

FW VOTE MONITE ON POSTS FOR NEXT YEAR

War Memorial Plans Pushed; Seek Names Of All Local Vets

S. Maclary and J. O. Crossan, Jr., candidates for commander of the J. A. Daniel Post, No. 475, head the slate which will go before the voting members tonight in the group's annual election.

The remainder of the ticket follows: vice-commander, William Coverdale and Raymond Edmondson, Jr.; major vice-commander, Harry Maclary; Raymond Edwards; chaplain, Raymond Giles; quartermaster, Tom Campbell. The last two are up for reelection.

The present officers, whose terms are ending, are: Ren George, commander; Grundy, Jr., senior vice-commander; Leslie Paek, junior vice-commander; Raymond Giles, chaplain; Tom Campbell, quartermaster.

Additional progress was reported last week on the V. F. W.'s plan to establish a permanent war memorial, replacing the Honor Roll on Main Street.

Edward Ratti, sculptor, who has been asked to execute the work, will display first of three miniatures of varying size within 30 days.

Also announced was the fact that the V. F. W. committee is proposing the Honor Roll's site before the town library on Main Street as the most suitable place to erect the new memorial. The selection is only tentative, it was stated, and awaits final approval of the groups participating in the project. The committee also issued a call this week for information on World War II veterans whose names are not included on the Main Street Honor Roll. A number of such omissions exist, it was stated, and anyone with information concerning them is urged to notify William Coverdale, chairman of the V. F. W. committee.

TO LAUNCH SECOND ISSUE IN MARCH 26

To Finance Part Of New School Here

A $300,000 bond issue, which will help finance the construction of a new elementary school building here, was launched March 26, according to an announcement yesterday by school authorities.

The issue will be the first concrete step toward erecting the school first proposed here a number of years ago. The issue itself has been tabled for years due to the disruption of plans by high costs and scarce materials.

Site selected for the new building has not been announced as yet and the bond could be obtained this week when actual construction would begin.

Total cost of the proposed, 26-classroom school, plus a separate cafeteria building and a central heating plant, is estimated now at over $600,000. In addition to the $300,000 from the local bond issue, funds are also available through state appropriation and a small rebuilding fund built up by the school board.

CARNIVAL COMMITTEE CHOSEN BY AETNA MEN

Firemen Promise Big 10-Day Event In Summer

Promising a summer carnival here which will outdo last year's colorful event, the Aetna Fire Company this week disclosed it is already pushing plans for a big, 10-day fete to be held June 25 to July 5.

More and better-stocked booths, plus a greater variety of carnival concessions are in the offing, officials said, adding that, as last year, the event will be climaxed by the awarding of a new, fully equipped automobile.

A 13-man committee, headed by William Warwick, has already begun work on the plans. The group includes: Edwin Shakespeare, treasurer; Elmer Ellison, fire chief; Dan Stoll, company president; John W. Tweed, Horace Null, Fred Finkernagle, George Neighbors, Leslie Hill, George Dobson, Harry Hill, George F. Jackson, Clifton Knotts, and Police Chief William Cunningham.

Contributions of fancy work to be offered at the carnival are now being accepted, it was further announced. Women interested in making donations are asked to notify Mr. Warwick.

Also, members of the company who have been assigned uniforms and are storing them either at home or in the fire house are urged to notify Aetna officials immediately. The information is needed in order to determine the exact number of serviceable uniforms in the company's possession.

Fire Recorder Charles E. Moore made his February report to the Aetna Company Monday night, listing two calls in town with no loss, three alarms in the district for fires causing $75 in damages, and two calls outside the district.

The ambulance, he said, made 31 mercy runs, covering 874 miles.

In a highly informative address, Dr. Lanier traced employer-employee relations from the early 19th century to the present day.

At the business session preceding the regular program, plans for a duo-piano and violin concert to be given in the club house March 30 were announced. Featured artists will be Dr. and Mrs. Kurt Wohl and their son, Helmut Wohl. Proceeds will help meet the cost of the piano recently purchased by the club.

A nominating committee, which will name a slate of candidates for the club's annual election to be held soon, was also named. In the group are: Mrs. Richard Snyder, Mrs. Raymond Helm and Mrs. Milton Draper.

Later, the members voted a $25 contribution to the current Red Cross drive. It was also announced that the Elizabeth Arden fitted handbag will be awarded at the regular meeting on April 3. Club president, Mrs. R. O. Bausman presided at the business meeting.

AAUW UNIT HERE URGES ERP BACKING

Members Hear Mrs. W. Smith Discuss India

Members of the Newark Branch, American Association of University Women, have gone on record as favoring U. S. backing for the proposed European Recovery Program.

The group's endorsement of ERP was made Monday night at a meeting of the general membership in Warner Hall. The move followed a detailed discussion of the highly important issue by Mrs. Frances Bratton and Mrs. C. E. Rankin, representatives of the International Relations Groups of the local AAUW. Political, economic and humanitarian reasons for supporting ERP were cited by the speakers. The members voted to send letters to Delaware's representatives in Congress urging prompt action on the measure.

Speaker of the evening was Mrs. Wilbert Smith, of Wilmington, executive secretary of the state council on social work, who discussed current developments in India. A resident there for five years, Mrs. Smith emphasized the role of Mohandas Gandhi played in from which India emerged as a nation. Forthcoming study group meetings are as follows:

Last week the group voted a $25 contribution to the Red Cross.

RETAIL MEN TO PROMOTE COOPERATIVE SALE DRIVES

Seek To Bring More Business Here; Important Meet Next Week

A concerted effort to put Newark on the map as the leading shopping center in this area was launched at a meeting of some 50 local retailers last Thursday night in the Academy Restaurant.

Claiming that much local business filters from Newark to surrounding towns, especially Wilmington, the merchants discussed plans for staging a number of all-out sales campaigns, including Dollar Days and other special events. All expressed enthusiasm for the plan.

Representatives of Station WILM were on hand to outline possibilities of airing a half-hour Newark radio program, cooperatively financed by the businessmen. Details for a personalized show emanating from some point in the community and featuring interviews of local people were sketched.

In addition, the retailers proposed publicizing their events through direct mail and newspaper advertising.

The long debated issue on uniform store hours was also brought up, with the majority favoring Wednesday afternoon closing instead of Thursday.

Committees were named to study all phases of the project and report a second general meeting of the retailers set for March 18.

RED CROSS DRIVE WILL END HERE ON SUNDAY

Early Returns High, Officials Say, Expect To Equal '47 Drive

As Newark's 175 volunteer solicitors moved into the final rounds of their house to house canvass this week, the 1948 Red Cross campaign here neared its deadline this Sunday with every prospect of equalling last year's outstanding record, according to Dr. R. O. Bausman, general chairman.

Although no exact figures on the amount contributed could be given as yet, subscriptions to the current drive are running gratifyingly high, he said, adding that the public, aware of the importance of Red Cross work in these hazardous times, appears to be cooperating fully.

Final returns will be made to campaign treasurer, Mrs. Edwin L. Shakespear, at the County Health Center, 132 West Main Street between 7 and 9 p. m. this Sunday.

In a final appeal for support yesterday, Dr. Bausman stated that every donation regardless of amount is vitally needed. Outlining the contributions of the Red Cross to the community and nation, he stressed particularly the disaster relief and blood bank phases of the organization's program.

In addition, he urged solicitors to renew their efforts to see that every family in the branch area is interviewed. Those overlooked in the canvass are asked to mail their contributions to the drive headquarters at the County Health Unit.

PROPOSALS ON CHARTER BY JAYCEES

Group Lists Suggestions On New Draft

Recommendations for special provisions to be included in the new town charter now being drafted by a 13-man citizen's committee here were made at a recent meeting of the Newark Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Grover Surratt, the Jaycees' representative on the town charter group, outlined progress made thus far on the new draft now being written. After hearing his report, the members instructed him regarding several points they favor for inclusion in the charter. Their recommendations dealt chiefly with proposed voting regulations, the manner of conducting municipal bond issues and the poll tax question.

The Jaycees appeared to favor permitting non-property owners to vote referendums on bond issues here instead of merely property citizens as is now the case. They suggested basing voting eligibility on a general capitation tax rather than on the existing town assessment levy.

The group generally favored the continuance of the poll tax.

The present town charter was also discussed, with the members pointing out what they believed to be its strong points and shortcomings.

P.-T. A. PLAN FOR CAREER CONFERENCE PROGRESSING

Job Counselors Being Sought For Talks With Students In May

The career conference being planned by the Newark P.-T. A. to give high school students here an opportunity to get first-hand information on the job field they aim to enter will be held May 13 in the high school.

About 15 counselors, leaders in various professions and in industry, will be on hand that evening to hold conferences with students and parents in the classrooms. Each student will have an opportunity to hear at least two of the experts.

A wide range of vocational fields will be represented by the counselors, who are being selected on the basis of a survey conducted recently at the school to determine what types of careers are most popular among the students.

Of the 282 students whose vocational interests were sampled through a questionnaire, the largest number, 98 boys and girls, went on record as preferring some type of clerical work. Second most popular choice was the skilled trade and technical field, with 33 favoring this type of work. Farming was also high on the list, being favored by 20 students. In addition, 24 youths chose the teaching profession.

The same 282 students were questioned on their plans for further education after high school graduation. A surprising total of 231 expressed a desire to continue school. Of these, 113 said they want a college education. The break-down for the remainder was: business school, 46; nursing, 29; technical school, 10; other schools, 15. Fifty-one said they have no desire for further training.

From this information, officials aim to select experienced counselors representing fields of interest to the students. Cooperating with the P.-T. A. in the effort to secure the experts are officials at the University of Delaware, the DuPont Company and local industries.

WOLLASTON FILES AGAIN FOR COUNCIL

First To Announce Candidacy

Herman Wollaston, veteran Newark Councilman, filed for reelection this week from the Middle District, thus becoming the first candidate to enter the lists in the municipal balloting scheduled for April 13.

Mr. Wollaston will be seeking his eighth 2-year term on the town governing body, first being elected in 1933 and serving ever since with the exception of one year.

Three other posts will be open in the balloting next month. Local voters will choose a mayor and three councilmen altogether. In addition to Mr.

Mayor C. C. Hubert announced late yesterday he will again be a candidate for Mayor in next month's vote. Oldest Council member in length of service, Mr. Hubert was first named to the town body in 1928 and first became Mayor in 1943.

Wollaston, the terms of Mayor C. C. Hubert, John S. Hopkins and F. A. Wheelless are expiring. None except Mr. Wollaston has announced his candidacy for reelection as yet.

The lack of political activity appeared unusual this week in view of the fact that the election is less than a month away and the deadline for filing only a little over two weeks distant on April 3.

Singing Commercial Advertises Soph Dance

A novel method of advertising the Newark High School's Sophomore Dance was introduced at an assembly this week when a group of students presented a singing commercial written by Jimmy Towers. Ernest Wilder accompanied the group on the piano.

Idea for the commercial was suggested by Judy Kase.

The dance will be held March 12, beginning at 8:30 p. m. at the high school.

RURAL BANK GROUP BACKS 4-H CONTEST

For the second year member banks of the Rural New Castle County Bankers' Association and the New Castle County Soil Conservation District are sponsoring a county-wide soil conservation contest for 4-H Club and FFA members.

Sponsors of the contest report that last year 107 members of these two youth groups participated in the contest and that again this year $1,200 will be awarded in trips and prizes to the 1948 winners. Last year the farm boys completed 16,000 lineal feet of individual farm drains, installed 100 acres of strip cropping, built 450 feet of diversion terraces and established 32,000 feet of grass waterways. Further they fenced from livestock 255 acres of woodland, established 207 acres of improved permanent pasture and six wildlife feeding stations.

Any active member of a 4-H Club or FFA chapter in the county is eligible to compete and information on the contest may be secured from high school vocational agricultural teachers, 4-H leaders, the sponsoring banks, or County Agent Edward Schabinger, secretary of the New Castle County Soil Conservation District.

Banks cooperating include: Delaware City National Bank, Delaware City; Claymont Trust Co., Claymont; Delaware Trust Co., Middletown; New Castle County National Bank, Odessa; Townsend Trust Co., Townsend; St. Georges Trust Co., Newport; New Castle County Trust Co., New Castle; Farmers Trust and Newark Trust Companies, Newark.

LECTURESHIP AT U. OF D. IS PLANNED BY CANNON UNIT

Endowment
Fund Of $20,000
To Be Secured
By Committee

An annual lectureship in science at the University of Delaware was announced yesterday, as the goal of the Annie Jump Cannon Memorial Committee of which Mrs. John Pilling Wright, of Newark, is chairman. At a meeting held in the Hilarium of the Women's College, the woman's committee and the men's advisory committee, appointed several months ago, were merged and plans developed to secure the $20,000 required as an endowment fund to be administered by the university.

Agreement upon an annual Annie Jump Cannon lectureship, instead of the scholarship at first considered, is the outcome of inquiry among a number of Dr. Cannon's closest friends and professional associates. The lectureship, it is believed, will not only reflect, in the name by which it is known, the state's pride in the Delaware woman's achievements, but will also bring to the local campus some of the most outstanding scientists of our time. Plans adopted by the committee will afford an opportunity for all who wish to honor Dr. Cannon to participate in the project.

Dr. Cannon, a native of Kent County, at the time of her death in 1941, was curator of astronomical photography at the Harvard Observatory. In the course of her career, she has photographed more than 400,000 stellar bodies and compiled the Henry Draper Catalog, known and used by astronomers throughout the world.

Ware Abouts

At least one man in Newark knew who the "Walking Man" was before Mrs. Hubbard guessed Jack Benny on Saturday night's "Truth or Consequences" program and won a conglomerate of swell gifts amounting to approximately $22,000.

Last week developments produced stories in Time Magazine, a Washington, D. C. paper and the Chicago Sun & Times, among others, who definitely stated that Tightwad Benny was the "Walking Man" and gave enough creditable facts to substantiate their claim. . . . at any rate they were right and Chicago's Mrs. Hubbard was fortunate to be the first one called on Saturday's program, for, we imagine, the cat was well out of the bag (which the program probably intended as the content was running too long and reaching too fantastic proportions) and any contestant called would have had the right answer ready.

So, this gigantic contest successfully promoted by hilarious Ralph Edwards who does everything DUZ doesn't do, followed about the same pattern as the Miss Hush contest . . . when everyone also knew that Martha Graham was the mystery lady long before she was properly identified by a contestant.

In any event, these affairs provide tense, interesting radio listening and promote fabulous sums for worthy causes. One source said that as many as 114,000 answers were received in one day. With each letter containing a Heart contribution, it wouldn't take long for the answers to accumulate quite a sizeable wad.

If anyone has a book on how to play bridge, we've a friend who'd like to borrow it. In fact he needs to borrow one. This friend beat us rather regularly at golf all last year and this winter took the notion that we'd be no more competition across the bridge table and issued a challenge—which was his first mistake.

Consequently we have met twice—both with disastrous results to him. After the last session he declared he was going to learn that game if it was the last thing he did . . . and it might well be that it will be the last thing he does.

We're indebted to Wilmer E. Shue, superintendent of Newark schools, for a copy of the pamphlet entitled "The Stake of Business in American Education," taken from an address by Frank W. Abrams, chairman of the Board of Directors of the Standard Oil Co., of N. J.

We know that many of you also received this pamphlet. We know that many of you, like us, probably put it to one side and haven't read it yet. We also know that many of you, like us, have children growing up and that your interest is now centered in their preparation for the future.

It is with this thought in mind, selfish so far as we are concerned, that we think it worthwhile to reproduce a part of this message—just in case some of you didn't read it thoroughly.

Mr. Abrams says: "Here are some high spots from a study of education and income made in 1927, but undoubtedly relevant today.

"Take an untrained man with a grade school education. On the average, he goes to work at fourteen and reaches his top earning power at the age of forty. Since his income is largely dependent on physical strength or manual dexterity, it begins to fall off at fifty or before. At age sixty the chances are better than even that he is dependent upon others for support.

"The average high school graduate goes to work at eighteen and within ten years is making more than the untrained man ever makes. He rises steadily to his own top earning power at fifty, and falls off only slightly thereafter.

"The average college or technical school graduate does not start steady work until he is twenty-two. By the time he is thirty he is earning as much as the high school graduate does at forty, and his income continues to rise virtually without a break. Since it depends on mental ability and training, both of which improve with practice, he continues to gain until he retires.

"Let me repeat, the study referred to is 20 years old, but I don't doubt that the same approximate ratios apply today. At peak earnings, a high school graduate earns 65% more than a grade school graduate, and the holder of an A. B. degree outstrips him by 230%.

"Today, 50% of those in the highest income bracket are college trained, more than 40% are high school trained, and less than 8% are grade school trained. In the lowest income bracket, these figures are almost exactly reversed.

"Individual income or earning power is not the only factor that influences the expansion of markets. Education sharpens the desire for commodities such as books, newspapers, automobiles, better homes, and even the kind of food he eats. Statistical studies show a definite correlation between educational level, earning power and the consumption of all commodities.

"All of which means that the more high school and college graduates there are in this country, the higher standard of living all of us enjoy, and that is simply another way of saying the more prosperous customers American business and industry have."

Thank you Mr. Abrams—and Mr. Shue, for giving us the privilege of reading this message. We hope parents will make this compulsory reading for their children . . . for their own good.

PLAY STAGED AT ASSEMBLY

Intermediate Program Given

A short play, "An Evening at Mount Vernon," was given at an intermediate school assembly recently by home-room 5-103.

Gino Ratti and Doris Records, as George and Martha Washington, headed the cast which included Betty Lewis as Peggy Moore; Bertha Tweed and Harry Perkins as two Negro servants. The remainder of the cast acted as guests at Mount Vernon.

Brisk dialogue, plus a number of songs and the dancing of a minuet carried the play to a delightful end. The stage settings and lighting were managed by Wayne Wilson, Willis Jackson, Romie Joiner and Dick Burris.

The second half of the program consisted of songs and dances of Old Mexico. Howard Joiner opened the program with a greeting and announced the cast of characters for the play.

Letter To Editor

Dear Sir:

The movement to honor those who served in the last war with a statue or the like is a worthy one and commendation is due those who are promoting it. We do not wish for one moment to detract attention from it but rather to give support to the cause.

We would like, however, to suggest something different from that originally proposed as the form of the memorial. We are thinking of something that would serve the youth and young adults of the community as compared with a monument or the like.

We think it fine for the group sponsoring this movement and feel it highly desirable they continue their leadership in this line. But why not invite all community groups to build a living memorial in the form of a community building or a field house or a stadium or a park? We are thinking of a memorial which would be an investment in the future. We see it as a means of offering the youth of the community a source of wholesome recreational activity.

COLONIAL WARS UNIT IN MEETING

Society Lists Delegates To April Parley

Delegates and alternates to the national conference of the Society of Colonial Wars to be held in Washington next month were selected at a recent meeting of the Delaware Chapter in the Art Center, Wilmington.

Those named are: delegates, Mrs. William Holton and Mrs. Harry Clark Boden, both of Newark; alternates, Miss Elizabeth J. Newkirk, Wilmington, and Mrs. F. B. Ridgway, Newark. The president and vice-president, Mrs. Walter S. Williams and Mrs. John Biggs, Jr., will attend by virtue of their office.

A memorial tribute to a deceased member, Mrs. Charles Kent, was conducted at the session. Also, a letter of thanks from the New Castle Veterans' Hospital regarding a recent gift of a typewriter was read by the president.

A report on rehabilitation from Mrs. J. Pilling Wright was read by Miss Newkirk, secretary. Mrs. Edward Cooch suggested some amendments to the society's by-laws.

Routine business took up most of the meeting, with the following committee heads reporting: Mrs. Walter Williams, Mrs. George Miller, Mrs. Irvin Dayett, Mrs. Mary R. Bardsley, Mrs. Boden, Mrs. Mary Mendenhall Mullen, Mrs. Biggs, Jr., Mrs. Glenn S. Skinner.

The reports consumed so much time that a program prepared by those in charge of the Art Center had to be omitted.

2nd Extension Course Is Formed In Fluid Mechanics

Because of the unusually heavy registration in the University of Delaware Academic Extension course in "Fluid Mechanics," a second class is being started this week, according to Paul M. Hodgson, director of extension. The second class will meet Friday at 7:30 p. m. in Room 204, Chemistry Building, on the Newark campus.

The course has been meeting, with more than 100 persons in attendance, in Wilmington High School, and Mr. Hodgson explained that the division of the class should make it possible for the many graduate students from Newark to attend more conveniently. C. E. Lapple of the DuPont Company is instructor, aided by several special lecturers. The new class is the only one in extension which meets on a Friday. New students may enroll in the Newark course, if they do not wish credit.

Mr. Hodgson also announced that the course in "Advanced Farm Management," taught by Dr. R. O. Bausman of the University faculty is being moved from Wilmington to Newark, where it is to be held Wednesday evenings in Wolf Hall.

Guernsey Here Sets State Champion Mark

Clarence Fraim and Daniel E. Harris, Newark, have made a state champion record on their registered Guernsey cow, Berkley Fortress. Her production of 6786 pounds of milk and 395 pounds of butterfat is the highest record in the state made by a junior two-year-old in the Herd Improvement Register division.

The sire of this cow, McDonald Farms Fort, owned by Frank McVaugh, Hockessin, has thirteen daughters in the Performance Register of The American Guernsey Cattle Club.

In National Finals

Hilda Somers

To Compete In Carnegie Hall Concert Finals

Miss Hilda Somers, dramatic soprano and instructor in voice at the University of Delaware, will compete for national honors in Carnegie Hall on Saturday in a contest sponsored by the Associated Concert Bureau of New York.

Miss Somers, who previously won a regional contest which entitled her to enter the national finals, will sing three numbers, all in English. They include the aria "One Fine Day" from Puccini's opera, "Madame Butterfly"; "Sea Moods" by Midred Tyson; and "Oh, Dear, What Can the Matter Be?" an arrangement by Arnold Bax.

A native of Burlington, N. C., Miss Somers joined the faculty of the University of Delaware, last September, after several years as a music teacher in the Burlington Public Schools.

A graduate in music from Greensboro College, she has studied with Walter Vassar of Greensboro, and with Charles Baker, of the Juilliard School of Music in New York. She has taken part in a number of oratorios and operas in North Carolina and also had a regular radio program in Burlington.

Later this spring, Miss Somers will present a public recital in Mitchell Hall on the Newark campus. She was soloist at the University's Christmas presentation of Handel's "Messiah" and recently sang on Station WDEL during a University of Delaware program.

INCOME TAX!

This scene is quite familiar to the most of us whose tax is due.

The house is now a dreary place, with worry etched on every face. The kids no longer yell or shout, but whisper as they play about. And, no one there will dare relax, 'till we have filed our INCOME TAX.

There is no worry or gloom in the house that boasts a Frigidaire! This refrigerator gives you the combination of conditions necessary for food preservation. These ideal conditions keep your food tastier, crisper and fresher. See the model Frigidaire you want, 6 or 11 cu. ft., at the
