POST LAUNCHES GIGANTIC CAMPAIGN

$4,000.00 FOR WORKERS IN THE POST'S SIX-WEEK CAMPAIGN

Every Worker Who Remains Active to End of Campaign Will Be Richly Rewarded For All Work Done

"HELP YOURSELF TRAVEL CLUB"

Every Ambition Can Be Relaxed. Open to Men, Women and Young Folks Who Want to Turn Spare Time Efforts into Attractive Awards or Cash

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 24th—SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 3rd

Write these dates down folks, or mark them on your calendar—anything to help you remember them, for they mark the opening and closing dates of one of the most unusual and interesting events in the history of Northwest Delaware. They mark the beginning and ending of the most astounding opportunity ever offered to the people of this section to make some REAL MONEY during the next six weeks—for these dates mark the opening and ending of the NEWARK POST "Help Yourself Travel Club" campaign.

New Circulation Plan

We know most of our readers are more or less familiar with the "prize contests" frequently employed by newspapers in connection with their circulation building programs, but never before has there been such a broad and liberal plan offered as the Newark Post is now placing before the people of this community—the "Help Yourself Travel Club" campaign.

Magnificent Prizes

Heretofore all prize offers have been made with what amounted to "Take it or leave it" written across the face. In other words, the winners were allowed no option but to take one certain prize, so it frequently happened that some of the workers, failing to win prizes they really desired, would be compelled to take something for which they had no desire. Under the new "Help Yourself Travel Club" plan the winners have a wide selection of awards to choose from with the privilege of taking the equivalent cost value if none of the other offerings meet their desires. What could possibly be more satisfactory?

Automobile-Travel-Aviation

Consider the first or Grand Capital Prize. The winner of first award will be allowed his or her choice between:

(1) A beautiful new Silver Anniversary model Buick 2-door sedan, absolutely the latest word in automobile efficiency, worth $1390.00.

(2) An "All-Expense-Paid" course in Aviation, which means tuition in one of the leading flying schools and a liberal allowance for such expenses as transportation to and from the school selected, board and room, flying suit and incidental expenses.

(3) A "World Before-You" Tour or Trip of the winners own selection, which, as the name implies, means that practically the entire world is opened before you—Europe, the Holy Land, the Mediterranean, Grand Circle Tour of America, Hawaii, etc., etc., almost without end. The only limitation placed on the travel feature is that the entire cost be no greater than the cost of the automobile to this newspaper. There are dozens of alluring and delightful tours which the winner of first honors may take, accompanied by a companion, and have money left on reaching home. Call at the campaign office and look over some of the travel literature. All tours or trips will be supplied by International Tours, Inc., New York and Washington, which is perhaps the largest organization of its kind in the entire world, so that any tour selected will be surrounded by every courtesy and free from even the slightest worry.

(4) The equivalent cost value which means that if a winner of first honors does not care to claim the heavy Buick sedan, has no desire to emulate Lindbergh, Earhart or other heroes of the air, and seek fame and fortune in the field of aviation; has no desire to travel to far lands or even see the wonders of America, then he or she may take the equivalent to the cost of the award in CASH.

Second Award

The second Grand Award has been arranged along the same broad liberal lines as the first. The winner may take his or her choice between:

(1) The beautiful new 2-door Durant Four. This is one of the best low or medium priced automobiles on the market, and is yours for six weeks' work if you win second prize.

(2) Furniture for THE ENTIRE HOME. No person who needs additional furniture for the home, or

PLAN DAHLIA SHOW

The Newark Dahlia Association held a meeting last night and voted to hold a Dahlia Show in the Newark New Century Club, on October 2 and 3. This will be purely a local show and all local dahlia growers are invited to exhibit, whether they are members of the association or not.

Officers were elected for the coming year as follows: A. D. Cobb, president; E. J. Ellison, vice-president; Dr. H. L. Dozier, secretary and treasurer.

Clears Corner

The first move to civilize the Opera House corner was made on Monday night, when New Castle County Constable Wideman arrested three youths, who had been acting in a rowdy manner. The arrests were made after a complaint by a citizen, but no charges were pushed. The boys were lodged in the local jail for about a half hour, and at the end of that time were in a chastened and melting mood. One of them, who had been particularly tough and cocky in his attitude, had melted to the point of tears. The police intend to keep this corner clear and a warning is issued that further arrests are likely to result in more than a reprimand.

WILL BUILD $100,000 THEATRE FOR NEWARK

Louis Handloff To Break Ground for Building, October 1; J. C. Willis Awarded Contract

On October 1, Louis Handloff will break ground for the construction of a modern motion picture theatre, which, when completed and equipped, will cost approximately $100,000. J. C. Willis has been awarded the contract for the construction of the building. Newark will have one of the most complete and best equipped theatres in the state, and a beautiful new building will be added to the business section of the town.

The plans for the new theatre were drawn by the Hoffman-Hinon Company, of Philadelphia, considered the leading theatrical architects in the country. The building will have a 66 foot front and a depth of 135 feet. It will be in two stories and the shell will be of brick. The seating capacity 700.

There will be two stores and a lobby in front. The front will be of white buff brick and will be decorated with pillars and stucco. The floor of the lobby will be tile.

The theatre proper will have an orchestra and one balcony. Upstairs there will be a promenade and a ladies' and a gentlemen's retiring room besides offices, projection and flasher rooms. The inside walls will be of oriental finish and will have mural decorations and draperies.

The equipment of this theatre will be of the most modern obtainable, and every angle of public comfort and enjoyment has been considered. The seats will be roomy and richly upholstered. The lighting and electrical effects will be equal to those of any theatre in the country. The newest ventilating system will be installed, and the matter of emergency exits has been carefully worked out.

The theatre will be equipped with entirely new projection machinery and the latest screen on the market. The music has not yet been entirely decided on, but Mr. Handloff is considering several combinations.

The stage itself will be fully equipped with scenery and mechanical effects to put on any sort of a production.

INOCULATION SLIPS

Dr. S. H. Hurdle, Deputy State Health Commissioner, announces that inoculation slips for the Schick test given August 24, may be had at any time at the office of the Board of Health.

Freshman Week, starting tomorrow for four days, is a new institution at Delaware, having been started two years ago. Its purpose is to allow the new students to get settled, and familiar with their surroundings before the other classes are here.

At Delaware College freshman will register from 8 to 12 o'clock standard time tomorrow morning. At 2 o'clock they will meet in Wolfe Hall when Dean George E. That afternoon at 2 o'clock Dr. Walter Hüllihen, president of the university will address the new students in Wolf Hall on "Aims and purposes of a college education." Following this a reception will be given by President and Mrs. Hüllihen at their home, "The Knoll," for the freshmen and members of the faculty. Parents of the new students are invited to attend both the meeting in Wolf Hall and the reception.

WILL PAVE PARK PLACE THROUGH TO ELKTON RD.

At a special meeting of the Council of Newark, held on Monday night, it was voted to extend the resurfacing of Park Place from Orchard Road to the Town line. The New Castle County Levy Court will open bids today for the resurfacing of Park Place from the Town line to Elkton road.

It was decided by the Council to have A. Petrillo include this extra resurfacing, which will amount to about 700 feet, in his original contract, on a unit basis. This stretch of 700 feet will join the new surface, first decided on, to the section that will be resurfaced by the County, making Park Place a paved street all the way through to the main highway.

At the meeting Monday night, William R. Lynam was sworn in as a member of Council. Mr. Lynam was elected a Councilman to serve the unexpired term of Mr. A. L. Beals.

TREE DAMAGES BUILDING

The front of the jewelry store of J. W. Parrish narrowly escaped demolition, shortly after 8:30 this morning, when a large tree in front of the store blew down and missed the shop window by about six feet. The tree struck the porch at the side of the store entrance, and knocked one side off. Mr. James Barnes, who was passing at the moment, escaped being struck by a small margin.

Firemen's Services

A special service for firemen will be conducted on Friday evening by Dr. Cooke, in the Methodist Gospel Tent, on South Academy street. The Aetna Fire Company, as well as other fire companies will be invited to attend. Chief Ellison of the Aetna Company urgently requests that all members of the company meet at the firehouse at 7 o'clock, standard time, so that they can go to the tent in a body. The Laurel Band will attend and render selections.

TENT SERVICES BEGIN 3RD WEEK

Attendance Records Growing; Interesting Program This Week

The third week of evangelistic services under the auspices of the Methodist Episcopal Church, of this town, began Sunday night in the tent on Academy street with a large crowd.

New Teacher Will Be Here Monday To Relieve Conditions In Grades 2 and 3; Coal Contract Award

CONSTITUTION DAY

At a meeting of the Board of Education, Newark Special School District, held Monday night, the Board voted to add an extra teacher for grades 2 and 3. The contract for coal for the Newark Schools was awarded to the E. J. Hollingsworth Company, on the basis of competitive bidding.

Superintendent of Schools Brinser, in his report to the Board, stressed the problems presented by the increase in enrollment figures. He pointed out that grades 2 and 3 had many pupils over the average number for one teacher and asked that the conditions there be cut to a minimum more effectively workable. The Board acted on his suggestion and engaged Miss Mary Vaughn to assist in the work with these grades. She

NEW ICE CREAM PLANT OPEN TO THE PUBLIC

Walter Powell Invites Public To See Working of Modern Plant On Friday

The public is invited to visit a new plant, on Friday, and see how ice cream is made and handled under the newest and most modern methods of manufacture. Walter Powell will open his new plant to public inspection on that day, and particularly invites all Newark to call and see how their favorite blends and flavors are mixed and hardened and moulded into various forms.

The manufacture of ice cream is not a new industry in Newark, for the Powell family have been making it in the historic old building, back of the present Powell restaurant on Main street, since 1886. First they used horse power, generated on a treadmill, then steam, later gasoline, and now Walter Powell's new plant will be operated entirely by electricity.

The remodeled building which houses the plant dates back many years and was originally a schoolhouse, though it has been impossible to trace back the building to the date of erection. The original heavy slate blackboards are still in place, and must have been there since some time before the middle of the last century.

The building has been entirely renovated and new walls and floors put in. The machinery is the latest and most modern in the field and is made by the York Company. The installation was done by the Central Construction Company of Philadelphia. Besides the mixing moulding and freezing apparatus, the plant includes an ice manufacturing unit. The storage and hardening rooms are cooled by brine, the ice is used only in packing for shipment and delivery. The hardening room is controlled automatically by an apparatus which keeps the temperature at 5 below zero.

One large room houses the machinery which mixes and makes the ice cream. After it is made, it is put in the hardening room for a period of hardening, and placed in the storage room. Both the storage and hardening rooms are completely lined with 7-inch cork lining. The manufacturing capacity of the plant is 50 gallons an hour and 500 gallons a day.

EXONERATE DRIVER IN FATAL AUTO ACCIDENT

At a meeting of a coroner's jury, which met Monday night in the office of Robert T. Jones, deputy coroner, Allen Lockton was exonerated from any blame for the death of Robert Tweed, who died of blood poisoning following an accident to a car that Lockton was driving.

The accident occurred on the Kembleville road on August 26. Mr. Tweed sustained a badly lacerated arm. Blood poisoning set in, and he died on August 29. Mr. Lockton, on advice of counsel, did not testify, although he was present at the inquest. Charles Grier, the other occupant of the car at the time of the accident, testified that the accident occurred on a bad curve, when the road was slippery from a rainfall. He said that the car turned over on its side against a bank, but that it was righted again by the driver. It was brought out that Mr. Tweed, who was in the front seat had his arm sticking out and sustained the lacerations when the car scraped against the side of the bank.

$4,000.00 For Workers In The Post's Six-Week Campaign

wants to furnish a new home, can afford to overlook this offer. It includes the latest and best furnishings for the kitchen, dining room, living room and one bed room.

(3) A world tour of slightly less magnitude than the winner of first award. But a truly remarkable trip.

(4) Take the cash equivalent, based on the cost of the automobile to this newspaper.

Other Awards Alluring

As will be seen by the large four page advertisement in this paper the third, fourth and fifth prizes have also been arranged so the winners of these awards have a wide variety to select from. In every case the winners have the choice of the cash equivalent if none of the awards suit them.

Cash Commissions Too

Those failing to qualify for one of the prizes will be paid a commission of 20 per cent.—$1 on each $5 collected—which is a very liberal business proposition in itself and guarantees that, no matter how many men and women and young folks take part in the campaign, all will be paid and paid well for the effort expended.

Campaign Open To All

There are no strings attached to this offer—no red tape. It is open to all. It does not cost a cent, now or later, to become a member of the "Help Yourself Travel Club." It is not even necessary to be a subscriber to this newspaper.

Early Start Is Valuable

The most important thing is to get started, early, and getting started presents no difficulties. There is no luck about this proposition, so the first thing is to make up your mind you are going to work and win. Having made your decision, get busy. You can't possibly see all your relatives, friends and acquaintances the first day, so use your telephone. You can telephone more people in an hour than you can call on in a week, and a word over the telephone will insure against some other more enterprising workers getting those subscriptions before they even know you are taking part in the campaign.

Get Free Working Outfit

At the first opportunity, get a working outfit and start gathering the actual subscriptions. If it is not convenient for you to get down to the campaign office, telephone 92 and every thing you require will be delivered to you. If not convenient to telephone, write a letter and mail it to the Campaign Manager, Newark Post, Box 94. Minutes are valuable and the subscriptions you get today may be the very ones to win for you on the evening of November 3.

Several Valuable Coupons

Turn now to the large announcement and scan it carefully for the several valuable coupons. In one corner you will find an Entry Coupon, which will entitle you to 5,000 free credits; in another corner you will find a "First Subscription Coupon" which is good for 10,000 extra credits, and in another place will find a "Booster Coupon" which shows you how to get 25,000 extra credits. But one of each of the above coupons may be used by each club member. But there is a smaller coupon, good for 200 credits, of which you may use all you can gather—there is one in every paper, so ask your friends to save them for you. Read every word of the announcement, but remember that after all the all-important thing is to start gathering subscriptions and promises, and the way to start is to start.

The campaign manager will be in the office of the Newark Post from 8:30 in the morning until 9:30 at night during the first two weeks of the campaign. The telephone number is 92, and the post office box is number 94. Get in touch with him at once and get an early start toward one of these attractive prizes.

Ask Yourself This Question

"Which had I rather have—that lovely car—learn to fly—take a delightful trip—have the house furnished or have the hard cash?"

Your dearest wish can be realized—if you make up your mind that it shall be, and then WORK TO WIN.

In a Quandary

Friend—Say, why don't you have your horse shod?

Farmer—Well, when I'm using him I can't do it, and when I'm not, he doesn't need it.

OLD COLONIAL MANSIONS HAD "DEATH CHAMBERS"

In the American Colonies in the eighteenth century the lugubrious custom prevailed of setting aside one room in spacious mansions for a "death chamber."

There was such a room in the massive, square-sided house of General Knox at Thomaston, Me., before the building was demolished a few years ago. It was above the eastern dining room, and with but one window it was, indeed, dark and gloomy. The wallpaper was white with sombre black figures and a deep mourning frieze. The Maine Daughters of the American Revolution, in seeking data concerning the old mansion, a duplicate of which is soon to be erected in Thomaston as a memorial museum to General Knox, have obtained a description of the room.

References to these rooms are meager in any writings pertaining to those earlier days. Yet in the more pretentious homes such chambers were nearly always set aside. Between deaths they were kept locked.

Farm seeker—I thought you advertised this as a good location for dairying. There is hardly any grass for cows to eat.

Real Estate Agent—No, but if you will look around you will see cowslips, buttercups, and plenty of milkweed.

The lesson-sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Theology and physics teach that Spirit and matter are real and good, whereas the fact is that Spirit is good and real, and matter is Spirit's opposite?"

SPONSORS CHILDREN'S TYPEWRITER CAMPAIGN

STRESS EDUCATIONAL VALUE OF TYPEWRITERS

According to Mr. Lake of the Shilling Lake Company, 9th and West streets, Wilmington, much headway is being made in the "Typewriter for Children Campaign" which is being sponsored by the Portable Typewriter Manufacturer's Educational Bureau.

The argument in favor of the typewriter is that the young child must give such deep concentration to the mere act of forming letters and words by hand is a tremendous barrier to the quick transfer of mental impressions to paper. Only recently have educators come to realize the possibilities of the typewriter as a tool of primary education. It has been proven that a child provided with a portable typewriter learns much faster.

There are five reasons advanced for this: First: Elimination of the difficulty of forming letters; Second: Children learn from print, and the typewriter enables them to express themselves in the same characters; Third: The child can concentrate on expression rather than with formation; Fourth: Interest is stimulated by the typewriter itself; Fifth: Children are picture spellers, and the typed word is a picture.

MONEY THE BEST FRIEND OF YOUR OLD AGE

"Of 100 men," says Warren A. Singles of the Newark Trust Company, "taken at the age of 25 and followed for forty years, only five reach financial independence at the age of 65."

"Thirty-six are dead, five are still working for a living, and fifty-four are dependent in whole or part upon public or private charity."

"Of 100 men who actually reach the age of 65, seven are independent, eight are still working, and eighty-five are dependent on outside aid."

"These figures are accurate even if they are not pleasant; they must be faced. Unless you deliberately plan for independence in old age, there is but a slim chance of reaching it."

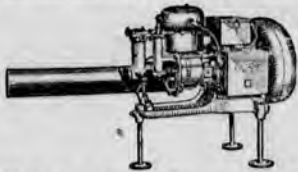

"The solution lies in saving money during the productive years, so that the compounding of interest will so increase the amount put away, insuring a good weekly income after 65 and an estate left for your children after your death."

DELAWARE CROPS SHOW DECLINE IN AVERAGE

The composite of the prospective yields of Delaware crops declined 6.9 per cent from August 1 to September 1, according to S. R. Newell, Federal Agricultural Statistician for Delaware. The condition of all crops was lower except soybeans and hay which improved slightly and sweet potatoes which remained the same as a month ago.

The storms during August were the

WILLIAMS OIL-O-MATIC NEW MODEL "J"

Williams Oil-O-Matic is a time-tested pioneer. It is heating the homes of more than 70,000 satisfied owners—more than any other oil burner. Entirely automatic, Williams Oil-O-Matic gives you and your family complete release from all home heating worries. It banishes coal and ashes with their dirt and dust—maintains a constant, even, healthful temperature.

It's cost is moderate and on payment of a small sum it will be installed in your home. Then while you are enjoying its comfort the balance may be paid on easy terms.

The Oil-O-Matic agency in Newark is held by Daniel Stoll, who will be glad to show you one of these heaters in operation.

principal reasons for the decline in crop conditions. The first storm on August 11 began in Maryland and taking a strip about 40 miles wide traveled in a northeasterly direction to Dover. The storms later in the month added to the damage already done.

Corn was blown down badly which means a good bit of short corn this fall, some will probably rot in the fields before harvest time. The condition of corn on August 1 was 89 per cent, by September 1 the condition had declined to 75 per cent which indicates a loss in production of about 737,000 bushels.

Potatoes were reported damaged by excessive rains. The condition declined from 85 on August 1 to 76 on September 1 while indicated production dropped from 714,000 bushels on August 1 to 638,000 bushels on September 1.

The total supply of hay this year will be slightly larger than the 5-year average supply but somewhat smaller than the total supply of 1927. The quality of the hay crop this year is not likely to be as high as the 1927 crops. Weather conditions seem to have operated against the farmers this year in making a good quality of hay.

Tomatoes seem to have been severely damaged since August 1. The condition is reported at 55 per cent as compared to 77 per cent on August 1. The average yield per acre on September 1 was 2.8 tons per acre as compared to 3.9 tons per acre on August 1 and 5.1 tons per acre a year ago.

FALL SHOES AT MONAGHAN'S

Black kid in youthful stylings is fast making its mark in the fall fashions, judging by the display at Monaghan's Shoe Store, 4th and Madison streets, Wilmington. Brown and blue still rank high. The popularity of materials has a bearing from the costume angle. The importance of a good shoe is now shoes, bag and hat all matching in action is very chic.

Women's quality wools are featured in tie and strap patterns, the broad one-strap being a favorite of the season. Center buckles are often used instead of the side closing. Natural lizard and alligator for women's welt shoes are the aristocrats of the mode for this season. Black patents are still quite the thing.

Business in children's school shoes has increased in a marked manner during the past three weeks and Monaghan's have plenty of sturdy shoes for the rough and ready wear demanded by the growing boy.

A MOVING PERSONALITY

A good many of you may know Mr. G. G. Warrington, the local and long distance moving man. If you do not happen to know this gentleman it will pay you to make his acquaintance, for it will help you whenever you have anything that you want moved.

It does not matter what you want moved, Mr. Warrington has the equipment to handle it, not only the right way, but also the way that will cost you the least money.

Mr. Warrington has just added a new fully equipped van to his fleet. This van is equipped with pneumatic tires. This van is padded and will move you easily and quickly any distance.

No matter where you want a load small or large moved, no matter the distance, you will not make a mistake in getting in touch with Mr. Warrington. His address is 1023 Lombard street, Wilmington. Phone 10637.

WHERE AND WHAT TO EAT

This question does not bother a good many Newarkers who have found that it pays in a great many ways to eat at the New York Restaurant, at 410 Market street, in Wilmington.

You will always find a large variety of all kinds of food, and everything that is in season, fresh from the farm or from the water. This restaurant makes a specialty of sea food platters and dinners. They take the best of the sea food that comes to the City of Wilmington. It will not be long before you will be able to secure here the very best of oysters, fresh, and fresh opened. The cooking is such that it just cannot be beat; the kitchen is a model for cleanliness, and it is always passed with a high mark by the city inspector.

But this is beside the question, the fact is that they have cooks that know how to prepare and cook the good things that they search the markets for. You have all had the misfortune to buy some food stuff of the best quality, and then have it just ruined in the preparation and cooking. A lot is in the seasoning and the cooks here have had years of experience in this branch of work and can please the most particular appetite.

SOFT DRINK DEMAND INCREASE

In spite of the cooler weather of the past two weeks there has been no decrease in the demand for soft drinks, says Mr. Mundorff of the Orange Crush Bottling Co., 2932 Market street, Wilmington.

All the fleet of trucks are kept going from early morning to the closing hour. The Fair is going to cause a great demand for soft drinks during its stay in Wilmington, September 24 to 29.

Our Campaign

With this issue of The Post, we are announcing the first step in a program to make it a more potent instrument for perpetuating the ideals and traditions of public service, which are the heritage of the paper from its founder, Everett C. Johnson.

The subscription campaign, which we launch today, is being managed, of course, by an organization which specializes in this sort of work. We selected this organization with a great deal of deliberation, and chose one with a national reputation for ethical methods and fair dealing, and with an excellent record of thirty years service in this field.

The campaign is in the form of a competition open to everyone in the communities served by The Post. We have selected a list of prizes in which we have tried to anticipate the desires of everyone. Of course we realize that only a few of the workers will win prize awards, so we have arranged to pay a liberal commission to all contestants who do not win premiums. The contest is being conducted under definitely stated rules, and we have asked a number of men, representative of the various interests in the community, to serve as an advisory board to act in the case of any dispute with the rules of the campaign.

For the next six weeks we want to see everyone in the community, who has a little spare time to sell. We will be glad to make liberal payment for this time either in cash or in valuable premiums. This is a competition in which there are no losers.

A Call For Help

A natural disaster has again visited people under the protection of our Country, and as usual the American Red Cross is meeting the emergency. There has been taken a staggering toll of human life, and the destitute survivors in Porto Rico would be facing extinction if it were not for the aid from this country that is being rushed to them. Newark has always responded promptly to a call for help; usually it has contributed far in excess of its stated quota. It will undoubtedly contribute generously for the relief of the stricken people on our own coast, and on the devastated island of Porto Rico. Contributions may be sent to either the Farmer's Trust Company or the Newark Trust Company, and these institutions will forward the money to the Red Cross headquarters.

THE COLLEGE YEAR

Untroubled by anxious questions, what is wrong with the American college, or even by definite findings that pretty nearly everything is wrong, something like 300,000 young men and women have made all necessary preparations for becoming freshmen within the next fortnight. In this respect they behave very like their adult relatives who continue to get married despite the breakdown of marriage, to earn their livings in the offices of shops despite the crisis of the white-collar class, to raise cotton, wheat and hogs despite the prostration of agriculture, and to vote the party ticket despite the disintegration of the parties. As an index to national prosperity the extraordinary growth of higher popular education may be considered at least as significant as the increase of automobiles.

In 1890 high school attendance accounted for 5 1/2 per cent of all children of high school age; in 1926 the percentage was 35. In 1890 the number of college students was 1 1/2 per cent of the total population of college age; in 1926 it was 9 per cent. The new academic year will probably find 1,000,000 students in the colleges, universities and professional schools. This enormous gain has been effected in the face of mounting costs of college education far beyond the rise in the general level of prices. Last June President Emeritus Thwing stated in "The New York Times" that the average annual cost of tuition for men and women twenty years ago was $130; today it is $336. Even when allowance is made for the relatively greater amount of self-support among college students, it is obvious that a high condition of family well-being stands behind a four-fold increase in the number of students purchasing college education at double the cost.

The rush to the colleges has not been an unmitigated blessing; certainly not from the point of view of harassed college administrations and faculties compelled to face a problem both numerically and qualitatively complex. The opinion has been expressed in competent quarters that 50 per cent of the students in college do not belong there. Thirty years ago there were many men in college who did not belong, and the ratio has undoubtedly risen. But until we have agreed upon a definite formula of what colleges are for, and what is success in college and what is failure, and until the psychologists and the personnel experts have perfected a really satisfactory measuring rod for fit and unfit, we are justified in refusing to be discouraged. In every great social forward surge there are involved waste and error. The wise man waits for stabilization and ultimate results, and in the meanwhile buckles down to the day's task.

That actually is what the college administrators and teachers are doing. Experimentation is the order of the day; in dealing with the more pressure of numbers; in providing opportunity for the exceptional student; in new pedagogical method; in adapting curriculum to new social conditions. The things that are wrong with the American college arise largely out of things that are well with the American people—an increasing material well-being exploited for a broader intellectual development.

HOW TO TRAVEL

According to our stipulations, the man from whom we hired the horses was to beat the expense of their feed and stabling on the journey, as well as of the maintenance of our Biscayan squire, who of course was provided with funds for the purpose; we took care, however, to give the latter a private hint, that though we made a close bargain with his master, it was all in his favor, as, if he proved a good man and true, both he and the horses should live at our cost, and the money provided for their maintenance remained in his pocket. This unexpected largess won his heart completely. He was, in truth, a faithful, cheery, kind-hearted creature, as full of saws and proverbs as that miracle of squires, the renowned Sancho himself, whose name, by the way, we bestowed upon him, and, like a true Spaniard, though treated by us with companionable familiarity, he never for a moment, in his utmost hilarity, overstepped the bounds of respectful decorum.

Such were our minor preparations for the journey, but above all we laid in an ample stock of good humor, and a genuine disposition to be pleased, determining to travel in true contrabandista style; taking things as we found them, rough or smooth, and mingling with all classes and conditions in a kind of vagabond companionship. It is the true way to travel in Spain. With such disposition, what a country it is for a traveller, where the most miserable inn is as full of adventure as an enchanted castle, and every meal is itself an achievement! Let others repine at the lack of turnpike roads and sumptuous hotels, and all the elaborate comforts of a country cultivated and civilized into tameness and commonplace; but give me the rude mountain scramble; the roving, hap-hazard, wayfaring; the half wild, yet frank and hospitable manners, which impart such a true game-flavor to dear old romantic Spain.—Washington Irving, in "The Alhambra."

It is a notable fact that most of the speed records are made by people who are not going anywhere.—San Diego Union.

PLANS EXHIBIT FOR WIL. FAIR

County Agent To Show Methods of Treating Seed

Preparing and arranging the County Agent exhibit at the Wilmington Fair to be held September 24-29, will be part of New Castle County Agent, Ed Willim's job during the present week.

Mr. Willim intends to stress the value of seed wheat and corn treatment for wheat smut and corn root rots, as well as have a general exhibit of posters and signs showing how the county agent can help the farmer obtain more economic wheat production, more economic milk production and cheaper protein for dairy feed from alfalfa.

This exhibit along with the one being arranged by Mrs. K. H. Daugherty, County Home Demonstration Agent, will be in the University of Delaware Building at the Fair Grounds near Elsmere.

In the seed treatment exhibit Mr. Willim hopes to show how the wheat grower can treat his wheat at home with the barrel outfit. The various dusts such as Semesan, Merko, Copper Carb and Boyer dust which are used in seed treatment to control corn root rot and wheat smut will be on exhibit. A small model treating machine which the agent hopes to have running by electricity, will also be shown. It is possible that a large barrel outfit which any farmer can easily construct, will be in the building.

"This exhibit should be of special interest to the farmers of upper New Castle county this year," says the county agent, "because of the fact that no dealer in the territory is going to clean and treat seed as was done last year by J. Irvin Dayett of Cooch's Bridge. This means that the wheat grower from the Canal north, will have to take their wheat to a dealer at Mt. Pleasant to be treated or do it at home. The use of the home-made barrel outfit is encouraged because of this condition. And," continued Mr. Willim, "I'm not so sure but that the individual barrel outfit does just as good work as is done by the machine treating ones, and it has the advantage of being a bit cheaper and then the farmer can treat his wheat any time (on a rainy day, for instance) without having to haul it away from the farm, wait his turn at the treating machine, and then haul it back again. As far as the danger from the dust used, this is very little."

"The use of a mask or treating out in the wind by keeping on the windy side will practically do away with any danger from this source."

Mr. Willim will be glad to demonstrate the home treating method to any one interested in it.

"AND THEY MURMUR NOT"

As the throngs of people in pursuit of comfort paddled and splashed about one sweltering, mid-August afternoon at a popular municipal bathing beach, their din of merriment was suddenly pierced by terror-laden shrieks of:

"Help! Help! She's drowning!" Before a fear-paralyzed multitude had time in which even to think coherently, a sun-bronzed, capable figure flashed through it toward the scene of distress. A dozen or so strokes, a dive, and then thunderous applause as a life-guard bore to palpitant outstretched hands a half-drowned and badly frightened little girl.

The same afternoon and in the same town a deep and swiftly running river was also the scene of a deed of gallantry. Unlike the spectacle at the lake, however, this one had for an audience just three naked and terror-stricken little boys.

On account of treacherous undercurrents, together with a sheer fall of thirty feet, the river was forbidden territory to bathers. Four venturesome boys, and for reasons that only the men of affairs of tomorrow if they would could supply, had chosen it as their cooling medium that hot afternoon. All went well until a future president of the First National found himself in difficulties. Having set out to swim all the way across, he suddenly discovered, but all too late, that his strength could not possibly last out the attempt. Turning about in mid-stream he started back, but upon viewing the space of relentlessly moving water which separated him from shore, he knew instantly that, without aid, he could never make it. Frantically he shouted for help.

Well aware of the peril, one of the chums fled for a nearby clothes-line, while the other two moved downstream abreast of the swimmer, shouting encouragement.

At last the rope came! There then followed frenzied effort to throw one end of the line to the companion in distress. Each of the many attempts was a failure—by many feet, while slowly, but ever so surely, the current swept the bravely fighting comrade on to the fall—and almost to certain death.

Suddenly the swimmer, in a voice that fought valiantly for supremacy over the thunders of the tumbling cataraet, shouted: "The one-end-to-Bruce-and-I'll-call-him!"

"Bruce" was a bit of a mongrel collie owned by the lad in the water. Throughout these proceedings he had been racing excitedly up and down the edge of the stream signifying by throaty whinnings that he was fully aware of the danger his young master was in and testifying as only a dog can that he wanted to help.

With feverish fingers one end of the rope was tied to Bruce's neck and then all three shouted in unison, "All right; call him!"

At the sound of his name the dog was off with a yelp of joy, swimming with all the power at his command straight to the bobbing head of his youthful master and just as the boy's strength was all but gone he overtook him.

Mingling with the tumult of the crashing cascade of water those eagerly waiting on shore at last heard: "Pull in!"

By the most singular coincidence an echo of these two near tragedies was heard two weeks later which disturbed momentarily the even trend of affairs in two offices down at the city hall.

In the sanctuary of the chief executive a very thankful father of a little girl sought to induce the mayor publicly to present a medal together with another and no less tangible token of esteem to a deserving life-guard. At the same time and downstairs in an office of the city's dog catcher one of his henchmen was reporting:

"Had a pretty good day, yestiddy, Chief—got six. Would 'a' had another—a bit of a mongrel collie down near the falls, but just as I got me hand on him he bit me. Some of them collies sure is mean and good fer nothin', ain't they?"—Leon Archibald in "Our Dumb Animals."

WANTS LESS EMPHASIS ON BATTLEFIELD EXPLOITS

Dr. Leonard V. Koos, professor of education at the Minneapolis School of Education, speaking at the summer session of the University of Rochester expressed the belief that more regard for economic and social facts in school histories would cause more respect for work and progress than the emphasizing of battlefield exploits does. He said, in part:

"Put young people in possession of facts, show them the dignity of labor and give them an intelligent appreciation of it, and more will be accomplished in social progress," he said. "The inventions of the last 100 years are the foundation of our social life, and many of them have a far wider influence on the lives of American people than Presidents. Yet school histories barely touch them."

Dr. Koos supported his contention with figures which, he said, illustrated proportional space given to respective subjects in 18 current history textbooks as follows: Military campaigns, 87 1/2 pages; inventions, 5 1/2 pages; railroads, 2 7-10 pages; relations of capital and labor, 1 8-10 pages; labor organizations, 6-10 of a page; child labor, nothing; the liquor problem, 3-10 of a page; women in industry, nothing, and suffrage, two to three pages.

Hope rests in the tendency of a few educators to overlook the short-comings of various history textbooks in favor of economic and progressive facts as presented by available literature, Dr. Koos said.

"GOOD MORNIN' NEIGHBOR"

Vacationists enjoying a holiday learn, among many other things, the beauty and friendliness of a cheery salutation that is not limited to acquaintances, but generously extended to strangers who are strangers only as long as they choose to hold aloof. It matters little whether the greeting is a manly kiss on either cheek in France, a deep salaam, a rubbing of noses, a hearty "Howdy," or the cordial "Good mornin', neighbor," of rural New England, they all spell good fellowship and start the day right.

The summer sojourners especially in rural New England bring back treasured memories of these marks of friendliness that are particularly gestures of hospitality. The farmer driving his flivver or old Dobbin to town in the early morning assumes the role of host to every camper or summer visitor on the way and cheerily greets them. His good wife wipes her hands on her apron as she smiles her welcome from the kitchen window. The "barefoot boy with cheeks of tan" whistles his merry tune, grins shyly, looks at you frankly; and you are glad with him. The men in the hayfield wave a friendly hand to the passing automobiles. The trainmen, as they whirl through the countryside, have a greeting for every camp or cottage, and in some of the remote places the passing of the 5:15 is an event that finds everyone scurrying to the porch or front door to exchange salutations with engineer and conductor.

Behind the neighborly greeting of the country may be found a deep love for one's fellowman that might well be used more extensively with the city nod.—Christian Science Monitor.

WHERE HATS OF SILVER
MEASURE WEALTH

The Yamas, who live on a little island south of Formosa, have two ambitions—to build fine boats, whose sides they ornament with beautiful designs, and to possess silver hats—the larger the better, for by the measure of his silver hat is the prestige of the individual judged.

The first requirement is a quantity of silver coins, which are laboriously beaten with a stone into thin strips. The strips are then made into cone-shaped hats. Some of the hats belonging to the more affluent of the colony come down to the shoulders. An oblong opening is left for the eyes, so that the owner may survey the admiration his large hat attracts.

Coach Rothrock of the University of Delaware issued first call for football candidates, and Sunday night 30 men reported, headed by Captain Max Glasser. Practice started Monday morning. Until college opens, the training table will be at the Deer Park Hotel.

Coach Rothrock has been giving the men light preliminary work for the last three days to get them loosened up and in shape for a hard drive which he will soon start to point for the first game with Drexel, October 6. Practices are called on Frazer Field at 9 in the morning and 2 in the afternoon.

Two of the new candidates who reported for early practice are Marion, "Biff" Hopkins, one of Newark High School's best athletes, and Bill Sheldy, of Wilmington. Both of these men starred last season for Rutgers Prep, Hopkins captaining the team. Other new candidates are Warren, Wardel, Smith, Waddington and Sloan. Other candidates are expected to report after the opening of college.

Veterans who have reported for practice are: Di Joseph, Taylor, Rose, Squillace, Flynn, West, Hoffecker, Steele, Hill, Staats, Reese, Draper, Benson, Barton, Kane, Russo, Green, Boggs, Parkinson and Riggins. William E. Hayes, Jr., with assistant coach Doherty, is attending to the business details of the football season.

Floyd Hubert, potent backfield man, who starred three years ago, is expected back in uniform this year and will add strength and experience to the Delaware offensive.

The schedule of games is as follows:

October 6—Drexel at Newark; October 13—Mt. St. Mary's at Newark; October 20—Ursinus at Collegeville, Pa.; October 27—Rutgers at New Brunswick, N. J.; November 3—Swarthmore at Swarthmore; November 10—Gallaudet at Newark; November 17—St. John's at Newark; November 24—Haverford at Newark.

ELKTON WINS FIRST IN TRI-COUNTY SERIES

Elkton defeated North East, Saturday in the first game of the play-off series for the Tri-County League championship. Both Arrants, for Elkton, and Bryan, for North East, pitched airtight ball, Arrants yielding 6 hits and Bryan, 5. The second game of the series is being played in Elkton this afternoon. Should North East take today's game, the third game will be played at North East, Saturday. Score:

COUNTRY CLUB WINNERS

Paul F. Pié won the Kickers' Handicap, on Saturday afternoon, at the Country Club, with a net score of 77. Dean C. A. McCue was second with a 76. In this event the players take any handicap they choose, and then an arbitrary figure is selected. This figure being unknown to the contestants.

R. S. Haney won the low net medal prize on Saturday afternoon with a 76. The silver spoon awarded Sunday for low gross score went to Charles Pié, who turned in an 84.

This Saturday there will be a handicap match against par, and next Saturday the Newark Country Club will play its last team match of the season against Coatesville Country Club, at Coatesville.

NATIONAL GRANGE HOME-COMING IN NOVEMBER

A genuine home-coming will be the big National Grange session in Washington, D. C., scheduled for November 14 to 23, the 62nd annual convention of this great farm fraternity. The fact that the Grange was organized in the Capital City of the nation, and that many of its outstanding activities have been of legislative character, naturally associates the Grange with Washington and gives added interest to the coming convention.

Thousands of farmers throughout the country who have long planned a trip to Washington will take it at this time, and in connection with the ten days' session many sight-seeing trips will be planned for the delegates, covering important points in the vicinity of Washington. An attendance of several thousand, and representing more than 30 different states, will mark the coming convention, and not only will special rates prevail on all railroads, but hundreds of members are coming by auto bus and in private cars, not a few of them planning to camp along the way and have a real vacation outing.

An interesting fact about National Grange sessions is that they are always scheduled for a fixed date in November, in order to accomplish two purposes:—First, to insure at least eight days after the national election before the Grange session opens, so that no member will have any excuse for not voting before leaving home; second, to assist the Grange in maintaining its strictly non-partisan treatment of public questions by holding its annual session after presidential elections, rather than at some point previous to same.

Potomac Grange, No. 1, at Washington, which will be the host to the coming National Grange session, not only has the distinction of being the first Grange ever organized, but also includes in its membership more prominent in national affairs than any other single subordinate. Many of these will take the highest degree of the Grange, which is to be conferred on the evening of November 16 at the Washington municipal auditorium, with an expected class running into the thousands.

It's a sure sign of summer when a Scotchman throws his Christmas tree away.—Dennison Flamingo.

AS TOLD BY OUR CORRESPONDENTS

Christiana

A Harvest Home Service will be held in the Salem M. E. Church, on Sunday, October 14, at 2 p. m. Rev. T. R. Van Dyke, of New Castle, will be the speaker.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Presbyterian Church met last Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William H. McCoy, as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. McCoy and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Weer. During the business session, it was voted to hold the annual church supper on October 24. The following committee was appointed to make arrangements for the supper and to appoint their own sub-committees: Mrs. Thomas Appleby, chairman, Mrs. Frank Moody and Mrs. Raymond Lynam. Mrs. B. F. Moor, chairman of the entertainment committee, presented an enjoyable program, as follows: Songs by the Society; charades, arranged and acted by Misses Margaret Moor, Anna Moody, Dorothea Rothwell and Ruth Phelps; a playlet, "Parted by Patience," with the following cast: Aunt Patience, Mrs. Wm. H. McCoy; Mrs. Robert Allen, Mrs. H. A. Phelps; Miss Eleanor Cory, Miss Nellie Appleby; Mr. Robert Allen, Mr. Thomas Appleby; Mr. Norman Bell, Mr. Harry C. Dance.

The Christiana Methodist Social met last Thursday evening at the parsonage, the guests of Rev. and Mrs. Preston W. Spence, Jr. At that time the ladies of the church decided to hold their annual fall supper Wednesday evening, October 17, in the vestry of the church.

The Junior Choir connected with the Methodist Church will resume regular practice this week after the summer vacation. The choir meets each week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Lowth.

The local school has an unusually large enrollment this fall—there being thirty-two pupils in the lower room, which includes the first four grades, and twenty-six in the upper room, grades five to eight. The teachers, Mrs. Hill and Mrs. Kennard, both of Newark, are planning to raise some funds for the school by giving a little play, hoping to have it ready by the middle of October.

Work is progressing satisfactorily on the improvement of the road from Christiana to Hares Corner. If the weather continues favorable, the work of pouring the concrete will probably be started early next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Ware are occupying part of the house on the old Singles Place, the farm now owned by Mr. Charles Burge, and tenanted by his son, Mr. John Burge and his family.

Mr. Joseph Delcollo and family have moved into the Roberts bungalow on the road to Newark. Mr. Delcollo recently purchased this property from Mr. James Hall, who moved back to his old home on Long Island, following the death of his wife some months ago.

Miss Florence M. Appleby and Miss Marion Phelps returned home last Thursday, after a week's stay at the Mt. Pleasant House, Mt. Pocono.

Miss Leona Newman and Mr. Jack Wicks, of Cape May N. J., and Mrs. Hester Cleaver were callers Saturday night at the home of Mrs. Cleaver's son, Mr. Olan J. Cleaver.

Mr. R. Earle Dickey is spending a two weeks' vacation at his home here. Mr. Dickey is employed as chemist in the State Department of Agriculture at Dover.

"For Sale--One 1908 Car"

An ad like that would get a few laughs, and that's about all. A 1908 car wouldn't look so good parked in front of your home.

But how about your Heating Equipment? Are you still struggling along with methods that were introduced 20 years ago? Things have changed since 1908. Today you needn't crank a car—and you needn't shovel coal or lug out the ashes.

It won't cost you a cent to find out about the "Oil-O-Matic." That's our name for 1928 Model Heating.

Lodge Notes

I. O. R. M.

On next Tuesday evening Minnehaha Tribe No. 23, I. O. R. M., will hold their meeting at 6:30, standard time, in order to go to Middletown and visit Seneca Tribe, for the purpose of presenting a prize won by the latter at the Red Men-Heptasophs Carnival, held last spring. As this will also be election of officers, it is hoped a big crowd will be on hand. Don't forget, 6:30, standard time.

A. O. U. W.

On last Thursday evening the A. O. U. W., at a regular meeting, elected the following officers for the next term: Past Master Workman, Marguerite S. Balling; Master Workman, James Frazer; Foreman, Edith Jackson; Overseer, Elizabeth Lindell; Guide, Alice Fell; Inside Watch, Louis Fell; Outside Watch, George Gravenor; Recorder, Robert J. Crow. J. R. O. U. A. M.

The live wire lodge American Flag Council No. 28, Jr. O. U. M., met in their council chamber Monday evening with Councilor Smythe in the chair. Special work and business was transacted. Prospects are great for large meetings this fall and winter. Large number of members visited Canterbury Council on Tuesday night with Brother State Vice-Councilor Henry F. Mote. All members are urged to assemble Thursday evening in Council Chamber at 6:30 p. m., standard time, to proceed to services in the Big Tent by Dr. Cooke. Dr. Cooke being a Junior we should have a large number out as he has a wonderful message for us. Last Monday evening Prof. Ira S. Brinser, of our public schools, gave an interesting address on "Juniorism and Its Relation to Our Public School." In the course of his address he laid stress on the word, "We," also on our loyalty to "Our Flag" and above all the Great Book of Life, "Our Bible." Brother Geo. Goldey gave an interesting talk also. These talks were followed by general discussion. About 35 were present.

Next month a great Junior Rally will be held. Date, place and speaker to be announced later. Brothers, above all, "let us hold fast our line." A. Neal Smythe, Councilor.

NEW RESTAURANT

"Luncher's Haunt," a new type of restaurant will open in Newark tomorrow. It was to have made its bow Tuesday, but a delay in the finishing of the decorations pushed the opening date back two days. Its quarters are on the second floor of the building next to Rhodes' Drug Store. The proprietor is J. Caleb Boggs, a sophomore at Delaware College.

Young Boggs is from Dover and last year played center on the Jay Vees football team. He played in one varsity game last year, and this season is out for a birth in the line. He will be assisted in the restaurant by Frank Peterson, who has had considerable restaurant experience. The kitchen will be run by a woman of prominence in her line.

"Luncher's Haunt" will specialize in the quick serving of clean and appetizing food. It will serve soup, sandwiches, coffee and special hot dishes, as well as ice cream, pies and cake. Boggs plans to serve an early 6 o'clock breakfast and will remain open late at night.

On Sunday night, September 23, a special musical program will be given in front of the Public Building by Joe Basile's Madison Square Garden Band which will furnish music in the grand stand during the afternoon and evenings of the Fair.

Mr. Cracraft said that great interest is being shown in the horse and automobile races to be held, and that a number of entries have already been made.

Ruth Pell, '33, gave an address, "The History of the Constitution." William Fletcher, '33, talked on "The Departments of the Constitution."
