

Lions Club Hears Hospital Official Explain Proposal

Elmer Kleppinger Invites Local Civic Group Effort In Medical Center Project

Elmer Kleppinger, director of the proposed Southern New Castle County Medical Center, told the Newark Lions last week that "health underwrites our wealth." Asking himself how the health level of the community can be raised, he replied: "By serving, by teaching, and by setting a commendable example. No. 1 on the list is to find out what makes a good hospital and what has gone with it to make it a first class public service institution, then teach our people what it is and make them want it, accept it, live up to it, and pay for it."

In inviting the club to join those who are "working and giving" toward the medical center, Mr. Kleppinger gave a summary of where the funds may be expected to come from, based on his experience in hospital campaigns elsewhere. His last experience, he said, produced these results:

Corporate	$835,827	44%
Employees (labor)	635,594	34%
Residential	230,492	12%
Memorials	163,208	9%
Doctors	17,765	1%
Undesignated	11,183	1%
Total	$1,885,069	100%

"This shows you," he went on, "that 78 per cent of your contributions come from industry and labor, and 22 per cent from all other sources. It is readily seen what type of planning has to be done in order to get results when you are educating philanthropy and taking into consideration your live community forces."

Low Output Cows Should Be Culled Farmers Advised

Dairymen Advised To Cull Low Production Cows From Herd For Greater Profits

"Cull all low-producing cows before they eat into your profits," that is the recommendation of Delmar J. Young, dairy specialist for the Agricultural Extension Service, University of Delaware.

In order to balance the supply and demand, it will be necessary to produce less or consume more—or perhaps some of each—according to Young. Reductions in milk prices should encourage consumption of dairy products, but they also call for increased efficiency in dairy production. One way to accomplish this is to cull all low-producing cows.

Milk production per cow has risen in the past ten years from an average of 4600 pounds to 5400 pounds, while consumption per person of milk in all forms has declined from 732 to 689 pounds, according to figures supplied by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. As a result, milk production has been exceeding the amount consumed since late 1952.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture reports that the culling rate needs to be increased 10 percent over 1953 just to hold cow numbers at the January 1, 1954 level. To bring production into balance with demand, culling should be increased considerably more.

"Average and lower-than-average producers not only fail to pay for their own upkeep," Young points out, "but they swell the total volume of milk produced, thereby reducing the potential profits of better producers."

Fly Control Tips Offered Farmers By Entomologist

June Critical Period For Control Of Pests; Sanitation, A Factor

"Only continuous sanitation and proper use of chemicals can hold fly populations to small numbers this season," declares Dr. Louis A. Stearns, head of the department of entomology at the University of Delaware.

Dr. Stearns says right now is a critical time in fly control. The pests are becoming established for the season. And this is the usual time for manure-hauling and general clean-up around the farm. "Sanitation—the removal of materials in which flies breed and develop—holds the real key to the control of these disease transmitting, and annoying insects," he adds.

The entomologist's advice to farmers who are willing to work at fly control includes these points: Haul manure, trash and rotting plant refuse to the fields and spread it out to dry. Clean up around livestock feed banks. Scrape feed lots to the concrete in paved lots and to the fresh earth if unpaved.

Many farmers do a good job of removing the obvious breeding places, but they miss other important "hot-spots." Some of these are the corners of barn gutters, spilled feeds and other accumulations of organic matter that may begin to decay.

This, together with insecticides—properly applied—will pave the way toward a neater, better-appearing farmstead and relief from the annoyance and health-hazard of flies.

Mr. Williams, who plans to settle here with his family, will join his mother's firm.

During his Army service, Williams served at Fort Dix, N.J.; Fort Jackson, S.C.; and Camp Rucker, Ala. He will settle here with his wife and their two-year-old son, Grant.

Pros, Cons Cited In Turkey Raising By County Agent

Edw. Schabinger Advises On Confinement, Ranging In Production Of Turkeys

Shall I raise my turkeys on range or in confinement this year? This controversial question is asked by many Delaware growers today.

According to County Agent Edward Schabinger, the advantages of confinement rearing are: (1) less labor to care for birds; (2) no losses from foxes or dogs; (3) better disease control and lower mortality, especially from blackhead; (4) less land required for raising turkeys; (5) birds can be watched closely and don't have to be chased; and (6) some growers report quicker growth and better quality meat.

Advantages of range rearing are: (1) less investment required for buildings; (2) less trouble with swollen hocks, breast blisters and feather eating; and (3) lower feed cost due to birds eating grass and harvest grain.

Deciding which is best depends upon personal preference and the grower's set-up. Range rearing may give better results if conditions are ideal, but confinement rearing enables many poultrymen to grow turkeys successfully that otherwise couldn't stay in business.

For successful range rearing, a Turkey grower should have plenty of well-trained land with a good sod, no chickens on the farm, and no close neighbors with chickens or turkeys.

Allow one acre per 200 birds and rotate ranges if possible. Move roosts or shelter, feeders and waterers to clean ground every week.

IT PAYS
A Virginia bank, to accommodate its customers who needed change for parking meters, put a bowl containing $5 in small coins in the lobby and invited them to make their own change. Far from being "short" at the end of a year, the hotel was 69 cents over!

With less than 7 per cent of the world's population, our country produces more than 42 per cent of the world's electricity—four times as much as Russia, ranking second.

Kids who throw snowballs may only draw a reprimand in some towns. But in Watertown, N. Y., they may end up in jail. There it's prohibited.

The old gag—"Get a horse"—has a special meaning for Milwaukee Wis. natives. In that city there's an ordinance prohibiting parking over two hours, unless—get this—a horse is tied to the car.

In Dallas, Texas, if your faucet leaks, you don't just call the plumber; you'd better yell for your lawyer, too. Because in that city a leaky water faucet is illegal.

Maybe this bit of outdoor fun wouldn't get you in trouble at Times Square, but it would in Denver. In that Colorado city you mustn't shoot jack rabbits from the rear window of a streetcar. It's unlawful.

Aetna Ambulance

Use of the vehicle has roughly doubled in recent months. In all 1953 it made an average of exactly one call per day in most of the months of 1954 it has averaged about two calls a day. There were 50 runs in May.

By coincidence, the old vehicle was called out five times on runs in the 20 hours before the meeting that settled its fate.

It was also announced that tentative dates for the fire company's Fun Fair are Aug. 6-14. The event on the parking lot between the fire hall and city hall will feature refreshments, cake and fancy tables and small rides for children.

Joint sponsor of the Fun Fair will be a committee of the firemen and the entire auxiliary, of which Miss Marie Gregg is president.

Firemen recalled that in past years when games of chance were allowed, their carnivals used to net $10,000 to $15,000, but they expect much less from the Fun Fair.

Last Performances Of "Gigi" Offered Through Saturday

Final three performances of "Gigi" will be presented tonight, Friday and Saturday evenings by the New Amstel Players in the New Castle Opera House.

The light-hearted comedy of France in the late 1800's has drawn fine support from play-goers in the area to date. Ava Norrington, Hungarian-born film actress, plays the title role.

Producer Larry Perron said that the Players' second production, opening Monday, July 5, and running through Saturday, July 10, would be the comedy "Dear Barbarians."

Reservations may be made by calling New Castle 7912.

Civil Service Examination Open For Patent Advisers

A civil service examination has been announced for patent adviser (radio and electronics) for positions paying from $4,205 to $7,440 a year in the Signal Corps Center at Fort Monmouth, N.J.

To qualify for these positions, applicants must have had appropriate training or experience. No written test is required.

Further information and application forms may be obtained from Woodrow W. Singles at the Newark post office.

Poultrymen Given Tips for Summer Egg Crop Profits

Ralph P. Barwick Offers Advice for Maintaining Laying Flock Production

High production in the laying flock is especially important in late summer and early fall, when egg prices are highest. Getting summer eggs is largely a matter of keeping laying hens comfortable in hot weather, according to Ralph P. Barwick, assistant county agricultural agent. Some ways to do this are as follows:

First: Keep the birds cool. Insulate the roof. Cover with aluminum sheets, roll aluminum or aluminum paint. Whitewash can be used as a temporary measure on a built-up roof. Open all windows and doors for ventilation. Open ventilation outlets or remove panels in the rear of the house. If no means for cross-ventilation are provided, cut openings in the rear of the house. Double doors at the ends of the house and removable panels in the partition walls allow good air circulation.

Second: Provide plenty of cool, fresh, clean water. Use additional waterers on the floor in hot weather. Allow more floor space and roost space per bird.

Lewes Museum to be Open For July Fifth Visitors

The Zwaanendael Museum at Lewes which is normally closed on Monday will be open to the public on Monday, July 5, for the benefit of Fourth of July visitors here for the week end.

Regular visiting hours from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. will be observed.

Third: Keep the birds eating. Reduce amount of grain, especially corn which produces heat and fat. Have some low feeders. Use supplementary feeds — pellets, wet mash, milk by-products, or feeding oil. Keep mash intake high.

Fourth: Stimulate production by using artificial lights on old hens starting August 1.

Fifth: Provide shade on range for pullets.

Memorial For Newark War Dead

A meeting will be held in the American Legion Post room, at the Old Academy Building on Friday night to make definite plans for a permanent memorial for Newark's war dead. All organizations, institutions and business houses of Newark are urged to send representatives to serve on a permanent memorial committee.

Various suggestions for a permanent memorial have been made and most of them include the Old Academy Building as the location, inasmuch as it is considered the most historic spot and structure within the town limits.

Early Start On Street Program

Council decided to begin at once on the street building program and complete as much of it as possible during the year. M. H. Sigmond was appointed town engineer to prepare plans and specifications for the work to be done, and to inspect and supervise such work.

Council estimated that it will have $40,000 to spend on street improvements which will include curbs, gutters, and resurfacing for all unimproved streets.

It was decided to start with South Chapel street and proceed on the curbing and gutting of other streets as long as the weather remains favorable. Kells avenue will be finished, it is expected, before cold weather sets in.

Iron Hill Still

A 300-gallon still, one of the largest ever found in the state, and three prisoners were arrested yesterday afternoon by Federal prohibition agents in a raid on a farm near Iron Hill. In addition to the still which was discovered in a farm building, the agents conducted 125 gallons of liquor and several hundred gallons of mash.

The officers surrounded the building and surprised the three men who were engaged in the illegal distilling operation.

Fireman's Carnival

Elmer Ellison, general chairman for the annual carnival of the Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Company, has announced a list of committee members who will have charge of the various features at the carnival to open July 19.

The Continental Band has been engaged to provide music every night through July 27 and a ferris wheel will be added to the amusements.

Two prizes in a Hummobile sedan and a Ford sport coupe will be awarded on the closing night.

New Engineering Building

J. G. Ferguson and Company, of Hagerstown, Md., has been awarded the general contract for construction of the second floor of the new engineering building on the University of Delaware campus. The bid was well under the $110,000 appropriated for the addition by the last General Assembly. The first floor has been constructed under an appropriation voted by the 1925 Legislature.

The work of excavating for the $350,000 building to be known as Mitchell Hall is progressing — a gift from H. Rodney Sharp.

Short Course Closes

The 11th annual 4-H Club Short Course sponsored by the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service, was held from June 25 to June 29 under the direction of Alex D. Cobb, with 119 4-H boys and girls from the state enrolled.

These club members were awarded the trip as leaders in their counties, with all expenses paid through funds donated by individuals and organizations interested in educating farm boys and girls in modern agricultural methods.

Red Men's Carnival

After suffering from inclement weather, the Red Men's Carnival closed Saturday night with a crowd that jammed the grounds to capacity. John Boien, of Wilmington, won the grand prize of an Essex sedan, and Mrs. Louise Morcor, of Chapel Street, Newark, was awarded the diamond ring grand prize.

Plea For City Sewers

The Council of Newark urgently requests that all residents refrain from allowing rags to be deposited in the sewer. Rags clog the pumps at the disposal plant and cause burning out the costly engines which run the pumps. It is to the advantage of Newark taxpayers to see that this expensive practice is stopped.

Returns From Camp

Second Lieutenant Martin L. Doordan, U.S. Infantry Reserve, will return to his home in Newark this week end after concluding two weeks of active duty at Camp Dix, N.J. He was assigned to the 16th Infantry, Second Battalion and was stationed at battalion headquarters.

Lieutenant Doordan took an active part in maneuvers with the 1st Division. He is a graduate of the University of Delaware Class of 1929.

Sports

The Newark Country Club golf team played two matches over the week end, winning from the duPont Country Club, away, 48 to 46, and losing to the Dover Country Club linkmen at Newark, 25 to 15.

Due to wet weather, the President's Cup final matches have been delayed. Amos Collins will compete against P. F. Pie, Jr. for the coveted cup and J. P. Armstrong and C. O. Houghton will fight it out for the second division prize.

The Newark golf team consists of C. H. Hopkins, E. B. Wright, P. F. Pie, J. P. Armstrong, C. O. Houghton, H. Sander, A. D. Level, F. L. Crow, A. S. Eastman, J. P. Carr, F. W. Ginter, H. G. Lawson, G. W. Rhodes, and E. H. Vogt.

Social

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. David, who were married June 27, were given a miscellaneous shower at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. David, of near New Castle. Mrs. David is the former Miss Helen May Ferguson, of Newark.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond L. Kramer, of Philadelphia, spent Sunday with Robert Potts and family of East Main Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Wayne Stradley, Herman, Jr., and little Miss Wilberta Stradley spent the week end in Olney, Pa., with Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Worthington. W. Emerson Wilson, editor of the Delaware College Review, is at Cambridge, Md., where he is employed at the Oakley Beach Hotel. He will sail on July 19 for France with the University of Delaware Foreign Study group.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. J. Lovett spent the week end in Westville, N.J., as guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. Saussman. Miss Louise Hutchison, who has spent the last three weeks as the guest of her uncle, Thomas MacDowell, of Carlisle, Pa., will return this week.

Increased Job Opportunities Awaiting Graduates In State

Delaware's graduates of 1954 and coming years will find constantly expanding activity in established fields as well as in business and industries not yet born, according to studies of the National Association of Manufacturers, which are based upon projections of the U. S. Census Bureau.

While the growth of population in the United States is continuing at an unprecedented rate, the labor force is also expanding. By 1975, it is expected that the American public will need to raise enough investment funds to provide approximately 22,000,000 new jobs.

In the State of Delaware, if the national average is met, there will be a total of 61,000 new members of the labor force in the period from 1950 to 1975. This will call for an average expenditure of $12,000 for each job, or a total of nearly three quarters of a billion dollars.

If present employment trends continue, according to the NAM and Census Bureau studies, the 1950-1975 increase in jobs as technicians will total 6,000. There will be 5,000 new openings for managers; 8,000 for operators of various types; 9,500 for clerical fields; 3,500 for salesmen; 9,000 for craftsmen; 11,500 for workmen and 8,500 openings in other employment classifications.

Four High School Students in Penn Panel Discussion

Three Juniors, Sophomore To Participate in Friday Program At Philadelphia

Three 1954 graduates and one junior from Newark High School will participate in a panel discussion entitled "Youth and a Parent Consider Family Finances" tomorrow in Philadelphia.

The panel will be held at 11 a. m. in Dietrich Hall of the University of Pennsylvania as part of a six-week program being sponsored at the university by the Institute of Life Insurance Companies.

The moderator will be Frederick B. Kutz, principal of Newark High. The parent on the panel will be Mrs. Victor Thayer of Newark. Young people are Jane Walton, Johanna Miller, and James Marvel, all of this year's class, and Thomas Kershaw of the class of 1956.

Miss Walton will introduce the panel and its problem. Miss Miller will outline needs in everyday financial problems met by the school and James Marvel will discuss such needs unexplored by schools. Kershaw's topic will be devices and techniques that may promote interest in family finances.

Mrs. Thayer will close the discussion by explaining how the home profits from the school's contribution to family finances.

County's Wheat Farmers To Get Marketing Cards

New Castle county wheat farmers are reminded that before selling any wheat they will need a marketing card to identify the grain as penalty-free wheat. If the wheat producer does not present the marketing card to the buyer at the time of the sale the buyer is instructed to collect $1.12 per bushel penalty.

New Castle county wheat farmers who wish to sell wheat can come by their ASC office and pick up a wheat marketing card or a wheat marketing certificate, office manager Arzie P. Lewis advises. If the operator is unable to visit the County Office he may request in writing that his card be mailed to him.

If no wheat is to be sold, exchanged, or paid as toll, no card need be obtained.

Boggs Proclaims July 5 Anniversary Observance

Governor J. Caleb Boggs has issued a proclamation calling for the observance of Independence Day on Monday, July 5, because of the anniversary date falling on Sunday this year.

He also urged that citizens "pause one week and activities to give prayerful thought to those whose wisdom, influence and faith provided us with the American way of life which we so dearly cherish. That I continue to be a model for the work in New York, on one of those tours."

"And how did she like it?" George inquired.

"She got a thrill out of Radio City and the United Nations. But she said she was disappointed in Greenwich Village—after all she'd heard us tell about it. Said it looked like just a lot of run-down old houses to her."

"It's a long time since you and I lived there, Molly. I'm sure it isn't what it used to be, in the old days."

"And it probably never was what it used to be," Molly smiled. "I'll bet every new generation of wide-eyed youngsters have said that, since the Village first began."

"Elucidate, lambkin!"

"Well, Greenwich Village is a state of mind. The young folks who live there, as we did, with their dreams of being great painters or poets or writers or musicians, see it one way. Older people, who have found their place in life and made their adjustments to their life—imagination—they see it differently."

George chuckled. "Remember when Dad visited us there? He thought the Village was on the wrong side of the tracks for sure. Yes, as Bohemia, for the kids and the tourists, I guess the Village is and always will be, a state of mind."

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS

From The Bible

Charity suffereth long, and is kind; charity envieth not; charity vaunteth not itself, is not puffed up.—(I Corinthians 13, 4)

The real meaning of charity is a deep and true love of one's fellow man; this includes an abiding understanding and sympathy for their faults and failings as we realize our own—and it means humility, and gratitude to God for the power and privilege of helping someone in spiritual, mental or physical need.

State's Employers Save $7 Millions Unemployment Tax

Contribution Rate Reduced From 2.70 to .52 Per Cent On Basis of Past Benefits

Delaware employers will save a record-breaking $7,218,000 on unemployment compensation taxes this year, according to an analysis released by Albert Stetser, chairman-executive director of the Unemployment Compensation Commission.

The average contribution rate for all Delaware employers for 1954 will be .52 per cent, an all-time low, as against the standard rate of 2.70 per cent. Rates are based upon the experience of the three previous years.

"This very favorable rate for Delaware employers is based upon the very low amount of benefit claims paid in 1951, 1952 and most of 1953, because of the generally good employment conditions that prevailed during that period," Mr. Stetser said.

It is anticipated that total contributions paid into the fund by employers next year because of the higher amount of benefits being paid in 1954. Benefit payments for January through June of this year will total $1,639,291, as compared to $32,765 in payments for the first six months of 1953.

National Little League Field Shaping Up On Barksdale Rd.

Miniature Major League Baseball Diamond, Completely Equipped With Dugouts, Stands, Scoreboard, Prepared Under Sponsorship Of United Auto Workers Local 1183

By FRANK N. MEGARGEE
A new baseball diamond, which when finished will be a perfect miniature of a big league park, complete with dugouts, stands, scoreboard and flagpole, is taking shape in what was once a small wilderness on Barksdale Road just west of the Veterans of Foreign Wars post.

The field will be the home grounds of the National League in Newark's Little League. The project is the work chiefly of four men, all members of Newark Local 1183, United Auto Workers, which sponsors the National League.

The four are: John Colbert and his son, Victor, of Nottingham Road; Stephen Stephano, Brookside; and Sidney Guent, 236 Kells Avenue. All are employed by the Chrysler Corporation here.

The four have been working overtime in the evenings and on week ends. They get double time pay, too — not in cash — but in the rich satisfaction of watching the proud Little Leaguers when they take the field.

Much hard work has gone into the project. The men began by clearing trees, then they borrowed a scraper from Chrysler and leveled the land. Next they laid out the diamond, installed a pitcher's box and a backstop. Stands for 50 persons and a refreshment booth also were erected.

Dawson Donates Land
The use of the land was donated by Harry W. Dawson, real estate agent, who also has given the Little Leaguers option to buy at any time.

About $500 is needed to complete the field. The men plan to install a flagpole, dugouts and a fence. To get the money, the union has started a campaign. Tickets for a drawing may be purchased at several Main Street stores, including Ralph Colbert's luncheonette.

Prizes will be awarded July 15 at the new field.

8-Games Scheduled
Some eight games already have been played on the diamond, but the official opening is being reserved for next season. Meantime, the field will be seeded, probably this fall.

The National League comprises teams sponsored by the VFW, Jackson Hardware Store, the Optimist Club and the Chrysler Corporation. The Newark Little League also includes the American League, which is sponsored by the Kiwanis Club.

The American leaguers use a diamond of their own across the road from the new field.

These are crucial days, incidentally, for all Little Leaguers. Team managers are eyeing the players critically in a search for national all-star talent. Each of Newark's leagues will send a 14-boy team to the national all-star playoffs.

The selections must be made by July 15. By that date, team managers must file the names of their all-star players with national Little League officials.

"The only woman who'll gladly listen to both sides of an argument is the one who lives next door," Margaret Puchir.

Dusting 'Em Off

E. A. RAUGHLEY

Next week, the major league races reach the half way mark and from here on in every game is going to have a lot riding on it. That is, those in contention will have the pressure on them. And some of the boys will find that pressure really builds itself up.

Remember years ago when the Pirates came into New York with a five game lead? The boys were photographed by the press for us in the coming World Series and some prophecies were made on the outcome. But they blew that series and wound up in second place, with the Giants in the series.

Many years ago the Giants needed only three games to clinch the pennant and were scheduled to play the Phillies who were mired in the second division. McGraw announced the pitching rotation he would use in the Series, but the Phils won all the games with a big Pole by the name of Coveleskie winning two of them. So never take it for granted. For the record the Giants are now laid 7 to 5, with the boys from Brooklyn quoted at 8 to 5.

Giants Still Up There
The National race keeps on as it has for the past few weeks. The Giants are in the lead with the Cubs closely following them. But the boys from Coogan's Bluff seem to be using their favorite weapon, the home run, to tie up or win in the closing innings. And the boys from the state capital, with Hodges parking them with runners on the sacks.

The Phils and the Braves are in a dog fight for third place with the Phils in temporary possession. The Phils in temporary possession. The Phils in temporary possession. The Phils in temporary possession.

The rest of the teams are just playing out the schedule but some afternoons will be very pesky and may prove a stumbling block for the leaders. This week end the Phils play host to Brooklyn in a dilly of a series.

Three-Way Fight

Over in the American just about the same situation holds forth, except they have 3 teams in contention — Cleveland, Chicago and New York. The Yanks took two out of three from Cleveland last week and Chicago failed to pick up any ground as they got their ears pinned back by the Red Sox. This week end should see some fireworks as the Sox invade Cleveland for three games with Washington playing in New York. Nothing would please Bucky Harris more than to knock off the Yanks and he has been doing it with regularity this year.

I saw an article this past week that said "If the Yanks lose this year, blame it on Washington and Boston." But the rest of the league is trying to finish in fourth place. Right now Detroit is the occupant, but all of the second division teams are improving and one of them may push the Tigers out of fourth slot as good a race as the pennant chase by the top three.

Phils End Home Stand

The Phils finished up a home stand against the West with a winning total of seven to six losses. To get on the winning side they had to sweep the double header from the Braves which they did in real dramatic style. Held scoreless for eight innings, although they had opportunities aplenty, they took advantage of a walk and a hit to put men on first and third. With the men all set, Hamner blasted one to the corner in left and the runner on first came home with the win.

Yanks, Tigers, Pirates Wage First Place Battle As Avons Lose Loop Lead

The Avon Yanks, in splitting a pair of games last week, lost their first place advantage as the Tigers and Pirates moved up into a three way tie for top position with a twin win and one loss for the Chrysler club and an unmarred, double win for the Fire House boys. The hard hitting Giants contributed three victories to the front-runners.

The Tigers stopped the Giants in a free hitting contest on Monday, 12-7, and on Tuesday the tired Giants fell before the first out Pirates, 15-1.

On Wednesday, the Yanks lost their first place lead when the Tiger crew swarmed over the Avons, 8-3, but as in the case of the two games in two days Giants, the Tigers dropped a 7-5 contest on the following evening to collect.

The Yanks moved back into a first place tie on Friday when the Giants dropped their third tie, 12-3. Four home runs featured the week's play, as Coursey collected two for the Tigers, and Lasardi, of the Yanks and Getz, Pirates, each belted a round trip pass.

Coursey's .923 batting average dropped off to a mere .772 during the week!

Bob Conway Hurls One Hit Victory For Junior Legion

15-Yr. Old Local Pitcher Stops Delaware Post Nine As Locals Win 7-0 Contest

Pitcher Bob Conway, a 15-year-old Newark High School student, hurled the local Junior Legion nine to a 7-0 victory over Delaware Post No. 1 last Friday in a county Junior Legion League contest.

Conway, who has been playing legion ball for three years and still has another three to go before reaching the age limit, allowed only one hit in blanking his opponents. At Newark High, Conway made the varsity nine last term as a freshman, playing center field.

Against the Delaware Post, pitcher Conway got some hearty support from his junior legion mates. Left fielder Lou Scarborough, poled a home run in the fourth inning with two on and Lee Schaffer cloaked one for the circuit in the seventh with one passenger aboard.

The remaining runs were provided by some well-placed bunts in the sixth inning.

Team manager Danny Hamilton was high in his praise of the boys' showing. The team collected 10 hits in 27 times at bat, tabbed 21 strikeouts and registered only one error.

Mark Hurm caught for Conway throughout the contest.

Browns Defeated By Phils, Cubs To Tighten Race

Previously Undefeated Leaders Lose 3-2 Tilt To Phils, 10-1 Cubs

As the Little Leaguers enter this final week of the nine-game season's first half season, a three-way race has developed after the undefeated Browns dropped a close 3-2 decision to the second place Phils, and absorbed a 10-1 lacing from the surging Jackson Cubs.

The Browns started off last week by taking a 22-7 win over the struggling Dodgers, with 14 hits off Johnson and Bethard.

And the next evening the Dodgers were well on their way to their first victory with a three run lead over the Cubs. But in the fourth, First Baseman Stout walloped a home run with a teammate ahead of him and the Cubs rallied to win 11-8.

The Phils and Browns tangled in a close one that went to the Phils when Centerfielder Wilson powered one over the centerfield fence with Simmel on second. The home run punch handed the Browns their first loss, 3-2.

Heartened by the fall of the previously invincible Browns, the Cubs walloped the leaders next evening, 10-1.

Last Friday, the Phils added some necessary insurance to their second place stand with a 21-11 base-running contest and victory over the lowly Dodgers. Lenhoff, of the home run in a 4-for-4 hitting performance.

Specialist Stifles "Get-Rich-Quick" Dairy Farm Notion

"Brains and Brawn" Needs For Successful Dairying, Delmare J. Young Counsels

Not a "get-rich-quick" venture, dairy farming requires patience, skill, capital, and business ability according to Delmar J. Young, extension dairy specialist for the University of Delaware. Young says he has frequent inquiries from persons wanting to enter dairy farming.

"To be a success you must like cows and enjoy working in and around a dairy," he states. "Better be sure you have a market for your product. There is quite a surplus of milk now, and many plants are not able to take on additional production."

He says further that "dairying has become highly specialized, and needs a business-like approach. A dairy farmer must like quiet, patient, regular living, and possess a strong combination of brains and brawn. Dairying is a seven-days-a-week, 365-days-a-year proposition."

Financing a dairy enterprise often is a real problem, with total investment averaging from around $1,000 per cow to several times that figure. Nearly as much equipment is needed for a small dairy operation as for a larger one.

With initial overhead high, cost studies not surprisingly have inclined toward the larger herds as the more efficient setup and the more profitable operation. Land and equipment needed to produce a pasture, hay, silage, and possibly other feeds, and herd replacements are added important considerations.

Feed costs represents about 50 percent of the total operating expense, and labor is next.

And what can be expected in production per cow?

The better and more profitable herds average 8,000 to 10,000 pounds of milk. The statewide average for Delaware is 5,350 pounds, with the Dairy Herd Improvement Association average at 9,000 pounds.

HISTORICAL REVIEWS OF THE NEWARK AREA

By ETHEL M. HILL

In Newark's early days, long before anyone thought of its becoming a city, the village consisted of a group of houses where Chapel Street crosses Main. Probably the oldest of these is the Herdman house.

The children on the north side of the street, walking to school which was held in the room now a part of Dr. Musselman's house, passed well-planned, old gardens where vegetables and flowers intermingled and which were enclosed in white-washed paling fences.

The path was not paved and the gutters were made of big flat stones placed to carry away the rain water.

The children who lived on the south side of the street went to school down a boardwalk, between tall old maple trees to the building in which Walter Powell's ice cream is now made.

Before Mr. Powell bought it—they started Misses Garlick lived here—the young people gathered there in the evenings—well chaperoned—and organized reading classes. This was in the days when Dr. Whistler was a student and when Prof. C. O. Smith helped to organize our reading, which meant much to high school pupils.

In those days the square brick building on Main Street next to the Newark Trust was the high school, built in 1884.

Few Roads

Before this time roads into and out of Newark were few. Chapel Street south extended to a road which ran by Welsh Tract church and on by Welsh Tract church to Elkton, or Head of Elk, as it was known then.

Main Street made a bend at St. Patrick's or Deer Park Hotel, south, then west, forming the old King's Highway just south of the office of the Newark Post. Then up the hill past the gardens of the houses later built on West Main Street, West Main street and New London road were built up later.

Academy street extended south to Albert Lewis'—now George Neighbors' house, then took a diagonal turn onto what is now South College avenue, then to the Welsh Tract road.

Choate street did not yet exist and North College avenue was Creek road, a very popular walk with students of the college.

In the shade of today's old beech trees they built rustic benches and enjoyed sandwiches and cooked what the favorite young ladies had prepared for the afternoon walk.

In the early days, Cleveland Avenue did not exist.

As I write, a boy comes to the door with a leaflet—Newark Recreation Summer Calendar—offering swimming, softball, tennis, a youth center, arts and crafts, dramatics, and block dances. Swimming—Rittenhouse Park—it all sounds so very interesting—so different. So very much is done for the pleasure of the young. But how much are we remembering the need to teach them of their duty to society? To teach them that life and its pleasure means doing something worthwhile every day.

Much credit is due George Brown, president of the Millcreek Hundred Sunday School Association, for his leadership in planning and carrying out the many details—all the way from arranging for an amplifying system to handing out soft drinks for the small fry.

Big Auto Safety Drive Opens Here

Public concern over the rising national auto accident death and injury toll has resulted in an "Operation Safety" Campaign. New Castle County Official Safety Station appointments have already been made here, with more to follow.

All Safety Stations will also be authorized to stock and install official ASA Safety Belts. Crash Experts point out that safety belts don't prevent accidents — but they do prevent injuries and deaths. Crash injury research done by Cornell University Medical College working with the Indiana State Police has proven that 3 out of 4 deaths-by-collision can definitely be prevented by the use of safety belts. In other words, well over one-half million American lives could have been saved if safety belts had been placed in general use which might cause an accident are included in the free check.

So Far This Year!

At the beginning of the automotive age a Safety belt holds the car occupant safely in place so he stops when the car stops. Without belts, driver and passengers are as defenseless as egg in a crate, when the car crashes, they lurch violently forward against dash, steering wheel, or windshield—or they are thrown through an open or weakened door to the pavement.

Drivers are urged to participate in "Operation Safety" by having their cars checked immediately at the nearest Safety Station, and, if possible, have safety belts installed.

Ladies' Auxiliary
Christiana Fire Company
Small town? Undeniably, that describes Christiana in size, yet in ideas it is as progressive as many larger towns which now provide organized recreation for teenagers.

Last Friday evening the Ladies' Auxiliary sponsored the first dance of a summer series for teenagers in the fire hall with music on records, Cokes and candy were served in the hall and Mrs. A. B. Currier and Mrs. Ada Cleaves were chaperones, and 25 enthusiastic youngsters turned out. Another dance is scheduled for this Friday, July 2—same time (7-10:30), same place.

The Ladies' Auxiliary held its last meeting until fall on Tuesday, June 22 with a covered dish lunch with men of the fire company as guests. The ladies of the auxiliary turned over to the fire company a $600 donation toward the purchase of new equipment.

Delegates to the Auxiliary convention to be held in Milton in September will be Mrs. P. Currier, president, and Mrs. Amanda Morris, Alternates are Mrs. Ada Cleaves and Mrs. Elizabeth Tackach.

The annual trip of the Auxiliary is being planned for August five when the members will go to Atlantic City by chartered bus.

Christiana Methodist Church
An even 100 children are enrolled in the very successful summer Bible School conducted by the Methodist Church for the Christiana-Salem district. Classes are held in the Christiana School from 9:30 until 12 each weekday, June 21-July 2.

Teachers include Mrs. Maud Thorp and Mrs. Marie Johnson, beginners; Mrs. Sallie Golden, primary; Rev. A. B. Golden and Mrs. DeGroff, juniors.

A platter supper is planned by the Christiana Social for September 1. The social will meet with George McCarrs at Sunset Lake on July 21 at 7 p.m.

Christiana Presbyterian Church
The final financial report of the church supper held in the fire hall on June 19 shows a net total of $326.00.

On Sunday, June 27, Mrs. Rose Beheler of Wilmington substituted for Miss Linda Woodward, regular organist, who had been attending a special music camp in Dover for the past week.

Edward Comly, Sunday school superintendent, has announced that the annual Sunday school picnic will be held on Saturday, July 10, at Port Herman Beach. Festivities are scheduled to start at 1:30 p.m. After a picnic lunch, games and swimming are on the program.

The Young People's Society enjoyed a hot dog roast on Tuesday, June 22, at the home of Miss Rachel Morrison in Marshallton. About 30 young people turned out for the fun, displaying the enthusiasm which has characterized this group since its organization last spring. Using proceeds of a bake sale held in April, the society recently donated a vacuum cleaner to the church.

Injuries To Trees Invite Bug Attack Authority Cautions

If insects are damaging your ornamental trees and shrubs, don't always blame it on the bugs. You yourself may have put out the "welcome mat" for the insects by injuring the trees with a lawn mower or other machinery.

Many ornamental trees and shrubs are injured through the careless use of machinery, says Robert F. Stevens, horticulturist for the Agricultural Extension Service, University of Delaware. Stevens claims this may cause infestations of borers and other insects or diseases which can kill the plant.

The flowering dogwood is especially susceptible to trunk injury. Borers often enter dogwood after injury and cause the death of the plant. Perhaps the best way to prevent damage to the trunk of flowering dogwood and other small trees and shrubs is to remove the grass for about 2 ft. around the trunk to prevent damage in this area.

Large numbers of shrubs and small trees eventually die due to weakening through mechanical damage to the lower part of the trunk. The damage caused by children in scarring up the trunks and lower branches of trees and shrubs weakens the plants and often provides suitable conditions for the festations for insects and diseases.

Prevention of injury is easier and more practical than control of the insects and diseases. Many borers do not infest plants until they are in a weakened condition. Dogwoods and birch are particularly susceptible to borers after the plants are in a weakened condition.

Counselors for the young people are Miss Rachel Morrison, Miss Annie and Ralph Cleaver. Carolyn Tweed is president.

The society's next meeting will be held August 2 at the home of Tasker Clark, Hare's Corner road.

Trees No Shelter In Summer Storm Authority Warns

during a summer storm—not even if it's an umbrella tree.

No tree is immune to lightning. And some trees form perfect targets for bolts from the sky. Contrary to popular belief, variety seems to have little or nothing to do with susceptibility to lightning stroke. The taller the tree, the greater the chance that it may get tagged by lightning during an electrical storm.

The best storm insurance for trees is the lightning rod, according to Martin L. Davey, Jr., head of the nation's largest tree service firm.

Each year lightning takes a heavy toll among trees. A properly installed and grounded lightning conductor can turn those deadly bolts from the blue into harmless lights that pass in the night.

How about the installation? Don't you fit climb a tree, the expert warns. Installation of lightning rods calls for plenty of experience. It's inadvisable for anyone but an expert to put one up.

If your trees are clustered the tallest ones should be rodged. Trees among them will be shielded to some degree because of the "cone of protection" provided by a rodged tree. The taller the tree, the wider its cone of protection.

Another 120% rise in industrial capacity by 1975 may take its place in our gallery of economic horizons," said Earl Hunting, NAM.

"Repeal is the honest way of getting rid of unwanted laws, not deceptive and underhanded nullification by indirection." — Camden (N.J.) Courier-Post.

Resort Area Jobs Present Problems For S. S. Records

Employers in resort areas have a few special problems in keeping their social security records straight—and the Delaware Coast Section is no exception.

Many resort employers frequently use the services of their own school-age youngsters during the summer and wonder whether they have to pay social security taxes for them, even though it is all in the family. Actually, family employment is exempted from social security coverage in most instances, according to the manager of the Delaware social security office in Wilmington.

For instance, if a business is individually owned—that is, not incorporated and not a partnership—services performed by the employer's child under 21 are excluded. Sons and daughters past voting age, however, are a different matter. They should be reported the same as any other employees.

This family exception extends to other relationships. A parent working for a child, for example, or a spouse employed by the husband or wife who owns the business is also exempted from the quarterly social security tax returns.

The problem of getting a record of everyone who has to be reported at the end of the tax period is important in a resort area where young people who have never had numbers before, and transient employees, form a large part of the labor force. Account numbers are issued from the Wilmington office at 813 West Street, and can be secured by mail.

9-12) Courier-News

Michael Beldyk opened the local bass-fishing season and George Polanco's eyes last Friday morning with a 4-lb. 18-oz. specimen of large mouthed black bass from Linn's Pond.

The daily bronzeback succumbed to Beldyk's bait-casting plugging and the taking of such a fish, anywhere, is something of a feat from Linn's, it borders on the impossible.

But Beldyk managed it. The fish heads the list in George's Western Auto Store contest.

The Delaware surf was anything but productive last Saturday, although the beach flies more than made up for the lack of biting on the part of what are laughingly known as resident fish.

But a party of Newark public school faculty fishermen found the surf rough but encouraging in a recent sortie from the Old Inlet Road beachfront.

Seven Fishermen John Auletto, Henry Brader, Edward Bittenbender, Fred Kutz, Frank Mercer, Gilmore Ott and Wilmer Shue came up with an impressive array of tautog, sea trout, shark, scates—and a channel bass.

"I was fishing in the surf from the Old Inlet Road," Mr. Kutz relates, "When that channel bass hit, it was early in the morning, the wind was blowing a gale, and Bittenbender, Ott, and I were half frozen, half disgusted, and 100 per cent tired of heaving those six ounce pyramid sinkers into the teeth of the wind which blew the rigs back into the wash at our feet."

"Somehow, Ott managed to catch a nice trout. I believe Bittenbender caught one, too, and then something picked up my hook and started off for—Portugal, I guess."

"At first I thought it was a big sturgeon or a shark, but the fish was a lot livelier—and just as strong."

Hook and tackle held fortunately, although Fred snapped the rod a short while later in some understandably renewed casting enthusiasm, and at last a shapely, red-gold and silver-clad fish gleamed through the wall of rising water that crashed in foaming thunder on the beach—along with the tired channel bass.

Renewed Courage When Messrs. Auletto, Brader, Mercer and Shue reappeared on the beach after a near-fishless, wind-blown and tidal-torrent experience in the Inlet's jetties, the sight of the great bronze, triangular tail of the channel bass, flapping over the side of the fish bucket stimulated a lot of interest and effort in beach fishing.

Lane McBurney identified the fish when the party returned to Newark.

Channel bass in the Delaware surf are an unfortunate rarity in the Fall when such fishing is at its best, and in June, a red drum is a long shot chance indeed.

How About It, Ducky? Ducky Stewart, the channel bass champion of Ocracoke, may be doing some fishing in the Delaware white water, now, instead of knocking himself out over the long haul to Carolina.

And close at home, young Wayne Connel hauled a brown trout from White Clay Creek that would shake Charles M. Wetzel. The fish weighed two ounces short of two pounds, Dad Bob Connel reports, and that's at least a three pounder for any veteran trout fisherman.

A terrific trout, and one that's a prize anywhere from White Clay to Pennsylvania's Paradise.

Leonard Ludwig and Charlie Stein went out from Lewes last Friday at dawn and anchored close to the ice breakers at the mouth of the Delaware. The two were happily engaged in hauling in hardheads from one to two and a half pounds as fast as they could reel the hard-plugging croakers to the surface, when anchor trouble developed.

Anchormen Caught fast on some submarine obstacle, the mud hook couldn't be raised and they would have been there yet had it not been for some work on the rope with a fish-knife. After they were cut dried, the pair of fishermen had to come ashore for repairs.

But they came in with 50 croakers—nice ones, too, Mrs. Ludwig confirms.

Local GOP Members Hear County Chairman's Talk

A dinner meeting of the Newark Republican Organization was held Monday evening at the Newark Country Club, with Norman Battersby, White Clay Creek Hundred chairman, and Miss Elizabeth McKeelvey, vice-chairman at host and hostess to county Republicans.

Wood Leach, county GOP chairman and principal speaker, emphasized the importance to party members of a Republican victory in the election and urged group and individual effort to achieve this goal.

Local members who spoke briefly were Samuel Diehl, Newark county chairman and GOP committeeman; Mrs. Pearl Williams, John Quarles, Wm. J. Warwick, Mrs. Allyson Hanna, and Wm. Singer of Christiansburg.

Tom and Peggy Tomlinson, with young sons Tommy and Danny, deeded the Cotton Patch beach flies Saturday afternoon and were still seeking fish from the desolate surf when we left just ahead of a gathering storm late in the evening.

Frank and Sue Megargree had reported some weeks ago that a hostile realtor had bulldozed the public and a great mound of earth to block the approach to the Cotton Patch beach. And they were right. If the man would make as much effort to keep the flies off the beach, he might have something there.

Cardinal Scout

Veteran Cardinal Scout Ollie C. Vanek will visit West Chester, Pa., when the Cards hold tryout sessions at State Teachers' College, July 6 and 7.

"We'll be ready to conduct workouts for any and all boys between 17 and 23 in the area who would like to make professional baseball a career," Vanek said.

Crespi, who came off the St. Louis sandlots to play with the Cardinals in the 1942 World Series, opined that Red Bird tryout camps present a golden opportunity for youngsters wishing to play professionally.

"Not only will the players have a chance to workout under professional supervision," Crespi said, "but we'll be furnishing plenty of equipment and good equipment. All a player need bring is his own glove."

12 Hen Gridders Make Dean's List In Past Semester

Bob Moneymaker, Frosh Halfback, Top Scholar With 3.58 Out of 4.00

Scholastic standings of Delaware students issued recently by the office of the dean of students revealed that 12 members of the football squad made the dean's list during the past semester.

Leading the group was Bobby Moneymaker, freshman halfback from Seaford, who posted an index of 3.58 out of a possible 4.00. Moneymaker, who holds a Baker scholarship for his scholastic achievements, is majoring in the School of Engineering.

Four other regulars on the varsity squad also ranked high. Quarterback Don Miller posted a 3.44 mark. Center Frank Getvian had a 3.40 average and Halfbacks Tony Candloro and Jimmy Zaiser had 3.25 and 3.21, respectively.

Other high ranking students are: Alvon Sparks, 3.21; Jerry Weis, 3.17; Steve Butcher, 3.15; Tommy Thomas, 3.05; Tom Redfield, 3.00. Capt. Dan Ford, 3.00, and Roger Brown, 3.00.

A pair of spikes and a uniform, if he owns one. We'll have plenty of good bats, balls and two complete sets of catching equipment, and we'd like to see it get plenty of use."

NEW CORPORAL Mitchell F. Crothers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. C. Crothers, of Ruth-By Road, near Newark, was recently promoted to corporal as an instructor with the 41st Signal Construction Battalion, U.S. Army, at Ft. Bliss, Texas. Corporal Crothers attended Newark public school and entered military service in May, 1953.

"Farm prices will always fall off in the face of surpluses as massive as those which the uneconomic farm policy of recent years has generated," Baltimore Sun.

Line Coach Mike Lude, who supervises an effective counseling program for varsity athletes at Delaware, reported that none of the team's key players had been lost because of scholastic deficiencies.
