car parked at Colonial Garden Apartments in the 300 block of East Main Street, police said.

Also, golf clubs and a tennis racket were reported stolen Dec. 8 from a car parked in the unit block of Thorn Lane.

A wallet, credit cards and a compact disc player were reported stolen Dec. 9 from a car parked in the 300 block of Briar Lane.

Phone stolen from restaurant

A customer's cellular phone was reported stolen Dec. 10 from Bannigan's Restaurant on Ogleton Road, police said.

Business window broken on Main St.

The front window of the United State Air Force office at 134 East Main Street was broken Dec. 4, police report. Police said no entry to the building was made.

Front door graffitied

Numbers were painted on the front door of a house in the 200 block of Cullen Way Dec. 6, police said.

Stolen car recovered

A 1980 Toyota Corolla, which had been reported stolen, was recovered in the 1100 block of Wharton Drive Dec. 8, police report. Police said some parts of the car had been stripped.

Christmas trees stolen from Main St.

Trees were part of Newark Business Association's display

Three Christmas trees along Main Street, part of the Newark Business Association's contribution to decorating Newark for the holidays, were stolen last weekend.

According to Deirdre Peake, economic development coordinator for the Newark Business Association, the trees were taken from Main Street in front of Mellon Bank, Travel Travel and near Treats Restaurant.

"It's a real shame the trees were taken because they were already decorated by groups who put hard work and time into the project," Peake said.

She said trees were also stolen last year and unfortunately for one community group, who Peake would not name, their decorated trees have been stolen two years in a row. Peake said the group has decided against decorating a tree for next year.

"If this keeps up, we're going to have to stop putting Christmas trees along Main Street," said Peake. "So if anyone has the trees, please return them."

City Council drives another nail into Wilburfest's quickly closing coffin

By JENNIFER L. RODGERS
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Newark City Council voted unanimously Monday evening to further amend its large gathering ordinance in an attempt to control Wilburfest, an annual University of Delaware student party.

Not only will organizers be required to apply for a permit for Wilburfest, which has historically attracted as many as 5,000 people in the backyards of five rental properties on Wilbur Street, they will need the property owner to sign the permit.

No one from the public spoke to the issue during Monday's meeting. Organizers have said they are looking at alternate locations for next spring's bash.

After this week's vote, the ordinance will also require a property owner or management agent to sign the permit, which must include a "conspicuous statement" that the owner understands the nature of the event and "subscribes to the applicant's representations concerning insurance coverage."

This amendment is the final piece of legislation, proposed by Councilman Hal Godwin, to control a party that has been labeled "a disaster waiting to happen."

Newark police arrest four in drug ring

After a 10-month drug investigation into the sale of crack cocaine in Newark, police have arrested four Newark men on cocaine and marijuana charges.

Newark Police Lt. Roy Clough reports that Lawrence Adams, 22, of the 100 block of Greenbridge Drive in Spring Run Apartments in Newark, was arrested Dec. 12. Adams was charged with trafficking in cocaine, delivery of cocaine, delivery of a non-controlled substance, maintaining vehicles for drugs and conspiracy second degree.

Police report Lee Edward Jones, 21, of the unit block of Chatham Lane in Wellington Arms was arrested Dec. 8, while he allegedly had about $600 worth of crack cocaine in his possession.

Jones was charged with trafficking in cocaine, delivery of cocaine, delivery of a non-controlled substance, conspiracy second and maintaining a vehicle for delivery of drugs.

Police also arrested Anthony Ponzio, 21, of the 600 block of Postfield Road in Scottfield Dec. 6. Police have charged Ponzio with two counts of delivery of cocaine, delivery of non-controlled substance, two counts of conspiracy, maintaining a vehicle for delivery of drugs and contempt of court.

University of Delaware student Matthew O'Conner, a resident of Harrington Dorm on the University of Delaware campus, was also arrested Dec. 2. O'Conner was arrested on Main Street, after police were alerted by Arizona State University police that a UPS package mailed to him from Arizona contained illegal drugs. The shipment contained one and a quarter pounds of marijuana.

Police seek information in student robberies

By TONJA CASTANEDA
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Newark and University of Delaware police are seeking information about the robberies of three students in the Newark area.

Newark police report two robberies last week and university police are investigating a similar incident believed to be related.

Newark police report a 19-year-old University of Delaware student was robbed by three teenagers at about 3 a.m. Dec. 7 on North College Avenue. Police would not report the amount of money stolen.

Police said the student was standing with a friend outside a dormitory on the university's central campus when they were chased by three men. One student was caught and robbed. Police said no weapon was displayed by the man, but he said he had a weapon. The student was not injured.

University of Delaware police are investigating a robbery which also occurred Dec. 7. It took place at 6:05 a.m. in the Hollingsworth parking lot on North College Avenue.

Capt. Jim Flatley of the university police said two students were robbed by four men when they were in the parking lot. Police report the men threatened they had a weapon.

Flatley said the robbers demanded the students' wallets and fled.

Newark police also report a 21-year-old University of Delaware student was robbed by four men Dec. 8 at Victoria Court Apartments on Haines Street.

Police said at about 2:15 a.m. the robbers approached the student and demanded money. Police said one man said they would shoot him if he did not hand over money.

Police report the student did not have money with him, told the robbers so and was hit in the face.

Police said the students was treated at the Newark Emergency Center for a broken nose and released.

University police report the four men in the robbery they are investigating are described as a white male teenager, 5 feet 9 inches tall with short blond hair and a black male teenager about 5 feet 9 inches tall. The other two are described as two white male teenagers.

Newark police describe the suspects in the Dec. 7 robbery as three white men in their late teens. One is 5 feet 8 inches tall, with a slender build and short hair. Police said the suspects in the Dec. 8 assault are described as four white men. One was also described as 5 feet 8 inches tall.

To report information to Newark Police, call 366-7111. To report information to University of Delaware police, call 831-2222.

legislators socially I'll ask them about it (bypass) and bring it up in council and advocate letter sending."

Reynolds said he supports the grass roots movement to remove the university's charter and force it to adhere to city zoning regulations.

"I see it (the university) as a private business with some taxpayer support," Reynolds said. "If they want to compete (as a business, such as retail), they can compete on equal footing."

City and police relations seem to have soured, according to Reynolds and he said if elected he would assume a leadership role in contract negotiations.

Referring to the contract disputes and subsequent arbitration, Reynolds said, "The city did bad faith bargaining."

"There is really no leadership on council, no one stood up and said this is ridiculous, so it went to court," Reynolds added.

Reynolds, co-owner of Barba and Reynolds Insurance Agency off Delaware Avenue, said he also would like to see the city streamline its business approval process.

Education meeting discusses proposal in sign and sound to keep Sterck school the way it currently is.

Carol Lamontia, a member of the Special Education Study Committee, said so many people were at the meeting to defend Sterck School because of "incredible myths which have been generated over the changes."

She reiterated that the proposal specifically states, "Specialized environments (such as Sterck) allow a child with a disability to access their education. In the proposed model, all the options currently available on the continuum of services will continue to be funded at levels similar to what they currently receive."

What the writers of the proposal do want changed is the way children must be labeled with a specific disability to receive special services such as counseling, tutoring, language therapy, nursing services and occupational and physical therapists.

The committee wants to move to a needs based system, Committee member Martha Brooks said, instead of categorizing children to qualify for state and federal monies.

Brooks said one of the biggest changes would come if children could be developmentally delayed of categorizing until each child's eighth birthday, instead of the current policy of labeling by age four.

"We want to quickly help students without looking for a label," said Christina Superintendent Iris Metts, a committee member. "We should not have to go through a lot of red tape and a long process for children to get help. Instead, immediate flexibility is needed to help children."

Brooks said it will be a minimum of 18 months before reforms are implemented and will take 5 to 6 years for full implementation if the proposal passes the legislature and governor's signature.

Brooks said the process for change is just beginning and suggestions are still being taken.

To make a comment about special education or for a copy of the proposal, call the Department of Public Instruction in Dover at 739-5471.

The First Church congregation has met in the New Century Club building on Delaware Avenue for more than 20 years. Parishioner Deborah Derry said a building fund has been accumulating almost as long.

First Church would not disclose the price they will pay for the land. However, before the farm house was demolished and the land was divided into four lots, realtor associate Todd Ladutko, of Patterson Schwartz, said the asking price was $275,000.

from the Newark Shopping Center to its current location, Reynolds said the city had an "I don't care attitude" about assistance.

"Nobody really in the planning the department took us by the hand and told us what to do," Reynolds said. "It would be nice if the city saw itself as a jungle guide—they didn't hinder us, but they didn't help."

If elected, Reynolds said he plans to let the city planning department know what's important for businesses and ask why a checklist, to include information necessary to locate a business, does not exist.

Cocaine bust on I-95

Delaware State police have charged two New York men with trafficking in cocaine.

Police arrested the two men on I-95 near Christiana Dec. 13, after they pulled over a 1990 Mazda van for speeding.

Because of conflicting stories about destination, police searched the van and found a hidden compartment containing a .45 and .380 caliber guns and eight grams of cocaine.

Police have charged Daniel Morgan, 35, of Brooklyn, N.Y. and an unidentified man from New York, who police are calling Joe Doe.

Both men have been committed to Gander Hill Prison and the Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms Division has been notified.

Mary Chapin Carpenter feels your pain

Continues success despite closer spirit to Jackson Browne than the Grand Ole Opry

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Mary Chapin Carpenter can tell you all about "that cold sweat kind of thing, that feeling that we'll wake up in the middle of the night and not know where we are." It's the kind of self-doubt that strikes everyone. But not everybody can write it down and put it on albums that hit on country music radio. That takes courage and a lot of artistry. "I think the songs on this record in particular are very personal," Carpenter, 36, said about "Stones in the Road." Personal, and universal. Here's Carpenter on hope for a broken heart in "This Is Love": "And if you ever need some proof that time can heal your wounds, Just step inside my heart and walk around these rooms. Where the shadows used to be, you can feel as well how peace can hover. Now time's been here to fix what's broken with its power."

"If you're a songwriter, I think you start with being a human being," Carpenter said in an interview. "And we are not all one-dimensional."

But most country songs that make the charts in 1994 are distressingly one-dimensional. That makes even Carpenter's lighthearted hit, "Shut Up and Kiss Me," a refreshing cold splash in the face when sandwiched between only clever fare such as "Third Rock

From the Sun" (by Joe Diffie) or drive like "Watermelon Crawl" (by Tracy Byrd).

Carpenter's continuing success within the format is astounding, considering she's a lot closer in spirit to Jackson Browne than the Grand Ole Opry. She's won three Grammys and two Country Music Association awards, and hit the Billboard country music top 10 seven times since 1989.

Why her and not similarly literate artists such as Lyle Lovett and Nanci Griffith—both of whom tried to crack Nashville without success?

Carpenter considers the question unworthy of consideration. "I think both of those artists have demonstrated more than capably that they are seminal artists," Carpenter said, "and they have absolutely devoted audiences and sell lots of records."

"I don't look at myself as like the one who got in the door.... It's not like a competition and it's not like a lottery or anything like that. It's if you're fortunate enough to have opportunities come your way and it's a lot of timing and a lot of unknowns."

"I don't know how easy it would be to really examine someone's career and say, 'Well, this is what they did right versus somebody who did something wrong.' I don't think you can do that really."

Carpenter identifies more readily with the dilemma of John Doe No. 24 than a strategy-conscious careerist. She learned about Doe from an Associated Press story on the life and death of a deaf, blind man found wandering the streets of Jacksonville, Ill., in 1945. He died in an institution without anyone knowing who he was or where he came from, because he couldn't communicate well enough.

"I felt there was a lot about him and his life that resonated with me," Carpenter said. "I think perhaps it's an existential loneliness or fear of abandonment or sort of the feeling of darkness in our lives."

From "John Doe No. 24": "The doctors put to rest their scientific tests. And they all shook their heads in pity."

For a world so silent and dark. Well there's no doubt that life's a mystery. But so too is the human heart."

"To me it's a sad song in many ways, but it's very affirming as well," Carpenter said. "It's about memory, but it's about having an inner-life, obviously."

Carpenter and longtime co-producer John Jennings manage to include the breezy "Shut Up and Kiss Me" and the majestic breakup song "The Last Word" without breaking the mood of the album.

And tour de force "Stones in the Road" manages to speak for the boomer generation and ring true—"A thousand points of light or shame. Baby, I don't know," the song concludes.

One way or another, let's put Wilburfest issue to rest

DOES NEWARK CITY COUNCIL go through any of its meetings without addressing the Wilburfest issue?

Every session sees another little bit of the fund-raising beer bash chipped away.

We certainly don't condone underage drinking or public urination but can't help but appreciate the money Wilburfest raises for the Emmaus House.

It's obvious, though, that City Council is against such gatherings — although the councilman that actually represents the Wilbur Street district feels there are greater issues his constituents want addressed — and want them outlawed.

It's also obvious that there is not much compromising going on — on either side.

We wonder how it is that St. Anthony's in Wilmington can put on its eight-day Italian Festival in a very congested part of Wilmington.

Tens of thousands of people converge on a small section of Wilmington every single night of this festival. There has been a lot of growing pains for St. Anthony's and not everything is perfect. There are even neighbors that are unhappy with the festival.

But guess what! People on both sides have compromised enough to let this festival continue year after year!

It remains to be seen what's going to happen with the one-day festival in Newark.

Most importantly, however, we hope that whatever is done, is done quickly putting this issue to rest. Instead of tinkering with laws a little at a time, make a strong stand to outlaw the party altogether — or find some solution to allow it to go on.

This drawn out bickering and back-door maneuvering have grown tiresome.

HARLEY AND QUINN had student pastorates, but their denomination would not give them a full ordination until they had their seminary degrees.

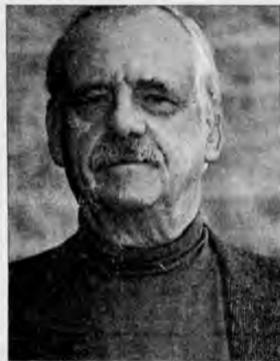

And, the only seminary within 200 miles of the little country churches they served was—Anglican! Neither Harley nor Quinn had ever considered Anglicans really Christians, but Lord Kenyon Seminary was close—and cheap!!!

Boy, was it cheap—but only for them! The Dean, a most genial Anglican who didn't care what church was the true one so long as his was the most pleasant and best-read, gave them free tuitions and other unheard-of generousities and fee waivers. Instead of a gratefully silent response,

Harley and Quinn complained to the other students that they were made to buy their textbooks and wondered noisily why the mileage sheets they had concocted and turned in to the Bursar were

"unpaid."

Of course students who were working two jobs to pay the exorbitant tuition became a little testy at the Dean's goodwill gestures. One man, Grayson, who was about to be dropped for nonpayment, joined Harley's church and demanded a refund for his past tuition payments. We miss Grayson—he was a most likable fellow.

Never miff a medievalist! Harley and Quinn had refused to take the noted scholar's church history course because everybody between St. Paul and Martin Luther was an "infidel!" They also demanded that they receive academic credit for the course they refused to take!

The miffed medievalist at least as loudly demanded their heads on a silver tray, the kind made in England for just such occasions.

While unable to mollify the miffed medievalist, the Dean held fast: "We must be gracious to men of other traditions! I call upon you as men of honor to join me in doing so!" But the complaints kept coming in. Every professor reported class interruptions by Harley and/or Quinn who felt obliged to set straight the learned men who "didn't know what they were talking about!" And while eating rump roast at the refectory, Quinn opined to a table of men behind on their bills, "No wonder this stuff is free!!!"

A rump caucus confronted the Burning car attracts much attention

The Aetna Fire Company was called out on Monday afternoon by an alarm sent in from the Pennsylvania station that a car load of oranges was on fire. This car was one of a train of refrigerator cars on a "through" freight bringing southern fruit to northern markets.

Mason concert a decided success

The unanimous opinion of those privileged to hear the Mason concert last night was that the program was the best ever heard here. The singers were all artists of unusual ability and the accompanist, the famous Thunder was seldom heard to better advantage.

Regret was expressed by Mr. Mason's many friends here that necessary haste in departing last

Aetna Volunteers Celebrate 100th

It was December 1888 when the Aetna fire company was formed with fewer than 50 members. It's believed the formation of the company was prompted by a fire which some call the greatest disaster in Newark. On Christmas morning, 1886, fire destroyed the Dean Wollen Mill, located off what is now Paper Mill Road. A total of 272 jobs were eliminated when the mill was grounded.

Christina Board Honors Brader

What is it like to have a school named in your honor? Ask Henry M. Brader of Calgary Lane, for whom the Christina School District will name its new elementary school at Four Seasons. It is appropriate that Brader's name will adorn and elementary school, because it was in working with the youngest of students that he took his greatest pleasure and made a lasting contribution. The board is honoring Brader for his contributions made while working as a principal and teacher in local schools.

New Christmas traditions to learn

By JENNIFER L. RODGERS

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

I THINK I NEED A LESSON IN HOLIDAY ETIQUETTE.

For the past 26 years I've been an only child at Christmas. What happens when seven siblings and their families are added to the mix?

This year I will be with my husband, one of eight brothers and sisters, in Pittsburgh, Pa. for Christmas.

As the occasion nears, however, I've started think about all the variables. Family traditions I've come to know as rituals might not be the same.

For instance, is there an order to opening gifts—like from oldest to youngest and where do spouses fit in? Do they eat lots of fruitcake—I hate fruitcake? What if we all have to go the bathroom at the same time? When the presents are unwrapped, who cleans up the paper—is it the newest addition to family? Who gets the remote control? Where should I sit at church if we don't all fit on the same pew? Should I shower and get ready before we gather at the tree Christmas morning? Will I be able to eat fast enough?

And what about stockings? Do

they buy them in bulk? They can't all possibly fit over the mantle.

Planning for meals and stocking the refrigerator has got to be a full-time job. Finding a chair, an open spot on the coach or a bed must be tricky and who does the dishes?

It's questions like these that can scramble an only child's mind.

Christmas morning for me has always been relatively quiet. Mayhem didn't start until my aunts, uncles and their children came over later in the day.

There is only one stocking (until my husband entered the picture, now there are two), we open presents in turns, we go to mass and come home to prepare for the rest of the family's visit. Sometimes we even manage to fit in a nap.

When someone goes the bathroom, there is a fighting chance to snag the remote, however, it was always my turn to do the dishes.

Some people can't picture the Christmas I've grown up to know. But I would say, don't knock it until you try it.

Some say we only children are spoiled and maybe they're right. If I was spoiled, however, it was with material items—it was with attention.

On the other hand, I didn't have siblings to help keep all-night vigils for Santa and it was tough to round

Newark post office chosen to pilot fuel conversion program

By MARY E. PETZAK
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Forecasting the state and federal efforts going into effect in January 1995 under the federal Clean Air Act (CAA), the Newark post office has converted 76 of 92 vehicles in their fleet to use compressed natural gas, according to Newark

Postmaster Sally Boudart. Boudart explained that only 76 of the local postal vehicles are "long-life" Grumman trucks making conversion practical under the program. In addition, fleet conversion can only be done in areas where there is a source of compressed natural gas.

The Newark postal facility was chosen for the conversion program under a contract between the U.S. Postal Service in Washington, D.C. and Delmarva Power & Light Co., according to Glenn Moore, natural gas vehicle program manager for Delmarva. The government provided a piece of federal property at the Newark post office site for installation of the compressor and pumps as well as the cost of conversion and installation. Delmarva Power provided the equipment, compressed natural gas and gas connectors.

The efforts to combat smog are fueling a variety of research programs, including use of compressed natural gas, reformulated gasoline (RFG) and electric vehicles or EVs. Northeast states, for instance, claim that "unless they can mandate EV sales, they will miss clean air attainment goals", according to Clean Air News, a news source on the CAA. In response to those claims, the EPA has proposed incentives for company fleets that want to buy alternative fuel vehicles. Delaware has been ranked among the ten worst states in overcoming ground-level ozone or smog. Under the CAA, it is one of 17 states which will be permitted to require use of RFG for all vehicles not using alternative fuels starting in 1995. In areas where RFG is required, conventional gasoline will be unavailable.

RFG is expected to cost manufacturers five to eight cents more per gallon than conventional gasoline. Currently, compressed natural gas retails for up to 22 cents less than conventional gasoline, making it an even better deal in the future. Glenn Moore states that they have provided information regarding use of compressed gas to Delaware agencies using state and federal fleets, the municipalities of Wilmington and Newark, and the University of Delaware. New Castle County has already converted two vehicles and the governor uses a mini-van that runs on natural gas.

The two pumps installed at the Newark post office are also available for use by the general public and one Texaco station in Wilmington across from the train station has a natural gas pump.

These two really messed things up

Dean. The Dean addressed the angry debtors with compassion and firmness.

Quoting everybody from King Arthur to Archbishop Temple, he still maintained that "gentlemen were always gracious to their guests."

But within the hour, the Dean would lose the right to call himself a gentleman.

Harley and Dean confronted the Dean, informing him that they would no longer attend the mandatory Morning and Evening Prayer services, one calling the services a "travesty of cross-dressing" and the other suggesting it was a liturgical form of devil worship. The Dean said in barely controlled hisses, "Methinks you Protestant too much! I was blind, but now I can see! Not only will you attend OUR services, but you will lead one! Tomorrow morning! Lady Bexley's Chapel! Vestments behind the door. You foul up tomorrow, and YOU'RE OUT OF HERE!"

At 6:30 a.m., a panicked, wild-eyed Harley and Quinn burst into the Dean's office and tried to tell him something about the vestments. He would not hear them! Three more times they interrupted his work, each time less coherent than on the last invasion. The Dean was quite coherent—in the oral equivalent of capital letters, italics, and bold print, he said, "BEHIND THE DOOR!"

You know the rest of the story, of course!!! In the middle of the previous night, a stretch limo had pulled up to the main building, and an ordained chauffeur woke up the sexton, and in a lovely British accent asked him where he should put the Archbishop of York's vestments. The mumbled answer had been, "Behind the door in the sacristy."

Harley and Quinn appeared for Morning Prayer looking like an embroidered, brocaded rummage sale! All the gowns, robes, mitres, maniples, academic hoods, chasubles, cassocks, surplices, copes, tip-pets, cinctures, stoles, and albs that the Archbishop would wear on his entire American tour—at least 35 separate and distinct pieces—all the fol and all the de rol of Anglicanism at its most elegant and sumptuous were piled, draped, and dumped high on the backs, heads, and limbs of Harley and Quinn!

To this day, the men of Lord Kenyon insist the word "harlequin" had its origins in the Lady Bexley Chapel when Harley and Quinn raised commedia del arte to new and staggering heights!!!

A chance to see the best of both worlds up people to play some of the games I got. Fortunately my father, has never grown up and still loves to "play."

I'll miss my family and our traditions this Christmas, but I'm looking forward to witnessing the good times my husband says his family has.

The lesson is to learn to understand a large family. The blessing is having the best of both kinds—both big and small.

TRUST

"I've been receiving health-care every day for some 20 years. I trust the people who work at the Arbors at New Castle to take good care of me."

Bill Kilmon, Jr., Wilmington with his father, Bill Kilmon, Sr.

Complete trust. It's a quality that needs to be learned, and earned. Each and every day.

Complete trust is the cornerstone of healthcare. Just imagine being cared for by someone you did not trust. It would not happen. You would not allow it. Ever.

The Arbors at New Castle is built on trust. Each day we must earn the trust of our patients. And their families. Of the community we serve—your neighbors, friends and family. It's what makes us different ... and makes you special.

You can see that trust in the faces of the Arbors at New Castle. Take a closer look. Then decide. We invite you to come see us. Face to face.

Drunk driving causes family heartache

By TONJA CASTANEDA

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

EACH DECEMBER Christine Fierlein decorates her son's headstone with holiday decorations, complete with a Christmas tree adorned with red ribbons — to symbolize that drinking and driving kills.

Fierlein, unfortunately, knows all too well the painful tragedy which can occur when someone drinks alcohol and gets behind the wheel of a car. Her son, Michael 13, was killed in a drunk driving accident Aug. 25, 1991.

"It's all I can do for him now," Fierlein of Bear said, about her festive holiday shrine at Michael's final resting place. He is buried in All Saints Cemetery on Kirkwood Highway. "If I didn't decorate, he'd be furious," she said.

And even though Michael is not with his family in body, his spirit remains. His mom even receives a present on Christmas morning from him by way of her husband who buys the gift as a remembrance of Michael.

"I know Michael would want his sisters to have Christmas," Fierlein said.

But as hard as Christmas is for the family to celebrate without him, another holiday is worse.

Fierlein said she still can't face having a big Thanksgiving turkey dinner without her son. Thanksgiving was his favorite holiday.

"I try to make it a normal day," said Fierlein, whose family forgoes the stuffing and cranberry sauce that day. "I remember he would still be there eating when everyone else was laying on the floor stuffed," she said.

Fierlein said her son's accident occurred on a summer night when he went to play a chip and put golf game with his best friend. She gave her son permission to go with a neighbor and another friend. In all, there were three children and two adults.

Fierlein later found out the two adults had been drinking margaritas before they picked up the children and filled a cooler with beer for the outing.

She said the accident occurred on Smith Bridge Road near the Delaware-Pennsylvania border in north Wilmington at about 11 p.m., when the driver lost control of the truck along a one-lane bridge.

Fierlein said the children were thrown from the vehicle, but all walked away from the scene suffering only minor injuries such as scrapes, broken bones and cuts. All but Michael, who died before ambulances could get to the accident scene. His death was caused when a vein in his neck was cut by glass from the shattered back window.

The driver of the truck is now serving two years in jail at the Plummer Center in Wilmington for vehicular homicide second and driving under the influence of alcohol.

"There are still things I can't do," said Fierlein, "and we'll never be a complete family again." She said she can't go to see the baseball league her son played in, although she did go to the dedication of a baseball field named after him. It's a Suburban Little League field in Wilmington Manor called Doc's Field. She said her son was called Mr. Baseball because of his love of the sport and how he memorized and argued baseball statistics.

Since her son's death, a lot has changed in Fierlein's life. Two weeks after Michael's death, the family sold their house in New Castle and moved to Bear. She said she couldn't stand to see her son's friends playing outside.

On the brighter side, she has had two daughters and wants them to know they had a brother and what he was like. Also, Fierlein has become active with Mothers Against Drunk Driving (MADD).

"It helps to know someone else is feeling this pain," Fierlein said.

With December National Drunk Driving Awareness Month, she will participate today (Dec. 16) in "Lights on for Life" day. The day is a nationwide campaign to raise awareness to the need for tougher measures to reduce drunk and drugged driving and serves as a memorial for those who have been killed in alcohol-related crashes.

Her message is a predictable one. "Designate a driver and don't drink and drive," Fierlein said.

Mailman delivers second chance for life

By TONJA CASTANEDA

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

THE ADDRESS was not 911, but help was delivered thanks to one local mail carrier.

Postman Brian Moore, employed at the Newark Post Office for a year and a half, took time out of mailing letters on his Brookside route and ended up delivering a second chance for life to Joe Stewart.

The day was Nov. 14 when Stewart was taking his daily walk in Brookside. He had pains in his chest and blacked out near Brookside Elementary School, according to his wife Betty Jane.

That's when Moore saw Joe sitting on a curb looking disoriented. Moore was finishing up with his route and backed his mail truck up to ask Joe if he was okay.

"He could barely talk and looked pretty bad," said Moore.

Moore said he stopped because he saw Stewart walking every day but never saw him sitting down.

Stewart was dizzy, so Moore had neighbors stay with him while Moore went to his house and alerted Stewart's wife to call 911. "It was a wonderful gesture on his part," said Betty Jane.

She said her husband had suffered a serious heart attack two years before, but luckily did not have a heart attack this day.

Stewart was taken to Christiana Hospital by ambulance and was admitted to the hospital for four days. Tests showed he had a rapid heart beat and as a result his doctor altered his medication. Stewart also now at all times carries identification with him for in case of emergencies.

"It's nice to know there are caring people," said Betty Jane.

"I might not be here if he didn't stop," said Joe Stewart. "He may have saved my life."

Joe said he is doing well now. Newark Postmaster Sally Boudart said she is impressed with how Moore conducted himself. She said letter carriers are out there everyday in neighborhoods and see what is going on in communities.

Moore, 36, is a resident of Elkton, Md. He grew up in Newark and is a graduate of Glasgow High School.

Moore has been married to his wife Dawn for four years. They have a son Ryan, age 2.

The Newark Postal Service recognized Moore for his caring attitude and presented him with a gift certificate to a local restaurant and $25 in spending money.

Pets don't make good impulse gifts from Santa

IT'S THE HEIGHT of the holiday shopping season, but there is one gift that no one should even think about giving this time of year — a pet.

There are many reasons for not giving a pet during the holidays. The decision to purchase a pet or surprise someone with one should be well thought out.

Too many people purchase pets impulsively this time of year, with little thought about how the animal will fit into their lifestyle.

The result is that by January you have an unhappy pet owner as well as an unhappy pet. Unless it's a goldfish or hamster, bringing a pet into the home often involves a major change in lifestyle. Pets are not toys; they require a major commitment of time, energy and sometimes money.

The holiday season is a busy time. This poses even greater problems. Homes have seasonal decorations that can pose a hazard to pets. Ribbons on packages and tinsel and garland on trees could cause the animal to choke. Some families have the occasional glass ornament that, if swallowed, could quickly be fatal.

Also during the holidays many families go out for extended periods, leaving the pet all alone in the new and unfamiliar environment. A new pet needs a lot of attention, which can be difficult to provide at holiday time. Another factor to consider, especially with dogs, is the issue of housebreaking. This is difficult at any time, but in winter it is especially difficult.

The SPCA will not permit adoptions one week before Christmas nor adoptions for gift purposes anytime. Unfortunately, this wise practice of not selling animals before the holidays and not selling them as gifts does not apply to everyone. It's still possible to buy pets at pet stores up until closing on Christmas Eve.

Taking the time to choose the right pet will pay big dividends. There's no question that pets make wonderful companions, and the positive effect that pets have on the elderly and disabled is well documented. Children also benefit enormously from pets. They learn responsibility as well as compassion.

Taking time to make the right decision will bring many years of

joy and satisfaction to you and your entire family.

Lunacies

POEMS, PUNS and PROVERBS

By James C. McLaren

A slink-about Roach
Searched for spots to encroach,
And nudged loving mate to bed.
They had offspring galore,
And sought even more.
Homeowners, alarmed, quickly fled.

One can easily find a Rembrandt painting by canvassing cafés and pleasing the palette.

After looking at a Rembrandt and reading Peter Pan one can fly away to the never Netherland(s).

It is always judgmental to question a jury of one's peers.

One should often have qualms about the credentials of a nanny.

■ Author's note: Lunacies like these have been inflicted on my poor wife, children and colleagues for years. They have been greeted by both groans and guffaws — the latter, perhaps, to pacify the punster and offset a further barrage. To its victims, punning can be seen as a disease, since any laughter, however sparse, can be contagious. I hope Newark Post readers will tackle this word-play nonsense with zest, thereby assuring them Eternal Joy and a letter from Ed McMahon.

Non-alcoholic party drinks

HOLIDAYS ARE a time when people attend parties and celebrate with alcoholic beverages, but MADD is working to bring awareness to responsible drinking.

According to Delaware State police statistics, 52 people have been killed on Delaware roads in alcohol-related accidents in 1994.

For those hosting holiday parties, Mothers Against Drunk Driving (MADD) provides the following tips to prevent additional alcohol-related crashes from occurring.

■ Plan lots of group activities such as party games to take people's mind off drinking.

■ Prepare plenty of nutritious foods such as vegetable dips, cheeses and finger sandwiches so guests will not drink on empty stomachs.

■ Ask guests to appoint a designated driver before the evening begins. This person drinks only nonalcoholic beverages to ensure that friends and loved ones get home safely.

■ Close the bar 90 minutes before the party ends and serve a dessert treat with coffee. But remember only time sobers people.

■ Offer a variety of nonalcoholic beverages such as the following:

Holiday Punch
1 large jar Cran-Grape Juice
1 liter bottle Gingerale
1 container orange sherbet whole cranberries
Combine juice and gingerale. Add sherbet by small scoops. Top with whole cranberries.

Percolator Punch
2 quarts apple cider or punch
2 quarts cranberry juice
1 quart pineapple juice
1/2 cup brown sugar
1 tablespoon whole cloves
1 tablespoon whole allspice
4 cinnamon sticks, 3-inches long
2 lemons, thinly sliced then quartered
Pour liquids into bottom of 30-cup percolator. Put remaining ingredients in percolator basket and brew for 30 minutes. Serve hot.

Mild-Eyed Margarita
2 cups bitter lemon or lime soda
2 tablespoons sugar
juice of a half a lime salt
crushed ice
Pour soda into ice cub tray or shallow pan, freeze. Place frozen soda in blender container, add lime juice and sugar. Blend until well-mixed. Rub lime around rim of glasses and dip into salt. Pour mixture over crushed ice in salted glasses. Garnish with lime slices.

At U of D our stars shine at night

Many of the University of Delaware's outstanding faculty teach in our evening degree and off-campus programs.

Here's what one student said about Professor Norman E. Collins Jr., Engineering Technology:

"Thanks for the experience. Obtaining a B.S. in engineering technology would not have been possible without your help. It wasn't just the courses. The negotiating and communication skills that I learned during the process are invaluable."

Dr. Collins earned his B.S. in Agricultural Science from the University of Delaware, his M.S. in Agricultural Engineering from the University of Maryland, and his Ph.D. in Civil Engineering from the University of Pennsylvania. He's been nominated several times for the Excellence in Teaching Award and received the Outstanding Faculty Advising Award in 1989.

Professor Collins is just one example of the combination of teaching excellence and concern for students you'll find at the University of Delaware.

Tips for dealing with computer problems via telephone

By the Associated Press

- Jot down the events leading to the problem before calling the manufacturer's technical-support line.
- Keep the order invoice and other facts about the system on hand.
- Stay at the system so the technician can talk you through the problem.
- Call after peak business hours. If you can't get through:

- Contact the corporate or sales office and ask to be transferred to the technical-support line.
- Fax your detailed question to the technical-support center.
- Message the manufacturer through one of several on-line services, like Prodigy or CompuServe. (Many companies also have on-line bulletin boards with answers to frequently asked technical questions.)
- Contact the store where you

- purchased the system. (Some chains like CompUSA have their own technical-support lines.)
- Call a PC user group and ask to speak to one of the experts. The Association of Personal Computer Users provides a list of local groups (914-876-6678).
- Refer to some of the many available computer books such as "The Little PC Book," and the "Dummies" and "Idiots" series.

Personal computers surge to top of holiday gift lists

Dramatic drop in prices, user-friendly, better tech support key to '94 PC popularity

By the Associated Press

NEW YORK—For millions of households, this will be the high-tech holidays. Personal computers and equipment will deck the halls, and dens, of many homes thanks to a dramatic drop in prices and the availability of more sophisticated systems.

But will novice users be spending the new year fumbling through thick manuals or software programs they can't operate?

PC sellers say they've gone out of their way to make things easier for the first-time buyer with simplified setup directions, pre-installed software and a small army of technicians on hand for around-the-clock calls.

"One of the things we're focusing on is the ease of use," said Jay Sudkamp, brand manager for Aptiva, IBM's new multimedia consumer PC line. "We strive for instant gratification."

Sudkamp says Aptiva buyers should be able to assemble and operate their new computers within 16 minutes. Everything needed comes in one large carton, from PC components to telephone jack wires, along with a color brochure that explains the installation procedure, he said. A toll-free number for technical support also appears boldly on the package.

"We call it solution in a box," he said.

At Apple Computer, it's called "the out of box experience." Apple says it has cut down the average assembly time of its Macintosh computers to under 10 minutes, with the help of its single-box delivery system and enclosed visual aids, including a placemat-size laminated document that details directions for hardware installation and the finished product.

"Everything a person needs has to be in that box," said Apple spokeswoman Gilda Raczkowski. "The software has to be loaded, the graphic cards pre-installed ... The directions also have to be understandable. For instance, we named our hard disk "hard disk," not "HD."

Current Apple ads — one dubbed "The Nightmare Before Christmas," another "The Nightmare After Christmas" — purport to show what can happen if you buy "the wrong computer." They feature hapless parents struggling to get their holiday PCs ready for their families to use.

The ads' message, of course, is that Macs are easier to operate than IBM-compatible computers, which hold the bigger share of the PC market.

To be sure, the industry trend has been toward simplicity this year as PC manufacturers fiercely compete for the two-thirds of the U.S. households that have yet to invest in a personal computer. (Experts believe PC ownership could double in the next 10 years.)

"If they have a good experience with our PC ... we believe they will come back a second time," said IBM's Sudkamp.

Retailers also are striving for consumer loyalty with promises of simplicity and plenty of hand-holding.

"We definitely feel that the growing segment of the computer business is the first-time buyer," said Larry Mondry, executive vice president for marketing at CompUSA, one of the nation's largest computer retailers, with 80 stores in 26 states.

"There's an upswing in the amount of first-time buyers. It's a huge change in the business pattern from the selling perspective," he said, adding that computer sales have been brisk so far this season.

As a result, CompUSA has been adding specialized services, like beginner computer classes, the cost of which may be refundable with purchase; weekend product demonstrations and software expositions; and three-year extended product warranties. CompUSA also provides its own toll-free technical-support line. (It even has a 900 number for noncustomers.)

The fact is you can get more for your money this year than last.

"This is a very good time to buy a computer. Prices have gone down dramatically (and) ... there are no major new technologies around the corner that I'm aware of," said Lawrence J. Magid, author of "The Little PC Book," written for novices.

Buyers today can pick up a desktop multimedia PC operating on a 486 chip for under $1,500. Some PCs empowered with the ultrafast Pentium chip can be had for under $2,000, less than half the typical cost a year ago.

Anticipating a rise in sales, PC manufacturers have been beefing up their technical-support crews.

While most say they've simplified their user manuals or added one-line tutorials geared to novices, they concede that most individuals feel more comfortable interacting with a human voice.

"Many people simply don't read their manuals," said David McWilliams, a manager at Packard Bell's new technical-support unit in Magna, Utah.

Packard Bell, whose PCs are among the top selling this season, opened the Utah facility in March with 86 employees. Today the staff totals 771-600 of whom have been trained to handle technical calls.

The company expects to double its support staff by next year, said McWilliams.

"We have 110 new hires in training now that will be out on the floor a week before Christmas and in time for the New Year's rush," he said.

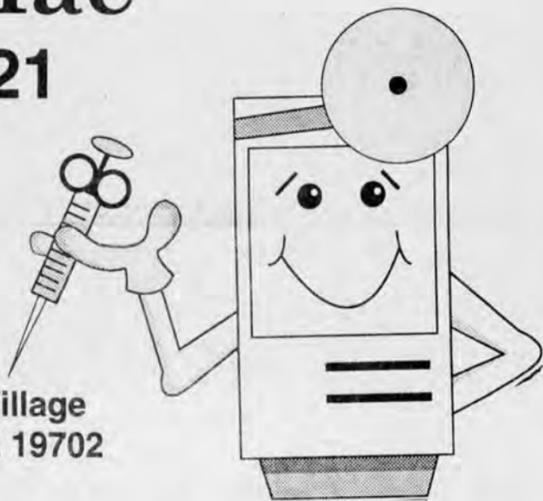

Gateway 2000, the popular mail-order PC manufacturer which was criticized a year ago for understaffed technical help lines, opened a support facility in Kansas City this year.

Although the company won't provide staff numbers, it has brought on board enough technicians to handle 60 percent more calls than a year ago, said Jim Collas, vice president of customer support.

Cultured pearls: A classic gift

Special to the Newark Post

CHRISTMAS IS THAT special season filled with tradition and special gifts for loved ones. This year, give a timeless gift of cultured pearl jewelry to those close to your heart.

Finding the perfect gift for each person on your Christmas list can be easy if you think cultured pearls. They are both beautiful and affordable, a classic gift for men and women, young and old.

A single strand of pearls will melt the heart of any woman this holiday season. From choker to opera lengths, this gift is considered a staple of a woman's wardrobe. Or give cultured pearl bracelets, brooches or earrings. They come in many styles and price ranges; their versatility knows no limits.

Pearl gifts for a man may include pearl tie clips, studs, collar bars and cufflinks. All are a tasteful and affordable means of showing that holiday spirit.

There are several factors to consider when choosing cultured pearl jewelry. To ensure the best value for your gifting budget, go to a reputable jeweler with a knowledge of cultured pearls. Then view the pearls in terms of lustre, surface cleanliness, shape, color and size.

Lustre is the most important factor in judging high quality pearls. Lustre is the quality of light reflected and refracted from the pearl. Pearls are considered to be highly lustrous when they seem to glow with an inner light, and objects are reflected bright and sharp from their surface. Dull, lifeless or chalky-looking pearls should be avoided. The most lustrous pearls are the most valuable.

The next most important factor is what jewelers call "cleanliness." Cleanliness refers to the quality of the surface of the pearl. Most real pearls are not perfectly smooth and sometimes have what look like tiny pin pricks on the surface. These do not detract from the beauty of the pearl and are acceptable. What must be avoided are pearls with disfiguring spots, cracks or chips.

Pearls can come in almost any shape. The three basic classifications are spherical (round), symmetrical and baroque. The ideal shape of a cultured pearl is considered spherical. Few real pearls achieve such perfection because pearls are created in nature. Most cultured pearls range from slightly to obviously off-round. Examples of nonround symmetrical pearls are the teardrop shaped and the pear-shaped. Irregular and unsymmetrical shaped pearls are called baroque.

All pearls have a basic body color. These colors range from white to black, and everything in between. The most common colors are cream, white and pink. When buying pearls it is important to consider the skin tone and hair color of the wearer. Rose or pink pearls are suggested for fair-skinned people or blonds, while cream is better for darker complexions and hair.

Size is another important factor to consider when choosing cultured pearl jewelry. Pearls are measured in millimeters. Six and a half to seven and a half millimeters are the most common.

All other factors being the same, the larger the pearl, the more it will cost.

Sparkling holiday gifts to trigger a man's memory

ASK A MAN what he got for Christmas last year, and chances are he's forgotten.

In fact, according to a national telephone survey conducted by OmniTel Survey of Bruskin/Goldring Research, half of the men polled stated that they have trouble remembering or don't remember at all because the gifts were not special.

The majority of the men, almost 70 percent, said they typically receive gifts like sweaters, shirts, ties or socks.

So what will men remember? Over half of the men surveyed consider a gift of diamond jewelry extremely, very or somewhat memorable as compared to the usual types of gifts they received from their wife or girlfriend.

And diamond jewelry ranked the highest as a gift most expressive of love.

Aside from being memorable and sentimental, do men really want to wear diamonds? According to Tom Julian, fashion director of The Fashion Association, "Diamond jewelry is an important fashion accessory in a time when style is a priority for men." In fact, according to the Brand Tracking Survey conducted by N.W. Ayer in 1992, 46 percent of men surveyed felt that men's diamond jewelry is fashionable and contemporary, up nine percent from 1991, reflecting men's growing enthusiasm.

Richard J. MacDowell, 47, Pathmark merchandising rep

Bear resident, Richard J. MacDowell, died Nov. 30, 1994, of cancer at home.
Mr. MacDowell, 47, was a merchandising representative for Pathmark for 22 years, until 1991. He then worked at PIA Merchandising Co. of New Jersey until 1993.
He was born in Gloucester, N.J., and had lived in Delaware since his youth.
Mr. MacDowell was a member of Defiance Athletic Association. He enjoyed cooking and was a sports fan.
He is survived by his mother, Marie T. MacDowell of Elsmere; two sons, James E. at home and Stephen J. of Newark; two brothers, Michael D. of Wilmington and Joseph P. of Elsmere; two sisters, Eileen McCall of Rehoboth Beach and Susan Collins of Peoria, Ariz.; his fiancée, Phyllis R. Vadden of Wilmington; and a grandson.

Mass of Christian Burial was offered Dec. 3 at St. Matthew's Catholic Church, Woodcrest. Burial was in All Saints Cemetery.
The family suggests contributions to the American Cancer Society, New Castle.

Duncansville, Pa., Curtis J. of Berkeley Springs and Randy L. of Newark; two daughters, Virginia Lee Puffinberger and Erin-Kathleen Waugh, both of Newark; his mother, Edna Mae Crouse Waugh of Berkeley Springs; four sisters, Gladys "Hazel" Shade of Great Cacapon, W.Va., and Brenda Kay Goodman, Ruth Ann Miller and Pauline Waugh, all of Berkeley Springs; his former wife, Shirley Bowers Waugh of Newark; six grandchildren and a great-granddaughter.

A service was held Dec. 1 at Beacon Baptist Church, Timber Ridge, Va., with burial in Salem Cemetery, Timber Ridge.

Her husband, William T. Edmanson, died in 1986. She is survived by a son, James of Argyle, Texas; a brother, Randolph Lindell, and four sisters, Alice G. Landau, Elizabeth Taylor, Edna Lindell and Mary L. Rose, all of Newark; and two grandchildren.
A service was held Dec. 5 in Robert T. Jones & Foard Funeral Home, Newark. Burial was in St. Georges Cemetery.

Carol M. Ross, 88, college librarian

Newark resident, Carol M. Ross, died Dec. 3, 1994, at home.
Mrs. Ross, 88, moved to Newark from Meadville, Pa. in 1987 to be near her son, Peter Ross. Raised in Painesville, Ohio, she was a librarian at Allegheny College in Meadville, where her husband, Julian L. Ross, taught English. She was a member of a Unitarian church in Meadville.
Her husband died in 1972. In addition to her son Peter, she is survived by another son, Stephen of Catonsville, Md., five grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.
Services and burial will be in Meadville at a later date.

Nora Lindell Edmanson, 84, former Newarker

Former Newark resident, Nora Lindell Edmanson, died Dec. 1, 1994, at home.
Mrs. Edmanson, 84, was a homemaker. She was a member of First Presbyterian Church of Newark.
Raised in Newark, she worked at Continental Diamond & Fiber Co. during World War II. In 1988 she moved to Churchmans Village, Stanton.

Avon Richard Waugh, 56, foreman

Newark resident, Avon Richard Waugh, died Nov. 28, 1994, of lung cancer at home.
Mr. Waugh, 56, was a foreman at G.J. White Inc. in Bear for more than 20 years until May. He had formerly been a stone mason in Berkeley Springs, W.Va. Born in Ungers Store, W.Va., he moved to Delaware about 20 years ago.

His wife, Mari-Jo Sullivan Waugh, died in 1992. He is survived by three sons, Dennis R. of

Former NBA leader lands job in Milford

Marguerite Ashley, former development director for the Newark Business Association (NBA), was chosen from more than 60 applicants to head the recently formed Downtown Revitalization group in Milford. Ashley said she left the NBA after six years (from 1987 to 1993) because she had a different agenda than Board members and President. "I was trying to push them to be an all Main Street organization, and they didn't want to do that," Ashley said. "The Milford people want to start an agenda that is completely dedicated to its downtown." Milford is one of the eight Delaware cities, including Newark, to benefit from the National Main Street Center program. Ashley, who said she is arguably "Newark's biggest Main Street nut" plans to continue living in Newark and commute 62 miles to Milford.

Staples to locate in Newark

Steve Kane, owner of Kane Builders—a Pennsylvania based construction firm that works on Staples' stores, said his part of the job at the former Ames space in Chestnut Hill Plaza will be done by Christmas. The opening of a Staples office supply store is scheduled to follow soon after, probably by February. Staples will locate in half the former Ames space, about 24,000 square feet. Kane said the rumor is that Circuit City is looking at the other half.

LAST MINUTE GIFT IDEAS

IS YOUR CHRISTMAS shopping finished yet? Local retailers are stocked with the basics, such as gloves and slippers, as well as a few alternative gifts for the hard to buy for friends and family.

University of Delaware alumni can be easy to buy for this Christmas. There is a new YouUDee doll (pictured left) for sale at the University Bookstore on Academy Street and the College of Human Resources recently announced its first series of custom reproductions of four university landmark buildings, including Memorial Hall. To order one call, 831-2301.

If knick-knacks and stuffed animals are too mundane, how about a pasta bib? An inventor from Philadelphia is marketing a red and white checkered bib, with velcro closer, for those who are tired of splattering sauce on their clothes. The manufacturer suggests pasta lovers tote the Spaghetti Smock (pictured at right) with them to their favorite eateries. It is available at Kitchen Kapers in Christiana Mall.

The new Borders Book Store (display pictured bottom right), adjacent to Toys-R-Us in Christiana, offers more than 100,000 books, 50,000 music selections and more than 8,000 videos.

If the selection seems overwhelming, take advice from New Castle County Librarians. They have compiled a list of what they believe are the best bets for gifts.

For adults, librarians recommend: "Union Square Cafe Cookbook"—inspired by the New York City Restaurant; "Hot Zone"—a true story of what happened when an exotic, lethal virus broke out in a Washington suburb; "From Sea to Shining Sea" An illustrated, diverse collection of American literature, folklore and culture; "Politically Correct Bedtime Stories"—classic fairy tales updated for the 90s, free from racism and sexism.

For children: "Pink and Say"—a true Civil War story about a white boy left for dead who befriends a black boy; "The Christmas Tree Ship"—an illustrated book in which a Captain Herman fills his boats with Christmas trees to make deliveries across Lake Michigan.

Ross Richards, of Best Products, which recently opened in Governor's Plaza in Bear, said bread machines are big sellers this year as well as the Black & Decker Snake Light and Workmate ShopBox (pictured upper right hand corner). Be forewarned, however, representatives at Best and K-Mart in College Square, said they can't keep the snake light in stock.

If appliances and tools won't do, try a Coach leather tie travel case or "Christmas in a Can" which is filled with "Miracle on 34th Street," a Christmas ornament, gourmet popcorn and more—available at Macy's in Christiana Mall.

Grass Roots on Main Street in Newark is offering something for the person who not only has everything they need, but also claims they can do everything. Challenge these hard to buy for friends and relatives with More Balls than Most (pictured upper right)—a gift package of three spandex bird-seed filled balls and a how-to juggling book. Marketers of the product say learning to juggle reduces stress, provides enjoyment and provides hours of entertainment in the office lunchroom.

Since coffee houses and cafes are making a comeback, a gift from the Coffee Beanery can be eye-opening and fashionable at the same time.

The store, located in Christiana Mall offers a variety of specialty coffees. National sales for these unique "cups of Joe" exceeded $28 million in 1993.

A gift from the American Cancer Research's wish list makes healthy living easy for loved ones. The research institute recommends air-popping popcorn machines, bread-making machines, electric mini-food choppers and salad spinners for dieters and electric can openers for anyone with arthritis.

A First-Alert Carbon Monoxide Detector is yet another gift that is functional and thoughtful at the same time.

For the stereo buff, or seeker of the latest technologies, Panasonic has a 100-disc CD Player for about $529.

Art Museum has eventful Christmas planned

TIS THE SEASON! And the folks at our Delaware Art Museum know it well. Some splendid events are set for us at DAM this Christmas holiday season.

We can begin today with something good for our souls — the artistic side — and something good for our bodies — confections. Perhaps "confections" really understates the topic, but I will let you place your own appellation on Gingerbread Houses. Even that isn't quite right. It used to be just Gingerbread Houses but, this season, now through January 8, it is much more than that. The exhibit's official name is "Hometown USA Annual Gingerbread Exhibition."

The show drew its inspiration this year from the Howard Pyle and Norman Rockwell works now on display under the title of "Lasting Legacies," about which I wrote in October. The gingerbread exhibits are spread around the museum, but they are under the watchful eyes of the guards, so don't try to munch on a sample!

You can stroll around and see churches, banks, stores and, of course, houses. Every single one of the buildings is actually made out of gingerbread. As is the case every year, both professional chefs and local residents take on the challenge of creating these works of art. I have been covering this show for many years, but I have never gotten a single piece of gingerbread! Something just ain't right there!

The annual holiday house tour is this Saturday. This is the tenth time for this event and it will operate from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. The DAM tradition of opening neighborhood houses at the Christmas season will offer those who take the tour a ton of great holiday decorating ideas. The 1994 Holiday House Tour tickets are $14. They are available at the Delaware Art Museum, 2301 Kentmere Parkway, Wilmington. You may call 302-571-9590 for more details.

If you have someone on your

THE ARTS

By PHIL TOMAN

Christmas list who is interested in the fine arts, the Delaware Art Museum offers a wonderful place to shop, The Museum Store. The usual fine array of gifts is on sale, including some great items from "Lasting Legacies" and many other works of art. But, at this time of year, there is a special boutique called "Angels, Ribbons and Bows." There are some lovely and unusual ornaments to make your tree a work of art. They even have some gingerbread decorations!

The store is open every day and hour the museum is, but, from now until Christmas, it will remain open until 8 p.m. every Thursday evening for your shopping convenience. As usual, all sales benefit our distinguished museum. By the way, I have it on good authority that Santa will be making some pre-December 25 visits to the store at the DAM.

Christmas is a very special community event as well as a religious and family event. To celebrate the community factor, the art museum is sponsoring The 1994 Community Quilt. This quilt serves as a visual celebration of the many cultural events and institutions in our communities. Fifty local groups will tell their stories through beautifully crafted quilt squares, each handmade. I think you will be very pleased not only by the quilt, but by the variety of people and organizations involved in making this panorama of where we live.

The Christmas season at DAM will once again wind down with "The Teddy Bears Picnic" on January 7, with performances at 10 a.m., noon, 2 and 4 p.m. This event is literally back by popular DEMAND.

Things get underway in the museum auditorium with a "Beary" special concert by singer and songwriter Kevin Roth. Next, a picnic snack and after than a chance for the children (of all ages) to get pictures taken with Max, the largest bear in town. There will be opportunities to engage in some creative activities. The ticket price, $15, includes the museum admission, the concert, picnic, activities and a very special souvenir of the day. This January event will be packed so early reservations are suggested.

If you are thinking of The Teddy Bears Picnic as a Christmas gift for a favorite child, a personalized letter from Max and the tickets can be packaged as a special holiday gift by the Delaware Art Museum staff. Just give them a call or stop by. There is plenty of free parking behind the museum.

I hope the Delaware Art Museum will be part of your Christmas enjoyment.

Yellowjacket Wrestling Tournament begins Friday

By JOHN HOLOWKA

NEWARK POST ASSISTANT SPORTS EDITOR

After ceding the overall championship the past two years to out-of-state teams, the 15th Newark Yellowjacket Wrestling Invitational is due to come back home.

Fourteen teams from Delaware, Pennsylvania and New Jersey are slated to compete when the two-day affair gets underway Friday evening at 6 p.m. with the opening varsity rounds.

"If you were to speak to any coaches from around here, they would say this is one of the toughest tournaments," said Newark High Wrestling Booster President Bob Manning. "This size is what makes it a tough. And it gives teams a good indication of how they'll fare in the state meet. Every year we've been trying to get more diverse. We didn't want to turn it into a Blue Hen Conference meet so to speak."

St. Mark's won the North East Tournament last weekend and returns one class winner, last year's Outstanding Wrestler Stan Spoor, a state champion at 145. The Spartans crowned three individual champions last year and won tournament titles in 1982, 85-87 and in 1990 and 1991 before finishing second that last two tournaments.

Last year's champion Neshaminy (Pa.) is back as well as 1992 winner West Deptford (N.J.).

Newark advanced four to the finals and had two champions last year. Joe Marra won at 130 pounds and will wrestle 140 for the 'Jackets. After winning the tournament the first two years, Newark has finished fourth the past two years.

Defending Flight B champion Hodgson finished eighth last year and Glasgow placed 10th. Both teams will compete again this year.

The remaining teams are Salesianum, Dickinson, New Washington Twp. (N.J.), Mifflinburg (Pa.), Shamokin (Pa.), Caesar Rodney, Elizabethtown (Pa.) and St. Elizabeth.

"It's hard to say (how Newark) will do," said Tournament Director Paul McCloskey, former A.I. du Pont head wrestling coach and now assistant once again at Newark. "We don't see the seeding until Wednesday. St. Mark's looks pretty good."

The varsity consolation are Friday night at 9 p.m. Junior varsity action starts at 9 a.m. Saturday morning and the varsity semifinals begin at noon. Varsity consolation finals are at 3:30 and the championship matches begin at 7 p.m.

Tickets cost $3 for all matches other than the championship finals, which are $4.

This year the junior varsity matches are being wrestled according to the Madison system, which allows for as many weight classes as there are wrestlers to fill them as opposed to the regular 13 weight classes.

"You can't improve in wrestling if you can't wrestle," said Manning. "(Newark Coach) Kevin Martin has been a strong advocate of developing young

Newark beats
Wilmington 91-84 in
OT for third place

By JOHN HOLOWKA

NEWARK POST ASSISTANT SPORTS EDITOR

In a game fit to be tied, Newark High finally pulled the right strings.

The Yellowjackets wrapped up a third-place tournament finish this Saturday with a 91-84 overtime victory over Wilmington in the consolation final of the 6th Kappa Klassic Tournament at Newark High.

"The Wilmington-Newark rivalry is a throwback to the '80s and we had the same thing last year in the Kappa final," said Newark Coach Jim Doody. "It was a great, great win for us. I told the kids before the game it would be a wide-open high-scoring affair."

"It lived up to all its expectations. I honestly don't remember them missing any shots at all," Doody said. "We didn't miss either. Every time Wilmington made one somebody came up big for us. It was phenomenal, it really was. It certainly was a thrilling game."

The game featured six ties and 10 lead changes throughout the third and fourth quarters. The Red Devils at one point led by eight points, but baskets by Arnold Dorsett, Michael Pollock and a three-pointer by Corey Wallace knotted the game 79-79 with 53 seconds remaining. Wallace stole the ball and scored with 10 seconds left but Jermaine Medley hit a jumper at the buzzer to force overtime. Medley led all scorers with 34 points.

"This win was very big for us," Doody said. "Ten days ago we scrimmaged St. Elizabeth and didn't look anything like a basketball team. We thought that this tournament might overwhelm us and as it turned out the kids worked hard."

"The end result is that we've gotten better every day since that St. Elizabeth scrimmage. That makes me feel real good. And to have lost (Saturday) would have been a step backwards. We wouldn't want to look at it that way but the kids needed a win."

Clarence Dorsett led Newark with 22 points (four three-pointers) and 12 rebounds, Collyn Ripley, a 5-foot-11 senior guard, was named to the All-Tournament team and scored 56 points in three games and 19 in the final.

Arnold Dorsett scored 16 points, Wallace added 15, Michael Young had a pair of three-pointers off the bench and Butter Pressey scored once. Newark shot about 54 percent from the field and hit both shots in overtime. The 'Jackets held a 38-36 edge in rebounds.

"Personally I'm not surprised (we finished third)," said Pollock, who contributed 12 points. "I knew that we had a lot of talent. We are a little inexperienced but these players come out and work hard every day. We've been working on rebounds and boxing out drills in practice. We came out put our body on somebody and pulled them down."

Newark (2-1) opened the tournament with a 69-57 win against Howard and then fell to Sanford 59-52.

Dragons finish fifth, beat Christiana 90-86 in double overtime

Glasgow won fifth place at the Kappa Klassic with a double-overtime 90-86 win over Christiana, which placed sixth.

Darnell Vaughan led the Dragons with 21 points while C.C. White added 18. Christiana's Dwayne Loper led all scorers with 26 points and Lawrence Redden had 16. Eric Moore chipped in with 12 points for the Vikings.

Wayne Richards from Glasgow and Loper from Christiana were each named tournament honorable mention.

Alex Karlson led St. Mark's in scoring with 29 points to help the Spartans win their first Kappa Klassic Basketball Tournament championship against Sanford. Karlson and John Gordon were both named to the all-tournament team.

Blue Hens face tough five-game test

Play Towson State, Monmouth and Villanova before Jan. 1

By MARTY VALANIA

NEWARK POST SPORTS WRITER

The University of Delaware men's basketball team starts another chapter in its season Saturday night.

The Blue Hens, who have compiled a 4-1 record through five games, will travel to Towson State to start a tough five-game stretch of games. In addition to Delaware playing the Tigers Saturday night, it will take on Monmouth Dec. 22, Villanova Dec. 30, Richmond Jan. 3 and Loyola Jan. 7. North Atlantic Conference play begins Jan. 10 with a home game against Hofstra.

"We're real confident going into these games," said Delaware forward Patrick Evans. "We have payback games against Towson and Monmouth. We're really looking forward to playing Villanova. They're a Top 25 team and we want to show what we can do. If we win or play well and lose the NAC as a whole will benefit."

Delaware fell 91-79 last season to Monmouth and lost 71-63 to Towson State. The loss to the Tigers was just the Hens' second in 16 games at the Carpenter Center.

"We definitely have a lot of hard work between now and [when conference play starts]" said Delaware Coach Steve Steinwedel after his team downed Division III Widener 91-61 last Thursday night at the Carpenter Center. "We have to keep on working and getting better. We need to continue to improve."

Through the first five games Brian Pearl and Greg Smith have led the team in scoring. Pearl, a senior guard, is averaging 19 points per game while Smith is averaging 18.6 points per game. Smith, a 6-foot, 7-inch sophomore forward, scored 22 last time out against Widener and has converted his last 13 field goal attempts in a row.

"We knew, as [Smith] developed, he'd be a very good player," Steinwedel said of Smith. "He's done a good job."

Peca Arsic, a sophomore forward from Yugoslavia, is averaging 12.8 points per game while senior swing man Robbie Johnson scoring 12.6 points a game.

Evans, a junior, is averaging 9.8 rebounds per game — a team high — to go along with 9.4 points per game. Senior forward Micah Edwards is scoring 6.2 points per game.

St. Mark's, Newark get wrestling seasons underway at North East

By MARTY VALANIA

NEWARK POST SPORTS WRITER

The high school wrestling season got underway last week with St. Mark's and Newark faring well in the North East (Md.) Wrestling Invitational.

The Spartans, who were semifinalists in last year's Delaware High School Division I Team Wrestling Tournament, advanced eight wrestlers to the finals and crowned six champions on its way to easily winning the tournament's team championship with 259 points. Newark had two titlists and finished fourth (163.5 points) in the 14-team field.

Downstate teams Caesar Rodney (193) and Sussex Central (190.5) finished second and third respectively.

Bruce Kelly (112), John Jacob (125), Mike Collins (130), Kyle Talley (135), Stan Spoor (145) and Corey Frederick (152) all won titles for the Spartans, who will be competing in the Yellowjacket Invitational at Newark High this weekend.

Joe Marra (140) and Jerry Harrison (heavyweight) were Newark's champions.

"I thought our freshman looked especially good for us," said St. Mark's Coach Steve Bastianelli. "This was our opener so I wasn't sure how they would handle themselves...but they did a great job."

L.A. Collier, of St. Mark's, finished second in the 103 pound weight class dropping an 8-6 decision to Caesar Rodney's Jason Slater in the championship match. At 140 the Spartans Joe Amon fell 6-2 to the Yellowjackets' Marra in the title bout. Newark's Jason Bellman grabbed a second place at 125 while the Yellowjackets' Jerry Milstead finished second at 152.

Jason Bastianelli added a third place finish to the Spartans' effort while Newark's Shawn Colpo finished third at 189. Damian Wampler (160) and Todd Meredith (171) finished fourth for the Yellowjackets.

Spartan defending state champion Stan Spoor won the 145-pound weight class last weekend at the North East Wrestling Tournament. St. Mark's crowned six champions. Newark had a pair of winners.

Caravel opens season with three wins

Bucs turn in 3-1 week for new coach Makovsky

By JOHN HOLOWKA

NEWARK POST ASSISTANT SPORTS EDITOR

BEAR — Caravel Academy put three players in double figures as the Buccaneers beat Philadelphia LaSalle High 59-46 Monday evening at Caravel in boys nonconference basketball.

The win vaults the Bucs to a 3-1 record under new Coach Paul Makovsky.

Jon Markle led Caravel with 15 points, 18 rebounds and five steals. Jarrett McDonald had 13 points and 10 rebounds. Ryan Dill grabbed 10 rebounds and scored 12 points, all three-pointers. Jimmy Fraizer chipped in with eight points and seven steals and Jury Lauver had 10 boards.

"I'm really pleased," said Makovsky. "I'm happy with the good start because we lost several games last year. We've been hustling at practice. We don't have much height, but we're aggressive and we're hard workers. We have a great attitude."

Caravel defeated Westtown (Pa.) last Friday 59-47 after falling behind 12-0 in the first period and trailing 34-23 at halftime.

Markle led the Bucs with 24 points and 18 rebounds, Fraizer had 14 points, Ryan Donovan scored 14, and Dill and McDonald each pulled down 10 rebounds.

"The key to that game was we held them to one field goal the entire third quarter," Makovsky said.

"This was an upset for us."

Caravel won its opener last week by beating Crefeld Academy from Philadelphia 99-35 in Chestnut Hill.

Dill had 21 points, 10 rebounds and four assists, and Markle added 13 points and 12 rebounds. Jeff Campbell added 13 points, Matt Kschinka scored 12 and McDonald tallied 13.

"It was a good first win for us," Makovsky said. "The players were charged up. Crefeld had a few big players but we were able to press them."

ATHLETE OF THE WEEK

NEWARK POST STAFF PHOTO BY JEFF SWINGER

John Gordon -- St. Mark's

JOHN GORDON doesn't mind shooting the lights out, just as long as he's the one pulling the trigger.

The five-foot-11 lead guard scored 71 points in three games for St. Mark's last week and helped gain the Spartans their inaugural Kappa Kassic championship. His 11-of-11 from the field and game-high 32 points against Wilmington helped propel the Spartans into the final.

"We knew we weren't getting respect from the rankings," Gordon said. "So we knew we had to come out and prove to everybody that we deserved to be respected."

"We played the first half of the game against Mount Pleasant like we were a great team, but then we came out and played the second half and looked like a young and not very good team. So we whipped Wilmington pretty bad and right here (the championship win) shows we're a pretty good team and are up there with the other top-notch teams."

Gordon was named tournament Most Valuable Player and canned 21 points in the final round title tilt. In the opening round victory against Mount Pleasant, Gordon scored 18 points and eclipsed the 1,000-point barrier for high school career points.

"Actually it's really not that important; it's just something that happened," said Gordon, the team's leading scorer the past two years and two-time All-Catholic Conference selection. "It really wasn't a goal, it just happened."

In the championship game Gordon held Sanford's high-scoring Tyson Waterman to 21 points, most of those coming in the first half, before he fouled out with 3:52 remaining. In the Kappa opener against Glasgow, Waterman had 42 points.

"I've been playing with him two or three years now," Gordon said. "I know all his bread-and-butter moves. I guard him from those positions and that's how I shut him down."

"I really respect John," said junior teammate Alex Karlsen. "He's a great player and this is pretty much the second year he's shut Waterman down."

Hawks beat Chiefs in youth ice hockey

The Delaware Hawks Youth Ice Hockey team defeated the rival Chiefs 6-2 Sunday in a Mite/Squirt combined game.

Jason Dick scored five goals and Justin Dawson put in one to lead the Hawks. Shawn Monaghan, Mike Macaron, Justin Dawson and Cody Wilkerson all had assists.

Goalie Jared Phillips stopped 13 shots for the Hawks.

Christiana relies on underclassmen to anchor young wrestling squad

Mills only returner with varsity mat time

By JOHN HOLOWKA

NEWARK POST ASSISTANT SPORTS EDITOR

CHRISTIANA — Christiana High's wrestling team has finally found the weight room.

"We started out with bad number," said second-year Coach Dan Chopko. "The first two weeks we only had nine kids. Now we have 26. So it's going to take us a while. We have a full junior varsity lineup; they'll step up later in the season."

Captain Jason Mills at 125 pounds is the Vikings' only returning varsity starter. He was the only host school wrestler to win a championship two weeks ago at the Christiana Holiday Tournament. Mills finished fifth at 130 in the Blue Hen Conference and the state meet in 1994.

The Vikings graduated only one impact wrestler. Lateace Neal was a two-time state champion at 103 and finished his high school career 106-20-1. He placed third in the state individual meet last season at 112.

At 112 pounds is Ervin Phillips, a sophomore who wrestled at 103 last season. Elliott, Bobby Tolbert will see action at 130 and either Jason Rolfe or Rob Elliott, both juniors, will go at 135 and 140.

Dave Parkinson is a sophomore at 152 pounds, freshman Tom Washington will go at 160 and Mike Carrington is slated at 171. Carrington wrestled as a freshman, then transferred to New Jersey before transferring back this year.

There are no solid starters at 103, 119, 145, 189 and heavyweight in part because four returning varsity wrestlers representing two conference places were declared academically ineligible. These classes could very well be filled with freshman and sophomores.

"We're rebuilding. We have a lot of underclassmen and need everybody to mature," Chopko said. "Of course it's going to be a lot more work than it would be if we were experienced. We'll practice technique and try to make the learning process fun. We'll have to stick with it."

Christiana started its dual-meet season against Flight B defending

Local gymnasts win first and second place

The Diamond Gymnastics Girls Team of New Castle won first and second-place team awards in the Hartford Holidays Competition last week in Joppa, Md.

Erin Davis of Newark in the 11-year-old division won first place in all four events and led the team with an all-around score of 36.25.

Alyssa Hertsenberg won the 7- and 8-year-old division with a score of 34.60 and Caroline Krystopolski won the 9-10 division with 35.15 points. Aletta Tuthill, Amanda Kirchner, Lauren Seckel and Lindsay Leech helped win the team award. Kirchner and Seckel are from Newark.

Johanna Smith and Kim Figueroa tied for second place in Level 9 competition and were joined by Jenny Walker for the team score.

The Level 5 team won with 107.3 points.

Girls Basketball

Dragons go after conference title

By MARTY VALANIA
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

THE GLASGOW HIGH girls' basketball team finds itself in an unusual position this season — the favorite to win the conference championship.

After several years of average seasons, combined with William Penn running roughshod over the rest of Flight A, the Dragons posted an 18-4 record last year and finished second to the Colonials in the conference.

With all five starters returning, plus some added depth, Glasgow is this year's preseason pick to ascend to the top of the league.

"There's a little different pressure this year," said Glasgow Coach Larry Walker, who begins his 14th year as head of the Dragons' program. "Last year I thought we had a chance to do well and we were able to surprise some people."

"This year we're expected to win. The pressure's a lot greater."

Included in the five returning starters are three that earned All-Conference recognition last year. Senior guard Laurie Brosnahan was a first-team selection while senior guard Toni Burke and senior forward Chaz Friant were second team picks.

Senior Shamarra Mason and junior LaKisca Rahming round out a veteran starting lineup.

"This is as good as squad as I've had in 10 years," Walker said. "We have everybody back plus some kids to come off the bench and help out. Some of these kids have been together four years. Most have been together three years. We just want to keep everybody healthy."

The Dragons' depth will come from sophomore guard Nicole Pauls, freshman guard Kristin Nau, freshman guard Chelesha Harding, junior forward Megan Hart, freshman guard Jamie Sassaman, senior forward Karen Ternowski, junior Sue Scarpitti and junior Roula Pappoulis.

"This year all I've worried about is a little over-confidence," Walker said. "We're still capable of making a lot of mistakes. And we have no pure shooters, so we have to work hard for everything we get."

"We do have two or three good defensive players, though, and we have good quickness and height."

Senior guard Toni Burke will help lead the Dragons this season.

Glasgow opened its season with two wins over Middletown and Alexis. I DuPont. Mason sparked the team in the win over A.I. scoring 11 of her team-high 15 points in the second half and grabbing 10 rebounds.

The Dragons, after playing Wilmington Thursday night, played at Caravel at 6 p.m. Saturday night.

Caravel girls aim for state tournament

By MARTY VALANIA
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

The Caravel Academy girls basketball team is aiming for a berth in the state tournament.

The Bucs return four starters from last year's 10-12 team that just missed a spot in the state tournament.

"Our main goal is to have a winning season and qualify for the tournament," said Caravel Coach Bill McCartan, who begins his sixth year at the helm of the Bucs' program. "We play a comparable schedule to last year and feel we have a good chance."

Senior captains Chantel Daunno, Alyssa Sexton and Kara Odom head a strong returning group which also includes sophomore

A significant addition to the Bucs is eighth grader Kristen Mills, who scored 20 points in Caravel's season-opening win over Lake Forest.

“Our goal is to have a winning season.”

BILL MCCARTAN
CARAVEL GIRLS BASKETBALL COACH

Others expecting to contribute to this year's squad include sophomore Kristen Nachstein, sophomore Kati Salony, freshman Shanika Jones, sophomore Daugherty and freshman Meredith Dougherty.

"The seniors will have to take over the leadership roles," McCartan said of his team. "I think we can have a good year as long as we stay healthy."

Spartans look to get back to the state tournament

By BRETT LOVELACE
NEWARK POST CONTRIBUTING WRITER

The 1994-95 St. Mark's girls' basketball team will look to build on a recent tradition of state tournament appearances. The Spartans (12-12 last season) reached the second round of last year's state tour-namment and are looking for a return trip this March.

"We stack up well against our competition," said St. Mark's Coach John Fiorelli. "What we lack in size, we make up for in quickness."

St. Mark's returns senior captains Val Speakman and Liza Stapleford along with a talented cast that includes Allison LaFazia, Katie Phipps, Megan Jester and Colleen Caey.

"We have some really talented players that have improved over the years and are ready for a big season," Fiorelli said.

The Spartans gained transfer students Toni Swan, from Padua Academy, and Cari Erskine from Colorado.

"We are fortunate to have Toni and Cari with us this year," Fiorelli said. "Toni is one of the best point guards we've ever had here and Cari brings needed size to our front-court."

Christiana looks to rebuild; make waves in Flight A

By BRETT LOVELACE
NEWARK POST CONTRIBUTING WRITER

Despite losing its entire starting lineup to graduation last season, the Christiana High girls' basketball team is ready to make some waves in the Blue Hen Conference's Flight A.

The Vikings are rebounding from a 7-13 record and expect constant improvement throughout their schedule.

"It's going to be a rough road for us this season against some of the more experienced teams," said Christiana Coach Charles Michael. "But we have been improving in every practice and I think we could be the dark horse of the conference."

Christiana boasts an all-sophomore nucleus with Charne Gray, Erin Pfozter, Abra Hickman, Abbie Ellis and Louwanda Thomas.

"We have some talented athletes that will gain experience through getting on the court and playing,"

Michael said.

Senior captains Jennifer Matthews, LaToya Cunningham and Vida Davis provide leadership to a young cast. Junior forward Elizabeth Hamm is expected to be a big part of the Vikings' offensive attack.

"It's difficult when you don't have returning starters to count on," Michael said. "But we have a dedicated group that has worked hard and wants to win."

WRITING An Ad

- Start your ad with what you are selling.
- Be descriptive. List your item's best features.
- Avoid abbreviations. Too many abbreviations can confuse the reader.
- Always state the price of an item. If you are flexible on price, include "negotiable" or "best offer".
- Complete your ad with a phone number and the hours in which you will receive calls.
- Including the word "please" in your ad increases responses.

Ad changes and policies

Please check your ad the first day to see that all information is correct. This will ensure your ad is exactly what you want readers to see. Call us the very first day your ad appears to make any changes or corrections. By doing this we can credit you for the first day if an error occurred. The newspaper's financial responsibility, if any, for errors of any kind is limited to the charge for the space for one day.

The publisher wants to do everything possible within the confines of good taste and legal constraints to help you advertise your products or services to your best advantage. The newspaper does reserve the right to edit or reject any copy or illustration that does not meet the newspaper's standards of acceptance. We make every effort to ensure that our advertisers are reputable. However, we welcome your comments and suggestions concerning any of our advertisers. Call Classified and ask for the manager.
