String Quartet Gives Concert On April 19

The Budapest String Quartet, one of the nation's leading chamber music ensembles, will continue the university's Artist Series with a performance in Mitchell Hall on April 19 at 8:15 p. m.

The Budapest players will present a program consisting of the String Quartet in E-Flat Major, Opus 76, by Haydn; String Quartet in F Major, Opus 135, by Beethoven; and Debussy's String Quartet in G Minor, Opus 10.

The history of quartet playing dates back to the 18th century, when the patron-saint of chamber music, Hungary's Prince Esterhazy, commissioned Haydn to write and play quartets for him. Since then quartet playing has been the private enjoyment of accomplished string players and the benefaction of many wealthy amateurs who subsidized teams in order to have the privilege of playing second violin.

Modern quartet playing began in 1902 when Edward J. de Coppet, a Manhattan broker and music lover, encouraged and provided a practice retreat for four players at his Swiss Villa Flonzaley. This group became the first strictly professional quartet ensemble and was pre-eminent in the field until it disbanded in 1929, although a number of string ensembles were formed in the wake of its success.

With their U. S. debut in 1930,

Jane Banks To Reign Queen At 1954 May Day Festivities

Jane Banks was elected May Queen for 1954 by the student body at elections held on March 25 and 26. The queen, a senior in the school of education, will be crowned during the annual May Day festivities to be held on Saturday, May 15.

The queen's court was also decided during the recent election. The results are: May Queen attendant, Anne Marie Dumas; Senior Duchess, Patty Phillips; Senior attendants, Faye Miller and Barbara Lillquist; Junior Duchess, Margaret Fullerton; Junior attendants, Bobbie Holmes and Patti Ingram; Sophomore Duchess, Shirley Tibbett; Sophomore attendants, Sylvia Field and Jean Evensen; Freshman Duchess, Betty Jane Weber; Freshman attendants, Elaine Leary and Barbara Blake. Jane has been active in many campus activities. She has held leading roles in E-52 musicals "A Connecticut Yankee" and "Bloomer Girl." Her extra curricular activities, however, have not interfered with her school work, as she has been consistently on the Dean's list.

This year's May Day promises to be a lively event. The many activities will include the crowning of the queen and court, dances by the Modern Dance Club and various dorms, and the traditional maypole dance. The entire event will be held on South Campus by the women's gymnasium and is scheduled to begin at 2:30 p. m.

Thirty-Six Women From Soph Class Selected As New Junior Counselors

Thirty-six Sophomore women have been chosen to participate in the Junior Counseling program for next year. They will begin their formal training this month. The selective procedures are similar to those used in other institutions which have undergraduate counseling programs. Students whose grades are above a certain academic average may apply. Former counselors and members of the staff make recommendations. Interviews are held with the Dean of Women and a counselor in the Office of the Dean of Students. Final selections are based on the combined recommendations and comments on the individual's knowledge of campus life, her friendliness, poise, leadership and other personal characteristics. In addition to the regular counselors, who will be assigned a small group of Freshmen in their major fields, seven alternates have been named. They will work on special assignments and will be trained to assume responsibilities in any areas in which they are needed.

Martha Gruwell, Nancy Herndon, Mary Kaleel, Nancy Precious, Anna Robb, Joan Russell, Elizabeth Snowberger, Joan Davis, Dorothy Brugge, Elizabeth Conroy, Patricia DeLangh, Jean Durgin, Carole Isenberg, Mary Miles, Joanne Oechsler, Jean Ross, Barbara Taylor, Elizabeth Timmons, Donna Wood.

Joyce Blair, Jacqueline Hackett, Isabelle Smith, Louise Czajkowski, Audrey Ellis, Filomena Giammarco, Jean Hayes, Irene Klahr, Faye Meredith, Elizabeth Tatnall and Margaret Custis.

Aviation Cadet Team Will Visit Campus

With the Memorial Library basement as its location, an Aviation Cadet Selection Team will be present on the campus from 9:30 a. m. to 4 p. m. on April 20, 1954.

Although minimum educational qualifications include a high school diploma, the team personnel wish to devote most of their time to speaking with senior men. In all cases, underclassmen will be advised by team to continue his education, as the value of a college degree is well realized. However, if a man finds it absolutely impossible to continue his formal schooling he will be given due consideration and advice.

It is stressed by team personnel that an applicant does not actually enlist in the Air Force, and that he is only applying for the qualifying examinations. After passing the tests, he is tendered a four month draft deferment. Applicants are allowed to specify another date during these four months on which they will become available for the training.

SCHOLARSHIP

The Delaware Library Association has a scholarship available for award to a Delaware resident for post-graduate study in library science. Application for the scholarship must be made by May 1. Further details are available at Dean Hocutt's Office.

Colburn Receives Citation

Advisory Council Presents Colburn With Award For Valuable Services

On Saturday, March 27, 1954, a luncheon was held for Dr. Allen P. Colburn, provost of the University of Delaware, at Army Chemical Center, Maryland. Major General E. F. Bullene, retired Chief Chemical Officer, presented Dr. Colburn, chairman of the Chemical Corps Advisory Council, a meritorious civilian service award.

The citation of the award reads as follows:

"In recognition of the outstanding contributions Dr. Allen P. Colburn has made to the National Defense Program as Chairman of the Chemical Corps Advisory Council from November 1952 to March 31, 1954. Through his advice and co-operative assistance, the Chemical Corps has made great advancements toward the realization of its mission. Dr. Colburn's far-sighted consultation to the Chief Chemical Officer has resulted in great savings to the government in money and man-hours."

This is the highest award that can be made by the Chief Chemical Officer.

SGA Plans Talks On McCarthyism

McCarthyism will be the subject of a smoke talk being planned by the student government association.

Since this is a pressing current controversy, it is expected that these smoke talks will arouse the interest of instructors and students alike. A definite time and place for the first gathering will be announced in the coming week.

It is hoped that the informal atmosphere afforded by these smoke talks will encourage both professors and students to get to know each other and to express their ideas freely. If these discussions are successful, plans will be made to continue them at regular intervals throughout the remainder of the semester.

Meet Dr. C. R. Kase, Chairman Of Dramatic Arts And Speech

Out of Mitchell Hall with its ivy-covered walls and white dome, have come the productions which have made this university known for its achievements in the field of dramatic arts. To Dr. C. Robert Kase, chairman of the Department of Dramatic Arts and Speech and director of the E-52 University Theatre, goes most of the credit for the building of dramatics here to the point where Delaware has come to rank among the leaders in this field. An ambitious man who seems never to stop striving for perfection in the work he does, Dr. Kase seems already to have accomplished enough to satisfy most men.

Dr. Kase came to Delaware in 1930 as a member of the English Department with the stipulation that he was to direct one play each semester. What little dramatics there was at the time came under the English Department; and those participating in

New Art Exhibit Features Works Of Tseng Ya-ho, Young Chinese Painter

"Chinese Paintings," an exhibition of the works of a young Chinese woman artist, Tseng Ya-ho, will be displayed in the Art Gallery of the Memorial Library from April 4 to April 25.

This exhibition was first shown at the Art Institute of Chicago and is circulated by the Smithsonian Institution Traveling Exhibition Service, Washington, D. C., among ten leading museums.

Born in Peking in 1923, Tseng Ya-ho is the 75th lineal descendant of one of Confucius' disciples. She was trained by the noted Manchu master, Prince P'u Chin, and at Fudan University in Peking and now lives in Honolulu, the wife of Professor Gustav Ecke of the University of Hawaii.

It is remarkable, even at first glance, how Tseng Ya-ho combines the ancient techniques and traditions of Chinese brushwork, especially those of the Ming masters, with a completely personal style of her own. She expresses in all her paintings, whether of Chinese or Hawaiian scenes, a sensitive

Faculty Committee On Communication Aids UD Students

By JIM DUGAN

The faculty has long believed that many students know things that they cannot express, and two years ago they resolved to do something about it. They established the faculty Committee on Oral and Written Communication, and this committee has undertaken a program to help correct students' communicative weaknesses.

This faculty program is based on the three most common student difficulties: composition, spelling and speech.

The committee established a plan which works something like this: a student earns a grade in a subject, but the teacher notices an inability to express what the student has learned. The teacher gives the student his earned grade, but next to that grade is written two significant letters, "c. c." This stands for communicative condition, and the student must remove the condition from his record before his mark becomes official, and an unofficial mark is no mark at all.

How does our poor, markless student remove his condition? He goes to a communication clinic. In the communication clinic he learns how to get his mark from the registrar.

There are three clinics. One clinic is designed to teach spelling, one teaches composition and one corrects speech faults. Our friend, the markless student, goes to a clinic which will help him correct his particular fault. If he has an especially bad problem, he is given individual attention. By attending these clinics and passing his tests, the student earns the faculty's permission to have his mark cleared. In the process he has learned something that will be of value when the next exam crops up.

Another project undertaken by this committee is the administration of an exam for students who the plays were drawn from the members of two classes—E-51 and E-52—a two-semester course in drama which later lent its name to the present sponsor of all the productions.

A student of English throughout his college career, Dr. Kase did his undergraduate work at Gettysburg College where he participated in the Owl Nightingale Club's four major productions a year. Later at New York University, while he was a faculty member working for his Ph.D.

The Tony Mitchell Memorial Fund

No deed performed today will alleviate the loss incurred through the death of Tony Mitchell. The contributions from his talent and the companionship offered by his presence cannot be restored.

The concern and endearment of so large a segment of the student body toward Tony need and must not be lost. It is in this light that a movement is now being started to procure a permanent memorial to the one who, in his final years here, contributed very generously to the spirit and tradition of the University of Delaware.

This memorial is to be obtained entirely through the contributions of Tony's innumerable friends and classmates. Various students have been appointed to receive contributions. No recognition will be given to contributors, nor will any move be made to belittle non-contributors. The final sum will symbolize the true feelings of the student body.

The exact nature of the memorial itself has not been determined yet. It will depend primarily upon the generosity of the contributors. A committee consisting of Marianne Reinke, Glenn Dill, Dr. Robert Kase and Mr. Frank Gallagher has been formed to accept suggestions and decide what form the memorial will assume, after considering the size of the fund and the appropriateness of various items.

Students living on campus who wish to preserve the name of Tony Mitchell may contact any of the following persons who are helping with the fund:

AEPI, Marv Balick; DTD, Glenn Dill; KA, Judge McWhorter; Sig Ep, John Tuley; SN, Charles Presnell; ATO, John Pugh; PiKa, Bill du Bell; Phi Tau, Dan Strecker; OX, Ed Stout;

Any others who would like to participate in the memorial fund may send their contributions to Glenn Dill, Review office, Campus Mail.

[In Memoriam]

April 1, 1954 brought a blanket of grief rather than characteristic frivolity to the campus of the University of Delaware in the sudden and tragic death of Tony Mitchell. News of the automobile accident crash spread with incredible rapidity over the campus.

Shortly after the early morning news broadcast, the death of Tony passed by word of mouth to all of his friends and students who knew him—a group which engulfs nearly the entire campus community.

This lad, a twenty-year-old history major, had, through outstanding service in E-52, the University Band, and the Chorus, made himself an integral part of the University. But beyond that, his outstanding personality, ever present smile and wit, made him a deep and sincere friend to large numbers of his fellow students and associates.

Foremost among "Mitch's" interests here at Delaware were dramatics and music. He served as vice-president of E-52 Players and a member of the Play Selection and Casting Committee.

Nine major productions carried Tony's name on the program. He performed in "Finian's Rainbow", "Life With Father", "One Touch of Venus", "Marco Millions", "Twelfth Night", "Bloomer Girl", "Dark of the Moon", "Cinderella" (Children's Theatre), and "The Importance of Being Earnest".

For the past two years he had been a participant in the E-52 Freshman Week show. Also he starred as a visiting actor in the U.D.G. production, "Merchant of Venice".

In direct contrast to the reputation of the University of Delaware being a "suitcase college" was Mitch, for his school was his home and the college community his family. Tony could not claim any one campus fraternity to be his own; he could claim them all. His membership in a fraternity at Cornell, where his early college days were spent, prohibited his membership in another national fraternity. Despite this, every fraternity house on campus was stunned by the news of his untimely death.

The sudden skid on a slipping turn and a resounding crash into a telephone pole claimed the life of Delaware's Tony Mitchell... but it did not and could not destroy the memory of him. To the present student body, faculty, and staff, the unforgettable impression of Tony Mitchell will remain.

For each opening of the Mitchell Hall curtains, with each performance of the band's trombone section, the contributions of Tony Mitchell will be present in the mind of every person who knew him.

DuPont Company Gives Fellowships In Natural Science

The DuPont Company has provided 12 fellowships in the field of the natural sciences, each of which will consist of $115 for living expenses and the university's tuition fee.

These fellowships are designed primarily for teachers in service in the sciences and are based upon a special curriculum of graduate studies which will lead to a master's degree in education.

The special committee which will award these fellowships consists of Dr. E. Vernon Lewis, associate professor of mathematics and chairman of this committee; Dr. Richard G. Barnes, assistant professor of physics; and Mr. Daniel W. Wood, a member of the faculty of the school of education.

Applicants for the 1954 summer session science fellowships are invited to address inquiries to the Dr. Carl J. Rees, Director of the Summer Session, University of Delaware, Newark, Delaware.

New Leaders

A Warning And A Wish

The demise of spring vacation brings to the forefront elections in most of the campus organizations. This, with the characteristic feeling of accomplishments by the incoming officers and the sighs of relief by the retiring leaders, projects a promising illusion over the student body.

S.G.A. elections are of particular interest and importance to the campus as a whole. It is this group, unnoticed for the most part, that will determine the extent and quality of much of next year's social calendar, the increase or decrease in number of student privileges and the extent of unity among the student body.

The newly-elected personnel in the student government, and the other campus organizations as well, are, for the most part, amateurs as far as their new positions are concerned. This necessitates more alertness and aggressiveness than would be the case if the situation was altered.

Mistakes by such a group are inevitable in view of the variety of situations which constantly arise. Repetition of past errors and failure to progress when opportunities arise, however, are inexcusable.

The new campus leaders have been chosen. Potentially they are good. Their record remains to be established. From the departing "elders" goes a fervent hope that this record may prove creditable.

Off again, on again, bandleader Harry James recently put both feet firmly in the band business and announced that he was out to build "the greatest band in the country." And so saying, he added two former stars who sparked the group a few years back—alto man Willie Smith and tenor star Corky Corcoran. The band, which also includes drummer Buddy Rich, will soon go on the road, and Harry's fans will have the opportunity to give a listen to the streamlined James' band.

Harry was brought up with a circus, and it was there that he learned to play the trumpet and first sat in with the circus band at the ripe old age of 8. By the time he was 10, he was already playing trumpet solos and at 15 began to play with local orchestras in Beaumont, Texas, where his family had retired from the circus.

The next break came when Benny Goodman happened to catch Harry's trumpet work on a Pollack recording and immediately hired the 20 year old trumpeter. James stayed with Goodman for three years and in 1939 decided to go out on his own.

On July 5, 1943, James married Betty Grable, and they now make their home in Beverly Hills, Calif. On the coast he was under contract to 20th Century Fox studios and appeared in many films. He was also technical advisor and played all the trumpet parts in Young Man With a Horn.

BAND NEWS: Woody Herman starts a month-long tour of Europe this April. New additions to the band for the trek were drummer Chuck Flores and trumpeter Al Porcino. Stan Kenton disbanded to take an extended vacation. Chet Baker's quartet took off on an Eastern jaunt with stands slated at Detroit, Philadelphia and Boston. Baker's cohort on records, Gerry Mulligan, also is in the midst of an Eastern invasion. Jimmy McPartland's new band opened at New York's Metropole, which formerly had a non-jazz policy.

RECORD NEWS: Eddie Fisher was named top recording personality of the last year in a DOWN BEAT-conducted poll of over 2,000 disc jockeys. The jocks also named Bob Manning and Eartha Kitt as most promising newcomers and Les Paul-Mary Ford's Vaya Con Dios, Frank Chackfield's Ebb Tide and Stan Freberg's St. George and the Dragonet as top records.

GOOD FRIDAY

"For God so loved the world that He gave His Only Begotten Son . . ."

These words of consolation are in the hearts and minds of men everywhere on this holy day. All of the hopefulness of the Christian era is embodied in them.

Perhaps the real meaning of this day for most of us lies in the example of the love of One Who lays down His life for His friends. This act of sublime charity which we commemorate today was intended to inspire us to forgive others as we hope our trespasses will be forgiven. While it is true that none of us shall ever equal the magnanimity of the Redeemer's oblation, it is to be hoped that the force of His example shall never be lost upon the world.

It must seem to the many who are sore oppressed that there is no balm to heal their afflictions. Indeed, we who are so fortunate find it difficult to give them helpful reassurance. It may well be that their strength shall be drawn from the understanding of the tremendous love for mankind exemplified by the sacrifice on Calvary.

Once again we in America are privileged to share in the solemnity of Good Friday and the anticipation of the glory of Easter. May the experience not be lost upon any of us for whom it should be meaningful.

Perkins Urges Students To Attend Church Today

President John A. Perkins of the University of Delaware urges students to attend the church of their faith on Good Friday, April 16.

In making his announcement the university president said, "It is the duty of all Christians to attend religious services on Good Friday. In the case of most students, they will be able to attend the church of their choice at sometime during the day without conflict with classes. However, where a class must be missed in order to attend Good Friday services, I feel certain faculty members will excuse such class absences; and I hereby request our faculty to do this."

Delta Tau Delta

Delt elections were held just before spring vacation, and the results were as follows: Jack Mealey is the new prexy with the veep position going to Bill Brown. Assuming posts as corresponding and recording secretaries are Jack Davidson and Jack Pollock. Jack France is the new house manager, and his assistant is Bob Hastings.

With the outcome of SGA elections we find the following Deltas in office: Dave Menser, president; Bill Brown, Arts and Science representative; and Jack Mealey, Junior Class representative.

Over the vacation a number of wandering Deltas managed to visit a few of our chapters around the country. Diz Day and Karl Buretz were out to the University of Pittsburgh, and Karl went on to visit a few days at the Western Reserve University chapter house in Cleveland. With sunburned faces and three automobiles, Wendell Wheatley and Jack Richter returned from Florida sunshine after deciding to go into the used car business.

Sigma Nu

The vacationland of Florida attracted quite a few of the brothers. Tom Hopkins, Ed White, Jack Miller, Mike Ferver and Pete Brosius enjoyed that southern hospitality tremendously. Bob Green and Frank Pettyjohn left many broken-hearted girls along the roadside.

Pledges Pete Green and Bill Bauer visited the nation's capitol during vacation. Billy was entranced by an Asian Princess who taught him a famous Confucius saying: "Always wash face in morning, neck at night."

Quote of the week comes from a conversation between Tom Bratton, John Kennedy and Charlie Paski: "If it's heads we go to the sack, tails we stay up, and if it lands on its edge we study!" Way to drive for the index.

Phi Kappa Tau

With six weeks left until exams, the brothers will have to do their utmost to combat their annual enemy, spring fever.

Dave Woodward spent part of his vacation hurling for the Delaware nine and was credited with a win over Washington and Lee. Wayne Kirklin, Bob Horn and Boyd Cook went to R. P. I. for a lacrosse encounter. Some of the brothers shortened their vacation and worked on the new house. The combined efforts of the brothers and pledges are contributing toward good progress.

At the annual Founder's Day banquet, which was held at New Castle Air Base Officer's Club, Harry Menser received the award for the brother who has contributed the most to the chapter during the preceding year.

John Kedyerski's bowling squad, which is ably staffed by Don Dunnell, Howard Anderson, Marty Burns, Dan Strecker and John Martin, is off to a good start and is expected to remain high in the I. F. C. league.

Pi Kappa Alpha

The question of the week is did Pete Petrucci spend the spring vacation in Miami, or did he borrow Obie Goff's sun lamp again?

Welcome back to brother George Vanech, who spent most of his vacation in the Elkton Hospital recovering from a kidney ailment.

George "Casey" Palmer, manager of the Pikes softball squad, expects to field a strong contender for the softball crown. George's job will be made easier by returning vets Jack Sporry, Butch Thompson, Bob Pillow, Bob Alexander, Hal Henderson, "Pistol Pete" Petrucci and Reese Savage.

Congratulations to Vince Landi on his election as junior class vice president.

Sigma Phi Epsilon

Now that the vacation is over, everybody at the house has settled down to studying under the new regime headed by John Tuley as president. His recently elected cohorts are: Dick Knoll, vice president; Dan Boyce, comptroller; Don Williamson, historian; and Don Daniello, secretary.

Just before the vacation many of the Sig Eps traveled to Temple to join in the conclave held there. Topping off the social events was a barn dance at the Eddington Party House. Dates were supplied to practically all the brothers there, but seen leading the birdoggers were Ray Hoopes and Dick Knoll. Bruce White enjoyed the place so much that he left a few of his belongings in memory of his visit.

Our congratulations are extended to two recently initiated brothers, Jack Waddington and Joe Samluk.

Alpha Epsilon Pi

Returning from the spring vacation healthy, hearty and happier, the Apes have begun painting and papering the house in preparation for that bearded (or stubbled) rollicking Buckaneers' Brawl.

Writing this little column becomes more tedious with each passing week, since the brothers are such a group of nothings that finding something to write about is next to impossible. During the vacation nothing was accomplished. No one had dates (as though anyone would have enjoyed their company). The only eventful happening was the engagement of Henri Bertuch and Rhoda Weismann. At least they're two happy people at Delaware.

The annual spring formal is coming up, and the advent of this joyous occasion has thrown the house into a panic. It will make most of the girls on campus happy to know that most of the brothers are bringing imports.

Kappa Alpha

The Spring Vacation is over, and we are back in the fold ready for cracking the books. Seems like everyone had a fine vacation which mainly consisted of catching up on sleep and a little studying. Some of the brothers migrated south to Dixieland—namely Florida. Seems like Bob Oggenfuss, Bill Wood and Fred Freibott had quite a few interesting experiences. One of their escapades consisted of water skiing which resulted in a fall-down and drag-in affair. Freddy was the only one they didn't have to drag in—I wonder why?

The softball team is anxiously waiting for the opening day. Jack Ryan has the team really bustling. There are many candidates out for the team.

We would like to congratulate new members who were initiated before the vacation. They are Walt Garber, Lew Whitaker and Paul Lloyd.

Theta Chi

The brothers wish to welcome back all pupils of the Delaware College of Diffused Knowledge from their glorious spring vacation. Our Florida Contingent was led by Howard "Skirts" McCurdy, and the working class was headed by Bill "Ice-man" Hopson.

Our associate members of the Explorers Club went on an expedition to the headwaters of the Delaware Canal to discover the source of the Choptank. Members Colona, Oves, McWilliams and canoe porter Jack Rider made the trip (they probably even got past the Granary).

Congratulations to the new officers elected after our annual shakedown—president Don "Anvil" Aanstad, V. P. Dan "Clarabell" Ford, secretary, Tom "V. T." Oves, and treasurer Stan "Wilma" Wojerechowski.

The brothers are all looking forward to the OX week end in two weeks—there is much excitement at the Chi Sty. The formal will be held at Schaeffer's down at Chesapeake City.

Which field of engineering interests you most?

Whether it's electrical, civil, mechanical, aeronautical or any related field, you'll find a rewarding career opportunity at Boeing.

Engineers of virtually every type are in increasing demand here—for Boeing is growing continuously, and today employs more engineers than even at the peak of World War II. That's the kind of situation in which positions up ahead keep opening up. Boeing fills them from within its own organization, and holds regular merit reviews to give you steady recognition.

As a Boeing engineer you'd be part of a team that, for 37 years, has pioneered successful, trail-blazing types of airplanes. You could look toward a stable future with such long-range Boeing projects as a pilotless aircraft program (one of the largest in the country), development of America's first jet transport, research on supersonic flight and nuclear power for aircraft, and the world's fastest multi-jet bombers, the B-47 and B-52.

You'll find a wide range of experience and contacts available to you at Boeing. The aviation industry is unique in its variety and breadth of application—from applied research to production design, all going on at once. Boeing is constantly alert to new materials and new techniques, and approaches them without limitations. In addition, Boeing's vast subcontracting program—requiring engineering co-ordination—offers an opportunity for contacts with a cross section of American industry.

At Boeing, you'd work in Seattle, Washington, or Wichita, Kansas—two fresh, modern cities with a wide variety of recreational facilities as well as universities which provide excellent graduate study courses. The company will arrange a reduced work week to permit time for such study and will reimburse tuition upon successful completion of each quarter's work.

CHARLES WILLIS

Coach Ken Steers' track and field team opens its outdoor season tomorrow afternoon when the Blue and Gold play host to Swarthmore College. Although the Hen thinclads don't possess the depth and power of last year's undefeated squad, Coach Steers has molded a squad which will give trouble to any of its opponents. The Hens this year are especially strong in the field events. Steve Butcher, who has been tossing the shot around the 46' mark during the indoor season, and Bob Graham form a strong twosome in the weight event. Bill McWilliams and Jack Simpson are both capable of going well over the eleven foot mark in the pole vault, and Dick Saunders is the top man in the high jump. Mike Ferver is the leading broad jump specialist. In the track events Captain Bill Reynold, who holds the Delaware half mile record, will again compete in the 880 and in addition this year will compete in the mile run. Jimmy Flynn is the threat in the 100 yard dash and 220, and Dante Marini, Jim Glick and Roger Fouracre will take care of the distance events.

Since a new regime will take over the Review next week, I would now like to pay tribute to those who have made the sports page possible this year. Johnny Borresen, who has been on the staff the past two years, covered the wrestling team and is presently doing the baseball write-ups. Jack Harper, another senior and veteran reporter, was the swimming writer and is currently writing the "Blue Hen of the Week" feature. Dick Knoll has been the football reporter and is now engaged in lacrosse reporting. John Papaione was the cross country reporter, and Charlie Skinner writes intramural happenings. Jim Burton has handled frosh sports activities, and Dick O'Connor has covered soccer and is now doing track write-ups. Jack Smith, who wrote the "Play of the Week" feature in the fall, teamed up with Tim Chilton in reporting basketball results. Women's athletic activities have been ably reported by Faye Miller, Phyllis Haley and Marie Thielman. Dave Tompkins, who has been a news reporter this year, will take over as sports editor for the conclusion of this year and next year. Last, but not least, Elbert Chance, sports publicist, is to be praised for his help and cooperation in providing articles, pictures and information.

HIGHLIGHTS

Coach Roy Rylander's tennis squad is shaping up as one of the best to represent the university in several years. Frank White and Jim Hoey are the number one and two players, but competition for the other positions is extremely rugged. Tom Mulrooney, Carl Schupp and Harry Veale are fighting for the third, fourth and fifth slots. The loss of the backfield coach Gene Stauber, to Idaho is a promotion for the likeable ex-Toledo athlete, but he will leave behind a reputation as being a fine scout and backfield coach.

Hen Nine Drops First Three; Pitching And Fielding Slack

Plagued by poor pitching and fielding, the Hens dropped the first three games on the Southern trip to Maryland 10-1, Navy 9-2 and Virginia 13-3. Dave Woodward, Pete Kelleher and Ed Morrow in that order had their troubles finding the plate, and loose fielding added to the disaster. Buddy Kimmel turned in neat relief stints in all three games.

The Hens dented the win column for the first time when they defeated Washington and Lee 8-6 behind Dave Woodward, who got some much needed help from Kimmel who finished the game for him. The Hens got two in the first when Andy Wagner and Tom Redfield hit doubles back to back, and then Gary Buckwalter singled. In the third the Hens picked up another run when Lou Romagnoli singled home Redfield, who had tripled. The sixth inning saw the Hens with a four-run uprising take the lead. Bob Trivits led off with a single, and with two away, Zaiser and Wagner walked; Redfield got on through an error, and Buckwalter singled to score the four runs. The eighth and final run was scored in the seventh inning when Bob Hooper tripled and rode home on Bill Annonio's infield out. Woodward, who relieved Dallas Green in the second inning, received the win.

Fresh from the W. & L. win, the Hens had the misfortune of meeting Earl Thomas, the $30,000 Red Sox bonus baby who is now hurling for the Quantico Marines. Two hits, one each by Wagner and Redfield, were the best the Hens could touch him for as they went down to an 8-1 defeat. Pete Kelleher was the starting and losing pitcher, while Buddy Kimmel turned in another brilliant relief stint to finish up.

The Hens finished the trip on a bright note last Saturday when they overcame an early deficit to defeat Georgetown 10-8 in eleven innings. For the second time on the trip, Ed Morrow was unable to show his Michigan form as he blew a 3-0 first inning lead by giving the Hoyas 5 runs in their turn at bat. Georgetown nicked Morrow for another run in the third and finished their scoring with two in the 7th. Again it was Buddy Kimmel who came on to hold the home team scoreless, and this time he picked up the win. After scoring the three first inning runs without a hit, the Hens rallied in the eighth on a walk to Hooper, a double by Green and a single by Kimmel himself to score two runs.

With the score 8-5, Georgetown in the top of the ninth, Wagner walked, followed by Redfield, Miller, Annonio and Hooper to tie the game up.

The eleventh saw Delaware score twice more to sew the game up. The counters came when Hooper walked, Kimmel singled, and after a sacrifice and an infield out, Jim Zaiser was safe on an infield error.

Diamond Dust

Coach Siemen lauded Buddy Kimmel as the most outstanding player to date. Considering he has pitched in seven of the Hens' eight games, he certainly has earned the praise. Siemen also singled out the hitting of Redfield, Wagner and Buckwalter as some of the brighter spots on the team. Defensively it has been shortstop Romagnoli and Wagner who have been outstanding.

Delaware plays Lehigh away tomorrow, and the team plays host to Villanova on Frazer Field at 3:30 next Wednesday.

UD Defeats Michigan 1-0

In a pre-vacation encounter Delaware's Blue Hen nine scored one of the major upsets of the collegiate baseball season when they upset Michigan, the defending national champion, 1-0, behind the beautiful three-hit pitching of Ed "Moose" Morrow. Morrow's performance over the nine inning route was perhaps the best pitching seen on the Taylor Field diamond in the last decade, considering the opposition. The Hens scored their lone run in the fourth inning when Tom Redfield doubled to left-center; and then after Bill Annonio walked, Dallas Green hit a fly to right field which was dropped, allowing the winning run to score.

Delaware's Indoor Trackmen Lose Final Meet, Superiority In Depth Wins For West Chester

The Aquatic Club is now working on numbers for their show which will be presented sometime next fall. At the present time the club is particularly interested in finding new members in order that they have a chance to practice for this show. For this reason, the club held try-outs again. These try-outs were preceded by a demonstration which was open to all interested women on campus. They were held on April 13 and 14 with the demonstration being presented April 12. Another try-out session will be held April 19th at 7 p.m. for all girls who missed the ones this week. So, if you like to swim, why don't you try your luck at it? All you have to do is just sign up in the gym for your chance to try out. Shown in the above picture are three members executing some precision swimming.

The week before vacation saw a hectic basketball playoff being held on south campus. After some pretty terrific games and some very close scores, Sussex emerged as the champions, with the girls from Turvey being the second place winners. Nice going Sussex. Those kids from Turvey have got what it takes, too. Not so long ago they were winners of the volleyball tournament, and now look what they did.

Yachting Resumed At Lafayette

Yachting is to be resumed as a sport at Lafayette College after a lapse of several years.

A group of students, directed by Professor Karl D. Larsen of the college faculty, have organized a yachting club and plan to participate in several regattas. George Dickson of Easton, Md., has been named commodore.

Stauber To Accept Idaho Assistant Coach Position

Gene Stauber, backfield coach for the Delaware football team for the past two years, left Wednesday to accept an assistant coaching position at the University of Idaho.

Stauber will rejoin his former Toledo University coach Neil Stahley at the Pacific conference school. The new job represents a challenge for Stauber, as Idaho's football fortunes have been on the downgrade the past several years.

Athletic Director Dave Nelson made a trip to Detroit and Ann Arbor last week to interview candidates for the backfield post, but returned without making a choice. Nelson stated that "We'll probably not appoint a man until May or June."

Coach Stauber will leave a veteran backfield, including little all-American quarterback Don Miller, for Dave Nelson's 1954 grid machine.

Delaware closed its indoor track season on March 28 by dropping its finale to West Chester by a 66½ - 46½ count. The outstanding factor which decided the outcome of the meet was West Chester's superiority in depth.

During the afternoon the Hens posted as many wins as did West Chester; in fact three records were broken by wearers of the Blue and Gold. These record-breaking performances were turned in by Steve Butcher, Jim Flynn and Bill Reynold.

Steve Butcher continued to break his own indoor shot put record; for the third consecutive week Steve shattered his old mark, this time with a toss of 46 feet, 1 and ¾ inches. Jim Flynn turned in a brilliant :05.3 time in the 50 yard dash, bettering the previous record time by two-tenths of a second. Captain Bill Reynold made an inspiring debut to the '54 track squad by breaking the Blue Hen mark for the mile with a 4:34.4. Bill also won the half-mile and turned in a fine last leg in the mile relay.

Freshman Bill Munro entered the win column by romping in way ahead in the 50 yard high hurdles. This is Bill's second consecutive win in this event.

By continuing to set his normal speedy pace Frank Davidson won the 1000 yd. Frank is running very smoothly and should develop into one of Delaware's finest middle distance runners.

Danny Marini finished in the second spot in two events, the 600 yard and the 2 mile runs.

In the field events West Chester really took advantage of its depth by placing nine men in the first three places of four events. On the other hand Delaware's Steve Butcher and Dick Saunders won the shot put and the high jump respectively. Also Bill McWilliams displayed his versatility by placing in the broad jump and the pole vault.

Tomorrow the outdoor track season will get under way when the Hens take on Swarthmore College. Last year Delaware beat Swarthmore by a score of 104-17. Coach Ken Steers and his squad are hoping to equal that performance tomorrow afternoon.

Lacrosse Team Defeated By Outstanding R. P. I.

During the Spring vacation the Blue Hens lacrosse team made a trip to Troy, New York, where they played the Red and White of R. P. I. Although the Blue and Gold came out on the short end of the score, 19-2, the team gained much experience. R. P. I. is one of the leading lacrosse schools of the nation, and two years ago they represented the United States in Europe on a lacrosse tour. It is one of the leading sports of the school with a few thousand turning out for the game.

The Blue Hens fielded a team of Pat Morris in the goal; Bill Gurney, George Chaloccyaka and Clark Carbaugh on defense; Boyd Cook, Wayne Kirklin and Ronnie Haines at midfield; and Dick Knoll, Sandy Whitney and Jack Wiberg at attack. Whitney scored the two Blue Hen goals, while Pat Morris played a terrific game in the goal. Pat gained a large hand of applause from the crowd when he left the game in the last quarter.

Tomorrow the Hens will travel to Western Maryland to try and gain their first win of the season, and this Wednesday they will tackle Swarthmore at home.

Wisniewski Will Replace Stauber As Frosh Coach

Director of Athletics, David M. Nelson, has announced that Irvin "Whiz" Wisniewski will assume the duties of Freshman baseball coach at the University of Delaware for the 1954 season as a result of the departure of Coach Gene Stauber.

The lanky football and freshman basketball coach said that he is pleased to accept the new assignment although his previous coaching duties here and elsewhere had not included baseball. Wisniewski directed the football, basketball and golf teams while head coach at Hillsdale College and has worked with two teams at Delaware. His playing experience includes high school and sandlot ball, principally as catcher and first baseman.

Four freshman games have already been scheduled, and several other tentative dates are now being considered with other schools. Such outstanding prospects as catcher Joe Thorp, outfielder Albie Sparks, infielder Jimmy Smith are expected to make the new coach's job a pleasant one.

Intramural Highlights

Intramural volleyball is rapidly drawing to a close with Kappa Alpha, sporting an 8-0 record, leading in the "A" League, and ATO with a 3-0 ledger leading in the "B" League. SPE, which has completed its schedule, is close second to the "Rebels" with an 8-1 ledger. ATO "B" presses their "A" squad for the lead, possessing a 3-1 record. The winner of each league will meet for the intramural championship.

SN leads in the team standings with 639 points. The "Snakes" are trailed by KA, 494; TC, 449; SPE, 408.

STEVE BUTCHER

This week the sport spot light turns on the all-around athlete from Lansford High School in Penna., Steve Butcher. Big Steve holds down the varsity tackle position on the football team with his two hundred pounds plus during the fall, and when spring rolls around he throws the shot for Coach "Ken" Stears' cindermen.

Just before the Spring vacation, the Blue Hen trackmen met West Chester State Teachers College in an indoor meet at Carpenter Field House against rough competition. It was a seesaw battle back and fourth until the final throw when the spectators thought the shot was going to go through the wall. The official measurement was 46'1" for a new Delaware record. This toss beat the previous one by over 2 feet, being 44'5", which was set

When it comes to almost any sport, "Big Steve" is in there doing his little bit in a big way. Besides football and track, Steve had been the heavy weight boxing champ for the past two years. He is a member of the advance ROTC, a pledge in the Scabbard and Blade

In addition, the members of the board will administer practical tests to all classes of the ROTC in all subjects taught during the year in military science.

A CAMPUS-TO-CAREER CASE HISTORY

"I didn't know there was such a job"

EMMETT SMITH, E. E., '50, never heard of telephone traffic work, but what he saw of the job intrigued him. He explains how it worked out.

(Reading time: 40 seconds)

Emmett Smith supervises operation of this training switchboard, which he originally helped to design.

"Communications have always been one of my main interests—in the Navy and at the University of Michigan. So I was very happy when the Michigan Bell Telephone Company invited me to visit their headquarters to talk about a job.

"In Detroit I had a chance to look at a number of departments, including one I'd never heard of before, the Traffic Department. I found that, in addition to the engineering of switchboards, its work involved the supervision and the actual handling of customer calls. It struck me like a wonderful opportunity to combine staff engineering and field management.

"My first impression was right, too, because my work covered both. First, I had on-the-job training assignments in several different kinds of offices—local, Long Distance, dial and manual. Then

I worked in engineering, translating estimates of future growth into the actual number of circuits and switchboard positions required.

"Now I'm supervising the operation of one of the boards I helped engineer. Briefly, my job is to see that my district gets the kind of equipment it needs and that what we have is functioning properly. Working with people is another major part of my job, too, because I serve in an advisory capacity to the supervisors of the Long Distance operators.

"Needless to say, I'm happy with my job. A job I didn't even know existed."

Emmett Smith's job is with a Bell Telephone Company. There are similar opportunities for college people with Bell Telephone Laboratories, Western Electric and Sandia Corporation.

as guest speaker by Richard Saunders, president of the Canterbury Club. The text of the Bishop's address was directed toward the Christian's belief and racial prejudice. The Bishop said, "the facts of brotherly love are clearly stated by our Lord, and it is the duty of each person to follow the word."

Appreciation of the Bishop's address and the benediction were given by the Rev. Theodore Ludlow, Chaplain to the club.

Reversed Chimney Gives Brown Lab Air Of Distinction

The outstanding characteristic of Brown Laboratory or Chem Lab, as it used to be called, is its never ending variety of odors. This may be accounted for by an incident which supposedly happened soon after the building was completed. When Brown Lab was first built, it was constructed with three chimneys, the two end ones for the release of fumes, the middle one to admit fresh air into the building. As the story goes, the center chimney reversed its function one day, and the building became re-inoculated with the spicy gases.

This perfumed architectural wonder was built by the donations of Howard Fletcher Brown, a past member of the Board of Trustees. It was designed by Charles Z. Klander of Philadelphia and constructed by R. C. Baling and Company. At its completion, the Chemistry Department was merged with the Women's College and the Liberal Arts School.

Dedication services for the new building were held on October 15 and 16, 1937. Mr. Hulihan, president of the university at that time, presided, and Professor W. O. Sypher, then head of the English Department, acted as herald.

The design of the structure is Georgian Colonial. The hall or lobby within the building has several built-in showcases for exhibition of material of scientific or technical interest. Other features are the lecture room, which has a capacity for 270 persons and the small laboratory rooms for the students' individual use.

artist's reaction to her surroundings and an instinct for the significant. Above all, her technique is faultless, using ink and mineral colors on ancient oriental papers painstakingly collected over the years.

As Charles Fabens Kelley, curator of Oriental Art at the Art Institute of Chicago, points out: "Painting in the Far East is a closed book to most occidentals, mainly because they have never really seen it. People are familiar with Japanese prints and admire their superb composition and subtle color balances, but the brushwork upon which all Far Eastern painting firmly rests cannot be seen in the woodblock prints. Indeed, with the fountain pen replacing the brush in both China and Japan, it is a question how long painting in the national tradition will survive on anything but a mechanical basis.

Mr. Kelley continues: "Miss Tseng's work does not suffer from comparison with famous Chinese works hung nearby. Like all great Chinese landscape painting, it is based upon ink brush-drawing, and the monochrome range from light grey to velvety black is the foundation of the entire painting. Here and there some color may be added, but only for decorative, not realistic, reasons."

IT'S ALL A MATTER OF TASTE

Late for your date? She hates to wait?
Need something nice to soothe her?
Give her a round, firm Lucky Strike—
They're cleaner, fresher, smoother!

W. T. Donoghue

When you come right down to it, you smoke for one simple reason... enjoyment. And smoking enjoyment is all a matter of taste. Yes, taste is what counts in a cigarette. And Luckies taste better.

Two facts explain why Luckies taste better. First, L.S./M.F.T.—Lucky Strike means fine tobacco... light, mild, good-tasting tobacco. Second, Luckies are actually made better to taste better... always round, firm, fully packed to draw freely and smoke evenly.

So, for the enjoyment you get from better taste, and only from better taste, Be Happy—Go Lucky. Get a pack or a carton of better-tasting Luckies today.

My roommate was a grouchy soul—
No person could be meaner;
But Luckies made him change his tune—
They're smoother, fresher, cleaner!

from 1927 to 1930, he averaged seeing one production a week on Broadway. His final thesis, a study of Chaucer's "Canterbury Tales," was published by the Oxford Press in a volume of three studies on Chaucer.

In 1930 there were two dramatic groups here at Delaware, The Footlights at Delaware College and The Puppets at the Women's College. That year Dr. Kase directed his first two major productions, "Outward Bound" and "Arms and the Man," the first full-length play to be produced in the newly-completed Mitchell Hall.

The following year the E-52 Players were organized to permit all interested students to become active in dramatics. It was not long afterwards that The Footlights and The Puppets decided to merge with the Players.

A state-wide interest in drama next took hold of Dr. Kase, and in 1937 he established the Dramatic Center, a university Service, and helped organize the Delaware Dramatic Association, of which he was first president. The DDA sponsors each year both a Dramatic Conference and a Play Festival, in which school and community theatres of the state participate. In 1934 Dr. Kase and a few of the faculty organized what is now Newark's community theatre, the University Drama Group.

Since 1937 Dr. Kase has been a member of the National Theatre Conference made up of 100 directors of university and community theatres supported by the Rockefeller Foundation. In 1946 he was elected president of the American Educational Theatre Association.

From September, 1942, until February, 1945, Dr. Kase was a theatrical advisor for the Army. He was among the initial group to be called in to set up all-soldiers' show programs which also included such notables as Maurice Evans, John Schubert and Glen Miller.

The Caribbean was his base of operations where his job was to develop a soldiers' show and to take charge of all USO camp troops. He directed and took on tour the first army musical, "Say, Si," which had University of Puerto Rico co-eds as chorus girls.

Last year, as a director of the American National Theatre Academy, a position he has held since 1946, Dr. Kase took a leave of absence from the university to make a survey of theatres in some 30 states and all sections of the country. Also in 1946 he became a member of the Theatre Panel for the U. S. Commission of UNESCO.

the Budapest Players assumed the leadership in the art of quartet music vacated by the Flonzaley Quartet, and their popularity has increased over the years. Although they have toured as far afield as Indonesia, North Africa, Australia, New Zealand and Japan, the quartet makes its headquarters in Washington, D. C., where they average 24 concerts a year under a long-term contract with the Whit-tall Foundation. The concerts in the nation's capital are given in the Library of Congress, which is internationally recognized as a music center. Included in their U. S. schedule are annual engagements of ten concerts for the New York Y. M. H. A., usually fifteen at a summer engagement in California at Mills College, and many more touring from coast to coast.

Despite the fact that their group derives its name from the Hungarian capital, the present Budapest String Quartet is composed of Russians by birth, now American citizens. The quartet began with an all-Hungarian membership, the organization which toured Europe and the U. S. in the 1920's. The second violinist, however, left in 1927 and was replaced by a Russian. By 1936 there was not a Hungarian left.

Joseph Roisman, the first violinist, hails from Odessa, as does Boris Kroyt, the viola player. The violoncellist, Mischa Schneider, is from Vilna, and the second violinist, Jac Gorodetzky is also a native of Odessa.

The future junior class officers are Allan Ferver, president; Vince Landi, vice president; Leola Seemet, secretary; Mary Kaleel, treasurer; and John Mealey, S.G.A. representative.

The newly elected sophomore class officers are Tommy Thomas, president; William Lord, vice president; Carolyn Phillips, secretary; Henry Weil, treasurer; and Joan Ross, S.G.A. representative.

"There was a good turnout of students voting this year," stated

Joe Stout, chairman of the election committee. "The freshmen and sophomores had the best showing, while not too many of the seniors voted." Altogether, 822 students voted; this is approximately 100 less than last year.

The reason not as many voted this year is because quite a few of the offices were unopposed. Since this was the case, students felt that the candidate would win anyway; so why vote? Last year it was more of a controversial issue as to who would be elected to the higher posts.

Cross Collector Speaks To Club

Mrs. Fraim, collector of religious crosses, spoke to the Home Economics Club last Wednesday evening, April 14, in the Home Management House. Crosses from Mrs. Fraim's collection were used to illustrate her talk on a subject appropriate to this Easter season.

The evening was concluded with a coffee hour, and nominations for next year's executive council were made.
