FORMER OFFICER KILLED

Arthur M. Barnes, former police officer of Newark, and of Wilmington, died Sunday morning in the Chester General Hospital, Chester, Pa., from a gunshot wound, said to have been accidentally inflicted, Saturday night.
He was 44 years of age.

The shooting occurred in the Chester Arms Hotel, where Barnes was living. John Deemer, clerk in the hotel fired the fatal shot. According to a story told to the police by Barnes before he died, Deemer shot him accidentally when he was showing him a new automatic pistol. It was said that during a friendly chat at the hotel desk, Deemer showed Barnes the new pistol, first removing the clip of cartridges. He accidentally pulled the trigger, and a shell remaining in the chamber of the pistol was discharged, the bullet passing through the left side of Barnes' body.

Rivers woman claimed that Williams threatened her with a shotgun during of driving while intoxicated, reckless driving, and resisting an officer. Un-

County Officer Walter Hamilton, after a long chase and a fight. Officer Hamilton, an unarmed member of the county week-end police, was on duty at the intersection of the Lancaster and Baltimore pikes, when Larrimore, accompanied by three other men,
drove by, zig-zagging down the road.
Hamilton called on the machine to halt, but Larrimore put on extra speed. Hamilton jumped into his own machine, parked nearby, and chased Larrimore at a high rate of speed to Hockessin, where he caught up and forced the fleeing machine to the roadside. Larrimore jumped out and attacked the officer, and in the ensu-crushed and his uniform torn. The three men, accompanying Larrimore,

The enrollment in the Newark Schools at the beginning of the second grade 3 necessitated the engagement of Miss Doris Erdman as an addi-

Erdman is a graduate of Beaver College, with graduate work at Columbia University. Her home is in Bucking-

The school's library has been opened and its syllabus brought up to date. The library of the Newark Schools is in four sections, and housed in the four different school buildings.
The junior-senior high school library is in the new building, and includes 3,000 volumes. This library is under the care of student librarians. The elementary library is housed in the Main street building, and two different types of children's encyclopedias have been added to it this year. The primary school library is in the Delaware avenue building, and contains a rapidly growing selection of children's books. The colored school library is one of the most complete and comprehensive sections of the school system, due to the generous gift of books made by the late Colonel Walter T.
Bradley, in 1927.

The school authorities are guided in their building of the various sections of the library by suggestions from the American Library Association.

For the present Mr. and Mrs. Brown will reside in Elkton.

Mrs. Henry C. Horn, 45, of Gloucester, N. J., died Monday night in Union Hospital, Elkton, of a broken back, sustained in an automobile accident on the Glasgow Road on the afternoon of September 3, when the car in which she was returning home from Washington, D. C., with her husband and 15-year-old son, Henry C. Horn, Jr., and a roadster driven by Charles H. Rollins, colored, of New York, collided two miles from Elkton. Both Mr. Horn and his son were pinned beneath the machine and painfully hurt and burned. Mrs. Horn was thrown violently on to, the concrete roadway breaking her back. The Negro, after being locked in Elkton jail, was released last week under bail to await results of the woman's injuries.

Chester Russell, of Bay View, L. J. Mezick, of Havre de Grace, and J. H. Robindoux, of Baltimore, are prisoners in Elkton jail awaiting a hearing, on a charge of chicken stealing. Saturday night the premises of John Logan and Mrs. Anna Minor, of Bay View, were entered and about a hundred chickens stolen. Two crates belonging to Mr. Logan, were hidden in a woods but on Sunday afternoon a young son of Mr. Logan discovered the chickens hidden in the woods and the sheriff's office was notified. Deputy Sheriff Short went to the woods and waited until about midnight when the three men appeared in a new car, loaded one of the crates in the machine and while working on the second crate of chickens, the officer appeared, placing the men under arrest. James Brooks and George Wright, both colored, of Chesapeake City, who appeared in Justice Scotten's court, Elkton, bandaged up from cut and stab wounds inflicted in a fracas Saturday night, were each fined $25 and costs for the free use of a knife and razor on each other.

John S. Seidel, of Baltimore, State Supervisor of Vocational Education of Maryland, was the speaker at the weekly meeting of the Elkton Rotary Club Tuesday evening at the Howard Hotel, Elkton.

Ranie Nesbitt, 18-year-old colored boy, died at Union Hospital, Monday, from a fractured skull, received last Saturday night when struck by a hit-and-run driver, while walking on the Elkton-Chesapeake City road. The boy and his two brothers, all employed on farms near Elkton, were walking on the side of the road, when a reckless driver in cutting around another machine struck the boy and failed to stop to give assistance. The lad's body was shipped to the home of his parents at Kingstreet, N. C.

head with an axe at a time when Moran had attempted to kill the mother, and that the killing was to save the woman's life.

Cecil County Jury Formally Charges

Smith With Pleasant Hill Crime

Edward F. Smith, 35, of Philadelphia, who has been a prisoner in Elkton jail since April 4, charged with murder and arson, in connection with the burning of the Mahoney home at Pleasant Hill, on the night of March 28 last, when his aunt, Mrs. Anna Jane Mahoney, 82, and her son, Edward B. Mahoney, 56, were murdered and cremated, was indicted Tuesday evening by a Cecil county grand jury for the murder of Edward Mahoney.

Practically the same witnesses who testified Tuesday appeared Wednesday to testify in the murder of Mrs. Mahoney.

The star witnesses proved to be Detectives Joseph Dougherty and T. B. Bayne, of Baltimore, who were assigned to the case immediately after the crime was committed. They offered sensational and damaging testimony against the accused. They revealed that in their investigation of this case they unearthed important clues that may lead later to information on other serious crimes that have been committed in the Pleasant Hill section.

Others who were examined were Mrs. Anna Speakman Helen Wilson, Myrtle Wilson, Sarah Harris, James Hammon, Dorrie Moore, and Mrs. Howard Scarborough.

It was Miss Helen Wilson an Elkton High School girl who on the night of the murder was requested by Mrs. Mahoney to spend the night with her, as she had a premonition that "something dreadful" was going to happen. Miss Wilson, who had other engagements on that evening, promised to stay with Mrs. Mahoney on the following night.

As to the finding of the $10 gold piece in Sheriff Logan's automobile the night Smith was arrested at Newark, Del., while being brought to Elkton jail with Mrs. Scarborough, it was brought out that the accused had removed the coin from a pocket and hid it in the rear seat of the machine. It was revealed by witnesses that Edward Mahoney had such a coin which he carried for several years.

Mrs. Scarborough, who, it was reported, was a lover of Smith and was going to marry him, has changed in her attitude towards the prisoner. It is now said she will be an important witness for the State when the case is called for trial.

The evidence already brought out has strengthened the State's case against Smith and several new developments that the State's attorney's office had not revealed were brought out by the questioning of the witnesses.

Milton Moran 17-year-old farmer boy who a month ago killed his father, James Moran, a farmer of Korner Ketch section, near West Nottingham, when Moran attempted to kill his wife was freed by the grand jury.

The testimony of Mrs. Moran and her three sons all was to the effect that Milton struck his father on the

TO REDEDICATE CHURCH ON SUNDAY

Christiana Methodist Episcopal Church

On Sunday appropriate services will mark the reopening and rededication of the Christiana Methodist Episcopal Church, closed since last August for renovation and re-equipment. There will be three services, all on standard time.

The morning service will be at 10:30, and the Reverend P. W. Spence, Jr., will preach the sermon. There will be a Sunday School hour at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and the Reverend W. Vaughn Moore, pastor of the Salem M. E. Church, of Wilmington, will be in charge of the service. A feature of this service will be a talk, to be given by the Reverend George E. Sterling, pastor of the Cope-land M. E. Church, Wilmington.

The rededication ceremony at 7:30 in the evening will be conducted by the Reverend Disston W. Jacobs, Superintendent of the Wilmington District. Reverend Jacobs will also preach the evening sermon. No special collections will be taken at any of these services. The church was built in 1857 and the original building still stands. During the past two months the interior of the church has been completely redecorated, refurnished and newly equipped. In the church proper the floors have been sanded to their natural grain, and the walls and ceiling painted. Green hammered cathedral glass windows have been installed, and the church has been furnished with new pews and carpet.

Downstairs the woodwork has been reglained, new carpet laid and folding chairs and a piano provided for the Sunday School.

Christiana

Following extensive repairs and alterations which have been made in the Christiana M. E. Church, rededication exercises, occupying the whole day, will be held next Sunday, September 22. Full particulars, including hours for the various services, are given in another part of this paper.

At this meeting Miss Anna Moody was elected treasurer of the society, to succeed Mr. I. N. Morrison. Following the business meeting there was an interesting program, consisting of readings, recitations, songs and guessing contests.

Here are three important supper dates to be borne in mind: The Ladies of the Christiana M. E. Church will serve their poultry and oyster supper on October 23; Salem M. E. Church on November 6; and Christiana Presbyterian Church on November 20.

A goodly number of new books have been brought to our free library during the past week. Among them are some unusually interesting ones for the boys and girls, as well as for the older people. With the opening of school, interest in the library has been revived, practically all the older pupils showing their appreciation of the good reading matter of all sorts to be found on the shelves.

Plans are being made to organize a band among the members of the Christiana Fire Company. Several of the men and boys are showing a keen interest in the matter, and it is hoped that before long this little town may have another musical organization. The boys are encouraged, no doubt, by the fact that the school orchestra has made such excellent progress in the short time it has been in existence.

RETURNS NOW IN— 49% Increase in one year

WE knew that trust business was increasing, but we didn't know until last month just how fast.

We have before us now the official returns of a nationwide canvass among trust institutions. This canvass shows that the number of men who name companies like ours to settle their estates is doubling every two years.

The main reason for this is plain: Men who themselves do business with a strong financial institution are quick to see the advantages of a plan that insures the same sort of protection for their wives and children.

When we act as executor and trustee under your will, our capital and surplus are a guarantee of our responsibility and faithful performance.

September 17, Constitution Day

"This Constitution has prosperously, greatly, and gloriously answered the ends of its establishment. And if there be in the country a man who doubts or denies this, he is a man for whose judgment I have no great respect, and with whose feelings I have no manner of sympathy.

"It replenished the treasury. It paid the debt of the Revolution. Above all, it gave us name and fame, it gave us character and standing. It made the flag E Pluribus Unum. Who, in a just and candid examination of this history, is not ready to stand by the Constitution? Or are there those who prefer another form of government?

"The Constitution has so amply falsified the predictions of its enemies, and more than fulfilled all the hopes of its friends that we are not at liberty to surrender, either in fact or form, any power or principle which the Constitution does actually contain."

—Daniel Webster.

On Tuesday, our local schools, and most schools throughout the country, held fitting exercises to commemorate the one hundred and forty-second anniversary of the adoption of the Constitution of the United States. School children were told what the Constitution meant to this nation and to its people. The historic events which brought about the framing of this Bill of Rights were retold with patriotic acclaim, and the allegiance of the school children was freshly pledged to the Flag and the precepts of the Constitution. In this state, school children were told that Delaware had the proud distinction of being the first state to ratify the Constitution.

It is not only fine and fitting, but gravely essential that the ideals and principals on which this nation was founded and has grown, be brought before the school children of this country, and planted in their minds as guides to direct their conduct as citizens. It is essential because these must offset other insidious and subversive influences, which have been successful in liberating their mental poison, through the schools, into the minds of the school children. All of these influences are tools of the Moscow directed Communist (Third) International in America. Some are well paid and willing tools; others are misguided and unwitting tools, but they all work for the same end: The overthrow of the government and the social and religious institutions of the nation, to substitute Communism in their stead.

The pallid pacifist, who preaches disarmament and abolishment of military training, is doing his bit to attain this end just as much, and in many cases more effectively, than the out and out "Red" who shouts for fiery sedition and revolution.

Pacifistic influence has wormed its way into the educational systems throughout the country to an alarming extent, and fruit of its sowing is coming to light continually. This nation was not conceived and founded, it did not grow, and it will not remain intact on a diet of pacifistic fodder. It is time that this is understood, and that it is also known, who and what is back of this disarmament propaganda.

It is fine and fitting that the anniversary of the birth of the Constitution be observed with fitting ceremony, but it is vitally essential that the Constitution, and what it means and stands for be held continually in mental pictures before the youth of America.

The University Auditorium

As a part of the convocation exercises, opening the University of Delaware, Monday, the cornerstone of Mitchell Hall will be laid. When this splendid building is completed, probably next March, another serious deficiency in the equipment of the University of Delaware will be provided for. The University will then have a meeting place large enough to hold the student body of the University, and in which any type of meeting may be held, or dramatic or musical affair produced.

Mitchell Hall is the gift of H. Rodney Sharp, an alumnus of the University, who has been a prolific donor of benefices to that institution. It is costing $300,000 to construct, and Mr. Sharp has added to this an additional sum of $50,000 to provide for its maintenance. Pierre S. du Pont has supplemented Mr. Sharp's gift with a $100,000 organ to be installed in the auditorium.

The auditorium is to be named Mitchell Hall, in honor of Dr. Samuel Chiles Mitchell, president of the University of Delaware from 1914 to 1920. This is another fine thing about Mr. Sharp's gift, in that he is designating this honor to Dr. Mitchell, while he is still alive to be gratified by it. This phase of the gift is not only appreciated by those concerned directly with the University, but also by the people of the Town of Newark, among whom Dr. Mitchell is well beloved.

WILL ASK EMPLOYMENT AID FOR DISABLED VETS

The disabled world war veteran suffering from the amputation of an arm or leg, if mentally qualified, should be entitled to civil service employment or be compensated by the government as totally disabled.

This is the demand that will be laid before the next session of congress by the national legislative committee of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the U. S., as a result of action taken by the 30th national encampment held late in August in St. Paul.

Present civil service regulations exclude these men from applying for government employment due to their physical handicaps. The V. F. W. will urge that present regulations be changed to limit examinations to mental and physical tests. Should the applicant be disqualified because of disabilities traceable to active service, and in the opinion of the civil service commissioner is physically unable to perform the duties prescribed, he should be given the benefit of total permanent disability compensation.

"If the government refuses to help these men help themselves through employment, we cannot look to the business man as an alternative," declares Edwin S. Bettelheim, chairman of the national legislative committee. "Once rejected for government employment, the disabled man has appealed to the court of last resort and eventually he must become a ward of the government or a burden upon charity. By his service he has sacrificed his own opportunities for a livelihood. When denied the opportunity to earn his livelihood, as a result of that service, we believe him fully entitled to all the compensation the government allows for those declared permanently and totally disabled."

THE WIG MAKER'S ART

Wigs, ever a subject for jest, are still widely used in the United States. The work of making them is one requiring expert training. Each wig must be made specially, great care being taken to see that all hair is alike in color and of the same shade as the future wearer's natural hair. First a wax impression of the head is made, to get the exact contour. Then each hair is punched into the artificial scalp with a fine needle having a tiny fork at the end.

GRANGE CONTEST PRAISED HIGHLY

National Publication Reports
Delaware Dramatic Competition; Lauds Bailey Thomas

In the National Grange Monthly for September, more than a page is devoted to the news of the state-wide dramatic contest among the granges of the State of Delaware. The winning Grange in the contest held in Dover was West Brandywine No. 13, who presented "Back to Your Knitting."

Credit for arousing interest and putting over the project is given to the Delaware state lecturer, A. Bailey Thomas. This news is of particular interest to this community because both Mr. and Mrs. Thomas are graduates of the University of Delaware. Mrs. Thomas is a niece of Mrs. William Peach, well known here, and a member of Harmony Grange.

To quote the National Grange Monthly:

"In connection with the interesting story of the Delaware dramatic contest it is timely to say something about the wide-awake state lecturer who planned it all and to whose energetic leadership in lecture hour planning much of the present interest in Delaware Grange work is to be credited. This energetic Patron who looks down from the head of this column is A. Bailey Thomas, a native of Kent County, a graduate of the University of Delaware, a good farmer and successful fruit grower. He is doing business in partnership with his father-in-law, who is none other than Frank C. Bancroft, a pleasantly remembered past master of the Delaware State Grange in the years 1913 to 1917, and enjoying the further distinction that his father also was Delaware state master from 1889 to 1891.

"Mr. Thomas is a loyal Patron of Husbandry and is now worthy master of his home Grange, Fruitland, No. 16, which meets in its own hall at Camden every Monday evening, having previously served that Grange in nearly all its officers' stations. Late in the summer of 1927 State Master Robert P. Robinson appointed Mr. Thomas state lecturer to fill the unexpired term of Edward A. Evans, who had resigned because of ill health. Mr. Thomas took hold of the work with the same spirit which carries him to success in anything he undertakes and his energetic leadership has found ready response among the Patrons of Delaware.

"Few people can understand how he keeps his extensive farm duties going and at the same time devotes so many hours to the Granges of Delaware. He was elected at the state session in December and early in 1928 a state conference of lecturers under his direction was very successful, while it was largely through his energetic efforts that a good delegation of Delaware lecturers went to the Middle-Atlantic conference and a very proud state lecturer who was able to bring back to Delaware first prize on the singing contest. He loves the Grange, considers no sacrifice too great to make for it, and is planning many worth-while projects for the Delaware Patrons to tackle later on.

"The fact must not be overlooked that side by side with the Delaware state lecturer walks his faithful wife, nee Helen Bancroft, mother of three bright, hustling little boys. She, too, a graduate of the agricultural college at the University of Delaware, a very capable young woman, a splendid mother and an efficient home maker. Moreover she is quite a farmer herself and manages her herd of Jersey cattle in a manner to be proud of. When peaches and apples are "on" whom does one find presiding over the entire work of the packing house but Mrs. Thomas herself—a picture indeed with her fair complexion, rosy cheeks—the kind God gives to the happy, contented girls of Kent County—blue eyes, and a bounty of flaxen hair coiled gracefully at the nape of her neck. Her boyish shirt is thrown open at the neck, giving her the appearance of ease and comfort; and instead of cumbersome skirts she dons her comfortable knickers and finishes her costume with a pair of broad-soled, low-heeled shoes, in which she goes forth with the firm step of one who dares not risk a misstep. An enthusiastic farmer and a genuine homemaker—no wonder State Lecturer Thomas succeeds in whatever he undertakes!"

WEED TREES

What is a "weed tree"? According to the Forest Service of the United States Department of Agriculture, weed trees are the less desirable trees growing in a farm woodland or other timber stand. They are the trees, which, when compared to others in the stand, promise the least return in terms of dollars and cents. In the northeast, blue beech, iron wood, and occasionally red maple are usually classed as weed trees, while in the South scrub pine is included in the list. Each region has its own weed trees. The most satisfactory way for the woodland owner to decide between "weed" and "crop" trees is to remove the dead and dying trees, the trees overshadowed by larger trees, and those of such inferior form that it is evident they cannot produce valuable sawlogs.

3 GRID TEAMS WORKING AT H. S.

Coach Gillespie Has Picked Two Squads And Is Optimistic Over This Showing

With three full teams out for practice, football prospects at the Newark High School are rapidly rounding into shape. Coach Gillespie has elected two teams, to match against each other in scrimmage. With a number of experienced men in both the line and the backfield, and with some heavy candidates reporting for the first time, the Coach is optimistic in his hopes for the season.

The tentative line-up for the first squad is: Ford, center; Schwartz and Surratt, guards; McDowell, tackles; Sommermeier and Rittenhouse, ends; Captain Frank Mayer, fullback; "Rip" Smith, quarterback; Barrow and McCully, halfbacks.

The second squad lineup is as follows: Dean, center; West and Campbell, guards; Benson and Johnson, tackles; Willis and Widdoes, ends; Jackson, M. Coverdale, Johnston and Vanoy in the backfield.

The first backfield is playing with the second line in scrimmage. The first team line-up which may be shifted and changed, gives a good balance of weight on both sides. Smith and Mayer, in the backfield are both tried performers and are showing extra power and speed this fall. Both boys have taken on extra weight, and should be hard to stop. Mayer shows particular improvement in all departments of the game, and should more than uphold the football traditions of the family.

The school authorities are trying to schedule an early season game.

NEED BETTER HIGHWAYS TO REDUCE ACCIDENTS

A signboard ten feet square with the big lettered words "Danger—Sharp Curve" clearly outlined against a background of black and white stripes in plain view along a highway in Iowa. Two people were recently placed in a hospital because they didn't see that warning, states E. E. Duffy, Delaware Automobile Association, Eleventh and West streets, Wilmington.

This merely illustrates that in automobile accident prevention, chief consideration must be given to the human equation, personal element, or whatever name can be applied to human frailty.

State records show that 65 per cent or more of motor car accidents may be attributed to car operators and that a tenth to a third of the mishaps are due to the negligence of pedestrians.

Automobile accidents are increasing, taking the country as a whole. Car usage is growing for two reasons: 5,000 cars are added to those present every day, and better roads and the tendency towards motorization lead to more intensive use of every motor car.

Much can be done, of course, to cut down the human factor in accidents, yet there is this, too, to be considered. Highway facilities must be constructed that will reduce to a minimum the possibility of human error in driving cars.

Automobiles capable of high speeds are without doubt here to stay, unless some faster means of transportation is created. Laws cannot train man to be a better judge of speed or distance and so long as inadequate highway facilities exist car accidents will occur.

Fortunately, for most safe highway facilities there is a dollars and cents justification. Highway grade separations, whereby one road or street passes over another at intersections, compensate for their cost where traffic is heavy. Pedestrian tunnels, which permit foot traffic to pass safely and speedily under busy thoroughfares, also are economically feasible. The same is true of railroad crossing separations, of double-decked highways, of wide streets and roads.

Twenty-seven thousand people are yearly dying in car accidents. That is too many.

EDUCATION IN OIL

The past decade has witnessed the adoption by many colleges and universities of oil education as an important feature of their curricula. It is perfectly natural that any industry as vast as the petroleum industry, with its marked influence on the world at large and upon a considerable portion of its population, should command attention educationally.

Our schools have wisely decided to provide the student, in most instances, solely with a background; only where conditions are ideal for it do they undertake to teach him the practical phases of the business. In offering the student instruction in the basic principles of petroleum and permitting him to gain his actual experience in the field itself, our educational institutions intelligently realize their mission and serve the industry well.

ZIEGLER NAMED U. D. GRID COACH

Put In Full Charge By Director Rothrock; Candidates Slow In Reporting

At special meetings of the Athletic Council and the Athletic Governing Board of the University of Delaware, held last week, "Gus" Ziegler, all-American line man some years ago at Pennsylvania, and a former line coach at Penn., was appointed to the coaching staff for this season. The additional funds necessary for the addition of Ziegler to the staff of the University were raised by the Alumni Association. Joseph Rothrock, director of physical education at the University, has put Ziegler in full charge of the football squad.

Coach Ziegler said yesterday that he would not put the men in heavy togs and start scrimmage until late next week. Practice in the meantime will consist of formation drills, passing, kicking, and in conditioning the squad.

Candidates are slow in reporting, and there were only 17 out for practice, yesterday. The backfield positions are fairly well taken care of by veteran players, and the main problem will be to build a line of more or less green material. However, there are a number of hefty candidates in the freshman contingent, who have starring high school records, and with the varsity veterans, who are expected to be in uniform, the line prospects are not discouraging.

Among the candidates who have reported are Oscar Morris and Vincent Mayer, both Newark High School boys. Morris, a sophomore, was in the line-up last year and seems pretty sure of being in the first string backfield. Mayer, a freshman, has caught Coach Ziegler's eye as a prospect for end. In discussing Mayer, Coach Ziegler said that he was fast and rugged, and handled himself well.

YO-YO, A NEW NOVELTY

The yo-yo has crossed the Mississippi! Twirling tops of an elusive simplicity are working their way East. Los Angeles and San Francisco, Denver and Dallas have yo-yoed, and now New Orleans, the first city east of the Mississippi River to take up the yo-yo fad, is watching or taking part in half a dozen tournaments.

Boy friends walk their dates in yo-yo rhythm, with the brightly colored little wooden spheroids bumping the pavement; policemen direct traffic between yo-yo counts.

What is a yo-yo? The name is said to be of Philippine origin and to mean "comeback." The thing itself is a brightly colored wooden top, about two and one-half inches in diameter, a pressed-in sphere, with a grooved middle about which there is twirled a string of plain cord, not elastic, approximately a yard long. The yo-yo performer, looping the free end of the string about the middle finger, with adept jerks jumps his yo-yo up and down the string.

Once he has broken the endurance record, which is 121,111 consecutive spins, made by a lad from Texas, the performer can start on tricks. He may throw the yo-yo straight out; twirl it back-hand; make it walk; swing it around his neck and above his head. The variations are endless.

Yo-yo's historic background is shrouded in mystery. The classicists made reference to an oft-debated Virgilian simile; just last week a New Orleans woman unearthed a curiously similar device which her grandfather brought from Paris.

The modern yo-yo is two years old. Pedro Flores, a bus boy in a Santa Barbara hotel, whittled out a balanced spheroid, which he twirled on a bit of string when the bell caption was not looking. The guests saw. The bus boy found his income augmented by orders for the incredibly simple toy. He bought a wooden lathe. Today he has two factories in Los Angeles.

BRYANT'S LONG ISLAND HOME KEPT AS A SHRINE

The dedication of a few days ago by the Massachusetts Historical Society of the birthplace of William Cullen Bryant at Cummington, Mass., in the presence of ex-President Coolidge and Mrs. Coolidge, draws attention to the fact that within twenty-five miles of Times Square is the home in which Bryant lived and wrote for the greater part of his life. It is Cedarvale, at Roslyn, on the north shore of Long Island, now preserved as a shrine of American poetry. Not only that, but in the country cemetery at North Roslyn the poet himself rests.

Few more beautiful spots can be found on Long Island than Cedarvale. Bryant's grandson, Harold Godwin, who occupies the homestead, has kept the house as it was when occupied by the poet. There is the old library, with the worn volumes, many of them priceless.

The homestead at Roslyn is situated upon the waters of Hempstead Harbor. There are tall trees on the dikes between the harbor and the mill pool of the place. There are rustic bridges, rare old wisteria vines and sloping lawns. In many of his writings the spirit of the Roslyn homestead breathes through Bryant's words. But, although much time has passed, nothing has changed at Cedarvale since the days of the passing of the poet.

The Handicraft of Patchwork Once More Sweeps the Country

There passed away in the time of King Solomon an Egyptian queen who was so well beloved that her hand-maidens devoted many months to the making of a funeral tent that would best her station. It was made of thousands of tiny pieces of gossamer hide, stitched together. Women have made patchwork from that day to this, the present "patchwork wave" sweeping the country being proof that the art loses none of its virtue with the passing of time.

Down the ages women have satisfied a desire for expression in creating patterns, and also meeting a need, in the patching and making of quilts. There hugs the ceiling today in many a cabin home in Missouri and the South a quilting frame that is a century or more old. It was customary in the early days to suspend it there when not in use and to let it down on the backs of four chairs when a quilt was ready for the frame.

The women in those days were intensely devout, expressing their love for the Bible in patterns called by such eloquent names as Heaven's Gate, the Star of Jerusalem, Robbing Peter to Pay Paul and Tree of Paradise. The patches were made of cloth of their own spinning and weaving and colored with dyes made of herbs. The colors were never in the soft shades of today. Blue was an uncompromising blue, red was red and purple was purple. With patterns angular in outline, these pioneers were the originators of the futuristic in art and did not know it. The diamond, the shell and the rose were favorite patterns for quilting, and the quilting bee was an event that brought women with their babies and thimbles from miles around.

A STEP AHEAD

The telephone industry must always be a step ahead of our civilization. Fulfilling the needs of the present, it must be ready and prepared to meet the still greater demands of the future.

In all phases of modern life, whether in closing a gigantic business deal, or in ordering a pound of meat from the butcher, the telephone performs a necessary service. It has been a major factor in adding to the comfort and prosperity of the nation, and in assisting our domestic and industrial development.

BANK HOLD-UPS INCREASE

Although bank hold-ups have shown a steady increase in recent years, the number having risen from 133 in 1921 to 292 in 1928, bank burglaries have decreased. There were 220 bank burglaries in 1921, 98 in 1925 and only 70 last year. The figures were compiled by the American Bankers' Association.

THE GREAT SAFETY MOVEMENT

The annual Safety Congress is to be held in Chicago from September 30 to October 4. With an expected attendance of 7000, it will be the greatest world gathering ever formed in the interest of accident prevention and conservation of life.

Three hundred and fifty-four safety authorities will address those present, and a total of 125 sessions, a condensed university course in public, home and industrial safety, will be held. The past, present and future of the subject will be discussed in all its phases to prepare for intensive work during the coming year.

The importance of this Congress, and the work it signifies, cannot be over-estimated. If the United States has a crying need today, it is for safety knowledge and a safety consciousness on the part of the public. The terrible toll of accidents in the home and in industry, and because of automobiles, must be lessened.

Many of the best minds today are working toward an ideal of safety.

Carelessness, incompetence, ignorance—in these three words is contained the whole problem of safety. There are few unavoidable accidents. Practically every sudden death means that someone has failed in his duty, or has proven himself unfit, or has lacked necessary precautionary knowledge.

It is a commendable endeavor to direct the public toward sound ideas of safety, and the least the public can do is to follow, for purely selfish personal reasons, if none other.

RUBBER ANIMALS FOR SWIMMERS

Until a few years ago, youngsters learning to swim used water wings—white ovals which were air-filled and kept the tyro afloat. Then inner tubes of automobile tires were put in use, for not only were they more buoyant, but were capable of supporting greater weights. Now, however, while the tubes are still in use they have been replaced to a great extent by rubber animals, in the shapes of giraffes, elephants, fish, camels and others. The animals are usually legless.

The rubber for these animals is imported in large balls.

A TWO BILLION DOLLAR ROBBERY

A statistician for a large insurance company recently estimated that Americans lose at least $2,000,000,000 a year through fraudulent investment schemes.

Thousands of our citizens are defrauded of their life savings because they fail to take the simplest precautions necessary to successful investing.

The lure of tremendous returns and glittering prospects is an almost "sure" bait for any otherwise intelligent people. They succumb without resistance to the blandishments of the high-pressure salesmen of questionable stocks.

There is but one safeguard against this—knowledge. Few people understand the ramifications of modern finance. The great body of investors must depend on advice.

In America we have a great number of responsible brokers and investment bankers whose business and pleasure it is to discuss with investors securities listed on exacting stock exchanges in leading financial centers.

Investment keeps the wheels of modern industry in motion. But the intelligent citizen, investing money outside his own business buys on the advice of established brokers or bankers.

ANCIENT BANK NOTES

Chinese chroniclers relate that bank-notes were current in China as early as 2697 B. C., under the name of "flying money." One preserved in the Asiatic Museum at Leningrad dates from the year 1399 B. C., and bears the name of the imperial bank, date and number of issue, and the signature of a mandarin. It also contains a list of the punishments inflicted for forgery of notes.

NATIONAL GRANGE WILL CONVEY IN SEATTLE

Few more impressive conventions of any sort will be held in the United States during 1929 than the 63rd annual session of the National Grange which is to convene at Seattle, Washington, November 13, to continue 10 days. Upwards of 30 different states will be represented, including all those on the Atlantic Coast from Maine to North Carolina, as well as every Pacific Coast state and practically an unbroken chain across the continent as far south as West Virginia, Kentucky and Oklahoma. An attendance of several thousand Grange members is certain and a class in excess of 3,000 candidates is expected for the Seventh Degree, the highest which the Grange confers and available only once a year at the national session.

Seattle is selected as this year's meeting-place because of the exceptional Grange growth the past five years in the Pacific Coast States of Washington, Oregon, Idaho and California. This year Washington and Oregon lead all the states of the nation in Grange organization and membership increase, it being nip and tuck between these two states which shall be ahead in both these directions when the Grange books are closed at midnight on September 30th. In few other sections of the country also is the Grange organization more influential in public affairs than in these great states of the Pacific Coast and some of the most progressive legislation that has ever gone upon their statute books has resulted from Grange initiative; while similar effectiveness has been demonstrated by the organization in its capacity to check proposed legislation deemed inimical to the interests of agriculture and the rural people.

Many important projects of public nature will come before the Seattle gathering of Grange people and the pronouncements of the session will be keenly awaited by the nation as a whole. Among these matters will be those pertaining to agriculture, education, transportation, taxation and public utilities, and in all these directions the Grange will speak its voice very distinctly. The policies enacted at a National Grange session are in turn carried back to the different states, and so far as there applicable are made the basis for a state legislative program which is often very effective.

The year's reports of Grange affairs as they will be given at Seattle will show a substantial net gain in membership for the year, an increased treasury balance, a long list of new organizations comprising nearly every Grange state and a condition of general Grange prosperity greater than in any previous year for more than a quarter century. The membership of this big farm fraternity is rapidly approaching the million mark, all dues paid, with a treasury adequate to finance its nation-wide activities.

MAKING A FOUNDATION DRESS PATTERN

"Making a foundation dress pattern is the program that is being given to the Home Demonstration groups of New Castle County for August," says Kate Henley Daugherty, County Home Demonstration Agent.

The home makers bring to the meetings a commercial pattern and are given full instructions of how to alter their patterns to fit them by Mrs. Helen McKinley, State Leader for Home Demonstration Work. After the pattern has been checked and the needed changes made, a foundation pattern is then cut from unbleached muslin; it is basted up and tried on the model for a final fitting, making any changes necessary to insure a perfect fit.

Mrs. Daugherty says that once a woman has a pattern that fits her perfectly, she will be able to make her clothes with much more ease. She further states that a foundation or guide pattern is helpful to one whether she does her own sewing or hires it done, for if she is able to give to her dressmaker a perfectly fitting pattern, it will not necessitate so many trips to the dressmaker for fittings.

Mrs. McKinley and Mrs. Daugherty have met this week with the Home Demonstration Clubs at Middletown, Glasgow, Port Penn and Hockessin. Next week similar meetings will be held on Tuesday afternoon, September 17, at the home of Mrs. Wilson Keiser, at Taylor's Bridge, Wednesday afternoon, September 18, at Mrs. P. W. Spence's, Christiansa, and Thursday afternoon, September 19, at the State Road Chapel at State Road. These meetings are open to all interested home makers.

SNAKE-KILLING MONGOOSE A PLAGUE TO PORTO RICO

Harrison Heckman of Augusta, Me., a field representative of the Red Cross, who has spent much time in Porto Rico, says the island has a problem: How to get rid of its mongooses. Not so long ago boa-constrictors thrived there, interfering greatly with the work of the coffee and sugar plantations. They also killed men and beasts. Even the natives hesitated to venture into the forests. So a shipment of mongooses was obtained from Asia.

Because of their fecundity only males were procured. These went about their business very thoroughly and systematically. In a few years they had cleared the island of most of the boa-constrictors. But they crossed with native rats and have multiplied to such an extent that they are devastating crops. How to get rid of them is a serious problem.

When a mongoose meets a boa-constrictor it takes up a position directly in front of it and apparently makes up faces. The snake, in its ignorance, thinking it is going to have an extra large rat for dinner, immediately throws out its poison. The mongooses, anticipating this, side-steps.

When the enraged serpent has emptied its poison sack the killer sits on his head, obtaining a firm hold with its teeth. The frenzied serpent makes a terrific struggle but in the end has to give up, exhausted.

POWER PLUS

Our modern industrial age is the result of scientific and engineering achievement. The test-tube and the turbine are symbols of progress and prosperity.

We command a mechanical power capacity equal to that of 700,000,000 horses, or 5,600,000,000 human slaves. Such statistics are too stupendous for the average imagination. But they are brought home to every citizen by the modern factory, the railroads, electricity in the home and business, the network of wires that cover the nation.

Since 1900 our machine horsepower has increased 1100 per cent, while population has increased but 50 per cent. It was a period of dynamic change in which new ideas inflamed the world, new theories were tried and new methods substituted for old.

The possibilities of the machine in influencing the economic and social life of the masses are too touched. This century marks the starting point of a civilization that makes the ancient dreams of Utopia seem puny.

Ability in a man is knowledge which emanates from divine light.—Zoroaster.

Will Store 125 Boats For Winter

MARINE CONSTRUCTION COMPLETES STOREROOM

The sale of a 26-foot open model Chris-Craft to the Raegem Securities Company of which J. E. Manter is the president was reported last week by the Marine Construction Company at the foot of Commerce street Wilmington. This boat will be used on the Chesapeake Bay.

The Chris-Craft tender for the "Nakhoda" 236-foot yacht for Fred Fischer recently launched at the Pusey and Jones Company is due to arrive this week and will be delivered immediately.

Arrangements are being made at the yard of the company for the storage of 125 boats this fall and winter. None are scheduled to arrive, however, until about October 1, and others, if the weather remains favorable, will not come here until the middle or even the latter part of October.

The Marine Construction Company has had a very fine season and employees of the company are now overhauling the yard and buildings in preparation for further activities. A new addition to the plant is a large storeroom 80 by 20 feet in which parts for Chris-Craft and other yachts will be kept.

WILL PRINT 5,000

TILE CATALOGUES

During the past week, Cann Brothers and Kindig, printers and stationers, of Twelfth and Washington streets, received the contract for printing 5,000 copies of a tile catalogue for a firm in the State of Tennessee. Each will be of 48 pages, in full colors. Cann Brothers and Kindig have been making quite a specialty of this sort of printing, have won favor with many tile manufacturers as the result of the splendid souvenir program issued in connection with the annual convention.

Besides, the company will print 100,000 broadsides and mailing cards for a large corporation, and has also received an order to print 20,000 booklets on life insurance trust, for a concern in Wilmington. They will be of twelve pages and cover.

BEST LOCK HAS UNIQUE POSITION IN INDUSTRY

Best Locks occupy a unique position in the lock industry employing as they do the pin-tumbler structure—one of the oldest structures known to the art of lock making. The ancient Egyptians used such a form 4,000 years ago and this form may still be seen in crude form on the streets of Cairo.

This structure was brought up to the height of modern lock building by Linus Yale, Jr., during the Civil War and enjoyed the distinction of the super-lock, so to speak, for approximately 60 years, or until the advent of the Best lock in very recent years.

When the original Yale patents expired, about 40 years ago, other lock companies began making pin-tumbler locks, so that today practically every lock company makes a pin-tumbler lock for their better and more secure locks.

No major improvement had been made to this pin-tumbler structure in all these years until Mr. Best brought out his lock. He adopted this structure, the original patents having expired, as the most flexible and secure, and built into it added features—the lock controlled assembly, or lock core. This contains the combination, and may be removed from the lock by a special private key for the purpose of changing the combination—a feature which gives the user a controllable and renewable security with a con-

HAMMOND MOTORS SHOWROOM

The above is a picture of the showrooms of the Hammond Motors at 37th and Market streets, Wilmington. The company has made improvements to the right of the building which is being used as a used car lot. The Viking and Oldsmobile are sold by Hammond, and during the past year have broken all records for sales in this territory.

VENIENCE NEVER BEFORE OFFERED BY ANY LOCK

The user of Best locks enjoys the privilege of a well defined and organized system of locks—not just a lock or group of locks. Added to this privilege is the pleasure of carrying but one key, which will admit him to all of the Best locks to which he has right of entry, but no other.

NEW ORANGE CRUSH PROVES POPULAR DRINK

Recently put on the market, the new Golden Orange Crush, bottled by H. A. Mundorff and Son, Thirtieth and Market streets, Wilmington, is rapidly winning favor, and meeting with many sales. The most gratifying feature has been the number of repeat orders received. This new beverage is made of fresh fruit and it is put up at the Wilmington bottling plant.

Canadian Club Ginger Ale, which is bottled and distributed by the Mundorff company, is also showing an increase in sales. A refreshing and healthful drink, it is being bought, in many instances, by the case, and is a regular adornment to the dinner table.

FALL CONFECTIONS AT HARRY KENYON, INC.

The coming of cooler weather has resulted in the arrival at Harry Kenyon, Inc., wholesale tobacconist and confectioner, of 203 Market street, Wilmington, of fall and winter candies. During the summer, these confections, which are chiefly chocolates and other kinds susceptible to the heat, are discontinued. At the beginning of the cooler weather, a complete, fresh line is purchased. The tobacco business is showing a substantial increase and indications point to a record business this month.

ELECTRICITY IN AGRICULTURE

The use of electricity on the farm is expanding rapidly. On January 1, 1924, electric service from high power lines was applied to 175,000 farms; on January 1, 1927, 325,000, and on January 1, 1929, 500,000. It is estimated that at the present time practically 1,000,000 farmers in the United States are using electricity. Of this number about 500,000 have individual plants.

The development of rural electrification is yet in its infancy. There are about 6,500,000 farms in the United States. Electricity should be used on all of them. The farmers, constituting one-fourth of the country's population, use only one-fifty-second of the electrical energy consumed in the United States. The average per capita consumption of electricity in the United States is 580 kilowatt-hours. The average per capita consumption on all farms is only 49.

More attention is being given to supplying farmers with electricity at a cheaper price than ever before. Farmers are using electricity for more purposes each year. They are beginning to realize the part that electricity can play in developing better conditions on the farm. The rapid development of rural electrification is highly desirable.

WOMEN NOTICE CAR NOISES

Generally speaking, women are more susceptible to noise than men. Nowhere is this better illustrated than in the automobile. In the days when the motor car was largely a mechanism for masculine operation and enjoyment, very little attention was paid to the eliminating of squeaks, rattles, grinding noises, vibrations and the crashing, clanking sounds that emanated from the chassis and bodies
