Tommy Reynolds to Play at Junior Prom in Hotel DuPont, December 5

Tommy Reynolds, his orchestra and "his music of today" in the style of tomorrow have been engaged to play at the annual Junior Prom of Delaware College in the Hotel DuPont on December 5 through arrangement with Consolidated Radio Artists, Inc. of New York City. Reynolds was secured by the President of the Junior Class, Tom Skripps, Treasurer of the Student Council, Dick Jowusaz, and Jack Warren, a member of the prom committee. Skripps has announced that tickets will be placed on sale sometime next week, though no price has been decided on yet.

Reynolds, whose orchestra is aptly labeled "The Band of Tomorrow," has been one of the fastest rising maestros of the year. Tommy and his group have played many outstanding engagements including Levee in Boston; Casa Madrid, Louisville; State Ballroom in Boston; Playland in Rye, New York; Paramount Theatre in New York City and the Famous Door in New York City.

Tommy has been broadcasting almost nightly over the Mutual, CBS and NBC networks for the past several months, first from Boston, from the Playland Casino in Rye and recently from the Famous Door in New York. Reynolds has made enumerable records for the Columbia Record Company on the Vocalion and now on the Okeh label. His "platters" are among the top sellers.

A recent review in Billboard, trade magazine, had this to say about "your band of tomorrow" Tommy Reynolds and his orchestra:

"Billed as the 'Band of Tomorrow,' Tommy Reynolds is a little too close to the style of a band very much of today to rate such an exalted appellation. But with Tommy playing a clarinet in the Artie Shaw vernacular and backed by a band with more than its share of the lift and drive of the Shaw crew, this may be an outfit to be reckoned with no matter what its called. Musically proficient, this new bantoneer also impressed further with a good knowledge of how to set off his band to best advantage in the showcase of a coast-to-coast remote."

Crispness of execution and really bouncing tempos characterize the Reynolds orchestra. High spot of each arrangement is the solo clarinet of the leader, flashing out in brilliant and breath-taking improvisations in front of choir voicings of brass and reeds. Here's a clarinet style which is really attention getting and worthy of rank with any current star.

Delaware Favored Over Drexel In Clash Tomorrow At Philadelphia

The University of Delaware football machine, fresh from a 47-7 triumph over Swarthmore last week, will attempt to go through its 12th game in a row without a defeat when it opposes a Drexel team, that has only suffered one loss in its present campaign, tomorrow afternoon on the Drexel field. The game will get underway at 2:30.

Although a tie game interrupted the win streak, the Delaware team has a fresh win streak of five in a row equalling that of last season. The game tomorrow will be an attempt to run its win column to six in a row for the first time in many decades of Delaware football history. All observations point to another Delaware win, although the Drexel cannot be taken too lightly as they have a fast team with a sticky pass offense.

Throughout this week's practice period, Coach Murray has been passing his cohorts through extensive pass-defense drilling. All members have been working out except Jarvis, Long, and Brooks. Jarvis suffered an ankle and foot injury in last week's encounter, while co-captain Brooks had a recurrence of his knee injury. Long was injured in scrimmage last week.

The line-up for this week's contest will probably be the same as that which started the Swarthmore game with the exception of Jarvis, who will be replaced by "Buck" Thompson.

The line-ups:

Theta Chi Plans New Bowery Ball

One week from tonight, the quiet dignity of Old College will be thrown aside as the Theta Chi fraternity stages its first "Bowery Ball." The dance is part of the thirtieth anniversary celebration of the founding of the local chapter of Theta Chi on the campus.

Costumes, hair styles, sideburns, and mustaches will be order for the dance, the theme being taken directly from a cross section of the Bowery in the gay period of 1890-1900. Atmosphere will be provided by decorations and music of the period, and the Commons will be turned into a Bowery dive with gambling tables, "drinks", and juke tunes.

Sideburns viewed on the campus recently on all members and pledges of Theta Chi are part of the scheme. A few of the more ingenious boys have included "cookie dusters."

This is the first time a dance of this kind has been held on the campus, and has promises of being repeated in the future. The program for the dance is in charge of Social Chairman Joseph Coleman. The decorations are being planned by Bill England and Dick Althouse.

Frosh Chairman Kidnapped on Eve Of First Banquet

Futcher Taken for Ride As Sophomores Try To Revive Tradition

Starting with the kidnapping of the president of the Freshman Class, Charles Futcher, and ending by almost dousing the president of the Student Council, Warren Grier, with a bucket of water, the Sophomore Class almost prevented the first Freshman banquet that has been held at Delaware College in the last four years.

Scheduling their meeting for 6:15 in the Blue Room of Old College, the frosh were almost without a toastmaster, until Futcher walked in after a long trudge back to Newark via the Elkton Road. He had been kidnapped about an hour before and only a mistake in judging distance by his sophomore captors made it possible for him to reach Old College in time.

Meanwhile the sophomores were attempting to capture other members of the first year class who were on the banquet committee. Two of these men were captured just before the dinner started and were spirited away. Meanwhile, Dean Dutton arrived on the scene (he was a guest of the freshmen) and promptly commissioned President Grier to go to Mechanical Hall and rescue Piper and Lucas who were imprisoned there. But, the sophomores had no idea of releasing their quarry upon the demands of Grier. As the latter walked disgustedly out of the door, the frolicsome little lads almost dumped a bucket of water on him. However, they released the two freshmen.

Meanwhile, things were happening in Old College. To the surprise and consternation of the Sophomores, Futcher came in, and before he could be captured again, was under the watchful eye of fifty of his classmates. The dinner then proceeded on in an orderly fashion with Dean Dutton and Mr. Charles E. Grubb offering their congratulations. However, freshmen are vowing that they will get even with their persecutors in the very near future.

Premier of Saroyan's 'Jim Dandy' to Take Place in Mitchell Hall Tonight

Tonight at 8:30, the E 52 Players will give one of the country's first productions of Saroyan's JIM DANDY. This is a distinction which they share with no Broadway producer. Critics Circle Award-winner Saroyan has released his latest play to the National Theatre Conference before presenting it professionally. Thus he enabled Delaware theatre-goers to be a part of a gigantic, nation-wide first night audience.

Civilian Pilot Training Offered To Delaware Men

Some 1200 new commercial pilots and instructors have been made available for National Defense Work by The Civilian Pilot Training Program of The Civil Aeronautics Administration during the past ten days with a similar number to be graduated every three months in the future.

This training is available to all male citizens of the United States between the ages of 19 and 27 who have at least two years college education and the ability to pass a rigid physical examination.

This first crop of commercial pilots and instructors started from scratch and have successfully completed the following Civilian Pilot Training courses: Elementary, Secondary (Advanced), Apprentice Instructor, Cross Country and Instructor.

Due to the fact that every hour of both flight and ground training was controlled and carefully supervised, these new pilots are expert in the execution of the most modern maneuvers and methods of flight instruction, and are of a calibre far above the average commercial pilot. They are in great demand by contractors as instructors for the training of Army Air Corps Cadets and usually receive an annual income of approximately $5000.

Jack Byrne, manager of pilot training of Atlantic Aviation Service, duPont Airport, announces a 100% performance record in that all trainees at duPont Field passed with a high grade all written and flight tests for commercial pilots and instructors, conducted by the General Inspection Division of the Civil Aeronautics Administration.

Many duPont graduates have already secured positions including Gray Newman of the University of Delaware, whom Mr. Byrne has employed as a flight and ground instructor at duPont Airport.

New courses will commence immediately after the New Year and interested parties should immediately contact Mr. Byrne at duPont Airport.

Scientific methods in pedagogy are being introduced.

"I grade on the curve system," said the professor as he glanced at the row of co-eds in front of him.

Musical Tryouts

Don't forget to come out for the musical comedy tryouts this Wednesday and Thursday, November 19 and 20 in Mitchell Hall at 4:15 p.m. All singers, actors, and musicians will be greatly appreciated. THE MUSICAL NEEDS YOU

Because of the significance of the play, the E 52-ites are giving two performances instead of the usual one. The second performance will be given Saturday night in conjunction with the Sixth Annual University Dramatic Conference.

Saroyan himself says of JIM DANDY: "The play contains no characters, no imitations of people, and no plot. It contains the writer (weight 170), the reader when read, and the beholder when seen." The set represents the reading room of the San Francisco Public Library interpreted in a surrealist manner. Through this strange setting pass a number of unusual and interesting people. As in previous Saroyan plays, we see only a section of the lives of these people. There is no definite beginning or end, no true dramatic construction. It is life.

Director for the E 52 production of JIM DANDY is Dr. C. R. Kase. He is assisted by Miss Margaret Felton of the Women's College. The cast follows: Jim Dandy, Norman Bunin; Jim Crow, Milton Gerstine; Flora, Jane Hastings Sinclair; Johnny, Lynn Preston; Jock, Layton Mabrey; Fishkin, Frank Annand; Little Johnny, Bobby Kase; Mollie, Kay Guinard; Postman, Zedoc Pool.

As all Saroyan plays, JIM DANDY is a play with music. A special musical score has been written by composer Alan Hovaness. Off-stage musical effects will be played by Don McClelland and Arthur Krause. The special modern dance routines have been arranged and directed by Aileen and Barrett Shaw, dance instructors of Wilmington.

Production staff chairmen for the play are Jack Culver, production coordinator; Harry Hillyard, publicity; Walter Dworkis, lighting; Eugene Herbener, stage manager; Doris Jolls, make-up; George Samuels, scene designing; Helen Kaiser, scene painting; Beverly Davis, business; Jane Stephens, costumes; Jack Culver, off-stage effects; Mary Shakespeare and Carolyn Miller, properties.

Debating Society Maps Future Plans

The Debating Society met Thursday at 4:15 in Dr. Able's office, as usual. Members discussed last Saturday's debate with Swarthmore, and reviewed the arguments. The chairman, Bernard Ableman, has received several requests for debates from various schools and tentative plans were made.

The topic of the year, chosen by the Phi Kappa Delta national debating society is -Resolved: that congress shall prohibit all strikes in industry in time of national emergency. The society is split almost fifty-fifty in opinion, and so there will be no lack of debaters for either side. Beside this topic, several possible supplementary topics were considered.

A membership drive is to be launched next week. Several students who signed up have not yet attended any meetings, and members are to contact them and bring them in for next week's meeting.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1941

To the Would Be "Big Shots" on Delaware's Campus . . .

You children have many lessons to learn! I have asked you before, and I ask you again, "Where do you get your idea of college spirit?"

For four years, the Student Council asked permission to have a freshman banquet. For three years our request had been refused. Why? Because the sophomores weren't mature enough to see such an event carried through in an orderly fashion. Yes, I know that when your fathers were in school they kidnapped the Freshman Class Chairman, and were always fighting with the freshmen; but those ideas of college spirit went out with the mustache cup and striped blazer. The Student Council has established a policy of NO HAZING, and that policy will stand until they see fit to change it.

The first question one of your number asked me when I entered your rendezvous was, "Did you turn my name into the Dean?" No, I most emphatically did not, but I have not washed my hands of the affair. Any more rowdiness and there will be decisive action. This is not a threat sophomores; it's a promise.

Warren Grier Jr., President,
Delaware College Student Council.

Sophomores vs. Freshmen

We are inclined to disagree with the President of the Student Council who has commented above on last night's Sophomore-Freshman clash. We don't take the serious view of the affair that he does. We view the matter rather as a revival of a good sort of school spirit, in which a friendly traditional rivalry has been resumed.

The kidnapping of the Freshman Chairman was carried out, as far as we were able to determine, in a very orderly fashion. No physical violence was used, nor was he left alone in the wilderness. We understand that he was allowed to return to Newark in time for the banquet so that the affair would not be ruined. The kidnapping of the other freshman was merely an afterthought, and no one missed the banquet.

We feel that any action taken by the Dean would serve little purpose, but would rather kill the last bit of school spirit that we have left. We object violently to "hazing," but we cannot regard last night's episode as such.

Armistice Day, 1918, Described At Second Smoke Talk

Last Tuesday at 7:15 p.m. in the Lounge of Old College the second Smoke Talk of the term was held. In recognition of the occasion, Armistice Day, an appropriate program was presented.

Various members of the faculty recollected for those present at the meeting what they had been doing on this same evening of November 11 twenty-three years before.

David Snellenburg, president of the Humanist Society, introduced the speakers for the evening, including Dr. N. B. Allen, Dr. Rees, Dr. H. C. Reed, Mr. Ditto Lewis, and Mr. M. M. Daugherty.

Following the talks by the faculty members a transcription of the poetic drama "Air Raid" by Archibald MacLeish, prepared by the Columbia Broadcasting Company, was presented. After the conclusion of "Air Raid" the meeting was adjourned.

The Smoke Talks are presented through the joint cooperation of the Humanist Society and members of the English Department of the University of Delaware. Chiefly responsible for their success have been the effort and interest of Dr. Able whose supervision has facilitated the activities of the Humanist Society in their presentation.

As is customary, refreshments were served the guests through the courtesy of Mr. Charles Grubb, University Business Administrator.

Cauldron Editor Outlines Progress

Outlining progress of the Fall term issue of the Cauldron magazine in an interview this week, Miss Anne O'Daniel, editor-in-chief of the publication, stated that work was proceeding satisfactorily.

At a staff meeting held last Friday, the editors discussed the problems of the projected magazine and formally dedicated it to a "representative cross-section of campus interests and opinions."

Stressing the importance of such a magazine as the carriage for the creative effort and artistic self-expression which education seeks to foster, Miss O'Daniel pointed out that if it is to realize its purpose the publication must receive the whole-hearted interest and cooperation of the general student body and that active participation as well as a passive appreciation must by virtue of its character attend its success and function as an organic part of the university.

Miss O'Daniel also stated the intention of the editors to avoid the sometimes inevitable tendency of such a publication to represent the peculiar interests of a limited portion of the student body. She added that "Though contribution must needs be limited in so far as talent is limited, appreciation must be general and to this end material selected must have a general, or tritely, a universal appeal, which is after all, the true criterion of literary merit. The character of the Cauldron will not be classic, romantic, neo, pseudo, nor any other of the presumptuous prefixes that attend pedantry or posturing. It will be, rather, a forthright exposition of any and all effort that is truly meritorious."

Calling for material, Miss O'Daniel said that any original work, literary, poetic, or artistic will receive consideration for publication. Those taking courses in English Composition, in particular, are urged to re-examine work submitted for classroom credit and to contribute such work as may seem acceptable.

Contributions may be placed in a box located in the Library for this purpose, or may be made directly to members of the staff. All work submitted is promised careful and judicious consideration. Selections will, of course, be impartial and solely on the basis of merit.

Coach W. Murray To be Interviewed On Guild Program

The Radio Guild of the University will present a football revue this Sunday afternoon on its weekly program on "University on the Air." Broadcasting from the stage of Mitchell Hall at 1:30 p.m., the Guild will have the football squad as its guest of honor, with Coach Bill Murray and his assistants and co-captains Brooks and Mullen on hand for interviews before the microphone.

On the road to an undefeated season on the gridiron, Delaware will be provided with the opportunity for a big rally at Sunday's broadcast. The student body and faculty, as well as friends of the University are invited to attend the broadcast. The doors of Mitchell Hall will be opened at 12:45 and will close at 1:15.

A special Radio Guild band and the Radio Guild Chorus will complete the program. Hal Arnoff, Director of the Radio Guild, will act as master of ceremonies, and Dick Aydelotte will do the announcing.

Interviews with Coaches Bill Murray, E. Adkins, and W. T. Martin are expected to reveal information for future plans of the football team.

The program, to be aired over WDEL at 1:30, has been arranged by the Script Division of the Radio Guild.

Seven Members Of Tau Beta Pi To Be Initiated

To initiate and honor the new members of Tau Beta Pi, honorary engineering fraternity, will be the purpose of the annual Fall Initiation and Banquet of the society to be held in Old College tomorrow evening.

The initiation will begin at six o'clock in the Lounge. It will be conducted by student members Robert Rowe, president; Harry Beik, vice-president; Richard Rommel, corresponding secretary, and Leaman Podolsky, recording secretary.

Initiates are Robert Goldey, Samuel LaPenta, David Shilling, John Phillips, William Miller, Thomas Weidin, and Joseph Whiteman; they will be honored by members, alumni and faculty at a dinner in the Blue Room at seven o'clock. Mr. Rowe will preside as toastmaster at the dinner.

Mr. C. H. Spencer, national president of Tau Beta Pi, will welcome the initiates, and Mr. John G. Leach, president of the Alumni Association, will give the main talk of the evening.

The Engineer's dinner or B.T.U. Input will consist of an internal combustion cocktail for an appetizer, fuel oil and belt dressing on broiled gause served with ohm slaw, adiabatic salad, and prony bake bread for the main course; desert will be 3.1415926535 followed by condensed it drops and nuts. That is the scheduled menu.

Dr. Leo Blumberg is faculty advisor to Tau Beta Pi.

Sixth University Drama Conference Starts Tomorrow

Speaking on the subject "The Non-Professional Theatre, Model 1942: A Preview," Dr. Garrett H. Leverton will sound the keynote of the Sixth Annual University Dramatic Conference to be held on the campus of the University of Delaware tomorrow.

Dr. Leverton, who will address a general meeting of all Conference delegates and guests at 4:15 in the afternoon of the Conference, has been an editor for Samuel French, Inc., play brokers, for the past three years. For ten years previous he was head of the department of Dramatic Production and Director of the University Theatre at Northwestern University. He has had various professional theatre engagements as actor, director, and producer. His writings include several books and articles on the Theatre and a number of stories sold to the motion pictures.

The University Dramatic Center is preparing to receive over 300 delegates from some 50 community, school, and university theatres at the Conference. These delegates will have an opportunity to attend several section meetings and panel discussions on those subjects pertaining to the theatre which interest them most. There will also be a number of exhibits of material covering all phases of dramatic work. Technicolor movies showing productions of children's plays by several university theatres will be shown throughout the day.

Speaker for the Conference luncheon will be Dr. Alvin Kronacher, lecturer in Dramatics at the University of Delaware. He will speak on "Experiences in an American University Theatre." The Conference will close in the evening with a performance of William Saroyan's latest play, "Jim Dandy," by the E 52 Players.

The University Dramatic Conference is sponsored by the University Dramatic Center in cooperation with the Delaware Dramatic Association. Dr. C. R. Kase is director of the University Dramatic Center. Conference chairman for the Delaware Dramatic Association is Mr. C. Taggart Evans of Newark.

Blue Hens Swamp Swarthmore 47-7 to Avenge Heavy Defeats of Past Years

Finally opening up with a powerful offensive, the University of Delaware Blue Hens trounced a hard fighting Swarthmore team 47-7 on the latter's home field last Saturday afternoon before a crowd of 3500 fans.

Although the score was decisive, the Swarthmore team had an excellent running attack and rolled up 18 first downs while the Hens were only able to tally 8. Captain Lin Wolfe, Richards and Trautman were the main cogs in the Swarthmore attack, while Conrad Sadowski, Bill Hogan and Walt Paul excelled for the Blue and Gold.

After the Delaware team kicked off and regained the ball on a quick kick, the Swarthmore team intercepted a pass by Hogan. On the next play Paul intercepted Wolfe's pass and the Hens began their march. With the brunt of the attack being handled by Hogan and Paul, the ball was carried to the Swarthmore 8. At this point a new team was inserted and three plays later Sadowski passed to Barlow in the end-zone for the first Delaware tally. Newcomb's placement was blocked.

In the second period Wolfe kicked to Paul who dropped the ball, recovered it and dashed 80 yards through the opposing team for a score. Newcomb's kick was good and the Hens led 13-0. Later in the period after an exchange of punts Delaware had the ball on Swarthmore's 48-yard marker. Hogan passed to Jarvis on the 20 for a first down, and Woods carried the ball to the 4. Hogan finally scored on a plunge through the line. Newcomb's point was no good and Delaware led at halftime 19-0.

Early in the third period, Sloan blocked a punt on the Garnet's 5. Baer then took the ball on a reverse for another Delaware tally. Newcomb's placement was again good. Delaware scored again soon after when Sadowski passed to Paul on the Swarthmore 12. With Sadowski hitting the line he finally went over for a score and the Blue and Gold led 32-0. Sadowski's try for the extra point was wide. There was no further scoring until the end of the period when Finley fumbled and recovered in his end-zone for a safety.

In the final period after a punting exchange Wolfe passed and it was intercepted by Coady who ran 35 yards for another tally. Coady's placement was blocked. Delaware led 40-0. With four minutes of play remaining, Coady punted on the first down every time Delaware got the ball and finally one of his punts was run back to the Delaware 9. A penalty gave the Garnets the ball on the 4 and after three tries Wolfe scored the second touchdown made against the Hens all season and the first one scored through the Delaware line. Immediately after this score Delaware kicked and on an on-sides kick-off Delaware recovered the ball on the Swarthmore 45. Sadowski passed to Sloan who lateralled to Paul who went the remaining distance for the final tally of the game. Hogan's extra point try was good. The final score was 47-7.

Gettysburg And Stevens Victims Of Hen Booters

By Bill Piper

In winning their two previous contests the Blue Hen soccer team ran their string of consecutive victories to three. The Delaware booters finally found their stride as they bowled over Stevens College by a 3-0 score and then nosed out Gettysburg by a slim margin of 2-1 in an overtime period.

The Blue Hen kickers were opposed by a game and scrappy aggregation from New York last Saturday on Frazer Field. For three quarters the more powerful Blue and Gold eleven was held scoreless by a fighting Stevens combine that finally weakened in the last period. Displaying offensive strength the Delaware team took advantage of this weakness to push over three goals in the final stanza and sew up the contest. Cain, Ketchum, and Fernandez, playing the inside positions in Delaware's line, shared equally in the points of the last quarter flurry. Stevens, although putting up a game fight, never threatened seriously to score.

The Delaware team also met Gettysburg on home grounds. The Blue Hens continued to play good ball, but the opposition proved somewhat stiffer, and the going became tough. The U. of D. booters took an early lead when Gee Fernandez tallied midway in the initial period. The home forces threatened several times after their first score, but the Gettysburg defense outmanned them in preventing them from any further scoring during the next three periods. Both teams took the ball into their opponent's territory, but neither had any scoring chances until the final stanza. Midway in the last period Kane, Gettysburg center forward, knotted the count with a boot from about 15 yards out. The whistle blew with the score tied, so two 5-minute overtime periods were played. Gee Fernandez tallied again for Delaware in the closing seconds of the first overtime quarter, and the Blue Hens staved off several Gettysburg threats to cop their third ball-game in a row.

This was Delaware's last home contest of the '41 season, and to the four seniors on the squad it represents their final soccer contest for the U. of D. on Frazer Field. Those seniors are: Molly Vaughn, goalie; Ames Betts, captain and center halfback; Warren Grier and Noah Cain, both inside forwards. Captain Betts and goalie Vaughn are both 4-year men, while Grier and Cain are completing their third season as lettermen.

The Blue Hen soccer team will wind up its current season tomorrow when they meet Johns Hopkins in Baltimore. The team record is five wins and four losses to date, and a victory tomorrow will put them definitely on the black side of the ledger.

Aggie News

By EDWARD LEGATES

On Monday evening the Ag Club was entertained by two of its members, Penn Isaacs and Cecil Carpenter. Cecil, who is president of the Delaware Association of the Future Farmers of America, attended the National Convention of the organization at Kansas during the latter part of October. He spoke to the club on the purpose and scope of the organization which constitutes one of the largest groups of organized youth in America. Its total membership from all forty-eight states, Hawaii, and Porto Rico is 240,000.

Penn, who received the American Farmer degree and who was elected national student secretary of the organization, described very entertainingly his experiences as a member of the organization. His election to the office of secretary will require him to discontinue his work at the university after January. At this time he will go to Washington, D. C. with the other national officers for a period of training in public speaking and in the history of the organization. Following this period, Penn will be subject to call to visit any Future Farmer group in the United States with traveling expenses paid. For some of the past officers this has meant traveling 40,000 miles during the year they were in office.

Plowing in a 1600 mile telephone furrow

for defense

To assure coast-to-coast telephone facilities adequate to meet future defense needs, the Bell System is constructing a 1600 mile, $20,000,000 cable line between Omaha and Sacramento.

Several newly developed "plow trains," working from opposite ends of the line, are burying the cable for maximum protection. They dig deep furrows, lay two cables in them and cover them with earth—all in one continuous operation. Their meeting will mark completion of the first all cable line across the continent. Carrier systems will be operated in the cables—one direction of transmission in each.

This vast project is just one of thousands in which the Bell System is now engaged to provide additional communication facilities so vital to Army, Navy and defense industries.

SKRIPPS' SCRIBBLING

By TOM SKRIPPS

POST SEASON GAMES:

There has been a rumor circulating on the campus that the Blue and Gold may play a post-season game with some nearby southern team. As yet, this bit of campus gossip has not been confirmed by any reliable source. In a way, post-season games are a benefit to a school, but in many instances they are more of a deficit than an asset. Take for instance the New Year Day games which are played throughout the country. It means a whole month's additional practice for the players along with an elimination of a vacation at Christmas time.

The sooner the season is over the better it is for most boys who have a great deal of work to make up. These boys want the season to be over so they can resume their studies and get back in the good graces of their respective professors.

It is true that the school benefits in that it receives a certain amount of money for participating in the game, but the players do not receive any benefits from this money received. It seems both fitting and proper that if they do play a post-season game that their scholarships be increased a certain percentage to compensate them for playing a game that benefits the school financially. However, a great deal of prestige and advertising is gained by playing in a bowl game of some kind because the eyes and ears of thousands of fans are centered on the various clashes that take place after the holidays. Such an exposure to the public would not in the least harm a small school like our own. It may be one way of putting Delaware on the Sporting World Map.

GAME PREDICTIONS:

Although statistically outplayed to some extent by Swarthmore, the Blue and Gold is capable of turning on the heat when needed as proven in past games. So far this season they have somewhat decisive victories against their opponents. On the basis of past performances, because no one can truly predict the future, I will venture to say that the Hens scratch their way to a 19 point victory and keep their undefeated season intact. Drexel is not a pushover, but the boys have found a winning spirit and are a tough combination to beat.

Twenty-eight Men Respond to Call For Swimming Team

Since most of last year's swimming team has not returned to school, Coach Edward Bardo has started swimming practice two months earlier than usual. A total of only twenty-eight men has turned out for the sport with Robert Dickey as the only returning letterman. Samuel Frankel, Ralph Newman, and George Grier are the remaining remnants of last year's squad of nineteen. Eleven of the twenty-eight men to turn out are freshmen, three of whom have had experience.

Although only two men of the 1940 team were graduated, transfers to other colleges and service in the army took the rest. Replacements are needed for Houchin, Hecht, Marshall, Neese, Funk, and Schoolmaster. Thomas Weldin, captain elect, is recovering from an operation undergone this summer and will not participate.

This year Coach Bardo is trying a new system with which he experimented during the summer. Instead of a week of calisthenics and then a period of serious training, Mr. Bardo is starting the boys very slowly emphasizing form.

Carnegie Tech, Lehigh, and Rider have been dropped from the schedule and Brooklyn College, St. Joseph's and Villanova have been added.

The schedule is as follows:

Jan. 9	Brooklyn College	Home
Jan. 14	Swarthmore	Away
Jan. 16	Gettysburg	Away
Jan. 17	Dickinson	Away
Feb. 14	Johns Hopkins	Home
Feb. 17	Villanova	Away
Feb. 19	West Chester	Home
Feb. 25	Loyola	Home
Feb. 28	Temple	Home
Mar. 4	St. Joseph's	Away
Mar. 7	Manhattan	Home
Mar. 14	E.C.S.A. Championships	Away

Twelve Men Turn Out For First Basketball Drill

Business Manager of Athletics, Edmund "Ed" Prince paced candidates for this year's Blue Hen basketball team through a series of drills this week designed primarily to condition the men and to brush up on the fundamentals of the game.

At present freshmen make up the major part of the squad which now numbers twelve. However, as the culmination of the football and soccer seasons the list is expected to swell considerably. Those men who have reported so far are: Barnes, Boning, Brewer, Carpenter, Drzek, Ginn, Hill, Lee, Liorakos, Reed, Runcle, and Shot.

The first few sessions were devoted to drilling the men in dribbling, passing, and shooting. On Thursday a short scrimmage was held with Coach Prince interrupting now and then to point out errors or to praise the work of some player. Although the drill looked a little spotty, Prince was satisfied in that the men were paying particular attention to the fundamentals which they had learned earlier in the week.

As the Hen soccer season ends Saturday against Johns Hopkins, Bob Siemen, Harry Irwin, and Jack Phillips are expected to report Monday. The following Monday members of the football team who are expected to report are: Conrad Sadowski, George Barlowe, Howard Jarvis, Harold Thompson, and Wade Pitt, along with a host of other men who made up last year's J. V. team.

Coach E. Emory Adkins will take over when the footballers report. The coach will have a little more than two weeks to prepare for the seasons opener with P.M.C. The cadets and the Hens played twice last year and split, the Hens coping the initial verdict and dropping the duke to the boys from Chester in the second.
