SUBSCRIPTION DRIVE GOES TO FINAL WEEK MONDAY

CAMPAIGN ENTRIES FINISH

Workers As Even Remain Contest

With a little over a week to go, the big subscription drive of The Newark Post is now on the home stretch. We find that after a little lull, which always comes in the second period of these campaigns, the excitement and interest is again coming to the fore as the workers realize that the closing day, the day when the prizes will be awarded, is almost here. Friends of the workers, friends of the paper, and the workers themselves are starting to give some really serious thought to the possible winning of that grand first prize, a prize that represents well over $700, a prize that is certainly worth some real hard work, time, and thought.

Miss Maybell Aiken takes a slight lead this week according to the credits published. From the standing as shown above, it is still anybody's race and it appears that the final week may be the deciding factor.

HELP YOUR FAVORITE NOW IF YOU WANT HER TO WIN. IN A FEW DAYS IT WILL BE TOO LATE.

FOOD TAXES ARE $40,404

Total Hidden In Local Sales Of $518,000, NCTC

Families in Newark pay an estimated $40,404 in hidden taxes annually through their purchases of food, a National Consumers Tax Commission survey showed this week.

"Nearly eight per cent of the total food bill represents shifted taxes buried in the price of every purchase," the report said. "These unseen levies, for example, take 11 per cent of butter costs, 6 1-2 per cent of bread costs, 10 1-2 per cent of sliced bacon, and 14 1-2 per cent of the cost of coffee."

The report was made public through Mrs. William H. Beaton of Wilmington, national committee member, who leads NCTC study groups in Delaware in the educational crusade against "unnecessary consumer-penalizing taxes."

Chief Offenders Listed

The report added: "Chief offenders, and those that fall most heavily on lower income families, are hidden taxes. These are levied originally against the producer, manufacturer, shipper, and distributor. Unable to absorb the load, each must pass on a share of its taxes and the consumer ultimately pays them, usually without knowing it."

The commission in whose non-partisan crusade groups in approximately 5,100 communities have launched tax study program, said the hidden tax figure does not include the many other hidden and direct taxes families have to pay.

The food tax estimate was computed from NCTC averages based on last available U. S. Bureau of the Census figures, which placed 1935 food sales in Newark at $518,000. Government estimates of total sales in the country last year approximate the total in the 1935 study, the NCTC said.

E 52 Players Open Tenth Dramatic Season Nov. 16

The E 52 Players of the University of Delaware will open their tenth dramatic season on November 16 with the presentation of Thornton Wilder's Pulitzer Prize-winning play, "Our Town," described by the New York Times as "one of the finest achievements of the current stage."

Jane Hastings and William K. Richardson are Newark students who will fill important roles in the cast which has been named this week following three tryouts. The unusually large number of candidates seeking roles, to exceed Dr. C. R. Kase, director, to extend tryouts over a greater period than usual.

Tulip Film To Be Shown Newark Garden Club

After the summer growing season, climaxed by the largest flower show in its history, the Newark Garden Club will resume its regular meetings on Oct. 28. At this special meeting in the Women's College Faculty Room, there will be a film showing the World's Fair tulip gardens, through the courtesy of the Holland Bulb Industry. Members and guests are invited to attend.

CHRISTMAS SEAL SHOWN

Sale In State Scheduled For Thanksgiving

Here is the first pre-view of the thirty-third annual Christmas Seal, which will be used in the campaign of the Delaware Anti-Tuberculosis Society, beginning Thanksgiving Week. Delaware's consignment of seals has already arrived and members of the staff of the Anti-Tuberculosis Society and volunteer workers are busy sorting out sheets and getting them ready to be mailed throughout the State of Delaware, according to Miss Emily P. Bissell, president of the society.

"Protect Your Home From Tuberculosis" is the theme of this year's campaign," said Miss Bissell. "As a symbol of that protection, Rockwell Kent, American artist, writer, and lecturer, who designed this year's Christmas Seal, has used an angel with outstretched arm."

Blue Background "Against a brilliant blue background, the double-barred cross, international symbol of the fight against tuberculosis, is prominently displayed."

Rockwell Kent was born in Tarrytown Heights, N. Y., in 1888, and has lived in Newfoundland, in Greenland, and in Alaska. Many of his pictures portray aspects of life among the Eskimos and the northern Indians. As a side-line he raises purebred Jersey cattle and Great Dane dogs at his farm in upper New York State.

Glasgow Baseball Club To Sponsor Card Party

A card party for the benefit of the Glasgow baseball club will be given Saturday evening at eight o'clock in the baseball club room, Leasure's Garage, Glasgow.

Regular Army Officers Praise Delaware Unit

Gun batteries, both three-inch and machine gun, of the 198th Coast Artillery, A. A., Delaware National Guard, showed a marked improvement in target practice during the encampment of the regiment at Bethany Beach in August.

A board of two regular army Coast Artillery Corps officers, in a report of the camp, said this week the "average score of the regiment was approximately 25 per cent greater than the 1938 scores."

Appointed by command of Maj. Gen. Hugh A. Drum, the board, consisting of Lieut.-Col. Harry W. Stark and Capt. Sylvan Berliner, both U. S. Army instructors with the Delaware National Guard, have completed the report recently.

Unwise Policy Claimed; Limits Upkeep, Charge

Improper or unwise financing, diversion of motor tax revenues, or any legislative effort which will unfairly limit the expenditures necessary to maintain Delaware highways adequately is a direct threat against 44.1 per cent of all Delaware communities, H. V. Daniels, secretary, Associated Petroleum Industries, declared yesterday.

"Delaware is in a most unusual position in regard to transportation facilities," Mr. Daniels said. "This state has 265 communities and 117 of them depend solely on motor transport and a soundly financed and properly maintained highway system. To these 117 thriving communities, highways are all-important and the only available transportation link with other communities. They must depend on these highways to bring in the multitude of items which they consume and use."

Use Same Highways

"They must also use the same highways to ship out their farm products, their manufactured goods, and raw materials. Merchants in these 117 communities are keenly alert as to their dependence on motor transport with its reliability, speed, and safety. They realize that any breakdown of highway facilities will partially isolate them, cut them off from deliveries, and generally cause heavy financial losses, to say nothing of the hardships that will be assumed by all citizens in these communities."

"Business, industrial and agricultural interests in these centers are gravely concerned over the highway situation in Delaware and united in a belief that certain legislation relating to highway finances passed at the last session of the legislature must be revised, readjusted, or repealed if their sole transportation system is to be maintained and needs of these communities increased."

Delaware Music School Students At Assembly

Students of the Delaware School of Music, of Wilmington, all enrolled in Wilmington high schools, presented the weekly assembly program in the Newark High School auditorium yesterday.

Those who rendered selections were: Miss Helen Knotts, Jack Wilkie, Clamont; Jack Barker, Wilmington High School, and Joseph Booth, P. S. duPont High School. Miss Kathryn Mills accompanied the entertainers. F. Raymond Just, a member of the local faculty, was in charge of the program.

Frederick B. Kutz, instructor of music, will supervise next week's assembly which will be held next Wednesday morning at 8:40 o'clock. A hand concert will be presented. The public is invited to attend.

Due to the state teacher's meeting which will be held in Wilmington, school will be suspended next Thursday and Friday.

Auxiliary To Entertain Perry Point Veterans

The American Legion Auxiliary, J. Allison O'Daniel Post No. 10, will stage a party for Ward 6, Perry Point Veterans, on Tuesday, Oct. 24. Members will meet at Sheaffer's paint store at seven o'clock. Mrs. I. Newton Sheaffer is chairman of rehabilitation and is in charge of the party.

FOUNDING OF GRANGE IS MARKED

Anniversary Marked Monday At Harmony

By Mrs. Sara P. Evans
Mermaid, Oct. 18—Harmony Grange No. 12, celebrated its sixty-fifth anniversary Monday evening with more than 125 in attendance. A covered dish supper served at 6:30 o'clock preceded the social program.

Tribute Paid

The members and visitors were welcomed by Worthy Master Leon C. Gilmore who paid tribute to the early grange pioneers. Mrs. Harry Brackin was acting lecturer. Harmony has had 29 masters of which sixteen are living. Those present at the celebration were: Hervey Walker, the oldest living one, William Moore, Harvey Ball, W. P. Naudain, L. H. Pennington, E. H. Woodward, Harry Brackin, I. G. Klair, Paul Mitchell, J. W. Pennington, W. Steele Atwell, W. H. Naudain, and Ralph I. Klair.

A telegram of congratulations from Worthy State Master Clarence E. Jester of Milford, was read by W. H. Naudain.

The presentation of a large birthday cake to the grange by Mrs. Walter Marshall, chairman of the hospitality committee, was a feature. Worthy Master Gilmore accepted it.

Greetings from this celebration were extended to Mrs. Annie J. Dennison, chaplain, who is confined to her room with a hip ailment.

Choir Entertained

The choir of the Red Clay Creek Presbyterian Church entertained at a surprise variety shower last Friday evening in honor of their two members, Miss Annabelle Pierson and Miss Alice E. Springer, both prospective brides. Miss Pierson will marry Mr. Earl Lynch on Oct. 26 and Miss Springer, Mr. Walter M. Crossland, the latter part of November.

Those present were: the Misses Pierson, Springer, Endora Pierson, Helen F. Pierson, Marion Crossan, Ruth A. Ball, Catherine Mullins, Mrs. Carolyn Bradway, Miss Mabel Porter, Mrs. K. B. Pierson, Mr. Henry L. Gass, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard C. Eastburn, Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Walker.

The Three-in-one Homemakers' Club held its meeting last Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Leonard Nelson. A demonstration in "packing lunches" was given by Mrs. Nelson, Mrs. W. H. Dean, Mrs. Clarence Wells. They showed various types of bread as nutbread, oatmeal bread and how to make nourishing and tasty sandwiches.

Mrs. George Alcorn, who has charge of the collecting and making guild garments for the club, reported 60 garments for the yearly display on Oct. 26 at Harmony Grange hall.

Local Legionnaires Aid In Installation Rites

Retiring Chief de Gare Clarence H. Hopkins and H. N. Herbenner, represented the J. Allison O'Daniel Post No. 10 at the recent installation ceremonies staged by the Grand Votive No. 4 of the Forty at Eight, Ladies Auxiliary, and American Legion, Department of Delaware, at Wilmington. The entire affair was arranged in honor of Edward A. Mulrooney, chief de chemin de fer, La Societe des 40 Hommes et 8 Chevaux.

Both Mr. Hopkins and Mr. Herbenner hold offices in the state organization.

Larger Local Payrolls Increase Retail Sales

Gov. McMullen Accepts Invitation

Gov. Richard C. McMullen, left, shakes hands with William G. Truitt, Jr., chairman of the Delaware Commission for Feeble-minded, as he accepts an invitation to attend "Big Day," or the autumn open house at Delaware Colony, the State Training School, Stockley, Saturday, and the monthly meeting of the commission at eleven o'clock that day. Looking on is Mrs. Stephen P. Toadvine, Milford, commission member and secretary. After luncheon and an inspection of the grounds and buildings, the Governor will join the commission in attending the opera, "Old Ironsides," to be presented by the children of the school at two-thirty. The colony will be open to the public from one o'clock.

"RAID" IS PLANNED

National Guard To "Defend" Town From Air Attack

Newark will be "defended" from an imaginary air attack Saturday night by units of the 198th Coast Artillery Regiment, National Guard, the country's No. 1 anti-aircraft unit, Captain H. Wallace Cook, commanding officer of Battery "E," announced yesterday. The University of Delaware campus will be the scene of the activities.

The local demonstration, scheduled to get underway about 7:30 o'clock, will be the first in a series of performances showing trained personnel operating modern searchlight, three inch and 50 calibre machine guns which will also be given in Wilmington, Dover, and Milford.

Modern Equipment

Use of the modern equipment of the anti-aircraft regiment is to be shown in connection with the program for making a 69 per cent increase in the enlisted personnel of the regiment from 889 men to 1,462.

One of the four million candle power searchlights will be operated by Battery "A," 198th Coast Artillery, of Wilmington, while a machine gun platoon of Battery "E" will also take part in the "defense."

Arrangements are being made by a regimental board consisting of Colonel George J. Schultz, commander; Lieutenant Colonel S. B. Irwin Duncan, executive officer; Captain William A. F. Pyle, regimental plans and training officer; Captain John J. Duncan, adjutant; and Majors Henry C. Ray, First Battalion Commander, and John W. Davis, commander, Second Battalion.

CLUB IN SESSION

Faculty Members Are Guests At Century Meeting

Members of the faculty of the Newark schools were guests at the regular meeting of the Newark New Century Club at its regular meeting on Monday afternoon.

Dr. Winifred J. Robinson, dean emerita of the Women's College, University of Delaware, and Mrs. A. D. Warner, Sr., who were also guests, spoke briefly at the session, presided over by Mrs. T. D. Mylrea. Mrs. D. U. Greenwald, violinist, and Miss Robert Spencer, pianist, presented a program consisting of two movements of the Cesar Franck "Sonata for Violin and Piano" and "Spanish Serenade," Chaminade-Kreisler. Following the program, a social hour was enjoyed. Tea was served by a group of hostesses under the direction of Mrs. George E. Dutton.

Short Business Session

A short business session preceded the reception. Mrs. Richard Snyder, program chairman, announced that J. Paul Green, probation officer for New Castle County, would be the speaker at the meeting following the annual luncheon on Monday, Oct. 30.

The luncheon will be held at 1 o'clock and members wishing to attend are requested to contact Mrs. Carleton E. Douglas, luncheon chairman. The Book Group, in charge of Mrs. A. D. Cobb, will meet for organization next week. The Furniture Study Group will meet Tuesday morning, at the home of Mrs. R. W. Heim. The Music Group will start next month under the direction of Mrs. R. L. Spencer. Those wishing to join are requested to get in touch with Mrs. Snyder. Attention of members was called to the benefit card party, Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock at the home of Miss Mary E. Wright, Orchard Road. Those not wishing to play cards are invited for tea at four o'clock.

Six Prizes Awarded At Country Club Party

Prize winners at the Newark Country Club card party, held Tuesday, were as follows: First, Mrs. Donald M. Huber; second, Mrs. J. I. Mendenhall; third, Mrs. Morris Touchton; fourth, Mrs. Harvey Bounds; fifth, Mrs. F. B. Ridgway. The door prize, consisting of two tickets to the pivot card party to be held Tuesday, Dec. 5, was also awarded to Mrs. Ridgway. There were 12 tables.

Card And Bingo Party At St. John's Church

The Ladies of St. John's R. C. Church will stage a card and bingo party for the benefit of the church on Thursday, Oct. 26, at 8:15 p.m. in the Newark New Century Club. Mrs. Paul F. Pie is general chairman, assisted by Mrs. John Daly.

DANITA TO INCREASE OUTPUT BY EXPANSION

Hosiery Concern Behind In Orders; National Paper Operates At Peak

In addition to sustained activity in the building trades, Newark is in the midst of its greatest period of industrial production, according to opinions expressed at the October meeting of the Chamber of Commerce last Thursday night at the Deer Park Hotel.

Prominent leaders of the community attended the session, which followed an informal dinner. President George M. Haney officiated.

The National Vulcanized Fibre Company's paper mill here is operating on a full schedule for the first time since 1929, except for a few weeks in 1937. John K. Johnston, a director of the chamber and vice-president of the concern, reported.

With the Continental-Diamond Fibre Company operating its plant here on a full schedule, local payrolls are at a level never before attained, it was reported.

George C. Jackson, head of the retail hardware concern which bears his name, told the chamber that sales in his store have increased by $1,000 in the last three weeks over the same period in 1938.

Albert Deck, an official of the Danita Hosiery Mills, Inc., reported that the company's orders are far in excess of production.

An even greater payroll at the Danita plant is expected within the next six months when an expansion program, including an addition to the new building on S. Chapel Street and more machinery, will have been completed. Details of the program will be announced soon.

Plan Christmas Lights

At the suggestion of Meyer Piliwick, former chairman of the chamber's merchant section, Christmas street lights will be turned on for the holiday season on Thanksgiving Day night, decreed by Governor McMullen to be November 23, in compliance with the wishes of President Roosevelt.

Capt. H. Wallace Cook, commanding officer of Battery E, local unit of the 198th C. A., (A.A.) D. N. G., urged the chamber's support of the enlistment drive now being carried out.

"Citizens are responsible for our present state of unpreparedness," Capt. Cook charged. "We are unprepared because we want to be unprepared. . . the increase ordered in the National Guard is strictly a preparedness proposition," he added.

Improved SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By HAROLD L. LUNDGREN, D. D.
Dean of The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago
(Revised by Western Newspaper Union)

Lesson for October 22

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education, used by permission.

THE CITIZENS OF THE KINGDOM

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 5:1-16.
GOLDEN TEXT—Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven.—Matthew 5:16.

Great and historic discourses are preserved with care and are read by succeeding generations with profit and interest even though they are recognized to be the utterances of weak and fallible men. The lesson before us presents what is "undoubtedly the greatest single discourse ever uttered by any teacher or statesman or philosopher in the whole history of the human race" (Smith). "Take up your Bible and read the words of the text."

These verses are addressed to believers, to those who have actually taken Christ as king of their lives. These beatitudes are not a substitute for the gospel. They are not laws that the unbeliever can keep and thus be saved, for this would be utterly impossible for anyone to do, except the one who has been born again. Only he who knows and has called upon the power and grace of God in Christ can qualify to walk as a citizen of His kingdom.

I. The Christian's King (vv. 1, 2).

The words which fell from the blessed lips of the Lord Jesus on that day as He sat on the mountain side were not the powerless declarations of an earthly philosopher or statesman, but of the Son of God who had humbled Himself and become the Son of Man who was still the King of kings and the Lord of lords. If you have not given glad and free allegiance to Him, do it now and you will then be ready to go on and learn of the Christian's character and influence which may be your possession in Christ.

II. The Christian's Character (vv. 3-12).

The eight characteristics of the Christian here presented are worthy of extended individual attention, but we can offer only brief suggestions.

"Blessed are the poor in spirit!" speaks of humility as a commendable quality. How contradictory the present-day philosophy which calls for self-assertion and self-reliance. But Jesus is not mistaken. The way into the kingdom of heaven is not that of assertive self-sufficiency.

"Blessed are they that mourn." The world does not believe that statement. It shrugs the house of mourning. It tries without avail to philosophize away the fact of sorrow. The Christian, on the other hand, feels with his fellow man and thus receives a blessing.

"I walked a mile with Pleasure. She chattered all the way; But left me none the wiser For all she had to say."

"I walked a mile with Sorrow. And ne'er a word said she; But, oh, the things I learned from her When Sorrow walked with me."

"Blessed are the meek." Ah, yes, poverty of spirit comes when a man rightly sees himself, and has a sympathetic touch with sorrow. Then he "inherits the earth," because he truly comes to enjoy it as a place of service and Christian growth, and not because he has a deed to a single foot of it.

"Note that it is the hunger and thirst for righteousness, and not the possession of it, that is blessed" (Plummer). Self-satisfied people know nothing of the glory of having such a hunger and thirst filled by God.

Time falls us to speak of the Christian's spirit of mercy which invites divine mercy; that purity of heart and absolute cleanness of mind and sincerity of purpose which enable a man really to see God even in this impure world; that Christlike spirit which makes him a peacemaker in a fighting world—yes, that spirit which makes him like the Master in sweetly bearing unjustified persecution. These indeed are the marks of the man who follows Christ as King.

III. The Christian's Influence (vv. 13-16).

"Salt" and "light"! What pungent and powerful folk are the real followers of Christ!

Salt fights against rotteness, keeps things sweet and fresh. Dr. J. H. Jowett says, Christians "are to confront rotteness in politics; they are to meet it in the realm of business; they are to make for it in the field of sport; they are to be its enemies in the crowded streets of common intercourse; they are to defeat it in the quiet and sequestered ways of art and literature; everywhere they are to provide the antidote to corruption, and they are to overcome and destroy it."

Light has one function, namely, to illuminate. Wickedness and sin always love darkness, because their deeds are evil (read John 3:19-21). If Christ really dwells in us we cannot help but shed light about us wherever we go—a divine light which drives out the darkness of sin, or ignorance, of superstition, and replaces it with the sunlight of God.

Junior Class—

Lillian Marshall, of Lewis, has been named chairman of the Junior Class of this year. The general chairman of the Junior Prom will be Ann Harrison of Elkton, Maryland. The committees working with her include: Orchestra, Louise Zurkow, chairman, Rhoda Seitz, Anne Phillips, Duane Jester, and Marjorie Neek; programs and favors, Peggy Dawson, chairman, Eleanor Cox, Hazel Johnston, and Jane King; publicity, June Groves, chairman, Jane Gaffney, Jeanne Brulout, Georgiana Brimjoia, and Barbara Gordy; corsages, Lillian Raeburn, chairman, Betty Hutton, and Elva Grogan; chaperones, Betty McPhail, chairman, Marjory Jones, Betty Scott, and Ellen Moody; and Miscellaneous, Elva Wells, chairman, Gertrude Hamill, and Marjorie Sheets.

Last Wednesday

On Wednesday evening the Y.W.C.A. held its first Supper Club meeting in Kent Dining Hall. The same evening the Non-Resident Organization held its first supper in the basement of Kent where there is a computer dining room. The entertainment for the evening consisted of games, sports, and swimming over at the gymnasium.

For Dean Robinson—

Dean Emeritus Winifred Robinson spent several days with us for a double celebration. Saturday evening, of course, she was present for the Founder's Day ceremony at which time she received an Honorary Degree of Doctor of Law. Then on Monday, Miss Robinson celebrated her birthday. We were very happy to have her spend that day with us. At the Hob Tea Room for dinner that evening all the members of the faculty helped her have a happy birthday. The student body gave Miss Robinson Thomas Craven's latest book, "Masterpieces of Art."

Open House—

Tomorrow night the first open house of this current year will be held in Residence Hall. Any and all W. C. D. girls are invited to come to the Hilarium of Residence Hall for an evening of bridge or dancing. "Dates" are invited too, of course.

Two Guernsey Bulls and Four Cows Sold Here

Two registered Guernsey bulls and four registered Guernsey cows were bought and sold recently in this section, according to an announcement of the American Guernsey Cattle Club, Peterborough, N. H. A bull, Royal of Gwelyn 2d 277036, was sold by George Green to Henry P. Wilson, of Hockessin; another bull, Marigold's Senator 271919, was sold by Lt.-Gov. Edward W. Cooch to David B. Miller, of Hockessin.

The cows: Emerita's Rosie of Gwelyn 397629; Jane of Gwelyn 351892; Frances of Gwelyn 502860; and Florence of Gwelyn 563172, were sold by George Green to Frank McVaugh, of Hockessin.

The U. S. Treasury recently received $150 from a conscience-stricken WPA worker in River Grove, Ill., with the explanation he had "accidentally taken a sledge hammer home with him from work."

Families and schools which receive these commodities should inform themselves about what essential food factors these foods supply. It will then be possible to add other foods intelligently so that the meals as a whole will measure up to the highest standard possible.

High-Quality Butter

Butter is one of the best sources of vitamin A. The butter which the surplus commodity corporation is distributing is of exceptionally high quality. To maintain its high quality, it should be stored in a cool place as possible, away from onions or other strong odors which may taint it.

Grapefruit juice is very rich in vitamin C, and that which is being distributed is of superior quality. Even persons who are at first unaccustomed to the taste of grapefruit soon learn to like it. Apples and grapefruit juice are both a valuable addition to any day's meals. Other good sources of vitamin C are tomatoes, oranges, and other fruits and vegetables.

Cereal And Beans

Whole wheat cereal and beans are rich in iron and vitamin B. Iron is necessary for the formation of red blood. Vitamin B is necessary for appetite, muscle tone, and the proper use of the carbohydrates that we eat. Both iron and vitamin B are commonly lacking in our meals. Other good sources of iron and vitamin B are eggs, liver, dark bread, and dark cereals.

Yellow cornmeal, like butter, is high in vitamin A. White flour and rice are high in starch and their greatest value is in energy or calories.

Milk is the outstanding deficiency in the foods provided. Every effort should be made to add fresh, evaporated or skim milk in order to supply the materials needed for bones. Cheese is also valuable for its bone building material.

Meat or fish at least twice a week, eggs four times a week or oftener, potatoes once or twice a day, and as many leafy green, red, or yellow vegetables as possible need to be added to the surplus commodities in order to make a well balanced diet.

Guest At Founders' Day

Elisha Conover

Professor of Ancient Languages and Literatures, Emeritus, Mr. Conover, who taught the first class at the opening session of the Delaware College, University of Delaware, in 1914, was a guest at the twenty-fifth anniversary ceremony last Saturday. Prof. Conover, a resident of W. Main St., was retired in 1938 after serving the university for 43 years.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Newport M. E. Church will serve its annual turkey supper on Wednesday evening, Nov. 1, in the Sunday school assembly room.

Bishop Pays Visit

Bishop Arthur R. McKinstry made an informal visit to the congregation of the St. James P. E. Church here on Monday evening. About 50 members welcomed the bishop and discussed the business affairs of the church. The principal topic of discussion was ways and means for the erection of a parish house. The St. James Church now owns a lot near the church, on which site the building would probably be erected, should they decide to take this step. A committee was named to carefully consider the matter of building, and the group will meet in the church Friday evening, Oct. 20. J. W. Wetherell was appointed chairman of the building committee.

The Newport recreational committee met this week at the home of Mrs. J. Harry Taylor, Lyndalla.

The committee reports the foundation is completed for the recreational center, and work will proceed immediately.

NEWPORT SCHOOL IN DRILLS

Fire Prevention Week Observed By Students

By Miss Emma S. Maclary
Newport, Oct. 18.—Fire drills were staged at the Krebs School on several occasions during Fire Prevention Week. The Minquas Fire Company visited the school and conducted a drill for the children.

On Sunday, Oct. 29, Dan Lee, a Chinese speaker, and a graduate of Drew University, will speak at the Sunday school service, as well as preach at the morning service in the Newport M. E. Church.

The Krebs School P.-T.A. is holding a Halloween party this evening in the school. On Oct. 21, Mrs. Raymond Grubb, chairman of the program committee will conduct a treasure hunt, starting from her home in Silview.

Safety Program Presented

A safety program featured the meeting of Delaware Grange on Monday evening, Oct. 16, at which time Mayor Lewis Levinson, of Middletown, was a guest speaker. The Grange will hold a card party on Monday evening, Oct. 23. The Grange will dispense with a business session on Monday evening, Oct. 30 due to Halloween festivities.

The Junior Choir of the Newport M. E. Church, under the direction of Mrs. Blemma J. Tatum, met Friday evening, Oct. 13, for their regular meeting. The election of officers was held, resulting as follows: President, Mary Lou Kelly; vice pres., Thelma Peterson; secretary, Mary Virginia Clark; publicity chairman, Barbara Nichols; custodian, Jacqueline Bratton.

The Minquas Fire Company held a social hour Monday evening, following a business session. Plans were also discussed for a community Halloween party to be given under the auspices of the Minquas Company and the Ladies Auxiliary on Friday evening, Oct. 27.

The Delaware State Teachers' Institute will be held in Wilmington on Oct. 26 and 27, and the Krebs School will be closed on those dates to permit members of the faculty to attend.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Newport M. E. Church will serve its annual turkey supper on Wednesday evening, Nov. 1, in the Sunday school assembly room.

About 50 members welcomed the bishop and discussed the business affairs of the church. The principal topic of discussion was ways and means for the erection of a parish house. The St. James Church now owns a lot near the church, on which site the building would probably be erected, should they decide to take this step. A committee was named to carefully consider the matter of building, and the group will meet in the church Friday evening, Oct. 20. J. W. Wetherell was appointed chairman of the building committee.

The Newport recreational committee met this week at the home of Mrs. J. Harry Taylor, Lyndalla. The committee reports the foundation is completed for the recreational center, and work will proceed immediately.

W. C. T. U. Officers

Mrs. Anna Biddle was hostess to the Newport Branch of the W.C.T.U. on Wednesday afternoon at her home in Silview. This was the annual fall rally of this group and there were 11 members present. The Rev. J. C. McCoy, pastor of the Newport M. E. Church, was in charge of the devotional program. The annual election of officers resulted as follows:

President, Mrs. Anna Biddle; vice pres., Mrs. Marguerite Harvey; recording secretary, Mrs. Anno Murphy; treasurer, Mrs. Victoria Moyer. The following directors of departments were appointed:

Evangelistic, Mrs. J. C. McCoy; alcoholic education and medal contest director, Mrs. Marion Green; union signal director, Mrs. Oscar Jones; legislative director, Mrs. Mary Dunlap, assisted by Mrs. Oscar Jones; loyal temperance legion director, Mrs. Blanche Mahan; study book director, Mrs. Jessie Enos; publicity committee, Mrs. Anna Murphy. Two members joined with the Newport Union, and the next meeting will be held on Thursday afternoon, Nov. 2. Mrs. Moyer was elected a delegate to the state convention to be held in Wilmington, Oct. 18-20. Mrs. Anna Murphy was named alternate.

Publication

Attracting Wide Attention

"Delaware Hyways And Byways" Gains Favorable Comments In State

Combining descriptions of the historical, pleasure, and highways interests of the State of Delaware, the September issue of the "Delaware Hyways and Byways," a publication of the State Highway Department, which has just been released, is attracting widespread attention.

Heading the list of historical articles appearing in the issue is one by Judge Richard S. Rodney describing, in an interesting manner, the Old State (Court) House at New Castle, with considerable attention being given to the colonial background of the structure.

The landmarks that have made Delaware history in and around Lewes are described in a nicely written article on "Old Lewes" by Virginia F. Cullen, a news writer of Lewes who has studied that community from every angle.

Includes Other Features

The proposed seashore play areas, planned by the State Highway Department for the state-owned ocean land, from Cape Henlopen to Fenwick Island, is also featured with a number of artist's sketches showing some of the proposed improvements. The front cover shows a bathing scene at Rehoboth Beach, while the back cover contains a design to arouse careful driving in the vicinity of schools. The state flag and the Blue Hen's fighting cock, the official bird of the state, are presented in colors on the inside of the front and back covers. Both of these designs are suitable for framing.

The poem, "Blue Hen's Chickens," by Arthur Guiterman, which was published in the New York Herald-Tribune, is also presented in this issue. Facts and figures of the Delaware Highway Department are presented as are also articles on public picnic grounds, the breakwater at Lewes and Fenwick Island. Copies of the booklet can be procured without charge by writing to the office of the State Highway Department at Dover.

EVERYBODY agrees that gas is the ideal automatic fuel. It's piped in . . . no tanks or extras. It heats evenly, without bother or attention.

IT'S NOT COSTLY! With gas you save those "hidden costs" that are a part of the cost of heating with other fuels. No dust, requiring frequent cleaning and redecorating. No burnt-out grates and other expensive repairs. No ashes to dispose of.

And automatic, thermostat-controlled gas heat maintains an even, constant healthful temperature that protects from winter ills and colds.

DO SOME REAL CRACKING DOWN

The announcement yesterday by the Motor Vehicle Department that licensees for the some 4,000 automobiles yet uninspected in the state comes as an empty warning by an indulgent mother to a spoiled child.

Why bother with further warnings? Why not crack down on the offenders without additional notice? If people in the state, excepting newcomers within the last sixty days, aren't aware by now that a compulsory inspection of automobiles, trucks, and other forms of motor vehicles is carried on officially in July and August without direct charge to owners, then it is time that introduction to the safety measure is made through arrests and impressive fines.

There is absolutely no excusable cause for people deferring a simple act from August until October. Rather than treat the small percentage of offenders as a privileged few, the Motor Vehicle Department should bare its teeth against them.

Conducted as a measure to make the highways safer for travel, failure to have vehicles inspected can only mean that owners are fearful of having their cars barred from the road. If people are too blind to realize that the inspection of cars is carried on for their own safety, then it should be shoved down their throats that by their neglect they are endangering the well-being of more considerate citizens.

Enforcement of safety measures in behalf of the majority, which apparently respects the inspection law in Delaware, should be the primary thought of the department in the present situation. Further warnings are a waste of time. Let's see some drastic action!

MOTORISTS ENDANGERED BY HITCH-HIKERS

Early this month, a man in Salisbury, Md., learned that the cost of picking up a hitch-hiker was $2,500. A verdict for that amount was awarded by a jury upon claim of a Cambridge resident who charged he had suffered severe injuries in an accident—in which he was riding as a hitch-hiker—and that the owner of the car operated it in a negligent manner.

The case, brought before the Somerset County Circuit Court, is said to have been the first of its kind in the First Judicial Circuit in Maryland.

As far as we have been able to learn, no such case has ever been filed in Delaware, but with the Maryland verdict as an incentive, the first one in this state shouldn't come as a surprise, and an early one at that.

Newark motorists are especially endangered by the wholesale number of University of Delaware students who continue to gesture for rides in the vicinity of the campus, and practically force themselves into cars that stop for the traffic signal at East Main Street and Chapel.

Despite requests from local police and pleas from the Student Council that the practice be broken up by observance of local laws on the part of commuting students, the annoying situation continues to exist, even seems to increase.

We respect the hesitancy shown by police here in enforcing the law against students for endeavoring to grab rides. The blue coats would rather do it on the basis of educating students to respect the law, without drastic measures.

Motorists can aid this movement by refusing to pick up hitch-hikers, regardless of circumstances. In view of the costly case decided against the motorist in the Maryland court, it seems sensible to disregard hitch-hikers out of self-protection, if for no better reason.

Films of all the pictures in which he has appeared have been presented to the film library of the New York Museum of Modern Art by Douglas Fairbanks, Sr. The collection contains 2,700,000 feet of film and weighs 13 tons.

To prove her nerves are steady, Mrs. Corrida Davis, 85, walked a girder across a bridge at Muncie, Ind.

The first triplets on record to join the nation's sea service are Abraham, Isaac and Jacob Taylor, 19-year-old sons of an East Tennessee coal miner.

STATE THEATRE BRIEFS

Friday And Saturday

Remember "In My Merry Oldsmobile," "school days," "Jimmy Valentine," "If I Was a Millionaire," those grand Gus Edwards tunes? Bing Crosby sings 'em all and many others, and such grand new tunes, by Johnny Burke and James V. Monaco, as "An Apple for the Teacher" and "A Man and His Dreams," in Paramount's glorious singing cavalcade of show business, "The Star Maker." The story of the picture is doubtless the greatest Bing has ever had, for it's based on the amazing career of the famed showman, Gus Edwards. It shows Bing, starting out as a penniless song writer and fighting his way to the top in show business by presenting kiddie shows. It finds him, then, trying to make his way back to the top on the radio. Bing is supported by a great cast including Louise Campbell, Ned Sparks, Laura Hope Crews, Walter Damrosch, conducting The Philharmonic Orchestra of Los Angeles, and Linda Ware, sensational fourteen-year-old singing discovery.

Monday And Tuesday

All the color and pageantry of India are caught in the spectacular climax of Darryl F. Zanuck's production of "The Rains Came," the great Louis Bromfield novel, starring Myrna Loy, Tyrone Power and George Brent.

The scene shows the coronation as Maharajah of the high-caste Hindu, Major Rama Saffi, played by Power, in the glittering setting of a sumptuous palace, and includes fireworks, elephant maneuvers and all the other features of this dazzling ceremony.

Although the Bromfield novel ends with Saffi about to ascend the throne, and the 20th Century-Fox film is meticulously faithful to the story, Zanuck decided to add this stirring sequence in order to provide his production with a climax as thrilling as the many great spectacles which highlight it—the earthquake, the torrential rains, the dam break, the flood, the fire.

Myrna Loy plays the amorous Lady Esketh in "The Rains Came," while George Brent is cast as the world-weary Tom Ransome.

A great supporting cast helps the stars bring to life on the screen all of Bromfield's colorful characters. The film was directed by the distinguished Clarence Brown.

Wednesday And Thursday

Another double feature will be the bill for these two days. Feature number one will be: The redoubtable Charlie Chan solving the most baffling—and exciting—case he's ever had to unravel in "Charlie Chan at Treasure Island," the latest of the 20th Century-Fox mystery thrillers with the admirable Sidney Toler better than ever in the role of the Earl Derr Biggers sleuth.

White thousands frolic at the World's Fair of the West, a master of the occult deals strange and mysterious death—and Chan defies the supernatural in his efforts to track down the murderer.

A great cast, featuring Cesar Romero, Pauline Moore, Sen Yung, Douglas Fowley, June Gale, Douglas Dumbrille, Billie Seward, Wally Vernon, and Donald MacBride, helps Toler bring this best of all Chan thrillers to the screen.

Feature number two will be Joe Penner in "Mr. Doodle Kicks Off."

There are few folks who are so stingy they waste kindness only when they know it will pay and are pleasant only when it is a good investment.

Consolidation

Sir: The educational record of achievement of the consolidated school has so favorably established itself as a part of American life that it is now looked upon as an established educational custom.

Each year, the reports of the superintendents of schools in the various states generally recognize that the small schools of the one- and two-room types are the ones that need most to be strengthened and bettered. These one- and two-room schools are generally found where the school directors are elected in the districts to carry out a policy of "spend as little as possible." Just when consolidated began cannot be definitely determined. Apparently it was in Boston when that city became large enough to support two or more schools. The movement spread until now it is the accepted policy of practically all students of rural school problems.

Rural people, realizing that children in one-teacher schools were not making the same degree of progress as those in graded schools, and noticing that when their children entered high school they were more apt to fail or drop out than were the children of graded schools, began to investigate the cause. They found the one-teacher schools practically had become a training department for beginning teachers; that the average length of service of rural teachers was less than three years; that many city schools refused to consider the application of a teacher who had not had one or two years' experience in a rural school; that the teacher who ordinarily came to the one-teacher school was either untrained or poorly trained; that buildings were poor and unsuited for teaching purposes; that playgrounds were small and inadequate for play; that in many schools there was an utter lack of equipment and an insufficient supply of text books, which often consisted of old editions, or rebound copies that should have been burned instead; that libraries, supplementary readers, and special primary materials were either lacking or had been unintelligently selected; that maps were old and entirely out of date; that the water supply was oftentimes unsatisfactory, and that too often the toilets were maintained in an unsanitary condition.

These are some of the criticisms of the one- and two-room schools. The question arises in the minds of the parents: "Shall we move to the graded schools, which means that the entire family must move to the town where the school is located, or shall we bring these privileges to our own community?"

Obviously, a graded school cannot be built when facilities are available just a few miles from our own school area. The building of a new school entails a considerable outlay of money so that in this case, the obvious procedure to follow is to send the children by bus to Newark, where a grade school already exists.

Theoretically, this educational center for the community has a consolidated graded school that is sanitary, well heated, properly ventilated, and adapted to the modern needs of a growing town and its environs. Unfortunately, however, Newark's consolidated graded school provides these facilities in theory only. Until a new building is erected to replace the out-moded structure now in use, all the arguments in favor of consolidation are so much empty talk.

Placed in office by appointment, the members of the Board of Education in the special Newark district have definite obligations to the community. Since they are neglecting their obligations by permitting the present elementary building to continue in use, then the community should demand of the Governor and the State Board of Education that changes in the personnel of the local board be made.

It is time for action. Will you, Mr. Editor, continue to lend your support to a new school for Newark?

Business Increases; Kirk Erects New Greenhouse

With his business steadily expanding, John L. Kirk, local florist, has found it necessary to erect his third greenhouse, work on which was completed last week.

Serving only a local trade, Mr. Kirk started his business six years ago on Capital Trail where he erected the largest of his three greenhouses, 33' X 145'. Two years ago, he built a smaller house measuring 15' X 33'. The new building measures 28' X 50'. Service has been extended to Wilmington, Elkton, and Fair Hill, Md.

A complete line of flowers in season is grown by Mr. Kirk. His sons, James and Harold, are associated with him in business.

Weddings

Marsey-Guest

Miss Marguerite Anna Guest, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Davis Guest of Yorklyn, and Mrs. James Warren Marsey, son of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Marsey of Yorklyn, were married Tuesday night in Kennett Square Presbyterian Church, by the Rev. George Leukel.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of ivory tulle with circular skirt which extended in a long train. The nipped-in waistline was accented by a bustle. The bodice featured a sweetheart neckline and was finished with fluting. The bride wore a tiered veil attached to a halo of orange blossoms which had been worn by her paternal great great aunt, Mrs. Jesse Davis. The bride carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley and roses.

Mrs. Stanley N. Wilson of Baltimore was her sister's matron of honor. Miss Phyllis P. Guest, another sister, was maid of honor. Miss Josephine E. Guest and Miss Betty A. Marsey, sisters of the bride and bridesmaids, respectively, were bridesmaids.

Mrs. Wilson wore American Beauty tulle tulle with shirred bodice with short puffed sleeves and a bouffant skirt. The skirt was accented with narrow bands of violet velvet.

Miss Phyllis Guest wore a similar gown in shades of roses.

Miss Josephine Guest and Miss Betty Marsey wore gowns and jackets of Tuscan blue moire tulle. The jackets were trimmed with narrow fluting of the same material and tied at the waistline.

All the attendants wore bands of tiny flowers in their hair and carried bouquets of chrysanthemums and roses in autumn shades.

The bride's mother wore sapphire blue velvet. The mother of the bridegroom wore wine velvet. Each wore a corsage of Talamas roses.

Mr. J. Edward Kane was best man. Mr. George Ford, Mr. Paul Griffith and Mr. Rodger Dobson were ushers.

Proceeding the ceremony a recital was given by Mr. Osmond Reynolds, organist.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. After Nov. 1 the couple will be at home at 100 Brighton Avenue, Brook-Ex.

Among those from Newark who attended the wedding were: Miss Hannah Marsey, Mrs. Paul Griffith, Mrs. Mary Griffith, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Grant, Mr. and Mrs. William Ring and daughters, Pauline and Margaret; Mr. Elmer Ellison, Miss Sarah E. Potts, and Miss Virginia Mason.

Someone in Newark was overheard to remark that the swastika always had reminded him of the double-cross.

Years ahead!

Blood-thirsty Parent

As a spectator at the A. I. duPont-Newark High grid game played in the Academy Street orchard last Friday, we were astounded at the blood-thirsty attitude of a local parent. As a fellow resident of Newark, we are still ashamed of the man's belligerent behavior.

Cotton Miller, duPont's stellar running back, and the officials, of course, were the principal objects of the man's affections. Miller, for no better reason than he's an exceptionally fine cut lugger, as near as we could determine, attracted the man's fire in shouts to the youthful Yellow Jackets, such as: "Break his neck, that'll stop him!"

When a clipping penalty was enforced against the Jackets, immediately after Ace Alken had made a nice runback of a duPont punt, the volatile one under discussion almost burst a blood vessel in his derisive and profane shouts at Doc Doherty, the referee who merely enforced a penalty that had been called actually by Umpire Izy Reitzes.

Practically every member of both teams and some seventy yards separated our sporting friend from the play, yet to hear him protest, in typical American fashion, the infraction took place under his very nose.

Should Set Example

The shouted opinions of the boisterous one influenced not a soul—not at the moment, at least. Miller escaped without a broken neck and the officials of the game continued to inflict penalties as infractions were recorded on both sides. Hence, the shouting availed nothing.

As a parent of students at the local high school and as a member of the American Legion, which is endeavoring to promote various types of programs dealing in Americanism, sportsmanship, and observance of rules, however, any amount of detrimental influence on the young boys and girls who witnessed the man's performance is possible.

Such a show might be amusing were it not dangerous and of bad influence for youngsters. The complete folly of it all was expressed by a listening father of more subdued emotions who whimsically remarked: "It all depends upon whose pig is getting stuck." (Newark dropped a close one, 7-6, if you remember.)

Flashes By Bill Fletcher

THE OFFENSIVE DISPLAYED BY THE UNIVERSITY of Delaware football team on Saturday was an excellent example of just what concentrated effort along one phase of the game can do.

WITH THE ATTACK SHOWING as a glaring weakness at Collegeville, as far as blocking, timing, and punch is concerned, Coach Steve Grenda, pleased with the defensive work, centered his thoughts around one thing last week—developing and something out of the ground maneuvers for Dickinson.

That the Hens showed one hundred percent improvement is pointed out very definitely in their first-half score and had the same brand of ball been produced in the final two quarters, Delaware would have had a 50-50 slate in the two games played.

THEORETICALLY, EVERY play is a touchdown as far as the offensive team is concerned and in the same light, every thrust is a five-yard loss according to the defensive outfit's way of thinking.

Theoretically, all a ball carrier should have to do is take the pigskin under his arm, slant off a tackle that has been opened wide by his own linemen; cut back to one side or the other of the backer-up who is, just at the right moment, blasted out of the way by a vicious blocker; then fall behind anywhere from one to three men assigned to run interference, and gallop goalward.

It all works out on paper—any coach can sit down and draw for you play after play that is designed to produce touchdowns after touchdowns—if EVERY man carries out his assignment.

THERE IS ONE THING YOU can't put down on paper—can't pencil out in black and white—that's the variable human factor.

There are eleven men on a ball club—each is a human being. Some react quickly, size up the situation immediately. Others are slow-witted, fail to realize their mistake until the play is past them and it's too late to do anything about it.

Some are naturally alert—the ones, who at the age of four, could tell Poppa a few things—with others, this brain business is a thing to abhor—they never study an opposing lineman to solve his methods of attack, never diagnose a play until it's crammed down their throats. All in all, this type of player isn't much good to a team, although he may be lucky on one or two Saturdays and turn in a good performance because every play has been "crammed down his throat." Taking everything into consideration, he's not much good to a ball team—the coach can't figure out just what day he's going to be lucky.

THERE IS ANOTHER GROUP, however, a quick-witted group, potentially fine athletes, whose brain work is often nullified, not because of lack of head-work, but because they haven't faced a similar problem in the past. Often, they make the same mistake two, three, or four times—but on the fourth occasion, the error becomes less exaggerated—in other words, they're learning.

This business of learning comes under that familiar term, "experience." This accumulating of experience is a lengthy process—a man's not a veteran after a year of varsity ball, even two—it's not until his junior and senior years (if he keeps his mind on the game) that he becomes a polished ball player upon whom the coach can depend for a consistently good performance.

This one paragraph included in Coach Grenda's weekly football letter brings out the point: "Both teams displayed commendable offensive and defensive tactics, but Dickinson on the one hand, seemed to strike when the iron was hot while Delaware relaxed at the wrong time."

Relaxing, most of the time, is indulged in by the inexperienced man who doesn't realize that the time to rest is between the halves and after the game.

One man's relaxation at the wrong time can spell defeat for it did on Saturday for a team—football isn't only a battle of beef and brawn—it's the brains that come out in the wash.

The majority of the Blue Hens playing varsity ball are still, in the strict sense of the word, inexperienced—give the boys time, even a year or two.

When Moe Berg made a home run off Freddie Hutchinson at Detroit, last week, it was his first homer since 1935 when he drove two out of the lot. He did, however, come through with a triple in 1936 and another in 1937.

Blue And Gold To Meet Lebanon Valley

DELAWARE STILL ON HUNT FOR FIRST WIN

Improved Showing Against Red Devils Lifts Hopes Slightly; Invaders Sport Powerful Combine; Viden May Not Start

A victoryless but steadily improving University of Delaware eleven will give its second performance before local grid fans on Saturday when the Blue Hens play host to the Lebanon Valley combine on Frazer Field.

Underdogs Again

Thwarted in their quest for a conquest in the opener at Collegeville, Pa., when the Ursinus Bears nosed out a 3-0 verdict, and turned back by a strong Dickinson eleven last Saturday, 13-7, Coach Steve Grenda's charges will enter the coming battle as underdogs again.

The invaders, turned back in their opening tilt by Boston College, 45-0, came back in their next two starts to trim Moravian, 6-0, and Franklin and Marshall, 8-7. Last week's conquest over the highly-favored Lancaster, Pa., team came as a surprise to grid fans who expected to see F. and M. ease through to a win.

Pleased With Showing

Pleased with the improved showing, but still not entirely satisfied, Coach Steve Grenda has spent the first three days of this week in balancing the aerial and running attacks and building up a defense capable of turning back Lebanon's highly-touted forward passing offense.

The Blue and Gold attack may be hampered by the absence of Capt. Howie Viden who suffered a slight shoulder separation in the tilt with the Red Devils. The Hens' leader, who suffered a similar injury last year, if necessary, will probably be replaced in the starting lineup by Walt Paul, former West Nottingham Academy star, who is being groomed for the assignment.

Lee Baer, former Georgetown High School boy, converted from the backfield, is also showing improved form and has been alternating at a tackle position with Al Northwood, veteran lineman. The pivot position is also a toss-up with two freshmen, Bill Hancock and Ed Carullo, still carrying on their battle for the starting job.

Paul May Kick
The kicking assignment, should Viden be sidelined for Saturday's fracas, will in all probability be handed over to Paul, who has proven his ability to do the job in his style. Conrad Sadowski will continue to do most of the passing while the Hens' leader will probably have to give this phase of the game up for some time to come.

Reputedly big and fast, Lebanon Valley is expected to present a varied attack, equally as potent in the air as it is on the ground. With heavy, hard-charging backs performing behind a massive forward wall, the invaders are expected to prove more than a match for the Hens who will enter their third game as underdogs.

Team Improved
In his weekly football letter, published by the University of Delaware Alumni Association, Coach Grenda praised the team: "The fundamental improvement that was most satisfying was the vicious tackling and blocking of the Blue Hens in the first half of the game. Last week these two features of play were crying weaknesses. There (Please Turn To Page 9)

NEW RULES BEING USED IN STATE

Interscholastic Code Differs From Colleges

All high schools in Delaware playing football this year are following the national federation of interscholastic rules, according to George Ayars, director of physical education for the State Board of Education.

According to the announcement, these rules have been adopted in approximately thirty states and by more than 10,000 high schools, with around 300,000 players. Mr. Ayars pointed out that it is a fundamental necessity that the interscholastic program eliminate all hazards as far as possible, while protecting the health and physical welfare of the participants.

Aim For Safety
The rules adopted are the result of progressive, organized effort on the part of thousands of high school coaches and administrators who have been cooperating in direct experimentation with any provision offering possibilities of improving the game, of better adopting it to the capabilities of high school players, and of making it safer.

Some of the major differences to be found under the scholastic rules deal with substitutions. Under these rules, substitutes may communicate with their team mates after reporting and may also be taken out of the game in any quarter and sent back into action again in any quarter.

Protection For Passer
A forward passer may be at any point behind the line of scrimmage and protection is given to the passer after he gets rid of the ball. Accidental kicking is treated as if the ball had merely been touched. A kicked ball remains a kicked ball until it has been in possession. Scrimmage ends with a change of possession.

The length of periods is twelve minutes, with a two-minute intermission between quarters, and fifteen minutes between halves. The penalty for an illegal shift or backs in motion is five yards.

Hialeah Park's new tennis court, constructed for use of jockeys as part of their weight-reducing equipment, is said to be the finest ever built in Florida.

Tanaka, with four other Japanese university athletes, participated in the games as a good-will gesture during a short stay in New York. His experiences at the meet, the high-jumper said, have convinced him Americans are among the greatest sportsmen in the world.

TABLE TENNIS TOURNAMENT

Bearcats Grab Lead At End Of Second Week

By "The Roamer"

Copping four and losing two matches by forfeit to Mervin Dale's Darkhorses, Bill Fletcher's Bearcats took undisputed possession of first place in the Newark Tennis Table League with a record of 10 wins against two losses for a percentage of .833.

Highlanders Second
Jack Bridgewater's Highlanders moved into second position by taking five of six matches, two by forfeit, from Grover T. Surratt's Travellers for a record of 9 wins and 3 losses or a percentage of .750. The Darkhorses were shoved back into a tie with Len Fossett's Crescents, who dropped four of six matches to Bill Gillespie's Pedagogues. The latter team, while it failed to better last week's positions, climbed in the averages from .333 to .500, deadlocking for the fourth spot with New McCully's Pinggers who made a clean sweep of their matches with Ernie Reilly's Tigers, who are holding down the last berth with no wins against 12 defeats.

Results of team contests were as follows: Pedagogues defeated Crescents, 4-2; Bearcats defeated Darkhorses, 4-2; Pinggers defeated Tigers, 6-0; Highlanders defeated Travellers, 5-1.

Match Results
Results of individual matches were as follows: Highlanders vs. Travellers (first contest)—Bridgewater, Highlanders, defeated Surratt, Travellers—21-6, 21-11, 21-20; Strahorn, Highlanders, defeated O'Connell, Travellers—19-21, 21-19, 21-12, 21-23, 21-15; Gibbs, Highlanders, won from Handloff, Travellers, by default. Benny Lynch, former world fly-weight boxing champion, left Glasgow recently for Ireland to enter a monastery and rest before attempting a ring comeback.

The Reds' record as a fielding team has been exceptional all season, averages showing that their fielding has hung around the .977 mark. The best fielding average on record is the mark of .979 set by the Philadelphia Athletics in 1932.

Irving (Bump) Hadley of the Yankees beat Cleveland three times this year before the Yankees caught up with him. But even when he lost last Sunday, he allowed only three hits but his six bases on balls were costly.

All-State Back And Georgetown Star Now On University Grid

Both Expected To See More Action For Hens

(This is the fourth of a series of articles introducing football candidates at the University of Delaware. Two biographies and high lights of players (names will be presented every week—Ed. Note).

By Bill Fletcher
We're introducing this week a couple of down-state boys who haven't produced enough as yet to crack University of Delaware's starting team, but who have shown definite improvement as far as accomplishing that aim is concerned.

All-State Fullback
Pictured in the upper photo is Kenneth Harry "Groundhog" Pleasanton, a graduate of the Dover High School where he performed in two sports, football and baseball. Two years a catcher for the Capital diamondmen, Ken made his biggest mark on the gridiron, copping four varsity letters. Selection as all-state fullback for two years and as co-captain of the Dover team, unbeaten by Delaware high schools for two years, are outstanding testimonials as far as his popularity and ability are concerned.

High scorer for his team in 1937, "Groundhog" crossed the goal line no less than eight times besides accounting for several extra points. He called signals his final year, guiding the Dover combine through a season that was marked only by a defeat at the hands of West Nottingham Academy, the only setback suffered in two years.

A members of the Hunting and Fishing Club, Ken was also listed among the five best marksmen in the Rifle Club. He has worked in a Dover drug store since he started high school.

Sealing only 157 pounds and standing 5 feet, 6 inches, Ken, nicknamed "Groundhog" by Assistant Coach George Lee, has been limited to junior varsity action thus far this season—but he's up and coming.

Three-Letter Man
George Lee (Bugs) Baer, pictured in the lower photo, is a three-letter man from Georgetown High School. Eighteen years of age, "Bugs" scales 165 pounds, stands an even 6 feet. When Lee hit Frazer Field he was a ball carrier, but Coach Steve Grenda soon converted him to tackle, a spot at which he has seen action in both the Ursinus and Dickinson games.

Making Strong Bids

Kenneth H. Pleasanton (upper)
George Lee Baer (lower)

A lover of all sports, Lee could find time to grab off letters in only three sports, two in football, three in baseball, and two in basketball. Leftfielder for the Georgetown diamondmen, he compiled a batting average of .346 for his final year and pounded out two circuit clouts—both without a man on base.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Baer, "Bugs" was a representative in the Georgetown Student Council and served as president of his sophomore class. He's taking the physical education course at Delaware, expects to drop basketball, but will be back in the swing of things once the Blue Hen diamondmen take the field.

Trailing by seven points at the end of the first half, Newark's victory after the third-quarter kickoff. Hill kicked to Miller, a ball carrier, who fumbled and recovered for the local stars. The 22-yard line. Beas the vanced to the three-yard line, hind well-formed interference, where Bellman scored. The placekick for extra points, following the visitor's margin of victory.

Seek Initial Victory
Both the Hens reserves and local high school team will be looking for their initial victories. Gillespie's charges have three defeats, dropping victory to a great Millville, West Nottingham Academy, and A. I. duPont, while Blue Hens, tutored by Coach Shields, have been competitive in the Colors, Md., team and by national High School.

Probable starters for the Hens are: Barnes and A. Smith, end; Barnes and Hill, tackle; McGee, guard; Wiggins, center; Dunn, Beeson, and Bellman, back.

Probable junior varsity starters are: Julian and Mert Wendell, end; Julian and Kimble, tackle; Papp and Kimble, guard; Selby, center; and Plummer, Adams, and Pleasanton, back.

IF YOU ARE GOING GUNNING—

REMEMBER there are simple rules which insure good sportsmanship and make and keep shooting a safe sport. These are the "Ten Commandments of Safety" for gunners. They are:

- First Commandment, Carry only empty guns, taken down with the action open, into your automobile, camp, and home;
- Second Commandment, Always be sure that the barrel and action are clear of obstructions;
- Third Commandment, Always carry your gun so that you can control the direction of the muzzle even if you stumble;
- Fourth Commandment, Be sure of your target before you pull the trigger;
- Fifth Commandment, Never point a gun at anything you do not want to shoot;
- Sixth Commandment, Never leave your gun unattended unless you unload it first;
- Seventh Commandment, Never climb a tree or a fence with a loaded gun;
- Eighth Commandment, Never shoot at a flat, hard surface or the surface of water;
- Ninth Commandment, Do not mix gunpowder and alcohol.

Migratory Water Fowl Season Opens In Delaware On Sunday

Same Starting Date Scheduled For New Jersey-Pennsylvania Hunters

With a minimum of one million Americans scheduled to hunt migratory waterfowl this year, Delaware's 45-day season will open on Sunday and close December 5, according to the Bureau of Biological Survey, Department of the Interior.

The same dates hold for New Jersey and Pennsylvania, while the Maryland season will open on November 15 and close on December 23.

The bag limit on geese has been reduced from five daily to four. The reduction, Secretary Ickes in Washington announced, was made on the recommendation of the Biological Survey, which reported geese did not appear in as satisfactory condition last winter as in the previous season.

The changes, approved by President Roosevelt, are in accordance with the federal migratory bird treaty with Canada and Mexico.

Bag Limit Set At 10
The Oct. 22-Dec. 5 season also holds for geese, Wilson's snipes or jackknives, and coots.

The federal regulations on waterfowl hunting for ducks at 10 in the aggregate, but the possession limit remains at 20 in the aggregate. When any daily limit includes canvasbacks, redheads, buffbreeds, and ruddy ducks, not more than three of any one, or more than three in the aggregate of these kinds may be taken, and possession of these particular kinds of ducks is limited to not more than six of any one kind or six in the aggregate.

The daily bag limit on coots remains at 25.

Waterfowl and Coots May Be Hunted Only From 7 a. m. to 4 p. m.

Forbidden Use of Bait
The regulations forbid taking waterfowl by means of bait or use of live duck and goose decoys on continuing the three-shell limit on continuing shotguns, either hand-operated or auto-loading. Hunters may use shotguns not larger than No. 10 gauge, or bow and arrow.

The latter weapon, Ickes said, was added because of interest that has developed in recent years in archery.

These other regulations were announced:

Snipes, rails, gallinules (other than coots), woodcocks, mourning doves, white-winged doves, and band-tailed pigeons, also protected under the Migratory Bird Treaty Act, may be hunted in season from 7 a. m. to sunset.

The daily bag limit for rails and gallinules, other than snipes and woodcocks, is continued at 15 in the aggregate. Other bag limits are: Snipes, 15; coots, 25; woodcocks, 4; jacksnipes, 15; white-winged doves, mourning, and white-winged doves, 15 in the aggregate of both kinds.

LOCAL DOGS COP AWARDS ON BENCHES

Newark Entries Capture Prizes At Three Shows

Newark-owned dogs made their presence felt at three outstanding shows over the week end by marching off with an assortment of cups, plates, and ribbons at Wilmington, North East, and West Chester.

Seventeen prizes in all were pulled down by local animals at the Wilmington Dog show, held at the S. Hallock duPont estate under the auspices of the Kennel Club of Wilmington on Saturday. The Sandy Cove Yacht Club show, North East, and the Sportsmen's Beagle Club show, West Chester. The two last-named events took place on Sunday.

The major portion of the prizes were hauled home by John S. Hopkins, Jr., who topped five awards at North East, and his brother, Charles S. Hopkins, who added five prizes at North East to a pair taken at Wilmington. Other winners from this sector were Miss Mary Alwilda (Boots) Clark, O'Del Kennel, three awards at Sandy Cove; Robert Roy Connell, Elliott Heights, a prize at West Chester, and J. W. Cochran, Capital Trail, a winner at Wilmington.

Takes Rich Trophy
Miss Clark's English setter, Bieperion's Monarch, took down the richest award of the group by winning the Blue Bar Kennels Trophy, valued at $100, which was given to the winner dog at Sandy Cove by C. N. Myers, Hanover, Pa. In addition to being the winner dog, Bieperion's Monarch was judged the best of American breed and the best of winners.

Miss Clark, a senior at the Women's College, University of Delaware, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Clark, noted breeders of both English and Irish setters. Monarch, credited with three points toward a championship rating, won over some of the leading dogs in the east, many of which had competed in the Wilmington show on Saturday.

Chesapeake Bay Wins
Dilwyn Madelle, John S. Hopkins, Jr.'s Chesapeake Bay, was capably handled by John Kelly, P. H. A., of Wilmington, to outdistance some stiff competition at Sandy Cove.

The well-mannered animal was judged as follows: Best of bitches in American bred class; best of winner bitches in all classes; best of winners, bitches and dogs in all classes; best of breed in show of opposite sex.

The water trials, most spectacular event of the day, saw Dilwyn Madelle, handled by her owner, finish second. The trials were judged by John E. Hurst, Washington, and R. Carpenter, Philadelphia.

At the Wilmington show, Charles S. Hopkins had a winner and a second. Ryan's Queen II, a beagle and frequent winner this year, took the 13-inch field trials class for bitches, while White Clay Bonita, second in the 13-inch novice class for beagle bitches. Both animals were handled by Walter H. Clark, master of Stenke Kennels and a rising showman.

More Beagle Victories
Mr. Hopkins handled his dogs at Sandy Cove and won the following awards: White Clay Bonita, first, 13-inch novice bitches (beagles); best of winner bitches, and best of variety of breed. Ryan's Queen II was first in the 13-inch field trials bitches (beagles) and best of winners, field trials bitches (beagles).

Facing the sternest competition he has ever met, Connell's Tipster, a 13-inch beagle, which was judged the best of the recent Newark Dog Show, took third in the American bred beagle class at West Chester. The black and tan youngster was handled by his owner, Robert Roy Connell.

Mr. Cochran's Sundown Cloud, 994009, won the local beagles variety for bitches at Wilmington.

Anti-Doghouse Society
The First Chapter of the Anti-Doghouse Society of America, organized in Newark last year, staged its annual initiation exercises on Friday, Oct. 13, when George M. Worrlow, county agricultural agent, and William St. Clair, superintendent of the National Vulcanized Fibre Company's paper mill, were inducted into the organization.

An exclusive group that demands all candidates to show five good reasons why they think they are eligible for membership, the society's principal requisite is that 75 per cent of a married man's life must have been spent in the doghouse. A dinner meeting is held each Friday the 13th when "dogs" seeking admission must prepare the meal in every detail and banquet their mates.

Mr. Worrlow is known in the society as Pekingsue, while Mr. St. Clair has been endowed with the title of Spaniel, Fred L. Bull, U. S. Soil Conservation Service, formerly of the Newark office but now located in Lancaster, Pa., is the Great Dane of the original chapter.

Dick West is a graduate of Du Pont Manual High School in Louisville, a school that has started many players on the road to success.

Fencing May Be Resumed At Delaware

Sport Dropped Last Year; Investigation Ordered By Council

With a revival of interest in fencing being shown by University of Delaware students, an investigation of the advisability of returning the sport to the Blue Hens' athletic curriculum was ordered at a meeting of the Athletic Council, Tuesday night. Willis Lawrence, who will coach the sport if it is adopted, was appointed to study the situation and make a report at the next session.

Red Devils Carded
Dickinson was returned to the football schedule for 1940 by action of the council and Johns Hopkins University was added to the 1939-40 swimming card. The grid contest is scheduled for Oct. 14, at Carlisle, Pa., while the tank meet is home on March 8.

The Council also approved the appointment of the following managers: John Schwinn, manager of baseball; Walter Smith, assistant manager baseball; J. Edward Schell, sophomore manager of baseball; William Swift, assistant manager of track and Mike Poppitt, assistant manager of tennis.
