WEDDING

Vought-Kuerr

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Mr. Elijah Vought, well-known in this community, and Miss Myrtle Kuerr, in Philadelphia on Wednesday, September 2. Mr. and Mrs. Vought will reside in Philadelphia.

Football at Delaware

Football practice was started early this week at Delaware College and the indications are that by the last of the week Coach McAvoy will have the largest squad to select his eleven from in the history of the institution. To date the practice has been light, such as punting, throwing the ball and running out forward passes. The real hard work will probably start early next week with scrimmages every afternoon as the opening game of the season is scheduled with Lafayette at Easton for Saturday of next week.

Some of the new material looks promising this season as a number of the candidates have had considerable experience on the gridiron at preparatory schools. Among the members of last year's varsity who have been out this week were Captain Handy, Groff, Taylor, Pepper and Crothers. W. O. Daniel, Tom Wilson, Newton and Fidanec of the 1913 scrubs are also out each afternoon.

Among the freshmen who have been out for practice to date are two sons of Dr. Mitchell, president of the college, Richardson and Gray, who played with the Salisbury High School for several years and will try for positions in the backfield; Bratton, formerly with Tome Institute eleven; Wilson captain of the Wilmington High last season; Smith, who had experience at Haverford Prep, Smart from Baltimore, and A. O. Daniel of Oxford High School.

W. H. M. S. Meeting

A regular meeting of the W. H. M. S. of the Methodist church was held on Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. V. Vaughn. Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: president, Mrs. H. W. McNeal; vice-president, Mrs. Thos. Manns; second vice-president, Mrs. Butler; recording secretary, Mrs. Howard Williams; corresponding secretary, Mrs. C. A. Short; Treasurer, Mrs. L. B. Jacobs. After the business meeting a social hour followed. Adjourned to meet in October.

REPLY FROM TARVIA PEOPLE

Council at the last regular session, following a discussion of the dust nuisance on Main street, instructed the secretary to write to the Tarvia people, for advice in overcoming same. In reply the following letter has been received:

We have your favor of yesterday and note you complain of the dusty condition of the Tarvia road. Would say that when a Tarvia road is built there is always a covering of fine stone left on the surface until the road sets up. This, in a few weeks time, grinds up into dust which the automobile traffic and rains carry off. As we have had no rains lately we imagine your road is rather dusty.

Do not, under any consideration, attempt to treat this road with a dust layer, for you will spoil your road if you do so. If the road is so dusty as to become a nuisance we would suggest either flushing with a fire hose or else sweeping. After this dust is removed you will have no further trouble and no dust will form on the street, and only the dirt tracked in from the roads can make this street dusty.

Hoping you will feel free to call on us for any additional information that you may desire, we are, Yours very truly, Barrett Manufacturing Co.

Among Honored Guests

Miss Eleanor Todd was a guest at the breakfast given by the Maryland Daughters of the American Revolution, at the Belvedere, in Baltimore on September 10th, in honor of Mrs. William Cummings Story. Gov. Goldsborough was present and made a very happy little speech in response to a toast.

After the breakfast the guests adjourned to Fort Mifflin to attend the ceremonies connected with the unveiling of a bronze tablet placed upon the wall of the fort in memory of Francis Scott Key by the Maryland Daughters; this event followed by a beautiful luncheon served within the star fort.

An informal reception was given at the Sigma Nu House last evening. Guests were present from Elkton and Wilmington.

WOMEN'S COLLEGE GREATLY ADMIRER

SCORES OF VISITORS AT NEW INSTITUTION

Scores of Delawareans who, during the last week, have visited the new Women's College buildings, have invariably returned with a keen sense of pride in the new institution. Those who are familiar with the long fight for a woman's college in Delaware well remember the legislator's words—of many repetitions—"We don't want a woman's college until we can have the right kind of one." Judging from present appearances the time was auspicious, for the one now provided can unquestionably be compared with any in the land.

Residence Hall, which has been occupied this week, is especially attractive. Sunlight and breathing space are the first impressions the visitor receives upon entering the fine new building. Great large windows provide the abundance of air and light which modern ideas demand, while plumbing of the latest model completes the sanitary equipment. Every safeguard against fire is provided by iron and concrete stairways and well-planned exits. The architects have "counted noses" when planning closet space, for the great roomy affairs, so numerous throughout the building, are found one, two or three in a room, according to the number of girls the room is intended to accommodate.

The visitor upon entering by the main door, finds himself in a large, airy hallway. To the left is a bronze tablet bearing the names of the Commission that supervised the construction of the building, and the architects. Wide double doors, with paved upper panels, lead to the "Browsing Room" and Reception Room, the former furnished by Miss Mary H. A. Mather and Miss Alice P. Smyth, and the latter by Mrs. A. D. Warner. Large palms, old-fashioned settle, and a grandfather's clock will make up the furnishings of the hall.

The "Browsing Room" is so called after the reading room at Smith College, of which Miss Mather is an alumna. Delicately tinted walls, white paints, open fireplace, and colonial furniture combine elegance and coziness into an effect which is charming indeed. The room is modeled after one in Independence Hall. The furnishings in old mahogany are all reproductions of famous colonial pieces: the table, copied from that in Independence Hall, the desk, a reproduction of one in the Mather family, the hand carved sofa and chairs. All the furniture was made by Kerlet, the well-known cabinet maker in Wilmington. The andirons are of the Martha Washington pattern, with the fender of the same period. A chair, the reproduction of the famous Longfellow chair, is expected to be delivered in a few days. The idea is to have the furnishings a correct illustration of one period, the room to be a model for the department of Home Economics. Book cases which line the wall will be filled with standard fiction and poetry. The room is designed for pleasure and is intended to afford the setting for the quiet happy hours of college.

The reception room to the right of the entrance, furnished by Mrs. Warner, though of an entirely different type, is no less pleasing in effect. A Japanese rug of unique design and coloring, especially woven for the room covers the floor. The blue ground is interspersed with butterflies of delicate coloring. The furniture is stained wicker with cretonne coverings, colors which blend beautifully with the shades in the carpet. A series of pictures, reproductions of the paintings by Violet Oakley, hanging in the capital at Harrisburg, which portray the story of William Penn, line the walls, and breathe that suggestion of the donor's personality, which is so conspicuous in the ideal home. Inside curtains of blue sandure over the dainty white curtains next the window complete the color scheme of the room. A beautiful brass clock with small candlesticks furnish the mantle, while between the windows is the gold framed mirror—pronounced so dear to every girl's heart.

Quantities of white flowers were tastefully arranged in the rooms on Tuesday, when girls, arriving from all parts of the State, received a first impression of their college home.

Directly opposite the entrance is the large assembly hall, running the length of the building. Here dances, dramatics and the various social functions of the year, will be held.

The rooms on the second floor, with great wide windows and ample closets, are rapidly losing their look of sameness and taking on the individuality of their occupants. These have been furnished principally by the various women's clubs of the State. Every girl upon her arrival finds an attractive rug, a comfortable single bed, without foot or head-board which can be completely disguised as a couch during the day, a couch cover to match the shade in the carpet, and several pieces of mission furniture—a bureau, table, book-rack and chairs, and a shirt waist box.

Coal, ice, and quantities of supplies were laid in on Monday, and meals were served in the attractive dining room for the first time on Tuesday.

The dining room, exact size of assembly room above, with great fireplaces at each end of the building, is a bright room, lined with windows along the entire east side. It is paneled in oak and furnished with small round tables.

There is so much work yet to be done before things are ship shape around the new building that Dean Robinson found it necessary on Monday to close the Hall to visitors. It will be thrown open to the public in the near future, however, so that everyone may see and rejoice in this new possession, which has been coveted so long.

EXTENSION WORK AT DELAWARE COLLEGE

Making The Institution Of State-wide Usefulness.

Extension work at Delaware College, one year after its inauguration has, from the standpoint of results, far exceeded the expectations of the most enthusiastic advocates. Already it has made its influence felt throughout the State, the present freshman class being a probable illustration of the result of this work.

The definite idea of Extension work at Delaware grew out of the weekly discussions of the Arts and Science Club. The plan was presented in detail to the faculty by Dr. Vaughn of the Department of History. As a result President Harter appointed an Extension Committee of three members: Dr. E. V. Vaughn, chairman; Professor C. A. Short and Dr. Raymond C. Reed. The plan of work outlined embraced three main lines of activity: (1) an annual visit to the high schools of the State, (2) the holding of an Essay and Oratorical Contest each year, and (3) the announcement of lectures by members of the college faculty. It was intended also that regular extension classes would be organized as soon as they could be provided for.

In accordance with this plan the committee visited all the high schools in the State during last April. An Essay and Oratorical Contest was held in May, on the day preceding the interscholastic field meet. Two twenty-five dollar prizes were offered and the contest made an annual affair open to all high school students. A bulletin was issued announcing a list of lectures offered by the faculty. These lectures, on sixty-five different topics, are given by the various professors in the College, upon request from any school, club or association. There is no cost aside from traveling expenses. This phase of the work met with an immediate popularity. Though the first announcement was made late in the spring, by the close of college in June twenty lectures had been given.

Grow Scarlet Clover Seed

Every farmer in Delaware who has land that will grow scarlet clover, and all have that kind of land, has an opportunity to get the benefit of higher prices which will follow the great war now raging in Europe. The scarlet clover seed of Germany has dominated the market price of that kind of seed in the United States for many years past, but for the next two or three years that source of competition will be cut off, and the farmers of Delaware especially must meet their opportunity by sowing largely of scarlet clover, even if the price for the seed shall be outrageously high. When the crop of 1915 is ready to mature, the greater part should be saved for seed purposes, and Delaware will be in position to supply the markets of the United States at profitable prices to the grower, and at the same time benefit the land. Now is the time to sow scarlet clover seed, and the farmer who has any enterprise or is awake to the future of his business, will sow every acre possible in this crop for a money crop in 1915. Remember this is a fact that cannot be controverted by any argument.

BASE BALL NEWS--FIRST GAME OF SERIES LOST

One bad inning was too much for the local Tri-County League team in the opening game of the five-game series for the amateur championship of the State and Bancroft of Wilmington took the contest by the score of 7 to 4. Except for this one inning when the locals bunched their errors with the visitors hits Hogan outpitched Crouch, but all credit is due the latter for he won the game and held Newark in all except two innings.

Weather conditions no doubt kept a lot of fans away but about 500 of the faithful turned out and rooted for the home club at every opportunity. There will be a return game in Wilmington at the Front and Union streets grounds next Saturday afternoon and Newark expects to even up matters on this occasion. The umpiring was exceptionally good and there will be few kicks if the "umps" do as good through the entire series. Weir of the Tri-County League and Allen of the All-Wilmington League were the arbiters.

While both clubs played a miserable game at times the contest was exciting for five innings or until the break came in the fifth. With perfect support Hogan would have gotten away with the fifth inning with not more than one run scored against him. Marsey in attempting to complete a double play which would have retired the side threw high to first which started the trouble and a moment later Captain Morris materially helped matters by letting a ball get past him in center. Bancroft got the jump in the first inning by scoring two runs but Newark came back strong in the second, getting two across, tying the score and took a two run lead in the fourth by some opportune batting.

Seanolon who played left field in place of Ferguson, showed well at the bat, getting three hits, two of which drove in runs. Charley Beatty furnished the fielding feature of the game when he grabbed Bonner's line drive in the third inning.

Hogan as usual had a good strike out day, fanning 11 while Crouch struck out 9. Hogan gave four passes while Crouch issued but one, but the latter hit three batsmen. The play by innings follows:

FIRST INNING

Smith, the lead man for Bancroft, started the game with a clean single to right; Morley sacrificed, but when Gregg dropped the throw both runners were safe and they both scored later on Austin's Texas leaguer back of first. A run could possibly have been saved here had the ball been fielded at once but Gregg thinking it was foul held the ball. The Umpire decided otherwise, however, and consequently the two runs came over; Bonner was out on a foul to Marsey but Proud was safe on C. Beatty's error and Edler walked filling the bases; Wallace and Cloud both fanned two runs.

Newark was easy in this inning. Smith three C. Beatty out at first; Marsey flied to Proud and Jackson was out on a grounder to first; no runs.

SECOND INNING

Big Bill Crouch started off the second inning but was easy for Hogan and Gregg; Smith hit one to the hedge for three sacks but Morley and Austin both fanned, leaving him stranded on third; no runs.

Captain Morris the first up in the second for Newark, was out, Smith to Morley; Gregg hit one to left centre and stopped at third; Willis fanned but Seanolon hit one to Crouch which was too hot for the latter and Gregg scored; A. Beatty was safe on Morley's error but Hogan got in a timely single, scoring Seanolon; Ferguson was caught trying to get third on the hit; two runs.

THIRD INNING

Bonner flied to C. Beatty; Proud lifted one to Morris; Edler singled but Wallace fanned for the second time; no runs.

C. Beatty and Marsey both fanned and Jackson was thrown out at first by Crouch; no runs.

FOURTH INNING

Cloud fanned; A. Beatty threw Crouch out at first; Smith made his third hit of the game but was caught trying to steal Marsey to A. Beatty; no runs.

Morris fanned; Gregg was hit by a pitched ball; Willis hit for two bases, scoring Gregg and scored himself on Seanolon's hit back of first; Seanolon was caught off first, Crouch to Morley, and A. Beatty fanned; two runs.

FIFTH INNING

This proved a disastrous inning for the locals. Morley started the inning with a free pass; Austin fanned; Bonner and Proud both hit safe, filling the bases; Edler hit a hot one to Jackson, who got the ball home in good time, it being a forced out at the plate, but Marsey in his anxiety to make a double play on Edler threw high to Gregg, allowing one run to score and Edler was safe; Kantz hit for Wallace and singled to left center and two runs counted when Morris allowed the ball to get through his legs. Cloud, who is said to have been hitting about 75 in the All-Wilmington League, hit one of Hogan's offerings good and hard, the ball going over the hedge in right field for a home run, making the total five runs for the inning; Crouch fanned for the third out; five runs.

Hogan was out, Bonner to Morley; Crouch hit C. Beatty; Marsey skied to Edler and Jackson's fly was easy for Cloud; no runs.

SIXTH INNING

Smith fanned; A. Beatty threw Morley out at first and Jackson and Gregg looked after Austin; no runs.

Morris hit safe; Gregg flied to Morley; Willis hit a fly to centre which Cloud got; Seanolon was out, Smith to Morley; no runs.

SEVENTH INNING

Jackson grabbed Bonner's hot grounder and had the ball to first before the runner was fairly started; Proud got a pass; Edler hit to Marsey and was out and Kantz struck out; no runs.

A. Beatty fanned and Hogan went out by the same route; C. Beatty walked but Marsey lifted a foul for Austin; no runs.

NINTH INNING

Cloud's fly was taken in by Morris; Crouch breezed; Smith got four bad ones and went to third when Morley doubled but Austin poked a fly to Willis; no runs.

Jackson drove a fly to Cloud; Morris was hit by a pitched ball and went to second on Gregg single; Newark's hopes were snuffed, however, when Willis hit into a double play, Bonner to Proud; no runs.

NINTH INNING

Charley Beatty threw Bonner out at first and A. Beatty sent Proud back the same way; Edler flied to Hogan; no runs.

Someone pulled a beautiful bone for Newark in their half of the ninth. Seanolon lead off with an infield hit his third safe hit of the game. Ferguson was sent to pinch hit for A. Beatty. With Newark three runs behind in the ninth inning and a comparatively slow runner up, either some one gave Ferguson instructions to bunt or he took it on himself to do so. The result was he fanned, as did also Hogan, and C. Beatty flied to Proud, ending the game; no runs.

OPTOMETRIST—One skilled in optometry, an expert in measuring eye defects. A physical Eye Specialist.

Concerning Your Eyes

Good eyesight is essential to health and comfort. Eye strain uncorrected leads to nervous disorders and is a factor in causing many reflex disturbances.

Tired, aching eyes, frequent pain over the eyes or heads aches are some of the indications of eye strain. At other times the eyes give no indication themselves of strain, but endeavor to keep up the demand upon them, by using the reserve accommodative power until they give out.

GLASSES RELIEVE EYE STRAIN

Success in relieving eye strain depends entirely upon the skill of the practitioner who prescribes the glasses. Our Optometrists are experienced and capable.

A CARD.

To the Public:
SOME TIME AGO I offered a VALUABLE PREMIUM to the party that visited the NORTH OF BAY COUNTIES EXHIBIT CARS FROM CALIFORNIA and write up a description of their visit, one that the public could read and thoroughly understand, what a wonderful collection this is of the natural products of the land and sea. No one so far has done it. All fall down on the job, especially on the MONSTER SHARK, as all are not students of ZOOLOGY.

This specimen is so large it staggers them. Still we have books that tell of the Basking Shark 68 feet long, twice as long as this one. We all can read of whales, sharks, devil-fish, mammoth tortoises and sea turtles and other denizens of the deep, but OBJECT LESSONS like this go far ahead of reading.

Please remember, ONLY TWO of these MONSTERS have been preserved for public exhibition, this one and one in the private museum of Prof. David Starr Jordan of Island Stanford University, Palo Alto, California.

When we invite you to come and inspect this wonderful collection of curios we know that NONE OF YOU has ever seen such a collection brought right to your door for the small price of admission, 25 cents and you will appreciate it.

Respectfully,
M. LEAK,
Manager North of Bay Counties Exhibit Cars.

A PRAYER FOR PEACE

Merciful Destiny for Thy privileges rendered, Kind Nature for Thy blessings bestowed, Friendly Guide and Gracious God, for Thy keeping, we, on this day, offer our feeble but sincere thanks to Thee.

For the peace of our State and Nation, for the abundant plenty of our harvests, give us, this day, to have full appreciation. For the advance in Science, the beauty of Art and the power of the written and spoken Word, make us to realize the fullness of the meaning thereof. For Thy support of the Strong and the succor of the Weak, we bow in grateful recognition.

Thou hast walked with the Man behind the Plow in the lengthening furrow of the field, and followed the Miner's lantern in the depths of the mine. Thou has given to us to fill the world's granaries and clothe the nations of the Earth. With the sailor in the watch tower and with the Master of our Ship of State, Thy guidance has kept us in Peace with the world's people's.

In the Forum Thou hast given to us the leadership in civilization's Masterpiece—the Peace Compact. For these and this, we thank Thee and now pray to give us the master thought and national strength to execute this Ideal of Calvary's Dream.

With the opportunity of History before us, make our emblem of Liberty be for Truth, indeed. When Right and Passion are clashing with Wrong and Reason, make us to give to the world a new meaning for America. By serving humanity give to us the leadership in the World's peace. Make us to teach that Truth need not be drenched in blood to be pure. And that The Brotherhood of Man is not a student's dream. Holding the balance of battle in Thy Almighty Hand, give us to see the wisdom of honest Neutrality.

Exhibits Of Delaware College Farm At State Fair

The Delaware College Farm has recently exhibited at the Wilmington Fair, a few individuals from its herds of cattle, swine, and horses. The cattle exhibited, which numbered thirteen head, included the Jersey herd bull, three Jersey heifers, two Guernsey cows, five Guernsey heifers, and two Guernsey bull calves. One of the Guernsey cows shown has recently completed her year's record, producing in that time 8,251 pounds of milk and 542 pounds of butter.

The swine exhibit, which numbered eleven head, were representatives of the college herds of Berkshires, Duroc, Jerseys, and Yorkshires. Those shown which were from last spring's litters have averaged since birth a gain of a pound a day.

The 16-months-old colt, which bred at the College Farm and weighs 1,275 pounds, attracted much attention, as did also the hackney pony mare and her beautiful foal. The pony mare and foal, which were shown in the ring by Miss Mary Hayward in a class of pony mares and foals other than Shetland, received a ribbon. James Speirs, the herdsman, was in charge of the exhibit.

The exhibit of the Agronomy department of Delaware College at the State Fair attracted considerable attention from the farmers in attendance. The exhibit consisted largely of specimens of wheat produced in experiments at the Farm. Side by side were shown typical heads of the better yielding varieties as determined by experiments extending over a space of six years and heads of several widely advertised varieties of comparatively little value. The effect of the rate of seeding was shown by sheaves from plantings of two, four, and eight pecks an acre. Some varieties were little affected by the rate of seeding; others showed a marked decrease in size of head and straw because of thick seeding. The effect of fertilizers was also illustrated. Yields of wheat on experimental plots were shown to vary from 16 bushels per acre on unfertilized ground to 47 bushels on ground that had been treated with a complete fertilizer.

There were also exhibits showing the great value of improvement crops, such as soy beans and cowpeas, for increasing the supply of nitrogen in the soil.

The Agronomy department will gladly answer any questions concerning the experiments in both wheat and improvement crops.

Delaware College Extension Courses

Two extension courses will be given this year by the English department of Delaware College.

English Composition

A course in Composition, open to both men and women, will be given by Dr. W. O. Sypherd on Saturday morning throughout the year from nine to eleven o'clock. This course will be equivalent to the regular first year college English. The instruction in the theory and practice of writing will be of especial value to teachers in the grammar schools and high schools. Graduates of high schools and other students who have had sufficient training in preparatory English are eligible to take the course. No fee will be charged. The first meeting will be held at the Women's College of Delaware on Saturday morning, September 19, at nine o'clock. Prospective students are asked to communicate at once with Professor W. O. Sypherd, Newark, Delaware.

English and American Classics

A course in English and American classics will be given by Professor George E. Dutton. The purpose of the course is (1) to give those taking it a knowledge and appreciation of as many of the standard works of English and American literature as possible, and (2) to develop in them a critical faculty that will enable them to enjoy to the fullest extent the good and to discard the bad in any literary works which they may read. The course is designed primarily for teachers in the public schools and for those persons who are preparing to enter college. It is open, however, to any one who has completed satisfactorily a good grammar school course. Instruction will be carried on mainly through correspondence. Once a month the instructor will meet those taking the course, at Newark and at other centers in the State. These meetings will consist of recitations and of consultations on reading, notebooks, etc. No fee will be charged for the course. The first meeting will be held at the Women's College of Delaware on Saturday morning, September 19, at ten o'clock. This meeting will be only for those from Wilmington and New Castle county who are taking the course. The first meeting of those from the two lower counties who are to take the course will be announced as soon as possible. Prospective students are asked to communicate at once with Professor George E. Dutton, Newark, Delaware.

Civil Service Examination

The United States Civil Service Commission announces that on September 26, 1914, at Newark, an open competitive examination will be held for the position of clerk in the post office at Newark, Del.

Clerks in offices of the first and second classes are divided into five grades, the salaries of which are $800, $900, $1,000, $1,100, and $1,200 per annum, respectively. Clerks at first-class offices will be promoted successively, a grade at a time, to $1,000, and clerks at second-class offices will be promoted in the same manner to $1,000.

Promotions will be made at the beginning of the quarter following the expiration of a year's service in the next lower grade. No promotion will be made except upon evidence satisfactory to the Post Office Department of the efficiency and faithfulness of the employee during the preceding year. Clerks of the highest grade are eligible for promotion to the higher positions in their respective offices.

Competitors will be examined in the following subjects, which will have the relative weights indicated:

1. Spelling (twenty words of average difficulty in common use), 10;
2. Arithmetic (simple tests in addition, subtraction, multiplication, and division of whole numbers, common and decimal fractions, and United States money) 20.

3. Letter writing (a letter of not less than 125 words on some subject of general interest. Competitors may select either of two subjects given) 20.

4. Penmanship (the handwriting of the competitor in the subject of copying from plain copy will be considered with special reference to the elements of legibility, rapidity, neatness, general appearance, etc.) 20.

5. Copying from plain copy (a simple test in copying accurately a few printed lines in the competitor's handwriting) 20.

6. Reading addresses (test in noting with pen or pencil, on a printed sheet of addresses, differences between the printed addresses and the written addresses of which they are a copy) 10. Total weights, 100.

Applicants must have reached their eighteenth but not their forty-fifth birthday on the date of the examinations. The age limits are waived, however, in the case of persons honorably discharged from the United States military or naval service by reason of disability resulting from wounds or sickness incurred in the line of duty. A person under 21 years of age on the day of examination will not be eligible for appointment as assistant postmaster.

Male applicants for the Post-Office Service must be at least 5 feet 4 inches in height in bare feet, and 125 pounds in weight without overcoat and hat; otherwise their applications will be canceled. Female applicants are not required to be of any height or weight.

The Post Office Department has advised the Commission that no person who has any of the following named physical defects will be appointed to the position of clerk in the Post-Office Service: Hunchback; defective hearing, sight, or speech; blindness in one or both eyes; asthma; loss of arm; hand, or leg; crippled arms or legs; flatfoot; hernia; congenital weakness of the abdominal wall, or such weakness caused by wound or operation; except that deaf-mutes and persons with defective speech or hearing may be appointed to the positions of mail clerk, distributor, and directory and forwarding clerk; and persons suffering from flatfoot or weakness of the abdominal wall may be appointed to any position of clerk the duties of which they are physically capable of performing. Applications of persons who are not entitled to examination on account of physical defects will be canceled. Other physical defects may debar persons from this examination when in the judgement of the commission such defects would render them unfit to perform the duties of the position for which the examination is held.

Married women will not be admitted to this examination. This prohibition, however, does not apply to divorced women or women who are separated from their husbands and support themselves.

This examination is open to all citizens of the United States who meet the requirements.

From the eligibles resulting from this examination it is expected that certification will be made to fill existing and future vacancies. For application Form 1371 and "Instructions to Applicants," address Local Secretary, at the Newark, Del., post office or the district secretary at the address below.

No application will be accepted unless properly executed and filed with the district secretary in time for examination.

Secretary Third Civil-Service District
Post Office Building,

Issued Sept. 11, 1914.
Each applicant will be required to submit to the examiner on the day of examination a photograph of himself taken within two years.

DO YOU WANT TO STAY POOR?

Get out of your head the idea that Poverty is something you cannot help. Just so long as you stick to that theory, just so long poverty is going to stick to you. People in most cases are poor because they are too indolent—too careless—too thoughtless. Sit down and figure what you are spending—and what you can do without. Not the things that cost dollars—but the articles that cost pennies. How many pennies do you waste a week? Multiply that by 52—multiply that in turn by 50. You will then get some idea of why people stay poor all their lives. Fifty years of waste will turn even a millionaire into a pauper—while 50 years of economy will make a poor man rich.

—For the pennies that are wasted are responsible for most of the misery and practically all the poverty in the world.

This year calls for lectures are coming in rapidly, and, according to the committee it may be that the College will be unable to meet all demands upon it. Though the fall work is but begun, lectures have been scheduled as follows:

Dr. Sypherd: "Kipling as a Short Story Writer," New Century Club, Wilmington; "A Discipline in Reading," Acorn Club, Seaford; Professor Dutton: "Poetry of the Revolution," Tuesday Club, Odessa; "Walt Whitman," Acorn Club, Seaford; Dr. Rowan: "Our Bird Neighbors," New Century Club, Wilmington; same lecture at Odessa Tuesday Club and Seaford Acorn Club; Dr. Vaughn: "Some Curious Raets in Delaware History," New Century Club, New Castle; same lecture, New Century Club, Wilmington; Tuesday Club, Odessa; Acorn Club, Seaford; "Our Town," New Century Club, Milford; Professor Thompson: "Under the Southern Cross," New Century Club, Wilmington; Professor Whittier: "Chemistry of Everyday Life," Tuesday Club, Odessa; Professor Hayward: "Our Careers," Tuesday Club, Odessa; same lecture, Acorn Club, Seaford; Professor McCue: "The Door-yard," Tuesday Club, Odessa; Prof. E. L. Smith: "German Cities," New Century Club, Milford.

Many clubs, as may be seen, have arranged for a series of lectures, and perhaps a dozen other towns are planning to do so.

The whole movement is a reflection of the wave of extension activity which is sweeping the educational institutions of the country. Its inauguration at Delaware College marks a new epoch in the usefulness of the State college. The visits of two or three professors during the year, in practically every town in the State, giving their services free of charge to the various communities, has been the most forceful argument possible to inspire interest in Delaware. The work has justified itself in many ways, and financial support should be given the Extension Committee in order to continue the beginning already made and make the work as effective as possible.

Dr. Mitchell in speaking of this work today emphasized his appreciation of its importance and his thorough sympathy with the movement. One of the greatest advantages, Dr. Mitchell believes, in the condition of higher education in Delaware is the fact that it centers at one point, rather than is distributed throughout the State in a various number of rival institutions. "It is fortunate," he says, "that the point at which they center is one easily accessible to all parts of Delaware and adjoining States. As a newcomer Dr. Mitchell has been impressed with the splendid location of the colleges and the railroad service which makes them closely connected with a wide territory. "For the very reason that our institutions of higher education are centered, however, President Mitchell said, "all forms of extension work are especially imperative. The soul of a college is usefulness. Our agents must go out into every part of the State, find out the needs, and enable the institution to fulfill the demand of our citizenship. These extension agents are therefore vitally important to the usefulness of the institution and shall have my earnest support and sympathy."

Real Circus Coming—Comment From Press

Haverhill Herald, June 9, 1914

Bright and clean and overflowing with genuine acts of worthwhile quality, La Tena's Big Wild Animal circus played to capacity crowds here yesterday, pleasing young and old alike, with its excellent program of novel numbers more than one of which would have done credit to a much more pretentious show. Everything about the show was clean and well regulated, the costuming and staging of the various acts was beyond reproach and the entire outfit proved one of even quality and considerable merit. Both in the quality of the program and in the show, La Tena's circus proved a genuine credit to the show business as a whole.

From the opening parade to the final number there was not a dull moment for somewhere, either in the ring, on the stage or within the big steel animal arena, an act worthy of notice was in progress. A feature that proved well worth the price of admission alone was provided by Wesley's seals, an aggregation of trained animals that would be hard to equal anywhere. They play ball, play in a band and one old fellow actually succeeds in waking a tight rope unaided. In vaudeville, Wesley's seals would be termed a big time act, as a circus attraction the number has few equals.

Other animal acts worthy of more than passing notice were Walter Allen and his performing elephants, Buckman's Pear's and last, but by no means least, Marguerite's lions. A fancy riding act, featuring a tango on horseback, savored of the Barnum and Bailey show and was done with grace and ability by two clever equestrian performers. The program also included a very clever troupe of wire walkers who did many novel tricks and a gifted family of contortionists besides a number of aerial performers of merit. Trained dogs, a small army of clowns and a host of other attractions added the necessary variety and all in all it was a very fine entertainment. (Will exhibit at Newark, Saturday, September 26th.)

The European War—Supply and Prices

The largest and most dependable trade journal in the world has this to say regarding the situation in America caused by the general hostilities in Europe: "Not only is imported merchandise being advanced in first hands but raw materials as well are affected, which later will enhance prices."

Within a couple of days after this horrible war in Europe was launched we had our buyers in New York selecting merchandise. We are pleased to assure our customers that, with this precaution and by reason of orders placed last March and April, we will be able to show as complete Fall and Winter lines as usual. Keeping before us the high standards which have always prevailed in the conduct of this business, we assure our customers that in no instance will our prices be advanced arbitrarily.

We are determined that no "pirate flag" shall float from our masthead but shall continue in the future as in the past to give our customers the best merchandise obtainable at the fairest prices possible.

Silks and Velvets—Largely imported, likely to advance later; our stock complete at old prices.

Wool Dress Goods—Domestic mills will be able to furnish practically everything needed in cloakings and suitings.

Cotton Fabrics—Domestic mills will be able to take the place of the foreign mills in most lines. The present lower price of raw cotton will prevent any appreciable advance with finished products.

Handkerchiefs—We placed the largest orders on holiday Handkerchiefs in March last. We will offer our customers more styles than ever at old prices.

Household Linens—We have never been better prepared on Household Linens than now. Case after case has been received in the past few weeks—stocks were never more complete.

Laces, Embroideries, Braids and Trimmings—These were selected immediately upon the declaration of war and reported scarcity. Our lines were never better.

Ribbons, Veilings, Buttons and Chiffons—Every conceivable new kind and color is here.

Gloves—Advances in the importers' hands are quoted from 10 to 100 per cent, the latter on German fabrics. We own all of our Kid Gloves which we will be able to sell at last year's prices, with one or two exceptions. This favorable condition is made possible by advance orders placed last Spring.

Ready-to-Wear Garments—By reason of the wonderful advances made in manufacturing ready-to-wear garments will not show any increase in price. Values will be equal to any previous year. This applies to Coats, Suits, Skirts, Dresses, and Waists.

With this statement, which we believe to be as correct as is possible to see it, we launch forth into the Fall and Winter season with every assurance of a ready response from the buying public.

We would advise, however, in all wanted lines that an early selection will be most advantageous, as assortments are complete and replenishing uncertain.

We solicit charge accounts from those of established credit, and prepay delivery charges within a reasonable distance.

MANUEL PANERETOS

State Fair A Great Success

The Delaware State Fair, held during last week at Wawaset Driving Park, Wilmington, has been pronounced by the officials the most satisfactory ever held. L. Scott Townsend, president of the association, in speaking of the fair Saturday, said:

"It is customary to say," said Mr. Townsend, "that it was the best fair ever. That is always said, but this year I feel no hesitancy in saying that we had the best, largest and greatest fair that the committee can remember. We ought to know, too, because this committee has served for the last 17 years and it has now become a pet hobby with us."

"For myself, and I think I can express the sentiment of the entire committee, we are delighted with everything connected with the fair. It was a huge success from every viewpoint. The weather was made to order but that was arranged during the recent warm spell of two weeks ago, and the plea for cool weather was made a trifle too strong."

"The attendance was another gratifying feature. During the week we must have had 75,000 persons within the park. Thursday was the big day and when we consider the attendance we feel that almost all of Wilmington, to say nothing of the farmers from the surrounding country must have taken advantage of the occasion to join in the festivities."

"The quality of the exhibits was as high as any standard could be set. The poultry show, the dog show, the horse show and all the rest surpassed our fondest hopes. We had nothing on the grounds that a single exception could be taken to, and all the exhibitors were well satisfied with the management and exceedingly few objections or criticisms were brought up."

"Everything came off without a hitch and when the public express themselves as they did at all times during the week we feel that this year's fair will go down as the best we have ever had, and the best that the state has ever experienced. Our only regret is that next year we have to outlive the 1914 fair and give Wilmington and the 1915 fair a higher standard and this we feel will require an added amount of ingenuity which will be difficult to resurrect."

Our Town

When a child I knew a road which was said to be twelve miles long and which I experienced to be one of countless turns; it wound now to the left, now to the right. Sometimes it turned twice to the left, then twice to the right. I never did learn its strange and varied windings until my sister and I started alone to pay a little visit to my grandfather at the village twelve miles from W—, where I live. Depending on the horse and a few directions from wayfarers arrived at what seemed to me the only entrance to the town. If this had been a walled city it could not have been more firmly fixed in my mind that there were but two entrances, the one by which we came and went and the one which was at the other end of Main street and led over the hill.

To my mind there were but two rows of houses, long rows; I knew them to extend a mile at least for I had walked the distance many times. There they stood facing each other like dancers who have taken their places for the Virginia Reel. They were just as different from one another as dancers could be; some tall, some short; some dressed in red, others in yellow or white, green or orange; some in plain, severe attire, and others with all the ruffles and flounces of the latest styles. Every time I went to this town they stood in this same attitude to me. All the day they stood inactive as though waiting for others to get in line. It was not until evening that they became animated and the partners bowed to each other and were apparently ready to begin the dance.

Each evening we had our mile walk from one end of town to the other. All the houses bowed to each other or us. We had a few words from this porch, a long conversation from that garden. The two that attracted me most and had the strongest influence over me were these: a stately building in red, mellowed by time, with pure white Grecian columns, its sole ornamentation. The rich green, velvety campus spread out like the flowing, graceful robes of a king. Every time I passed I instinctively looked toward the king and in the posture of a subject my spirit gave homage to this institution of learning. The other building pleased more my childish fancy and desire; perhaps because it was small and unassuming. Just a little frame dwelling, two stories high. I saw its simple brown dress long before we reached it on our usual evening walk. I gave it long and eager glances as we passed on the other side. If there had been a dozen hay wagons I should have made the same wish, that my aunt would find it irresistible on her way home, that there would be something to stay her feet, something to catch her glance through the big plate glass window. When returning by the other side of the street we stopped and climbed the steep steps to the narrow porch. I knew my wish was rapidly coming true; when I was sitting at a small table eating my order of Sallie Roach's pineapple ice cream my happiness was complete.

Things in the town of N— are quite changed now. The simple brown dress has faded and gone. Others have got in line and the mile walk now, to use the Irish expression, would be a mile and a bit. Instead of one long formidable Main street I see many avenues which form an L with every intersecting street. Each L is joined with every other L and they all surround the great L of Learning—Delaware College.

Long ago small street lamps shed feeble beams, beams that seemed worlds apart when darkness intervened between the distant posts. Now at eventide sitting on a stoop two miles away I look toward the west and see a glow that being in the west one would think was the twilight of evening but it is really the twilight of morning in Education in Our Town.

Delaware College has found its partner in the Affiliated College and they will go down the ages together in the triumphal march of Education.

As The War Seems

To Some Of Us

The irony of eight avowedly Christian nations plunged into such a war as now devastates Europe is commented on in a recent number of the New York Christian Work and Evangelist, by Rev. Dr. Frederick Lynch, who has just returned from the scene of war. Dr. Lynch describes the horrors of conditions in Europe as follows:

"In a moment, almost without premonition, millions of men on the continent have become frenzied, and with wild eyes, with bestial thirst for blood, and with savage yells, are rushing to rip their brothers' bowels out. Women are rushing from besieged and burning cities with little babies in their arms, and little cold, hungry, tired boys and girls, hardly old enough to walk, trying to keep up. Poverty stares millions in the face—poverty not only during this war, but during long years to come. Thousands of women are to be widowed, millions of little children are to be left fatherless. Natural affections are already blotted out, and their place being taken by strange, cruel lusts and passions. The virtue of women will be a free commodity for all soldiers. Drunkenness has already spread throughout these lands in a mad orgy. All industry will be ruined. Thousands of farms and villages will be laid waste. Thousands of schools and churches will be blown up. Hatreds will be engendered which will keep Europe irritated fifty years after the peace of exhaustion shall come. The commerce of the world will be all upset. The general morality of Europe will be lowered to a point where the churches will have to begin all over again and work a hundred years to restore it. Already thousands of atheists have been made. Almost every other man we have met in Europe this last week has shook his head with sadness and said: 'What's the good of Christianity, if it cannot stop this sort of thing?' It is as if the Devil and all his angels have taken complete possession of Europe."

"The lesson of it all," declares the Literary Digest, "is that nations must live up to the same rules of conduct that their people deserve as individuals."

Again quoting Dr. Lynch: "One thing even the blind can see lies at the root of all this calamity of the nations, and that is our neglect to preach the truth on which any lasting order of justice or peace can be reared, namely, that nations must be amenable to the same Christian ethics that govern the relationships of men. There can be no double standard of ethics in the kingdom of God. Right must be right and wrong be wrong throughout the whole universe of men. If it is wrong for men to steal, it is just as criminal for big nations to seize little ones. If it is wrong for men to murder, it is wrong for nations to kill and destroy weaker nations, or men in any nation. If it is un-Christian for men to settle their dispute with their fists, it is wrong for nations to adjust their quarrels by iron fists on land or sea. If it is Christian for a man to negotiate all questions with his brother in the sweet Christian spirit of forbearance, charity, even forgiveness, what else can be Christian for nations? We have not believed this, we have not preached it in our pulpits, or taught it in our schools. We are going to learn it now in this year of agony. Every pulpit should reiterate it every week."

The committee of 200 in charge of the recent peace parade in New York City will at once effect a permanent organization to oppose war. The organization plans to appeal to the enfranchised women throughout the world to pledge themselves to use their political influence against war. A similar appeal will be made to all women organized to secure the ballot in the United States and abroad. The co-operation of other groups of women will of course be asked. The Woman's Trade Union League, with a membership of 10,000 has issued a call for a mass meeting in Chicago on September 13, in protest against the European War. The Woman's Trade Union League as well as the International Council of Women, and the General Federation of Women's Clubs is on record in favor of woman suffrage.

The idea of the organization will be different from that of the peace societies of the past, in that the utility of armed peace will be recognized. The many suffragists in the parade have of course laid emphasis on the fact that women in order to make their opposition to war effective must have political power. It is believed that many women who have not heretofore been suffragists will become so because of the war.

Does not war concern women? Lucy Stone said: "The government takes a woman's son out to be shot, and then it puts its bloody hand in her pocket to help pay the bills." When Napoleon told a famous Frenchwoman that women ought not to meddle with politics, she answered: "Sire, when women are liable to have their heads cut off, it is only natural that they should wish to know the reason why." And this wish is fully as strong when it is the lives of their sons that are liable to be cut off. The horrors of the war in Europe must be making thousands of women long to have a vote.

—Helen A. Cranston, chairman D. E. S. A. Press Committee.

We give our children drums to beat
Before they stand upon their feet;
We give them swords and soldiers
gay.

And at the game of war they play,
We bend the twig of humankind,
Yet marvel if the tree's inclined.

Early we learn that might is right,
That life itself is one long fight.
This world's a battlefield, we teach;
Business is war—a common speech.
We bash our brother on the nose,
Yet weep if nations come to blows.

Our poems and pictures, books and plays
The doughty deeds of warriors praise.
Our mode of speech, our mode of life
Are echoes of the ancient strife.

The women dress up militaire,
Yet—"War's a horrible affair."

Lewis Spencer, colored, is held at Greenbank, for fatally shooting Arof the Clayton section, at the colon Sunday of last week. The trouble grew out of a crap game. John Starkey of Middletown was shot

 earlier in the day by Clarence Roth-and is held to await the result of Starkey's injuries. Another negro was shot in the leg but he and his assailant disappeared.

Jesse Jones, aged 22 years, of South Wilmington, who was acci-

 ning for redbirds in the marshes
 near his home, died at Delaware victim of the season.

Delaware Honored At Star Spangled Banner Conference

Delaware was well represented at the Star Spangled Banner Centennial celebration held in Baltimore last week. The exercises were attended by Governor Miller, Adjutant General Wickersham, and other members of the governor's staff; Judge Conrad, Mayor Howell
 and Frank J. Williams. The latter three were among the commissioners appointed by the Governor to represent this State at the celebration. Governor Miller was a guest Friday afternoon at a luncheon given by the Cuban minister at the Hotel Emerson. He also made an address at a banquet given the same evening by Governor Golds-borough of Maryland, and Mayor Preston of Baltimore at the Baltimore Club.

The Diamond State had the honor of leading all other states when a parade was held from Mt. Vernon Place, Baltimore, to Fort Mc
 Henry in South Baltimore. Governor Miller and Adjutant Wiek-ersham occupied a carriage and led all other executives in attendance. Each governor in line was accompanied by his adjutant-general. This honor was accorded Delaware, as is always done in celebrations of a national character, because this State was the first to ratify the Federal Constitution.

The centennial exercises were attended by representatives from twelve of the eighteen states that were in the union 100 years ago when Francis Scott Key wrote the immortal "Star-Spangled Banner."

Conference For Older Boys

The first of a series of conferences to be held by the older boys of the Sunday Schools of New Castle county will be held on Friday and Saturday, September 25 and 26. A committee consisting of 36 boys and five adults has charge of the arrangements and everything points to a successful conference. It is expected there will be at least 150 men and boys present at the banquet and about 250 at the conference.

The program committee has mailed copies of the prospectus to the superintendents of all the Sunday-schools of New Castle county, and the committee hopes that the boys will register with the general secretary promptly. The banquet will be held in the new I. O. O. F. Hall at Tenth and King streets, Wilmington, on Friday evening, and the Conference will be held the morning and afternoon of Saturday in Delaware Avenue Baptist Sunday School, Wilmington.

Rural Mail Carriers Meet

The Rural Mail Carriers' Association of Delaware held a meeting last week in the United States Court room in Wilmington with President Frank L. McKee of Dover, in the chair. Delegate C. H.
 Lane of Harrington gave a resume of the work of the recent national convention. Secretary Walter Ford of Clayton and various committees submitted reports. Officers of the association will be chosen at a meeting to be held in February.

Where Housewives Are Right

The Housewives' League is appealing to the U. S. government to take such action as will prevent the cost of living from becoming greater because of the European war than it is at present. It is seeking an executive proclamation urging the merchants of the country to maintain level prices during this period, and it supports its plea by giving numerous instances in which prices have already been raised without any warrant on the presumption the advance is justified
 by the disturbances abroad.

Not the government at Washington only, but State and local governments in the U. S. should discountenance every symptom of speculation in foodstuffs at this time, not only in behalf of their own people, but in behalf as well of the millions elsewhere who must look to this country largely in the months to come for the means of subsistence.

Special Session To Convene

A special session of the General Assembly will be called about the first of October, for the purpose of acting upon the report of the Revised Code Commission, comprising Herbert H. Ward and T. Bayard Heisel, and also to give the Senate an opportunity to receive for confirmation an appointment by the State Supreme Court, to succeed Judge Victor B. Woolley, who has been appointed a justice of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

This statement is made on the authority of Governor Miller. The governor was not prepared to fix the time for the special session, in view of the fact that it depends upon certain contingencies as some details are yet to be worked out.

Governor Miller's announcement followed notification sent to him by the Revised Code Commissioners that they had asked for a conference at their office, 812 Equitable Building, on Monday, September 14, with Hon. George Fisher Pierce of Milford, and Hon. John H.
 Hammond of Georgetown, the respective chairmen of the Senate and House committees on Revised Statutes. This is in accordance with the legal requirements in the premises. The Revised Code Commissioners, who will have completed their report by that time, will submit it to Messrs. Pierce and Hammond, for their examination, and will request them to ask the governor to call a special session of the Legislature to pass upon it.

 Following this conference a formal request will be made of the governor to issue the call for the legislative session and he will do so. The commissioners are now completing their report.

Here and There

Stricken with paralysis while dressing a wound in his leg in an unused portion of the storage
 house of a cannery at Seaford,
 John G. Doane, aged 65, of Blades, one of the hands at the plant, lay helpless for three days and nights
 before he was found by other workmen. It is thought he has little prospect of recovery.

The conference of Prohibition-
 ists at Eden Hall, Wilmington, Friday, was slimly attended. A committee of seven was named to outline a platform and consider the nomination of a State ticket, but it was resolved to await the action of other parties.

Mrs. George M. Miller, returning on last Tuesday night from the State Fair to her home at Gordon Heights, saw a man running out of a rear door and later found that the house had been ransacked. The robber secured a diamond ring, three watches, bracelets, pins and other valuables worth in all about $700. She could not tell whether the man she saw was white or colored.

Joseph Soper, who keeps a store
 at Townsend and B streets, Wilmington, was attacked about 9 o'clock on Thursday morning, on A street, near Buttonwood, by a negro who gave him several bruises and robbed him of $20. Several persons witnessed the holdup but gave Soper no assistance. The negro it is reported, was seen later near French street station and, it is thought, left on a train.

SEEDING WHEAT

(An article from the "Practical Farmer" by Professor A. E. Grantham.)

How much wheat to sow per acre is often a puzzling question. While some growers advocate a certain number of pecks of seed per acre for all conditions, others claim that their rate of seeding is determined by the conditions of soil and season. The weather is an important one, since the cost of a peck of seed wheat is generally as much as that of seed corn sufficient to plant a whole acre. On the average farm the cost of seed for an acre of wheat is about five times as much as that for an acre of corn.

Several factors enter into the question of the rate of seeding. It is well known that wheat has the capacity of tillering or sending up a number of stalks from each seed. One of the factors, or conditions which will determine the number of tillers is the time of seeding. Early seeding gives the individual plant the opportunity to make larger growth and of becoming better established in the fall. Careful experiments conducted by the Delaware Station show that the number of tillers per plant is directly related to the date of seeding. Plantings made at intervals of seven days from the 10th of September until November 1st give a higher tillering average for the early seedings, and the number of tillers per plant steadily decreased as the seeding was delayed. Of course, the very early seedings did not yield quite so well as those sown the 1st of October, owing to disturbances by the Hessian fly and other causes. Yet the fact remains that early to medium late seeding produces greater tillering.

Another fact which influences the number of tillers is the fertility of the soil. The experiments cited above were carried out on soil well fertilized and on the same soil without fertilizers. Where the fertilizers were applied the lateness of seeding had less effect on lessening the number of tillers. In other words, on well fertilized land fairly late seeding may be practiced without lessening the chances of getting a full stand of wheat. These factors have a direct bearing on the question of the quantity of seed to use per acre. On poor land a somewhat heavier seeding should be made on fertile soil. Or, if the seeding is quite late more seed should be used than where the sowing is made in good time.

Still another factor influence the rate of tillering and directly the rate of seeding, and that is the variety of wheat. The writer has had under observation during the past six years, more than one hundred varieties of wheat. These wheats have been sown in the ordinary way with the grain drill in plats side by side, and also planted in hills 6 inches apart each way. At least 200 plants of each variety have been grown in this manner from year to year. The varieties were grown by this method, so that the individual plant might be studied with respect to tillering. At harvest time each plant was cut separately by hand and the number of tillers or stalks counted. These were recorded in a notebook. Later the average number of tillers was computed for each variety. From these studies it has been found that certain varieties are much superior to others with respect to the number of tillers each plant produces. In general, the varieties of wheat with a short, stiff straw do not tiller out so freely as the varieties with long, slender straw of medium to fine quality. The Fultz-Mediterranean variety is an example of the former class of wheats. The Mediterranean, Valley, Red Wonder and Gypsy are of the latter class. From rather extensive study of this problem it seems that the bearded wheats, as a class tiller more freely than the beardless varieties. Of course, there are a few exceptions in each class, but they are very few. Whether there is any correlation between the tendency to tiller and yield per acre may be answered by comparing the yields of our beardless and bearded varieties for the past six years. Out of the ten varieties leading in yield per acre during that period, nine have been of the bearded sorts. Inquiries among the wheat growers of this section show that bearded varieties of wheat are more dependable for yield, one year with another than the beardless. There are certain seasons, and 1914 was one, when many of the beardless varieties produce quite as well as the bearded. It is well to note in passing that this tendency to tiller freely seems to be associated with a greater capacity on the part of the variety to do well on poor soil. From experiments it has been found that there is a greater difference in the rate of tillering between the heavy tillering and the light tillering sorts on unfertilized soil. That is, those varieties tending to tiller freely do much better than low tillering varieties when soil conditions are not favorable. On rich soil the difference is not so marked.

All of these considerations must be taken into account in regulating the quantity of seed per acre. It must be admitted that much confusion exists among many growers as to the name or identity of varieties of wheat. Too often a highly advertised variety will not yield as well as an old standard sort that has been well graded. During the past few years a certain variety has been widely advertised and sold on the claim that it tillers more freely than other wheats, and for that reason much less seed is required per acre. This wheat, commonly called Miracle, has been tested by the Delaware Station from the time the variety was first introduced, yet in comparison with many of the well known standard varieties, has not been found to tiller more freely than many of them. While it is a good wheat and yields well when sown at a low rate per acre yet several other varieties will produce as large yields if sown in a similar manner.

There is no doubt that too much seed is used under certain conditions. As soon as the rate of seeding passes the capacity of the soil for producing a certain yield, the individual plants suffer through the competition induced by the thick seeding. Two bushels of seed per acre is the quantity often used but on light soils this is too heavy a seeding for the best results with certain varieties. The indications are that the heavy tillering varieties are less affected by rather thick seeding than varieties which tiller less. On fertile soil three pecks of a freely tillering variety will be sufficient seed to use. In general, about 6 pecks seems to be a good average rate of seeding for most conditions.
