Eddie Glennan Says Athletics Valuable Asset To American Youths

About 125 members and friends of the American Legion and baseball fans and junior league players attended the annual Pig Roast arranged by Dr. John B. Downes in the high school cafeteria Tuesday evening at six o'clock.

He expressed the hope that junior baseball would lead to the development of some up-and-coming stars in the future and indicated that the Blue Rocks would welcome the addition of more Delaware players to their roster.

MANY DO NOT SEE DANGERS, KERR SAYS

Forum Speaker Points Out That Loss Of Liberty Is Threatened

Speaking on "The Role of Democratic Processes In National Defense" at a meeting of representatives of women's groups at Mitchell Hall, University of Delaware, yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Florence Kerr, assistant commissioner, Works Project Administration, discussed the country's danger, need of haste, and need of unusual effort.

The session, held through the cooperation of the university's department of history and political science, was sponsored by several women's organizations, including the American Association of University Women, the American Legion Auxiliaries, the D. A. R., and Home Demonstration Clubs. "There are some people who misunderstand the nature of our danger," Mrs. Kerr declared. "They do not recognize that the danger is more than being drawn into war. They do not seem to realize that the even greater danger is that we may lose our American liberties."

Referring to the magnitude of the effort being made, Mrs. Kerr explained that, "It takes time to build new factories and transform existing plants to meet defense needs. But also there has been a loss of time because so many people have not recognized the urgency of our defense situation. We had a defense program which would require four or five years for its completion if it were simply added on to existing peace-time production. But we have had to speed up our defense program and redouble our effort. And we find now that we must redouble it again and speed it up still more."

"The unusual character of the effort required for national defense," Mrs. Kerr declared, "is that it extends to every part of civilian life. For national defense we need more civilian health and more civilian skills. This statement might be broadened to say that national defense requires a general heightening of the well-being of our population."

Invocation was pronounced by Mrs. W. W. Mack, state chaplain of the Delaware Society of the D.A.R., while Dr. Walter Hullah, president of the university, made the introductory remarks. Mrs. J. Paul Green, president of the Delaware State Federation of Women's Clubs, gave the address of welcome.

NEWARK THESPIANS TAKE PART IN PLAY

Have Important Roles In E-52 Presentation Of "Jim Dandy"

The production of "Jim Dandy" on November 14 and 15 by the E-52 Players of the University of Delaware will feature the efforts of a number of local thespians.

Youngest of these Newark actors is seven-year-old Bobby Kase, son of Dr. C. R. Kase, director of the play. Bobby, who plays the part of "Little Johnny," made his initial appearance on the Mitchell Hall stage last year in "Love's Old Sweet Song," an earlier play by William Saroyan, author of "Jim Dandy."

Portraying "Big Johnny," the father of "Little Johnny" is Lynn Preston, son of Prof. H. K. Preston of 260 Orchard Road. Mr. Preston is a freshman at Delaware College and is a member of the university band. Completing the play's family circle is "Flora" the mother of "Little Johnny." This role is taken by Jane Hastings Sinclair, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hastings, 324 East Main Street, and a senior at the Women's College.

The role of Molly, the dancer, is performed by Kay Guinard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Guinard, of 77½ East Main Street. Stage manager for the performance of "Jim Dandy" is Eugene Herbener, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry N. Herbener, of 269 East Main Street.

Because the performances in Mitchell Hall are to be pre-Broadway presentations of an important new play by a Pulitzer Prize winning playwright, drama critics from New York, Philadelphia, and Baltimore newspapers have been invited to attend.

The box-office in Mitchell Hall is open from 3 to 5 p. m. every day and all-day Saturday, November 15. The Saturday performance is to be given in conjunction with the Sixth Annual University Dramatic Conference.

SITE FOR DEFENSE WORKERS SOUGHT

New Housing Units Needed To Meet Overflow From Elkton

Construction of the new huge munitions factory of the Triumph Fuse Company on the Blue Ball Road, near Elkton, will result in the immigration of 2,500 workers to this area, it was reported by Charles F. Palmer, coordinator of defense houses, to President Roosevelt, recently.

Construction of 700 additional housing units, 150 of which may be erected in Newark, is expected in order to take care of this influx of workers which will overflow from Elkton.

Awarded contracts for defense work, Triumph has constructed more than 250 new buildings and manufacturing equipment is now being installed. The plant, which already employs more than 2,000 men, holds contracts for the manufacture of hand grenades and for all types of ammunition used by the Navy. It recently was awarded an E pennant by the Bureau of Ordnance for general excellence in meeting navy requirements.

More than 1,400 other persons are employed by the National Fireworks Company which has been working on a munitions contract for the British government for the past year. This plant is located on the Singleroad.

The recommendations to the President cover the construction of 300 permanent houses, 200 temporary demountable units and 200 temporary dormitories. Two hundred and fifty of the units would be in Elkton, 150 in Newark, and 100 in Chesapeake City, Md.

Income ranges of the workers to be housed are 500 from $800 to $1,800 and 200 for $800 to $1,500. Five hundred of the units are for construction by the Federal Works Agency and 200 by the Farm Security Administration. Recommendations for the private construction of 300 units are also made.

Federal representatives have been in Newark recently, investigating possible sites for the new buildings.

FARMER GETS BIG PART OF EGG DOLLAR

A & P Report Shows Supplier Getting Nine Cents More

In a report on reduction of food price spreads, the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company announced today that low cost distribution of eggs provides the chain's farmer-suppliers with nine cents more of the consumer's dollar than the national average, and has enabled the company to increase customer consumption of eggs 23 per cent during the past four years.

William F. Leach, president of the company's Atlantic division, pointed out that the report was the second in a series on narrowing margins between prices paid by consumers and those received by producers. The first, issued in March and dealing with distribution of fresh fruits and vegetables, showed that growers and shippers supplying A & P get about seven cents more of the consumer's dollar than the national average for produce marketed through all trade channels.

"Through elimination of unnecessary handling operations and costs, it is possible for producers in 40 states to receive 72 cents of the retail dollar for the high quality eggs moved into consumption through A & P compared to the national average share of 63 cents for all grades moved through all trade channels," Mr. Leach said.

An even higher share of the consumer's dollar goes to northeast egg producers with regard to the large eastern markets, he added. An average share of 77 cents out of the consumer's dollar, 14 cents above the national average, goes to these producers in the six New England states, New York state, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland and Delaware, he explained.

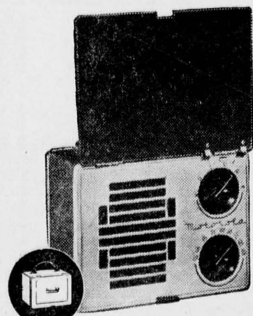

Pointing out that "excessive distribution costs must come out of the pockets of producers and consumers," he said that during the first nine months of this year American housewives spent approximately $587,000,000 for eggs but producers received only $370,000,000 out of this sum.

"With federal nutrition experts pointing out that a 35 per cent increase in consumption of eggs is advisable to help raise the nation's diet standards to the level required by the defense program, it is more important than ever before that distribution efficiency be encouraged and all waste motion be eliminated," Mr. Leach declared.

"Maintenance of a narrow margin between farm and retail prices has encouraged consumption of eggs and enabled A & P to provide wider markets for producers," he said. "In the past four years, we have increased our purchases from about 84,000,000 dozen in 1936 to over 104,000,000 dozen last year. The company's purchases this year totaled approximately 77,000,000 dozen between January 1 and September 1."

He added that producers in many parts of the country are doing their part to facilitate distribution of eggs by paying greater attention to feeding, housing and better care of flocks generally, thus providing more dependable sources of supply for distributors equipped to handle volume lots economically.

HEALTH HINTS IN CIRCULAR

Pertinent Facts Packed In Four-Page Pamphlet

The new University of Delaware Circular, "Delaware's Daily Food Guide to Health", contains four pages packed with pertinent facts on the part that food can play in establishing and maintaining good health.

In the first paragraph of the new, illustrated circular, the Pledge of Health reads, "I pledge, on my honor as an American, that I will do all I can to build myself and my family and my neighbors into stronger and healthier Americans as God meant us to be."

A full page of the circular is devoted to a guide showing the kinds and amounts of vital foods that are needed daily by adults and children. Under eggs, for instance, the guide says that each adult should have one day or at least three or four eggs a week, and four or five eggs a week for the child.

Another page of the circular contains a practical vitamin guide that tells in easy-to-understand language just what the important vitamins are needed for in the human system and in what foods they are found. The vitamin guide shows that Vitamin A is needed for growth and health, prevention of infection of eyes, ears and respiratory system, and protection to eyes. Sources of this vitamin, the guide says, are milk, cream, butter, cheese, eggs, fish-liver oils, green leafy vegetables, yellow vegetables and fruits. Other vitamins mentioned in the circular are B-1, C, D, and E or B-2.

"Delaware's Daily Food Guide to Health" has been prepared by Miss Pearl MacDonald, the nutritionist for the University of Delaware Agricultural Extension Service, in cooperation with the Delaware Health Council serving as the State Nutrition Committee. Copies of the circular, designated as Extension Circular 46, are now available from the New Castle County agricultural, home demonstration of 4-H club agent.

ANGOUMOIS ATTACK CORN GRAIN

For the first time, large numbers of Angoumois grain moths are attacking the grain on standing corn and in unthreshed fodder throughout southern Delaware. While the insect has appeared in all parts of the state, the most serious infestation is occurring in lower Delaware. The young of the Angoumois moths are known to farmers as "weevils."

The tiny moth does the most damage when infested corn is stored for the winter. Besides causing losses of stored corn, the moth may invade nearby stored wheat. Losses in weight to wheat attacked by the moths may be as much as 52 per cent. Corn will lose from 12 to 15 per cent when infested.

Due to the present infestation of the Angoumois moth, Delaware farmers will lose from five to 10 per cent of their corn crop and at the same time suffer wheat and other grains stored on their farms unless the insects are killed by fumigation before the grain goes into storage.

John M. Amos, assistant entomologist of the University of Delaware Agricultural Extension Service, has complete information on methods of fumigating grains infested with the Angoumois moth and other insects. Farmers having trouble with insect pests in grains in storage or in crops that are about to be placed in storage may write Amos at the University of Delaware, Newark, or get in touch with George Worriow, New Castle County agricultural agent.

Tower Hill Head To Speak At Faculty Club Meeting

James Guernsey, headmaster of the Tower Hill School, Wilmington, will be the guest speaker at the regular business and social meeting of the University of Delaware Faculty Club, Monday evening at eight o'clock. He will speak on the subject, "Private Schools In Democracy."

William D. Murray, director of athletics and coach of football at the university, will show films of recent Delaware football games. The session will be presided over by Dr. Francis H. Squire.

The popular Ford Sunday Evening Hour on November 16th will present the world premiere of Jose Iturbi's "Spanish Dance" . . . Iturbi won fame as a pianist and as conductor and enters the ranks of composers as a comparative newcomer. His "Spanish Dance" was written in the white heat of inspiration while on a concert tour in the south. Between concerts in Greensboro, N. C. and Wheeling, West Virginia, he slipped off to Columbia, S. C. There in the home of an old friend, Hans Schwiager, Iturbi worked feverishly until the music was captured on paper. "Spanish Dance" must surely reflect the fiery, tempestuous character of its composer and Iturbi admirers will be attentively turning their radios on November 16th.

The Southern Symphony Orchestra, under the leadership of Hans Schwiager, will also give a performance of Iturbi's "Spanish Dance" this season. The Southern Symphony of Columbia, S. C. is the only fully professional, all-union orchestra south of Washington, D. C. Organized by Hans Schwiager only two short years ago, this excellent symphony has won the approval and support of the entire state of South Carolina. Soloists appearing with the orchestra have also been warm in their praise. Last year John Charles Thomas said of Mr. Schwiager, "He's terrific! He not only makes the singers sing but also the instruments." Soloists to appear with the Southern Symphony this season include Jussi Bjoerling, Zino Francescatti and Lauritz Melchior.

The Metropolitan Opera Company will present "Hansel and Gretel" with Rise Stevens and Eleanor Steber on Christmas Day. This will be the first performance of the fairy opera in five years. It was last given with Queena Mario and Editha Fleischer.

Reports from the west coast indicate that the San Francisco Opera Company continues to play to capacity audiences. A "S. R. O." sign marked the gala opening for "Don Pasquale" with Salvatore Baccaloni and Bidu Sayao in the leading roles. Featuring Rise Stevens and Lotte Lehmann, "Rosenkavalier", the second opera presented, was equally well attended.

November 1st marks the opening of the 19th season of Young People's Concerts by the Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Rudolph Ganz. Carnegie Hall is usually filled to capacity for these concerts and is sure to be packed on this opening morning when eleven year old pianist, Sondra Bianca of New York, will be featured playing the first movement from the Mozart D minor Concerto.

HOUSING PROJECT MERITS CAREFUL CONSIDERATION

News that 150 new housing units would be built in Newark to take care of the overflow from Elkton was received here with considerable interest this week.

Proposed construction of the units in this area present several problems which, as yet, have not satisfactorily been solved. For one thing the proposed location, north of West Main Street, behind the property of N. N. Wright, Ira Shellender, Allyn Cooch, etc., extending from the Country Club line to Corbit Street, is definitely NOT the most advantageous location one could imagine.

Consisting mostly of wooded lands, more than two hundred years old, and evergreen trees, this area is remote from the central part of town and would necessitate new streets, sewers, lighting facilities and likely an additional source of water supply if it were finally selected as a site for the proposed new units.

The majority of property owners who would be affected are not in favor of the proposed site, and justly so for it would detract from their present property, decrease their value and lessen the pleasure and joy they have cherished in their homes for a number of years.

It occurs to us that there are several far more desirable sites for the erection of the proposed unit than the one under discussion—both within and without the corporate limits of Newark. There are sites where the owners would welcome the opportunity to sell—sites that are already improved or cleared and on or adjacent to present sewage, drainage, etc., systems without burdening the community with the task and expense of cutting and paving streets, stringing electric lights and laying sewer mains.

We sincerely hope that Federal coordinators and inspectors who have recently visited Newark will consider these facts and widen their scope of survey to include all possible locations with sincere thought towards choosing the most desirable and advantageous from all points of view.

NOT HEREDITARY

Dr. Kendall Emerson has written a very informative article on the causes of tuberculosis, in a late issue of Life and Health magazine. He endeavors to answer some of the leading questions which often remain a mystery to the average person.

"No matter how poor, run down, malnourished, overworked, or badly housed you may be, you will not have tuberculosis unless the germ gains entrance to your body," he says. "It is the tubercle bacillus alone that causes tuberculosis, and the only way to prevent the disease from developing is to eradicate these germs from the world.

"Tuberculosis is eminently a family disease. Obviously the reason for this is that tuberculosis, being an infectious disease, is most likely to pass from one member of the family to others with whom he is in intimate contact.

"The old belief that tuberculosis 'runs in families' and is hereditary has long since been exploded. If we look on the germ of tuberculosis as the seed and the human lungs as the soil, we may say that the soil varies in its fertility for the growth of the germ from person to person. Thus there may be some family lack of ability to inhibit this growth or to kill off even a small number of invaders. The lesson from this is that those in whose families tuberculosis has been prevalent for some generations are under special obligation to watch their health and to avoid contact with known cases of the disease."

Dr. Emerson points out that keeping physically fit is important in combating tuberculosis, and that being run down opens channels for the entrance of disease, precisely as the holes in worn-out shoes allow moisture to enter.

If you suffer from "that tired feeling" or have other symptoms indicating a physical maladjustment, see your doctor at once. It is to the credit of the medical profession that it is as much interested in preventing diseases, as it is in effecting cures when disease has been contracted.

CALL ON PRIVATE ENTERPRISE

When big emergency jobs need to be done, call on private enterprise.

A notable example of that is found in the campaign to sell billions of dollars worth of Defense Savings Bonds and Stamps.

The burden of that campaign has been accepted by this country's banks. They are advertising bonds, displaying bonds, and talking bonds to their customers. They are doing it without a penny of profit—all the money realized goes to the Treasury. They are paying sales and promotion expenses out of their own pockets. And they are selling the securities in gigantic quantities.

Other industries, such as merchandising, have joined in—and they, too, without profit, are raising millions daily for America's arms program.

Private enterprise makes this country tick in normal times. And private enterprise builds its defenses in times of danger. Private enterprise in manufacturing, private enterprise in finance, private enterprise in distribution and transportation—everywhere in America private enterprise is working toward the common goal of national security. That means it is working for us all.

RELIGION IN THE NEWS

By W. W. Reid

In both New York and New Jersey, a number of hospitals have recently opened their doors for services by Negro doctors and Negro nurses, at the request of the Church Woman's Committee of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America. Five New York hospitals, where heretofore all nurses were white, are now accepting Negro young women for training. At the request of the same committee, a study has been made of hospitalization for Negroes in thirteen southern states by women's groups of the Methodist Church. This information is to be used as a basis for education through the churches of a better community attitude toward providing health facilities for Negro populations.

Dr. Frank Kingston, former president of Newark (N. J.) University, is the honorary founder chairman of a committee of 200 laymen of all Christian denominations—known as the Laymen's National Committee—organized to observe "Bible Week" from December 8 to 14. "The Bible in the hands of every American" as a means of promoting national unity and national defense is the aim of the organization.

After more than sixty years of missionary service under the Methodist Church in Japan, the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Charles Bishop have returned to the United States, and are living at 125 East Sunset Boulevard, Los Angeles. At the time of their departure they were the oldest American residents in Japan, having first gone there in 1870. Dr. and Mrs. Bishop retired from an active missionary professorship in Aoyama Gakuin in 1926, but continued to carry on their work until this year. Upon completion of this long period of service, Ambassador Joseph C. Grew wrote: "Your constructive work through the years, especially your work at Ooyama Gakuin, will not be forgotten, for our Japanese friends do not readily forget such selfless service as you have rendered. I know that among your associates are many prominent Japanese whom you first met as students. . . . You have contributed much to mutual understanding and goodwill."

Speaking recently at the Temple Israel, New York City, Rabbi William F. Rosenblum said that complacency, compromise, and convenience are the major aims of present-day society. "There is no need to wait until this war is over to fix the war guilt," he said. "Nearly every one of us has had a part in its coming because we have been too complacent about our slums, and our wage slaves, and our bigotries, and a hundred and one infractions of the laws of God for man."

Undaunted by the war and threats of further war in the Far East, the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. is gathering recruits to their already large missionary staff in China—awaiting the time when they can secure passports for that land. Eight new recruits have been studying the Chinese language during the past year in the Philippines, and four others are doing the same in Hongkong. Of twelve others recently commissioned, two are enroute to the School of Chinese Studies in Manila, and the others are enrolled in a temporary Chinese language school at the University of California. The Board reports that not one of its thirty-one mission stations in China has been closed and that church, school and hospital activities have reached new peaks of service.

Addressing the students of a Christian university in China recently, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, himself a Christian, said: "We have plenty of man power for the army without you. We need you to remain in school to complete your training for Christian leadership in the new China that will emerge from the war."

After ten years of labor, a committee of church scholars has produced a new translation of the new Testament in "Basic English." "Basic English" had been developed by C. K. Ogden, of the Orthological Institute of Cambridge England, and it is said that by means of 850 "basic words" used in accordance with a few simple rules any idea can be expressed in the English language.

Christiana Eighth Grade Selects Name For Club

The "Cheersalem Club" has been selected by members of the eighth grade of the Christiana School as the name of their home room organization. It has been derived from the three districts represented in the school, Christiana, Bear, and Salem.

The club will present two one-act plays late this month, "The Arrival of Billy" and "That's What They All Say," both under the direction of Allen L. Jones, principal.

Members of the "Arrival of Billy" cast are: Jacob Clymer, Ruth Shelton, Sylvia Walther, Virginia Murray, Jean Hill, and Ralph Cleaves. The second play will be enacted by George Culbertson, Olive Cary, Herbert Cleaves, Eleanor Jeandell, Anna Burge, Henry Purzcki, Dolores Crosby, and Junior Baker.

Safety Hints

Hallowe'en is over, but there are still plenty of spooks abroad for motorists. The Delaware Safety Council points out that it takes a lot more skill and caution to drive an auto safely during late fall and winter. More hours of darkness, fog, sleet, rain . . . and later on, snow and ice . . . those are the spooks that make driving hazardous.

Traffic accidents soar in November and December. This year accidents are threatening to set a new record—and at a time when the defense program can't afford the waste of men, time and money.

Let's dig in for a last-ditch defense against accidents! Meet the extra dangers of winter with extra caution!

Another hunting season is here . . . and that means open season on hunters as well as the hunted.

Here are six suggestions from the Delaware Safety Council on how to avoid gun accidents:

1. Never carry a loaded gun in an automobile.
2. Keep the safety lock on until ready to shoot.
3. Never pull a gun through a fence.
4. Never shoot at a moving object unless you see it distinctly.
5. After a fall or climb, be sure the gun barrels are not plugged with earth or snow.
6. Don't leave your gun and shells near a stove or fireplace . . . and by all means keep them out of the reach of children.

WEDDING

Nelson—Ewing

Miss Verna Nelson of Delaware City, and Mr. Chester E. Ewing, of Newark, were quietly married at the M. E. Parsonage, St. Georges, last Tuesday, November seventh, by the Rev. Mr. Wood. Immediately following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Ewing came to their furnished home on West Main Street.

Represent Newark

Wallace Cook, Elizabeth McNeal, and George Chambers will represent Newark High School at the New Castle County spelling contest to be held in connection with the New Castle County Teachers' Institute in Wilmington next Monday. Those who have made the grammar school team have not yet been reported by County Superintendent Cross.

Auto Accident

George Baylis, an employee of the Continental Diamond Fibre Company, is suffering from a broken collar bone, as the result of an automobile accident last Saturday, about nine p. m. Delbert Smith and Baylis were on the Wilmington road between the White Clay creek church and the Harmony cross roads, when the car skidded, and upset, pinning both of the occupants under the machine.

Fortunately passerbys are never far between on the Wilmington road and the men were released before the consequences proved fatal. Mr. Baylis, in addition to the broken collar bone is suffering from bruises. Mr. Smith escaped injury.

Club Year Opens

Service and Unity was the keynote of the president's remarks at the opening meeting of the Newark New Century Club year, held in Council Chamber, last Monday. Many interesting reports and announcements featured the meeting after the summer vacation. Mrs. E. W. Dawson told of the federation meeting held last May in Wilmington, and Mrs. Harvey Hofferker described the recent formal opening of the new clubhouse at Middletown. Mrs. A. T. Neale reported progress on the new club house, and announced that the first meeting in the new home will be held in January.

Mrs. John Pilling gave a delightful account of a trip through New England and the Catskills of New York; Mrs. C. B. Evans told entertainingly of a trip through the West and into the far north of Canada. A number of donations by members and friends of the club were announced, chief among them being the presentation of enough coal for the winter.

Social Notes

About seventy-five people attended the reception held at the Annex, Women's College, last Saturday afternoon. The house was thrown open to the ladies, and much favorable comment was heard on the simplicity, good taste, and hominess that was in evidence everywhere. Fourteen girls, chaperoned by Miss Rich and Miss Powell make their home at the Annex.

The rooms were attractively decorated with chrysanthemums and fall flowers. Miss Elizabeth Jones of Dover, Miss Pauline Smith, of Wilmington, Miss Mary Mason of Laurel, Miss Mildred Redgrave of Middletown, and Miss Ruth Messick, of Bridgeville, Miss Louise Nelson of Harrington all were present.

A delightful Hallowe'en party was given last Saturday evening for the benefit of the Servinee Camp Fire girls. The girls have divided into two groups, the Chinese and the Indian, the purpose being to swell the camp fire treasury. The masque was held in the basement of Miss Ann Frazer's home, the young hostesses entertaining from seven to ten.

Among those present were Misses Alma Dunlevy, Ann Frazer, Ruth Brown, Anna Ritz, Gertrude Willis, Martha Wollaston, Gladys McCallister, Adelaide Lewis, Marjorie Rose, Buelah Law, Katharine Barnard, Marian Galaher, Johnson Rowan, Raymond Reed, William Miller, George Mitchell, Edward Richards, Francis Lindell, Harry Rossland, Richard Cooch, Pierce Crompton, Walter Holton, Raymond Fader, Joe Willis, James Longfellow, Warren and Eugene Kennedy, John Hofferker, Ira Steele. Jolly Hallowe'en games made the time pass pleasantly.
