Cannery Swamped As Tomato Harvest Reaches Its Peak

Growers Realizing From 10 to 14
Tons Per Acre in Greatest Year
This Section Has Seen; Rush Will End This Week at Local Plant

NEWARK PRODUCT BEST IN PHILA.

All day long and far into the night the stream of tomatoes comes rolling into the plant of the United Packing Company here. The crop from nearby fields has already broken all existing records for the community; yet the rush has just reached its height.

It was reported from the plant last night that 20,000 baskets of tomatoes were piled in the yard yesterday and five wagon loads remained in line at the scales when tired workers left their posts. The red wave started in earnest Monday morning and is due to continue until the end of the week, according to H. R. Cole, manager of the plant.

Getting Record Yields

Inquiry yesterday revealed the fact that the average yield this year will be from 10 to 14 tons to the acre. Last year, a 6 to 8 tons was considered a good return. The tomatoes are coming from within a fifteen mile radius of Newark and are being hauled here by both the growers themselves and a fleet of trucks under contract. They are of a uniformly high grade, some say, the finest seen here in many years.

The cannery here has been working night and day for the past week to keep up with the influx of stock. By Monday morning the yard was clear. Then came the biggest rush of all. Thirty-five loaded trucks and wagons were counted in the lane waiting at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon.

All tomatoes are coming from growers under contract with the United Packing Company. Needless to say, they are enjoying top market prices, based on future sales made months ago. Their associates who took to the open market for disposal of the crop were caught in the bumper crop this year and are losing heavily. Throughout the lower part of the state, tomatoes are being left to rot in the fields as the market hovers around 4 cents a basket. In canning centers through Dorchester and Talbot counties over in Maryland, the price ranges from 10 to 12 cents. From every angle, the farmer-stockholders here are getting by far the best of the deal this season.

It was reported from Philadelphia brokers yesterday that the United Packing Company tomato pulp packed this season was the best that had reached that city so far.

INJURED IN CLASS SCRAP

Walter A. Blackwell, Jr., Suffers
Fractured Collar Bone

While milling about in the spectacular Freshman-Sophomore battle on Main street Monday night, Walter A. Blackwell, Jr., of Newark, a Freshman at the University, suffered a fractured collar bone. When he was injured, he was assisted from the fracas and went to his home. The fracture was not discovered until several hours later.

Tomatoes, red and ripe, were the most favored ammunition during the struggle; with that delightful form of combat at hand, many townspeople, upper classmen and visitors took to tossing the fruit, thus complicating the issue. The battle, however, was adjudged a draw, since many Freshmen had previously been deposited in sundry outlying hills and dunes and left to walk home.

Young Blackwell's injury was the only serious one reported, though several more were painfully bruised.

Hold Corn Roast

The men of Baraca Auxiliary of the Presbyterian Church entertained the women of the class and friends last evening at a corn and hot dog roast at the Red Men's Home. Over seventy-five people attended.

FINAL BAND CONCERT

The Minnehaha Band will wind up its series of outdoor concerts on the Academy lawn next Friday evening. The efforts of the bandmen have been uniformly appreciated by good crowds during the past two months. Friday evening's program follows:

March—"A Sure Shot," H. C. Miller.
Fox Trot—"Arcady," A. Sciaccio.
Overture—"Woodland," Duston Luters.
Waltz—"On the Blue Lagoon," Rudolph Friml.
Fox Trot—"Somebody Stole My Girl," Leo Wood.
Serenade—"Twilight Memories," C. L. Barnhouse.
Medley Overture—"Plantation Gems," E. Walston.
Serenade—"Fond Hearts," F. D. Rathburn.
Characteristic Waltz—"Belles of Seville," J. Bodewalt Lampe.
March—"Colonel Roosevelt," O. R. Farrar.

MULE'S NAP TURNS TO PERMANENT SLEEP

Last Waking Hours, However, Upholds Tradition of His Breed by Overtaking Truck.

You never exactly know what a mule will do in any given situation. It was ever thus.

Witness, then, an occurrence along the State road near Summit Bridge just before dawn Monday morning:

A Huber Baking Company truck piloted by Edwin Robinson, of Wilmington, was hurrying to down state towns with fragrant newly baked bread. A swerve, a crash and an instant later Robinson lay stunned and bruised in the cab of his overturned truck.

Glass from the windows of the cab cut Robinson about the face and hands, but he managed to make his way to a nearby farm house where he summoned help. Mr. Robinson was removed to his home and Dr. J. Paul Lukens treated him for his injuries. His condition is not considered serious. According to Robinson, he discovered a mule lying in the road when he was a short distance from it. The animal arose and started across the highway. Suddenly it turned and before the machine could be stopped it hit the animal.

The mule was killed outright. The car driven by Mr. Robinson was badly damaged.

ELSMERE BOY MISSING

Parents of Edward Bowers Offer Reward For Information

Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Bowers, of Elsmere, have offered a large reward to anyone who can give them information about their 13-year-old son, Edward T. Bowers, who disappeared from his home on August 17. The boy is thought to have run away because he feared punishment from his father, after it had been discovered that he had played truant from a piano lesson and spent the money intended for the music teacher.

The parents believe that the boy is working on a farm and is afraid to play the part of the prodigal because he fears he might be placed in the Ferris Industrial School. However, the mother and father are extremely anxious to have him home, and in offering the reward, have announced that they will forget what the boy had done.

Series Of Petty Burglaries Here Last Week; R. R. Station And Two Home Reported Entered

Three petty robberies were reported during the latter part of last week, it was learned Monday. The offices of the B. and O. Railroad at Main street and Elkton road, were entered Friday night. Robert S. Gallagher, station master, reported that no valuables were taken, although a suitcase belonging to a patron was rifled.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. George Jackson, further down Elkton road, was relieved of $10.00 in cash a few days ago. The house was entered, it is understood, in broad daylight, while Mrs. Jackson was in the garden in the rear. No trace of the burglar was found. About the same time, it is reported that the home of Frank Godwin, a few hundred yards away, was similarly entered and robbed of about $20.00.

Negro Killed By Speeding Freight At Station Here

Unable To Locate Family Of Joseph Brown, Victim Of Accident Monday Night; Intoxication Contributing Cause, Is Report

Stepping from the east bound platform of the B. and O. railroad station here about 9.30 Monday evening, Joseph Brown, Negro, aged 25 years, was struck and instantly killed by a speeding freight train.

While no direct witnesses to the accident were present, the watchman at the Main street crossing noticed parts of a suitcase dangling from the pilot of the locomotive as it sped by. He immediately went over to investigate. Meanwhile Ott Widdoes noticed Brown's body huddled down between the east bound track and the guard fence. He summoned help and had the body removed to rooms of Deputy Coroner Jones. Brown suffered a fractured skull and several broken bones.

Brown is said to have bought a ticket for Baltimore earlier in the evening, then disappeared. When he returned, the crossing watchman said, he was evidently worse the wear from too much liquor. It is supposed Brown was fumbling with the gate opposite the station in order to get to the west bound waiting room when the train bore down on him.

The dead man was a farm hand employed by David S. Shock, near Salem Church, and is believed to have come here from North Carolina. No trace of relatives have been uncovered by Mr. Jones. The body will be interred in a local colored cemetery.

REMOVE CROSSING GATES

Supplant Them With System Of Lights, Is B. and O. Plan

The troublesome set of safety gates at the Main street crossing of the B. and O. Railroad here will be removed in a few days, according to R. S. Gallagher, station master here. They will be supplanted by a system of red lights placed at strategic points at the crossing and so equipped that they will give pedestrians and motorists full warning of an oncoming train. Two crossing watchmen will be employed night and day to supplement the cause of safety at this dangerous point.

The action will be welcomed by townspeople, it is understood. In recent months several tragedies have been narrowly averted by the inefficiency of the present gate system.

MARKET TRUCK HIT

Manlove McMullen and Family Shaken Up In Crash Here

While proceeding to market early Saturday morning, a truck driven by Manlove McMullen, of near Appleton, was struck and badly damaged by a big Studebaker which, witnesses say, shot out onto Main street from South College avenue at a high rate of speed.

Mr. McMullen, his wife and mother were in the truck at the time. All escaped serious injury but were badly shaken up. The name of the driver of the Studebaker was not procured in the excitement. McMullen's machine was damaged so badly it had to be removed to a local garage.

CONVOCATION OPENS UNIVERSITY TODAY 275 FRESHMEN ENROLLED IN TWO COLLEGES

Many Additions on Staffs of Both Colleges; Are Announced by President

SEVERAL PROMOTIONS FACULTY CHANGES HERE

Dr. Hullahen, in the course of his announcements this afternoon gave the following list of promotions, replacements, and additions to the faculties of both colleges:

The President said that a total of 142 Freshmen had enrolled in the Women's College, and 133 in Delaware College, with registration in the latter institution not finally completed. The probable student enrollment in all classes will range between 650 and 700 this year.

Physics

Dr. George Porter Paine, to be Professor of Physics, continuing as Chairman of the Department.

Economics

Claude L. Benner, Doctor of Philosophy, University of Michigan, to be Professor of Economics and Business succeeding Professor O. J. Merrell, resigned. Dr. Benner comes to the University from the Institute of Economics at Washington, D. C. He will devote part of his time to research in Economics as a member of the Experiment Station Staff under provisions of the Purnell Act.

Herluf V. Olsen, Bachelor of Arts, Dartmouth, graduate student University of Copenhagen, graduate student University of Chicago, will assist Dr. Benner as Instructor in Economics and Business. Mr. Olsen comes from the University of Chicago where he has just completed the resident requirements for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy.

Modern Language

Edwin Colby Byam, Master of Arts, Harvard University, graduate student at the Sorbonne, Paris, to be Associate Professor of Modern Languages. Professor Byam for the past two years has been a member of the Modern Language staff of Carnegie Institute of Technology.

Education

In the Department of Education, Miss Rena Allen, Assistant Professor in 1924-25, to be Associate Professor. Miss Alice Van de Voort, Master of Arts, Columbia University, to be an Associate Professor in the Department of Education, succeeding Miss Eckman, resigned. Miss Van de Voort's last work was at State College, Bozeman, Montana.

Miss Emma Charlotte Ehlers, Master of Arts, Columbia University, to be Assistant Professor in the Department of Education. Miss Ehlers spent last session as graduate student at Columbia University.

History

James A. Barkley, A. M., Union University, for several years Head of the Department of History at the Wilmington High School and last year special lecturer in the School of Education, to be Associate Professor of History and Government.

Physical Education in Delaware College

Frank M. Forstburg, S. B., Franklin and Marshall, in recent years Director of Physical Education, Lower Merion High School, to be Associate Professor of Physical Education, replacing W. J. McAvoy, resigned.

Charles C. Meyers, Ph. B., Brown University, to be Instructor in Physical Education.

Physical Education in the Women's College

Miss Beatrice Hartshorn, A. B., Syracuse University, formerly Instructor, Northern State Normal School, Michigan, to be Instructor in Physical Education.

Military Science and Tactics

Captain Kenneth S. Whittemore, United States Army, Assistant Professor in the Department of Military Science and Tactics, succeeding Captain Roy Sparks, resigned. Captain Whittemore's ability and interest in basketball encourages the hope that he will become a voluntary member of the Department of Physical Education. (Continued on Page 4.)

$85,000 GIFT FROM SCHOOL AUXILIARY ASSURES BUILDING

It was announced here yesterday morning by President Hullahen that the Delaware School Auxiliary Association has extended the sum of $50,000 as a direct gift to the University in order to make possible the erection of a suitable dining hall on the Women's College Campus. The sum asked of the Legislature and subsequently appropriated ($75,000) was found far from adequate for the building, as it would provide seating facilities for less than half the student body.

An additional $35,000 has been given by the School Auxiliary for a new heating unit in the University plant to connect it with the Women's College buildings. These announcements were officially made this afternoon at Convocation.

Dr. J. H. Odell Speaker as College Families Convene for Another Year

COLD SNAP CUTS DOWN CROWD AT EXERCISES

The University officially opened its doors for the 1925-26 term at 3 o'clock this afternoon in Wolf Hall on Delaware avenue, where the annual Convocation exercises were held.

A last minute change in plans took the ceremonies from Old College campus, the customary site. A raw east wind, accompanied at noon by a light rain, made it inadvisable, in the minds of officials, to hold the exercises in the open.

The traditional academic procession of Trustees, faculty and students marched to Wolf Hall shortly before the program began. Many visitors were kept away from the Convocation by the threatening weather.

Following the invocation and President's announcements, Dr. Joseph H. Odell, director of the Service Citizens of Delaware, was introduced as speaker of the day.

The following degrees were conferred by Dr. Hullahen: Bachelor of Science, Charles E. Green; Women's College—Bachelor of Arts, Emma Knowles; Bachelor of Science, Mfr-iam W. Carl and Dorothy W. Le-ferre; Bachelor of Science in Home Economics, Sara M. Hatfield.

President Hullahen spoke of the many reasons the University had for optimism and for especial encouragement in the outlook for the session just opening.

The increase in the teaching and research staffs made possible by the last State appropriation and the passage of the Purnell Act by Congress.

The designation of Delaware College as a Distinguished Military College for the third time in three successive years; an honor which we esteem highly more because it reflects the spirit of the student body and its determination to do well whatever it has to do than for the honor itself.

The expected early beginning of work on the new dormitory at the Women's College provided for by State appropriation. Bids on this building will be opened October 6 and work begun immediately thereafter.

Several Gifts

Several other fine gifts have been received by the University from individuals during the summer:

Two prizes of $25 each in the Department of German, secured through the efforts of Prof. Saleski, will be offered for competition this session and hereafter.

A painting by the Delaware artist, Rodgers, depicting a scene in historic New Castle, has been presented the University by Mr. Henry B. Thompson, President of the Board of Trustees.

Another painting, a portrait of John Bassett Moore, America's representative on the World Court, whom Delaware is proud to number among her sons, will be presented to the University at some time in the near future by the Hon. Willard Saulsbury. The portrait is the work of the artist, Leo Mielziner, of New York, who painted the portrait recently presented to Columbia University where Judge Moore was formerly a lecturer on International Law.

A valuable collection of books from the library of the late Gen. James H. Wilson has been given to the University Library by his daughter, Mrs. Henry B. Thompson. This collection of 110 volumes will constitute an important addition to our reference library on the subject of the Civil War. Gen. Wilson was himself a distinguished commander in the Civil War in the United States Army and later contributed many articles to the history and military analysis of that great struggle.

A gift of $1200 a year for six years from a friend of the University as a subsidy to the Department of Economics and Business.

Newark Sends Many To Delaware This Year

Seventeen Young People Have Entered As Freshmen This Week; More May Follow Shortly; Two Go Out Of State

Newark helped swell the Freshman enrollment at the University this week by sending its largest delegation of boys and girls to Delaware in many years. Seventeen have entered in the two colleges here for the first year. Several more may be included before the registration is finally ended.

Those who have entered the Women's College are: Ruth Vinsinger, Rosalie Steel, Catherine Townsend, Blanche Malcom, Margaret Seelye, Erica Grohenn, Agnes Frazer, Elizabeth Milliken and Mildred Thompson. With the exception of the first three girls, all are graduates of Newark High School.

The local High School sent an imposing delegation to college halls this year. Those entered so far are Justin Steel, Horace Patchell, Martin Doordan, Walter Blackwell, Charles Owens, William Rupp, William H. Hayes, Jr., and Albert Clark.

Two Go Outside

As far as can be learned two Newark girls are entering outside colleges this fall. They are Miss Louise Hullahen, who has matriculated at Vassar, and Miss Charlotte Hossinger, who will enter a college for the training of kindergarten teachers in Washington, D. C. Several young people are entering Wilmington business schools and preparatory schools nearby. Miss Rebecca Cann will re-enter Friends School; James Thompson has gone to Perkiomen along with Amos Davis. Penrose Wilson will enter Roanoke College in Virginia for the ensuing term.

NEWARK BOYS SHINE

Sergeants Sheaffer and Sullivan Win Medals At Camp Perry

The rifle team representing the Delaware National Guard placed twenty-third in team competition at Camp Perry last week, in a field of some eighty-eight competing outfits, it was learned upon the return Monday of Sergeants Richard Sheaffer and John Sullivan, Newark members of the State team.

Sergeant Sullivan placed fifth on his team and Sergeant Sheaffer was right behind him in sixth place. Both guardsmen received handsome medals for their excellent shooting on the various ranges. The Delaware team's record this year was one of the best that has been shown in recent years. Both Sheaffer and Sullivan report a most enjoyable trip.

Improvements

J. W. Suddard and Son have been busy for the past three weeks culling their poultry flocks, cleaning and disinfecting houses and equipping their plant with electricity.

NEWARK, PAST AND PRESENT

A Series Of Sketches, Written In 1882 By James L. Valandigham, Jr., Of The Old Delaware Ledger, In Collaboration With Egbert Handy, And Released For Publication In Serial Form By The Newark Post.

ORDERS AND SOCIETIES
MASONS

Very early in the history of Newark we find evidences of the existence of the Masonic Fraternity in the community. In 1789, in the minutes of the trustees of Newark Academy, is recorded the application of members of that order, for permission to hold lodge meetings in the academy building. For many years their meetings were held in the house now occupied by Mr. G. W. Colmery, opposite to Dr. Alexander Lowber's drug store. It is said they were accustomed to come in large numbers from all around, many on horseback. For some reason or other, however, the interest in the Lodge gradually died out, its members died off, and for several years no meetings were held of the order until the re-organization, of which we shall presently speak.

Up to 1805 the lodge of Masons here was known as Lodge No. 96, and was attached to the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania. After 1805 it was known as Hiram Lodge, No. 3, and connected with the Grand Lodge of Delaware; it retained this name and number until it went out of existence. The present lodge retains the name Hiram, but is now numbered 25.

On December 14th, 1869, Hiram Lodge, No. 25, A. F. A. M., was organized.

The first officers and members were:

W. M., Rev. John France; Sr. War., Mr. Walter E. Turner; Jr. War., Prof. E. D. Porter; Treas., Mr. J. Watson Evans; Sec., Mr. George W. Williams.

The officers of the lodge for 1882 are:

W. M., S. M. Donnell; Sr. W., M. H. Barton; Jr. W., L. L. Allen; Treas., John C. Shivelier, Sect., David L. Choate.

PAST MASTERS: Rev. John France, Chas. C. King, And'w J. Hossinger, Geo. W. Williams, Dr. H. G. M. Kollock, H. W. Zimmerman, Walter E. Turner, John Pilling, Chas. C. Heisler, Geo. W. Simmons.

THE ODD FELLOWS

The first lodge of Odd Fellows (I. O. O. F.) in this village was instituted February 11th, 1847.

The charter members were: Robert Fulton, Robert E. Bayne, A. C. Alexander, John Hamilton and Hiram Austin. In 1850 a handsome hall was built, which is still occupied and owned by the order. The lodge is known as Oriental Lodge, No. 12, I. O. O. F. Its present membership is eighty-six, and the officers are:

N. G., Hudson Wakefield; V. G., Allen McEllwee; R. S., John A. Mullen; P. S., George W. Williams; Treasurer, William H. Simpers; Janitor, James Jefferis.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS

The Knights of Pythias were organized on the 5th day of June, 1868.

The charter members were:

Charles C. King, Benj. Highfield, Jas. C. Smith, Wm. A. Woodrow, Jas. C. Mackey, William McFadden, John J. Herdman, Elias Cole, Rathmell W. Rambo, Andrew J. Orr, John H. Hill, Robert J. Murphey, John C. Shivelier, Alex. R. Shaw, William Drake, John Rambo.

The present officers are:

C. C., T. B. McKinsey; V. C., Nathan Davis; Prelate, George Dougherty; M. of E., John C. Shivelier; M. of F., Andrew J. Orr; K. of R. & S., B. H. Bryson; M. at A., T. J. Cole.

HORSES NEARING END ON TRAIL IN AMERICA

Experts See Hope However of Shortage of Animals With Subsequent Price Boost.

Statistics seem to indicate that the automobile, the tractor and the truck are gradually bringing the American horse to the verge of race suicide.

According to figures compiled by the Chicago Tribune there are now 17,500,000 horses in the United States while in 1918 there were as many as 21,500,000. Not only this, but the number of mules has decreased ten per cent since 1920 and the average age of horses and mules now in existence is greater than formerly. Forty-three per cent of all horses on the farms are ten years of age or older, while but eleven per cent are under four years of age. This shows that colt production has dropped off, and it is said that only about one half as many were foaled in 1924 as in 1918.

But the decline in number has not increased the value per head. For the average value of horses has dropped from $97 five years ago to $63 at the present time. In Missouri are only 793,000 horses as against 906,000 a year ago and the average value per head is but $46. In Kansas four years ago there were a million horses. Now the number has dropped to 850,000.

The general decline in the number and value of horses is blamed on the gasoline motor. All experts, however, do not regard the situation as pessimistic from the standpoint of the horse. Some authorities believe that the country is on the verge of a horse shortage and that higher prices will prevail within the next few years.

The automobile seems to have supplanted old Dobbin to a considerable

When Care Comes Too Late

(From the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin)

"A wave of the hand, a kiss blown on the breeze—from the sweetest little pal in all the world.

"I stood for some moments watching her, a chubby little figure in blue and white, an extremely important little person on her way to school.

"And then she turned the corner.

"It must have been 4 o'clock—my mind has been sort of deadened since—that the boss sent for me. 'Bob,' said he, laying his hand on my shoulder, 'there's been an accident and you'd better hurry up to the house.'

"Well, there isn't much more to tell. That little pal of mine—she wasn't at the window watching for me as usual. For an instant I faltered, it just seemed as though something within me went dead, and I had to fight for breath.

"In a little time I went out to the gate, just as I had that very morning. And I looked down the street as best I could. Right over there, a short block away, was where she turned the corner—and passed forever out of my life.

"Today it was my little girl. Tomorrow, or next day, it will be some other little pal quite as dear. And so on, and on, until the conscience of men shall cry a halt to this passion for fast driving in localities where danger, obvious danger, stares drivers plumb in the eye."

Fred W. Johnson, Director, Managing Citizens Safety Committee.

One of the early botanical explorers of the New World flora makes frequent allusion to the pink lady's slipper in the eastern part of the United States. The beauty of the plant made so strong an appeal to Indians, says Nature Magazine of Washington, the flowers were used as hair ornaments and played an important part in certain ceremonial dances. Throughout the vast territory in which the lady's slipper so long held sway, but a comparatively few patches have survived.

Elkton Merchants Plan Dollar Day For Next Month

Music Week Celebrated In Methodist Episcopal Church Sunday; Passenger Bus Destroyed; Other News Of The Week

The Elkton Chamber of Commerce resumed its monthly meetings last week. It was decided to hold a Dollar Day in Elkton some time in October. A committee was appointed to consider and report on the matter of offering prizes to students of the Elkton High School again this year.

"Music Week" was observed in the Elkton Methodist Episcopal Church Sunday night, in charge of the Epworth League, under the direction of Miss Grace Anderson. Special features of the observance were presented by Miss Anderson in outlining the poetry and making the application of the musical notes in each hymn; with the assistance of the organist, the choir, violin and cornet, which made a very impressive service.

The September term of the Circuit Court for Cecil County convened in Elkton on Monday. Jesse T. Cameron, of Rising Sun, was named foreman of the Grand Jury.

A 30-passenger bus of the Eastern Shore Transit Co., operated between Chestertown and Elkton, caught fire Friday between Galena and Cecilton, and was completely destroyed. At the time there was no one in the bus but the driver.

Snow's Battery of the Civil War will hold its annual meeting on October 3 at Perryville. Due to a small number of surviving members, this may be the last meeting of this famous old battery.

In our report on the death of George Karl last week, we omitted the name of Mrs. Chadwick Potts, of Wilmington, a sister of the deceased.

The Chesapeake City firemen's carnival, which closed last Saturday night, netted the fire company about $3500.

Alvin Wilkins, colored, at a hearing before Justice Scotten last week, was sentenced to two years in the House of Correction on a charge of assault and battery on William Freeman, also colored. It will be remembered that Wilkins hit Freeman over the head with a baseball bat at a ball game at Leslie a few weeks ago.

MERMAID

At the regular meeting of Harmony Grange Monday night, a season's fertilizer order was dispatched. It was announced that the seed order had been received and was ready for individual delivery. A letter was read from the state master regarding the transfer of members of dormant granges to those in active service.

During the lecturer's hour, the following program was given: Reading, Sara Pennington; Reading, Ralph Klair; story, Emilie Mitchell; harmonica solos, Lloyd Porter.

Sara Kelly was reported to be in a hospital where she is doing as well as can be expected.

Following the program a treat of ice cream in cones was furnished the members.

S. BOOTH GETS CAR AT CHESAPEAKE CITY

Mixup Occurs When Many Thought Elkton Woman Held Lucky Number.

Mr. S. Booth, a member of the staff of the Elkton Supply Co., at Main and Bridge streets, won the Chevrolet sedan awarded by the Chesapeake City Fire Company at the close of their carnival last Saturday night.

When the winning number was announced, many in the crowd heard it as "Mrs. S. Booth of Elkton." Consequently, Mrs. Susie Booth, a well-known resident, was showered by congratulations all day Sunday despite her protests that there must be some mistake. Finally she managed to convince her friends that she had no ticket on the car and certainly could not be the winner. Mr. Booth was thereupon uncovered and presented with the prize.

Pleasant Hill

E. H. Rubencane, Misses Sara Pennington, Carolyn Peach and Walker Pennington motored to Millersville, Pa., to visit Miss Helen Pennington over Sunday.

A Business Man's Constitution

America's Greatest Document Discussed From A New And Practical Angle By Robert H. Richards, Wilmington Attorney

"There is nothing that can be measured in terms of money that is a more valuable business asset to any American business man than the Federal Constitution," said Robert H. Richards, well-known Wilmington lawyer in an address before the Kiwanis Club last week.

"Every American business man should enter the Constitution of the United States on the asset side of his ledger as one of his most important business assets. It cannot be measured there in terms of money because it belongs equally to all American business men and it is only those possessions that are susceptible of exclusive ownership that can support pecuniary valuation on a business balance sheet. Nevertheless, there is nothing that can be measured in terms of money that is a more valuable business asset to any American business man than the Federal Constitution."

"Addresses on the Constitution usually consist of generalities laudatory of the political machinery created by that instrument for the Government of the American people and the preservation of certain liberties which, at the time of the adoption of the Constitution, were sharply photographed on the consciousness of the people. These liberties have been preserved and have been constantly enjoyed until now we, of the fifth generation since the adoption of the Constitution, have come to look upon them as rights that inhere in the essential nature of civilized society and of which it is inconceivable that we could be deprived regardless of the character of our political institutions."

"Consequently this sort of portrayal of the Constitution no longer makes any effective appeal to our people and I attribute to this sort of constitutional education the lethargic indifference with which the present generation has permitted amendments to the Constitution, by general default of opposition, that change in some respects, its fundamental character, without any good or sufficient reasons for such changes."

Why Capital?

"The first necessity of the business man is capital. Without it, either his own or some one else's, he is no longer a business man but laborer. The United States is a capitalistic country. Its economic structure is based on recognition of capital. There is no substantial group of people in the country that would have it otherwise. This is so because there has never been a great nation in history where the wealth of the country is so widely distributed among the people as in the United States."

"That the United States has grown to be the richest nation the world has ever known and that this wealth is more generally distributed among the people than in any other nation the world has known are due to the Federal Constitution, which was designed to attain just such results. If this is true, it must be realized that the Constitution is the greatest economic success the world has known and is at the same time the greatest business asset the American business man possesses."

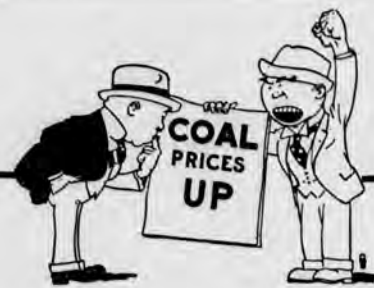

"The language of the Constitution is legalistic. It betrays but little of its economic character. It is cold, formal and severe. It places no property qualifications on voters or officers; it gives no outward recognition of any economic groups in society; it mentions no special privileges to be conferred upon any class. It is necessary to get outside the document itself and study the correspondence and the newspapers of the period, and debates of the convention that drafted it and of the state conventions that ratified it, the Federalist and other contemporary writings, to discover its real economic character."

Madison's Economics

"The underlying political science of the Constitution is stated by Madison in the tenth number of the Federalist. Here he lays down, in no uncertain language, the principle that the first and elemental concern of every government is economic. He states the first object of government to be the protection of 'the diversity in the faculties of men from which the rights of property originate.' He says that the chief business of government 'consists in the control and adjustment of conflicting economic interests.' He finds the most common source of factions in government to have been 'the various and unequal distribution of property.' He realizes that the theories of government which men entertain are emotional reactions to their property interests, that unequal distribution of property into an overbearing majority which will sacrifice the rights of the minority. 'To secure the public good,' he declares, 'and private rights against the danger of such a faction and at the same time preserve the spirit and form of popular government is the great object to which our inquiries are directed.' Recognizing that contending classes cannot be eliminated and that their interests are bound to be reflected in politics, he finds that the solution of the problem 'lies in making it difficult for enough contending interests to fuse into a majority and in balancing one over

Two Corrections

Due to an error in last week's Post, the name of Charles H. Horn was omitted as author of the article, "The Spirit of The Light Speaks To Delaware." The omission is regretted since Mr. Horn has been instrumental in awakening the public to the dangerous condition of the old Henlopen beacon.

In the same edition, David Medill was reported as the manager of the old Aetna baseball team, whose picture and accompanying story created more than usual interest last week. The picture was that of Frank Steel and not Mr. Medill. The author of the article neglected to definitely establish the identity of the gentleman in question. Mr. Steel, who died recently, was an active booster of the team and contributed to much of its success.

Nation's School Pupils Show Naive Minds; "Read The Papers? Oh Yes, The Funny Parts"

"Ma" Ferguson, Governor of Texas, is identified in the minds of some American school students as President of Mexico and also as Babe Ruth. Teapot Dome is thought by other students to be a building in Washington, and still others confuse Mussolini with Battling Siki, Al Johnson and Billy Sunday.

According to an Associated Press dispatch from New York, these were among the surprising answers given by American high school, college and university students in the annual tests on current history conducted by the Review of Reviews, the results of which were made public today. The survey was based on the examination papers of 1650 students scattered throughout the country. The dispatch contains:

It was found that no particular section of the country stood out markedly above the average in the knowledge of current affairs. Eleven per cent of the students failed to recognize the photograph of President Coolidge, only 42 per cent knew the name of the inventor of wireless telegraphy, only one of four could identify a reaper and a tractor—even when it was given a setting of a grain field.

Some of the students placed Muscile Shoals in Italy, others placed it in the Pacific Ocean. One youth was convinced that the United States had purchased Japan.

"The question may well be raised," the report said, "whether we are supplementing the headline reading, the picture newspaper, the picture supplement and the movie news with serious study in the classroom to an adequate degree."

"Too frequently the question: 'Do you enjoy reading the newspapers and magazines?' was answered frankly, 'Oh, yes, the funny parts.'"

Rural, urban and metropolitan communities were covered by the report. The general average of the 1650 test papers was 43 per cent, although many schools which made low percentage did not forward their papers. One senior high school returned papers only 14 per cent correct.

Three Billions Spent By American Vacationists During Past Summer; Figure Breaks All Records

(By National Press)

The vacation cost of the citizens of the United States for 1925 reaches the enormous figure of three billion dollars in cash. These figures, obtained from the best available records, give one an idea of how approximately thirty million persons took time off from their daily labors to play.

The Interstate Commerce Commission received monthly reports from the railroads throughout the country and these reports indicated that passenger traffic during this summer was considerably above the average of previous years. These reports indicated that the transcontinental travel was particularly heavy and that reservations for berths in Pullman cars were hard to obtain unless spoken for some time in advance. The great national parks, California and Florida, were visited by larger throngs this year than ever before, while the summer resorts on both the Atlantic and Pacific coasts have enjoyed a more prosperous season than even the most optimistic hotel keeper expected.

In addition to the summer resorts on the coasts and the mountain play places, the tourist camps for automobilists all over the nation were filled to overflowing. It is estimated that more people took long motor trips than ever before.

The amount of money, three billion dollars mentioned, is derived from striking an average of two weeks' wages and salaries of the people who took their vacations. Wages and salaries of this amount would indicate that the hard times predicted by political adversaries of the administration not only failed of fulfillment, but strongly emphasized the fact that the United States leads in general prosperity. Europe can boast of no such figures.

CLUB MEETS TOMORROW

Pleasant Valley Organizing Work For Year

The next regular meeting of the Pleasant Valley Community Club, near Newark, will be held on Thursday evening, September 24, 1925.

The officers for the coming year were elected at the last meeting of the Club in May. The new President, Mrs. William C. Schwartz, will be in the chair and will take charge of the meeting.

At this meeting work for the 1925-26 session of the Club will be mapped out and put into effect as soon as possible.

The members of the Club are contemplating giving several plays during the coming winter and other social functions to bring the financial standpoint of the Club to the best possible rating of any year since it was organized.

The Secretary of the Club will be Mrs. Martha Taylor, the new teacher of the school.

LAWS MAY BE CHANGED

Grange In Pennsylvania Demands Relief For Farmers

In Pennsylvania the farmers are massing their energies for a change in present game laws, which so fully protect deer that farmers' crops, orchards and gardens are being fearfully devastated, with great money loss. In some counties the farmers declare they will be forced to abandon agriculture altogether unless some means can be found to combat the deer damage as the latter animals are multiplying so rapidly and are becoming so bold under legal protection that farming is utterly unprofitable. The Grange is demanding that the coming legislature take some steps to protect the farmers from this needless loss. Several prominent farmers are declaring that unless the present law is changed they will kill deer and permit their action to be made a test case whether the present deer protective law is valid.

D. A. Cornbrooks, Of Stanton, Elected To Head Association For Ensuing Year; Ministers From Several Churches Speak To Delegates

SEVERAL RESOLUTIONS PASSED

One hundred and fifty-two delegates from ten or eleven churches in the hundred attend the twenty-eighth annual meeting of the Mill Creek Hundred Sunday School Association in Ebenezer M. E. Church several miles from Newark, last Thursday. This attendance was especially encouraging to the Sunday school work—unusual interest was presented.

Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, D. A. Cornbrooks, of Stanton; vice-president, Nathaniel Richards, of White Clay Creek Church; secretary, Mrs. Calvin Talley, and treasurer, Mrs. Edward Murray. The annual meeting next year will be held at Stanton M. E. Church.

A. T. Buckingham, the retiring president of the association, presided at the meeting and Mrs. John Kirk was secretary. The opening devotional exercises were led by the Rev. Charles W. Moore, of the Marshallton M. E. Church. The address of welcome was made by the Rev. Gilbert T. Gehman, pastor of Ebenezer Church and the response was by Mr. Moore. Music was furnished by the Marshallton and Ebenezer M. E. Church choirs. The reports of the hundred secretary and treasurer were presented and the roll call of delegates showed 152 present.

At the morning session an address on the work of the primary department was made by Miss Emile Mitchell, of Hockessin Friends Meeting and one on the work of the Junior department by the Rev. E. A. Rich, rector of St. James' Episcopal Church, Stanton. The benediction was by the Rev. J. D. Blake, pastor at Red Clay Creek Presbyterian Church. During the noon recess luncheon was served in the basement of the church by the women of Ebenezer.

At the afternoon session the song service was led by W. H. Wilmont, of Marshallton and the devotional exercises were led by the Revs. J. L. Irvine, of White Clay Creek Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Mr. Blake and the Rev. Mr. Gehman.

Mrs. Ida Eastburn sang a solo at the afternoon session. Addresses were made on the work of the senior department by the Rev. Mr. Irvine; on the adult department by the Rev. Mr. Blake and on the home department by the Rev. Mr. Moore. Music by the choir followed the latter address after which the Rev. S. A. Lindhorst, director of religious education for the Wilmington M. E.

GRANGERS TO FIGHT DAYLIGHT SAVING

Massachusetts Organization Steps Out In First Attack On Custom.

Farmers and rural people in every part of the United States it is reported are interested in the significant Grange move made by that organization in Massachusetts, where the State Grange has brought suit in the United States Circuit Court to restrain the officials of that Commonwealth from enforcing any more so-called "Daylight Saving," as opposed to Standard Time. The defendants named in the suit are the attorney general of the state, the secretary of state, and the state treasurer and the commissioner of education.

It is the purpose of the Massachusetts State Grange to push this interesting suit through to the limit and finally to the Supreme Court of the United States, to determine whether any state has a right—or any town within a state—to set up a time standard other than that fixed for national use under the zone system adopted by Congress years ago and commonly known as Standard Time; Massachusetts is the only state with a Daylight Saving statute, though in several other commonwealths "Daylight Saving" is permitted by local referendums.

The outcome of this unique suit which the Grange in Massachusetts has brought will be awaited with national interest for if there is a final decision by the United States Supreme Court the latter will be effective over the country as a whole and will settle for all time the legality of so-called "Daylight Saving," whose legal status has always been the subject of much controversy.

Dog Finds Self Long Way From Home

According to reports late last week, Miss Helen Ryan, of Laramie, Wyoming, has written to a resident of Cecil county telling of having found an Airedale dog with a Cecil county license No. 1069 on its collar. She is trying to locate the owner of the dog. It is thought that the dog accompanied some resident of the county in an automobile trip through the west and in some manner got lost from the owner in or near Laramie.

LOWER COUNTY HIT BY STEALING WAVE

New Castle Hundred Farmers Get Special Deputy Sheriff For Protection.

In an effort to put a stop to the numerous thefts of vegetables, corn and poultry in New Castle hundred Sheriff W. N. Lank was authorized by Levy Court Tuesday to appoint a special extra deputy for night patrol duty in the vicinity of the hundred where the thefts have taken place. It was stated that the depredations have been especially prevalent during the past few weeks.

The residents, mostly farmers, have been guarding their property and caught one negro and a white man, but in both instances the thieves were released by their captors, because the owner of the goods apparently feared to prosecute.

The robberies have continued and early last week a negro was shot in the legs by a farmer, whose corn was being husked and loaded into a wagon to be removed.

Conference gave an interesting talk on "The Place of the Rural Church School."

The Revs. Charles W. Moore and John D. Blake and W. H. Wingate composed the committee on resolutions who reported several resolutions to the meeting which were adopted. One of these recommended "due consideration for new methods in harmony with scripture truth that will interest and hold the attention of our Sunday school membership."

Another resolution commended the Mill Creek Sunday School Association for its noted increase in membership and requested that each school renew its efforts to have an increase in the membership and work.

Resolutions were also adopted thanking the trustees, pastor, and women members of Ebenezer Church for their hospitality and also thanking the choir and the speakers.

The benediction was pronounced by the Rev. Mr. Irvine.

Old Barrett's Chapel Scene Of Gathering

Thousands From Peninsula Visit Early Methodist Church Last Sunday; 145th Anniversary

All roads seemed to lead to Frederica last Sunday. Thousands of Delawareans and Marylanders made this village their mecca where stands old Barrett's Chapel, 145 years old, called by many "The cradle of Methodism in America."

From as far south as Cambridge, Hurlock, and Salisbury and from Wilmington, Baltimore, and points in Jersey, the caravans of autos came to the shady old church yard for the anniversary program.

The speaker of the day was Rev. Harvey W. Ewing, of Newark, a member of the M. E. Conference, and well known throughout the peninsula. His audience comprised one of the largest and most varied seen in rural churches of the state for many years. Many of the visitors were ministers. Rev. C. W. Spry, pastor of the old chapel, had charge of the program. Special music was also a feature of the services.

The fame of old Barrett's Chapel, which has been visited by thousands of Delawareans upon the occasions of past anniversaries, is not by any means confined within the borders of our state. The little brick meeting house is known throughout the country as one of the three oldest Methodist Churches in America, and frequently tourists from far-distant states have made special trips here to visit the church and sit within its aged and battle-scarred walls, for when the little chapel was first erected there were hostile Indians roaming in the Delaware forests, and even today the marks of more than one encounter can be seen near the loopholes from which the early worshippers protected themselves from Indian attacks.

It was built from bricks brought over from England. It was the custom at that time to ship produce and other agricultural articles from the colonies to the mother country. On the return trips the sailing vessels loaded bricks in their holds for ballast; it was bricks hauled for this purpose from which the old church was built. The interior of the church remains as it did almost a century and a half ago.

Barrett's Chapel is easily accessible by auto. There is ample parking room for machines near the structure. It is located on the old state road, between the towns of Magnolia and Frederica, one mile from the latter.

Barrett's is termed the "Cradle of Methodism" in America because it was at this historic old structure on November 4, 1784, that Bishop Thomas Coke sent by Rev. John Wesley, met Rev. Francis Asbury and it resulted in the organization of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

BARN BURNER GIVEN 15 MONTHS IN JAIL

Confessed to Fire Which Destroyed Perkins Buildings Near Here; Must Pay $16,000.

Charles Newcomb 63-year-old farm worker, pleaded guilty before Judge Rice at the "Plead Guilty Day" session of General Sessions Court to a charge of burning a barn on the farm of John Perkins, White Clay Creek hundred, on May 31, "because Perkins owed him two months' wages and would not pay him."

Judge Rice sentenced him to fifteen months' imprisonment and ordered him to pay $16,000 restitution, twice the loss incurred by the fire, which totally destroyed the barn and contents. The defendant confessed to his act after his arrest.

Edward S. Cannon represented Newcomb and pleaded for a parole, pointing out that his client is crippled and had never before been in trouble.

Judge Rice, in imposing sentence, said he was taking into consideration the man's condition and also the enormity of the crime.

Where Delaware Men Are Always Welcome

WITH the opening of the University for another term, we extend a cordial invitation to the members of the student body to drop in at Snellenburg's when in Wilmington. Let this big store show you the friendly interest, the helpful service it has shown hundreds of Delaware men in the past.

College men who come here to buy their clothes do so for one reason alone—they know from experience that whatever we sell them must pass our rigid test of quality and style before it can find a place in our store.

FEATURING one extensive selection, we are now showing the new, smart styles in Suits and Topcoats—the fresh patterns, the new weaves. Among the Suits you will find the wedge-shaped coat with broad shoulders, tapering waistline and snug hips, in all the popular color tones and designs. In Topcoats we show the tubular, Chesterfield and guard models. Truly here is a bountiful collection of handsome and serviceable garments at an amazingly low price.

EXCHANGE RURAL LOTS

The Levy Court yesterday adopted a resolution providing for an exchange of two plots of land, one owned by the county and another owned by St. James' P. E. Church, near Stanton.

The first, which contains 4,000 square feet, adjoins the church and the other now belonging to the church contains 407 square feet, both along the highway. This removes a traffic menace and gives the county the use of a section of land that extended into the highway.

OBITUARY

Benjamin R. Lee

An active career at Salem M. E. Church at Cooch's Bridge was terminated with the death of Benjamin R. Lee, aged 75 years, who died at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Cannon, Wilmington, September 13, 1925. Mr. Lee was one of the oldest members of that church, where he had belonged since the age of 14. Death was the result of sarcoma, with which he had been ill for a year and a half and bedfast for the last two weeks. He was born in Mill Creek hundred, but early in life moved to Cooch's Bridge, where he farmed until his retirement twelve years ago. Since that time, he had not done anything except for two years, when he was caretaker and gardener at Sunnybrook Cottage. Mr. Lee was a member of the A. O. U. W., and the Junior O. U. A. M. of Newark. However, his greatest interest was in church work. In his church he had been steward, trustee, and had held various other offices. Since his retirement he had been making his home with his daughter, and had been attending Brandywine M. E. Church. The funeral was held from her home last Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. W. Ernest Greenfield, pastor of Brandywine M. E. Church, officiated. He was assisted by Rev. Thomas Pardee, pastor of Salem M. E. Church. Several selections were sung by Mr. and Mrs.

Harry W. Davis, and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel H. Pippin. The pallbearers were: J. Irvin Dayett, Harry W. Davis, William W. Cannon, Jacob Enders, George France Alderson and George B. Baylis, all friends. Burial was in the Salem M. E. churchyard. Mr. Lee's wife who was, before her marriage, Mary W. Craig, died 14 years ago. Besides the daughter mentioned, deceased is survived by one son, Joseph W. Lee, Philadelphia; three brothers, James F. Lee, Wilmington; John W. Lee, Camden, N. J., and Andrew T. Lee, Strickersville, Pa., and one sister, Mrs. George E. Groves, Wilmington. There are also two grandchildren.—Sunday Star.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

Public notice is hereby given that The Trustees of the University of Delaware will meet at the office of the Delaware School Auxiliary Association, Room No. 4116 du Pont Building, Wilmington, Delaware, on October 6, 1925, at the hour of two o'clock in the afternoon, and then and there will receive and open sealed bids for furnishing labor and material to erect and complete a new Dormitory building to be located on the Campus of the Women's College in Newark, Delaware.

The work for which bids are hereby invited will consist of a fireproof building constructed of brick, concrete, reinforced concrete floor and a steel roof construction. The size of the building is two and three stories and part basement high, approximately 149 ft. front by 33 ft. deep.

Bids will be received for the erection complete of the entire building under one contract.

The Trustees of the University of Delaware reserve the right to reject any or all bids, to waive informalities and at their discretion to accept bids only made by individuals who are residents of Delaware, or made by corporations whose principal office and place of business is in Delaware. All bids shall hold good for 30 days after formal opening of some.

All bids must be in sealed envelopes addressed to The Trustees of the University of Delaware, Room No. 4116 du Pont Building, Wilmington, Delaware, endorsed Bid for New Dormitory, University of Delaware, with the name of the bidder.

No bid will be considered unless accompanied by a certified check to the order of The Trustees of the University of Delaware, to the amount of 5% of the amount of the bid or a bid bond of like amount binding the bidder to execute the contract if awarded him. The terms of the bid with surety required are fixed by the specifications.

Copies of the plans, specifications and bid forms will be on file in the offices of the Delaware School Auxiliary Association, Room No. 4116 du Pont Building, Wilmington, Delaware, for the purpose of examination and estimating.

There will be a limited number of copies of the plans and specifications which will be loaned to the prospective bidders on deposit of a certified check to the order of The Trustees of the University of Delaware, in the sum of $50.00. If plans and specifications are returned the check will be returned, but should the plans and specifications be not returned, the deposit may become forfeited.

Bureau Of Markets Reports Peaches Showed Big Decrease From Last Year; Tomatoes Glut On The Market

APPLE CROP BUMPER ONE

Reports from the shipping department of the Delaware Division of the Pennsylvania Railroad, Leon Stein, supervisor, show the shipments of apples from points on the Peninsula continue to be far in excess of those of last year.

Shipments of apples for the week ending Saturday, amounted to 66,586 baskets, as compared with 30,105 baskets in the corresponding week last year. Total shipments to date amount to 1,237,647 baskets, against 831,991 for the same period of 1924.

While apple shipments gained, peach shipments showed a decided decrease from last year. Only 84,098 baskets have been sent away to date this year, as compared with 434,879 baskets for the corresponding period last year.

Pear shipments show an increase. Last week there were 27,259 baskets shipped, with 27,232 as the number for the corresponding week of 1924. A total of 69,531 baskets has been sent away to date. At this time last year the total was 32,902.

The tomato crop is greater this season according to figures. Last week there were 15,588 baskets shipped, in comparison with 1,804 baskets in the corresponding week last year. A total of 24,615 baskets have been shipped up to the present, against 3,843 baskets for a similar period last year.

Only a slight increase is noted in cucumber shipments. The report shows 145,734 baskets shipped to date. For the corresponding period last year the number was 129,157.

B. & O. DETERMINED TO REDUCE ACCIDENTS

To Make Drive During Next Year for a 35 Per Cent Reduction in Injuries.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Safety Department will concentrate its efforts, during the next 12 months, in a campaign which the Safety Section of the American Railway Association has started to reduce the number of personal injuries to employees by 35 per cent by the end of the year 1930, or during the next five years at the rate of a seven per cent reduction a year.

The present campaign to prevent accidents among employees will stress two particular phases of the safety subject each month instead of emphasizing all the features, as has been the custom in previous accident prevention crusades. The two specific causes of accidents selected by safety officials will be given wide publicity among the employees by the use of large posters and bulletins conspicuously placed, calling attention to safe and unsafe practices and appealing to employees to guard life and limb, not only of themselves, but of others. Statistics will also be bulletined monthly showing the number of accidents to employees from railroad operations and with suggestions as to how to avoid being hurt similarly.

well as they do the other kind of gridiron game. All that is needed is some one to go ahead with the sport and it is believed there would soon be enough teams to form a league.

In this matter the athletic director of the State Board is disappointed. For several years the athletic supporters have been urging the engagement of such an instructor but there haven't been the finances to do so.

This year with an appropriation sufficient to engage such a man, all coaches who seem to meet the qualifications seem to have been engaged. Of course, it would be possible to engage some one to attempt to do the work, but Delaware wants a man that has had experience and these come higher than the amount set aside for the athletic director.

As the schedule is now made up there will be eight teams in the State seeking football honors. Newark has for several years topped the honors, but Laurel with a tremendous enrollment this fall and with some magnificent specimens of young manhood enrolled is rather enthusiastic about her chances. The boys have already started preliminary practice and with the opening game but three weeks off all of the teams have got to get busy and busy pretty quickly if they expect to have any chance at all.

Newark is not at all alarmed about the chance of losing out, but is not letting any grass grow under their feet in the meantime.

Delaware Squad Working Hard This Week; Heavy Line And Light Backfield Expected

Delaware's 1925 football squad got down to hard work Monday on Frazer Field in preparation for the first game with St. Joseph's on October 5th. Coaches Frostburg and Myers drove their charges up and down the field in an intensive signal practice most of the afternoon session. Three teams were in uniform. Later the linesmen were given charging practice and several sprints across the field to develop speed and get ability to get away fast. During this period Coach Myers had the backfield candidates getting used to the "feel" of the ball, passing, punting and receiving from center. Both coaches were right on the heels of their men every minute. There was little fooling.

The practice closed with a brief scrimmage, with particular attention paid to the defensive work of both lines. Several changes were made in the forward bulwarks. Offensive play was ragged, but the men appeared to be in excellent condition—a great help to any coach when the grind starts in earnest.

Captain Lou Kramer was in togs Monday, spending his time coaching the third team. The Varsity backfield lined up in signal drill with Weggenman, Wooten, Creamer and Ableman. Creamer called the signals. Patchell, Newark High backfield man, cavorted at halfback in the scrub lineup.

Freshmen candidates have not been lacking. Rose, Phillips, Bonsall, Hill, DiJoseph are all in the running for varsity berths. Freshmen candidates for the line are also giving seasoned veterans a run for their money. The list includes heavyweights who have also had experience: Angelo, Olandt, Reese, Glazen, Nobis, Maloney, Benson and others.

Bill Lohman, Torbert, Swezey, Cathart, Owens, McKelvey, Reybold, Barclay, Hanson and Beatty are fighting for line berths. Captain Kramer will soon be in togs and his reappearance in the Delaware Blue will materially strengthen the line situation. McKelvey will be out a week due to an injured shoulder. A rest will strengthen the strained muscles.

After preliminary drill Monday Coach Frostburg gathered his charges about him and delivered a spirited talk on training rules. He stressed the fact that condition is

COUNTY MEN NAMED AS CROP OBSERVERS

To Compile Monthly Reports
For Chicago Agricultural Foundation During Year.

Appointment of W. K. Betts, of Middletown, and Charles P. Dickey, of Stanton, as crop observers in New Castle county for the Sears-Roebuck Agriculture Foundation Index, is announced from Chicago by P. V. Ewing, director of research for the Foundation and editor of the Index. They will form a link in the nationwide chain of county agricultural observers elected because of their first-hand knowledge of farming conditions and their ability to observe these and intelligently interpret them.

The Index, to which the observers from this county will contribute, is a compilation of the monthly reports of 3,650 observers in every section of the country, and this number is being added to steadily. All the observers are practical, thinking, farm-minded men, each chosen because of the opportunities he has to observe the needs of agriculture in his own locality and for his ability to apply economic principles to current farm problems. As a group, they represent a cross-section of the thoughts that the man in the furrow is thinking, and their joint analysis of existing agricultural conditions, as expressed in the Index, is considered a forward step in helping agriculture help itself.

absolutely necessary to an athlete, specially one engaged in the strenuous game of football. In closing he said: "Do not cheat yourself or your college by breaking the training rules."

Holloway Urges Fire Prevention In State Schools

National Week To Be Observed From October 4th To 10th Next; Sends
Open Letter To Trustees And Pupils

Superintendent of Public Instruction H. V. Holloway this week dispatched a letter to every school trustee, teacher and principal in the state calling their attention to the observance of Fire Prevention Week in the school rooms. This nationwide observance takes place from October 4th to October 10th. Many schools are planning special programs in connection thereto. Mr. Holloway's letter in part reads as follows:

"According to the National Board of Fire Underwriters, fires occur in five American schools on the average every day. Fortunately, these are not all serious. The large number, however, indicates the necessity of careful inspection of school buildings and the removal of all fire hazards. Doors should be made to open outward; fire drills should be instituted; cellar rubbish should be removed, etc. Where windows are screened, at least one or more further from the exit should be so arranged as to permit of easy removal. Last year over 30 children in a one-room country school in Oklahoma lost their lives because of failure to observe this precaution.

"The loss of life and property on account of fire is so appalling in the United States that every effort is being made to decrease the same. This can be brought about only by the greatest care and by educating both children and adults in the proper methods of preventing fires.

"The Fire Prevention Bulletin issued by the Insurance Department of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, Washington, D. C., may be secured by teachers and pupils on application. It should be in every school of the State during the week of October 4th to 10th, which is known as Fire Prevention Week. The importance of giving instruction in fire prevention becomes apparent when we realize that 15,000 lives were lost last year due to fire, and property valued at more than $548,000,000 was burned. For this reason, this Department has no hesitation whatever in requesting the observance of this week, and in urging school trustees to perform the duties above suggested. We shall be very glad to have a report on any particular activity in the line of fire prevention that any teacher or trustee may feel inclined to make."

Glasgow Garage Changes Owners

Announcement has been made that the Mahan garage at the cross roads in Glasgow has changed hands. The new owner and manager is L. McElwee.

Mr. McElwee opened his shop for business yesterday and will continue to operate along the same general lines as his predecessor.

THE PLAYHOUSE

What promises to be one of the most delightful events of the local theatrical seasons arrives Friday, September 25th, when "Weak Sisters," a new comedy by Lynn Starling, author of "Meet the Wife," begins an engagement of two performances at the Playhouse, Wilmington. To those who had the good fortune to see "Meet the Wife," which was one of the most gorgeously funny comedies of recent seasons, the forthcoming engagement of "Weak Sisters" should promise a most hilarious evening for it is Mr. Starling's chief distinction as a playwright that he can make people laugh and laugh heartily.

In "Weak Sisters" Mr. Starling has strayed far from the beaten path of American comedy. In this new play he has treated daringly and yet with delicious humor the idea that "good" women and "bad" women have a good deal more in common than they would ever suspect. A title of the play is derived from a certain incident which brings a half dozen notorious women into the home of an ultra-respectable family. The effect of this startling meeting is both dramatic and highly amusing. Skillfully interwoven through a background of satirical comedy there runs a richly humorous love story which involves two delicious young kids as well as a couple of sophisticated old folks.

Jed Harris, producer of the play, has selected an especially fine cast for "Weak Sisters." Among a company of fifteen are to be found such popular players as Louise Galloway, Spring Byington, Beatrice Nichols, Carlotta Irwin, Minnie Stanley, Os-good Perkins, Harold Kinney and William T. Hayes.

There will be no matinee performance of "Weak Sisters," evening performance being scheduled for Friday and Saturday nights only.

A BUSINESS MAN'S CONSTITUTION

against another.' The machinery for doing this is created by the Constitution and by the Union. Public views are to be refined and enlarged by passing them through the medium of a chosen body of citizens.' The very size of the Union enables the inclusion of more interests so that the danger of an overbearing majority will not be so great. 'In the extent and proper structure of the Union, therefore,' says Madison, 'we behold a Republican remedy for the diseases most incident to Republican government.'

"It is consideration for the economic problems, alone, that was the basis of the original American conception of the balance of powers.

Urges Preservation

"The argument I make today is made to business men and is addressed solely to their business interest. A fish can only live in the water and has sense enough not to try to live on land.

"If it be true that the wonderful material prosperity of the people of the United States is due to the economic character of the Federal Constitution and that this document was deliberately designed to produce the economic results attained, is it not the part of wisdom and good business judgment for American business men to devote themselves as earnestly to the preservation of the Constitution, unimpaired in its economic effectiveness, as they do to the preservation of their business? Is it not folly for them to neglect to study the Constitution, at least as an economic document, so that when amendments are proposed they can form some judgment of their own upon the question whether such changes would or would not weaken the Constitution as an instrumentality for the advancement of the economic prosperity of the people of our country?

"No business man can afford to neglect it. Every business man should study it and should do his utmost to cause his employees, and other business men with whom he comes in contact, to do the same. It has its appeal to the employee, who is an incipient capitalist, just as it has to the business man himself.

"No charge to overhead can be justified on sounder economic principles than the costs of keeping one's employees, of all grades, supplied with copies of the Constitution and, indeed, of furnishing them instructions as to its economic character.

"There are other beauties and other purposes in the Constitution but I ignore them today and urge only that you intelligently study it as an economic document."

It has been determined that the purchase of Hammond, of the former resident of the Richards house, was the first step in the new automobile garage here.

Mr. Hammond's plan of building a new automobile garage here, to forty feet of street, believed he planned to tear down or move back in order to fire frontage for the Buick and Oldsmobiles of General Motors, handled by Mr. Hammond. These two cars were here by J. C. Van South College avenue. Vansant firm took over Oldsmobile and the local field cars.

Upon the completion of the new venture, New Castle County will have seven garages, agencies for eleven automobiles.

Comes From

The new purchase house, a large three-story building, came east recently from a man, where he was General Motors. He is native of Wilmington and his mother is understood to be now. The sale was through the Newark Deposit Company.

Plans are now being made for an early start. What other improvements Mr. Hammond has not as yet been decided.
