Irish Comedy Is Now In Final Stage Leading Roles In Play Now Cast

By JUDY KASE

The E-52 Players are now in their last weeks of rehearsal for "Juno and the Paycock," which will be presented on the Mitchell Hall stage on December 7, 8, and 9. In the casting of this Irish classic, the Players have been most fortunate in securing Robert MacFarland and Thomas Waters for the leading roles of Capt. Boyle and Joxer. Both actors are only two generations removed from Ireland and can therefore catch the real flavor of the colorful Irish character. The play is directed by Dr. C. Robert Kase, head of the Department of Dramatic Arts and Speech. Mr. Herman Middleton is the technical director.

Sean O'Casey, author of "Juno," is the greatest dramatist of post-war Ireland. Born in Dublin in 1884 into a poor family, O'Casey describes life in the Dublin tenements without exaggeration. He has written only what he knows from his own experiences. "Juno and the Paycock" has a mingling of the pitiful and the comic, and is completely Irish in its recollection of the spark of beauty to be found in the heart of despair. Though the scenes are tragic in intent, three-fourths of the dialogue provoked audiences to uncontrollable laughter in past Broadway and foreign productions.

Background

The O'Casey comedy had its premier performance at the Abby Theater in Dublin in 1924. Sara Allgood played Juno and Barry Fitzgerald the Paycock, the heads of the Boyle family. Both Miss Allgood and Mr. Fitzgerald were in the cast of the 1940 Broadway revival. The play was produced four times during a thirteen year period in New York. "Juno" was described as "one of the greatest plays of our time" by Mr. Watts

Military Program For Women Is Now Being Considered

The Department of Military Science and Tactics has recently received information relative to commissions for women in the regular army.

To be eligible under this program an applicant must be a college graduate or prospective graduate in her senior year, who will have attained her 21st birthday but will not have passed her 27th birthday on September 1, 1951. Prior military service is not required.

Selection will be made after a competitive screening process, and successful applicants will be given direct appointments in the WAC Section of the Officers' Reserve Corps and ordered to extended active duty next summer to attend a basic course of several months at Fort Lee, Virginia. During the training period they will receive the pay and allowances of second lieutenants. Upon satisfactory completion of this course they will apply for appointment in the regular army, and if qualified, will be commissioned.

Officer assignment policies for women in the army closely resemble those applying to male officers and it is felt this program will appeal to qualified young women about to graduate from college who wish to prepare themselves for a career offering many interesting assignments and continuing education.

All applications for commission must reach Headquarters Second Army, Fort George G. Meade, Md. not later than January 15, 1951, in order that the prescribed screening procedures may be accomplished. Applicants who desire to appear before the Board during the Christmas season should appear before the Board during the Christmas season.

J. Withall Succeeds Weitz As Psych Center Director

By CAROL KOLB

Dr. John Withall, associate professor of education, has been appointed acting director of the University's Psychological Services Center for the present academic year. He succeeds Dr. Henry Weitz, who resigned this past summer to become guidance director at Duke University.

Dr. Withall, a specialist in the fields of child psychology and the psychology of group behavior, joined the faculty this fall, after having taught in the summer sessions.

Training

He is a graduate of Bishop's College in Lennoxville, Canada, where he also received his degree of Master of Education. After several years of teaching high school in Montreal, he became a research assistant in the Department of Education at the University of Chicago, from which he received his Doctor of Philosophy in 1948. Following that, he was supervisor of the Records Office of the Laboratory School at the University of Chicago, and an instructor in the Department of Education there. In 1949, while in Chicago, he was a faculty participant in a seminar for the preparation of college teachers. Last year at Brooklyn College, he was assistant professor in the Department of Education.

Dr. Withall is a member of Phi Delta Kappa, graduate education fraternity, and has published articles in many leading education magazines.

Activities

Discussing the activities of the Psychological Services Center, Dr. Withall said: "A well-rounded educational program today is expected to provide students with opportunities for guidance and counseling. The Psychological Services Center, within the framework of a faculty-adviser system of advisement, attempts to implement a program of services for students that may help them with some of their problems which prevent them from deriving maximum benefits and satisfaction from their academic and other activities. The center is equipped to help students who are hindered by hearing or speech disabilities. It also counsels students faced with troublesome situations or choices which they have been unable to resolve. At the same time, a testing service utilizing standard tests is available to any students who want an assessment of his competence and interests."

Music Festival Centered Around Del. Philharmonic

NOTICE

On December 15, the SGA will present its Winter Formal featuring the music of two wonderful bands, Matt Gillespie and his Orchestra and the Rampart Street Boys. The dance is formal. Tickets are $2.40 and will go on sale Monday, December 11.

E. Carmichael Has Poem Published

"This Way Alone", a poem by Ellen Carmichael graduate student in English, was chosen for publication in the National Poetry Association's "Annual Anthology of College Poetry."

The Anthology is a compilation of the finest poetry written by the college men and women of America, representing every section of the country. Selections are made from thousands of poems submitted.

Miss Carmichael graduated from the University of Illinois in February, 1950, where she majored in English. While doing graduate work here, she is employed as house mother at Turvey Hall.

"This Way Alone" is her first published work.

Renowned Scholar Visits Del. Campus

Professor Robert Ulrich, eminent scholar in the fields of history and philosophy of education, visited the University Thursday and Friday of this week. He addressed students interested in education at Mitchell Hall and Warner Hall Hilarium, and also attended a luncheon given in his honor by both students and faculty.

Professor Ulrich's subjects were "Re-educating Germany," "Education in a Democracy," and "The Role of History and Philosophy of Education in Teacher Training." He is the author of the widely used textbook, "Fundamentals of Democratic Education."

Since 1934 he has headed the Graduate School of Education at Harvard University. From 1923-33 he was Minister of Education at Saxony, Germany.

charge, J. Robert King, acting chairman of the Music Department, emphasized today.

Mr. King, who is chairman for the Contemporary Music Festival, of which the concert will be the highlight, said that the "whole-hearted cooperation and support of the Delaware Philharmonic Symphony Society" is among the factors which have made it possible for the Music Department to arrange the concert in this way. The Institute of Delaware History and Culture also is sponsoring the music festival.

"We are grateful to the directors, the conductors, and the personnel of the orchestra for their cooperation," said Mr. King. "Their contribution does much to make the concert all the more significant as an outstanding program of contemporary music."

Dr. Hansen Guest Conductor

Approximately fifty members of the Delaware Philharmonic will play in the program, beginning at 3 o'clock. The conductor will be

The Cauldron Bubbles

The first deadline for this year's Cauldron has been set as January 10. The staff of the Cauldron has termed this a "first deadline" because a new policy has been initiated in regard to the material submitted to the magazine. This year, the first deadline is not to collect and choose the finished material from the writers. It is to find out the ideas that authors have and to work in conjunction with them so that these ideas can be most effectively carried out. The staff's new position is to help and criticize, rather than to reject or accept without explanation.

As has been shown by previous years' Cauldrons, more varied material is needed. Short stories and poetry are the backbone of any literary endeavor, but other art forms cannot be placed in the background if we are to have a fuller representation of students' work. This year, a greater emphasis is being put on essays, criticisms, poetic prose paragraphs, and short plays. It should not be inferred from this, however, that poetry and prose are not being considered. Any and all literary expressions that are good will be printed as long as there is space for them.

To broaden the outlook of the magazine even more, it has been decided that a limited amount of graduate student work will be accepted. Work from undergraduate departments other than the English department is also being sought. In previous years, the English department has virtually formed the magazine from its small nucleus of writers. This is a fine procedure, however such specialization has narrowed the interest appeal and interest of the magazine. Essays from the Schools of Agriculture, Education, and Engineering are most welcome.

As is the case with all publications and student organizations on campus this year, the Cauldron has found its funds severely cut, but this difficulty will not deter the staff from turning out a terrific issue with the help and support of the student body.

Decoration Champ

The Kappa Alpha Fraternity was named the winner on Homecoming Day when its decoration was chosen from the participating groups. The great amount of effort which went into building the extensive decoration was well worth it. All fraternities and most dormitory groups entered the competition, yet Kappa Alpha triumphed over at least eleven other participants.

In previous years, various groups have won the Homecoming Day decorations by the use of elaborate mechanical devices. This year the limitation was set that no moving parts were to be used in the displays. Although this seemed at first to be a difficulty hard to surmount and still get the results of previous years, the limitation necessitated even more ingenuity. All the displays were clever and ingenious. The Review wishes to congratulate Kappa Alpha on its victory. We also wish to congratulate all other participants for their cleverness and effectiveness.

Odds 'n Ends

By BOB CUNNINGHAM

Since it seems rather dangerous these days to express any opinion of our country that is not "100 per cent American," and since we haven't got the time to go down to Washington and be investigated, we are a bit wary of discussing any controversial national issues; but we feel certain that there is one thing that most Americans, regardless of their convictions, will agree on: America is certainly the Land of the Fad. Nowhere on earth do people allow themselves to be so easily herded together and driven by some "new idea."

Ordinarily, this business of fads means nothing more significant than an increase in the income of a popular crooner or the concealment of co-eds' lower limbs in white woolen socks worn to the knee when they should be rolled down, but in fads, as in everything else, there are extremes, some of which are pursued to the extent of violating what is sometimes called the "law of self-preservation." Recent years have seen the development of one of these extreme fads in this country; there seems to be much popularity for that quaint little game called "Russian Roulette."

We have heard it argued in certain learned etymological circles that the word "Russian" is a misnomer for "rushing;" and indeed, the youth of most of the victims would seem to lend support to that contention, for if anyone ever rushed their own demise, they did; but we have another theory. We are more inclined to believe that "Russian" is the proper designation, and, conditioned by the squeeze-play in Berlin and the current tug-of-war in Korea, we see in the appearance of this sport the results of some high-pressure brain-work behind the grim gray walls of the Kremlin. Unquestionably, it's another deep, dark plot to conquer by letting us destroy ourselves. At least, we haven't heard of any Russian indulging in the game.

Well, it's good to be able to joke about our problems, and we won't minimize the importance of a sense of humor, but it doesn't hurt now and then to expend a little serious thought on our relations with Russia and its creed, communism; so we would like to mention a statement made recently by Allard Lowenstein, president of the National Students Association, which represents the student bodies of over 300 colleges and universities in this country. Mr. Lowenstein said that students should take a leading part in fighting communism and advocated a "national service plan whereby each male spends two years in military service at the end of his undergraduate college days or at the age of 18 if he does not go to college."

On the surface, there is nothing particularly startling about this statement; at this time, military service for the young men of our country seems almost inevitable; but we think it brings a little closer to home the responsibility borne by all college students, male or female, in the struggle against communism. Even if we do not volunteer our services, they are going to be required of us.

Strangely enough, in the face of this situation, we find that while most of us have a reasonably good idea of what we are fighting for, very few of us have any notion whatever of what we are fighting against. We all know that we are trying to protect our country, our capitalistic democracy, but hardly any of us know from what. And some of us are confused; we realize that our system of government and our form of society have many imperfections, and we are aware that communism is designed to correct these defects, and really aren't sure if we should be fighting at all. If we are going to be expected to invest a part or the whole of our lives in this fight, and if we intend to someday accept the privileges and responsibilities of this nation as our inheritance, it's time we found the answers to some of these questions.

This task of discovery, of education, is not the job of the schools, or the teachers, or the newspapers, or the government; it is an individual responsibility, and we owe it to ourselves to fulfill it. If we fail, we may someday find that we purchased an ivory tower at the price of freedom.

ALUMNI CORNER

By JEAN LAWLESS

The recent storm which lashed the whole eastern part of the country last week proved fatal to one of our alumni, M. Lee Coddington '44, a student in Home Economics, was killed in New Jersey on Nov. 25.

Ralph L. France '25, was recently promoted to the rank of full professor at the University of Massachusetts. He will now serve as acting head of the department of bacteriology and public health.

M. Allan Wilson '32, chief engineer for the Delaware State Highway Department, spoke on "Wilmington's Transportation Study and the Arterial Route Analysis" at an early November meeting of the automotive trades and transport section of the Delaware Chamber of Commerce.

E. Fenton Carey '38, director of athletics at the Ocean City (N. J.) High School, has been recalled to active duty with the U. S. Navy. While here at the University, Fenton was captain of the track team and a member of the football team.

Mary Medill, December '43, is studying for her Ph. D. at the University of Pennsylvania.

Cecilia V. Tierney, also December '43, is teaching accounting at Syracuse University.

To Miriam Lee Riker Thompson '44, of Richmond, Va. and her husband — a daughter on Oct. 20.

Margaret McCarthy '46, recently became the bride of Dr. Joseph Ackerman.

Regina Barlow '47, is now Mrs. James C. Casey.

A son was born on Oct. 26 to Margaret Reynolds Bergmuller '48 and her husband.

Barbara Hope '49, said "I do" on Nov. 19 to Robert J. McLellan. They are now living in New Mexico.

Barbara Ann Mitchell '49, is now Mrs. George Albert Wharton. She and her husband are residing in Milford, Del.

On Sept. 29, a 6 lb. 1 oz. baby boy was born to Jim Orr '49 and Mrs. Orr, the former Bettye Barton '45. They named the youngster James Edmund Orr, III. To Robert R. Dukes '50, and Margaret Ewing Dukes '50 — a son on Oct. 13. The baby was named Jeffry Thomas and the family is now living at 1215 S. Fifth St., Paducah, Kentucky.

Jules (Ace) Hoffstein '50, has been appointed supervisor of Physical Education and Recreation at the Delaware Day School for Exceptional (physically handicapped) Children. The Day School is a division of the Delaware Society for Crippled Children and Adults.

Andre Kordonyi '50, was married on Armistice Day to Miss Theodora Anne Martin of Wilmington. Andre and his wife are living at 11 Redcliffe Avenue, Highland Park, N. J.

Wedding bells rang out on Nov. 11 when Johnson W. Blair, Jr. '50, took Miss Gertrude Ann Rhind of Wilmington as his bride. The couple are residing in Richardson Park, Del.

Also on Nov. 11, Dr. and Mrs. Steve Bartoshesky became the proud parents of a daughter who was born in the St. Francis Hospital, Wilmington.

Another future Blue Hen arrived on Nov. 3 to Miles Towell, Jr. '50, and his bride at the Wilmington General Hospital. Miles is a Sales Trainer with the DuPont Company's Polychemical Department and is living in Apt. 35B, Lancaster Court, Wilmington.

That just about winds up the news for this week. We'll be looking for you next time — in the Corner.

Theater Review

By GIL KOFFLER.

"Guys and Dolls," the Broadway-bound musical fable which opened in Philadelphia recently, is a theater-goer's dream. Here is a show that has everything: humor, pathos, hit tunes, sensational interpretive dancing, well-known stars, and an eye-ful of scantily-clad chorines.

Loosely based on a Damon Runyon short story, "The Idyll of Sarah Brown," the show is in reality a collection of Runyon plots, gags, and characters. Runyon fans will recognize the crap game scene from "Blood Pressure," and will recall the title itself, "Guys and Dolls," as that of a Runyon book. For once, Damon Runyon has been done justice; his stories have been hacked by Hollywood (Little Miss Marker, Sorrowful Jones, Johnny One-eye, etc., etc.) and have been dramatized with indifferent success on the radio (the Damon Runyon Theater), but in "Guys and Dolls" we find the true Runyon, "Damon the Great" at his best.

Casting Superb

"Guys and Dolls" is a triumph of casting, from Nathan Detroit (Sam Levene) and Miss Adelaide (Vivian Blaine) on down to the lowliest walk-on, every character seems to have been plucked from Broadway, between Forty-ninth and Fiftieth Streets, (the block that Runyon made famous in his writings).

The Frank Loesser tunes, including the hit "Bushel and a Peck," are cleverly worked into the story. Equal to them in quality is the interpretive dancing staged by Michael Kidd. Probably for the first time in history, a crap game is danced interpretively, and will probably become a standard from which future numbers will be measured. Words can't do justice to the precision, grace, and technique displayed in this number.

Singing Weak

The weakest component of the show, if any component can be called weak, is the singing. Robert Alda has a voice that only a mother could love, although he does manage to carry the tune acceptably. Sam Levene, however, can't make even this modest claim, being off key as much as he is on. But even the most critical observer couldn't demand the voice of Robert Merrill in the body of one Nathan Detroit, crap game proprietor; nor is it necessary for "Sky" Masterson (Robert Alda) to extol the merits of "Traveling Light" in the voice of a Wagnerian tenor. So we will overlook these trivial faults. Vivian Blaine's very nice voice (heard in the movie "If I'm Lucky" a few years ago) is a casualty of war. Her part includes only novelty songs, which she must sing in character, and from which she drains the last drop of humor. The one really nice voice in the show belongs to a little girl by the name of Isabel Bigley, whose high notes are terrific. Her lower tones, however, never quite live up to their higher neighbors.

Those who judge a show by the lack of costumes on the females will appreciate a little number set in a Havana booze joint. This one number, a fugitive from Mike Todd's "Peep Show," would assure the success of any lesser production.

Most observers will go away wishing that they had been allowed to invest in "Guys and Dolls."

Camera Catches Weekend Sights

By NORM SETTER

The camera eye spies on the Interfraternity Weekend crowd during the Bucknell game. It sees the interest, enthusiasm and excitement of the spectators, the perplexity and the helpfulness of coach Murray, the splendor and precision of the band; and the eagerness of the team hoping to play in this season's last game.

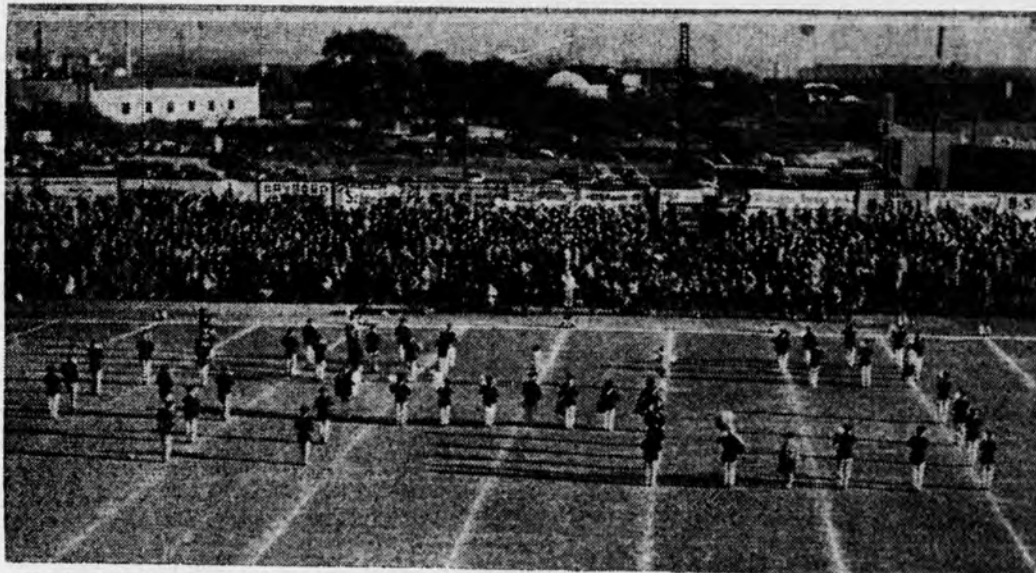

On succeeding pages Delaware's much maligned spirit is defended in pictures of the optimistic decorations of the fraternity and dormitory houses. There is a mute memory of the Artistry in Rhythm of Stan Kenton's orchestra — soft lights, and that certain one.

It remains as a testimony of one of the most enjoyable weekends in fraternity history.

Hen fans come to their feet as the referee measures for a crucial first down, during the last contest against the Bucknell Bisons.

Under the direction of J. R. King the Blue Hen band entertains the Delaware stands during the half-time of the Delaware-Bucknell game.

NICE RUN REITH!

After quarterback Kenny Reith had clipped off a neat 19 yards of Bucknell territory, the Delaware fans vocalize their appreciation.

Chick'n Chat Intramural Hockey Players Hibernate for Winter

By ARLENE McGEE

The barrage of flying balls and sticks has subsided and once again all is quiet on the little hockey field down on South Campus.

Last Tuesday, in the final game of the season, the Sophomores emerged as tourney winners when the Seniors forfeited to them. At the same time the three way tie between the Freshmen, Sophomores, and Juniors was broken.

The contests have all been close ones this fall and interest has been high during most of these games. However, the teams have been disappointed at the number of forfeits which appeared on the schedule.

Hanging up their hockey sticks and shoes for the last time are seniors, Ruth Clements, Ruth Durstein, Rae Fretz, Lucy Finn, Doris Goodley, Joyce Hilty, Lilly Houston, Jean Jamieson, Nancy Nichol, Pat Teybold, Louis Strelthoff, Jeanne von Uffel, and Joan Wallis.

Although outdoor activity has ceased, inside the gym onlookers can hardly see through the maze of volley balls as the members of class and dorm teams get in their one required practice before the opening tourney games next week. In the hallway, posters remind players that dorm practices and games are held at 7:00 on Wednesday nights, while class teams play Tuesdays and Thursdays at 4:00. Perhaps the most urgent of the notices is the one reminding table tennis players that the sign-up deadline is December 1.

There's no getting away from it! W.A.A. can keep you busy all of the time.

Mermen Boast One Star Per Event; Dec. 9 Opening

The Frosh-Varsity swim meet gave Coach Rawstrum a chance to see just what he's got to work on as far as the freshmen swimmers are concerned. There is about one good man for each event. Dick Goodley won the 50 yard free style, and Tony DiMaio won the 200 yard breaststroke event. Lorin Krusberg took second place in both the 440 and 220 free-style, while Al Zutz placed second in the 200 yard backstroke.

To date there are about 16 or 17 men out for the freshman team. This leaves openings in just about every event and stroke. Rawstrum was pleased with the performance of the freshmen in the meet, and has hopes of building a successful team around the nucleus of experienced swimmers.

Harriers' Season Ends With Loss

Delaware's Cross-Country Harriers closed out a successful 1950 season on a rather sour note last Friday, November 17, when they lost a close race to Albright College by the narrow margin of 26-29. All-in-all things weren't so bad, however, since Stan Hughes won the race for the first time this season after having to be satisfied with second honors so many times. Despite the loss, the season has been a very successful one for Coach Ken Steers and his Cross-Country thinclads, winners of three meets and losers twice. This is a decidedly better mark than last years record of 1-31 and the outlook for next year is good with graduation claiming only two varsity men and a promising crop of new men coming up from the Frosh team. But then—there's a draft, too.

High man in the point column for the year was Stan Hughes with 65 points followed by Don Vane 32 and Tom Fouracre 24. Next year's schedule will be about the same as this season's schedule.

The Summary:

DELAWARE	ALBRIGHT

Special Notice To Intramural Football Captains

The Review Sports Department will conduct the selection of two all-league touch football teams. One will be from the ranks of the Fraternity League, the other from the Independent League.

Each team captain should contact his team and submit a list of the best six men that his team played against during the recently concluded regular season of play. If it is impossible for the team captain to get a complete vote of his teammates, he is authorized to make his own selections. The six selections should include three linemen and three backfield players.

These selections should be placed on a large sheet of paper, in an envelope, and dropped in the student mail box addressed to:

Blue Hen Five Opens Season With Loss To Lawrence Tech In Postponed Game

"GOTCHA CHUM"

"Gotcha, Chum" says a Bucknellian to Delaware's tidbit tailback, Don Boorse, as Don tries to get into the clear.

Murray's Gridders Hold Favored Bisons to 13 Points

A Homecoming Crowd of 5500 chilled fans looked on as the Bisons of Bucknell dropped the Delaware Blue Hens, 13-0, in the finale of the 1950 season for both teams.

Both Bison touchdowns came in the first period, before the Delaware defense had managed to dig in. After the Hens did set up their guard the Bisons failed to tally again. Led by Brad Myers, Bob Albert, Dick Hetsko, and Tom Dean, the Bucknell eleven accounted for nearly half of the Thundering Herd's total yardage in their fruitful first period.

The second time the Bisons got their hands on the ball they traveled 70 yards to the Bird goal line to take a 7-0 lead. Albert and Myers sparked this drive with Myers producing the scoring punch on a plunge from the 6. Ed Maybe kicked for the point after touchdown. Moments later the Herd thundered the length of the gridiron again as Dick Hetsko plunged from the two yard line.

At this point, the Birds defensive unit caught fire and piled up a stone wall in front of the visitor's offensive power. Charley Smith and Bill Butler shared offensive honors for the Blue & Gold ground-bound attack as the Flock fought vainly to stay in the battle.

Playing their last game for Delaware were Co-Captains Fred Schenck and Jimmy Thomas, Emil Milner, Bill Monahan, Joe Kwiatkowski, Frank Gutheridge, Don Boorse, Bill Groetzinger, Ray Wright, Charlie Smith, Dick Wells, Harry Stringer, and Rocco Carzo.

Emerson Begins Second Season At Helm of Blue Hns

The University of Delaware cagers opened their 1950 campaign against a powerful Lawrence Tech five last Tuesday night and wound up on the short side of a 62-38 count. The contest had been scheduled for the previous Saturday, but the Flock sat stranded in Philadelphia due to the inopportune winter storm which ravaged the East and mid-West. Early Tuesday morning the quintet embarked for the Motor City by plane and returned to the campus yesterday in time for classes.

Coach Emerson and the Birds face their second foe this Saturday night when they clash with the Temple Owls in Philadelphia.

Fred Emerson's University of Delaware basketballers were "rained out" of their initial start of the 50-51 season last Saturday, Nov. 25, as their scheduled flight to Detroit to play Lawrence Tech met with stiff opposition from old man weather. The team went to Philly by car after they were unable to get a train from Newark, but found all flights had been grounded because of the storm. Efforts to reschedule the game resulted in its being played out Tuesday, Nov. 28.

The infant season will definitely get under way Sat., Dec. 2, against Temple in Philadelphia, to inaugurate Emerson's second year as mentor of the Blue Hen cagers. He greets a returning contingent of no less than seven returning lettermen. Starting at forwards will be Captain Frank Albera, along with hustling Johnny DeGasperi or big Dick Evans, a transfer student from Brown. Big things are expected of "Eagle" Albera as he begins his 3rd season of varsity play, the only senior on the squad. With Albera and Evans, both at 6'3", and "Dodo" Kruzinski at 6'5" returning to the pivot position, the Hens should have their tallest team in years. High scoring Bill Utt, Stump Harris, and Johnny Buechle return after a year's experience to man the guard positions. Joe Santanello and Dick Goldberg are newcomers to the squad and unknown quantities at guard, while Walt Swenehart will probably continue as a highly capable understudy at center. Ray Brett, Bill Valler, and Ronnie Watson are all up from last year's Frosh team and will be trying to break into the starting lineup.

Tank Men Face Rough Schedule

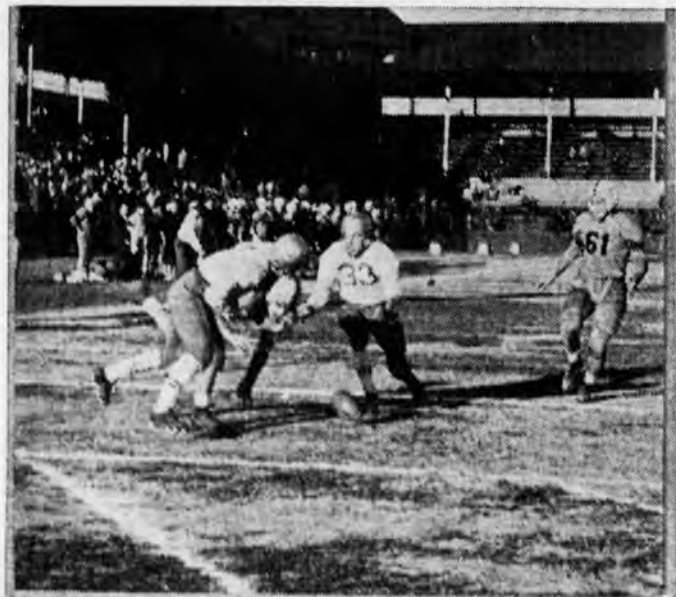

The Delaware swimming team faces its roughest schedule to date and the outlook, according to Coach Rawstrum, looks mighty bleak. Ten dual meets have been scheduled. The schedule includes Lehigh, Penn State, Virginia, Franklin and Marshall, Penn, Lafayette, Swarthmore, West Chester, and P. M. C. All of these teams could well give Delaware a rough time.

Out of the twenty-two candidates for the team, only four are lettermen. Fifteen Sophomores, up from last years Freshman team, will add some good material to the squad. Ester, Mayes and Presnell, among the Sophs, should help to round out the squad considerably. One Senior and six Juniors complete the roster. Coach Rawstrum expects Brady, the lone Senior, Bardo, Lloyd, Jones, and Clements to turn in performances bettering those of last year.

What the team lacks in experience will undoubtedly be made up in hustle and a well balanced team seems in the offing.

The first meet of the season, a practice swim, is against the Knights of Columbus on December 2 at Taylor Pool. The first intercollegiate meet will see the Delaware mermen pitted against West Chester at home on December 9. The varsity meet beginning at 3:00 p.m. will be preceded by the Frosh meet beginning at 2:00 p.m.

AND THE RAINS CAME

Coach Fred Emerson's varsity basketball team was to have opened its 1950-51 season last Saturday evening out at Detroit against Lawrence Tech. Plans had been made to fly from New Castle Airport on Saturday morning, but Juniper Pluviosus threw a wet blanket on the whole trip, literally.

The ten players selected to make the trip held a preparatory practice at 8:00 Friday night. On the first team were Captain Frank Albera, Jim Kruzinski, Billy Utt, Johnny Buechele, and Dick Evans. The reserves included Dick Goldberg, Walt Swenehart, Bill Valler, Dick Harris, and Ray Brett. These ten, Coach Emerson, and the writer (also head basketball manager) were all set for a great trip. The Hens were better equipped for victory than they had been since the war.

Friday night the rains came. Early Saturday morning a report was received from the airport that all flights had been canceled, but that a plane was leaving from Philadelphia at 11:20. The Hens hustled to the Hotel duPont where limousines were waiting to whisk them off to Philadelphia. Not until 11:30 was everyone assembled, ready to go. We arrived at the airport at 12:55 to find that all flights had been canceled.

WESTWARD HO? WESTWARD — NO

Everything had been building up to a climatic crescendo and the news hit us right here, in the pit of the stomach—for we were hungry. There would be no western trip this time. It was much too late to catch a train that would arrive in Detroit by game time. Coach Emerson phoned Lawrence Tech and gave them the word. The game was postponed until Tuesday.

The limousines took us to Pennsylvania Station in Philadelphia and we undramatically, disappointedly boarded the train for home. It had been a strange way to spend a rainy Saturday. We remembered the reports of sub-zero temperatures in Detroit and dreamed, that night, about playing basketball on ice skates, with airplanes and rain storms whipping back and forth across the court.

The basketball season's second game will be against Temple, this Saturday night in Philadelphia. The game will be played on a new high school floor, and will be a dedication game for the new court. Temple's Bill Mikvy will be back, plus a number of other veterans from last year's great team. The Hens' chances for a victory over Temple look slim.

THE BASKETBALL OUTLOOK

Delaware will play its longest, toughest basketball schedule since the war this winter. A total of 21 games have been booked, several with top notch teams. In addition to Lawrence Tech and Temple, we will play Muhlenberg, St. Joseph's, Lafayette, and Buffalo, all with pretty fair clubs. The Middle Atlantic competition, that is, P. M. C., Swarthmore, Haverford, Ursinus, and Drexel, will be about the same as last year—good, but on a small scale.

On paper, this year's team will be the best in recent years. On the floor, it remains to be seen. Only Jim McFadden will be missing from the starting five of last year. His forward position has been taken over by a newcomer in Delaware basketball ranks, Dick Evans, a six foot three inch transfer junior from Brown. Frank Albera, the other forward, also stands six feet three inches, and Jim Kruzinski towers to six feet five inches. Thus a tall "underneath" trio is available for duty for the first time since the war.

Johnny Buechele and Billy Utt, last year's starting guards, are back with a full season's varsity competition under their basketball belts. A pair of good guards, available for reserve duty, are Dick Goldberg and Dick Harris. Goldberg alternates with the first string and might earn a berth there by mid-season. Walt Swenehart will spell Kruzinski at center. Johnny DeGasperi, Ray Brett, and Bill Valler, reserve forwards, add depth in that department.

Beginning with this issue, Jack Jamieson is Sports Editor on The Review. The writer will continue to pound out SIDE LINES each week, but Jamieson will handle all other editorial duties. Contributions, notices, etc. should be addressed to him.

The shuffle was made so that the writer could accept a new job assigned to him by the Editor-in-Chief, the job of Properties Manager. The rest of the sports staff will remain intact. During the winter sports season, Neal Robbins will be writing basketball; John Conway, swimming; Dorrance Barrel is covering intramural basketball. Ken McClellan will continue to cover the Intramural Council meetings. Dan Robertson will cover all freshman sports except basketball. Henry Maier will write varsity wrestling, fencing, and gymnastics. Arlene McGee, Janet VanSant, and Dottie Miller will continue to handle the girls' sports department.

TWO REQUESTS: First, a boy (freshman preferred) is needed to cover freshman basketball for this department. The frosh have a hot club this year, one that occasionally beats the varsity in scrimmages. They need an ambitious reporter for The Review. Interested persons should see Jamieson. Second, contributions to this column are welcome, also criticisms and suggestions. When something in the athletic setup here at Delaware seems wrong, think it out, write it down, and send it in. We need ideas from readers.

Bon Mots From the Bastille

Tragedian—"The audience is almost ready to cry, isn't it?"
Manager—"Oh, yes. The whole balcony is in tiers."

Then we went to see "Samson and Delilah" last week. Terrific show—in the last act Samson really brought the house down.

Junior—"Pop, how did you propose to Mom?"
Father—"Well, son, it was like this. We were sitting on her front porch one summer evening when she leaned over and whispered something in my ear. I answered, 'Like hell you are.' Next day we were married."

A swank babe had just finished luncheon in an old New England tearoom. She was enjoying a cigarette as evidenced by the clouds of smoke which rose in billows.

The proprietress, a creaking spinster of pension eligibility, approached her table and scowlingly reprimanded:

"Young lady, I think smoking is a disgusting habit. Why—why I think I'd rather be seduced than be caught smoking a cigarette."

"So would I," came the reply, "but I've only got ten minutes."

And, as the ceiling said to the four walls, "Hold me up, boys, I'm plastered."

Mules Down Frosh With Field Goal

The Fightin' Blue Chicks were edged out in a close game Friday, November 17, when they came up against the Muhlenberg frosh. A 20 yard field goal late in the final period won the game 9-7 for the junior Mules.

Delaware's one touchdown was made by Frank Serpico and the conversion was put over by Joe Scarcia.

The whole team played a much better ball game than the week before when the Navy Plebes ran over them, 49-0. The defense was hitting hard and in one sequence of plays held the opposition on the one yard line for 3 downs. The offense was clicking with Tom Fannon calling signals at quarterback for the entire game.

The statistics were also a shade lighter than the previous game. The Chicks fumbled once to Muhlenberg's four bobbles. Delaware attempted 15 passes and completed three for a gain of 37 yards. The Mules took to the air nine times and completed six for a total of 88 yard. The Chicks rushed 28 times for a net gain of 94 yards while the opposition went overland 45 times for a net gain of 167 yards. The Muhlenberg frosh was penalized only twice for a loss of 20 yards, while Delaware was penalized 11 times for a loss of 85 yards. This was the last game of the season for Coach Marty Pierson's charges who won 2 and lost 3.

Intramural Basketball

By DURANCE BARRELL

Intramural basketball has moved into the limelight these nights over at Carpenter Field House, and if the various games played at the beginning of this opening week of the season were any indication, there'll be plenty of keen competition in the contention for the different league titles. There are the same three leagues this year as last — namely, the Fraternity League and the National and American Leagues, both independent.

In the Fraternity loop this past Monday night, Sig. Ep. nosed out a hustling Sigma Nu outfit in a real thriller, by a 25-23 score. At halftime, Sig. Ep. led by a solitary point, 12-11, and it was a close one right down to the finish. Ducky Carmichael paced the victors with a scoring total of 13 points, while Jim Moneymaker tallied eight for Sigma Nu.

AEPi defeated ATO the same night by a 32-22 score.

In the American League, the Goobers (KA "B" team) took the measure of the Panthers (Sig. Ep. "B" team) with a 27-24 margin.

The National League's Cobblers won over the Accounting Club by forfeit.

Tuesday night found the Spirits pitted against the Hustlers in the American League. The Hustlers defeated the Spirits 53-21, with Kublen bagging 14 points for the winners.

Lambda Chi bowed to the Clowns in National League, 61-15, while the Chemists conquered ASME 25-16.

Theta Chi poured it on Phi K T in Tuesday evening's only Fraternity League clash to win 47-20. Dick Grossman tallied 13 points for Theta Chi.

Intramural Group Passes New Rules

The Intramural Council held another special meeting on Tuesday, Nov. 21, and after a long debate passed the following amendments to the Intramural Constitution:

"Any former varsity letterman in satisfactory academic standing with varsity eligibility left cannot participate in the intramural sport in which he has gained his letter.

"Any man failing in this category has the right to appeal his case to the Director of Intramural Sports."

"Any man who has a medical excuse from P.E. is ineligible to play intramural sports unless his case is approved by the Director of Intramural Sports."

The first amendment above is a revision of Article IX, Section 3 of the constitution which reads:

"Any former letterman not now participating in the varsity sport in season shall be eligible for intramural competition."

DICK BURTON

Shades of Stan Kenton and all that! Here is a brief resume of the recent I.F.C. Brawl, commonly known as the "Inter Fraternity Weekend."

Since your "roving reporter" was unable to case all the house parties that weekend he had to rely on his myriad sources, for which he is extremely grateful.

FRIDAY EVENING - November 17th.

Location I — AEPi House

Entertainment was provided by Spike Shapiro and His Catskill Slickers . . . direct from a smash, dry run at the men's room of the Hotel DuPont. Some of the "slickers" were: Ray Brett, Barry Seidel, Larry Cooperman, Spike Fink, and the Jerry Eisenman.

Location II — ATO House

ATO's entertainment consisted entirely of "home-grown talent." The quartette put out with a few choice pieces. The "warblers" were Bob Hopkins, Elbert Chance, "Obie" Edge, and Russ Myers. Among the entranced onlookers were: Alan Spang and Florence Twiford and Roy Soukup with Doris Major.

Location III — Kappa Alpha House

One of the best quartettes to be heard all weekend did their stuff at KA. Naturally Gleggly Gause was in his glory making like Billy Eckstine.

A comedy routine was presented by Messrs. Shechinger, Vanneman, and Fischer. Some of those gasping at the quips were: Stump Harris and Ellen McQuaid, and Dave Kirkby and Co. Meanwhile word got out that Bob Shechinger and Ed Wadsworth had visited the altar within recent months. Congratulations!

Location IV — Pi KA House

The entertainment here was strictly spontaneous—and an air of joviality persisted. Overheard: Don Shannon related the following bit of news. "I was driving down S. College Ave., and I signaled to make a right turn and somebody stole the olive out of my Martini!" —boy are the people in this town cheap.

Location V — PKT House

The joint was jumpin' to a hot combo—imported stuff that is. Brothers Maxwell and Hammond were quite the characters we understand.

Location VI — Sig Ep House

The brunt of the burden fell on the Sig Ep Combo — otherwise known as "Xavier Lipshitz and his Ruptured Hawaiians." Among the notables present were Nancy Ruos of the New York Times in January of 1940. Theatre Arts magazine said that it was "a play of raucous laughter, terror and tears." Brooks Atkinson, of the New York Times, wrote in 1940 that "the O'Casey drama . . . ranks with the finest works in the modern English." He went on to say that "this raffish tenement charlatan of Dublin (Capt. Boyle) is fantastically comic." The E-52 Players have selected this comedy as the "classic" on the program of their nineteenth season. Each year the Players present a classic since they believe that the "best in drama is the best in entertainment." Tickets go on sale beginning November 27 and Student Athletic Books entitle the student to one reservation without charge.

The Players are taking "Juno and the Paycock" to Rehoboth on December 12. This is the second production which they have taken on tour this season.

and Ralph Gazelle, Ozzie Grier, Nora Cronin, and Don Houston and Dianne Klipp.

Location VII — Theta Chi House

The entertainment featured Dev McCarthy and Fred Hartmann. They did a routine which consisted of impersonations, impressions, and other nonsense. The feature skit was called "School Daze." Jack "Hots" Tebo and Pat Walters were engrossed spectators.

This meeting will be open to all students.

Music Festival

Jay Blackton of New York City, and the guest commentator will be Dr. Howard Hanson, director of the Eastman School of Music.

Dr. Hanson served as Professor of Musical Theory at the College of Pacific from 1916 to 1919, at which time he was appointed Dean of the Conservatory of Fine Arts at that school. In 1921 he was awarded the Prix de Rome and in 1924 was appointed to the position of Director of the Eastman School, which position he now holds. In addition to being a distinguished composer, he has conducted orchestras in Europe and the United States. He has composed special works for the Boston Philharmonic and for the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Public Reception Follows Concert

Among the selections to be heard in the concert will be one of Dr. Hanson's own, the Symphony No. 2 entitled "Romantic". Other music to be played includes: "Arioso," by Louis Mennini; "The Winter's Passed," by Peter Mennin; and the "Paul Bunyan Suite," by William Bergsma.

Earlier in the afternoon, at a luncheon meeting, Dr. Hanson will be the principal speaker and the University A Cappella choir will sing selections by two Delaware composers, David Kozinski and Northrop Brown. A public reception in Brown Hall immediately after the concert will close the festival.

On Monday, November 20, Alpha Zeta initiated the following men into the Fraternity: William Hollis, Harry Menser, Alec Rogers, Robert Peoples, Edward Kedda, Clarence Wright, William Hamilton, Elmer Paul Catts, and Robert Davis.

These men possessed the necessary requirements of leadership, character, and high scholastic ability, and had successfully gone through their week of pledging, which included wearing the key and the corn at all times.

It was announced that the delegate to the Biennial Conclave would be Donald Morton. The Conclave is Alpha Zeta's biennial meeting where all of its chapters are represented to discuss the national problems of the fraternity. This year, the site chosen was Kansas City, Missouri, so the Delaware Chapter wishes Don a pleasant and interesting journey to the mid-west.

The English Department will present three short films from the New England Authors series on Friday, December 1, in Mitchell Hall, at 3:10 p.m.

The films, which are sound motion pictures in full color, are as follows: "Hawthorne and Whittier," which includes news of Salem, the House of the Seven Gables, the Old Manse at Concord, the Great Stone Face, and Whittier's Homestead; "Longfellow and Lowell," which includes views of Longfellow's birth place and boyhood home in Portland, Bowdoin College, Longfellow's home in Cambridge, the Wayside Inn, Boston's Old North Church, and Lowell's home, Elmwood; and "Holmes, Emerson, and Thoreau," which includes scenes of Boston, Concord, Walden Pond, and Alcott's Orchard House.

The program of films, which has been arranged by Dr. A. J. DeArmond and Mrs. Sara B. Rogers, is about forty minutes in length.

All interested students and faculty members are invited to attend.

Phi Kappa Tau polished off the Inter Fraternity Weekend at the Wellwood Club in Charlestown, Md., with thanks to Frank Springer and George McGee, who did a fine job in planning the evening.

More and more Tau's are losing their pins. Sam Macrum pinned Jackie Cahall and Ronnie B. S. Hoidal pinned Lois Abbot. The end of a perfect weekend, the boys said—or shall that be beginning? Anyway, congratulations!

Brothers Boyd Cook and Bill Pajewski of the Army and Air Force, respectively, have written to us during the past few weeks and are doing fine. Boyd is in Georgia and Bill in Texas. Brother Nick "I Swear I'm Blind" Vitale is 1A. The draft board is also closing in on Mock Davis of Parlor J.

Jack Reynolds and Nancy Everhart were married here in Newark this past Wednesday. The Chapter wishes them all the best.

Delta Tau Delta had a tremendous I. F. house party and want to thank all those who dropped in. Deltas are quite proud of their new dance band, rightly so. A come-as-you-are party is scheduled for Saturday night, so c'mon over!

Bob Witman, a Delt from Penn State and a Graduate Student here, pinned Joy Murray over the I. F. Weekend. Congratulations!

On Sunday, December 3, ATO will give a tea in honor of President and Mrs. Perkins. All faculty members are cordially invited to attend. The tea will be held in the house from 3 to 5 o'clock.

Coach Bob Hoch is rounding the ATO basketball team into shape for their first game with AEPI. Roland Mills and Dick Hammond, veterans from last year's squad will form the nucleus. Bob Irwin, due to graduate in February as a mechanical engineer, has obtained a very fine position with the Atlantic Refining Company. Alec Rogers has been initiated into Alpha Zeta, the honorary Ag Fraternity. Congratulations, Alec.

AEPI is planning their annual cowboy house party this Saturday evening, so if you're in town, stop in and join the fun.

Coached by the versatile Ray Brett, the AEPI basketball team will use some of its All-American stars—Bob "Cousy" Kugler, Joe Yucht, Sam "Mikan" Nord, Don "Croza" Cherr, Dick "Dickey" Okonow, along with its "regulars."

During the Inter Fraternity weekend, Pi KA was glad to welcome back alumni Bob Grubbs, Don Miller, Roger Wooleyhan, Bill Bodnaruk, and Andy Scari, who has obtained a postponement of induction. After the dance Don and Teddy Hoffecker held an open house for the PIKES that lasted well into the wee hours. In a sense the party turned out to be almost an announcement party. Congratulations to Mouse McMillan and Bill Thomson on their engagement.

And while we are giving out congratulations, a full round should go to the IFC on the weekend. PIKA had a great time as we are sure all did.

Now that the football season is over, the PIKES are looking forward to a better season next year. We remember the '49 season when we were downed by only two teams. This year was almost a reversal although our last game ended in a victory over ATO, 18-0.

Prior to the Thanksgiving vacation, the Sigma Nu brothers enjoyed themselves throughout the IFC weekend. The whole affair was certainly a big success, and Sigma Nu would like to thank all the fraternity men and their dates who dropped in for the house party on Saturday night. The following day, the members and their girls had a wonderful time on a picnic at the farm of brother Art Mayer.

We'd like to take time out to congratulate Bill Covey who announced his pinning of Miss Marjorie Minehan. Marjorie, incidentally, is the sister of brother Ed Minehan, and so the pin is just about kept in the fraternity.

Uncle Sam added another Sigma Nu to his call list as brother Curt Turner received notice to report for a pre-induction physical.

No doubt everyone has seen the clever and decorative paintings which adorned the Sigma Nu house during the football season. These paintings were done without any reward, but were created through the fine spirit of one of our members. It is for this reason that every member of Delta Kappa stands up and gives a booming round of applause to Paul Cats, hoping he will continue the practice as long as he is here at Delaware.

The Inter Fraternity weekend found all the Quality Hillers madly taking time off from studies. All the traveling Thetas on Friday night wish to extend thanks for the warm reception we received at other houses, and hope our guests had the same wonderful time that we had.

Saturday night found the living room of Thea Chi in lush formal surroundings, entertaining the brothers and dates with refreshments, no less! Familiar alumni faces, such as brothers Jackson, McHenry, Skura, Owen, and others were welcome additions. Friday night entertainment was hilariously taken care of by brothers McCarthy and Hartmann.

The Theta Chi football team is drilling for the championship game with Sigma Nu on Thursday, at 1:00, while at the same time, the Theta Chi dribblers are ready for their first court engagement Tuesday night under the relentless coaching of brother Tony Catola.

Sigma Phi Epsilon

The SPE basketball teams have been working out and meet Sigma Nu and KA in the respective divisions this week. Brothers Don Huston is handling the coaching responsibilities.

Franny Albera, co-captain of the varsity basketball team, has assumed his duties. Other brothers in the line-up are Johnny Buechle and Bill Vallar.

Foreign Students Hear Johnson

David Johnson, representative of the Institute of International Education, New York, will visit the University of Delaware on Monday, Dec. 4, as part of a widespread field trip to colleges and universities in the East. Mr. Johnson is coming to talk to the foreign students who are on the Delaware campus under Institute sponsorship and to persons interested in foreign students' activities. Mr. Johnson is with the Foreign Student Program of the Institute of International Education, which, as the largest private international organization in the United States, deals with the two-way exchange of students, technicians, professors, and specialists between the United States and 60 countries abroad.

There will be a tea at 4 p. m. in Brown Hall Lounge. Students or faculty members who want to hear Mr. Johnson on this occasion please call extension 351 today or Mrs. Patterson tomorrow.

For chaperones Friday night of IF weekend the Sig Ep house had Dr. and Mrs. Duennen and Mrs. Worth.

P. Reybold Chosen To Attend White House Conference

Miss Patricia Reybold, class of '51, has been named by the Future Teachers of America as one of the national organization's six delegates to the Mid-Century White House Conference on Children and Youth, which will be held in Washington, Dec. 3 to 7.

A major in mathematics, Miss Reybold intends to teach in high school following her graduation next year. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Reybold of Delaware City, and is a member of the Delaware Student Teachers Association, the Mathematics Club, the Newman Club, and Phi Mu Epsilon, the honorary society in mathematics. She has been active in the Future Teachers of America, a nation-wide group of students in high schools and colleges who intend to teach.

Writing Weakness

Hamilton, N. Y. (I.P.) — Concerned over a survey showing that poor student writing stems mainly from laxity and not from ignorance, Colgate University this fall has instituted a functional writing program.

Be Happy-Go Lucky!

I mix my test tubes in chem lab;
No two are quite alike.
The only thing that stays the same
Is tested Lucky Strike!

Enjoy your cigarette! Enjoy truly fine tobacco that combines both perfect mildness and rich taste in one great cigarette - Lucky Strike!

Perfect mildness? You bet. Scientific tests, confirmed by three independent consulting laboratories, prove that Lucky Strike is milder than any other principal brand. Rich taste? Yes, the full, rich taste of truly fine tobacco.

Only fine tobacco gives you both real mildness and rich taste. And Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. So enjoy the happy blending that combines perfect mildness with a rich, true tobacco taste. Be Happy—Go Lucky!
