Bayard Sharp Hall, one of the more beautiful renovations of an old structure into college building on the University of Delaware campus, will be the site of a University "Show & Tell" for all those interested from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. on Nov. 21. Rick Armitage, UD government relations director, said University staff will present campus projects and building plans "for at least the next year couple of years," during the program. This view of Bayard Sharp Hall is not as familiar as the much photographed main entrance which fronts on Elkton Road and Delaware Avenue. Now used for lectures and other University programs and events, the building was St. Thomas Episcopal Church before that congregation moved to South College Avenue.

DelDOT rejects city's request for traffic light

Not enough traffic at So. Chapel and Wyoming

By MARY E. PETZAK

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Half-a-loaf may be better than none but city council doesn't feel the same way about traffic signals.

In response to a letter sent to the Delaware Department of Transportation by Mayor Hal Godwin and University of Delaware President David Roselle, a new four-way stop sign is being installed at the intersection of South Chapel Street and Wyoming Road.

"This was the result of a letter written many months ago," said Godwin.

The two local leaders wrote to Secretary of Transportation Anne Canby in May asking for a traffic signal at the intersection.

According to the letter, the city's Aug. 10, 1999, agreement with Ambling Development Company required the developer to pay $25,000 toward the cost of the signal. In August, Ambling opened the first units in a planned 800-bed student complex on South Chapel Street.

Godwin received a letter dated Aug. 9, 2000, advising him that the intersection did not meet DelDOT's warrants to signalize a location.

According to DelDOT traffic studies coordinator Paul Castellano, the highest traffic volume recorded for the "minor street approach was 98 vehicles between 8 and 9 a.m."

A traffic signal only would be warranted with "a minimum of 150 vehicles per hour." In addition, Castellano said traffic interruption and pedestrian volumes were below required levels for a signal.

"Accident data from 4/97 to 3/00 showed there have been 20 right-angle accidents at this intersection," said Castellano, noting that five or more in a single year would meet that warrant. "However, the vehicle volume portion of the warrant was not met."

Castellano said none of the 11 warrants used in traffic signal evaluations were met at this location. "However, in light of the number of accidents at the referenced location, the Department is recommending that this intersection be made a four-way stop."

Godwin was critical of the timing of the study, which he felt resulted in the wrong decision by DelDOT. "It was ridiculous to do this (during the summer) when the University students were not here," he said.

Castellano has already promised a new study. "When the (student) complex is completed, we will be happy to review the intersection again," he stated.

New alternative program coming for Christina District

Curriculum nights also planned for parents

By KATY CIAMARICONE

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Christina School District school superintendent Nicholas Fischer said his primary goal for the next few years is to raise expectations for parents, teachers and students.

In an effort to increase scores on Delaware statewide tests, Fischer said, district officials hope to implement a new alternative program within Christina district schools.

"Many people associate alternative programs with students who have behavioral problems," Fischer said. "But this program is for students with academic problems, so we can focus on getting them up to speed. Retaining them (at a grade level) is not always the best way to go."

The programs would be designed to benefit students who perform below the standard on the statewide tests, which are given each year to students in grades three, five, eight and 10.

According to state law, students who score below the standards on the test will be required to repeat the grade or have to attend summer school starting next year.

This new program is still being assessed, but Fischer said he hopes to have it established within the next few years.

Additional plans to improve standards-based scores in the district include increased communication between teachers and parents, as well as additional training programs for teachers.

Fischer said teachers and administrators are sending out brochures to parents with children in grades K-8 explaining "what every child should know and be able to do" in his or her grade level.

"This way, parents will be able to learn what to expect for the school year," Fischer said. "These brochures are also good for parents to bring to their parent conferences so they can refer to it while they address their concerns with the child's teacher."

Last school year, district schools also began hosting "curriculum nights," which are designed so parents can learn more about the statewide testing program and the national academic standards that their children are expected to meet, he said.

One way to improve scores on the statewide tests is to align the standards with the materials provided for students in the classroom, Fischer said. Topics discussed in textbooks and classroom instruction should correspond to those that will be featured on the statewide tests, he said.

Fischer suggested all teachers be trained in balanced literacy programs, the Smithsonian Science

Macabre, sexy, Disney, political, gangster?

Costume specialty stores have your favorite 'look'

By KATY CIAMARICONE

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

They have wrinkled flesh, vampire fangs, fake eyelashes, wild hairstyles, funny eyeglasses and eerie sounds that can make the hairs on the back of your neck stand straight up.

Costume specialty stores have become a seasonal staple in Newark since the first one opened on Main Street seven years ago. The most recent of their kind crept into town in September.

This year, two Halloween Shoppes offer a nibble of the normal and a mouthful of the macabre, with everything from Mickey Mouse costumes to ink pens disguised as hypodermic needles filled with blood.

Feeling a bit disastrous? Why not try the Deranged Doctor costume with a package that reads, "killing patients everywhere?" Those less surgically inclined might opt to wear the Bleeding Runaway Patient, Naughty Nun or Sexy School Girl costume.

Several child-sized disguises, including Cinderella, Spiderman, Barbie, Ronald McDonald, Gangster and Fashion Flapper, all hang from the racks.

"Renaissance costumes are big sellers this year, and hippie costumes," Singleton said. "College kids are buying a lot of angel wings and other accessories."

Marlon, a University of Delaware junior who works at the Halloween Shoppe, said masks from the movie "Scream" are popular this year, as well as "Austin Powers," alien, "Star Wars" and of course, Disney costumes.

"Some people come in and buy things to wear every day, not just for Halloween," Marlon said. "One guy bought a pimp outfit and said he was going to wear it out that same night. A lot of 'Goth' kids come in and buy fangs to wear while they hang out. 'Trekkies' come in and buy 'Star Trek' shirts."

This is the first year that the Halloween Shoppes have come to Delaware. Singleton, who co-owns the stores with fellow Pennsylvania native Jennifer Corse, said he is in the construction business during the less spooky seasons of the year.

But in the fall, he runs three other Halloween Shoppes in addition to the two in Newark — one in

More charges in alcohol patrols

Newark Police arrested 12 people during uniformed and plains-clothes patrols on Oct. 13 and 14 in the ongoing Alcohol Enforcement Project.

Charges included: five for underage consumption of alcoholic beverages; two for underage possession of alcoholic beverage; six for open container of alcoholic beverage in public location; two for disorderly conduct; one for possession of a fictitious drivers license and one for criminal impersonation.

Burglaries under investigation

Newark Police reported several burglaries this week. Sometime between 10:30 p.m. on Oct. 13 and 10:30 a.m. on Oct. 14, unknown suspects entered a residence on Thorn Lane by breaking a sliding glass door and removed a cable box, TV, and jewelry valued at $1,650. Damage was estimated at $400.

Sometime between 4:45 p.m. and 8:45 p.m. on Oct. 12 unknown persons entered an apartment on Wharton Road through a window and removed a bike, DVD player, VCR and other items valued at $2,650.

Sometime between 11:30 a.m. and 12:50 p.m. on Oct. 10, unknown persons entered an unlocked residence on South Chapel Street and removed a Sony Playstation, jewelry and other property valued at over $1,000.

Around 3 a.m. on Oct. 11, a resident of O'Daniel Avenue awoke and heard someone in his home. He went into the living room and found the VCR by an open window. He heard someone running away outside but did not see them.

Anyone with information about these incidents is asked to call police at 366-7111 or Crimestoppers at 1-800-TIP-3333.

McDonald's glass door broken

Sometime between 6:30 and 8 a.m. on Oct. 10, unknown persons broke the upper half of a double-pane glass door at McDonald's on South College Avenue. Damage was estimated at $150.

Pumpkin breaks car window

Around 11 p.m. on Oct. 9, unknown persons threw a pumpkin at a car near Country Hill Drive and Green in Meadow Court. The driver's side window was broken but there were no injuries.

Shoplifter also into drugs

Newark police charged Martin T. West, 29, of Wilmington with shoplifting, possession of a hypodermic needle, and possession of drug paraphernalia after he was observed taking items at Happy Harry's in Suburban Plaza.

Police recovered six boxes of razors, and Tylenol, Rogaine, Herbal Essence and Adidas cologne products valued at a total of $206.54. The suspect was found in possession of drug paraphernalia during the investigation.

Suspects arrested for burglary

New Castle County Police have arrested two men, each charged with felony burglary, felony receiving stolen property, felony conspiracy, felony theft, criminal mischief, criminal trespassing, and criminal impersonation.

On Oct. 11 around 1:30 p.m., county officers responded to a call for trespassing at the Lafayette Place Apartments in New Castle. When they got to the apartments, they found Dennis Potts inside the apartment. They then searched the parking lot and found Nelson Boyd inside of a parked van.

After searching the van, they found two new refrigerators that appeared to be stolen, a fax machine, two fans, construction materials, and a washer.

They checked the registration of the van and also found it to be stolen from Philadelphia, Pa. Upon further investigation, they learned that these items were taken from a construction site at the School Bell Apartments.

The EMS Bike Team of Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Company will be able to respond to crowded and remote areas more quickly than ambulances.

EMS Bike Team – quicker response

Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Co. of Newark has formed an EMS Bike Team to respond to medical emergencies while at special events or on routine patrol.

According to Aetna spokesperson John Farrell, the Bike Team consists of nationally-registered Emergency Medical Technicians from the fire department who use mountain bikes outfitted with specialized medical equipment.

The team is deployed at events where large dense crowds are expected or in areas where traditional means of access to a patient are unavailable.

"Situations where the Bike Team would be deployed are University of Delaware football games, city of Newark events such as parades, Community Day, and Newark Night, and events at White Clay Creek State Park and Iron Hill Park," said Farrell.

The team is also available to assist other fire and EMS personnel in the tri-state area with search and rescue missions where access is limited by traditional means.

"When the Bike Team is at an event, they are deployed as a two-person team," explained Farrell. "They are able to provide medical treatment to the sick or injured quickly, when otherwise it would take a prolonged period of time to access the patient."

The Bike Team provides basic EMS skills to the patient while waiting the arrival of an ambulance. "In cases of choking victims or cardiac events, this rapid intervention of airway management and Automatic External Defibrillation (AED) can truly mean the difference between life and death," Farrell said.

The Aetna Bike Team has 20 members who have training in technical cycling with heavy EMS gear. Farrell said they will also promote safe bicycle riding practices through personal interaction with the public while on patrol.

Aetna turning a new page in history

The community can be a part of history as Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Company continues its tradition of service with up-to-date communications technology.

The Aetna alarm system has come a long way since December 17, 1888, when the volunteers first were called to their lone hand-drawn hose cart by the ringing of church and school bells.

In 1905, the company purchased its own 1,200-pound bell, still in place on the siren tower at the first firehouse on Academy Street.

Aetna is now working to raise the money needed to outfit members with the most modern equipment possible. "The University of Delaware is helping Aetna to raise money to buy as many pagers as $25,000 will get them," said Rick Armitage, government relations director for the University.

The current Academy Street firehouse was built in 1922, and the first major alarm upgrade was made two years later when a siren was installed on a new tower adjacent to the station.

Aetna purchased new sirens in 1946 and again in 19543, the latter a large Civil 4Defense device. About that time, the company also established a two-way radio hook-up with the Singler Fire Company in Elkton, Md.

In the 1960s, Aetna purchased 40 radios for use on a fire radio net, operated by full-time paid operators who staffed a fire call board – a precursor to today's 911 system.

Aetna opened a new fire station on Ogletown Road in September 1963 and two decades later it opened a third station on Elkton Road.

Emergency communication continued to improve with the establishment of the 911 system and, more recently, the advent of high-tech pagers.

With the acquisition of pagers, Aetna will be able to silence its siren, which has been the object of complaints from nearby residents.

It was a beautiful day for a walk

Charity event raises dollars for hungry

By KATY CIAMARICONE

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Community members, University of Delaware students and even dogs took part in an annual 10K walk that raised more than $4,000 to benefit local and national charities.

Approximately 85 people participated in Cropwalk at First Presbyterian Church on Oct. 15. Sponsored by churches and charity organizations for more than 20 years, participants can contribute their own money or ask for donations to walk the distance in the event.

Nine-year-old Matthew Hundley brought his brown-and-white spotted dog, Klondike, along for the walk. He said walking two miles to school every day helped to prepare him for the event.

Although Hundley said he was glad to be helping raise money for those less fortunate than himself, there were other reasons for his participation.

"I'm the preacher's son, so I have no choice," he said.

Ken Garver said he and his four daughters walked — voluntarily — because they thought it would be a fun thing for the family to do together.

Garver, and 14-year-old Kim, 11-year-old Kristen, 8-year-old Jessica, and 7-year-old Elizabeth also brought along their dog, Lady.

"The money from (the walk) goes to help hungry people — who can argue against the fight for hunger?" Garver asked. "And besides, it's such a beautiful day."

With temperatures in the mid-70s and the sun shining brightly overhead, the Garver family and their fellow participants left the First Presbyterian Church on West Main Street at one p.m. They traveled Hillside Road until it became Barksdale Road and then to Downes Elementary School.

Long walks can be taxing to some participants' bodies and minds. For this reason, 16 members of the University of Delaware ROTC volunteered to locate themselves at stop lights along the way to direct traffic and to be sure the Cropwalkers could safely complete their journey.

"When I heard about the walk, I contacted the church and asked what we could do to help out," said Laura Mehan, community service officer for the ROTC. "Some of us (are manning) two of the rest stops and we brought some apples and oranges."

Participants in Newark's Cropwalk included all aspects of the community — even four-footed friends.

After stopping at Downes to refuel with some bottled water and sliced fruit, compliments of the ROTC, the walkers continued up Webb Road and followed the path across a stream to Timberline Drive, back to Casho Mill Road, then finally back to Main Street and the church.

Up to 25 percent of proceeds from the walk will benefit the Food Bank of Delaware, Hope Dining Room and the Newark Food Bank — all local organizations helping out impoverished families in the area. Additional profits are used to lessen hunger nationally and worldwide.

"It would also be beneficial for teachers to share their most effective teaching practices with each other, so they can learn new ways to increase students' vitality and performance in the classroom," he said.

District board members voted to continue Fischer's contract until it expires in June 2003.

Bear and two more in Broomall, Pa.

He said the idea to open a Halloween store came to him six years ago during a trip to the mall.

"I had visited some Halloween stores there — I'd always enjoyed Halloween — and it just seemed like something I would enjoy doing," he said.

Singleton said he looked through catalogs and found out what products he would need to start up the business, then called local realtors to see if one would give him a temporary lease.

"It's not as hard as you think," he said. "Once you find a realtor with an empty space, it's not really hard to locate a temporary business there. Most realtors would rather have the rent for a few months than not at all."

Singleton said most of his stores have five or six employees until a few weeks before Halloween, when he will probably employ 12 workers total.

Although the Halloween Shoppes came to town only last month, their entrails must be removed by Nov. 3, when their leases are up for the year.

But residents should not unlock their doors just yet, for next year, Singleton and his horrific monsters will return.

Apple/Barksdale might need light

City and University of Delaware officials were indignant recently when the Delaware Department of Transportation rejected their request to put a traffic light at the intersection of South Chapel Street and Wyoming Road.

DelDOT, citing inadequate levels of both vehicular and pedestrian traffic to warrant a signal, instead put in a stop sign.

As is common in many places in New Castle County, the city had required the developer of a nearby subdivision, in this case a student housing complex, to provide funds for what they perceived as a traffic problem related to the approval of the developer's plan.

DelDOT officials themselves noted that the previously unrestricted intersection has had 20 right-hand accidents in three years. Increased traffic could conceivably be expected when the 800-bed complex, with parking for every tenant, was completed.

We are uncertain that the intersection, even at the present time when the University is in session and the complex is filling up, merits a traffic light. We do agree with city officials, however, that the DelDOT study should have been done when the added traffic was already established.

The request to DelDOT from local officials also could have come at a later point, thus insuring the optimum volume of traffic for consideration. The good news is that DelDOT has promised to reconsider the decision on this intersection when the complex is fully leased.

Meanwhile, as noted by a letter to the editor this week, the intersection of Barksdale and Apple roads continues to savage the nerves of commuters and others who must pass that way.

At the request of the city, DelDOT studied the intersection to alleviate traffic backups extending over the bridge on Apple all the way to Elkton Road. The best plan, at this point, was deemed to be reversing the stop signs and changing a long-standing traffic pattern.

A traffic light was considered and rejected, because it would probably slow traffic even more.

However, drivers are still confused by the change, as well as in risk of being broadsided or rear-ended by other drivers who forget or ignore the signs.

Those who have been dealing with the configuration for the past month creep up to the intersection warily eying all directions to try to gauge their best hope of negotiating the location.

The result is cautious drivers stop, or almost stop, no matter which direction they are going in, and hope for the best.

We believe this intersection deserves another look by DelDOT far more than the one on South Chapel. Pedestrian and vehicular traffic is heavy around the clock and a student housing complex sits within yards of it.

If the city's Traffic Committee is not already reviewing the situation, we suggest they do so at their earliest opportunity and provide a report to city council.

Am I crazy? After the initial furor about the new change of direction in traffic at the intersection of Apple Road and Barksdale Road, there now are no police cars stationed at the intersection, no flashing lights, no editorials being written, no people screaming.

But, for those Newarkers passing daily through this intersection, fear abounds! How many times have you heard, "Just wait until someone is killed, then there will be a traffic light!" Why wait?

Is anyone monitoring this situation? I invite anyone to watch the traffic in this intersection for 15 minutes at peak driving hours — you won't believe what you see.

Then, join me being a daily driver! Oh yes, I have choices: head-on collision, getting struck from the rear because common sense says stop although signs don't say I must; or, opt for the Casho Mill railroad underpass. Yikes, scary choices! Can't we do better?

Half the eligible American population doesn't vote, and many of them, according to both statistics and my own experiences, don't vote because they think it will do any good, or, even worse, in protest.

What do these silent protesters think will happen? That the leaders of our political system will say oh, look! Joe Smith in Delaware didn't vote this year! We have to reform ourselves!

Please, history shows that most people will not turn down a dictatorship if one is offered to them. At every point in our history when the public has gained more freedom it has been fought for — American independence, abolition, female and minority voting rights.

If the American public does not vote for a candidate, they vote for not being heard at all. I don't want to live in this country, if that is the option that wins.

The best advice I can give a recent college graduate is to begin saving now for your future, for your retirement. Looking back to when I graduated from college, I wish I followed my own advice.

In a time of great economic prosperity, we are so fortunate to be able to explore alternative avenues of investment. Gone are the days of having merely a checking account and a savings account. More than ever, young people and families today are investing in mutual funds, stock and 401(k) plans.

Another new savings avenue is the Roth IRA. The money in a Roth IRA earns and compounds on a tax-free basis. This means the investor does not have to pay any current income tax on the interest, dividends, or capital gains earned in the Roth

IRA. This tax-free accumulation is a key advantage in building up the value of the investment.

Currently the Roth IRA is capped at $2,000/year and most 401(k) plans are also capped annually. We are working to change this in the U.S. Congress. We need to do all we can to encourage private savings in America, especially among young and low income workers.

This summer, I worked with fellow members of Congress to help pass The Comprehensive Retirement Security and Pension Reform Act in the U.S. House of Representatives.

This bill will make it easier for businesses, especially small businesses to establish pension plans and allow more workers to participate.

By increasing contribution limits, more workers will be able to put money away in IRAs which they can use for retirement, emergencies or even the education of their children.

Provisions included in this legislation, are:

- The current $2000 IRA contribution limit (established in 1981) for both traditional and Roth IRAs would be increased to $5,000 ($3,000 in 2001, $4,000 in 2002, and $5,000 in 2003), and indexed for inflation thereafter.

- Taxpayers age 50 and above would be permitted to contribute $5,000 to an IRA immediately beginning in 2001 (no phase-in would apply). These "catch-up" contributions would enable older taxpayers to more fully prepare for retirement.

- The limit on salary reduction contributions to 401(k)-type plans would be increased to $15,000 by 2005; and the limit on an employer's deduction for contributions to certain types of defined contribution plans would be raised to 20 percent of compensation.

- Up to $5,000 in additional salary reduction "catch-up" contributions for workers age 50 and above would be permitted for 401(k)-type plans.

- The vesting requirements for employer matching contributions would be reduced from five to three years. Additionally, pensions would be made portable so workers could more easily roll over retirement plan assets when they change jobs.

- Pension laws would be modernized and streamlined to encourage small businesses to offer pension plans.

Everyone should be able to invest and earn money in these prosperous economic times.

Castle, a Republican, is the U.S. Representative for Delaware in Congress.

Record Throng at Swarthmore Game

Close to 5000 people, including the student body here saw Swarthmore eke out a win over Delaware Saturday afternoon. Frazer Field held the biggest football crowd in years.

At the close of the game, the congestion was terrific. Almost an hour was consumed before the field was emptied.

Messersmith a visitor

George S. Messersmith, formerly superintendent of schools here, and now U.S. Consul-General at Antwerp, Belgium, was a visitor here Saturday.

Dr. W. Owen Sypherd gave a small luncheon in his honor at the Deer Park Hotel.

Teachers walk the line

Twenty per cent of the students were in and 42 percent of the teachers were out as the New Castle County teachers' strike entered its second full day yesterday, forcing many schools in the county to remain closed.

Official figures indicated that only a minimal number of custodians and secretaries failed to report for work. No other union is honoring the teachers' picket lines at this time.

Court battle closes theatre

Amidst controversy, lawsuits, counter lawsuits, and appeals, the State Theater on Main Street in Newark closed last week.

Stanley Kositsky of Philadelphia, the tenant who operated the Theater, was ordered by Justice of Peace Court to close the building he had operated since 1962. Owner Dorothy Goherman says she is hoping the building will continue to operate as a theater.

The State Theater, which has become a landmark in Newark, was built in 1929. It hosted vaudeville shows and a day of watching movies used to cost a dime.

School boards ignoring law, rep says

William A. Oberle Jr. (R-Beecher's Lot), chairman of the House Desegregation Committee, said recent Choice guidelines adopted by New Castle County school boards "show a blatant disregard of the law."

According to Oberle, the guidelines adopted by all four school districts which use racial criteria to decide whether or not to accept a student's Choice application for a school are illegal.

'Crank it up,' says water chief

As the drought continues in

New Castle County, hopes for a permanent water supply seem to ebb and flow with the rainfall.

This month one of the many small steps in progress toward a reservoir could take place at the annual meeting of the White Clay Watershed Association in Kemblesville, Pa.

"We're vulnerable now in this drought. We need to crank up the EIS (Environmental Impact Study required before reservoir construction) and get something done," Bernard Dworsky, administrator for the Water Resources Agency for New Castle County stated.

Books & Babies: developing readers

It is never too early to begin reading to children! As you spend time reading to the infants and toddlers you are helping to develop their understanding of words. As language develops, a lifelong love for books can also be developed.

Research confirms something we already knew: talking to young children is very important. After birth the process of "wiring" the brain begins.

Repetition forms the connections in the brain; using language with babies helps shape their brains for language.

The development of language is an amazing accomplishment! Babies begin life with the ability to perceive and reproduce sounds from any language. Yet by about 6 months of age the brain has been wired for whatever language baby hears. Children deprived of early language experiences never seem to develop typical skills.

While children work on their own timetable in developing language, there are warning signs of possible problems that should concern the provider.

These include a history of ear infections, not using words by the age of two years and being unable to understand the speech of a three-year-old.

You may find it helpful to establish reading rituals. For an infant it might be reading in a comfy rocking chair or at a particular time during the day's routine. If you're working with your toddler you might establish a "story quilt" where you and your toddler can sit and read stories.

When reading to infants and toddlers, look for books with the Three R's: rhyme, rhythm and repetition. For the youngest children the sounds of language are especially important. Infants will respond more to the rhythm of your voice than to the actual words of the book. Toddlers will want to mimic the repetitive phrases they hear.

When reading to infants keep in mind that babies like photos of other babies. Try to choose books that reflect daily experiences (families, familiar objects, food). Use your voice as a tool to vary your tone to keep their interest. Keep reading if the experience is pleasurable and stop if baby becomes fussy. Read favorite books over and over again.

Toddlers are curious and assert their independence. They want to see the pictures and turn the pages. This can lead to strange stories - reading from back to front, for example! Toddlers are natural mimics, so look for books with lots of repetition. Reading to toddlers is an interactive experience. They will enjoy books that provide them opportunities to use their favorite word or to repeat a phrase.

Jabberwock makes a lot of sense for eight Newark girls who are among those racking up points in hopes of a college scholarship.

Named for the mythical character in a nonsense poem from "Through the Looking Glass" by Lewis Carroll, Jabberwock is a five-month event sponsored by the non-profit arm of the Wilmington Alumnae Chapter of the Delta Sigma Theta sorority.

Young women in their junior or senior year of high school with a grade point average of at least 2.5 are invited every two years to join the competition, according to Linda O'Neal, vice president of the Delta Outreach Center.

Jabberwock participants earned more than $143,000 in scholarship money during the last two Jabberwocks, O'Neal said.

Local Jabberwock members are Yasmin Aklilu, Leodora Anderson, Imani Benjamin and Danika Perry, all students at Newark High School; Jamie Chamberlain, who attends Glasgow High School; Kristen Cheatwood of Padua Academy and Erin Rowsey, who attends A.I. DuPont High School.

Anderson said she hopes to attend Florida State or Florida A & M with the financial aid she earns from the program. She plans to study political science and economics.

Currently a junior at Newark High School, Anderson took part in Read Aloud Delaware this year to earn points. In her free time, she reads to young children at the YMCA on Walnut Street in Wilmington.

Perry, a senior, said she joined the program because it would be an enriching experience.

"It has helped me learn about becoming a lady, how to carry myself and how to do well when I get out into the business world," she said.

Perry said her top college choices are Howard University and the University of Delaware, where she would like to major in biology.

"High school opened me up to biology," she said. "I'm just fascinated by science, and biology will help me to be a pediatrician, which is what I really want to do."

Perry said she spends every Saturday morning volunteering in area hospitals, where she plays games, makes arts and crafts, and plays pool with the patients.

"I go around and visit patients who are unable to come out of their beds and try to entertain them, too," she said.

Chamberlain said she hopes the program will also help her to a performing career.

"I want to go to NYU, or any college in New York - I really want to be in New York," said Chamberlain, a junior. "I want to take up acting or something to do with the performing arts."

This year, 26 women are participating during the 35th anniversary of Jabberwock.

Each receives points for their attendance at cultural events, involvement in community service, visits to local colleges and displays of congeniality, among other things.

They also sell advertisements and hold fundraisers, and at the closing ceremony, each girl receives scholarship money corresponding to the amount of points she earned over the course of the program.

On Oct. 21, Jabberwock will conclude with the bi-annual show when members invite their families, friends and neighbors to join them in an evening of entertainment.

The girls give performances based on the African American experience and one of them will be crowned "Miss Jabberwock," O'Neal said.

In addition, women who live in Delaware and have achieved outstanding success in their careers are invited to talk to the women in the program.

Past guest speakers have included former Senator Rose Henry; entrepreneur Barbara Spencer; news reporter Marie Black, and Reverend Dawn Christopher.

"Jabberwock 2000" is tomorrow at 7 p.m. at Delcastle Technical High School, Newport Road, Wilmington. For information, call 636-6791.

Airmen of Note marks 50 years with local concert

Airmen of Note, the premier jazz ensemble of the United States Air Force, was created in 1950 to carry on the tradition of Glenn Miller's Army Air Corps dance band. Later adopting a more contemporary style, the band is still in the forefront of modern big band jazz.

Today, Technical Sergeant Alan Baylock, the Note's current chief arranger, maintains the band's commitment to driving innovation and respect for tradition.

The 18-member ensemble will appear in a free concert at Newark High School on Nov. 8 at 7 p.m. For tickets to see one of the nation's best big bands, mail a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request to: Jazz Tickets, Newark High School, 750 East Delaware Avenue, Newark, DE 19711.

Remaining tickets, if any, on the night of the show will be available at the door on a first come, first serve basis.

To augment its talented writing staff, the Airmen of Note has commissioned works by such celebrated arrangers as Bob Florence and Bob Mintzer. Sammy Nestico, and fellow Note alumnus Tommy Newsom, have each composed works for the group as well.

Twice yearly the Note ventures throughout the United States and has also appeared in five South American countries, eight European countries and Japan. This reputation has led to the Note's regular and greatly anticipated feature performances at the world's most famous jazz festivals, including the Detroit/Montreux Jazz Festival, Notre Dame Jazz Festival, Jacksonville Jazz Festival, Wichita Jazz Festival, Elkhart Jazz Festival and the Pensacola Jazz Festival.

A leading force in music education, many of its members are accomplished clinicians with extensive backgrounds in music education. They routinely lead clinics at high schools and colleges across the country, and are frequently invited to perform at national music conventions, including the International Association of Jazz Educators, Music Educators National Conference, and the Midwest Clinic.

In 1990, the Airmen of Note established its highly acclaimed Jazz Heritage Series. Since then, legendary jazz icons like Clark Terry and Louis Bellson, as well as artists like Arturo Sandoval and Randy Brecker have considered it a great honor to share the stage as the Airmen of Note performs for ecstatic Washington, D.C. audiences.

In 2000, the Airmen of Note celebrates its 50th anniversary. As it passes this historic milestone, it will continue — as a national treasure — building on its rich musical tradition, and providing support for today's United States Air Force.

The 18-member Airmen of Note ensemble will appear in a free concert at Newark High School on Nov. 8 at 7 p.m.

Cinderella, Snoopy, Charlie Brown in UD Performing Arts Series

Children of all ages will enjoy the University of Delaware's 2000-2001 Family Performing Arts Series featuring characters from the White Rabbit to Cinderella. "Alexander" will show children how to survive a bad day while "Snoopy!!! The Musical" presents the antics of Charlie Brown, Lucy and friends that have delighted audiences for generations.

The series opens with The American Family Theater Broadway for Kids production of Lewis Carroll's "Alice in Wonderland," at 2 p.m., Sunday, Oct. 29, in Mitchell Hall, South College Avenue, Newark.

Other events in the series include: "Alexander and the Terrible, Horrible, No Good, Very Bad Day," presented by the Kennedy Center Imagination Celebration on Tour at 11 a.m. and 4 p.m., Saturday, Dec. 9, in Mitchell Hall; The American Family Theater Broadway for Kids production of "Cinderella," along with her new friend Mortimer Mouse, at 2 p.m., Sunday, Feb. 25, 2001, in Mitchell Hall; "Snoopy!!! The Musical," at 2 p.m., Sunday, May 5, 2001, in Mitchell Hall.

Tickets for all performances are $10 for the general public, $8 for UD faculty, staff, alumni and senior citizen's and $6 for students and children. They are available at the Hartshorn Box Office, corner of Academy Street and East Park Place, from noon to 5 p.m., weekdays. Credit card orders are accepted by phone at 831-2204 or by fax at 831-4366. Tickets may also be obtained through Ticketmaster where a convenience charge will apply, by calling, 984-2000.

The series is co-sponsored by the University, Arby's Roast Beef, and a grant from the Delaware Division of the Arts.

Johnson Victrola Museum expanding

Expansion of display space at the Johnson Victrola Museum in Dover will make room for one of the largest and most comprehensive collections of antique Victrolas and gramophones in the world.

The second floor renovation, designed by Bernardon & Associates Architects P.C., includes the conversion of a 2,400 square foot collections storage area to allow the display of the complete Victrola collection donated to the state of Delaware by Dr. Lynwood Heiges. The floor will be dedicated to Eldridge Reeves Johnson, inventor of the original Victrola.

Anticipated future renovations to the museum might include a new addition to provide accessibility to all floors and to modernize support spaces and existing displays. The Delaware Division of Historical and Cultural Affairs funded the renovations.

"The new space is modest in design to focus the visitor's attention on the exhibits," said Kevin Rychlicki, Bernardon's project manager. "The Delaware State Museums wanted a visibly pleasing and comfortable space that didn't take precedence over or distract from the exhibit displays."

Newark v-ball follows plan to success

By MARTY VALANIA

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

It's amazing what a plan and a team's belief in that plan can do for a high school team.

The Newark volleyball team is a perfect example of a unit that has reaped the benefits of belief in a coach's philosophy.

Coach Lisa Phipps Ueltzhoffer began last season with a young team. She had a simple goal of bringing passion and pride back to a once powerful Newark High volleyball program.

Ueltzhoffer should know about passion and pride. She was a part of the winning Newark tradition in the early 1990s. She felt some of that pride had dissipated over the years and badly wanted to restore it.

The first season for a new head coach is rarely easy. Last year was no exception for Ueltzhoffer. The team was competitive but lost many of the tight matches it was in.

This year, however, has been a different story. Even though the team entered the year unranked and unnoticed by many other teams, the Yellowjackets have thrived. Many of the same players that lost a lot of tight matches last year are now part of a team that is finding a way to win those types of matches this season.

The Jackets 2-0 victory over William Penn last week was an example. Newark, trailing in both games, was able to fight back and win two close victories.

Newark now finds itself atop Flight A and looking toward a possible conference championship.

Ueltzhoffer noticed the difference in practices in the early part of the season. The players were doing the right things without having to be told. She liked the attitude and thought the team had a chance to be a good one.

Well, she was right. The team has been a good one and seems to be getting better. Ueltzhoffer, her assistant coach and sister Jessica Phipps, and the team members deserve a lot of credit for their efforts over the past two years. Those efforts are paying off now.

St. Mark's v-ball rolls on Speaking of successful volleyball teams, how about those St. Mark's Spartans.

The Spartans, winners of four of the last five state championships, look like they could be headed for another this season.

St. Mark's knocked off Cape Henlopen and Archmere last week to improve its record to 16-0 on the season.

The Spartans are amazing with their consistency and their power.

It would be a major upset if anybody but St. Mark's won the state title.

Newark near top of Flight A standings

The Newark High field hockey team is off to its best start in school history with a 9-1-2 record entering the week.

The Yellowjackets came from behind to knock off Padua 2-1 in overtime Friday afternoon and followed that up with a 3-1 victory over Concord Saturday afternoon on the artificial turf at the University of Delaware's Rullo Stadium.

In the victory over Concord, Newark took a 1-0 lead on a goal by Cynthia Hartsoe. The goal was set up by a fine run down the sideline by Jessica Coombs, who passed the ball into the circle where Hartsoe was waiting to redirect the shot into the goal. The goal came within the first 30 seconds of the second half and opened some breathing room for the Jackets.

Newark improved its lead to 2-0 as Amanda Levering scored on an assist from Chelsea Adams.

After Concord cut the lead to 2-1, Newark sealed the victory with Adams getting a goal on an assist from Coombs.

In Friday's game against Padua, the Jackets were forced to rally from a 1-0 deficit.

First, Levering, on an assist from Adams, scored the tying goal with at the 8:15 mark of the second half.

Neither team could score during the rest of regulation and the game went into overtime.

The game winning goal came from the same combination of Newark players, only reversed. It was Adams who scored the goal on an assist from Levering.

Newark dominated the game statistically outshooting Padua 20-8 and out-cornering the Pandas 18-2.

Newark remains undefeated in Flight A and is just a half game behind William Penn in the standings. The Colonials had a 5-0-1 conference mark at the beginning of the week while the Yellowjackets were 5-0-2.

Newark and William Penn tied their only meeting of the season.

Newark will play at Brandywine Friday afternoon.

Newark booters fall to top-ranked St. Mark's

Spartans start new streak

By JOE BACKER

NEWARK POST CONTRIBUTING WRITER

The St. Mark's High soccer team fought off a valiant effort by Newark Thursday night to come away with a hotly-contested 3-0 victory at Hoffman Stadium. Three different players scored for the Spartans, now 9-1 on the season. The Yellowjackets fell to 6-3-2.

Spartan coach Tom DeMatteis said he was pleased with the effort of his players and the outcome of the game.

"We had a lot to deal with and we came through it very well," DeMatteis said. "We had a fired up opponent, but we withstood everything they threw at us."

Yellowjacket coach Hugh Mitchell said he was equally pleased with the effort of his squad.

"We really played well, but obviously we have a tough schedule playing against Salesianum, Glasgow and St. Mark's all within a short amount of time each other," Mitchell said.

The three Yellowjacket losses are all from those top-rated teams.

After a ferocious first 20 minutes, St. Mark's began to work the ball closer to Newark goalkeeper Dan Frick. Eventually, the persistence paid off with a goal by senior forward Adam Flanigan on a crisp pass from Greg DiDiego. Flanigan's goal came in the 32nd minute.

While Newark was regrouping, and hoping to avoid a mental letdown after a well-played first half, the Spartans struck again. This time the goal was scored by DiDiego on a feed from Nolan Dzielak in the 38th minute.

The second half began in similar fashion to the start of the game, with both teams working hard to obtain field position and control the ball. Newark had several chances, but was not able to consistently get within close range of Spartan netminder Alex Facciolo.

The action did get physical on occasion with both teams preventing the opponent a clear shot on the keepers. With about 18 minutes left in the game, a Newark defender was called for a penalty, but Jacket keeper Frick made a spectacular save on the penalty shot by Adam Stuller.

In the 55th minute the Spartans Dzielak attempted a penalty kick but again Frick made another superb diving save. Mitchell said he wasn't pleased with the whistles since play had been physical all evening.

"Frick kept us in the match, he made two great saves on those penalty kicks," Mitchell said.

DeMatteis agreed, "I thought

Jackets stretch win streak to 15

By MARTY VALANIA

It may have taken a tad longer than in previous weeks, but once the Newark High football team got rolling, the end result was still the same.

The Yellowjackets beat crosstown rival Glasgow 40-0 Friday night to improve their record to 5-0 on the season. The win was Newark's 15th straight and 40th in its last 41 games.

Glasgow fell to 1-4 on the season.

An emotional Dragon squad matched Newark's intensity early in the contest and actually kept the Jackets from scoring on their initial possession - something nobody else has been able to do this season.

Newark was able to score on its second possession on a four-yard run by Nelson Drew but the Jackets only led 7-0 after one quarter.

"I was really proud of the way we came out ready to play football," said Glasgow coach Mark DelPercio. "We were only down 7-0 and we are one of the only teams not to have to play with a running clock the entire second half."

While it sounds crazy to measure a team by that barometer, that's how good Newark has played this season.

That strength began to show itself in the second quarter as the Jackets erupted for three touchdowns to push the halftime lead to 28-0.

Austin Kisner began the second-quarter onslaught with a 15-yard touchdown run. Drew, just two minutes later, burst down the left sideline on a 60-yard scoring run. Fullback Brandon Snow finished off the first half scoring with a six-yard run up the middle.

Kicker John Brayman converted on all four first-half extra points.

Newark outgained Glasgow 282 yards to 11 in the first half with 225 of the Jackets' yards coming on the ground.

"We have four excellent backs," said Newark coach Butch Simpson. "We have Nelson Drew, Brandon Snow, Austin Kisner and Drew Kisner. All of them are very good and capable of big things."

"But I'm really happy with the way the offensive line has come

Hens prep for rest of season

By MARTY VALANIA

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

The University of Delaware football team couldn't have picked a better week to have open and couldn't have picked a better way to go into the week.

With the Blue Hens 28-17 victory over William & Mary last week, the team improved its record to 7-0 overall and 4-0 in the Atlantic-10 conference. The fourth-ranked Hens, one of only nine unbeaten teams remaining in all of Div. I-AA, have already equaled their win total from each of the previous two seasons and have three of their four remaining games at home.

While the picture does appear rosy for Delaware, there are still some hurdles left.

"We realize that the first half of our schedule was the softer half," said Delaware offensive coordinator Ted Kempski earlier this week. "Everybody on the Internet, on the talk shows and in the papers knew we had to win frequently early in the season — which we did. Now we still have four tough games remaining — all four teams are in the top half of the league."

James Madison (4-2, 3-1) on Oct. 28; New Hampshire (4-2, 2-2) on Nov. 4; at UMass (4-2, 3-1) Nov. 11 at Villanova (4-2, 2-1) Nov. 18.

With the difficult schedule ahead, the week off appears to come at a good time. The only problem is that the Hens are 0-4 in games after open dates.

"It's essential we rectify that," Kempski said. "We're treating this week kind of like a pre-season. We're going to have more intense practices and more conditioning."

Kempski also said the team is changing its routine from past open week schedules in hopes of finding the formula that works.

"We've tried something different each time and none of them has worked," Kempski said. "So, we're going to change again. Compounding matters is that the best team (JMU) — other than us — in the league is who we have to play on Oct. 28."

The team's schedule change is mostly in the days it practices. Delaware held a normal Monday practice but then practiced harder on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. The team has the rest of the weekend off.

In prior years, the team had off early in the week and practiced Friday and Saturday.

As far as the offense goes, Kempski said the only disappointing aspect was the goal line offense against William & Mary.

"We got inside the five-yard line twice and stalled," the offensive coordinator said. "Luckily, we have a good kicking game this year, and we were able to get two field goals."

Kempski did also express concern about the offensive line's run blocking in the past two games.

"We've had a drop off there," he said. "I don't know if it's a carry over from the Richmond game or what. I do know that both Richmond and William & Mary played a defense for most of the game that was different from what they showed all year. So we practiced against one thing all week and then saw something different in the game. I know that has something to do with it."

ATHLETE OF THE WEEK

Caitlin McIntosh - NEWARK

Newark High's volleyball team has had a terrific season and one of the big reasons has been the play of senior Caitlin McIntosh.

McIntosh is a three-year letterwinner for the Yellowjackets and has been on teams that had some times. This year's team, though, has turned things around and seems to be winning all the close games and matches.

At week's end Newark was 11-2, and with wins over William Penn and Brandywine last week, in first place Flight A at the beginning of this week.

Against William Penn last week, Newark trailed the Colonials 11-4 in the first game of their match. McIntosh, however, served nine straight points to lead the Jackets back. Newark ended up winning two close games and the match. It was a match that probably would have gone the other way last year.

McIntosh had 18 assists, 11 digs and eight perfect passes in the win over Brandywine and five perfect passes, three digs, eight assists, two kills and two aces in the victory over William Penn.

"She's an excellent team leader," said Newark coach Lisa Phipps-Ueltzhoffer of McIntosh. "She tracks everything down on the court, she makes good decisions and she's level-headed as a floor captain. She just never gives up out there and the other players see that. She's also able to adapt to whatever we ask her to do."

Being a senior, McIntosh has been through a coaching change at Newark.

"She's played a large role in re-establishing pride in Newark volleyball," said Ueltzhoffer. "She's remained loyal to the program and has really grown over the last four years."

Ueltzhoffer credits McIntosh's dedication to the sport as a reason for her steady improvement over the years.

"She plays winter volleyball and goes to camp," Ueltzhoffer said. "She has done anything to get her hands on a volleyball and it has been a big help for her."

FAIR HILL INTERNATIONAL

Olympic Stars To Sign Autographs At Fair Hill International

U.S. Olympic Eventers David O'Connor, Karen O'Connor and Bruce Davidson, and 2000 Olympic Games alternate Buck Davidson will sign autographs at the 12th annual Fair Hill International, October 27-30, at the Fair Hill Natural Resources Area, Fair Hill, MD.

Sydney Olympic Games individual Gold Medalist and 1999 Fair Hill champion David O'Connor, who became the first U.S. equestrian to earn an Olympic Gold Medal since 1984, will be joined by his wife Karen who won team Bronze in Sydney with David. These Olympic stars, as well as many of their Sydney eventing teammates, will be honored during a ceremony in the main arena at the Fair Hill International on Sunday, October 29.

Five-time Olympic veteran Bruce Davidson will participate in a Supracor Equestrian Products-sponsored autograph session, also on Sunday, October 29, at the Bit of Britain tack shop. Davidson, one of the most decorated Olympic equestrians of all time, won two Olympic team Gold Medals (Montreal 1976, Los Angeles, 1984) and two Olympic team Silver Medals (Munich 1972, Atlanta, 1996). He has been the U.S. Combined Training Association Rider of the Year a record 14 times.

Alongside his father will be Bruce iBuck Davidson, Jr., who won an individual Bronze Medal and team Silver Medal at the 1997 North American Young Riders Championship CCI. He quickly followed those achievements with a sixth-place finish at the 1998 Rolex Kentucky CCI*, and a 7th place finish for the U.S. Equestrian Team at the 1999

Pan American Games. Supracor Equestrian Products, sponsor of the Davidsons and designer/maintainer of innovative performance saddlepads, invites fans to bring an item to be autographed such as a Bit of Britain catalog, Fair Hill International program, photo, or t-shirt.

The Fair Hill International brings Olympic and World Championship veterans along with up-and-coming equestrians to the Fair Hill Natural Resources Area for four days of thrilling action, family entertainment, unique shopping, and fun for all. Exciting competitions include the Cosequin/ USET Fall Three-Day-Event (CCI), the USET Four-In-Hand Driving Championship, the USET Pairs Driving Championship, and the final leg of the Jaguar Triple Crown of Combined Driving.

Families can also enjoy the "Festival in the Country" which features Country Shops, a Classic Car Exhibition, Breyer Model Horse Show and specialty foods. Spectators will enjoy watching the exciting United States Dog Agility Association (USDAA) Dog Agility Trials and Masters National Team Championship.

With just one week until the start of the Fair Hill International, October 27-30, it's time to buy tickets which are $8 per adult per day or $20 for a four-day pass. Children 12 and younger are admitted free. All events and activities take place rain or shine.

For further information please contact the Fair Hill International office at (410) 755-6065 or visit the website at www.fairhillinternational.com.

along. That was a question mark at the beginning of the season and it has just kept getting better and better. They have done a great job."

That offensive line includes Orien Harris, Kevin Wiggins, Matt Savage, Awet Estifanos and Greg Moore.

Newark picked up in the third quarter where it left off. Drew Kiser continued the strong rushing attack with a 26-yard touchdown run through the Dragons' defense. Kiser then broke off another long scoring run — this one a 41-yarder to complete the scoring and set the running clock in motion.

"This was a very physical football game," Simpson said.

"My hat's off to Glasgow. They came out and played very hard and matched us with intensity. At the same time we didn't execute very well early either. I'm happy with the way we responded to that."

"This group isn't very happy when they're not playing or executing their best. I think they came back and performed well."

For Glasgow, the game represents hope for the rest of the season.

"I told the team that if we can play like that every game, we're going to win a lot of games," DelPercio said. "We played hard and that's something we have to do against every team we play. We have a goal of going 5-0 in our last five games and if we can play like this, I think we can."

NEWARK (5-0) VS. ALEXIS I. DUPONT (0-5) — Friday night at Newark's Hoffman Stadium, 7. This game is between the state's best team and one of the state's worst. The score will reflect the disparity between these two teams. The running clock may actually be an asset in this game. Newark is too big, too fast, too talented. The Pick: Newark 48, A.I. 6.

CHRISTIANA (3-2) VS. WILLIAM PENN (4-1) — Saturday afternoon at Christiana, 1. This is a big game for both teams. The winner stays in the Flight A race and the loser, with Newark still on both teams' schedule, is in deep trouble. After two opening losses, Christiana has played better in recent weeks.

William Penn, though, has looked even better. The Pick: William Penn 20, Christiana 13.

GLASGOW (1-4) AT DELCASTLE (4-1) — Saturday afternoon at Delcastle, 1. The Cougars may be the surprise team in the state so far this season, winning four of their first five games. Glasgow, despite being beaten up on the scoreboard, felt it played better against Newark last week. This is a big game for both teams. Glasgow wants to get a win over a good team and Delcastle wants to stay in the state tournament hunt. The Pick: Delcastle 26, Glasgow 20.

ST. MARK'S (2-4) AT WEST CHESTER EAST — Friday night at West

Chester East, 7. After two straight wins to open the season, the Spartans have fallen on hard times. West Chester East usually has a pretty good squad and that could spell trouble for St. Mark's. The Pick: W.C. East 14, St. Mark's 7.

our guys struck the ball very well, but he made two very nice saves on two good, hard shots."

Before Newark could counter attack, however, Stuller scored in the 65th minute following up a shot by Dzielak.

"I thought it was big the way Stuller banged in a shot after missing the penalty shot just a few minutes earlier," DeMatteis said of the goal.

Mitchell felt the game would be good experience for the team if they make it to the state tournament.

"We have to make it to the state tournament," he said. "But if we do, playing this hard will help us a lot," Mitchell said. "We played well, but they are champions for a reason and they showed why."

DeMatteis said it's always good to win a tough game against a very strong opponent.

"I was pleased with our play and our effort against Newark, especially going into another big game against Salesianum. But we're building for the end of the season and you have to work hard as tournament time approaches."

Mar-Va Council, Freedom Trail District, has received a $500 grant through the Bell Atlantic Foundation's Volunteer Recognition Program.

The grant was made on behalf of Edwin M. Wortham Jr., who works in the Radio and Equipment Maintenance group for the Diamond State Telephone Company, a Bell Atlantic Company, now Verizon. Wortham, a resident of the Newark area, has been employed by Bell Atlantic for 31 years, and active in Scouting for 13 years as a Scout master, den leader and assistant cub master.

Myers at Parris Island

Marine Corps Pfc. Jerry L. Myers recently completed basic training at Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, S.C. Myers is the son of Ruth M. Harp of New Castle. He ended the training phase with The Crucible, a 54-hour team effort, problem solving evolution which culminated with an emotional ceremony in which the recruits were presented the Marine Corps Emblem, and were addressed as "Marines" for the first time since boot camp began.

Robinson graduates

Former Newark resident Courtney L. Robinson graduated from Georgia Institute of Technology with a bachelor of science degree in management.

Robinson is the daughter of David and Sharon Robinson and the granddaughter of Audrey Laws of Newark and Beatrice Robinson of Townsend. Courtney attended Kirk School in Brookside and graduated from Harrison High School in Kennesaw, Ga. She will be working for Sun Trust in Atlanta.

Newark wins beach mural contest

Newark area resident John McGee, who vacations in the Delaware beaches with his family, named the mural "Seas the Day" at First Street Station in Rehoboth Beach.

He said he thought "Seas the Day" was a cute name because of the seascape look of the mural.

Artist Matt Willey designed and painted the mural in May. Featuring the ocean and sky along with Delaware shrubs and trees, the mural adds a picturesque scene to the unique shopping complex located at First Street and Rehoboth Avenue.

Wings: Charting your child's course through learning challenges" at Tatnall School, Wilmington on Saturday, Nov. 4, from 8:15 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Dr. Lori Muskat, featured speaker and advocate for children, will show the different ways children learn and how to adapt teaching methods to match their specific needs.

A local panel of parents, educators, therapists and physicians will discuss service options in the community and how to access them. The cost is $20 which includes lunch. For reservations, call Terry Clark by Oct. 30 at 892-4336.

Adopt-a-Family Holiday program

Volunteering for the Adopt-a-Family holiday program can be an enjoyable and rewarding way to give back to your community. From Oct. 23 through Dec. 20, volunteers are needed to help match sponsors with needy families, coordinate gift-giving, and help deliver presents to families in New Castle County. Call 792-9520 for more information.

Grants available for filling child care gaps

The Family and Workplace Connection (FWC) has grants for Delaware child care providers who meet the criteria for expanding, enhancing, or creating programs that increase the supply of safe, healthy and appropriate child care where shortages exist.

Providers interested in obtaining grants during the next funding round must submit a proposal by Oct. 23.

There are two types of grants: Incentives which stimulate the development of new programs and expansion of existing programs which assist providers with start-up expenses and first-year operating costs related to expansion.

Providers will be able to use funds for training, staff-related expenses, and purchase of equipment and supplies. For more information, call 479-1679 or visit the website at www.familyandworkplace.org.

Young Marines night at Burger King

On Wednesday, Oct. 25, the Burger King off Route 896 in Glasgow will be contributing a portion of sales completed between 5 and 8 p.m. to the Young Marines as they try to raise funds for equipment and activities.

Kmart making a difference on Oct. 28

Kmart and Big Kmart stores in Delaware will have volunteers at information tables on Oct. 28 from noon to 4 p.m. to provide materials to families who qualify for free or low cost health insurance.

These will enable them to enroll in the Delaware Healthy Children Program or Medicaid. For more information call 302-225-1020.

Down the Aisle

Wedding jewelry: accessorize, accessorize, accessorize!

Eclectic may be in vogue in home furnishings, but when it comes to jewelry, especially wedding jewelry, tradition takes charge. Have you ever gone to a wedding where some bridesmaids were wearing gold jewelry, while others were wearing silver? It may not be a big deal to you, but to another bride-to-be, it's the difference between perfection and disaster!

First and foremost, consider your wedding rings. There are literally thousands of styles and designs to choose from, and because there's such a wide variety, you're sure to find something that matches your tastes. Whether you're the yellow gold, white gold or platinum type, there's a ring out there just for you. Some couples decide to design their own rings, while others find their gems amidst estate jewelry. Before embarking on your own personal quest, remember it's always wise to read up on precious metals and educate yourself about styles, settings and stones to assure that you are getting the best value for your money.

Next up for consideration is the jewelry your bridal party will wear. Before making any decisions, take into account the personal style of each individual in your party. If your wedding is based on a theme, it's a good idea to coordinate the jewelry accordingly. Does your wedding have a modern or antique flavor? Is it classically simple or a bit extravagant? Still at a loss? Pearls are always in fashion. Traditional and popular, pearls never go out of style and elegantly enhance any bridesmaid's dress. Or add a little splash of color with pearls in pastel shades of pink, yellow, green or blue.

If you're meticulous about details and want your bridal party to have matching earrings and necklaces, it's best to present them as thank-you gifts before your big day. Be sure to communicate that you would like them to be worn at your event. On the other hand, if you prefer to leave the accessories up to your bridesmaids, it's still a good idea to set a few guidelines to avoid fashion faux pas!

The groomsmen, on the other hand, are always the easiest to accessorize with jewelry, if at all! At most, they will wear cuff links and/or a watch with a dressy band. Whether or not your groomsmen have a pierced ear, nose or other bodily part, it is at your discretion whether or not the jewelry be removed for your wedding (though most groomsmen will do so on their own). If the pierced jewelry is small and unobtrusive, it probably won't be noticeable in your photographs. Again, if you'd like consistency in the form of cuff links, they make a handsome thank-you gift to present before the event.

As the old adage goes: "Less is always more," especially in the case of jewelry. The whole idea of adding this type of finery is to enhance the overall look without drawing too much attention. After all, you and your fiancé are the center of attention, not the jewelry worn by you or your bridal party.

Who should pay for what: Dividing the wedding expenses

Who pays for which wedding expenses is entirely up to the bride, the groom, and their families. The following is a list of accepted cost-sharing, but in reality every expense is open to negotiation. Today there are no hard-and-fast rules, and monetary decisions must be made in light of individual situations.

The important thing is to decide up front who will pay for what, so there won't be any surprises (or hard feelings) down the road. Traditionally the bride's family assumes most of the wedding costs, but today many newlyweds pay for the wedding and reception themselves.

Traditional expenses for the bride and her family

Need lots of room? This floor plan is for you

The colossal Ragsdale has three floors, 8,164 square feet of living space, and seven bedrooms that include an enormous master suite and a large guest suite. The phenomenal use of space makes this home ideal for a large family that needs room to spread out and enjoy life.

The overall facade of the Ragsdale is a large ranch home, with a wrap-around covered porch in the front and a large deck in the rear. Numerous windows grace the walls of this home, providing extra light for the many rooms.

Inside the entry of the Ragsdale is the study to the right and a guest room with a full bath to the left. Adjacent to this area is the utility room and door to a garage. The entire rear area of the main floor is dedicated to a large family room with a large reading area on the right rear. There is a fireplace in one corner and an entertainment center in the front corner.

The kitchen is centrally located and has a circular shape. The cook top island is surrounded with counters and an eating bar, with a corner pantry. To the right are the breakfast nook and the formal dining area.

In the hall adjacent to the kitchen is a unique stairway to the second floor. On this level are the two larger bedrooms and a huge master suite, along with a recreation room. Each of the two enormous bedrooms has built-in drawers dividing two long wall closets.

French doors provide an elegant opening for the master suite. The main suite area has its own gas fireplace, private bath with his-and-hers sinks, oversized shower, spa tub, and a huge open walk-in closet with a bench to sit and change shoes. In the open hall between the three bedrooms are a storage closet, a full bath with twin sinks, and the unique stairway to the attic floor and the recreation room, which extends out over the garage and has a half bath for convenience.

The attic floor has three more large bedrooms and a full bath. Each bedroom has its own walk-in closet of varying sizes, and shelves, or a desk, or a built-in dresser. There are pull-down stairs that go up to the final level of this magnificent home.

For a study kit of the Ragsdale (407-66) send $24.95 to Landmark Designs, 33127 Saginaw Road East, Cottage Grove, OR 97424. Specify plan name and number for study plan. For a collection of plan books, send $20.00 or save by ordering the study plan and collection together for $34.95. For faster processing, call 1-800-562-1151.
