Major SGA Candidates Talk At Campaign Rally Before Sparse Crowd

A sparse crowd of approximately fifty students heard the major candidates for SGA offices give their views on what the SGA should do in the next year, at an election rally held on the lawn and steps behind the Memorial Library last Tuesday afternoon.

In view of the poor turnout, Stan Lowicki, outgoing SGA president, announced that speeches would be heard from only the candidates for president and vice president of the SGA instead of all the major class office candidates as previously announced.

He then proceeded to introduce the class officer candidates.

Following this, Zona Herzog, candidate for vice-president, stated that those elected to the new SGA posts should work toward making a more smoothly running and efficient SGA.

Shirley Riley stated that the name of "vice president" means to her "duty" and that she would like to see the SGA work for better relations between the students and the administration. She also urged that the students stand in back of the candidates they elect.

Christensen Speaks

Randy Christensen, candidate for president, said that there were some significant trends started this year by the SGA that he would like to see carried out next year to a fuller extent. He urged that the student body should get together more often through rallies. He felt that Tuesday's affair was a start toward this goal but that it was arranged rather haphazardly. He also felt that the current election campaign is a start toward greater enthusiasm in campus affairs but that the new SGA must "keep the ball rolling."

Among changes in the SGA system which he advocates next year is to do away with representatives to the SGA from the various schools. These representatives now do not report to any one, and are not repon-

Reserve Room Now For Next Semester; Deposits Due Soon

Students who plan to live in university dormitories during the 1956-57 School year are notified that room deposits of $25 are payable at the Business Office during the period, April 16 to May 15 inclusive.

The $25 deposit is credited to the student's account as a payment on his room rent for the first semester 1956-57. The full deposit will be refunded if the student gives written notice of cancellation of the reservation to the Office of the Dean of Students before July 15, 1956.

Each student will receive instructions through campus mail regarding the procedure to be followed. The annual room drawing will be held for women students in late April or early May, but the deposit must be made with the Business Office as indicated in the notices which are being mailed. The form for men students will permit those making reservations to indicate a preference for dormitory, room, and roommate.

All students who are living in university dormitories must eat in university dining halls. Students may elect either the minimum or maximum dining plans.

'Review' Changes Hands; Tompkins Editor-in-Chief

Dave Tompkins

Jerry Goosenberg

Dave Tompkins and Jerry Goosenberg have assumed the top Review positions for next year as a result of elections held by the editorial staff last week.

Tompkins succeeds Ray DeVries as editor-in-chief and Goosenberg replaces Gordon Pizor as business manager.

A junior majoring in American Studies, Tompkins is a veteran of three years' service on the Review, having held the posts of sports editor and news editor in previous years. He is a 1953 graduate of P. S. DuPont High School in Wilmington where he was a member of the school newspaper, The Blue and Gray Clarion, and co-editor-in-chief of his senior yearbook, the Piercean.

In other campus activities, Tompkins has been a member of the A Capella Choir and the Blue Hen staff. In his freshman year, he played the lead in the E-52 musical, A Connecticut Yankee and more recently participated in the Junior Musical and IFC Playbill. He is a member of Kappa Alpha fraternity.

Goosenberg is a sophomore biology major from Upper Darby, Pennsylvania. His previous Review experience includes being local ads manager and a member of the news staff. A dean's list student for two semesters, he is currently running unopposed for treasurer of the SGA.

Phi Beta Kappa Elects Nine Top Seniors As New Members

Nine students have been elected to Phi Beta Kappa by the Delaware Alpha chapters.

The new members are: Patricia Ames, Sara Ann Beatty, William Brown, Jr., Karl Buretz, Eleanor Doban, Filomena Giammarco, Frances Shannon McNeal, Glen Skinner, Jr., and Robert Strimple.

The Delaware Alpha chapter will be formally installed on April 25. A dinner in West Wing of Old College, attended by members and initiates, will precede the installation ceremonies. After chapter installation, students elected to membership will be initiated.

In addition to student initiates, Professor Albert R. Schoyen, of the history department, will be initiated as a "courtesy candidate." Professor Schoyen has been elected to Phi Beta Kappa by the Washington Alpha chapter at the University of Washington. Following his initiation, he will become an associate member of the Delaware Alpha chapter.

Out-of-town guests at the April 25 ceremonies will include Professor William Hastings, Brown University, President of the United Chapters of Phi Beta Kappa; Mr. Carl Billman, Secretary of the United Chapters; and Dean Lawrence Chamberlain, Columbia University. Professor Hastings will conduct the installation ceremony. Also assisting in the installation and initiation ceremonies will be Professor A. H. Able, Herbert E. Newman, and Quæsta Drake, president, secretary, and historian, respectively, of the local chapter.

In addition to the dinner on April 25, President and Mrs. Perkins will entertain Professor Hastings and the chapter officers at luncheon on that date.

As of April 10, the Delaware Alpha chapter has the following membership: charter members, 30; associate members, 2; Graduate students, 2; non-voting members, 5. (This does not include the undergraduates whose names appear above and who become members in-course.)

Phi Beta Kappa is the oldest honorary society on the American campus, having been established at the College of William and Mary in 1776.

Freshmen Schedule Dance Tomorrow

The Delmelodians will supply the music at an informal dance to be held tomorrow night in the Women's Gym from 9:15 p.m. to midnight. Sponsored by the freshman class, the dance is open to all students.

This will mark the first appearance of the Delmelodians on the campus this year. The members of the group are all students of the university.

Refreshments will be sold at the dance which is scheduled to get under way following the Aquatic Club show. The dress for the affair will be informal with sport coats and slacks and Burmudas acceptable.

Biology Pretty Hard? Beta Beta Beta Plans To Lessen Your Pain

So the freshmen think biology is tough! Well, hope is in sight for future freshmen in the form of a tutoring aid by members of Tri Beta, the honorary Biology society.

The motion for such a project was passed, and now needs only the consent of the faculty. It would be a considerable advantage for students to take their individual problems to biology students who may have recently experienced the same difficulties.

Another project of some interest is the establishment of awards to be given by Tri Beta each year to a freshman and a senior student. The freshman award is based on the work of two semesters of biology. The senior who receives the award will be a biology major actively engaged in undergraduate research. The details of the awards have not been completely decided.

Brown Hall Dorm Holds Open House

An inter-dorm open house will be held in Brown Hall lounge and game room tonight, beginning at 8:15 p. m.

Dancing, card-playing, ping-pong and other games make up the program. Refreshments will be served.

The open house, to which all students are invited, will be given under the auspices of the Brown Hall Dormitory Council. There will be no admission charge.

Students Support Campus Chest Drive, Mallory Hughes Wins Queen Competition

Proceeds amounting to approximately $102,500 were raised last week for the Campus Chest by the Campus Chest Carnival, the Fair Queen contest and the Spring Dance.

Mallory Hughes, with 5,783 votes, reigned as Campus Fair Queen. She was sponsored by Sig Ep and Topsy and Turvey. Peggy Woerner, sponsored by the commuters, placed second with a collection of 5,593 votes. Yvonne Nylund, nominated by ATO, and Jane Wiley, nominated by the Deltas, placed third and fourth, respectively. The total amount collected from the contest was $235.

New Castle had a refreshment booth which captured first place in the Fair competition. They netted $51.24. Topsy and Turvey placed second. Their total from a bean-bag throw booth and the sale of corsages was $42.71. The golf concession sponsored by AEPI collected $35.00, placing third. Other booths were Warner, pie throw, Smyth A. pictures; Theta Chi, guess your weight; Phi Kappa Tau, dart game; Sigma Nu, bean bag throw and a strength contest; Cannon, fortune teller; Sussex, wishing well and chance.

Mock UD Court Martial Trial Aids ROTC In Military Law

Somewhat the Army just isn't like it used to be.

Recently a "private" on the campus went before a board, received a general court martial, was later congratulated by a colonel and is scheduled to be commissioned as a second lieutenant in the Army in June.

In reality, the "private" is civilian Eddy Cannon, an ROTC student. The proceedings were in the form of a mock court martial trial, used by the university military department to instruct the prospective second lieutenants in military law.

The trial, United States vs. Pfc. John Doe, took place in a classroom of the ROTC Building under the supervision of Col. E. W. Hiddleston, professor of military science and tactics and Lt. Col. John A. Hodgson, instructor of senior ROTC students.

The participants, all of whom after graduation will enter the armed forces for two years as lieutenants, conducted the mock trial in an effort to gain practical experience in the conduct of a military court.

US Civil Service Needs Engineers In All Work Fields

The U. S. Civil Service Commission has announced that engineers are needed for employment in the Army Ballistic Missile Agency and Redstone Arsenal in Huntsville, Alabama.

Starting salaries range from $4,345 to $11,610 a year. The optional fields of work include aeronautical, chemical, electrical, electronics, general, industrial, mechanical and ordnance engineering.

To qualify, applicants must have had appropriate college study or pertinent engineering experience. Applications will be accepted until further notice and must be filed with the Executive Secretary, Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, Redstone Arsenal, Huntsville, Alabama.

Further information and application forms may be obtained from many post offices throughout the country or from the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C.

John Doe as he was called, was charged with larceny and resisting arrest. Cadet Col. Andrew J. Wagner, Blue Hen football star, served as president of the court in the role of Lt. Col. James L. Wright.

A cast of nineteen other ROTC students participated in the demonstration trial as members of the court martial board, law officers, trial and defense counsels and witnesses. Each appeared under a fictitious name, rank and Army unit. Cannon was billed as Pfc. Doe, RA 11111111, Battery B, 318th AAA, AW SP Bn.

Campus Elects Court Norma E. McClellan Wins Title of Queen

Miss Norma McClellan will be Queen of the May in the traditional May celebration, as a result of last week's elections.

Other titles were awarded to Betsy Yatman-Maid-of-Honor, Donna Wood—Snior Duchess, Carol Conrad and Frances Cook—Senior Attendants, Connie Darby—Junior Duchess, Jean Leonard and Marilyn Sturges—Junior Attendants, Mary Jo Anselm—Sophomore Duchess, Sandy McKennon and Ann Sutherland—Sophomore Attendants, Virginia Lanier—Freshman Duchess, and Marilyn Cook and Elinor Welsh—Freshman Attendants.

Two ties, between Marilyn Sturges and Pat Lyons for Junior Attendant and Elinor Welsh and Mary Crawford for Freshman Attendant, were broken by voting held in the Blue Hen Office on Tuesday.

On Wednesday the newly elected May Court met to appoint a costume committee with one member from each class represented in the court. The committee will travel to Wilmington to choose a pattern, colors, and materials for the gowns to be worn by the May Court.

Tentatively, the Seniors will wear blue, the Juniors green, the Sophomores yellow, and the Freshman violet; with the Maid of Honor in roses, and the Queen of course, in white. The rainbow theme of the program will be carried out in costume and song to the fullest possible extent.

Cosmopolitan Club To Give Program In Mitchell, April 20

The stage of Mitchell Hall will assume an international flavor late this month when an organization of students from foreign nations presents a musical program with routines from their native lands.

The Cosmopolitan Club will present the Festival of Nations at 8:15 p. m. on April 20.

The program is under the direction of Rajali Atalla, a native of Jerusalem and a graduate student in chemical engineering. Atalla has organized eleven different groups for the show, with most making more than one appearance in the program.

A recent addition to the festival is Gordon Cameron, native Canadian and former Royal Military College musician, who will give several bagpipe selections in the show.

Israeli dances, featuring the Arden Dancers from Arden, Delaware, also are planned, as is a selection of Greek dances, executed by a group of Greek students on the university campus.

Three Arabian graduate students, two in chemistry and one in civil engineering, will take the spotlight for several popular Arab songs. Two Delaware coeds from Hawaii plan a routine of the dance numbers of that land, including the popular Hula dance.

Elise Delano, a native American, will give a performance of Russian ballet, while Francoise Puech, arts and science senior of 9 Rue De Tournon, Paris, France, will be featured in the famous French can-can.

The Latins have a portion of the program also, with Yolanda Carpinteyro of Monterrey, Mexico, and Hernando De La Cuesta of Pereira, Columbia, doubling in a Latin American dance program. A group of Ukrainian students and their friends will be spotlighted in a program of Ukrainian dances.

The Cosmopolitan Club is headed by president Serge Sacharuk, recently naturalized American citizen, who was born in Ukraine. The students are being aided by Mrs. Dorothy Patterson, club adviser, who is the housemother of Sussex Hall.

Production director Atalla states that this year's elaborate program was planned following the encouraging reception of a more limited program held in (Continued on Page 4)

Howard Anderson Wins Gov't Chemical Engineering Award

Howard Anderson has won a National Science Foundation Fellowship worth $1,000, plus tuition, to the University of California, where he will study chemical engineering.

The government sponsored scholarship was given to Anderson on the basis of the results of comparative tests, past records and recommendations from his department heads. These scholarships, are offered by the U. S. government to foster interest in science. Before he could receive the award, Anderson had to sign a loyalty oath.

Here he attended Conrad High School, working as a stock clerk after school. Graduating in 1952, third in his class, Anderson won the coveted Bausch and Lomb Science Award for excellence in this field.

At the university, he joined the Phi Kappa Tau fraternity where he was house manager in his sophomore year and treasurer last year. His 3.6 overall index has been of no small help in bolstering the fraternity's standing.

Howard has paid a sizable part of his college expenses himself. Last summer he worked as a draftsman for the DuPont Company and after graduation will take a job with the Esso Standard Oil Company in the field of process development. This year Howard was granted a Bakelite Scholarship of $445 to the university.

Anderson is also a member of Tau Beta Pi, the National Honorary Engineering Fraternity and Omicron Delta Kappa, the National Honorary Leadership Fraternity.

Political Parties Urge Student Participation In Affairs of State

The national leadership of the Democratic and Republican parties has joined forces to encourage college men and women to take an increased and active part in the affairs of the political party of their choice.

In a statement sponsored by the Citizenship Clearing House, Mr. Paul Butler, National Democratic Chairman, and Mr. Leonard Hall, National Republican Chairman, urged college students and graduates to assume the political responsibility for which their academic training equips them.

Mr. Butler pointed out that "Our political parties are the chief instruments of politics. It is they that breathe life into the principle of 'the consent of the governed.'"

In the statement by Mr. Hall, President Eisenhower was quoted to the effect that participation is inevitable, since by not voting "you double the value of the vote of anyone who does not believe in the things you believe."

The Citizenship Clearing House is a national organization operating through 24 state or regional affiliates, which cooperate with more than 300 colleges and universities. The programs of the affiliates are designed to bring college men and women, faculty, and recent graduates into closer association with respected political leaders, with a view to acquainting them with the actual workings of the political process.

Chem-Engineers Vote Gordon Wood Proxy

Gordon Wood, a junior chemical engineering major from Millville, Delaware, was elected president of the Delaware chapter of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers at a meeting held last Monday night in Brown Auditorium.

Wood, a member of Phi Kappa Tau fraternity, replaces Bill Krebs in the number one spot. James Davis, a sophomore from Wilmington, succeeds Dick Haines as vice president.

Other officers are Ann Davis, secretary; James Zawicki, treasurer; Krebs, senior representative; and Ray Sneller, junior representative.

Dean Steele Receives Award As Outstanding ATO Member

Alec Dean Steele was awarded the Thomas Arkle Clark Award as the outstanding student in the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity, among the nominees from six universities, at a recent meeting of Province XIX of the ATO Fraternity held at Gettysburg College.

The award is based upon scholarship, contribution to the fraternity and contribution to Maryland, American University and the University of Delaware.

Steele has majored in chemistry and will enter the University of Pennsylvania Medical School next year. He was the recipient of an Alpha Chi Sigma prize for outstanding achievement in freshman chemistry and also has won the American Chemical Society prize for the student with the highest scholastic index in chemistry. A candidate for a degree with distinction, Steele is a member of Alpha Chi Sigma, professional chemical society; Phi Kappa Phi, honorary scholastic society; the American Chemical Society and Omicron Delta Kappa, men's honorary leadership society. He has served as recording secretary and as chairman of the Men's Executive Council of the Student Government Association and as a member of the student union and election committees.

In fraternity affairs, he was winner of the George Hammond Memorial Trophy, presented to the local chapter's outstanding pledge, and has been a four-time winner of the fraternity scholarship trophy. He has held the office of secretary and president. For his recent Province award, he received a key and certificate, as well as automatic consideration for the national award.

Active in varsity sports, Steele has won three letters as a full-back on the soccer team and was co-captain of the 1955 squad. He was named to the All Middle Atlantic first team and to the Regional (Pa., N. J., Del.) second team.

This province is comprised of chapters from Washington College, George Washington University, Johns Hopkins University, University of Maryland and the University of Delaware. Officers and delegates from these chapters will be present at the Council.

Alumni chapters from Philadelphia, Wilmington, Baltimore and Washington will also be represented while William E. Forester, National Executive Secretary and A. J. Shaffer, Jr., Province Commander, will be supervisors.

The Council will open with registration at the Beta Epsilon House at 5 p. m., after which will follow a banquet at Linton's restaurant. Mr. Forester will speak at the opening session. At 8 p. m. a houseparty will be given with music furnished by the "Major Trio."

The first session of the Officers Training School will be held at 9 a. m. Saturday morning. The business here will entail the customs of the Order and the authority and responsibilities of the No. 1 and chapter organizations.

Student Tour Council Publishes Pamphlet For Travel Questions

"Traveler's Information," an 84-page booklet compiled by the Council on Student Travel, is now available to students and teachers planning trips abroad this summer.

The booklet lists and briefly describes more than 900 pamphlets, films, records, books and other guides including material suitable for short, concentrated, language courses and reviews in 13 languages. It gives publications that offer travel tips on 18 countries; where to stay, what to see, where to eat and what to buy. It lists short histories, maps of all kinds, pamphlets on the culture, the problems, the customs, the arts of various countries.

For ten years the Council has been answering travelers' questions in the year-round orientation programs they conduct on chartered ships which take students and teachers to Europe. It provides trans-Atlantic transportation, education and recreation programs aboard ship and tour information on international travel.

'Friends Fellowship' Set Up Book Display In Browsing Room

With the cooperation of the University Religious Council, the Friends' Fellowship has placed a six-panel American Friends' Service Committee display on the religious book table in the browsing room of the library.

The display illustrates volunteer summer work and study projects for all college students who are interested in working with and understanding people of various nationalities and religions.

The numerous projects include the "Interns in Industry," which consists of a group of students who get factory jobs and live together, and discuss the problems of the factory workers. They also oversee the working camps, which give college students the opportunity to work with and understand people in other countries.

There is free literature in front of the display which describes the projects in detail.

The first session of the council will take place on Saturday morning and will include a report of the credentials committee, active chapter reports, alumni chapter reports and discussion of chapter problems.

At the second session of the Officers Training School there will be discussion of the chapter finances, the Order's Judicial procedure, rushing and pledge training and the national report system.

During the second council session, nominations will be presented for the James Ward Wood Alumni Court of Honor. Election of a province commander will conclude the council's business. At 4:30 p. m. tomorrow, the final examination will be given for the Officers Training School.

Upon conclusion of the regular business, members of the Order plan to watch the varsity track meet with Lehigh.

James V. Stowell, artist, explorer, writer and photographer will narrate his film "The Eskimo and His Changing World," on Sunday evening in Wolf Hall Auditorium at 8 p. m.

Sponsored by the Cultural Activities Committee of the university, Mr. Stowell will discuss his film with a lecture after its showing. He did the traveling and the photographing in the making of the film, and has also done others of Greenland and Labrador.

Sleeping Beauty's court is making last minute preparations for the big performances in Mitchell Hall next week. The E-52-University theatre's ninth annual children's Theatre, "Sleeping Beauty," will open next Thursday evening at 7:30 p.m. with a matinee Friday at 2:30 p.m.

Gretchen Berguido, a Freshman drama major, is playing the title role of the princess. Gretchen was a candidate in the recent Miss Delaware contest.

Jingles, a funny court jester has the most active part in the play. Cast in the jester's part is Kathy Jordan who is continually dancing and doing tricks while on stage.

The Review

The Undergraduate Weekly of the University of Delaware

VOL. 77

APRIL 13, 1956

NO. 23

Here's To

The Past

In the spring, old organizations are turned over to new leaders for the coming year. With the assumption of office by the new leaders, the seniors feel as though they are on their last legs.

In accordance with this tradition, the Review is changing editors, and for the next year, it will be in the charge of Dave Tompkins and a very capable staff.

During the past year we have become extremely proud of the students and administration of the University of Delaware. Many times we have agitated in an attempt to improve, and many times we have expressed concern or fear over things of interest to the students. However, there is no fear or concern about the Review next year, since this "waterboy" is the only one lost to the editorial team. Finally, we cannot help but feel that the staff of the Review, with the cooperation of the students and administration, will rise to new heights among collegiate newspapers.

What About

The Future?

As the new staff takes over the operation of the Review for the next year, it is with a touch of nostalgia that we reflect on the accomplishments of the past and then lift our eyes to the future.

If the students are not already aware of the fact, it is significant to point out here that during the past year, this paper has been the largest Review yet. It has maintained a standard issue of twelve pages with four sixteen page and only two eight page editions. This has meant an increased coverage of campus affairs. In spite of this the Review has stayed within its budgetary allotment from the SGA, has attempted to maintain good standards of journalism and has at the same time tried successfully, we believe, to bring to the students and the faculty a paper which they could be proud to call "the voice of the University of Delaware."

Much of the success of the paper must be attributed to the patient and untiring efforts of the editor-in-chief, Ray DeVries. He has had to work with an editorial staff made up of juniors and sophomores and which suffered from a shortage of personnel in strategic departments. Through his efforts, the Review secured an outside telephone. With the cooperation of the maintenance department, he saw enlargement and a new coat of paint go into the office—all of which added to the efficiency of the staff.

Editorially speaking, Ray continued the paper's policy of the last few years by "calling them as he saw them." He attempted to act as coordinator between the faculty and the students, and the SGA and the students. He took stands on several important university issues, notably scholarship, while at the same time praising and criticizing, where necessary, the merits and lacks of the SGA and IFC.

Praise is also due to Gordon Pizor, the business manager. His tight-fisted control of the money during the past year has kept the Review within its budget, despite the added expenses of the telephone and the paper's expansion.

Now, what about the future? In view of the accomplishments of the past year, it seems almost foolhardy for us to hope for a better Review. Yet we must point out that the editorial board is mainly a rearrangement of the old one in new positions and that the current crop of freshmen promises to add immeasurably to the quality of the paper next year. Thus, wherever improvement may be possible, we shall attempt to make it.

Editorially, we shall continue to be an impartial observer and to constructively criticize any matters which we feel deserve the students' attention. We shall continue to maintain an open door policy to all suggestions on university matters and concerning improvement of the Review through the Letters to the Editor column.

Off Stage

by George Spelvin

Wilmington's theatre season is coming to a busy finish. Last week found "Bus Stop" at the Playhouse, "Tea and Sympathy," a strongly controversial drama, is now playing on the Playhouse's stage and next week will bring Cole Porter's "Can-Can."

It is quite surprising to me that another musical is playing Wilmington after the financial statistics of "Damn Yankees." There were eight "sold-out" performances of this hit musical. The Playhouse made a fortune which amounted to the sum of $59.84. But we owe our thanks to the management for the top notch shows.

Student tickets are available for "Tea and Sympathy" and "Can-Can." These can be purchased from Miss Catherine Gatto, Mitchell Hall secretary. Here's a great chance to see Broadway shows at a cheap price.

Broadway's counterpart of Hollywood's Oscars is the Tony. "Damn Yankees" walked away with the award for the best musical and its stars Gwen Verdon and Ray Walston also took home a Tony for the best actress and actor in a musical. "The Diary of Anne Frank" won the award for the best dramatic production of the year. Julie Harris from "The Lark" and Paul Muni from "Inherit the Wind" captured the Tony for best dramatic actresses and actor.

Three cheers for the new Saturday night movies which are being held in Wolf Hall Auditorium at 8:15 p. m. Tomorrow a British comedy, "Nothing to Lose," will take the screen. Such fine films as "Ox Bow Incident" and "Crime and Punishment" are due in the future. Three cheers again.

Grace Kelly's sensational publicity is getting a little disgusting but yet we still read it. Every night there is a front page story in the Bulletin supplemented by an inside feature. All I can say is, it's a great break for MGM's new movie, "The Swan" — watch the box office receipts soar high.

If you have any little brothers, sisters, niece, or nephews around Newark—why not bring them to the "Sleeping Beauty" next week.

So till next week . . . enjoy yourself.

Letters To The Editor

To the Editor:

Perhaps you have wondered why the name of David Norcross did not appear on the sample ballot published in the last edition of the Review, even though you may have signed his petition. We would like to take this opportunity to explain why this situation has arisen. Dave's petition was turned in to the Review office, but was somehow misplaced. At the present time the petition still has not been found, and his name, therefore, will not appear on the ballot today. It is for this reason that we urge you to "write-in" the name of Dave Norcross for recording secretary when you vote.

Dave's interest in campus activities has been proven by his active participation as vice president of the freshman class and as chairman of the publicity committee for the sophomore class. Dave has shown his desire for the office of recording secretary of the Student Government Association by attempting to have his name placed on the ballot. Since this attempt was apparently in vain, the choice is left to you, the voter. In conclusion, we once again urge you to "write-in" the name of Dave Norcross for recording secretary when you vote today.

Yoke Rhodes

"Poor Charley Never Was A Saturday Class Man!"

TODAY

by Frank Garosi

During the last three weeks the campus has been subjected to a great deal of high-pressure advertising and high-voltage "donation" pitches — all for a good cause, the Campus Chest, of course. Two of the most successful money-raising plans conceived and executed by any one group were the Campus Fair Queen contest and the Campus Fair — and the group is the Alpha Phi Omega Service Fraternity.

Despite the fact that this organization was reorganized three brief semesters ago and consists of only fifteen members, it has jumped feet first into the campus swim and is practically up to its collective ears. APO's energy and initiative were never better displayed than in their handling of the Campus Chest.

They learned that Milt Roberts, co-ordinator of student affairs, had no one to run Campus Chest activities not already under the auspices of the SGA. APO volunteered to be responsible for a segment of this program and began in December to draw up plans for it. Bill McLain, the fraternity's corresponding secretary, chair-manned the contest committee. Dormitories and fraternities were asked to sponsor booths at the Fair and to nominate women for queen. The success of their efforts can be measured in cold cash. They cleared more than $250 at the Fair and over $260 on the penny-a-vote queen contest — a total of better than $500.

This has not been their only contribution to the university. They have ushered for all the music department's programs except the Artist Series; during the freshman week they helped with the speech screening tests; when the reading clinic was held on campus they acted as guides and information-dispensers for the numerous visitors; and so the list goes on.

Their accomplishments are enhanced when you realize that this is a small group. Whether their previous experience in Scouting is responsible for their initiative and spirit of service to the university, we cannot tell. They are to be congratulated for their contribution to university life, in any case.

APO's small size on campus belies the extent of the national organization. It has 250 chapters in the United States and foreign countries. It is also the largest Greek letter organization in the world — this includes social fraternities.

We do not have room to list the names of all of the APO members, but we can mention its officers: Thomas Lennox, president; Jim Zawicki, vice president; William McLain, corresponding secretary; Jerry Katz, recording secretary; Bob Stucklen, alumni secretary and Jim McKenney, treasurer.

Fraternally Speaking:—

Kappa Alpha

It may have been rainy over the past weekend, but that didn't stop several of the brothers from giving their pins away. Brother Ed Ruos and Kappa Alpha's representative to the "bathtub Navy", Jim Roberts, got pinned to Shirley Hudson and Judy Atkins, respectively. Congratulations to both men on the big move. KA also salutes our perennial mascot, Bill Keene, who became engaged to Miss Jeanie Hayes last week.

All the brothers who attended the Spring Dance had a good evening. This goes especially for Brothers Jester, Baynard and Keene. It seems this "female trio" turned the Warner Hall booth into a free for all. From all reports, Brother Jester tried to keep order, but Willie Keene would have none of it, so Carl got the foul treatment. Some of the girls got mixed up in the throws too, but that's all part of the game, according to the contestants.

The rains put a temporary halt to the pledge project, but Brother McManus plans to have our new sidewalk finished in time for the annual parents' tea that will be held Sunday afternoon. The weekend shapes up as a good one with our Province houseparty tonight, featuring the music of the Major Trio.

The past week has been indeed a busy one here at the "Snake Pit." Last Saturday night the pledges gave the brothers what was generally the best house party this year. With the colorful decorations and the mock entertainment the party turned out to be one which will not be forgotten soon. To the pledges the brothers would like to heartily say, "Thanks."

Elections were also held here last Wednesday, but as this column goes to press before then, we are unable to publish the new officers.

This Saturday Delta Kappa will hold its formal initiation and banquet. The initiation will be held in Masonic Temple, with the banquet following in the Blue Room of Old College.

It seems as if the Spring has sprung cupid loose, also. Congratulations this week to Miss Donna Wood and George McBride, Miss Ruth Warrington and Bill Baur and Miss Nancy Alvarado and Eddie White who have all recently become pinned and to Miss Mary Terrell and Ron Haines who are engaged.

"Pete" Green

Alpha Tau Omega

Another great weekend in the history of the University of Delaware's social program has come and gone, remaining only in memory. Many thanks to the Junior Class and the SGA. Here's hoping we'll have more "name bands" in the future. Congratulations to Miss Vonnie Nylund, our candidate for the Fair Queen, who was elected Lady in Waiting.

On Saturday evening, at the Tau's Mahal, the brothers and pledges spent an evening of dancing and laughing with many of the brothers who were in high spirits. The annual Parents' Tea was held on Sunday at the house. From all indications the pledges' parents enjoyed their first visit to the house. As usual, our wonderful Mother's Club supplied refreshments and the needed supervision, resulting in a good time for all.

Brother Steele is now fighting his way through the semi-finals of the badminton tournament.

Congratulations also to Miss Joan Healy and Brother Con Horgan who were pinned this weekend.

Sigma Phi Epsilon

"For, lo, the winter is past, the rain is over and gone; the flowers appear on the earth; the time of the singing of birds is come, and the voice of the turtle is heard in our land." Old King Solomon might be painting a very accurate and vivid picture of his land in the spring, but not of ours here at Delaware. The voice of the "turtle" of "Sig Ep" asks, "where did the snow, the cold and all the rain come from and where, pray tell, are all the lovely flowers and birds of spring?" If spring is here, the only clues the brothers of "Sig Ep" have been getting are the increased pressure of spring exams, spring term papers and other such lovely items which accompany the advent of this most joyous season of the year. Ugh! Spring used to be such a gay time until...

This weekend the brothers of Sigma Phi Epsilon are going to light the fuse which, over a period of a week, will burn and eventually ignite the big blast planned for April 21. The fuse obviously will be an exciting, gala and robust affair which is known around here as a house party. To those lucky girls who are going to attend this fuse-lighting ceremony, I extend to you all best wishes for a real "bang" of an evening. I must remind you though to look out for the nitro-glycerin which "Mort" Collins keeps for just such occasions. It is quite explosive, so be careful, Mort will you?

Dick Brady

Phi Kappa Tau

The smooth strains of Les Elgart heard at last week's spring dance are still being praised by the brothers who attended. Our booth, set up at intermission to accommodate young hopefuls in the skill of balloon-breaking, met with a great degree of success.

The house party tomorrow night, planned by the pledges, also promises to be a merry affair. Their own seven-piece combo, under the expert direction of Doug Roberts, will play at the party.

A new member of the fraternity has been added this week — a brown boxer dog.

Constant vigilance has already earned the alert canine the job of wakeup, as a replacement for the laggard pledges who have often failed recently. It has been decided not to let him consume expensive and delicious dog food, but to eat at Kent Hall instead.

A newly-built stairway, that provides more direct access to the basement through the telephone booth, should result in a tremendous improvement of first-floor study conditions. However, the Three Gores are seceding from the house to lurk over the dusky garage for the remainder of the semester.

Congratulations are in order this week for many of the brothers of DTD. First of all, our bowling team (11-1), headed by Walt Jebens, came through to move into first place in the Inter-fraternity bowling league. Also in line for congrats is Jack Richter, who became engaged to Miss Jane Wiley. Bill Brown rounds out the list with his scholarship to N.Y.U. Law School. Congratulations to all.

The pledges announce that this Saturday night will be their annual Pledge Party. It promises to be a rousing evening with an Apache theme (not Indian).

The dance last Friday night was also a big success with many Deltas attending. Our booth was very active and, from all reports, a big success. Brothers Geissell and Reiss of APO contributed greatly to a worthy cause.

A new club has been formed in the halls of DTD. The Saturday Afternoon Olive Chasers is an exclusive society only for outstanding members. John Pollock has been elected new president.

The privateer, Lady Ape, will be casting off from the pier at 151 Main tomorrow night and we're hoping that you will all come aboard.

This past weekend, the Apechicks travelled hither and yon, (to quote a cliché) and the results of these excursions have proved to be quite interesting. Goober and Wachtel were feeling no pain as Jake tried out his smooth talk in procuring a highly contested piece of clothing. The AEPi booth at the dance last Friday night took in the most money of any other fraternity booth at the affair. Meanwhile, back at the dance, Brother Spector made the best of the soft lights and sweet music and bid a fond adieu to his fraternity pin. To him and the recipient, Miss Deanne Seltzer, we of AEPi give our heartiest congratulations. Needless to say, room 7 is now firmly split down the middle.

Mozart's Anniversary To Be Celebrated

The 200th anniversary of the birth of the Austrian composer, Wolfgang Mozart, will be celebrated at the university by the Fifth Annual Music Festival with concerts of his works on April 26, 27 and May 2 and 3.

Heading the program for the April 26 concert will be the University Concert Choir, under the direction of Dr. Ivan Trusler, and the Delaware Symphonette with Mr. J. R. King conducting.

The mixed chorus will sing Mozart's "Laudate Dominum," "Ave Veru," and "Gloria from the Twelfth Mass." "Alleluia" from Motet, "Exaltate Jubilate," and "Now Golden Day Again is Dawning" from the Magis Flute, will be sung by the Women's Chorus.

Following the concert by the Choir, the Symphonette will perform the Symphony No. 35 "Haffner" in D Major. Several Delaware students, Cornelius Horgan, Rod Daniels, Marshall Baker and graduate John Ford are members of the group. Two members of the music department, Mr. A. J. Laudes and Miss Mildred Gaddis will be the soloists for the final number on the program, "Concerto for Two Pianos and Orchestra in Eb".

THE CLAREMONT QUARTET

Three sophomore music majors, Carolyn Brown, Joyce Mitchell and Ann Mac Grady will be featured in the concert on the following night, April 27. This will be an informal concert for the benefit of the participants. Misses Brown, Mitchell and MacGrady will each play one movement of Mozart's Piano Concerto in Eb, with members of the Symphonette assisting with the accompaniment.

The concert on May 2 closes a two day visit by the Claremont String Quartet of New York City. The quartet consists of Marc Gottlieb, violin; Vladimir Weisman, violin; Wilham Schoen, viola and Irving Klein, cello. Each has achieved individual recognition as a soloist and chamber musician of outstanding ability. In forming the Quartet, the men have pooled their talents to bring about a dynamic integration of artistry that has impressed critics and audiences wherever they have appeared.

May 3 brings to a close the four concerts of the Festival and will feature three distinct types of Mozart compositions. Miss Mildred Gaddis and Mr. A. J. Loudis will return to play Mozart's "Sonata for Four Hands." Mr. Henry N. Lee will perform the "Fantasy for Organ." To conclude, the Delaware Symphonette Woodwind Ensemble, which includes Dr. Pickford, head of the Department of Engineering, will play "Serenade in Eb Major."

Scientific Education To Get Boost 1956-57 By Chemical Company

Delaware will benefit from an extended program for Monsanto Chemical Company's financial aid to scientific education during the 1956-57 school year, according to a recent announcement by Dr. Carroll A. Hochwalt, vice president for research, development and engineering at Monsanto.

A total of 83 American colleges and universities will benefit from 111 separate direct aid awards under the program. This is an increase of 30 in the number of schools aided and 39 in the number of awards over the company's 1955-56 program.

The awards for the coming school year include 29 fellowships, 41 undergraduate scholarships and 41 cash grants. The university will receive control over a chemical engineering scholarship, which is intended to cover tuition costs for a student. The company will retain no control over the scholarship. Choice of the recipient will be made by the dean on the basis of merit and need.

In announcing the awards, Hochwalt said that the company recognizes the importance and desirability of a liberal arts background for higher scientific training, and wishes to aid those liberal arts colleges which are giving basic preparation to their students for scientific careers, primarily in chemistry or chemical engineering. To achieve this purpose, Hochwalt said, the liberal arts colleges receiving grants will be chosen yearly on a rotational basis.

Hochwalt also pointed out that the 111 direct aid awards announced today are only a part of Monsanto's over-all program of cooperation with scientific education. The company's operating divisions supplement the cooperative program with many grants for specific research and by the donation of equipment and materials to schools.

Penrose Announces Dr. G.W. Blackwell As Summer Professor

Dr. Gordon W. Blackwell, a nationally known authority in the field of sociology, will join the 1956 summer school faculty, Dean William O. Penrose, director of the summer session, announced yesterday.

Director of the University of North Carolina's Institute for Research in Social Science and Kenan Professor of Sociology, Dr. Blackwell will offer a course in community organization and a seminar on the community in American society.

In 1942 the American Council on Education selected Dr. Blackwell to conduct a study of programs of teacher education throughout the country. The results were published as a volume entitled "Toward Community Understanding." He was also employed by the New York State Department of Education to study the social science programs of twenty-five colleges and universities in that state.

During World War II, he served with the Office of Civilian Defense.

Sociology Students To Take Annual Trip to New York

The Prince George Hotel in New York will be the hub and home of approximately twenty-five Delaware students who will go on an annual field trip to New York from April 18 to April 20.

The trip is conducted by the Sociology Club in conjunction with the Department of Sociology and Anthropology.

Dr. Ralph Holloway, assistant professor of sociology and anthropology stated the purpose of the trip. He said that "this is not a sightseeing trip, but a trip of genuine sociological interest for the sociology major and any student interested in human relations and processes by which urban society organizes its behavior patterns."

The group will leave from Newark at 2:38 p. m. on April 18. After arriving in New York, the group will register at the hotel, after which they will have dinner in Chinatown along with a tour of the community. The Delawareites will then go to observe the cases brought up for small violations in Night Court.

The evening will be concluded with visiting Steve Allen's TV program.

On Thursday, the Department of Welfare with its many facets as Men's Shelter, the Family Shelter and the Children's Center will be viewed by the visiting group. The afternoon tour will be to the Day Center for the Aged. Of interest because of the current integration problem, will be the visit to Freedom House which is the headquarters of the NAACP. Here many leaders in the present legal battle and other battles of the NAACP will be seen at work. After this, the balance of the day will be left at the disposal of the students to do as they desire.

On the last day the group will tour Police Headquarters. There cases will be heard in Magistrates' Court, Seaman's Institute will be the final port of call for the touring group.

Dr. Holloway has stated that the group already signed up is as large as can be accommodated with the arrangements that have already been made.

Students Take Part In Annual Biological Society Convention

The annual Northeastern Regional Convention of Beta Beta Beta was held at the College of St. Elizabeth, Convent Station, New Jersey, on March 23 and 24.

The following members of the Alpha Psi Chapter from the University of Delaware attended:

Karl Buretz, Dorothy Pannell and Matthew Shilling. Karl Buretz presented a paper entitled "Effects of Various Ionizing Radiations on the Survival of Metaphase Eggs of Habrobracon." Delegates from eight colleges in the Northeast Region attended the convention.

Meet Dick Foster

Western Electric development engineer

Dick Foster joined Western Electric, the manufacturing and supply unit of the Bell System, in February 1952, shortly after earning his B. S. in mechanical engineering at the University of Illinois. As a development engineer on a new automation process Dick first worked at the Hawthorne Works in Chicago. Later, he moved to the Montgomery plant at Aurora, Illinois where he is pictured above driving into the parking area.

Dick's day may begin in one of several ways: an informal office chat with his boss, a department "brain session" to tackle a particularly tough engineering problem (above); working with skilled machine builders in the mechanical development laboratory; or "on the line" (below) where he checks performance and quality and looks for new ways to do things.

Here Dick and a set-up man check over the automatic production line used to manufacture a wire spring relay part for complex telephone switching equipment. This automatic line carries a component of the relay on a reciprocating conveyor through as many as nine different and very precise operations—such as percussive welding in which small block contacts of palladium are attached to the tips of wires to within a tolerance of  $\pm .002$ ".

Examining the plastic molded "comb" components of the wire spring relay Dick recalls his early work when he was involved in working-up forming and coining tools for the pilot model of the automation line for fabrication of wire spring sub-assemblies for relays. At present he is associated with the expansion of these automation lines at the Montgomery Plant.

Dick finds time for many Western Electric employee activities. Here he is scoring up a spare while tuning up for the engineers' bowling league. He is active also in the golf club, camera club, and a professional engineering society. Dick, an Army veteran, keeps bachelor quarters in suburban Chicago where he is able to enjoy the outdoor life as well as the advantages of the city.

Four Baseball Games Cancelled As Blue Hens Bow To Weather

Lafayette, Harvard, F&M Victimized By Heavy Dew; Squad Faces Lehigh Next

April showers have plagued the University of Delaware's baseball schedule this season. Rain has forced cancellation of four of the Hen's contests with Georgetown, Lafayette, Franklin and Marshall and Harvard.

The Delaware nine will face the Engineers of Lehigh tomorrow afternoon at Bethlehem, Pennsylvania.

In competition with the Engineers, the Hens have won six contests while Lehigh has won nine. Delaware took the game last season with a 2-1 pitcher's battle.

Lehigh, under the tutelage of Coach Anthony Packer, has a veritable collection of football players on the squad, most of them in the outfield. John Miklavic, Tom Fallace and Alex Maxlowsky, all members of last year's grid team, will probably start for the Engineers. Reserves are Joe D'esti, Joe Hefele and Bob Hirsch.

In the infield, Lehigh will have Captain Wagner at third, Bob Naylor at shortstop and Ron Dominach at second base. Walt Christie will handle the assignment at first.

Top hurler for the Engineers is Dick Reinhold, while Frank Duket, who pitched a three-hitter against Ursinus in his only starting assignment last year is up from the reserves. Doug Maxwell saw considerable action as a relief hurler last year and is again available this year. The starting pitcher hasn't been named for the Engineers to date.

Lehigh catchers are Dave Walker, captain-elect of the 1956-57 basketball quintet. Al Medovich, member of the reserves last year, and Dick Hoogstratten.

The Engineers' entire team is made up of right-handers.

Coach Wisniewski Sends Slim Golf Squad Against Temple, Lehigh Squads

Delaware's golf team will play two matches this coming week. The team will meet Temple on Wednesday in their second home match of the season. This match will be held at the Dupont Country Club beginning at 2 p. m. On Friday the Hens play their third match of the season when they travel to Bethlehem to match strokes against the Lehigh Engineers.

The Hens opened their nine game schedule this past Wednesday against Pennsylvania, at the Dupont Country Club. This match saw the Hens hoping to avenge last year's 7-0 defeat at the hands of the Quakers.

Coach Irv Wisniewski stated that his starting squad will consist of Dick Sutton, Harold Reed, Jim Shelton, Pete Pepper, Bill Walker and Jim Szymanski. He hopes that this year's team will improve over the 6 and 4 record posted by last year's team.

Hooper Shuts Out Muhlenberg As Hens Rack Up Fourth Win

Rightthander Bob Hooper limited Muhlenberg to three hits in registering his fourth victory of the season on Wednesday afternoon as Delaware shutout the Mules 5-0.

The Hens tagged Mule hurler Ed. Wasmuth for 12 hits with Gene Watson leading the attack with a double and a home run. The circuit clout came after Romagnoli led off by beating out a single to shortstop. Romagnoli stole second and scored on Carmen Cella's single to left, Cella advanced to second on a fielder's choice, and Hooper's sharp single to left sent the third Hen run home.

Hooper, in his fifth appearance of the year, struck out nine Mule batters, and gave up only four walks.

Stickmen Edge Garnet On Tait's Overtime Tally

Junior Bob Tait led the Delaware lacrosse team to its first victory of the season Tuesday, scoring the winning goal in an overtime period to trip Swarthmore 7-6. The win sets the Blue Hens record at 1-1.

Wilmington Mile Runner Leads Invasion of Strong Lehigh Trackmen Sat.

By Bruce Evans

Tomorrow at 2 p. m. the Blue Hen Varsity Track team opens its season on Frazer Field in a meet with the Lehigh Engineers. The Hens will be out to avenge last year's opening loss to this same team at Lehigh.

"The Engineers are very strong in the field events," said Hen Coach Ken Steers, "and they have an outstanding 1 and 2 mile runner in Duane Jennings of Wilmington."

Steers went on to say that while he would not like to make any predictions, he thought it would be a very close meet in which either team could emerge victorious.

Following is a list of the probable Blue Hen entries in the meet:

Mile: Bob Maegerle, Dante Marini

440: Neal Keough, Charley Skinner, Jim Cervy

100: Bob Hickman, Perce Ness, Dave Hunter

120 High Hurdles: Cliff Brown, Jack Simpson, Marv Thompson

Shot Put: Harry Cochran, Joe Harvanik, Dave Hunter, Ferris Lee, Jack Pollack

Discus: Harry Cochran, Joe Harvanik, Jack Pollack, Andy Rice

Javelin: Bud Bullock, Jim Cervy, Joe Harvanik, Andy Rice

Flashing a brilliant offensive attack in the second half, the Hens overcame Swarthmore's 65 lead to tie the contest in the final minute (6-6) on Tait's second goal and to send the game into overtime. Both teams are scoreless in the first overtime period, with Delaware putting up a strong defensive attack. In the second overtime period, with less than 15 seconds remaining, Tait pushed through the tie-breaking goal to win the game for the Hens.

Goalie Dick Garrett provided a strong defensive punch for the Delaware team by saving 22 possible Swarthmore scores, as he put on a stellar performance in the cage. Pete Brosius Delaware attack with 2 goals in the game.

Western Maryland College Scene of Second Tennis Match For Hen Racketmen

The 1956 Delaware tennis squad under the tutelage of Coach Roy Rylander, will travel to Western Maryland College tomorrow for its second match of the season. In its initial match of the season the team played host to the Temple Owls this past Wednesday.

Coach Roy Rylander said that the starting lineup for these two matches will be composed of Walter Hohler, Carl Schupp, Tom Jenkins, Bob Woodruff, Alan Woodruff, Roland Corson, Walter Jebens and Don Daniello. The team has a 10 match season this year and Coach Rylander has hopes of improving last year's mediocre 4 and 6 record.

Grad Students Volleyball Group Ranks High In Tournament Play

Anyone for volleyball?

This is the question thrown at the University of Delaware undergraduates by a group of six chemical engineering graduate students, not as a challenge but as an invitation to join one of the most unique athletic arrangements on the Delaware campus.

Mix With Thermo

Terms such as "spike, set and block" may seem incongruous to an engineering laboratory, but in one room of the university's Chemical Engineering Annex, a copy of the U. S. Volleyball Guide shares shelf space with texts on thermodynamics, small cases may contain shorts and T-shirts in addition to research equipment, and discussion of impending Ph. D. degrees is likely to be temporarily forgotten upon mention of future volleyball tournaments.

This is the habitat of a select group of university graduate students who have developed into the best volleyball team in the state, and, following a recent New York tournament, stand with the best in the East.

Under the title, "The Delaware Engineers," the group of six budding scientists recently entered the Third Annual Stan Brown Inter-collegiate Volleyball Tournament at Binghamton, N. Y., and went straight to the finals, being edged, 2-1, by the number 3 team in the nation, George Williams College of Chicago. This climaxed a year and a half of work in spare hours at their own expense and initiative.

The sextet includes Skip Scriven, Steve Whitaker, Dick Romano, Marty Wendel, Alan Foss, Bob Otto and Sid Addelman.

A Brooklyn, N. Y. native preceded Romano as a member of the aggregation last year, and a couple of Delaware undergraduates have appeared with the team in "relief" roles from time to time.

The team originated more as a pastime than anything else when the intramural volleyball competition began last year at the university. The Delaware Engineers made the transition from the slide rule to the square court very smoothly and went through a seven-match race undefeated. They met the campus fraternity champions on two occasions, with the latter squad bowing both times.

Enter Tourney

Soon after their baptism as athletes, the graduates students were tipped off about such things as tournaments. After viewing a Baltimore tourney, the boys entered in contests with the Coatesville, Pa., YMCA and Sun Oil of Chester, and in their own words, "thus went through a learning process."

After returning from these affairs, the engineers split even in four clashes with the Wilmington YMCA and YMHA. Delaware showed considerable promise in losing efforts with ex-

SPOTLIGHT ON SPORTS

By FRANK GAROSI

This is our last column as Sports Editor and as such we will limit ourselves to a few parting remarks. First of all we want to welcome Harley (Hal) Bodley, the new, fresh, eager, energetic sports editor and to congratulate him, too.

There are a few things we would like to see done with the sports department in the next two semesters. One, the minor sports should be given greater coverage and more attention. Two, intra-mural sports, which concern every man living on campus, can be given more room on the sports page and better photographic coverage (no reflection on the efforts of Warren "Pete" Green whose work in this field was a big improvement over the previous year's reporting). Three, live up women's sports reporting with plenty of pictures — the fair sex, let's face it, is invading all the traditional male domains.

These all are fields in which we have tried to improve the sports department and in which we have a degree of success. Much remains to be done and we are confident that Hal will not only be equal to the task but will turn out to be one of the best sports editors in recent years (no reflection on the sterling work of former sports scribe Dave O. Tompkins who is now the Great White Editor-in-Chief).

A few parting thank-you's are in order also. Thanks to Eileen Dalton and Neta Warfield whose W.A.A. News was always well-intentioned if not on time. Thanks to Charley Skinner, the 4.00 writer who worries about his marks. Thanks to "Pete" Green who gave us the best intra-mural coverage in years. Thanks to "Old Reliable" John Walsh who combines athletic prowess with literary ability and, to our recollection, never missed a deadline. Thanks also to Bruce Evans, another reliable writer even though he is the only commuter on the staff.

Finally, thanks to Hal Bodley and Scott Wilson, two fine writers who did what was asked of them — and more, who cheerfully undertook the hardest jobs, and who contributed a great deal of time to the paper. Congratulations to Scott on being promoted to assistant sports editor — which we neglected to do in the first paragraph.

That's all for this column and all for this year from us. Before we go we want to thank the whole athletic department for their patient co-operation and wish them the best of luck always.

Milt Roberts Selected Coach For Southern Lacrosse Stars

Milt Roberts, lacrosse coach at Delaware, has been named head coach for the South, in the North-South All-Star lacrosse game to be held at Hobart College on June 9.

The disclosure of Roberts' appointment came nine days after the choice of Holstra, inventor, Howdy Myers, as head coach of the North team, was made public. As an All American lacrosse player at Johns Hopkins, Roberts played under Myers when the latter was coaching there.

The selection of Roberts was announced by Dr. Charles B. Clark, lacrosse coach at Washington College, Chestertown, Md., and president of the United States Intercollegiate Lacrosse Association, sponsor of the annual North-South All Star game.

Assisting the Delaware coach on the side of the South will be Dr. John E. Faber, Maryland lacrosse coach whose team won the 1955 national intercollegiate lacrosse championship. Faber's counterpart on the North squad will be Irwin Seymour of Stevens Institute of Technology.

Trailing northern teams by only one game, 7-6, in the series which began in 1940, Roberts' effort this year will be devoted to balancing the series. With Maryland and Navy, the No. 1 and 2 teams on the coaches' list to cop the 1956 lacrosse intercollegiate championship, both playing for the South, prospects for a South victory in the All game are as bright as they have ever been.

Roberts has been lacrosse coach at the University of Delaware for the past six years. His teams have won 31 games and tied one in 70 engagements over this period.

This year's appearance in the lacrosse classic will mark the first time that the native Baltimorean has been associated with the North-South game. He first appeared in 1946, when, as a star attack man for Johns Hopkins University, he played against the North squad in a 14-14 contest.

In 1950, after joining the University of Delaware staff, Roberts became the first former North-South performer to coach in the fray, when he was selected as assistant coach. Last spring he reappeared in the role of the South's assistant coach, this time helping to direct the team to a victory over the North.

Roberts has played on four championship lacrosse teams: 1941 Johns Hopkins, national collegiate champions; 1948 Mt. Washington, national champ.

perienced teams such as Sun Oil of Chester and the Coatesville "Y".

A key step for the Delaware Engineers, on the tournament circuit this winter was the 26th Annual Four-State Eastern Regional Volleyball Tournament. After defeating the Bowling Air Force Base team, the Delawareans went on to finish ninth in a 14-team field.

Now, although nursing pipe-dreams of a trip to the AAU nationals in the state of Washington, the engineering students are immediately concerned with arousing interest in volleyball in this area. "Several of the players will leave the university in June," stated Scriven, the spokesman for the group, "and the team hopes to be able to perpetuate itself."

Any undergraduate or graduate student interested in becoming a member of the volleyball team should call Steve Whitaker (extension 347) or drop a note to either through the campus mail.

Experience is not a necessity, stated Scriven, pointing out that only he and Whitaker had played prior to their court appearances at the University of Delaware.

Since the men are not recognized as an official university athletic team, the players split expenses for the outings. Tournaments are usually reached in one of the players' cars.

Prof Ralph Dakin Airs Positive View On Co-ed Marriage

Syracuse, New York—(ACP —

There's been a lot of talk about the advantages and disadvantages of getting married while still in college. So, we pass along these observations by Professor Ralph Dakin of the sociology department at Kansas State. They were reprinted in the Syracuse Daily Orange.

Marriage and college can mix, according to Professor Dakin. He says that married students usually make higher grades. Dakin believes this is due to the increased security and responsibility. Students seem to feel that marriage actually helps their college work. And, in opposition to many studies, Dakin said that the divorce rate for college marriages is lower than for the comparable highly educated persons.

Commenting on the same subject, a Kansas minister has said that college marriages are much more dependent on the couple's

University 'Scholars' Attend College Science Conference

The Tenth Annual Eastern Colleges Science Conference was held in Philadelphia, at Temple University on April 6 and 7.

The conference was devoted to demonstrations of scientific materials and methods, tours of various institutions in the Philadelphia area of particular interest to science students, and to the presentation of papers by the undergraduates. Approximately 600 students from 70 colleges in the northeastern region of the United States attended the conference.

Three students from the University of Delaware presented papers at the conference. Karl M. Buretz spoke on "The Effects of Various Ionizing Radiations on the Survival of Metaphase Eggs of Habrobracon." Charles S. Horn's subject was "The Rate of Growth of the Mouse Incisor." The subject of Henry C. Brinton's paper was "Beta-Ray Spectroscopy as a Method of Radioactive Decay Study."

Others from the University of Delaware attending the conference were Sally Beatty, Joan Brain, William E. Brown and Dr. Robert S. Howard, faculty counselor from Delaware for the ECSC. Mr. Brinton is from the physics department, all the others from the Department of Biological Sciences.

Gaylord E. Moss expects to receive his B.S. in Electrical Engineering from Tufts College in 1957. His interest in electronics was aroused, in part at least, by summer work in Du Pont's Photo Products Plant at Parlin, N. J. But Gaylord's interest in technical work goes much farther back. He received the Bausch and Lomb Science Award at his high-school graduation.

Clayton Hill answers:

Where would you want to work, Gay? The choice isn't quite so wide as that reply indicates, but if you have good reason for preferring a given area, and Du Pont has an opening there for which you're qualified, your choice will certainly be considered. We have 69 plants and over 70 research and development laboratories scattered through 26 states. So the odds are pretty fair that you can work in an area you like.

Most of the Du Pont units are situated east of the Mississippi, but some of them are as far west as the Pacific Coast. Right now, new plants are under construction in Michigan and California, providing even wider choice in those two states.

Of course, a man may be transferred after a time. The chemical industry is a growth industry, and transfers are generally associated with progress and promotions.

So you see, Gay, the geography of the United States is pretty much an open book for Du Pont professional men, adding a lot to their interest and enjoyment on the job.

SGA Hopefuls Talk At Rally

able to anyone, and thus they do not represent any one, according to Christensen. He also believes that committees that are created for such things as social events should come from the student body and be directed by the SGA, thereby giving the students more participation in the SGA.

Better Social Planning

He also stated that there should be better cooperation between the SGA and campus activities, so that there would be no conflict between social functions. In closing, Christensen expressed the need for all students to vote for their leaders.

At "Corky" Walters stated in his campaign speech for the presidency that there are six improvements needed in the SGA as he now sees it. He proceeded to list four of these. First of all, he believes that the student administration problem should receive more support from both sides. At the present time, students believe that the administration is against them and that the SGA is doing little to stand up for the students. An effort should be made to correct these mistaken ideas, according to Walters.

Walters Views Representation

He also said that the SGA social program should give the students "what they want." If more name bands like Les Elgart and the Commanders are what the students want, the SGA should attempt to get them as far as the budget allows. Representation is another sore spot with Walters. He believes that it should come from the students—that is, have more groups represented. These representatives, he said, should "stand for somebody."

Walters further advocates the setting up of a committee to investigate where the SGA money goes. If the budgets of the organizations and groups were looked into to determine just where the needs lie, a better distribution could be made and perhaps more groups could benefit.

He urged all students to vote and to think who they were voting for, particularly the freshmen who may be setting policies that will influence their remaining three years at Delaware.

Concept of President

"The president of the SGA is a spokesman for the students," said Walters. This, he considers, is a 24-hour a day job. He said in closing that he could not make any material promises if he were elected president, for no one knows what conditions will prevail on campus next year. "However, I promise to do my utmost to make you proud that I'm your representative, and to do all in my power to give you what you want."
