

'Frolic But Don't Get Hurt' Motto Of Spring Frolic

Gala Affair For All Predicted
As Preparations Approach
Grand Finale

The stage is all set for the biggest and best Spring Frolic ever presented at Delaware. Price, orchestra, and surroundings all combine to make this dance the most outstanding of the year.

Tommy Christian has been engaged to replace Kay Kyser, who is being held over at Albany for another season. Tommy Christian enjoys a reputation even more enviable than Kay. For the past season Tommy has played at the "Palisade Park," New Jersey. He has just finished making a series of short talks in Hollywood. At the present time Tommy Christian and his Band are enjoying a most successful tour back from the coast. His appearance at the Newark Armory will mark his last appearance in the East before he takes a stand for the summer in Cincinnati. Tommy Christian can be heard three times a week over a nationwide N. B. C. hookup. Tommy has promised novel entertainment which only his inimitable orchestra can present.

Neal Welch has promised a surprise in the way of decorations. They will be in keeping with the season.

The most rigid economy is being exercised in running this dance. This is the first year that Student Council members will not be admitted free. Other complimentary are not being issued this year so that a saving of $150 is being effected.

So as to have a dance of the same high calibre as in former years, the allotment for the Inter-Scholastic Dance has been transferred to the budget of the Spring Frolic. The Inter-Scholastic Dance will not be held this year so as to have one high class affair instead of two minor affairs. Therefore an additional $210 is available to cover expenses. Hence the explanation for the engagement of Tommy Christian.

A large advance sale of tickets is reported by Pete Craig, chairman of the dance. The tickets are Torvald wasn't such a "big shot" to Nora as he thought. Maybe you aren't either. You'd better see "A Doll's House."

Ibsen's Ghost Stalks In Mitchell Hall

Tumultuous Preparations Progress At Doll's House Cast Rehearsals

The Play's the Thing! To judge from the posters and articles, the next E-52 Players production, to be given in Mitchell Hall, Thursday, May 4th, is the play of the year. In the minds of many, it must be, for one can hear people everywhere asking about "A Doll's House." The Play's the Thing, to judge from 'neath stage sounds in Mitchell Hall, what with the hammer banging and paint brushes slapping with hearty vigor. The Play's the Thing with the cast—given out last week—to judge from the way they go about mumbling lines in every spare moment. The Play's the Thing with Mr. Kase who is beginning to get an Ibsenian cast in his eye.

The Play's the Thing, the only thing probably, in the minds of one of the finest production staffs ever assembled. Various members of the E-52 Class in Play Production, as well as several students who have had considerable experience in this work before, are at the heads of committees. Miss Elizabeth Harris is the scenic designer, and her work, as all those who saw "The Cradle Song" know, is very noteworthy. She it was who combined utilitarianism and beauty in college stage sets, who knew all the tricks of the trade to make one set in "The Cradle Song" look like two by clever reassembling.

Delaware Freshmen Rank High In Tests

Dean Dutton has made the following interesting announcement: "The results of the Psychological Examination of the American Council on Education taken by 43,384 entering Freshmen in 205 American colleges and universities in September, 1932, have just been published in the Educational Record. These results show that the average for the lowest quartile was 123.43; the average of the median (50%) was 163.72; and the average of the highest quartile was 205.92. The averages for entering Freshmen at the University of Delaware were as follows: the lowest quartile, 131.62; the median, 165.48; the highest quartile, 205.63. The results indicate that the Freshman Class at the University of Delaware this year was slightly above the average in preparation of the 205 colleges which made reports. These 205 colleges and universities include state universities, privately endowed colleges, etc. In the average standing of the 15 state universities making reports, Delaware Freshmen ranked fourth."

Pyramid Construction College Hour Topic

Illustrated Lecture On Hydraulic Theory To Be Given By Edward Kunkel

What promises to be one of the most important and interesting College Hours of the year will be held Tuesday, May 2, when Mr. Edward Kunkel will deliver an illustrated lecture on "The Hydraulic Theory of the Construction of the Pyramids." This is an entirely new idea which Mr. Kunkel will present, and this will be his first lecture on this subject, which he has been working on for several years at Carnegie Tech.

If he is able to substantiate his theory, there will be a most revolutionary change in engineering. His theory attempts to disprove that of slaves dragging the huge blocks of stone up roads built up to each layer.

Mr. Joseph Macsweeney of Rehoboth, a graduate of the University of Delaware, is sponsoring him. Provided that Mr. Kunkel can secure the desired financial support, he will get together a group of students to visit the pyramids. Delaware University students will be given preference over all others if the expedition materializes. Mr. Kunkel is willing and anxious to meet all Delaware engineers interested and will talk with the men informally after his lecture.

R. O. T. C. Inspection Thursday, May 11

Presentation Of Reserve Officers' Commissions To Be On May 25

On the afternoon of Thursday, May 11, the R. O. T. C. Unit will be inspected by the United States Army officers. Classes on that afternoon will be suspended in order that this inspection may take place.

On Thursday, May 25, the Military Drill will be held at 4.15 p. m. instead of during the regular drill period. At this drill, commissions will be presented to the graduating officers; the time has been changed to give those who wish to do so, a chance to see this ceremony.

A SLIGHT ERROR

In a recent issue of the Review the writer of "Things I Knew You Didn't" stated that "the total endowment and educational plant of the University of Delaware is estimated at $1,875,000."

Well, Sonny, (whoever you are) did YOU know that you evidently can not be trusted with important mathematical calculations? The latest financial report of the University shows the total assets of the endowment and educational plant to be $4,406,829.86. A slight error of a little less than three million dollars!

Drastic Cut In Federal Appropriation Foreseen

Dr. Sypherd Writes Engineers' Manual

New Text By English Dept. Head Just Off Press—For Professional Use

Dr. W. O. Sypherd's new book, "The Engineer's Manual of English" is just off the press. It is a work with which he and his collaborator, Mr. Sharon Brown, of Brown University, have been engaged for some time.

"This Manual has been designed to serve (1) as a textbook in English composition for college students in engineering; (2) as a reference book on usage in technical writing for practicing engineers," the authors state in their preface.

"Under the first head it aims less to teach the principles of formal rhetoric already available in a sufficient number of textbooks, than to show the application of these principles to the actual problems of the engineer-writer."

The book gives a treatment of Engineering correspondence, reports, articles for technical journals, bulletins, catalogues, and specifications. It is not an English Manual for engineers, but an Engineer's Manual of English.

There are exercises at the end of each chapter which should prove very useful. A section of the book is devoted to specimens which contain large possibilities for study and discussion.

The Manual is a very convenient size, being about 4 1/4 in. by 6 1/2 in., bound in flexible imitation leather. This new book will supplant Dr. Sypherd's earlier work, "English for Engineers," first published in 1913.

Discuss Glee Club Possibility At Del.

Mr. Lewis Howell, College Hour Artist, Agrees To Organize College Group

There have been several rumors floating around Delaware College concerning a "Glee Club," ever since Mr. Lewis Howell, prominent vocalist of Philadelphia, gave his delightful program at one of our College Hours recently.

The upshot of this rumor is, that Mr. Howell has agreed to organize a Glee Club at Delaware College, which would compete in the annual spring contest at Philadelphia against the glee clubs of other colleges. This is a very kind offer on the part of Mr. Howell, and is a fine opportunity for Delaware students. Surely there is enough talent and interest to maintain a good Glee Club which would do credit to our College in the Glee Club Contests.

At last year's concerts, Mr. Howell was one of the judges, together with Professor Bartholomew of Yale College.

Any persons desiring definite information concerning this are urged to get in touch at once with "Pete" Rice, President of the Student Council, in order that Mr. Howell may be notified.

President Hullihen Postpones Trip Abroad To Await New Developments

Last Thursday, President Hullihen received a communication from Washington indicating that a very heavy cut was to be made in the Federal appropriations to the University. The President had booked passage to sail for Europe on the "Mauretania" on Friday. But he considered the news from Washington so alarming as to oblige him to cancel his passage and remain here until the exact amount of the reduction becomes known and necessary action can be taken to meet the resulting situation.

The uncertainty that surrounds the amount of the cut is due to the fact that the Director of the Budget, Mr. Douglass, will not allow the details of the reductions he is compelled to make to be known until President Roosevelt issues the executive order that will put the new budget in effect.

So large a reduction is indicated that possibly the whole organization of the University may have to be readjusted, with the possible release of a good many members of the staff. Latest advices are to the effect that the largest part of the cut will be made in agricultural research work.

The Federal appropriation to the University is $177,000 per annum. Of this amount $40,000 is devoted to general educational purposes; the rest can only be used for research and extension work.

Any large reduction of the $137,000, used for the last mentioned work, would be a serious blow, for the department is rendering invaluable services to the farmers of the state. The reduction of the $40,000 fund, used strictly for general educational purposes, would be disastrous. The money is derived from the Morrill-Nelson Act, and has been a part of the Federal appropriations since 1870.

President Hullihen says that he considers drastic cuts in the Federal Budget to be imperative. He points out, however, that during the past decade a billion and a half dollars have been added to the Federal Budget. "Why not (he argues) reduce these recent additions first, and allow the older appropriations to continue? This $40,000 has been an integral part of our budget for over sixty years. It would put us in an extremely hazardous position to have this item eliminated or even reduced."

The President recently made the suggestion to the Administration that if this item had to be cut, a (Continued on Page 6.)

EDITORIALS

It is with dire forebodings that we hear of the proposed cut in Federal appropriation for the University of Delaware. The Federal aid has always been an integral part of the financial workings of the University.

Dr. Hullahen has suggested the possibility of a reorganization that would cause the release of several members of the staff. Such an event would be almost disastrous to the school, which is really understaffed, as far as faculty is concerned, at the present. A reduction in the number of faculty would bring about a far more than proportionate decrease in the teaching efficiency of the college. Delaware has been gradually forging to the front as an institution to be considered respectfully in educational circles. That such an advance should be checked by an appropriation slash is indeed tragic.

On the other hand, the farmers of this state are greatly dependent for aid and guidance from the Experimental Station. If it is caused to cease its work the loss to the State of Delaware would be almost incalculable.

We wonder why education must always be the "goat" in the case of economy moves. Why not move to abolish the sinecures in our civil service and political organizations? A budget slash that will endanger the education of our future citizens is of far more importance than one that would wipe out many of the offices in the executive departments, for it is not merely an act that is complete in itself. Such an act will have far reaching consequences. Land Grant Colleges form a very important part of our collegiate system. To shatter their morale will be to undermine our entire educational system. America has long stood foremost in the world of educational advancement—let us hope she will not retrogress by such a disastrous move.

TO W. C. D.—AN INVITATION

Several years ago, the Review was a University paper. We mean that both the Men's College and Women's College cooperated in publishing and supporting the paper. In this manner it was possible to issue a larger paper than the present publication and one that was chock-full of news of vital interest to the students of both colleges. For some reason or another, the Women's College withdrew from participation in the paper. A few years later, the Women's College began the publication of Pambo. A compulsory subscription permits this magazine to exist. At Delaware College a similar literary publication made an ill-timed venture into the lists and was deemed a financial failure.

Our proposal is this—Why not have two University publications: a newspaper, and a literary magazine, but published by joint staffs? The details are yet in embryo, but the idea is well worth considering.

NEW FEATURES

In accordance with its policy of inaugurating new features whenever possible, the Review announces two new columns this week. The first as yet nameless, is further explained elsewhere on this page. The second, Profographies, will be a series of biographies, published two a week, of our professors. We feel that practically all the students are interested in knowing about their professors—where they attended college—where they have done graduate work—the kind of teaching and other work they have done. The professors are being selected in no definite order, but only as the editor in charge happens to be able to get the necessary material.

CONGRATULATIONS FOR YOUR STAND, MR. BONHAM

Students and faculty members of the University of Delaware will probably be interested to know that Representative Harry Bonham, of this district in the Delaware Legislature, was among those who voted against the "Sedition" Bill discussed in our last issue.

PROFOGRAPHIES

EDWIN COLBY BYAM

Professor Byam was born in Chelmsford, Mass., in 1898. He secured his primary and secondary education in the schools of that place, and was valedictorian of his high school class.

Upon recommendation from his French teacher in high school he went to Boston University where he obtained his A. B. degree in 1920. It was in 1917 during his course there that Mr. Byam was appointed beneficiary of the Professor Augustus Howe Buck Educational Fund, the first man to receive appointment after the fund was established.

Upon graduation from Boston University he was appointed fellow student to study at Harvard University Graduate School where he received his M. A. degree in 1921. From 1921-23 he was a fellow for study at the Sorbonne in Paris. During the summer of 1925 he attended the Centro de Estudios Historicos at Madrid. He spent the summer of 1926 studying Italian under Professor Wilkins at the University of Chicago. In 1926-27 Mr. Byam studied French and Spanish at Johns Hopkins University. He is now a candidate for a Ph. D. degree from Johns Hopkins University, pending completion of his thesis and final examinations.

Professor Byam began his teaching career in 1923 when he accepted a position as Instructor in French and Spanish at the Carnegie Institute of Technology, Pittsburgh, Pa. After two years of work in the Institute he became Associate Professor of Romance Languages in the University of Delaware and has been Acting Head of the Department since 1929. Mr. Byam is also an Assistant Professor at Cornell where he taught a course in French Language and Literature last summer.

Professor Byam is an Officer d' Académie (often known as Academic Palms), a coveted honor granted by the French Minister of Public Instruction for Franco-American academic relations.

He is a member of the Modern Language Association of America, American Association of Teachers of French, American Association of Teachers of Spanish, American Association of Teachers of Italian, and for the academic year of 1931-32 was vice-president of the Modern Language Association of the Middle States and Maryland.

Professor Byam is a member of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity, and a member of the Phi Beta Kappa and Phi Kappa Phi honor fraternities.

GEORGE HERBERT RYDEN

Dr. Ryden was born in Kansas City, Missouri, in 1884. After attending high school in that city he went to Augustana College, Rock Island, Illinois, and was granted the degree of Bachelor of Arts in 1909. He then went to Yale University where he obtained his M. A. degree in 1911. He was here awarded the John Addison Porter Prize of $500 for an essay, and the Currier Fellowship.

He resigned from the latter to accept a position at Bethany College, Lindsborg, Kansas, where he was an Instructor of history and social science in 1911-12, and professor in this department from 1912-16. From 1922 to 1923 he was associate professor of history and political science at the University of Delaware. Since 1928 he has been a professor. He was also a professor of history at the University of Kansas during the summer of 1930 and at the University of Minnesota last summer.

Dr. Ryden has traveled widely, touching almost every country in Europe. He was Educational Secretary of the Y. M. C. A. army camps on the Italian front during the World War. During the civil war in Russia in 1921 he was Director of the South Russian Mission of the American Red Cross, with headquarters at Sebastopol.

Dr. Ryden is a recipient of many honors among which are the Italian War Cross, the medal of the Russian Red Cross, and membership in the Order of St. Stanislaw and St. Anne.

He has been State Archivist since 1930 and is chairman of the Historic Markers Commission of Delaware. He is also a prominent member in the following organizations: American Association of University Professors, American History Association, American Political Science Association, Historical Society of Delaware, Historical Society of Pennsylvania, Swedish Colonial Society (Philadelphia), Swedish Historical Society (Stockholm), and a member of the Regional Commission for States between New England and the Potomac of the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission.

Dr. Ryden was a contributor to the 14th edition of the Encyclopedia Britannica in which he wrote an article on the State of Delaware, and the Dictionary of American Biography. On June 20, 1933, the Yale Press will publish a book called "The Foreign Policy of the United States in Relation to Samoa," a work upon which Dr. Ryden has spent five years. The University of Pennsylvania will soon publish a group of Caesar Rodney's letters, edited by Dr. Ryden.

As an avocation, Dr. Ryden has studied voice under six teachers and still engages in singing for his own pleasure. He is a member of Phi Kappa Tau Fraternity, Phi Kappa Phi (honor fraternity), the Newark Country Club, and the University Club (Philadelphia).

BLUE HEN NINE DEFEATED
BY WASHINGTON COLLEGE

Carey Allows Delaware Hitters Only Three Blows

With the aid of extremely good pitching from Carey, Washington College baseball team defeated the Blue and Gold nine at Chestertown, Md., last Saturday afternoon, 4-2.

This was the opening game of the season for the Marylanders and they won it going away. Delaware collected only 3 hits off the delivery of Carey while the winners got to "Lefty" Riley for 9 bingles. Minner, Brady, and "Big Ed" Thompson got credit for the hits marked up for the Doherty men with "Ed" Thompson coming through with the only solid hit of the afternoon for the boys from Newark.

Beery, lead off man for the Washington crew, hit for the circuit in the third inning while Tignor hit a long triple later in the game.

The Washington pitcher also registered 14 strikeouts. "Lefty" Riley fanned 7 opponents.

"Doc" Doherty's baseball team has their work cut out for them this week. Starting today they play four games in a row. West Chester Teachers College will be met this afternoon, tomorrow night and Friday night the Blue Hen nine will face the strong George Washington University team in Washington. These games will be played in Griffith Stadium, home diamond of the Washington Senators, pennant aspirants in the American League. This will be the second Blue and Gold team which has deserted the sunlight for the artificial light, the football team having played P. M. C. at night during the last grid campaign. Upon their return from the Capital City, the baseball squad will face Susquehanna Saturday afternoon.

This afternoon the University of Delaware golf team will seek their third straight victory when they face Haverford on the Merion Cricket Club course. The Blue Hen team have already won their first two matches, downing Swarthmore and Haverford. The men who will probably face the Philadelphia team this afternoon are Captain Benton, Pié, Tipka, Ward, Moore, and Wilson.

"Charley" Rogers will take several members of his track squad to the Penn Relays Friday and Saturday of this week. He has entered teams in three relays and according to Rogers the Blue Hen team has a good chance to win one of these events. The relay teams will be picked from Cavalli, Lambert, Kelk, Lindstrand, Lynch, and Hunn. Two of the relays will be run over the one mile distance while the other will be for 400 yds. Cavalli will be entered also in the 100 yard dash. "Stretch" Pohl will be entered in the pole vault. There will be no decathlon championship held at the Penn relays this year. "Johnny" Carey will not be eligible for the relays because all Freshmen are prevented from taking part in the meet.

Due to the baseball game scheduled for the Blue Hen nine Friday night, the members of the team will be unable to attend the Spring Frolic. This is decidedly unfair to those members of the team who would like to attend this outstanding social event of the Spring term. Much has been written about conflicting activities of the University. Who can be blamed for these circumstances? I don't know but I am sure such conditions should be eliminated.

Tennis Team Faces
Haverford Saturday

Play Opener On Foreign Court

Captain Heppe and his mates will open the 1933 tennis season Saturday afternoon when they meet Haverford on the latter's courts.

The Blue Hen tennis team did not start practicing until this week but they have more than made up for the time which they have lost due, mainly, to bad weather.

Coach Jones has four veterans in this year's squad and it will be necessary to choose only two men from several other candidates who have been showing up well in practice to complete the team. The four letter men who are eligible for this year's team are Captain Heppe, "Jimmy" Brown, "Bill" Babcock, and "Joe" Walsh.

"Freddy" Max, "Bill" Lawrence, and McCauley are three of the new men who are showing to advantage during the practice sessions this week. Of the freshman tennis aspirants, Rice, Eckbert, Groome, and Wheeler have been showing good form.

Behind the effective hurling of Johnny Warner, the University of Delaware J. V. baseball nine defeated Beacom College Monday afternoon on Frazer Field, 4-2. Warner allowed Johnny Naylor's crew only 4 hits and fanned 12 men.

Both teams started their scoring in the second inning when both teams garnered a run. This proved to be the last for Beacom as they were kept away from the plate for the remainder of the game. The Doherty men scored single runs in (Continued on Page 4.)

RECOMMENDS SUPPORT FOR EDUCATION AS PROSPERITY AID

New York, N. Y. (NSFA)—"Closing our schools because there is a depression is like closing our hospitals because there is an epidemic," said William Trufant Foster, noted economist, in a recent statement made at the request of the United States Senate Committee on Finance, in connection with the investigation of economic problems.

Mr. Foster pointed out that no amount of theoretical accomplishment regarding debts, taxes, gold reserves or hours of labor will be of much avail unless it restores our volume of production and employment and results in "an increased annual output of real wealth to the value of thirty billion dollars—real wealth which we are now losing because we are not using our available productive resources, human and material.

"All that business needs is a buyer," he said. "Even in the depths of this depression, abundant credit is available for the production of anything for which there is a market. The beer business, at the moment, is the best-known example. Some ways of distributing this buying power are better than others. Any way is better than no way.

"The way which will yield the greatest value, dollar for dollar, is for the Federal Government to make available to the states, sufficient funds to restore education. The present scuttling of the schools—now nation-wide and daily becoming worse in our hysterical demand for tax-cutting at any cost—will leave the deepest scar, when this depression is over. We are making our children pay the heaviest penalties for our mistakes."

UNEMPLOYED ALUMNI PLAN CONFERENCE

New York, N. Y. (NSFA)—According to an announcement by the Association of Unemployed College Alumni, a conference of unemployed college graduates and professional people is being called to assemble in Washington, D. C., May 2nd and 3rd, to discuss the basis for a legislative program to meet their problems.

"It is our feeling," said Joseph P. Lash, Chairman of the Executive Committee, "that while President Roosevelt has been commendably active, the forces arrayed against him when it comes to significant unemployment relief and to more permanent remedial measures, will prevent such legislation, unless the people directly involved insistently and intelligently keep their plight before the eyes of their Washington representatives. We believe that now is the time to lay the basis for legislation which, within the limits of human fallibility, will end forever the kind of suffering we have had the last few years."

The conference will be opened with an academic procession in caps and gowns of unemployed Ph. D.'s, LL. B.'s, and M. D.'s. Miss Frances Perkins has been invited to open the sessions. The program includes the presentation to President Roosevelt of specific recommendations for the alleviation of unemployment among the various professions. The conference will close with a plea for a planned society.

The call has been sent out not only to college graduates, but to student councils, senior classes and other undergraduate groups on the ground that "the undergraduate of today is the unemployed graduate of tomorrow."

Notes From Other Colleges

New York (IP)—The overindulgent mother is likely to be one who secretly or unconsciously dislikes the child, according to Dr. David Levy, chief psychiatrist of the Institute of Child Guidance.

"The modern woman," he says, "with her ideas of liberty and freedom of interest and action, feels that a child hinders her. She rejects her biological function of maternity even when she consents or submits to it. Subconsciously she rejects the child, while consciously she attempts to compensate by overprotecting it.

"As a further balancing factor, we observe increased affection for the child by the father. This goes with the observation of psychologists that men are becoming more feminine as women tend to reject maternity."

Oberlin, O. (IP)—Dr. R. A. Budington, of Oberlin College, has risen to defend science from the charges that it should "be held accountable for terrible loss of life in the World War and for other misery in the world," charges which he says have been made frequently.

"Science," he says, "has been brought to court for the deluge of blame arising from international relations, overproduction, unemployment and all the other staggering social problems.

"Some have been bamboozled into thinking that Technocracy was associated with the quiet procedure of scientific research.

"But science, as such, works wonders in spirit, not having in mind the establishing of wealth. The technical expert differs from the scientist in that he interprets and builds while the latter is concerned with the application and explanation of things.

"Benjamin Franklin flew a kite and opened the potentialities of electricity, but he should not be blamed for the electric chair. The Wright Brothers have not caused blame for the electric chair. The 'Scientists usually are the Dr. Jekyll—seldom the Mr. Hyde.'

Seattle (IP)—One of the favorite sports of the mildly left wing college student—baiting the Great American Joiner—may disappear for lack of an object of ridicule.

This was indicated in the report of Jesse Frederick Steiner, professor of sociology at the University of Washington, who reaches the conclusion that people are "joining" the way they used to. His report, sponsored by the president's research committee on social trends, appointed by ex-President Hoover, indicates that there are so many organizations that the prestige of membership has been lessened.

Says the report in part:

"The extraordinary emphasis upon organizations during and immediately following the World War is apparently giving way to a more rational appraisal of their value.

"As associations have become more numerous, the mere fact of belonging to them gives less prestige to individual members. People are therefore less inclined to join an organization simply because it seems to be the thing to do.

"The vogue of the 'joiner' is on the decline."

Nevertheless, Prof. Steiner points to more than 30 types of leisure time associations as evidence that "little opportunity is left for those who prefer to develop their own recreational interests independently."

These include fraternal orders, propagandist and learned societies, trade unions and country, athletic, bridge, women's, drama and luncheon clubs. In addition to the 30-odd types he mentions, Prof. Steiner says there are many others.

He declares everybody is "engulfed in the growing multiplicity of organizations with their standardized programs and activities which now dominate the recreational life of the people."

Prof. Steiner's report is called "Americans at Play."

"The desire for men of a more broadly educated type has been gaining ground in the professions and in business, as well as among the thoughtful people throughout the community," said President Lowell in his recently published report of Harvard University.

Miss Elizabeth Wilson has the arduous task of Prompter. Few people realize the importance of the prompter, but the present cast of "old timers" are thanking their stars that a very efficient, capable and dependable person is handling the job.

Costumes and make-up will be handled by Miss Helen Eckert and Miss Evelyn Stein, who are not class members, but who have had much experience in these departments. Surprises Bishop McDowell

Delaware, O. (IP)—Of late the undergraduates at Ohio Wesleyan University have enjoyed calling their football team the Battling Bishops.

Bishop W. F. McDowell of Washington has long battled in the cause of righteousness.

What was more fitting, therefore, than that when Bishop McDowell addressed the students of his alma mater here last week they should spring a surprise on him and give this Battling Bishop a large athletic "W"?

The 75-year-old cleric was just about as pleased as he could be.

"What does the United States abandonment of the gold standard mean?" the man in the street is asking. Here it is in a nutshell. President Roosevelt's action in taking the country off the gold standard is calculated to increase commodity prices at home and let the dollar, unsupported by gold exports, seek its own level abroad. By banning the circulation of gold at home the President started the machinery for a return to pre-depression business. How? Since paper cannot be redeemed in gold here, currency will fluctuate in value, having a tendency to go down. Therefore it will take more dollars to buy a given commodity. The result is to boost prices. Higher prices mean more production, which in turn means more employment and the start of the climb out of the quagmire of depression. — There it is in a nutshell. Roosevelt has cracked the shell. Time alone will show us whether the meat inside is good or bad.

An invigorating atmosphere of Jacksonian informality, as desired by President Roosevelt, surrounds the visit of Prime Minister MacDonald, but underneath ran an optimistic note.

Both the President and Mr. MacDonald appeared to be approaching economic problems with a buoyant spirit, such as Mr. Roosevelt displayed even when grappling with the critical bank situation.

Usually sticklers for convention, the English delegation seemed to welcome the absence of strict formality. Mr. MacDonald, eager to get down to brass tacks in his conversations with the President, started off by dispensing with the formality of official calls on various dignitaries of the government.

Ishbel MacDonald, daughter of England's prime minister, says we shouldn't take George Bernard Shaw seriously. She's telling us?

History repeats itself. "General" Jacob S. Coxey, who 39 years ago led "Coxey's Army" to the National Capital in search of jobs, plans to thumb his way to Washington in the near future. Here's hoping he doesn't get arrested for standing on the grass.

If Germany can build and operate dirigibles safely, this country can do it, and will prove it. The new giant dirigible Macon, on its trial flight carried 105 persons, including eleven officers, thirty-one engineers, eight members of the Naval Board of Inspection and Goodyear-Zeppelin Co. inspectors. The biggest airship in existence, 785 feet long, it typifies Uncle Sam's determination not to let anything discourage him.

They're talking now of calling in President Roosevelt's forest army to aid the flood situation in Tinicum and Eastwick. The Navy ought to have that job.

Dan De Lion says that after trying some of 3.2 per cent beer, he has come to the conclusion that the man who originated the term "near beer" was not such a poor judge of distance after all.—Some joke, eh boss?

TRUTHFUL TOBACCO

comes to this country in bales. The leaves are small and tightly packed. Each bale contains about 40,000 leaves.

DOMESTIC TOBACCO

is stored in huge wooden hogsheads. Each hogshead contains about 1000 pounds of tobacco.

A flavor that neither possesses alone

Early in the 17th century, tobacco seed from America was taken to Turkey. Different soil, different climate, different temperatures night and day, and different farming methods produced an entirely new tobacco—small in size, but very rich and aromatic.

Four certain spots are famous for the quality of their Turkish tobacco — Xanthi and Cavalla in Greece; Samsoun and Smyrna in Turkey. And it is principally from these places that our buyers get the Turkish for Chesterfield.

These Turkish tobaccos are blended, in just the right amount, with Domestic tobaccos. It is this blending and cross-blending of just the right amount of Turkish and Domestic tobaccos which gives Chesterfield a flavor that neither possesses alone.

INTERNATIONAL GAMES SCHEDULED FOR ITALY

New York, N. Y. (NSFA)—According to an announcement by Mr. George Curti, organizer in the United States, the International student games are to take place in September in Turin, Italy. A modern stadium, complete in every detail, is being built for the occasion, and competitors from all over the world are expected to take part.

The program of the games includes swimming, fencing, athletics, rowing, football (association and Rugby), lawn tennis, basketball and water polo. During the games at Turin, sports will be alternated with excursions in the neighborhood, to the Oropa Sanctuary, and to the feudal castles in the Aosta valley, visits to the Royal Palaces of Moncalieri and Stupinigi as well as visits to the Fiat automobile factory, tourist flights from the nearby airports, and receptions by the city at the Royal Palace.

According to an announcement from the Royal Italian Embassy in Washington, Italian Railways will grant reductions to students attending the games, and the foreign visitors will have the utmost freedom of choice in planning their journeys in Italy in any way that is most interesting to them. Those who wish to do so may stop in Venice to attend the Congress of the International Confederation of Students, which will take place between August 26th and September 2nd.

In commenting on the plans for the games Mr. Curti said: "Italy feels sure that all the five parts of the world will this year be represented at the International Games of the C. I. E. and that this great mass of students, speaking different languages, belonging to different races and coming from different countries, will find during the ten days of the games that serene and sincere spirit of comradeship and that spiritual and sporting brotherhood which unite the youth of the entire world in a real and great 'internationale.'"

Don't miss the production of "A Doll's House" by E-52 Players in Mitchell Hall on May 4.

Permits have been issued for cutting 1,000 cords of firewood from lands of the University of Montana. State forestry officials have announced. The permits served a double purpose in that fuel was supplied needy families, and the land, set aside for reforestation experiments, cleared at a minimum expense to the school.

ILLUSION:

Right before your very eyes the man of magic draws rabbits, vegetables, flowers, fruits—even babies—all from an empty tub! What an astonishing fellow he is!

EXPLANATION:

The assorted rabbits, babies, carrots, cabbages, ribbons and other magical "props" are not created by magic. The tub has a false bottom that is conveniently displaced, and numberless wonderful things spring to life in the magician's nimble fingers. They do literally "spring" because they are made to compress into the bottom of the tub, taking their natural shape as the magician lifts them out.

IT'S FUN TO BE FOOLED ...IT'S MORE FUN TO KNOW

Tricks are legitimate on the stage but not in business. Here's one that has been used in cigarette advertising...the illusion that blending is everything in a cigarette.

EXPLANATION: Blending is important...but it makes a lot of difference what is blended.

Inferior tobaccos can be blended to cover up their humble origin. But your taste soon detects the trick.

The proper use of blending is to bring out the full "round" flavor of mild, high-grade tobaccos. It's the costliness of the tobaccos, as well as the blending, that counts.

It is a fact, well known by leaf tobacco experts, that Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand.

Hundreds of thousands of dollars have been spent by others in the attempt to discover just how Camels are blended. The blend is important.

But all the while Camel spends millions more for choice tobaccos...to insure your enjoyment.

Light up a Camel. Relax, while the delicate blue smoke floats about you. Enjoy to the full the pleasure that comes from costlier tobaccos.

Keep Camels always handy...in the airtight, welded Humidor Pack.
