University to Accept Between 1400-1500 Students For Enrollment In September

All Veterans, Former Students, Del. School Grads to Be Accepted

As a result of recent action of the University faculty it may now be possible for the University to accept from 1450 to 1500 students for enrollment in the University in September instead of about 1100 as previously estimated. It is now believed that nearly 1500 can be accommodated provided several hundred commute to their homes or otherwise provide for their own housing and that students henceforth accepted for the September term take whatever courses are available.

Consequently, the faculty now has adopted a resolution providing for the acceptance of all qualified Delaware veterans and former students, and of all civilian graduates of Delaware schools who had filed applications prior to May 1 and who are qualified to do academic work of a college level.

It was also stated that although more than 100 applications for admission in September have been disapproved because the applicants resided outside the state or were not scholastically qualified for admission, 968 applications are still on hand. Of this number, 164 former students have been approved for readmission and 238 other applicants have been accepted. Action is still to be taken on 404 Delaware applicants and 162 applications from non-Delawareans.

In order to accommodate 1400 or more students, all physical and instructional facilities of the University will have to be completely (Continued on Page 3)

Capella Club Gives Last Music Program

In an effort to build up a relationship with community music organizations and to recognize worthwhile musical accomplishments throughout the state, the Music Department has been presenting programs on this campus of interest to the students, faculty, and community. With this objective in mind, the Department sponsored the Delaware Music Festival, and the concert given by the Dupont Chorus on May 16.

For the last program of this type on campus the excellent Capella Club from Wilmington has been invited to give a concert on Monday, June 3, at 8:15 P. M. in Mitchell Hall. Frederick Wyatt will direct the chorus, and Margaret Hill Baur will be the accompanist. As guest artist the Capella Club is bringing to the University with them, Robert Ellis, gifted young organist.

The chorus will sing four songs by Brahms, followed by Bach's "Toccata, Adagio, and Fugue in C Major" played by Robert Ellis. This brilliant Toccata contains one of the finest pedal solos in organ literature. Compositions by Marcel Dupre, Mozart, and other immortal composers will also be presented. As a finale to this concert of choral and organ literature, the Capella Club will do a performance of "Hiawatha's Wedding Feast", a cantata by C. Coleridge Taylor, which retells a familiar and beautiful American story in music.

Henry Seidel Canby To Address U. of D. Graduation Rites

Rev. F. Raymond Baker Speaker on June 16 at Baccalaureate Sermon

Dr. Henry Seidel Canby, nationally known educator, author, and literary authority—and a Wilmingtonian by birth—will deliver the commencement address at the University of Delaware on June 17 at exercises to be held in Mitchell Hall beginning at 11:15 a.m. (D.S.T.), it was announced by Dr. W. Owen Sypherd, University president.

Dr. Sypherd also announced that the Baccalaureate Sermon will be given on the preceding day in the same hall at 11:00 a.m. (D.S.T.) by the Rev. F. Raymond Baker, pastor of the Second Baptist Church, Wilmington, for nearly 17 years.

Now chairman of the editorial board and an associate editor of the Saturday Review of Literature, Dr. Canby has a long and distinguished career in letters. For many years a professor of English at Yale University, he has contributed to the Encyclopedia Britannica and has written many text books, especially in the field of the short story. He is also well known to thousands of American book readers as chairman of the board of judges for the Book-of-the-Month Club, which position he has retained since 1926.

In recent years Dr. Canby has written such widely-read books as "Thoreau: A Biography" and "Walt Whitman, An American". He is also known locally as the author of "The Brandywine", published in 1941 as a part of the popular Rivers of America series.

President of the College English Association since 1943, Dr. Canby also is a member of the Modern Language Association, the National Institute of Arts and Letters. (Continued on Page 4)

Temporary Housing Request By U. of D. Approved by FPHA

Confirmation of approval of the request for temporary dormitory accommodations for 200 students has been received from the Federal Public Housing Authority in New York City. Gov. Walter W. Bacon approved the University's application for the one to three buildings to be moved to this site. On the Governor's recommendation the Permanent Budget Commission allocated up to $10,000 from the state emergency fund to make the dormitory units available for use by student veterans.

The dormitory may be one like that at Shipside, near Wilmington. Under the FPHA program such temporary structures are moved from areas which do not need them and erected at educational institutions or in other communities for the use of veterans. The University has not made the final decision on the site to be used.

The dormitory will not solve the problem of married veterans, for it will be for men only.

Farewell Hop to Be Held in Field House Saturday Evening

Bill Hammersley To Play For Informal Dance

The Farewell Hop, to be held this coming Saturday night, will be the last dance of the collegiate year '45-'46 and should be among the most successful. Bill Hammersley will play from 9 till 12 in the Field House. The dance will be informal and there will be no admission charged on this—the last dance.

This dance also marks the end for the now functioning social committee. The entire organization, headed by Frannie Cox, has certainly done a fine job on our social calendar this year.

So, whether you're graduating this year, just quitting for the summer, or planning on summer school—end this term with the Farewell Hop.

Alumnae Ass'n Has Seniors As Guests

Women Addressed By Dean Crawford, Others

Women Seniors of the University of Delaware were guests at an informal reception given by the Alumnae Association on Tuesday, May 28, in Warner Hall. Mrs. Marian Kee Tobin, '34, vice-president of the Alumnae Association, was general chairman of the affair.

Mrs. Catherine Rittenhouse Gibbs, '37, recording secretary of the Alumnae Association and newly-elected president of the Newark Chapter, was asked to pour. Mrs. Eleanor Doordan Foster, '35, and Mrs. Camilla Downing Day, '31, were in charge of refreshments and decorations.

Invitations were sent to University officials, to department heads, and to those members of the faculty most closely associated with the present seniors. All interested faculty members and all members of the Alumnae Association were also invited to attend.

In the receiving line were Dean Gwendolyn S. Crawford, Miss Margaret McCarthy, president of the women seniors, Mrs. Olive Murray Jones, '28, president of the Alumnae Association, Mrs. Tobin, and Miss Winifred Taylor, '41, executive secretary.

At a meeting of the senior class held just prior to the reception, Dean Crawford, Mrs. Jones, and Miss Taylor spoke briefly on topics of interest to girls about to be graduated.

Lt. A. Schumacher Discharged at Dix

1st Lt. Alan T. Schumacher departed for the Separation Center at Fort Dix, N. J., on Monday, May 27th, after completing almost 3 years' service as adjutant of the ASTP-ROTC unit at the University of Delaware. He recently completed a short history of the Army Specialized Training Program at the University of Delaware. Upon his separation from the Army, he will return to his home in New York City and to re-employment as investment analyst with a commercial bank, which he left to enter the service in 1942.

Len Dougherty Urges Total Participation In Student Affairs

Col. R. T. Pendleton Assumes Duties As P. M. S. T. at Del.

Col. Randolph T. Pendleton, C.A.C., who has trained with such World War II heroes as General Eisenhower and Stillwell, has assumed his duties as professor of Military Science and tactics at the University of Delaware.

Col. L. A. Zimmer, who has served as head of the military department since last month, will remain as Colonel Pendleton's assistant. The latter comes to Newark directly from Headquarters, Army Ground Forces, Washington, D. C., where he was stationed immediately after returning from a tour of the Pacific as a War Department observer.

With the rank of brigadier general, Colonel Pendleton previously had spent several years in Panama in command of the Atlantic Defenses there. He was awarded the Legion of Merit for exceptionally meritorious service in Panama. The Virginia-born colonel was graduated in 1908 from Virginia Military Institute and was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Coast Artillery three years later. After a tour of duty in this country, he spent the years 1914 to 1916 in the Philippines.

During the first World War, Colonel Pendleton, then a major, commanded trench mortar battalions at St. Mihiel and in the Argonne. Immediately after that war, he was given his first Reserve Officers' Training Corps assignment, assisting with reorganization of the unit at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

University Offers Two Scholarships

The Louisa J. Crawford and Theodore F. Crawford scholarships are to be awarded next year to a young woman and a young man. The income for next year will be $125.

The scholarships are to be awarded to a worthy young man and woman pursuing a regular course of study at the University of Delaware, in need of financial assistance, and a member of some Christian Church. The award may be made annually to a student throughout his entire course.

Students wishing to apply should call at the Dean of Men or the Dean of Women for an application blank. The blanks should be returned by June 1.

New Officers Inducted at Meeting; Problems, Plans, Policies Are Outlined

Induction of new SGA officers was held on Monday night, May 27, in University Hall. Len Dougherty replaced John Ott as president of the organization and congratulated the new members of the student council upon their recent elections and the members of the preceding council upon their fine work during the recent term. He reiterated the many problems confronting the council for the coming year and stated that the cooperation of the new council and all members of the student body will be necessary.

The main problems are a social calendar completed for next year, honorary societies to be reinstated on the campus, freshman rules to be effected, and a World War II memorial to be planned and carried out in the coming year.

Other plans were for class elections, a yearbook, and a band and co-ed cheerleaders for the fall term. The general policy will be open meetings with a representative from the REVIEW to cover them and all discussions and tentative conclusions presented to the student body as a whole. All meetings will be held under parliamentary procedure, and every member of the student body is requested to view his grievances and opinions on the policy of student government.

By request of the men students, the Farewell Hop will be informal. (Continued on Page 4)

L. Mabrey Chosen For Drama Award

Layton Mabrey has been recommended to the Faculty for The University Drama Group Award of $50 given to that student who makes the greatest contribution to the dramatic club during the year. A member of the Players who returned to college last fall after release from service with the paratroopers, Layton has been identified with every production this year, often in dual or even triple capacity. For "The Philadelphia Story", he designed and painted the scenery and had a leading role. He performed similar functions for every major production this year, except that he did not play a part in "The Great Big Doorstep". At the time of that production last November he was still in the Army and spent his entire furlough time in Mitchell Hall designing, building, and constructing the set.

KAMPUS KARTAVNS

Food Preparation Class—U. of D.
OBJECTIVE: AN ECONOMICAL MARRIED CAREER
BY PROCESS OF ELIMINATION.

Is Honor on the Decline?

What is the matter with the students here on this campus? First they plead for a Student Union, and then after they get it they do all the things they can to hinder its success.

The hours for the playing of the juke box have been plainly stated in signs and on the opening night. When students are reminded by people of authority that the music should not be played they became very indignant. When classes are in session the juke box is not to be played.

Some of the students are asking where the pin-ball machines are. Why not ask the students how they tried to get free games and then you will know why the company took out the pin-ball machines? The company checked their returns and also their estimates, and somehow they didn't come anywhere near each other. Besides the company losing money on the deal, the Student Union was losing it, too. The money we were trying to make was to pay the workers and also to have money for a bigger and better Student Union next year with more in it.

Then there is the question of why did the cigarette man break his key while trying to take the money from the coin box in the machine? There was a hairpin in the lock. Consequently the cigarette machine is empty this week.

These are just a few of the problems that the Committee had to meet since the opening of the Union. It is doubtful whether it will be a worthwhile project to undertake next year, and those students who really wanted a Student Union are the losers again because of the dishonesty of a few.

What Is The S.G.A.? Old College Speaks

By Jack Beach

The students of the University of Delaware evidenced a surprising lack of interest in the recent election of officers to the Student Government Association. However, this lack of interest was not without justification. The majority of the students did not vote because they had neither understanding of the organization nor personal acquaintance with the candidates as guides to an intelligent choice at the polls.

It is the purpose of this article to help fill the first need—the need to know this organization and its purposes.

Every student of the University of Delaware is a member of the S.G.A., and every member is permitted to attend the meetings of the organization. A body representative of the student body called the Senate is composed of nine members: a President, a Vice-President, a Secretary, and a Treasurer, plus two Co-chairmen of the Social Committee, a Chairman of Men's Affairs, a Chairman of Women's Affairs, and a Chairman of Student Publications.

The Student Activities fees are apportioned through the S.G.A., and its various committees. The Social Committee fosters and encourages dances and other forms of social activity, while student publications are encouraged and supported by a corresponding section of S.G.A. In the fields of student problems and faculty-student relationships, the S.G.A. represents the student body.

In order to provide incoming students a working knowledge of the organization, Miss Le Fevre, a member of the present Student Governing body, suggested the inclusion of the S.G.A. Constitution in the Freshman Handbook proposed for next September.

We had a wonderful time sitting on the step at the Freshmen Funeral. The only trouble beside not finding a breeze there was the fact that we could still hear the barber-shop quartet singing dance music inside.

We slipped inside every half hour to see if the vocalist's gown had slipped the last fatal half inch. When we first saw her we were not certain whether she was doing a commercial for Listerine or preparing to do a strip-tease.

The weather man played havoc with our stiff shirt; the stiff collar played heck with our sun-burnt neck; and the orchestra—well, the orchestra played like ----.

You should have been there. Another couple and we could have had two tables of bridge.

We see by the paper that vets can be re-drafted. President Truman said that there is nothing in the new draft extension act to prohibit the re-induction of vets in the eligible age group except those who are fathers. Better get to work men.

The married vet at Kansas State College must scrape together extra money amounting to 43% of his G. I. Bill subsistence if he is to stay in school, and the single vet must pick up 36% elsewhere. Those figures were disclosed by a survey of a representative 10% of 1800 vets enrolled at that college.

Nurse (to young father attempting to get in and see his fifth and newest in the hospital nursery: "You can't go in there—you're not sterile".

Father: "You're telling me".
With finals just around the corner we are going to draw the line early today. Got loads of work to do.

SUGGESTION: Less formals.

Play Review

By Jack Horty

Continuing in a more popular and convention vein, the E-52 Players presented Philip Barry's "The Philadelphia Story" in Mitchell Hall last Thursday and Friday nights, and the best thing to be said about it was that the flesh was willing but the spirit was weak. A play of this type needs livelier and more careful direction to keep the cast up to the pace Playwright Barry has set with his razor-sharp quips.

Florence Reynolds was well cast as Tracy Lord. She has everything necessary for the part—looks, style and most important, that tawny look. Norman Bunin was even better as Mike, giving the smoothest and most professional performance in the play. Not far behind him was Layton Mabrey as Uncle Willie, a role which Layton gave everything. Richard Clark seemed a little too easy going for Dexter. Betty Hutchinson was excellent as Liz; she can throw a wisecrack with the best of them. Basil Macknik, although easy and natural as Sandy, was miscast in the role.

One of the most important points in the play is the father's dissatisfaction with the way his family has turned out and his subsequent philanderings. But the way Jack Hitchens played him, Seth was no more than a wayward old codger replete with jerky gestures and mannerisms.

Sybil Levenson turned in her usual sparkling performance as the mother, pacing the play brilliantly and putting more meaning in one line ("Seth that's too much") than others did with two-page speeches. The always dependable George Catts was very good as Dinah, particularly when she met Liz and Mike and her scenes with Uncle Willie.

Through the Smoke

Ann Furth

In the last issue of the semester perhaps we should look back and recall fond memories of the months just past, but we'd rather look ahead beyond the exams and into the summer vacation period. Oh heavenly thought! Rehoboth, Ocean City, Cape May, they seem to be magical words around here. But not everyone is spending his vacation at these popular resorts. Anne Nicholas is going home to New England where she'll spend the summer working at the Cape Playhouse in Dennis, Mass. That's the only one directed by Richard Aldrich, Gertrude Lawrence's husband. Oh for the days when a barn was a barn, and not an experimental lab for aspiring young actors. Sybil Levenson, as might be expected, is also going into summer stock up in Massachusetts. Sybil says "Nothing is definite yet, however".

A great many who aren't going to summer school will be found in camp as counselors. Shirley Taylor will be at Camp Timber Range, and Frannie Sutherland, who is back, sans measles, has her application in and will probably be camp bound also. Helen McGarry plans to journey up Canada way, stopping off in Mass. for awhile. Sounds pleasant and cool, but then so does a mint julep.

Heading the summer school contingent are Ann Foster, Sally Dodge, Norma Bradley, Bob Roberts, Bill Croney, and judging from campus discussions, a good many others will remain right here in Newark for a part of July and August. Joe Hearn might join them, but he's not sure yet. He says "I'm going to labor real hard, but I don't know at what". I guess it all depends on what he means by good hard labor. Chuck Pierson will be found where most Delawareans wind up sooner or later—working at the Dupont Company.

Running a nursery school in Lewes is going to take up the time of Joanne Marshall and Marilou Willard. Not all of their time, though, I'm sure. After all, little babies go to bed at seven, the time when most big babies get started. The idea of a nursery is fascinating. What could be more interesting than running after a squalling brat or changing a diaper. Betty Hutchinson, who deserves special applause for her outstanding portrayal of "Liz", the other night, is setting out for her new home in Little York. Peace is what Hutch says she's looking forward to, but it could be the twins next door—one going to Rutgers and the other planning to enter Duke.

Anne Frazier and Candy Barr will be waitressing down at Ocean City, while Jewel Horsey and June Brown will be working in Horsey's Restaurant, at the same resort. Jack Povey will probably be spending most of his weekends there, too, and next door in Atlantic City, if you ring for "Room Service" don't be too surprised if Jack Coulter answers your summons, because that's what he plans to be doing.

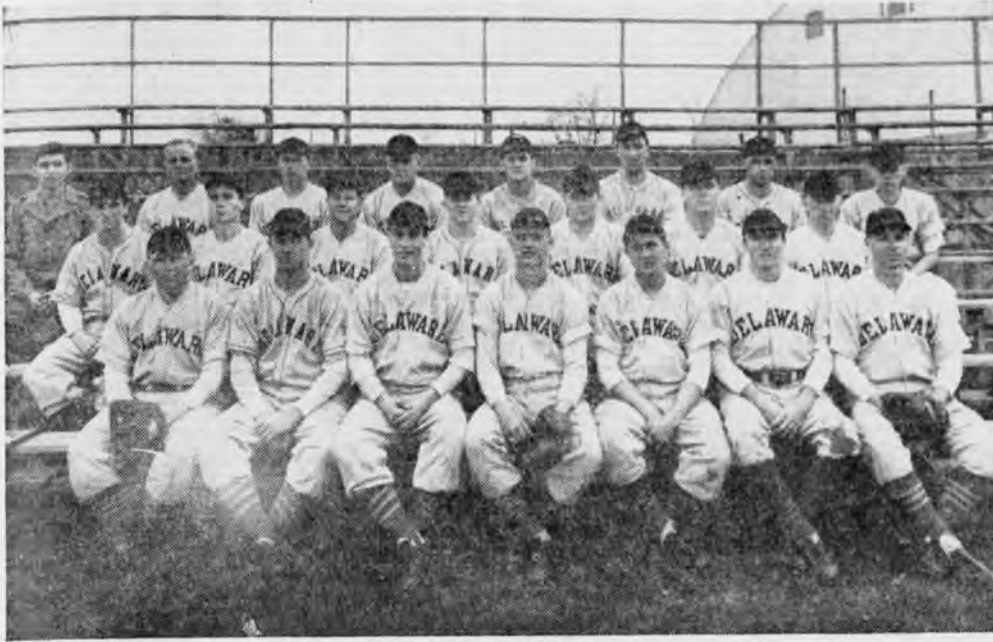

What Gil Spigel is going to do will have to remain a secret, for to quote the gallant young man, "Don't put anything in that mouldy column of yours about me". Thanks Gil, I love you, too. And if anyone is interested in what I'm doing—well, I'm going home and spend most of my time cheering the Dodgers on to that National League pennant they're going to win this year. And while the Dodgers are on the road, then I'm going—oh heck, I don't have to answer these questions, I only ask them. Anyway, wherever you are, and whatever you do, have fun and I'll see you all next fall "Through the Smoke".

Manager Greenhouse and Luke Selby were absent when picture was taken.

Delaware Trounces F&M Diplomats 8-5

Phil Neff pitched fine ball; brings in two runs. Delaware took advantage of every hit and every rival error Thursday as they defeated the Franklin and Marshall Diplomats 8-5 at Frazer Field.

Although he allowed 11 hits in seven innings, Phil Neff was credited with the victory. Bill Roy, who relieved Neff in the seventh with the bases loaded, pitched excellent ball and did not allow a hit in the last two innings.

F. and M. opened the scoring with a single tally in the first, but Delaware came back with two runs on three walks, two passed balls and no hits in the last of the first stanza. The Diplomats jumped on Neff in the third for two more runs to again take the lead. The Blue Hens again retaliated with no hits, but due solely to the efforts of "Doc" Doherty they tied the score. The speedy outfielder led with a base on balls and then stealing both second and third, he proceeded to pilfer home for the second time this season.

The Hens found their hitting eyes in the fourth and from then on it was Delaware all the way.

Phil Neff led the Delaware attack with a hit, good for 2 RBI.

utilized. The size of classes will have to be increased to capacity. Members of the staff will be asked to make certain sacrifices in order to provide adequate instruction for our returning veterans.

The faculty at a recent special meeting approved a suggestion that classes be scheduled daily, if necessary, from 8:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m. and placed itself on record as being ready to cooperate in every possible manner.

Even though several hundred students may have to commute, housing for students and faculty will remain a serious problem, it was stated. An announcement that the Federal Public Housing Authority had approved the University's request for temporary accommodations for approximately 100 male veterans was welcomed by University authorities as a partial solution of this problem.

Housing for married veterans and their families remains as another serious problem. The Wilmington Housing Authority has informed the University that at the present 63 family units are available at Pennside, near New Castle. Consequently, it was stated, letters are being sent to all married ex-servicemen applying for admission in September informing them of the present Pennside vacancies in order that they may file application for occupancy of such units if they desire.

duPont Wins Meet By Large Margin; Griffin High Scorer

P. S. DuPont High School won the 31st annual Delaware Inter-scholastic track and field meet Saturday on Frazer Field with a total of 59½ points. Newark High finished second with 21½, followed by Wilmington High, Dover, Sanford Prep, Claymont, Milford, and Salesianum. Brown Vocational, Georgetown, Greenwood, and Middletown failed to score.

Two records were broken during the afternoon, one of which had stood since 1932. Don Griffin of Newark shattered the 100 yard dash record of 10.4 seconds as he topped of one-tenth of a second. Harry Loose of P. S. duPont ran the 440 in 53.3 which was .4 seconds less than the mark established in 1942.

Griffin also was individual high scorer for the meeting, winning the 100 and 200-yard dash and also the broad jump.

Hens Score All Runs on 6 Hits in 5th Inning

The Blue Hens took the measure of Temple University nine 5-2 behind the 5-hit pitching of Bill Shirk on The Owl's field Saturday.

Shirk pitched very good ball in limiting the Owls to 5 hits as he racked up his fourth straight win against no losses.

Temple scored one run in the first, and a single tally again in the third, but these were the only times they could break the ice.

Delaware scored all its five counters in the fifth on six hits. Cole led off with a long homer, Lambert and Selby followed with singles, and then both scored on Griffith's double. Neff then singled, scoring Griffith, and then scored the final tally on Hart's lone base blow.

The Review

Dear Editors:

In the May 22nd issue of The Review your editorial titled "The Strike Weapon" has completely and effectively evaded the main issue of the pending maritime workers' strike. It would seem that you are the victims of reactionary propaganda. The main issue is, of course, the cause of the maritime workers going on strike. They are fighting for better working conditions and a fair wage scale to offset higher living costs. Seamen have always been notoriously underpaid and still are in spite of excellent gains made by their unions in the past ten years. As an example: When a ship is at sea the seamen who stand watches and who constitute the majority of the crew, have to work eight hours a day minimum for seven days a week. No overtime is paid for Saturday afternoon and Sunday. Do you know of anywhere else in the United States where a man has to work for more than forty hours without overtime pay? Working, living, and eating conditions on some ships are deplorable and a disgrace to American flagships. When the seamen go on strike they will be fighting these deplorable conditions. They will not be, as your editorial states, testing "to see if America's ports could be tied up in the event of war with Russia". A test is not necessary. Everyone knows that American ports could be tied up, but maritime union members would never strike in time of war with anyone. Look at the record. In your editorial you claimed that "prominent news magazines" have openly stated that the maritime unions are endorsed by Communists. What union that holds up the progress of American industry by striking is not endorsed by Communists? By using this well known form of propaganda you have attempted to induct into your readers the idea that maritime workers are communistic. Such unscrupulous practice has ruined your editorial's possibility of being unbiased, accurate and original.

NOTICE!

Anyone who was not able to register during May 20-24 for Summer Session come to Summer Session office and their registration will be taken care of.

It is recommended that students who find their fall semester irregular because of second semester subjects should see a Summer School catalog. If these second semester subjects are offered in the Summer Session, it is advisable for them to take these subjects during this Session. It will facilitate the arranging of their fall schedule.

Stuff and Nonsense

By Jack Walls

For the solution of last week's brain-twister I find that Norris West of Philadelphia supplied a brief but accurate solution which, it is claimed, he reached in eleven minutes from a standing start.

"Assuming", says Mr. West, "that I was attempting to prove that there was a mark on my forehead, I would argue that if there were no mark on my face, one of the other two men would immediately have claimed a mark on his. His reasoning would have been there must be one on him, or the other must be one on him, or the third applicant would not have tapped the table. That would have been obvious. Since it wasn't, therefore there must be a smudge on my own furrowed brow".

Well, there it is. Were you right? If not, then try your luck on the next one. It's quite a bit easier.

This concerns a comparatively new one about the stupid secretary. The boss had made up his mind that she wouldn't do. He had decided, therefore, that the next time she showed herself a dumb Dora would be the last. The telephone rang and the girl answered it. For some reason, which doesn't matter, she could get the name of the caller. "Tell him to spell it", said the boss.

So the man on the other end of the wire spelled it. "The name", he said, is Faust. F for Frying Pan, A for Apple, U for Umbrella, S for Steam—"S for what?" she asked. "S for Sausage", said the man impatiently, "and T for Toothpick". So the girl said the man's name was Faust and was forthwith fired by her employer. Why?

Another easy one is about the night watchman. His employer returned one evening and was admitted by the watchman to secure some papers. "I'm flying to Boston tonight", he said, "but I'll be back by the first plane tomorrow". That watchman was worried. "Don't do it, Sir", he said. "If you'll excuse my saying so, I dreamed last night that you got smashed up in an airplane accident. Take the train, Sir". But the employer pooh-poohed his protests, flew to Boston and back and fired the watchman the next morning. What for?

Will be seeing you again in September. Hope you have them figured out by then.

McQuaid, Anderson Elected to E-52

Nancy McQuaid and June Anderson have been added to the E-52 Players' list of members after the final production of the year.

Nancy McQuaid has been active in dramatics since she has been in college, beginning with "The Cradle Song". In this production she was in charge of special effects. She was also assistant director of "The Great Big Doorstep", and was chairman of the Sound Effects Committee for "The Skin of Our Teeth", and the current "Philadelphia Story". The stage crew and scene painters have also benefitted much from her help.

June Anderson has been very active on the make-up staff and also on the stage. Her performance in "The Cradle Song", "The Great Big Doorstep", and "Sparkin'" have established her reputation as an actress on the Delaware campus.

There is just enough money left after the Junior Prom and the Freshman Formal for this dance, since money was lost on both dances.

The Student Union will close this Friday night and will remain closed during finals. Plans are being worked out to have the Union at Old College in the Fall.

ters, and the American Association of University Professors.

The Reverend Baker, who in 1937 served as president of the Wilmington Council of Churches, recently was named chairman of a committee to formulate recommendations to be made at the International Conference of Christians and Jews which is to be held in Oxford, England, in August. His appointment to that post was announced this month following a seminar held in the Hotel du Pont under the sponsorship of the Middle Atlantic Region of the National Conference of Christians and Jews. Its purpose is to help to foster better human relations. The Reverend Baker served in the Army in World War I and a few years later entered the Bible Institute in Chicago, Ill. He then studied at the University of Pennsylvania and later was graduated from the Crozer Theological Seminary, Chester, Pa.

Other events scheduled for the commencement weekend include a senior dance in the Women's gymnasium at 9:00 p.m. (D.S.T.) on Saturday, June 15; the University president's reception for graduates, faculty, alumni, and friends of the University in Warner Hall at 4:00 p.m. (D.S.T.) on Sunday, June 16; and vesper music in Mitchell Hall at 8:00 p.m. (D.S.T.) on Sunday evening.

This organ recital on Sunday will be given by William C. Mitten of Milford, a student at the University.
