MILLER ELECTED GOVERNOR

Other State Officers Still In Doubt

New Castle County Offices Safe in Republican Column

Senate Republican but Democrats

Hold Majority on Joint Ballot

Pencader Banner Hundred of the State--Elects Its Whole

Ticket by Largest Majority Ever Known

GOVERNOR ELECT CHARLES R. MILLER

At 2 o'clock this afternoon the result of yesterday's election in Delaware was still in doubt as to numerous offices. It was positive, owing to the split in the Republican party that Woodrow Wilson, Democrat will get the three electoral votes of the State. It was also sure that Charles R. Miller, the Republican candidate, was elected Governor over Thomas M. Monaghan, the Democratic candidate, by a majority of probably 500, while the election of Josiah O. Wolcott, Democrat, for Attorney General, by a small majority was also considered.

As was expected, owing to the Republican, "Bull Moose," and National Progressives, all having separate candidates in the field, Franklin Brookston, the Democratic nominee was elected to Congress by a fairly large majority. The remainder of the State ticket was very much in doubt with both the Republicans and Democrats claiming the offices by small majorities.

The New Castle County Republican ticket including Prothonotary Clerk of the Peace, County Treasurer, Comptroller, and Sheriff is apparently safe by majorities of from 500 to 1,000, while the Democrats are claiming that they have elected Cleveland, their candidate for Coroner, although the Republicans do not concede the defeat of their candidate and think he will pull through.

Much interest centered in the legislative tickets, and with the help that the "Bull Moose" vote gave them, it is practically certain that the Democrats will have a majority of either one or two votes in the General Assembly on joint ballot. This means that the Democrats will select a United States Senator next winter to succeed Senator Harry A. Richardson, a few will likely doubt but what the Democratic Boss, Willard Saulsbury, after his many set backs will at last secure his ambition. The indications are that the State Senate will be made up of 9 Republicans and 8 Democrats, and the House with 14 Republicans and 21 Democrats.

The unofficial returns give the Republicans a majority of one in the New Castle County Levy Court, although this is a loss of two members from the present make-up of that body. The indications are that the following Levy courtmen have been elected: First District, Samuel L. Burdick, Republican; second district, Democratic candidate defeated Gen. J. Pusey Wickesham; third district, Everett B. Hollingsworth, Republican; fourth district, Benjamin A. Groves, Republican; fifth district, Martin Smith, Democrat; sixth district, Thomas S. Fournier, Republican; and seventh district, William A. Scott, Democrat. It is thought that the Republicans have elected three out of the four State Senators voted for in New Castle County and eight of the fifteen Representatives to the General Assembly.

The election probably attracted more general attention and got out a larger vote than any previous election in the history of the State. The regular Republican Party, against great odds, which odds include the "Bull Moose" party, put up a great fight and came out much better than even many friends of the party expected. By hard work they succeeded in preventing the "Bull Moose" party from turning the Governorship over to the Democrats, although the Legislature was lost. The belief is that Taft ran a good second to Wilson in Delaware. The total "Bull Moose" vote in the State was about 2000. The vote received by the National Progressive ticket which had on it the Roosevelt electors and Republican State candidates was much larger. The Democrats claim a majority of 1450 in Kent and Sussex Counties, while the Republican majority for Miller in New Castle County was probably between 1800 and 2,000, which gives Mr. Miller a majority of at least 500. Senator Monaghan was cut considerably while Mr. Miller ran much ahead of his ticket. Mr. Wolcott, who is apparently elected Attorney General, also ran ahead of the Democratic ticket.

PENCADER AND WHITE CLAY CREEK
Pencader proved the banner Republican hundred of the State. This hundred not only gave a good vote for the head of the ticket but also elected McCormick, Republican Representative, by the largest majority ever known there, and gave fine majorities to the Republican candidates for State Senator and Levy Courtman. The vote of Mr. McCormick was 234 in the two districts while that of Mr. Connor, the Democratic candidate, was but 205, giving the former a majority of 29. Russell, the Republican candidate for Assessor in that hundred was elected over Butler, Democrat, by 62.

In White Clay Creek the Republicans elected Hoffecker over Cooh, the Democratic candidate for Representative, by a majority of 12, although Shaw was cut for Levy Courtman, in favor of Martin Smith, the Democratic candidate, who won out. Mr. Cooh's total vote was 462 and Mr. Hoffecker's 474. Mr. Thompson, for Assessor, was elected over the Democratic candidate, Mr. Eubanks, by a majority of 39. The total vote was, Thompson 482, Eubanks 443.

WILSON HAS LARGE ELECTORAL VOTE

The electoral vote given Wilson will probably be the largest ever received by any Presidential candidate. Although some States were in doubt at noon to-day, it is expected that he will get the electoral vote from at least 40 states. Taft is reported to have won in probably Vermont and New Hampshire, and possibly one or two other states. Roosevelt wins in Illinois and Michigan, with several others claimed by his managers. The vote in Pennsylvania was still in doubt early this afternoon as being between Roosevelt and Wilson. It is likely that Roosevelt polled a much larger than Taft in the entire country.

Election Returns Indefinite

At 4 p. m. the returns are so indefinite that the results cannot be given with any degree of satisfaction. Contradictory reports have been coming into this office all day and as we go to press, we are giving the very latest returns.

Aside from the election of Wilson as President, and Miller for Governor, no accurate figures can be given.

Found Dead

Above Newark

Oliver Vansant, aged about 35 years, was found dead early this morning on a side road near McClellandville. The body was found by Isaac Tyson, who is employed on the county roads. It was lying in a small stream near a bridge. While it is generally believed that the unfortunate man fell off the bridge in the dark, striking his head on some stones, because of the peculiar wounds on the back of his head relatives here are not satisfied that there was not foul play. There were three deep wounds on the right side of his head above the ear and relatives cannot reconcile all three wounds being made in a fall. There were no indications of a fight where the body was found. If murdered it is thought the crime was committed somewhere else and the body carried to the stream where found. The matter has been reported to the Coroner, and an investigation may explain all the present mysterious elements of the case.

The deceased has several brothers living in Newark. He was a widower and leaves two small children. Mr. Vansant worked mostly as a paper hanger and painter. He had been doing some paperhanging at the farm of George Campbell, near Head of Christiana Church. He came to Newark yesterday to vote, and afterwards is reported to have returned to the Campbell farm. How he came to be in the neighborhood where the body was found is another mystery in the case.

The body was brought to Newark by Undertaker E. Clifford Wilson. The funeral will be held on Friday at Head of Christiana Church where interment will be made.

OBITUARY

Mrs. GEORGE ALEXANDER.

Mrs. George Alexander, aged 86 years, died on Sunday evening last, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Eldred Schreiner, near this town.

Funeral services were held at that place this afternoon at 1:30, interment in London Tract Cemetery.

Mrs. Alexander was a daughter of Elder Thomas Barton, who, at one time, served as pastor of the Welsh Tract and London Tract churches, both near Newark.

ADELINA STEEL.

Miss Adeline Steel, aged 78 years, died at her home near Newark last Wednesday after a long illness.

Miss Steel has lived in this community all her life and was widely known throughout the neighborhood. She had been an ardent worker in the Head of Christiana church, of which she had been a member for 57 years.

Miss Steel has been confined to her bed for the past fourteen months, suffering from general debility.

Funeral services were held from the old homestead last Saturday. Interment in Head of Christiana Cemetery.

Two brothers, John and George Steel, survive.

GEORGE CORNOG.

George Cornog, ten year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Cornog, died at the home of his parents on Monday, Nov. 4th, after a lingering illness.

The deceased had suffered with typhoid fever about a year ago, and never fully recovered strength after the illness. Tuberculosis developed, from which the child died.

Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon. Interment will be made in Head of Christiana Cemetery.

SEWER QUESTION BEFORE COUNCIL---BOARD

TAKES INITIATIVE

RECOMMENDS IMMEDIATE ACTION

IN FORMULATING BILL

DR. KOLLOCK POINTS OUT

NECESSITY FOR ACTION

The first step towards the renewal of the agitation for a sewer system was taken at the monthly meeting of the Town Council last night. Dr. H. G. M. Kollock, president of the Board of Health, appeared before Council and stated that the board had discussed the matter at a recent meeting and decided to ask Council to take some step relative to bringing the subject to the attention of the public. He said whether this should be in the way of a public citizens' meeting or otherwise remained with Council to decide. After some discussion on motion of Mr. Wilson, it was referred back to the board of Health, to make plans for the meeting and fix the time and place. After this is done the Town Council will issue the call for the citizens meeting.

In discussing the matter before Council Dr. Kollock said there could be no doubt but what a great majority of the citizens favored the sewer proposition. He spoke of the many cases of typhoid fever during the past 5 to 8 years and said in his opinion these periodical outbreaks were because of conditions and the situation would never be stopped until we have a sewer system. He also said that the fact of Newark being a college town caused it to be known in every point in the State when ever there is a few cases of typhoid fever here.

Dr. Kollock spoke of the plans and specifications which were made during a previous agitation of the subject, and suggested that at the meeting some engineer or engineers be secured to give some explanation of these plans at the meeting. The name of T. Chalkley Hatton of Wilmington, was suggested and some of the members seemed to think that Mr. Hatton would attend such a meeting without any charge. Stanley Frazer will also be asked to attend the meeting.

Councilman Lutton asked Dr. Kollock if it were not true that there is less typhoid fever here now than ever before. Dr. Kollock replied in the negative. He stated that previous to 5 or 8 years ago, he did not have a typhoid fever case from one year to another, but there had been since then many cases, and he recalled one time when he had 25 cases that he visited in one day. One year he had about 75 cases. During this year Dr. Kollock said there were not as many cases as last year.

Mr. Morrison spoke of the sewer bill that was taken before the Legislature two years ago. He objected to the feature in that bill which made property owners pay for the sewer at once at the rate of so much per foot front. He did not think that the property owners should pay for all of it at once.

At this point Mr. Wilson made a motion referring the matter back to the Board of Health, to arrange for the meeting, which motion was carried.

At this point Mr. Wilson made a motion referring the matter back to the Board of Health, to arrange for the meeting, which motion was carried.

Dr. Kollock said he knew nothing about that bill but at any rate it was a matter that would be taken up at the Citizens' meeting when the bill is drawn.

Mayor Hossinger was of the opinion that the section Mr. Morrison objected to was really a good feature in the bill. He explained that in that way the college, fraternity houses and other properties that are now exempt from taxation would have to pay their share for the sewer, and consequently make it cost the other property owners less. On the other hand if it was not paid for in that way a bonded indebtedness could not be placed against those properties. Mayor Hossinger remarked that he would never vote for any other bill but one that would provide for the entire amount to be paid at once.

Dr. Kollock remarked that he also favored the idea that it all be paid at once.

Mayor Hossinger stated that when the matter was brought up before the previous Council appointed a Sewer Commission and inquired if that Commission was still in existence.

Dr. Kollock replied that he did not think the Commission still existed.

Mayor Hossinger said in that case he thought it would be a good idea to allow the citizens to name a Commission at the public meeting. He also suggested that there should be something tangible to put before the meeting to work on or otherwise it would take an entire evening to get started and that as the Board of Health was familiar with the matter that should be left in the Board's hands.

Dr. Kollock said the board was willing to take the initiative in that particular, but that the call for the meeting should in his opinion be made by Council as it would likely have more force. He said that the old plans and specifications would furnish a basis to work on. These plans may be modified, he said, or it may be necessary to prepare entirely new plans. He thought Mr. Hatton or some other engineer would be willing to attend such a meeting and explain the plans. The name of Mr. Hill, the original engineer who prepared the plans was also suggested by Dr. Kollock, but because of Mr. Hill living some distance away it was thought it would be somewhat expensive to have him come. He made it plain, however, that he had no particular choice in the matter and only desired to have some one present to explain the plans to the meeting.

At this point Mr. Wilson made a motion referring the matter back to the Board of Health, to arrange for the meeting, which motion was carried.

Young People's Aid Society

The Young Peoples' Aid Society of the M. E. Church was entertained at the home of Miss Shirley Shellender last Thursday evening. About 25 members of the Society, with friends came masked and a jolly hour followed in guessing the identity of the strange looking guests.

A variety shower for Miss Lola Jones was given at the home of Miss Agnes Medill, on Monday evening. Miss Jones had been invited to spend the evening, with Miss Medill and upon her arrival found a score or more of her intimate friends assembled. Many useful and beautiful articles were among the gifts.

The Fairies of St. Thomas' will give a little Christmas play the week before Christmas, in which they will introduce their patron saint, Santa Claus, to the public.

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Home Missionary Society of the M. E. Church will meet at the home of Mrs. L. B. Jacobs on Thursday, November 7th, at 2:30 p. m. A cordial invitation is extended to all women of the church who are interested in the work, to attend the meeting. A full attendance of the membership is expected.

ANOTHER FIRESIDE

Rev. Dr. Hinkel in a recent sermon said he always liked a certain boy's comprehensive definition of a friend as being one "who knew all about you and still liked you."

Close following the clergyman's remarks came an illumined card from a woman friend of many years' acquaintance. Upon it were inscribed the words: "I love you because you love the things I love."

Cautioned, the two seemed to cover very fully the pleasant relation of friendship; friends being those, well acquainted, who rejoice in one another's good qualities, who are tolerant of one another's shortcomings and who possess the same tastes. We would say much if there can ever be any permanent, close friendships that are not founded upon congeniality of tastes.

Take two persons who love open hearth fires—it is a real bond between them. F. Hopkinson Smith in his delightful story, "The Armchair at the Inn," make one man who loves a fire say to another: "There is one thing you are good for, if nothing else, and that is to keep a fire going. If I wanted to find you and there was a chimney within a mile, I'd be sure you were sitting in front of the hearth with the tongs in your hand." That is the way real hearth-fire worshippers feel about the lure of a blazing log. It draws them irresistibly. The mere sight of curling smoke, the pervasive scent of burning hickory—they attract even as the silver moon attracts the emerald sea. When a fire worshipper finds a fellow enthusiast, their souls warm to one another, the tongs pass socially from hand to hand—"I love you because you love the things I love," is the tie. Though they come from East and West they are affinities in the glow of the ingle nook.

This week two women who love open fires were guests in a home where culture and wealth has surrounded the whole with beauty, but the first pleasurable impression conveyed to them was not the art and beauty of the residence—that stole upon them by degrees, as beauty of environment should—but of the charm of a logwood fire burning upon the hearth. Its intense glow with the opening of the portal, its glow was welcoming as the smile upon the lips of the hostess. To the fire worshippers it was the symbol of the hospitality extended and it gave them equal joy. Small wonder they are friends.

And then, too, the boy's definition, "one who knows all about you and yet likes you." Why, to the old, tried friend the rattling bones of all the family skeletons in all the ancestral closets in the world are as nothing, make no difference. Somehow such friends have gripped you, or you have gripped them, with the hooks of steel commended by Polonius and in their hold you feel delightfully at anchor in a safe harbor.

Such is the only friendship worthy the name, the only friendship worth cultivating, worth admitting to your inner life. Prove yourself this sort of a friend to even a few and be astonished at the responsive friendships that will soon encircle you.—Baltimore Sun.

A Royal Corner

An American attended a wedding reception in a great house in London, congratulated bride and bridegroom, and passed the usual compliments with the host and the hostess.

There was a great throng of guests, and he could not linger at the entrance of the drawing-room, when there were many behind him anxious to offer their greetings.

Passing a quiet corner to the right of the bride, where a gentleman and a lady were standing apart from the other guests, he went directly to it, unwittingly finding a stop between two royal personages.

The American was not aware of the fact that he was face to face with one of the queen's daughters, and had turned his back upon another member of the royal family. He stood quietly looking about, hoping to see some acquaintance in the company with whom he might have a chat; and soon became unconsciously conscious that he was attracting attention, and that the hostess and bride were casting uneasy glances in the direction of the corner where he had taken shelter. While the drawing-room was crowded, the company of guests with one consent avoided the secluded corner where he and his two royal companions were stationed.

An acquaintance in the background perceived his mistake, and coming within hailing distance motioned to him. He left his two companions in exclusive occupation of the corner, turning his back upon both as he edged his way through the throng while everybody stared at him. When he reached the spot where his acquaintance was waiting for him, the stage whisper was breathed into his ear:

"You have been peering on royal preserves. You are a privileged observer because you are an American, but no Englishman ventures to turn his back upon a prince or a princess. People were staring you out of countenance because they took it for granted that you must be a royal personage. Yet they were unable to identify you." The answer might have been made that every American is a sovereign by the divine right of equality of a free citizenship; but this would have been a meaningless pleasantry in an English drawing-room, where social etiquette has a sanctity superior to loyalty to democratic principle.

The American thanked his friend for rescuing him from an embarrassing position, and then stood by and watched the corner where royalty was isolated from too close contact with the world of wealth and fashion.

No guest approached the royal pair. Their presence was an act of condescension to the host and hostess, and they remained on exhibition as the patrons of this social function without having their corner invaded. Everybody was careful not to approach them too closely, and there was a general sense of relief when they departed, and the necessity for backing away from them on side tracks was removed.

Entertain on Hallowe'en

Professor and Mrs. Harold Tiffany entertained a number of friends last Thursday evening in honor of their guest, Miss Kirk of Rising Sun, Md.

The house was tastefully decorated with autumn leaves and the entertainment of the evening was suggestive of Hallowe'en.

Among the guests were: Prof. and Mrs. Penny, Mr. and Mrs. Bonham, Mr. and Mrs. Dutton, Mr. and Mrs. Pilling Wright, Prof. and Mrs. E. L. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Kelley, Mrs. Johnston, Prof. Van G. Smith, Dr. Syphard.

Pyle Art Exhibition

An art exhibition will be held in the duPont ballroom, Wilmington, the second week in November, when the paintings of Howard Pyle, 66 oils and about 50 pen and ink, which have been purchased as a permanent collection for the City of Wilmington, will be displayed.

One thousand invitations have been issued for the opening night, on Tuesday, November 12th. The exhibition will continue mornings, afternoons and evenings, closing Saturday.

In addition to the work of Howard Pyle, there will be paintings exhibited by fifty of the pupils of the master.

Among the patronesses for the private view appears the name of Mrs. Harry Hayward, of Newark.

After the social event Tuesday evening the exhibit is open to the public, an admission fee of fifty cents is asked as a means of defraying expenses.

Bumper Corn Crop

The government crop experts forecast a harvest of 2,811,000,000 bushels of corn this year. But their estimate was made before recent favorable climatic conditions prevailed over the corn belt. Therefore, unless there should come scorching heat and protracted drought the probabilities are that the harvest of corn this year will approximate 3,000,000,000 bushels. Three years ago the bumper crop of 3,100,000,000 bushels was harvested.

New Cars on Pennsy

More than $20,000,000 worth of freight car equipment has been contracted for this year by the Pennsylvania Railroad, according to an official announcement made by the Company yesterday. It was also stated that orders had just been placed for 5,000 freight cars, as additions to equipment.

This new order for additional freight cars is the latest, and probably the most important, of the extraordinary efforts the Pennsylvania Railroad is making to preclude any possibility of a car shortage on the lines of its system.

In June the Pennsylvania contracted for 4575 freight cars as additions to equipment, so that altogether its orders for additional rolling stock call for approximately 19,000 cars. This latest order was for 4,000 standard box cars, and 1,000 automobile cars. Three thousand box cars and 1,000 automobile cars will be built with all possible haste by the Pressed Steel Car Company; the remaining 1,000 box cars will be built in the Company's shops at Altoona.

To insure shippers on its lines adequate equipment for handling business, the company is waging an active campaign to get the greatest possible service out of each of the freight cars owned by the system.

One of the Pennsylvania's precautions against car shortage is to prevent, if possible, the holding of loaded cars at non ports. The moment notice is received of an accumulation of cars loaded with freight for export, quick steps are taken to have the cars released at the earliest possible time.

In addition to requesting shippers to load and unload cars promptly, and to load them to capacity, the Railroad has announced that unusual efforts are being made to reduce the amount of equipment awaiting repairs, and to complete unfinished new cars and locomotives. There are at present approximately 27,000 employees engaged on the rush order to put all cars and locomotives in A-1 shape, and to get them out on the road so that patrons can have the advantage of their use.

The Pennsylvania's agents are endeavoring to induce shippers to move all traffic at the earliest time practicable in order to preclude any danger of congestion, and to render available in the late fall and winter the greatest number of cars possible.

In the Company's announcement today distinction is drawn between additions to equipment and replacements. While 9875 cars have been added to the freight car equipment, 8,000 old cars have been scrapped and replaced with new ones. Thus, in all, the Pennsylvania has ordered this year approximately 18,000 freight cars at a cost of more than $20,000,000.

location so as to get away from this place into a big city where you can have a chance." And now our slow-going government has at last recognized this danger and sends out this warning: "The tendency of the rural schools to encourage emigration to the city is due to the fact that the course of study in most rural schools is merely a copy of that given to city school children, without reference to the different environment and local needs of the country child. As a result the authors declare that teachers everywhere, with rare exceptions, have idealized city life, and unwittingly have been potent factors in inducing young men and women to leave the farm and move into the city."

THE BOAST OF IRON HILL

All summer long the allied clubs did charge on Iron Hill and all those months our valiant boys did whack them with a will. Stout Newark knew our deep-toned yells and Elton felt our power; for Appleton we rang the bells in many a happy hour. From off our grandstand's lofty heights our shouters saw the smash when Strickersville essayed to beat the plans of Howard Ash. And Whiteman stood in confidence, along with good Joe Slack, and smiled to see the hostile host go down at his attack. Shrewd Louax sent the deadly curves, swift, singing down the line and Short made shorter yet the joy of many a visiting nine. On many a hard-fought battle-field our people rose to cheer as once again the game closed out, with Davis auctioneer.

By ball and mitt, by three-base hit, by all that wins and shines,
We rattled the boys and stilled the noise of all the other nines,
By farthest flies, by quick surprise, by bunt and sacrifice,
We gathered each game and a famous name, and gained the pennant prize.
Victors are we, and shall ever be, triumphant, joyous still,
Though our foemen weep yet in pride we keep the heights of Iron Hill.

Pull off did William Walton view, with sad and anxious eye,
The moving field, and sadder grew as hopes all seemed to die,
And many a smiling eye grew dim as from the grandstand rose
The muffled sigh that breathes to die for grief the lover knows.
But in those hours the hidden powers of our great champions grew
And down the fields our batters sent the balls the foemen threw.
Around the bases sped our men, a glorious sight to see,
Still victors then they claimed again the praise of victory.

By strikers out, by runners down, by clever throws to base,
They whacked them all from spring to fall and won the leader's place,
By fielding fine, by pitcher's sign, by catch and throw and stop,
They talked each visitor's last design and ended the fight on top.
Victors are we, and ever shall be, for never again will yield
The men who play where bright eyes see, by the Canning Factory Field.

Wilson Elected by High School

Democratic candidate receives most votes

The students of the local High School have taken a great interest in politics. On Wednesday, three conventions were held in the School building and three electors and a governor representing each of the three political parties were nominated. The following electors were chosen: John Hopkins, Henry Mote and Knowles Bowen; with George Alcorn for governor, for the Democrats; Myrtle Stelle, Bessie Whittingham and Elwood Hoffecker, with George Wilson for governor, for the Progressives; and Alice Moore, Paul Lovett and Irving Stelle, with Bond Brown for governor, for the Republicans.

On Friday afternoon a public mass meeting for the three parties of the school, was held in the Assembly Room. Speeches were made by students representing each party. The most interesting event of the meeting was a debate between John Hopkins, representing the Democrats and Francis O'Rourke representing the Progressives. Other speakers were Henry Mote and George Alcorn for the Democrats; George Wilson for the Progressives and Irving Steele and Bond Brown for the Republicans.

Immediately after the mass meeting the voting at the polls took place. The clerks in charge of the voting were: Miss Armstrong and George Longland. The judges were: Miss Pennock, Miss Anderson, and Miss Myrtle Stelle. When the votes were counted, it was found that the Democrats received thirty-nine votes, the Progressives eighteen, and the Republicans twelve. This election was a suggestion of the Civics Class, who are at the present time studying about voting and electing different men for the different offices.

The High School basketball team has had very little practice within the past two weeks. Captain Ferguson expects to have a winning team in the field this year and work will begin soon in earnest. The first game, which will probably be with Union High School at home, the following players will be found in the field. Bowen and Ferguson, forwards; Halton, center; and Miller, Mote, and Crow, guards. Games are being scheduled with Oxford H. S., Wilmington H. S., Elton H. S., Dover H. S., Cedarcroft and Dover Conference Academics, Delaware scrubs and Sophs.

The students of the High School are working very hard for the gymnasium fund and are trying in every possible way to raise the money. Several men of the town have donated sums of money for it, and it is hoped that every man of the town will help the boys and girls as much as possible, for it is a good cause.

Want Ads for Farmers

Only a comparatively few readers of newspapers realize the benefit of the Want Ad Department. It is a cheap form of advertising odds and ends. For the farmer it is always a paying proposition. Suppose you have a cow, few pigs that you would be willing to sell. Put it in the Want Column and rest assured you will get the customers. Then again, a farmer often sees where he could handle a heifer or calf during the winter. With a little extra forage, he has on hand, he can by feeding it make a dollar or so without any extra work. But he has not the time to hunt them up. Run in an Ad something like this:

WANTED—Calves. Would buy 3 or 4 calves, if price is right.

You will get an answer. There isn't a farmer in this community but what could have an Ad in our Want Department at a profit to him.

The Essentials of Good Plumbing

In no branch of science has there been greater advance in recent years than in the art of Sanitation.

Modern plumbing fixtures should have a surface which is hard, smooth, and non-absorbent. They should be installed in such a way that they will give years of lasting service with the minimum charges for repairs. Furthermore, they should be of attractive appearance and graceful design.

We sell "Standard" plumbing fixtures, unequalled for cleanliness, durability, and beauty of design. The combination of these famous fixtures and our skilled service insures you plumbing that satisfies.

We give orders for repairs our best attention, and guarantee satisfaction.

NOVEMBER 6, 1912

We had held our space up until late this afternoon with the expectation of giving the election returns. Up to the hour of going to press, it is impossible to get these with any degree of accuracy. We have been in communication with the different headquarters and newspaper offices in Wilmington and Philadelphia but without satisfactory results.

THE SEWER DISCUSSION

With the campaign at an end, our citizens can now discuss with profit, the issues of local interest. The Board of Health should be commended for bringing the matter to the attention of Council. The council in return acted effectively when the question was turned over to the Board of Health to initiate plans in order to secure a general and effective discussion. It is the general impression that practically our whole citizenship have agreed on the need of a sewer. With this advantage, it is hoped that we can all get together and discuss this question with the outcome that a bill will be formulated which will meet the approval of all. By a hearty co-operation we can secure a free and unprejudiced discussion which will aid much in securing proper legislation.

Delaware Duckerie wins Prizes

Mrs. M. J. Murray of the Delaware Duckerie has received a handsome silver cup won by her white Pekin ducks at the recent Mount Holly Fair. Mrs. Murray is showing a string of white Wyandottes and white Pekin ducks, this week at Honesdale, Long Island.

Oratorio-Cantata at

Presbyterian Church

The choir of the Presbyterian church will present the oratorio-cantata "Zion," by J. S. Park, next Sunday evening. The service will begin at 7:30.

Interesting Anniversary Services

The anniversary meeting of the Women's Home Missionary Society of the M. E. Church was held last Wednesday evening in the Sunday School room of the church. A splendid report of the year's work was read by Mrs. J. H. Crook, showing a gain in membership of 20 members exclusive of the ten charter members. The ladies are well pleased with what they have accomplished in the first year's work.

Miss Sarah E. Welch of Wilmington, who for many years has been connected with this work, told of some of the good being done in a number of the schools of this organization located in different sections of the United States.

Mrs. Margaret A. Street, deaconess in charge of the Wilmington Deaconess' Home brought news of the General Board meeting recently held in Des Moines, Iowa. She also told of some of the work now being done by the M. E. Deaconesses in Wilmington.

The program was concluded with a reception service for the new officers of the local auxiliary.

Joe Frazer Field

The Joe Frazer Athletic Field is nearing completion. The concrete tile fence and the Memorial gateways are finished. As soon as the tile for drainage is laid, and the ground leveled for the sowing of grass seed, the quarter-mile track with the 220-yard straight-away will be built.

Regular Meeting of Council

Routine business was transacted at the monthly meeting of the Town Council Monday night. Two bills of Stewart and Donahue, the contractors who repaired Cleveland and Prospect avenues, one for $1,976.12 and the other for $563.53, were ordered paid. This leaves but $200 still due the contractors for street work.

A representative of J. A. Collins was before Council and asked permission to place a standard regulator at the electric light plant on trial. Council will take the matter up later. The report of the treasurer for the month of October was as follows:

RECEIPTS.
Balance in October	$7,051.52
Sale of light	642.99
Sale of water	255.21
D. & A. Telephone tax on poles	45.00
Licenses	3.00
Fines	10.00
Registration of dogs	12.00
1912 taxes	10.00
Delinquent taxes	40.50
Penalties	1.90
Total	$8,072.12

DISBURSEMENTS.
Water, light and street bills	$3,585.59
Balance, Monday night	$4,486.53

Bills reported by the water and light committee amounting to $586.93 and by the street committee amounting to $359.47, were ordered paid.

With the payment of bills passed last night there will remain a balance of about $1,000. Council decided to place another car load of stone on Prospect avenue and to use about two more carloads in repaving the upper end of Main St.

New Century Club Year Opens

The members of the New Century Club were entertained by the Executive Committee on Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. A. Curtis.

A very pleasing musical program, both vocal and instrumental, was rendered by Miss Wales of Wilmington assisted by Mrs. Jackson. Miss Wales delighted her hearers by the scope and range of voices displayed.

Several Old Folks Songs rendered were especially enjoyed. The regular meetings of the club will be resumed on each Monday of the ensuing weeks.

Church Notes

Plans are complete for the poultry supper to be given in the Opera House building tomorrow evening by the ladies of the Presbyterian church.

There will be an abundance of good things prepared in a manner which testifies to the culinary skill of the ladies in charge. The Health Book tells us a good laugh is the best of sauces. Come and dine your friends and enjoy the sociability that is sure to be found there.

A visit to the fancy booth under the charge of Mrs. C. B. Evans, will solve many a Christmas gift puzzle. Some choice home-made candies and cakes will be on sale.

Rev. A. Van Overbeek, pastor of Head of Christiana church, is holding special services at Jackson schoolhouse this week.

Special services will be held next week in Presbyterian church, Christiana village, beginning with next Sunday evening.

A Missionary Tea will be given at Head of Christiana Manse on November 14th, at which time election of officers and opening of the Missionary boxes will take place. Let all bring their boxes.

Masqueraders Numerous

Probably never before were there so many masqueraders on the streets of Newark as last Thursday evening. The spirit with which the townspeople entered into the Halloween fun suggests the success that might be expected should a parade on the order of that held in Elkton, be planned for the next year. Many grown folk as well as the children joined the crowd of merry-makers who called on their friends.

Special Services

Beginning with next Sunday, special Evangelistic services will be conducted in the Methodist Episcopal church. The pastor is to be assisted during part of the time by Rev. John Clark, the railroad evangelist. The new song book will be introduced next Sunday and a spirited song service will characterize each service. The hearty co-operation of all persons desiring a great religious awakening in the town is earnestly solicited. The public is cordially invited.

Echoes from Baltimore Synod

Rev. W. J. Rowan at the morning service in the Presbyterian church last Sunday gave an interesting talk on the work done at the Synod of Baltimore, in session at Washington last week. Among subjects considered were Temperance, Evangelical work, Ministerial Relief, Sabbath desecration, the removal of the chaplains from the Army and Navy.

Mr. Hoffecker Thanks Voters

To the Voters of White Clay Creek Hundred:

I wish to publicly express my thanks and appreciation for the support given me at yesterday's election for Representative to the General Assembly.

I shall be glad to talk over any of the questions of local interest liable to come before the Legislature.

Very truly yours,
Harvey Hoffecker

Postorials

Wilson, that's all! Watch for Election Side Lights in the next issue.

Politics, locally is mixed just enough to let us all out with a little consolation.

Pierce Cain, democratic candidate for Probationary, made the record run in his home district. It is reported that he ran ahead of his ticket more than any man in his party.

When the Legislature meets, a Democrat will be there with the goods.

It is reported that W. H. Evans, chairman of Vaudeville Republican Committee, has been engaged to speak the State Central Committee here to win an election.

Peasider is usually thought of only around election time. But if these Republican majorities keep on increasing, some one will suggest moving the Capitol or Party Headquarters out there.

Martin Smith for Levy Court, oh Shaw!

Watch the papers tell how it happened.

Those of our subscribers who expect to spend the fall season up Salt River will kindly notify us at once, that we may change their address on our mailing list.

Donations in Peasider Hundred are urged to subscribe for The Post.

The election in White Clay Creek Hundred divided several things—some of them so prominent that they need not be printed in the regular returns.

Enhanks will not raise the assessment. The price will still be ten cents a share.

Peasider stands at the head of the honor roll. Republicans elected everything on the ticket.

John Nivin, although defeated, certainly had Dr. Ball at his wits end. Nivin knocked a 400 majority down to 50.

Uncle Joe Cannon takes the most philosophical view of the election. Refusing last week to make any prediction said, "I am a good bit like the old woman in a run-away. I just prayed God until the breechin' broke, then I just 'gin up."

Cecil County Letter

Most Elkton residents and several hundred visitors from various sections of the county were massed on Main and North streets and the Court House yard, on Thursday evening, to witness the Halloween parade which was in every way creditable. The several divisions were well filled, and there were 225 competitors for the various prizes offered. The Elkton and Red Men's Band of North East were in line as was also a number of floats and gaily decorated automobiles. The judges of prizes, Mrs. R. C. Mackay, Mrs. H. M. McCullough, Mrs. C. C. Strickland, Mrs. Harvey Scott, and Mrs. H. D. Garrett, occupied a decorated stand in front of Lipman's Oak Hall Clothing Store, at the foot of North street, and had no easy task in making their awards, which were as follows:

Automobiles—J. D. Ayrest, first prize, $6; J. R. Witworth, second, $4; J. H. Terrell, third, $2; T. C. Major, fourth, $1; floats—M. F. Magraw, first, $6; C. H. Jeffers, second, $4; Miss Stella Graves, third, $2; T. W. McKenney, fourth, $1; comic—Harry Cleaves, first, $5; William Eden, second, $3; Miss W. Bunce, third, $2; Allen Witworth, fourth, $1; fancy—Mary Durham, first, $5; Matilda Meisel, second, $3; George H. Deibert, third, $2; Miss Reba Witworth, fourth, $1; juvenile—William Lewis and William Terrell (The Gold Dust Twins), first, $5; Albert Ayrest, second, $3; David Fraser, third, $2; Omar D. Crothers, Jr., fourth, $1. Eighteen other juvenile prizes were also awarded. Many masquers, arrayed in all sorts of costumes were on the streets, who did not join the parade, in which 150 torches were carried, lighting up its line of march.

THE DELAWARE BREAKWATER AS A NATIONAL HARBOR OF REFUGE

An Absolute Necessity upon the Completion of the Panama Canal

Without belittling the importance of the tariff questions as an important issue in the present political campaign, the residents of the cities located on the Delaware River and Bay are vitally interested in a matter, which to them is of vaster importance; and that is in the election to Congress of men who are pledged to the further improvement of the Delaware River Channel and to the completion of the National Harbor of Refuge at Lewes, Delaware.

In recent years it has become more and more apparent that such a harbor is an absolute necessity; not alone for the development of the maritime interests of the cities located on the shores of the Delaware Bay and River, but because of the shelter it would afford to vessels in times of need, especially during the early Fall, Winter and stormy season.

President Taft, when Secretary of War, recognized this necessity and urged the completion of such a harbor of refuge by continuing the present Delaware Breakwater from its northerly end to the Delaware shore.

Recommendation was made to Congress for an adequate appropriation, but for some reason or other the matter was dropped; and not until Michael Donohoe became a member of Congress from the fifth Pennsylvania District was the question of enlarging and extending the breakwater revived. Congressman Donohoe was quick to perceive the value of the harbor of refuge to all maritime interests, not alone those doing business in the Port of Philadelphia, and he has steadily pressed this matter until the present time, when it looks as though the new Congress will take favorable action. In fact Congressman Donohoe has practically pledged himself to this work, and with the united support of the citizens, especially the merchants and traders located along the Delaware River and Bay, vessel owners, pilots, and all others interested in navigation, there will be no difficulty in obtaining the required appropriation.

It is a matter of record that twenty years ago Congress appropriated four million and sixty-five thousand (4,665,000) dollars for the construction of a sufficiently large breakwater to protect the harbor from storms, but only about fifty per cent. of this amount was expended, and what should have been the most complete harbor of refuge in the world (considering location and natural advantages) is now a partial refuge and an incomplete breakwater.

It is conservatively estimated that three thousand craft, from the smallest motor boat to the largest battleship, could find perfect security at one time in the water area covered by the suggested breakwater improvement.

Descriptive maps of the proposed National Harbor of Refuge at Lewes, Delaware, besides comprehensive detailed information will be furnished upon application in writing to Congressman Michael Donohoe, House of Representatives, Washington, D. C.

THE PANAMA CANAL

Another important element that enters into the agitation for better and safer harbor facilities is the approaching completion of the Panama Canal, with its cost to the United States Government of Three Hundred and Eighty million (375,000,000) dollars. The South American countries, notably, Venezuela, Brazil, Uruguay, and the Argentine on the East Coast, and Chili, Peru, Ecuador, and Colombia on the West Coast, have already appropriated approximately two hundred and fifty million (250,000,000) dollars, a colossal sum as the initial expenditure for River and Harbor improvements, and as an invitation for the world's additional trade via the Panama Canal.

The maritime interests and business interests, besides the Government of the United States must also be up and doing. NATURAL ADVANTAGES OF THE DELAWARE BAY.

The situation of the Delaware Bay is such as to afford shelter to all vessels passing north or south, being a Port of Call, and its advantageous location as a National Harbor of Refuge would undoubtedly be the means of preventing and reducing the number of maritime disasters to a minimum. In its enlarged and improved state, the Delaware Bay and River, with its thriving communities, would become one of the most important ports of entry of the Atlantic coast and a great factor in the Panama Canal traffic.

There is no denying the claim that the cost of water transportation being considerably lower than transportation by land, would tend to lessen the cost of living, and any movement in that direction should receive the unqualified support and endorsement of everyone.

Congressman Donohoe, who is now a member of the National Rivers and Harbors Committee, has already demonstrated his interest in the port of Philadelphia by obtaining the largest appropriation ever secured for the completion of a thirty-five foot channel to the sea, and he can be depended upon to exert all his influence and to interest his colleagues in procuring the appropriation necessary to complete the proposed National Harbor of Refuge.

Cadet Corps at Delaware

The outlook at Delaware College this year for the corps of cadets is encouraging. The officers are displaying unusual zeal, and have aroused the best efforts in everyone to attain the greatest possible efficiency in the limited time and space at our disposal. The corps is organized as a battalion of four companies with a band and signal detachment, and numbers 163 cadets: 20 seniors, 28 juniors, 54 sophomores, and 61 freshmen. On October 9, the battalion took part in the "Old Home Week" celebration at Wilmington, and received the applause of a host of friends. The band especially attracted much attention. The freshmen have taken hold exceedingly well and the whole command made a striking appearance in their khaki uniforms. The corps will also attend the inauguration of the governor in January, and it hopes to make a sufficiently good impression to warrant a desire for their presence at the Presidential inauguration in March. The War Department attaches great importance to small arms firing, and each year asks if the cadets have had any out-of-doors practice. Several years ago a range about one mile from the college was used jointly by the local militia and the cadets, but was abandoned because of a misunderstanding. This range includes the only ground in the vicinity suitable for target practice, and it is hoped that the owner will release it at an early date. Every American boy should be taught the proper use of firearms, and the commandant is making every effort to secure the range for that purpose. Besides increasing our efficiency, this would enable the college to take an active part in the Intercollegiate League. This organization has the highest endorsement of some of our best citizens, and offers handsome prizes for the encouragement of rifle practice.

The Basketball Season at Delaware

As the football season for Delaware draws to a close the attention of the basketball, in which field the athletics boys hope to pay up for the disastrous football season now closing.

The outlook for a prosperous basketball season this year is bright, although four of last year's quintet were lost by graduation. Hamel, captain-elect, has resigned from college and as yet a captain has not been elected; but the choice will probably fall on Wallace Sawdon, the plucky substitute guard of last year's team. Cann, the steady 'Varsity guard, is back in college and will be ready to do his best when the whistle blows to start the season. Dean, '14, McNeal, '14, Foster, '13, Gilroy, '15, McCafferty, '14, and Hoch, '14, the substitutes of last year's 'Varsity will be out again this year fighting hard for a 'Varsity berth. But what Delaware really banks her hopes of a successful basketball season on is the fine material brought in by the freshman class. Among the freshmen are some of the best basketball players in the State. Most of them are from Wilmington, Harty, Daley, Kyle, Foster, Hirschman, Welmer and Rigney have all won fine reputations for themselves as basketball stars in "prep" schools and should furnish Delaware with enough material to enable her to win the majority of her games.

science. Thirty years ago, in such diseases as typhoid fever, all that doctors could do was to treat the individual case and prevent immediate contagion. Now it is possible to check the disease at its source. Nowhere is the superiority of prevention over cure more manifest than here.

By the concerted action of legislatures and health authorities, and the watchfulness of an intelligent public sentiment, the knowledge which has been gained of disease microbes can be utilized to prevent their transmission through milk or

Milk and Microbes

Sometimes when there is an epidemic any where of typhoid fever, one of the first things which physicians do is to inquire into the milk supply. This is not because all such outbreaks are traceable to impure milk, but because milk has been found to be one of the most fruitful sources of contagion.

Milk absorbs impurities readily without giving any trace of their presence, and it is one of the few articles of food in common use which are not cooked before being eaten. For these reasons, and because it is given freely to infants and invalids, who are especially susceptible to disease, it is a dangerous vehicle of contagion.

Useful experiments have shown that milk freshly drawn from a healthy cow is practically sterile, that is, free from bacteria; but before it reaches the consumer, especially in the large cities, it is subject to various kinds of contamination. Perhaps the stable or the cow is not clean, or the hands or the clothes of the man who milks her are dirty. The milk is transported perhaps a hundred and fifty miles; it is handled and mixed by different hands as it is distributed from the contractor to the milkmen and by them to their customers, and at every stage it is liable to gather impurities. It reaches the consumer after six or forty-eight hours after it leaves the cow.

A thimbleful of milk has been found to often contain millions of bacteria. Most of these are harmless vegetable germs, but among them sometimes are germs of typhoid fever and tuberculosis. If someone who handles the milk along the route is afflicted with one of these maladies, the germs may be transmitted to become active a hundred miles away.

The protection of the milk supply is one of the most difficult problems of city life. Where there is a system of inspection of milk, it usually extends no further than to ascertain whether there has been dilution with water; but such dilution is not nearly so serious an evil as the transmission of disease microbes.

To ensure pure milk, it is essential that there should be care at every point along the route. There must be absolute cleanliness of the stable and the cow and the persons who handle the milk, and there should be as little delay as possible in its delivery.

There is a close connection between impure milk and mortality among infants. Several years ago investigation in Philadelphia showed that out of seventy-five thousand children born in three years, nearly one-fourth died before completing the first year. In most instances death was caused by disease of the digestive organs, and the ratio of such cases was the highest amongst children whose food was milk fed by hand.

The sterilization of milk, through the agency of heat, removes the peril. A rich New York merchant has for several summers supplied sterilized milk to tenement-house children, with an immediate result in reducing the mortality among them.
 Last summer the experiment was extended to Brooklyn. In July, before the sterilized milk was distributed, from eighteen to twenty-eight per cent. of the deaths of children under two years of age were from diarrheal diseases. In August, with sterilized milk in use, the per centage dropped first to thirteen, then to twelve and eleven.

The possibility of preventing disease by guarding against the transmission of disease microbes is something that we owe to modern

CECIL COUNTY LETTER

The Iron Hill and Appleton teams of the Pen-Mar League having tied for the championship, in the past season's series of games, met for the deciding game at Elkton Ball Park on Saturday afternoon. The contest proved interesting despite the chilly weather, Iron Hill winning by a score of 6 to 5.

Tome and Hill School, of Pottstown, Pa., eleven met on the former's grounds at Port Deposit on Saturday, and in a fast game the latter won by a score of 7 to 0, made in Hill's first two minutes of play, Markle making a run of 85 yards and a touchdown, and Yates kicking goal. Tome, though out-weighted largely, put up a strong defense for the rest of the game.

The recital from Maeterlinck's "The Bluebird," given in Elkton Opera House, by Miss Mary Broadway Roberts, of Philadelphia, last Tuesday evening, yielded $25 for the benefit of Union Hospital.

Ladies of Bay View M. P. Congregation cleared $82.50 from their recent supper.

An adze which Clarence Harrington was handling while at work at the Deibert boatyard in Chesapeake City, one day last week, glanced and struck him on one foot, nearly severing it by the blow.

Plans have been completed for the new building for the recently organized Elkton Banking and Trust Company, which will be 24 by 60 feet in dimensions, built of brick with marble facings. The site on North street occupied by the Drennen and Foard office buildings cost $5425.

Ladies of Trinity congregation, Elkton, will hold a rummage sale in the Parish house, on Bridge street, this and to-morrow afternoons.

Bethel M. E. Church at Pivot Bridge, near Chesapeake City, was re-opened on Sunday with special services, after its recent improvements, including a new roof and a metal ceiling.

Guns and gunners were out on Friday, and many met with fair success despite the rain. Many sportsmen were on the flats after ducks, and those piloted by trained duckers had pretty good luck as a rule. Canvas backs and red heads are not plentiful as yet, and those brought down by the gunners were black-heads and other inferior varieties. All duckers on the flats and on Elk River are required to take out licenses, and a $10 license for gunning on land in the county is required for all non-residents.

Thomas H. Harlan has removed his livery business from the Park tables, in the rear of the Hotel Elkton property, to those formerly occupied by Edward W. Taylor, in the rear of the old Exchange Hotel property, on East Main street, Elkton.

Fire of unknown origin last Tuesday evening destroyed a frame dwelling, barn and outbuildings on the farm of Mrs. Martha A. Brown, near Union Church. Frank Brown the tenant, lost nearly all of his household goods, and the crops of hay and grain were destroyed together with farming implements etc. The house was fired by sparks flying from the burning barn. There was partial insurance on the property destroyed.

Mrs. Anna L. Conrey, an aged resident of Chesapeake City, tripped on a stairway at her home, one day last week, and fell to the bottom of the flight, breaking her hip.

Workmen are engaged in erecting a large storage tank and stables for the Pure Oil Company on the Jeffers or Turner Wharf property, on the south side of the creek, at the foot of Bridel street, Elkton, which the company will make a distributing point.

Elkton Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., last Tuesday evening held services in memory of deceased members, in its hall on North street, which were well attended. Rev. L. E. Poole, pastor of Epworth M. E. Church, Wilmington, and Rev. E. P. Roberts, pastor of Elkton M. E. Church delivered appropriate addresses. Relatives and friends of deceased members were among those attending the exercises.

The "Bull Moose" Flying Squadron, three automobiles, bearing musicians and speakers, dashed into Elkton on Friday, about noon, after a tour of the Peninsula, and tarried for a while at the Howard House, where a small crowd heard Thomas C. Weeks, of Baltimore, present the Progressive party's claims to popular support. But for the frequent, heavy showers there would, no doubt, have been a far larger attendance at the impromptu gathering.

The funeral of Mrs. Mary C. Miller, wife of Joseph Miller, of the Fair Hill section, was held from their home on Wednesday with interment in Head of Christiana Cemetery. Mrs. Miller, who was 65 years of age, died, on the previous Sunday. Her husband, a son, Joseph, Jr., and a daughter, Miss Jennie Miller, survive her.

Former Sheriff J. Wesley McAlister, who conducts the Felton House Livery stables in Elkton, spent several anxious days last week over the non-return of a team hired on October 27th by a young man from Philadelphia, a former resident of Port Deposit. Thinking the team had been stolen, the owner had hand bills printed for distribution and was greatly relieved by the return of the outfit from Elk Neck, where the party who had hired it said he had stayed longer than he at first intended.

During the Hallowe'en parade in Elkton on Thursday night, Miss Etella Graves and other nurses were thrown off the Union Hospital float when the horse drawing it reared backward and later ran away, colliding with a buggy, one of the wheels of which was smashed. Of the nurses, Miss Porter and Miss King were injured but luckily not seriously.

William B. Macklin, 50 years old, of Wilmington, a P. B. & W. R. R. brakeman on the local freight, was thrown off a box car, at Bacon Hill at noon on Friday, and was fatally injured, dying while on the way to Union Hospital, Elkton. On Thursday night Howard T. Giles of Chester, Pa., 21 years of age, another freight brakeman, was crushed between cars, also at Bacon Hill. He was taken to the Homeopathic Hospital, Wilmington, where it was found that his head was badly bruised, his left arm broken, his right hand crushed with other minor hurts.

The coffee to be used at the Presbyterian supper in the Banquet Hall of the Opera House on Thursday evening is the Monaja brand sold at the H. M. Campbell store. Mrs. David Grime is visiting her sister in Reading, Pa.

PROGRESSING TOWARD AN IDEAL

In the 12th issue of the Post, April 13th, 1910 there appeared the following editorial giving an expression of what we hoped to do. The Post was then a little 4 page sheet. Today we are printing 8 pages—all of local interest, no boiler-plate patent inside. We have a model shop, machinery up-to-date, the best that money can buy.

Among some of our customers we are being classed as Quality Folks. The men in the Shops are making this approach toward the Ideal because they consider

PRINTING AN ART AND NOT A JOB

QUALITY FOLKS

The old Southern dinkies recognized those who were above them by the name—quality folks. To us quality folks are those who do better work, who render better service than the ordinary run of folks. Heinz qualifies for that with his 57 varieties; the Studebaker Wagon Co., the Oliver Plow Co., John Wanamaker—all these and others in their class are quality folks. But one doesn't have to be of national importance to be reckoned in this class. One can be "quality folks" in a small community. All you have to do is to do a certain kind of work a little better than the best. That is the open sesame to that society.

James out in Wisconsin is making better sausage than any one else, while Mary Elizabeth makes those who like good candy bend the knee to Syracuse. Out there in Pittsfield, Mass., is the Caxton Society. These lovers of good printing are publishing a series of brochures which are fitted with the best in literature. Thomas Mosher, of Portland, makes the best books in the country. One can caress a Mosher book, and always be sure that within the covers one can find something high grade. The Roycrofters came into existence because Elbert Hubbard stumbled into William Morris and caught the germ. Out in Los Angeles James Griffin has set up the Golden Press among the orange trees and roses. He sends out his beautiful little magazine "Everyman" to try to bring folks to see that the Golden Rule is really greater than the majority think, and that a laugh is worth ten frowns in any market. An ideal we have is that some day there will be a little shop in Newark that will do good things in printing. It is a dream—not of a country job office, but of a little art shop.

A dream perhaps—but that the NEWARK POST some day will be considered and loved as a little weekly paper at Newark, Delaware, that is good, that is doing good, that is different, and that we may be classed among the QUALITY FOLKS because we are doing good work, a little better than the other fellow can.

The Reason We Get Business

Economy—Our machinery is up-to-date with all the latest improvement devices, making it possible to compete with the big city plants. The higher speed of our presses gives us the advantage of the ordinary Country Plant. This is a City Plant located in a Country Town.

The Reason We Get Business

Satisfaction—With this improved machinery and artistic workmen, we turn out work a little better than the other fellow can. The men in the Shop here are not just good country printers but Artists with a reputation of doing work that has the stamp of Quality on it.
