Blue Ball Man Attacked In His Dairy House

A. H. Mendenhall Set On By Five Men. Pet Dogs Help Him Repulse Attack

Last Thursday morning, about 5 o'clock, five young white men, unmarked, made a daring but unsuccessful attempt to kidnap Abraham H. Mendenhall, a wealthy farmer, living at Blue Ball. They tried to force him in their automobile, but were frustrated in their attempt by Mr. Mendenhall's spirited resistance and the efforts of his pet watch dogs, who came to his rescue. On the arrival of the dogs the men ran to their waiting car and sped away.

One of these men left behind a clew which may result in his apprehension. He had pinned on his coat a police badge with the inscription "No. 16, Beechwood, N. J.," and it is thought he meant to represent himself as an officer. In the struggle Mr. Mendenhall tore this badge off and has turned it over to Sheriff Pierson, of Elkton, who is making an investigation.

It is believed that the men intended holding Mr. Mendenhall for ransom.

An Old Delaware Newspaper

A copy of "The Delaware Gazette," printed and published at No. 4 Market street, Wilmington by Boses and Johnson, has been sent to this office by Mrs. Clarence Richards, of Delaware avenue, this town. The date of the issue is September 15, 1843, and the paper is in excellent condition, due not only to the care taken of it, but to the quality of the stock on which it is printed, which is evidently an all-rag paper. Newspapers now-a-days are printed on paper which contains no rag whatsoever.

"The Delaware Gazette," which stated that it was devoted to politics, news, literature, science, agriculture, morality, and amusement," contained four unnumbered pages of seven columns each, and stated solemnly at the very beginning of the first page that the subscription rate was two dollars a year, payable in advance; "if not paid within the year, three dollars would invariably be demanded. No subscription will be received for less than six months, and no paper discontinued until all arrearages are paid, unless at the option of the editors."

The front page, with the exception of one column of short advertisements is given over to poems and stories with titles such as "Roving Cupid," "Popping the Question," and "Effects of Curiosity." The editorial page is given over to an exposition of the attempt to introduce sectarian religious feeling into local politics, to an article on the "Licentiousness of the Press," and to letters on various subjects with such signatures as "Rusticus," "Alciphron," "A Democrat," and "A Meehanic."

But it is the advertisements in the paper which are especially interesting in point of contrast to present-day notices. We find a price mentioned 6 1/4 cts.; an hour of meeting (Continued on Page 10.)

Dr. Benner Talks At Century Club

If the meeting of the Newark Century Club on Monday evening is an indication of future entertainments that the Program Committee has in store, then every member will be enthusiastic in attendance. The speaker, Dr. Benner, of the University faculty, in his talk on "Current Events," pointed out very clearly the economic condition of some of the foremost European countries, particularly that of France, in relation to each other and to the United States. This lecture is one of six promised (Continued on Page 4.)

RECITAL POSTPONED

The organ recital planned by Mrs. De Socio for October 31st, at the J. A. Roney New Opera House, North East, Maryland, has been postponed until November 14th, on account of the death of Mrs. Amalia de Socio, her mother-in-law, in New York.

School Cafeteria Opens

Monday at noon the High School cafeteria opened for the first time this school year and has already proven itself an outstanding success. Attractive, appetizing and wholesome menu's have been arranged so that even the most robust at the trencher board can find gustatory satisfaction for 15 cents. Miss F. R. McCoy is directing the cafeteria which is run by the students in home economics. An average of 125 lunches are served each day.

Professor Rankin To Leave University

Professor Carl S. Rankin, of the Electrical Engineering Department of the University of Delaware, has asked to be released from his connection with the University, that he may accept a position which has been offered to him by the Continental Fibre Company, of this town. No action has as yet been taken on Professor Rankin's resignation.

ENJOY AIRPLANE RIDE

On Thursday of last week Thomas Sproggall and Waldo Lovett took the trip on the P. R. T. airliner from Philadelphia to Washington and return.

It took just 85 minutes to make the south-bound trip. The plane maintained a speed of from 90 to 100 miles per hour. At one time it reached an altitude of 4000 feet. At their request, the pilot brought the plane right over Newark and on their return trip brought the ship down to 500 feet so they could throw off postcards.

Elkton Merchants and Manufacturers to Exhibit Products

Next week, from Wednesday to Saturday, the merchants and manufacturers of Elkton, will hold an exhibit of products, merchandise and service in the Elkton Armory.

This show has been planned to promote a greater interest and understanding among the community at large for Elkton business and industries, and to work for closer co-operation in the business and industrial community. All local business establishments have been urged to exhibit and a number of effective displays have already been planned. There will be no admission charge to the exhibition and several prizes will be given each evening.

Dr. Will Durant Speaker At "College Hour"

Philosophy Students Meet Head of Labor Temple School At Lunch

At the "College Hour" held at Wolf Hall this morning, and attended by the student body of the University, excluding the Freshmen, Dr. Will Durant, head of the Labor Temple School, New York City, spoke on "Great Personalities of Philosophy."

The Labor Temple School, which is maintained by the Home Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church, is an unusual institution. It is a school and open forum combined for persons who have not had the advantage of a higher academic education. Through discussion and instruction, it aims to engender a greater appreciation of the liberal arts and sciences. Dr. Durant, who is comparatively young, has had unusual success with his work in the school.

Dr. Durant has recently attained great prominence through his book, the "Story of Philosophy," which has been a greater success than Robinson's "Mind in the Making." It ran into seven editions in less than two months after it was published and is at present selling 850 copies a day. As a "best seller" it refuses to yield first place to the most popular fiction. In this work he has, through his compelling style, spiced a profound subject in such a manner that it has appealed to a large public who are mentally open to such a work. In addition to this book Dr. Durant has articles running currently in Harper's Magazine.

After the lecture Dr. and Mrs. E. B. Crooks, who are entertaining Dr. Durant during his day in Newark, had the philosophy classes of both the Men's and Women's Colleges for luncheon, to give them an opportunity to meet Dr. Durant off the platform.

Hamilton Talks To Appreciative Audience

Eminent Dramatic Critic Outlines Development of Drama

Last Friday afternoon, at 5 o'clock, at Wolf Hall, Clayton Hamilton, one of the foremost commentators and students of the theatre, charmed an audience of local followers of the drama with his ease of delivery and what he had to say on the three underlying themes of dramatic development. Owing to the late hour of the lecture, Mr. Hamilton was able to talk for only 40 minutes.

Clayton Hamilton has an unusually informal platform presence and delivery, and speaks in a low and soothing, yet distinct voice. He opened by telling of his interest in Minnie Madden Fiske, whom he spoke of as the foremost American actress, and her tour in Ibsen's "Ghosts." He said that Ibsen was responsible for the development of the theme of the modern social drama and that "Ghosts" was typical of the best in technique.

Mr. Hamilton then sketched the development of the three fundamental themes starting with the Greek drama which was poetical and intensely religious and was the struggle of the individual against an abstract, impersonal Deity, that was incomprehensible to the human mind and stood above the group of Greek gods that typified human attributes.

The second theme, he said, which was evolved during the Elizabethan period by Christopher Marlowe, and developed by Shakespeare, depicted human downfall by reason of defects inherent in the individual soul. All of Shakespeare's heroes, he pointed out, were defeated by forces within themselves.

Statistics Show

Scholars of the Newark Public School System are carrying home this week, those little documents marked in blue and red, known as report cards. They show in very cold figures just what the pupil has given and taken from his schooling.

However, this time Professor Brinser has introduced an effective innovation by inserting in the envelope with each card, a letter, analyzing the various grades, and telling what they indicate. In short, he has gone behind the figures and in a novel way commended the honor scholar, giving him a broader vision, and spurred the laggard by showing him his loss and how he can turn it into gain. The figures will still be cold, but the explanation and analyses will give them a life and purpose that has probably never been realized by the majority of scholars or their parents.

TICKET SALE ON FOR NED WAYBURN REVUE

The advance sale of tickets for the Ned Wayburn Revue is going on in the lobby of the Hotel du Pont, every day this week, from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m.; 8 p. m. to 9 p. m.

Motor Accident

Last Saturday, about noon, Mrs. Fred Sanders, daughter of Benjamin B. Brest, while driving on the Lincoln Highway near Cochran's store, was struck a glancing blow by a machine operated by D. N. Holstad, 1726 Euclid street, N. W., Washington, D. C., and hurled into a ditch.

Mrs. Sanders was proceeding toward Newark in her Oakland car, when Holstad, driving an Essex coach toward Wilmington, attempted to pass another car in front of him. He miscalculated the distance and struck Mrs. Sanders' car a glancing blow, tipping it into the ditch and throwing Mrs. Sanders out. Mrs. Sanders' car was damaged, but not disabled, and she escaped with bruises. Holstad settled at the time of the accident for $25 damages.

James Doyle Honored By Associates

Banquet Tendered Him By His Division of The Pennsylvania Railroad

On the evening of October 21, in Wilmington, James Doyle of South College avenue, Newark, was tendered a banquet by the men of Supervisor R. G. Ford's division of the Pennsylvania Railroad. Mr. Doyle has just retired from service on the Pennsylvania after many years of faithful service.

For the greater part of his connection with the railroad, Mr. Doyle was track foreman at various locations on the Maryland Division, his last assignment being at Newark. At the banquet Mr. Doyle was presented with a firsides chair, smoker's stand, pipe and tobacco.

A few of the thirty odd attending the banquet were: Mr. James Bucklew, superintendent, Mr. Michael Lipman, division engineer, both of Wilmington; Mr. W. T. Bevan, supervisor, Perryville, Md.; Mr. E. L. Heyl, supervisor, Camden, N. J.; Mr. R. G. Ford, supervisor, Mr. James Doyle, retired foreman, Mr. Antonio DeBasie, assistant foreman, Mr. Mariano Cecchini, Mr. W. T. Rupp, stationary engineer, Mr. John Keeley, stationary fireman, Newark.

Red Men's Council Starts Tonight

The Great Council of the Improved Order of Red Men for the State of Delaware opens tonight at Milford. Besides other important business there will be an election of officers for the coming year.

The Red Men have been invited to take part in the Elks parade in Wilmington Saturday night. Minnehaha Tribe No. 23 and Mineola Council No. 17, D. of P., of Newark, will take part in the parade, for which a number of prizes have been offered. All members are urgently requested to meet at the lodge rooms at 5:30 Saturday.

BUILDING NEW HOME

James Hutchison, contractor, has broken ground for his own house, to be built on West Main street on the lot between the homes of John S. Shaw and Frank Fader. The style will be straight colonial and the house will be built of large shingles.

Thanksgiving Dinner Again This Year

The College Thanksgiving dinners, which have become an annual event at Delaware University, will be held this year on November 22 and 23, at the Women's and Men's Colleges, respectively. A. G. Wilkinson, business administrator, started these dinners when he came to Delaware University.

Newark H. S. vs. Dover

On Friday afternoon, the Newark High School football team will journey to Dover with the idea of squelching Dover High School's ambitions for the second time this season. On the first occasion Newark won after a hard game, 6 to 0. However, the dope sheet figures a more decisive victory this time, for Dover was held to a 6 to 0 score by du Pont, whom Newark pummeled to the tune of 34 to 6. Riley will be back and in good shape on Friday.

DELAWARE CADETS TO GO TO ABERDEEN, MD.

Tomorrow the officers of the University R. O. T. C. will make a tour of inspection of the Aberdeen Proving Grounds. Major Underwood will be in command.

Pierre du Pont Theatre Party On Friday

Will Give Annual Party To The University. To See Ibsen's "Ghosts"

When Mr. Pierre S. du Pont learned that Minnie Madden Fiske would appear in Wilmington this month in Ibsen's "Ghosts," he immediately selected this as the play he would take the University to on his annual theatre party, and bought out the Playhouse for Friday, October 29.

Mr. du Pont has chartered two special trains, the first of which will leave Newark at 7.20 p. m., to take the party to Wilmington, where they will be met with special cars to take them to the theatre. After seeing the play they will return on another train leaving Wilmington for Newark at 11.10, and this train will be run slowly so that special caterers will have time to serve a supper on the home journey. The entire student body, the faculty and all of the University staff, with their wives, are invited. It is expected that about 1200 will accept Mr. du Pont's invitation.

Mr. du Pont has made this University theatre party an annual occasion and takes a great interest in selecting the play. He felt that this was an exceptional opportunity to see an outstanding artist in a dramatic masterpiece.

Parking Light Ruling Enforced

The town officials have instructed Town Officer Keeley to take action against motorists who disregard the parking light ordinance. This week five have been brought before Magistrate Thompson and fined for their delinquency.

EXPECT IMPROVED TRAIN SCHEDULE

There has been much dissatisfaction aroused among commuters from Newark have been greatly inconvenienced since Newark was taken off the schedule of the 11.22 a. m. and the 7.11 p. m. trains on the B. and O. However, this has not been a placid resentment and pressure has been brought to bear on the railroad officials. A petition was forwarded to Baltimore, and last week A. A. Wilkinson, business administrator of the University, interviewed Mr. Callo-way, passenger agent at Baltimore. It is expected that these two trains will soon make Newark a regular stop.

GAS IN NEWARK BY DEC.

The Wilmington Gas Company has their entire construction crew at work on the gas line that is so rapidly approaching Newark. They promise gas in Newark by December.

This is a long wanted necessity that has been made possible by persistent effort on the part of individuals in town and in the University.

Ogletown School Sewing Club

The Ogletown School Girls' Sewing Club has re-organized and is ready to begin the year's work. Miss Jane Smith is local leader. At the next meeting of the Ogletown School Club on November 18, the Sewing Club will hold a parcel post sale to secure funds for expenses.

Completion of Dormitories Delayed

The completion of the Women's College dormitories has been considerably delayed by strikes in the quarries which are supplying the marble. Mr. A. G. Wilkinson has brought considerable pressure to bear on the parties responsible for the delivery of the marble and it is expected that the stone will soon be on the ground.

Prepare Again For Head Of Christiana Supper; Recalls Similar Affairs Over 200 Years Ago

Plans have again been made for the oldest of all nearby rural church affairs, the annual supper of the Head of Christiana Presbyterian Church. The supper will take place tomorrow evening, Thursday, October 28, in the basement of the building.

For over two hundred years, as regularly as fall plowing rolls around, this supper has been held. Neither war, sickness, nor death halts the old custom. It is a part of the rural life of the community.

In the old days, a few families gathered together after long drives through half worn trails, made merry in the old building. Today, automobiles whisk the congregation over macadam roads to the supper. Descendants of those first families are still coming.

So arrives the Fall of the year, and the Head of Christiana supper.

Lewis Morris, Signer

A castle in flames represents the crest of the Morris family, one member of which was the only Signer of the Declaration of Independence from the City of New York. The name of Lewis Morris is inscribed with those of his confederates on a bronze tablet in the Forum of the Founders at the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition in Philadelphia.

Captain Richard Morris, great-grandfather of Lewis Morris, was the founder of the family in America. On a large tract of land on the banks of the Harlem River he built a mansion later known as the Manor of Morrisania. In this manor house the Signer was born.

When he was sixteen years old Morris entered Yale College, and for twenty years after his graduation he devoted his energies to the cultivation of the three thousand acre estate.

In 1765, when the British promulgated the infamous Stamp Act, Lewis Morris, with everything to gain except the consolation of his conscience, forgot self interest and arrayed himself upon the side of the Colonists.

His social standing and his immense wealth might well have tempted a mercenary man to ally himself with the Royalists.

When the Continental Congress met in 1775 Morris was made a member of the committee to supply military stores and ammunition for the rapidly forming Continental Army. To him also was assigned the delicate task of detaching the Indians in the western part of the State from the British interest, and early in 1776 he reassumed his seat in Congress.

Lewis Morris was distinguished for his modesty, his honesty and absolute disinterestedness where matters of State were concerned. It is not generally known that he declined to run for a second term in Congress, but relinquished his rights in favor of his younger half brother, Gouverneur Morris.

During the Revolution the Morris estate was ravished by the enemy. When the struggle for independence was over the Signer returned to his home and spent his last years in rebuilding it and restoring its former magnificence.

Prize Winning Essay

The following essay, written by Miss Ruth Phelps, Class of 1928 of the High School, was selected by Miss Anne Gallaher and Miss Anna Osborne, judges, as deserving of the first prize offered by the Opera House for the best essay on the American Indian.

THE AMERICAN INDIAN

Indians—What picture or pictures does just that one word bring to your mind? To one it may mean a slow, sullen, unintelligent people living in ugly, filthy huts or wigwams, the women doing all the work around the home and tilling the soil while the "braves" do nothing but hunt, fish, and fight; to another it may bring to mind a brave, copper-colored race, living a glorious life in the open, the warriors doing brave deeds and living up to the standards of their sires, while the women make the home and cheer and encourage their warriors to greater deeds of bravery. To others it may mean anything between these two almost opposite understandings.

As for myself—when I hear the word Indians, I see the latter picture in my mind's eye. I not only see this picture but I think of a race of people who, before the so-called "discovery" of America, had this whole, vast country for their own, and whose race is now slowly dying out.

The real Americans at first looked upon the European invaders with friendly eyes, because, in the first place they did not think that there could possibly be enough of them to make any difference in their lives since there was a whole continent which must contain some place to which they could withdraw if they wished; and in the second place, the "pale-faces" brought with them many useful weapons and utensils, and also bright and beautiful trinkets which the Indians might have for a comparatively small portion of their plentiful land. However, in about a century and a half, when colonists began to come over to the "new-land" to settle permanently, the Indians became hostile and seized every opportunity to harm the white men.

But the red men, although strong, quick and not without courage, were not, in the long run, any match for the skilled and well-trained foreigners. And so the natives of America were slowly pushed and crowded into an ever decreasing area, until finally the new nation reached, not only in name but in population also, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, leaving no place that the Indians might call their own. At the same time both Canada on the north and Mexico on the south were fully occupied by civilized invaders from the east, cutting the Indians off completely from any place in which they might live their own life privately as before. Of course, the United States has reserved tracts of land especially for the Indians in which they might attempt to live the life of their forefathers in a small, crowded area, the last remnant of their inheritance.

But I am wondering how many of us, when we think of Indians, think of the remnant of that once proud race, formerly owners of the great continent of America, a race now confined to paltry reservations.

Who is responsible for this—the white man, the "pale-face" who in his zeal to conquer lands, to spread his civilization, has forced the native Americans from the land of their ancestors to lead a life which is breaking him mentally, physically and spiritually.

The average man talks too much. It is well to let the other man talk half the time. Each one is trying to size up the other before stating figures or stating final conclusions. In an extended discussion the experienced and wise man, if he is a good listener, is able to determine with considerable accuracy, something of what is in the mind of the other man.—Judge Gary.

INTERESTING EX-
CHANGE OF WORK

The intensely interesting international school correspondence between hundreds of Delaware school children and the school children of New Mexico, France and Japan has aided very materially the enthusiasm of the children for Junior Red Cross, which activity maintains the year round. Last year pupils of Lowes Cross Roads sent seeds and a letter to the students of the McCarty Day School, where the students are Mexican Indians, at Acomilto, New Mexico. This fall Mrs. Edna M. Selby, teacher of the school, received a most attractive portfolio containing drawings of school work, drawings of flowers and vegetables and other works of art peculiar to the Indian students at this New Mexico school.

Two portfolios were received this fall from Eiale de Garcons (boys) from Paris, of which Dr. M. Milton is the principal. This was in response to a portfolio sent to the French students from the students of Smyrna. The portfolio comprised samples of the work of the grammar and elementary grades and the cover design was most beautiful, being that of the city of Paris. It contained letters of greeting, composition, arithmetic work, free-hand drawing, post card scenes about Paris and cut work of flowers and growing plants. It was sent to Miss Anna Beckett. The Smyrna portfolio contained the history of Smyrna and various samples of school work.

Miss Marjorie Earp, Executive Secretary of Delaware Chapter of the American Red Cross, has presented to Miss Ethel Denzenbaker, an instructor in the schools of Claymont, a portfolio sent from Nera, Japan, from the students of Gido school. This portfolio contained a delightful display of art work in water colors and wood cuts, one of them being an artistic design in wood cuts on linoleum made by a Japanese boy of 10 years.

This was in response to the portfolio sent to the Japanese school by the Claymont students. This Delaware display consisted of samples of school work in home economics in various intricate stitches, Delaware cooking recipes, English composition, and was considered a most wonderful collection by the Orientals. The Claymont display was exhibited at an educational exposition in Japan and aroused much interest.

7:30 p. m., Evening prayer and address.

The evening service will include the fourth of the series of addresses on
"The Life of Christ." The subject
this Sunday will be: "The Law of Christ, or, 'The Sermon on the Mount.'"

TWO NOTABLE CONCERTS
IN PHILADELPHIA

French Musical Celebrities to Appear
in November and December

The Concert Direction of the John Wanamaker Store, Philadelphia, announces two concerts of unusual interest to be given in the Grand Court
in November and December. These concerts will be the Philadelphia
debut of three remarkable French
artists, all prize-winners, Paris Conservatory, who have been brought to this country for presentation by the Wanamaker Concert Direction. The
artists are Marcel Lanquetuit, organist of Rouen; Marcel Hubert, cellist;
and Yvonne Hubert, pianist.

Marcel Lanquetuit, organist of St.
Godard's Church in Rouen, studied ten years with Marcel Dupre in all forms
of music, including piano, organ, harmony, counterpoint, fugue, composition and improvisation. He was awarded first prize for organ at the Paris Conservatory after but nine months of study, becoming titulaire
of the Prieur Guilmant at the age of nineteen. In the rare art of improvisation he is said to be comparable
only with his famous teacher Dupre.
At his first Philadelphia concert he
will improvise a complete symphony
in four movements upon themes to be submitted by six of the most famous orchestral conductors in America.

Marcel Hubert won first prize for cello at the age of thirteen in the class of the late Andre Hekking, and he has played at concerts with great success all over the Continent, appearing with the foremost orchestras.
He has been hailed as a 'cellist of "magistral virtuosity." On the occasion of the Philadelphia concert, he will use the famous Montagnana
cello formerly owned by his teacher

and patron. This famous cello was recently acquired by Rodman Wana-
maker for the Rodman Wanamaker
Collection of rare Italian violins,
violas, cellos and bass violi.

Yvonne Hubert won the first prize
in the Cortot class at the Paris Conservatory, and has had most notable success as a pianist.

The first concert, Thursday evening,
November 4, 8:30 o'clock, will present
Marcel Lanquetuit, Marcel Hubert,
and Yvonne Hubert.

The second concert, Wednesday, December 1, at 8:30 o'clock, will present
Marcel Lanquetuit, assisted by St.
Thomas's Choir, of New York City,
under the direction of Dr. T. Tertius Noble.

Schools Competing
In Poster Contest

Wednesday, November 10, is the last day for filing the health posters
in the contest arranged by the Delaware Anti-Tuberculosis Society. According to reports coming to Mrs.
Edna Palmer Upton, Executive Secretary of the Society, hundreds of school
children are striving to win the several prizes offered for the posters that will depict health habits such as are embraced in the Modern Health Crusade now in its second year in Delaware.

The judges for the poster contest
will be H. B. King, assistant State Superintendent of Schools in charge
of the elementary schools of Dover;
Miss Rachael Taylor, in charge of the Art Department of the Women's College, University of Delaware, and Mrs. Donald S. Ashbrook, of Wilmington.

The posters will be examined and judged for the educational value in teaching good health habits, for the originality displayed, and for neatness.

They will be placed on exhibition at the 8th annual meeting of the Delaware Education Association at Dover
on Thursday and Friday, November 11 and 12. This exhibit will be the only display made by the Delaware
Anti-Tuberculosis Society at the Teachers' convention.

In the past few days Mrs. Upton
has received requests for supplies in the Modern Health Crusade from more than a score of schools which
have an enrollment of several hundred children. Many of these schools are just beginning the Health Crusade
and will compete for a Squire button.
Mrs. Upton is spending considerable time in rural Delaware this week organizing some of the schools that have sent for the supplies and explaining the project to the principals
and teachers.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our Dear
Daughter, Jessie Conner, who died
October 21, 1926.

I think of you in silence,
No eyes can see me weep,
For deep within my aching heart
Your memory I will keep.
—Sadly missed by Mother.

WOMEN BUY THE
MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

Sixty per cent of musical instruments sold to women are purchased
by housewives, it is revealed in a survey made by the Conn Music Center.
The survey was made through music
instrument dealers in twenty cities,
and covered 320 actual transactions.

One out of every ten instruments
sold were purchased by women, and their preferences for instruments
were very much along the lines
favored by the men, according to the survey. Of the total number of transactions, 52 per cent involved the purchase of a saxophone, 16 per cent
that of a trumpet, and 9 per cent
that of a trombone.

That youth will be served, especially in music, was well illustrated
in the ages of the purchasers. Fully 34
per cent of those purchasing instruments were under 21 years of age,
while 19 per cent were between the ages of 21 and 25, and 21 per cent between the ages of 25 and 30. Only 26
per cent of all transactions involved
persons of 30 years and over.

ELKTON

New Owner For
Elkton Foundry

Evans Brothers, of Elkton, Secure
Control of the James F. Powers Foundry Company

For several weeks parties in Elkton
have been purchasing stock of the James F. Powers Foundry Company
and just who would get control of the industry could not be learned until an election of the stockholders, held last week, which resulted in the Evans Brothers, of Elkton, having voted a sufficient number of shares of stock to give them controlling interest.

A new board of directors and officers were elected as follows: Directors, James F. Evans, William Sterling Evans, Harry C. Evans, Stanley
Evans, all of Elkton, and John B.
Morrow, of Wilmington. The directors organized by electing Stanley
Evans, president; John B. Morrow,
vice-president; William Sterling
Evans, secretary and treasurer;
Stanley Evans and William Sterling
Evans, managers of the plant.

"Old Home Sunday" was observed
last Sunday in Trinity Protestant Episcopal Church, Rev. J. Frederick
Virgin, rector. In the morning at 10:30 Bishop Davenport of the Diocese
of Easton, was the preacher. Rev.
William Schouler, of Baltimore, rector
emeritus, who served the church for 37 years, assisted with services. Other visiting clergymen took part in the exercises. In the afternoon a service
of rededication of Old St. Augustine Church at Bohemia Manor was held,
with Bishop Davenport in charge.

At a meeting of the Men's Association of Elkton Presbyterian Church,
held at the home of Fletcher P. Williams, last week, William H. Gardner
was elected president; William H.
Gilpin, vice-president; Charles H.

Reynolds, secretary, and Joseph W.
Clay, treasurer.

At the fall meeting of the Cecil
County Medical Society, held at Union
Hospital on Thursday, Dr. J. F.
Franklin, of the State Board of Health, was the principal speaker.

Thomas C. Mulvena, aged 52 years, formerly of Allentown, N. J., who has been residing with John Hitchens,
near town, died at Union Hospital, of epilepsy.

J. Ben Decker has been chosen by the Elkton Rotary Club a delegate to the annual Rotary International Convention, which meets in Ostend, Belgium, next June.

Dr. W. D. Cawley has returned to his home in Elkton after five weeks
at the U. S. Veterans' Hospital, Washington, D. C., for diagnosis and observation. Dr. Cawley, who served in the World War, attained the rank of Major but developed heart trouble
and was warned to be extremely careful of himself.

Rev. and Mrs. William Schouler, of Baltimore, spent the week-end with friends in town.

Mrs. J. Frank Frazer is spending a few days in Philadelphia.

Miss Bessie Manly, of Baltimore,
spent the week-end in Elkton.

Miss Sara Reese, of Philadelphia,
spent Saturday in town.

Miss Ethel Howard Rowe, has gone
to New York after spending the summer in Elkton.

Mrs. Arthur F. Hubbard entertained
at Bridge on Thursday evening.

Mrs. Henry M. McCullough entertained a number of friends at bridge
Friday afternoon.

New Castle County

New Castle is the most northerly
county of Delaware. It has an area
of 435 square miles, or 278,400 acres,
about two-thirds of which lies in the Coastal Plain and the remainder, the northern third, in the Piedmont Plateau. Most of the drainage is carried eastward into Delaware Bay, but
some streams flow westward through Maryland into Chesapeake Bay. The first settlement in the area was made
in 1638, where Wilmington now stands. The population of the county is 148,239. The population of Wilmington, which is the largest city in the State, is 110,168.

Good transportation facilities are afforded the entire county by the Pennsylvania and Baltimore and Ohio
Railroads and several trolley and boat lines.

The mean annual temperature is 52.4° F., and the mean annual precipitation 44.21 inches. Crops are only occasionally injured by prolonged droughts, and destructive wind and hail storms rarely occur.

General farming is the predominant type of agriculture, corn, wheat and hay being the principal crops. Dairying and market gardening are of local importance, especially in the northern part of the county. In the southern part of the county the growing of tomatoes, sugar corn, and string
beans for canning is an important industry. Nearly all farmers produce enough fruit for home use and a number have a surplus to sell.

The total value of the beef cattle
and calves raised in the county is large, with some farms devoted exclusively to cattle raising.

The 1925 census reports 75.8 per cent of the total area of the county in farms. The average size of farms is given as 107.3 acres and the average value of farm land $53.93 per acre.

It is better to suffer wrong than to do it, and happier to be sometimes
cheated than not to be trusted.— Johnson.

"Good Roads, Flowers, Parks, Better Schools, Treas.
Pure Water, Fresh Air, Sunshine and Work for Everybody."—OUR MOTTO.

OCTOBER 27, 1926

"Roads rule the world, not kings nor congresses, nor courts nor constables, not ships nor soldiers. The road is the only royal line in a democracy, the only legislature that never changes, the only court that never sleeps, the only army that never quits, the first aid to the redemption of any nation, the exodus from stagnation in any society, the call from savagery in any tribe, the high priest of prosperity, after the order of Malchisedec, without beginnings of days or end of life. The road is umpire in every way; and when the new map is made, it simply pushes on its great campaign of help, hope, brotherhood, efficiency and peace."

Lincoln and Liquor

Lincoln had been speaking of the sacrifices which had secured the political freedom of America, and he counted those sacrifices worth while. But he believed that two achievements remained—one to make all men politically free, and the other to liberate humanity from the bondage of strong drink. That deliverance, he maintained, could be accomplished without bloodshed, and even the liquor dealers would be the better for it. He wanted America to lead in that revolution which should banish both slavery and drunkenness. Speaking of the perpetuity of American institutions, he said:

"Let every American, every lover of liberty, every well-wisher to his posterity, swear by the blood of the Revolution, never to violate in the least particular, the laws of the country, and never to tolerate their violation in others. As the patriots of '76 did to the support of the Declaration of Independence, so to the support of the Constitution and laws let every American pledge his life, his property and his sacred honor—let every man remember that to violate the law is to trample on the blood of his fathers, and to tear the charter of his own and his children's liberty."

"Let reverence for the laws be breathed by every American mother to the lisping babe that prattles on her lap; let it be taught in schools, in seminaries and in colleges; let it be written in primers, spelling-books and in almanacs; let it be preached from the pulpit, proclaimed in legislative halls and enforced in courts of justice. And in short, let it become the political religion of the Nation; and let the old and the young, the rich and the poor, the grave and the gay of all sexes and tongues and colors and conditions, sacrifice unceasingly upon its altars."—By William A. Barton in The Christian Science Monitor.

Twelve Things to Remember

1. The value of time. 2. The success of perseverance. 3. The measure of working. 4. The dignity of simplicity. 5. The worth of character. 6. The power of kindness. 7. The influence of example. 8. The obligation of duty. 9. The wisdom of economy. 10. The virtue of patience. 11. The improvement of talent. 12. The joy of originating.—Marshall Field.

Laws

"Men do not make laws. They do but discover them. Laws must be justified by something more than the will of the majority. They must rest on the eternal foundation of righteousness. That state is most fortunate in its form of government which has the aptest instruments for the discovery of laws. The latest, most modern, and nearest perfect system that statesmanship has devised is representative government. Its weakness is the weakness of us imperfect mortals who administer it. Its strength is that even such administration secures to the people more blessings than any other system ever produced. No nation has discarded it and retained liberty."—Calvin Coolidge.

An Able Citizen

William F. Metten has been a quiet power for good accomplishments in civic promotion in Delaware for many years, but his work as President of the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce since 1924 has been more than outstanding in successful and diversified effort.

A few bare statistics of his administration tell a powerful story. Since 1924 the membership of the Chamber has increased from 358 to 1700. Twenty-four new industries, representing an investment of $6,000,000.00, employing over 1500 persons, with an annual payroll aggregating $1,500,000.00, have been announced since Mr. Metten's incumbency. A fund of $20,000.00 for national advertising has been raised and already put to work. A trade school, teaching 16 trades and arts, has a waiting list for enrollment.

These figures, per se, show an astonishing development in civic interest and growth, but these are but a few tangible results of William Metten's work. The trade and plant trips throughout the State and city. The founding and assistance to Chambers of Commerce in smaller towns. The extension of customs, which has and will continue to save millions to Delaware business. The postal surveys. The extension retail and wholesale trade movements. The American photoplays chronicles. The protective agencies and many other activities instituted and carried through under Mr. Metten's administration, have not only had a far-reaching and stimulating influence throughout the whole State, but the effect of this work is only in its first bearing of fruitfulness. They form a sound foundation for growth along the most practical and progressive civic lines that not only embraces Wilmington and the State of Delaware, but all surrounding territory.

William F. Metten, who has the responsibility of a strong and important organization of his own, has given himself unstintingly to this public work and the results form a good measure of the personal sacrifice that he has made.

The Wisdom of the Artisan

"How can he get wisdom that holdeth the plough, and that glorieth in the goad, that driveth oxen, and is occupied in their labours, and whose talk is of bullocks? He giveth his mind to make furrows; and is diligent to give the kine fodder. So every carpenter and workmaster, that laboureth night and day; and they that cut and grave seals, and are diligent to make great variety, and give themselves to counterfeit imagery, and watch to finish a work. The smiths also sitting by the anvil, and considering the iron work, the vapour of the fire wasteth his flesh, and he fighteth with the heat of the furnace; the noise of the hammer and the anvil is ever in his ears, and his eyes look still upon the pattern of the thing that he maketh; he setteth his mind to finish his work, and watcheth to polish it perfectly. So doth the potter sitting at his work, and turning the wheel about with his feet, who is always carefully set at his work, and maketh all his work by number; he fashioneth the clay with his arms, and boweth down his strength before his feet; he applieth himself to lead it over; and he is diligent to make clean the furnace. All these trust to their hands; and every one is wise in his work. Without these cannot a city be inhabited; and they shall not dwell where they will, nor go up and down. They shall not be sought for in public counsel, nor sit in the congregation; they shall not sit on the judges' seat, nor understand the sentence of judgment; they cannot declare justice and judgment; and they shall not be found where parables are spoken. But they will maintain the state of the work, and (all) their desire is in the work of their craft."

Your Light

"Suppose now, that there were no sun nor stars in the heavens, nor anything that shown in the black brow of night; and suppose that a Lighted Lamp were put into Your Hand which should burn wasteless and clear amid all the tempest brooding upon this lower world. Suppose that there were Millions of human beings on earth with you, each holding in his hand an Unlighted lamp filled with the Same Oil and Capable of giving as much light. Suppose these millions should come one by one to you and light each his lamp by yours. Would they rob you of any light? Would less of it shine on your path? Would your lamp burn less brightly for having Lighted the Millions?"

"The fountain of knowledge is filled by its outlets, not by its inlets. You can learn nothing which you do not teach you can acquire nothing of intellectual wealth except by giving. In the illustration of the lamp which I have given you, was not the light of the millions which were lighted at yours as much your light as if all came from your solitary lamp? Did you not dispel darkness by giving away light? Remember this parable, and whenever you fall in with an unlighted mind in your walk of life, drop a kind and glowing thought upon it and set it burning in the world with a light that shall shine in some dark corner to beam upon the benighted."—Elihu Burritt.

PEOPLE'S COLUMN

Stemming the Tide of the Cheap and Wasteful

I wonder how many of us Painters around this section are really and truly doing our best to promote the use of real downright quality paint materials. I for one plead guilty of falling far below par. But let me tell you it is not through my own choice, because I will say, I was raised on pure Lead and Oil, etc. When I say "raised," I mean just that. Because it was my father's means of livelihood until I became old enough, and then I used it as a means of earning my own living. I can take you back to the old days and pick out the shops and masters of the trade under whom I learned the trade. These men have proven reputations for skill and knowledge, and I bet you won't find a job of theirs without white lead on it. Why do they stick to the mix your own paint? Because I can say such paint made their reputation. Around here they are very proud of a job if it holds up three years. I wonder how they would feel if they were able to point out a house painted fifteen years ago and still in better shape than many others, painted four times since.

Do you know who is to blame for this cheap material?

The painters themselves. If you go out and try to recommend real paint and workmanship at an honest price, they tell you: Mr. So and So has you beat a mile; he is giving us paint at much less than yours costs. You surely can't blame the property owners, they don't know, because the painter has not tried to teach them the difference. Right now there are men who could create the demand for better material and labor, but instead are doing all they can to promote the use of cheap quality. Why? Because it is easy to spread, requires only ordinary white-wash skill to apply it, and nets them a better discount. I have pleaded guilty to doing the same thing because I was forced into it. But I always try to convert prospects and customers. Economies are based on professional advice and service. SHEAFFER, the Painter.

Women's College Notes

Last Wednesday afternoon Miss Spencer, of the Home Economics Department, chaperoned a group of girls from her department to the food exhibit which was held in the Auditorium, in Wilmington. The girls who accompanied Miss Spencer were: Ruth Larter, Marie Moore, Terna Scott, Alice Sparks, Miriam Lysle, Rachel Boyd, Rosalie Steel, Olive Murray, Kitty Horton, Virginia Swain, Ella Reynolds, Myrtle Simpler, and Grace Smedley.

ALL KINDS OF PEOPLE

A Real Lady

I had not travelled much myself, which perhaps explains my instant sympathy for the sweet-faced hatless woman with her numerous bundles who sat beside me in the waiting room of the railway station. I thought I sensed a timid appeal for friendship in her eye as soon as she looked at me, but she said nothing. Only she seemed to size me up, without seeming to stare a moment too long.

Presently, she stopped a passing porter and asked when the train would leave for S—. An hour and forty minutes to wait! I wondered why she had come so early. She had no watch and the clock was far across the big room. She soon became uneasy again, and stopped a second porter to inquire about her train. She looked so lonely; I wondered how I should feel without friends in a huge depot in her country. Because I could not bear to think of her anxiety through her long wait, I hunted up the travellers' aid and explained the case, asking if the woman might not be permitted to sit in a chair near the desk, where she would feel that some one would be sure to remember her. But my request was evidently out-of-order. "I will go to her," the Aid announced.

I explained to the little "foreign" woman that here was one who would see that she did not miss her train. "Where is your ticket? Let me see it!" demanded the official person. Doubt-fully, timidly, the woman drew forth her ticket from the depths of the bosom of her dress, where it had been securely pinned. Miss D— looked at it importantly and returned it to the traveller with the admonition, "Now you stay right here. Don't talk to any one or ask any more questions, or leave your baggage," looking scornfully at the tied-up bundles, "and I'll let you know when your train is due." And off she marched.

The little woman settled back patiently into her seat, not quite sure that she was being helped. She cast shy, lonesome glances in my direction. "Why do they say new time, standard time?" she asked brokenly. How could I make it clear to her? I stammered some sort of explanation. She grasped my meaning quickly. "O, I know, they want time to play," she said, and nodded her head and smiled a half-amused, half-indulgent smile. "Why did you come so early?" I asked. "Me brother, he go work, daylight," she explained.

My train was due. I did not want to leave the woman. She looked so patient, so enduring, so pathetic. I extended my hand. "I have to leave you," I said. "I wish you were going on my train. I do not like to leave you alone." Her eyes beamed with gratitude for a bit of friendship; she smiled through sudden tears, and, bending gracefully, kissed my hand.

SERENADE AND GIFT SHOWER

Over fifty friends gathered at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Teague, near this town, to serenade Mr. and Mrs. Harold Teague, who were married in Elkton, September 11. Mr. Teague is from near Elkton; Mrs. Teague is from New-som's, Virginia. Many lovely and useful gifts were received. Among the guests were: Mr. and Mrs. John Shelton, Mrs. Fred Lovelas, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Beers, Mr. and Mrs. George Short, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Merrill, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Feucht and son, Carl, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Jack Howell and son Jack, Jr., Mrs. Lydia Ansalvage, Mrs. Margaret Reynolds, Mrs. George Diviney, Mrs. Elizabeth Thorne, of Wilmington; Mrs. Walter Moore, Mrs. Elma Fox, Mrs. Mabel Raleigh and son, Willard, Mrs. W. W. Sparks, Mrs. Crossan; Misses Marie Dill, Phoebe Fox, Marie Brown, Edna Moore, Dorothy Moore, Lizzie Diviney, Edna and Gladys Mischler; Messrs. William Snyder, Haywood Todd, Thomas Bunting, Paul Frazer, Cecil Creswell, Harry Balling, Herman Ansalvage, George Diviney, Joe Brown, Gilbert Campbell and Grant Ritchie.

Improve time in the present; for opportunity is precious, and time is a sword.—Saadi.

Our great social and political advantage is opportunity.—George William Curtis.

TIMES HAVE CHANGED

We quote from "Harper's," 1872: "The Library of Congress, at the expiration of fifty years from its original organization, contained only 50,000 volumes, and it was a matter of regret publicly expressed in Congress, that there was not one branch of liberal study, even among those of greatest interest to our legislators, in which it was not miserably deficient."

"I AM THE PUBLIC SCHOOL"

"I am the Public School. I am of many-storied stone, soaring about busy city thoroughfares, or I am a mere cluster of weather-beaten board in a wilderness that is trackless save for the path leading to my door."

"I am the guardian of the hopes of every generation, and I am true to my trust."

"In me all things are equal; in me are no distinctions among those who come to me except the paramount distinction between those who are proud to serve and those who seek only to be served."

"It is my duty not alone to teach but equally to learn; to keep perpetually a light upon my altars, kindling them forever afresh from the inextinguishable flame that burns in every young heart, the sacred fires of love of knowledge and love of freedom and love of country, for as I succeed America succeeds."

Clothing Satisfaction

Men's clothing, to be serviceable, must have more in it than the idle claims of newspaper advertising, more than good cloth as its basic value, it must have hand tailoring to make it stand up and give service; otherwise, like the house built on sand, when the strain of wear comes it will fall, because of its poor foundation.

Poultry Tour and Convention Nov. 3d and 4th

Of course you have heard of the Delaware Poultry Tour, November 3 and 4, and the banquet at Milford. This tour and program has been arranged to give you a chance to learn a lot of new ideas at a low cost. The illustrated lecture by Prof. Rice on "How to Select High Layers," is worth $100 to you if you are in the chicken business. The banquet is for your convenience and pleasure. If you have not received a program, write for one.

New Poultry Calendar

October ends the first year of the Delaware Farm Egg-Laying Contest. The project will be continued but the name will be changed to "Delaware Farm Egg-Record Club." New calendars are being prepared and will be ready for distribution by November 1. Every page has been rewritten and all the illustrations are taken from Delaware farms.

These calendars will be furnished free again to those who will keep the egg records and send in the monthly report cards. If you or your neighbor wants a calendar write to your County Agricultural Agent and he will send you one. Ask for one during the poultry tour.

Ground Soy-Beans for Laying Pullets

Hens must have the proper amount and kind of protein in their ration to give a good egg production. Poultrymen have been using meat scraps and fish meal to provide this protein. As these two ingredients are rather expensive an effort is being made to discover a cheaper source of protein. Experiments conducted by various states a few years ago using soy bean meal, peanut meal, cotton seed meal and the like proved unsatisfactory.

Now a new discovery has been made. Experiments in Ohio have shown that if soy bean meal is supplemented with a mixture of certain minerals it gives excellent results of growth and production. As soy beans are grown extensively in Delaware, the Experiment Station here is conducting some experiments to check up on the Ohio results. The following report which has been prepared by Mr. Tomhave and Mr. Mumford gives the results to date of ground soy beans for laying pullets.

On November 25, 1925, two pens of Single Comb White Leghorn pullets were put on a feeding trial to determine whether ground soy beans can be substituted for the animal protein in the mash if the mash is supplemented with mineral ingredients. At the beginning of the trial, each pen contained 105 birds. A preliminary period of approximately three weeks was required to change the ration from Station mash feed, to the trial mash. Extreme care was exercised during this preliminary feeding period as the pullets were laying heavily and there was danger of throwing them into a molt.

The following rations were fed during the trial:

Pen 1.—Mash Mixture—100 lbs. yellow corn meal; 100 lbs. pure wheat bran; 100 lbs. flour wheat middlings; 100 lbs. pulverized oats; 100 lbs. meat scraps (55%); 3 lbs. table salt.

Pen 2.—Mash Mixture—100 lbs. yellow corn meal; 100 lbs. pure wheat bran; 100 lbs. flour wheat middlings; 100 lbs. pulverized oats; 150 lbs. ground soy beans; 50 lbs. mineral (15 lbs. table salt, 22 lbs. steamed bone meal, 24 lbs. limestone flour).

Scratch Mixture—500 lbs. yellow cracked corn; 400 lbs. wheat; 100 lbs. heavy oats.

Sprouted oats was fed once daily to each pen. Oyster shell, charcoal and limestone grit were available to the birds in self-feeding hoppers. Both pens were under lights and had approximately a twelve and one-half hour day. The birds were confined from October 15, 1925, to April 1, 1926, after which time the two pens were alternated on range.

The following is the monthly production from October 1, 1925, to August 22, 1926.

Monthly Production per Pullet

Pen 1—Oct., 11.9; Nov., 12.5; Dec., 10.8; Jan., 11.8; Feb., 12.1; Mar., 13.6; Apr., 16.5; May, 18.3; June, 14.9; July, 11.6; Aug., 5.9.

Pen 2—Oct., 9.8; Nov., 9.8; Jan., 8.8; Feb., 11.8; Mar., 11.6; Apr., 13.2; May, 14.7; June, 11.3; July, 10.2; Aug., 3.8.

(Note—October and 25 days of November pre-trial period.)

The mineral mixture constitutes a very important ingredient of the mash used in Pen 2. The mineral ingredients are first thoroughly mixed, after which 50 pounds of this mixture is thoroughly mixed with the other mash ingredients.

The range allowed the birds was poor at best. This trial was carried on under a most severe test for the birds, because of the limited time allowed for ranging.

At the conclusion of the trial, the birds on the ground soy bean mash were in better condition than those on the meat scrap mash. Approximately one-half of the birds in Pen 1 were classed as being in poor condition at the close of the feeding trial, while all the birds in Pen 2 were in good condition.

Conclusions

No definite conclusions can be drawn from this one trial. However, where the same ration is used as has been used in Pen 2, and where as good or better range is provided as was provided in this trial, the writers feel safe in saying that very good results can be obtained from a mash in which ground soy beans and a mineral mixture replace the animal protein.

Ethel Merritt has been selected as freshman leader of volleyball; Anne Barkley, manager of hockey. From the senior class, Marjorie Rosa has been chosen leader of volleyball; Linda Bassett, manager of hockey. Inter-class games will be played off shortly before the Thanksgiving recess.

Miss Richardson attended the exercises incident to the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, last Saturday.

Art classes under Miss Taylor will have the privilege of attending the Sesqui on Thursday, and will see the treasures in the Fine Arts Building under the direction of Mrs. Rose Berry, chairman of fine arts of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. The members of the Newark New Century Club have been asked to join the party.

The first meeting of the Forum for the school year was held last Thursday afternoon at four o'clock. Professor Barkley spoke on "World Topics," and his talk was most interesting and helpful. The large student enrollment prohibits the attendance of the freshmen at the meetings of the Forum, which is to be regretted.

Louise Brooks was hostess at Thursday's Forum. She was assisted by Adelia Jefferson, Julia Francis and Jean Middleton.

The junior class entertained the faculty and student body at tea in the Hilarium Friday afternoon from 3.30 to 5. In the receiving line were Kitty Horton, vice-president of the class; Dean Robinson, Miss Keeley, Dr. and Mrs. C. L. Benner, Jean Middleton, president of the student council, and Dorothea Pierson, class secretary. Marjorie Johnson, president, and Marian Steele, treasurer, poured. Ruth Larter was in charge of refreshments. Assisting her were: Hazel Malcom, Ruth Foster, Martha Hill and Harriet Barkley. Sally Coffin had arranged a charming program of entertainment. Frances Malcom played the piano; Katherine Ralph, the harmonica, and Angela Wisneski danced.

Practically all the students and faculty attended the lecture in Wolf Hall Friday afternoon by Clayton Hamilton, well-known author, critic, and playwright, who spoke on "The Drama," with especial reference to the themes of Ibsen's plays. His talk was a splendid preparation for seeing "Ghosts" at the Playhouse on Friday evening at which play Mr. and Mrs. Pierre du Pont will entertain the student body and faculty.

Jean Middleton led vesper service on Sunday evening and Eleanor Edge played. Kitty Kevin, a senior from the University of Pennsylvania, gave a short account of her experiences last summer, when she went, with eleven girls from other colleges, to study the working girl's position in Chicago industries. These girls applied for jobs in the only manner open to the average wage earner with only a grammar school education, or less, and lived on their earnings. Miss Kevin's six weeks were spent in a book-binding, in a clothes-pressing shop and at Wrigley's chewing gum factory. Her experiences were most interesting, and she learned a new sense of value of money and people. In conclusion, Miss Kevin stated that the three greatest needs of a business girl were power, love, and an open mind.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mayer, of Dover, Mrs. James Freney, Miss Maria Ethelgood, and James Freney, of Salisbury, visited Mary Louise Mayer on Sunday.

Miss Alice Wright, of the faculty of the New Jersey College for Women, visited Miss Clerihew over last week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Hudson, of Selbyville, visited their daughter, Helen Hudson, here on Sunday.

Helen Stayton, Kitty Ayres, Rosalie Steel, Kitty Townsend, Kitty Ady, and Ruth Larter attended the games and Hop at the Naval Academy last week-end.

Virginia Archer spent Saturday in Philadelphia.

Adelia Jefferson, Louise Brooks, Ann Whaley, Louise Eskridge, and Jean Middleton attended the performance of "Lady Fair" at the Playhouse, Saturday.

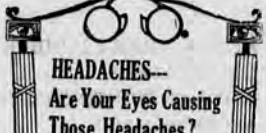

Grace Ellison, Kitty Krauss, Anne Nutter, Orpha Conahay, and Helen Sanborn spent the week-end in Philadelphia; Linda Bassett, in Trenton; Hazel Chapman, Evelyn Elliott, and Frances Goldstein, in Wilmington;

Martha Maull and Louise Marshall in Lewes; Virginia Phillips, Ruth Phillips and Molly Ellis, in Delmar; Sarah Harmon, in Felton; Elizabeth Anderson, Nellie Moore and Norma Russell, in Laurel; Florence Hickman, in Ocean View; Elizabeth Wiley, in Bridgeville; Marie Moore and Sara Sterns, in Baltimore.

Betty Davis, of Wilmington, was the guest of Nellie Lawton last week-end.

Fifteen members of the faulty went to Philadelphia Saturday, to visit the Sesqui and to attend the performance of "The Miracle." The party included: Dean Robinson, Mrs. Kennedy, Misses Kelly, Spencer, Parker, Kolk, Ehlers, Sturges, Phillips, McDougle, Hartshorn, Harding, Marx, Templeman, and Drake.

ADD Women's College Notes JAK Miss Allen is conducting a class of business girls at the Y. W. C. A. every Monday evening. Miss Allen's subject is "General Methods of Psychology." The class started October 11 and will continue for eight weeks.

TRI-STATE PARK AT CAPE CHARLES PLANNED

At a regular meeting of the Executive Committee of the Del-Mar-Va Eastern Shore Association, held Friday, at the Executive Offices, Salisbury, a resolution was adopted authorizing the appointment of a committee on legislation for the purpose of taking up at the coming sessions of the Delaware, Maryland, and Virginia Legislatures, the question of securing land at Cape Charles and Norfolk for combined Tri-State park and docking purposes.

This action is based on the Association's efforts to aid the American Automobile Association in perfecting a main North to South route through the Peninsula. The Association has already secured through the American Automobile Association a change in the strip maps, with the result that the Del-Mar-Va Trail is being not only featured as a logical link, but is emphasized on the news maps and schedules of the Association. Even further than this the Association has secured changes in the Federal and Canadian Government maps to show completed highways from New York to Norfolk, Va., via Cape Charles over the Del-Mar-Va Trail and is working with the Pennsylvania Railroad System and the agencies now having to do with trans-Chesapeake transportation for adequate ferry service.

School Pupils in Junior Red Cross Work

Pupils in six public and private schools in the State are busily engaged in preparing the Christmas boxes which they will send to children abroad, as a remembrance of Yuletide. The boxes must all be shipped from this country within two or three weeks, so that they may reach their destination in time for distribution on Christmas Eve or Christmas Day. They will be forwarded to Paris from which point they will be distributed to the Balkan States, Estonia, Lithuania, France and other places where the little children are still suffering from the effects of the war. The boxes will be labelled to a boy or girl so that there will be no confusion.

This year the Junior Red Cross of the United States is preparing 100,000 of these Christmas remembrances. Of this number Delaware is supplying 156 boxes apportioned among the school children as follows: Claymont, 30; Milford Cross Roads, 1; Thomas Bayard School, Wilmington; No. 13 School, Wilmington, 50; Tower Hill School, Wilmington, 40; Millsboro, 10. The boxes will contain tablets, pencils, crayons, small boxes of paints, marbles, small balls, jack-stones, small toys, dominoes, small dolls, dollhouse furniture, doll dishes, handkerchiefs, hair ribbons, tooth brushes, tooth-paste, combs, tops. None of the articles shipped will be second-hand or used. They are all new. The cartons prepared by the children should reach headquarters of Delaware Chapter of the Red Cross, 911 Delaware avenue, Wilmington, not later than this week.

The branches of the Junior Red Cross engaged in preparing these boxes will be credited for their activity under the regulations of the Junior Red Cross Service.

ORDER IN HAITI

Political chaos and civic disorder have completely disappeared in Haiti as a result of American occupation, according to Dr. Elwood Mead, Commissioner of Reclamation, who has returned from an unofficial trip there to investigate irrigating possibilities. In a letter to the Secretary of the Interior describing his visit, Commissioner Mead contrasts almost anarchic conditions previously existing on the island with the present-day stability brought about by United States treaty officials. Pointing out that fifteen years ago irrigation or any other kind of rural development would have been impossible if not unthinkable in this republic, he states that an orderly program of improvement and development is now in progress.

THE CAMPAIGN OF INFORMATION

The things which we do not understand are the ones which fool us. It is easier to trust to luck than to acquire information.

A large part of human energy is expended in caring for the mistakes of others.

Poorhouses are filled because of waste, extravagance and ignorant spending.

Hospitals are filled because people disregard commonest rules of health and safety.

Courts are filled with those whose troubles are largely of their own making.

Asylums are filled because people knowingly break laws of health and nature.

Penitentiaries are filled with men who commit premeditated crimes.

To help eliminate much grief and suffering, industry is today carrying on educational campaigns to show people the folly of being uninformed, careless and indifferent to rules of health, business and safety.

Insurance companies are striving to show the irreparable waste of life and property which results from preventable fires and accidents.

Public utility companies have been leaders in safety-first campaigns in the home, on the street, and in the investment field where savings are spent.

Railroads are constantly working to eliminate grade crossing accidents.

In order to improve service and prevent delays in communication, telephone companies invite telephone users to call at the nearest central stations, and inspect the complicated system of wires and signals which are maintained to complete their telephone calls. An understanding of what telephone operators are doing would eliminate much of the impatience which telephone users too often exhibit.

And so it goes through a long list of industries, including lumbering, mining, manufacturing, etc. Private enterprise is endeavoring to prevent misinformation, and furnish reliable information to the public which has too often been uninformed about the commonest essentials of home and business life.

I believe that any society which desires to found itself on a high standard of integrity of character in its units should organize itself in such a fashion as to make it possible too for all men and all women to maintain themselves in reasonable comfort by their industry without selling their affections and their convictions.—George Bernard Shaw.

Elinor Glyn's "MAN AND MAID"

Thursday-Friday
October 28-29University Mauled
By St. Johns 13-3Blue and Gold, With Crippled Team, Fails to Stop Overhead Attack

On Saturday morning the University of Delaware pigskin warriors fell before a jinx and some high class football. Delaware went to Annapolis, favorites in their annual clash with St. John's, but the Indian sign which has been in force five years for the Maryland institute, was working with full vigor and the University was trimmed 13 to 3. Captain Bill Lohman and Cal Coppock were on the bench with injuries.

Creamer and Loveland did their usual stuff, but it was not enough on this occasion. They both made several long gains on end runs and Creamer booted a field goal in the second quarter. However, Delaware's much vaunted overhead attack didn't click and St. John's did, which about tells the story of the game.

In the first quarter after Creamer had punted out of danger to mid-field, Zimmerman tossed a pass to DeSantes who dashed 25 yards for the first score. The game started with St. John's on the offensive and they pushed the Delaware boys under their own goal posts three times where they held for downs.

In the second quarter Delaware threatened several times, but the St. John's line held and when they regained the ball baffled the Blue and Gold defense with the accuracy of their aerial attack. In this quarter Fritz Creamer got within kicking distance of the enemy standards and scored his second bulleye in two games.

The second half opened with two first downs for Delaware, but St. John's broke up Delaware's passing by intercepting a number of tosses and then showed Forstburg's crew how it should be done by scoring another touchdown on a well-executed forward, Zouck to Zimmerman. The fourth period was scoreless.

This game gave Delaware an even balance of victories and defeats and was St. John's first win this year. Delaware felt the loss of Lohman and Coppock, for DeSantes and Zimmerman of the Orange and Black punctured the Blue Hen defense for sizeable gains.

This Saturday Delaware comes to one of the ambitious points in their schedule when they oppose Rutgers at New Brunswick. They will be heavily outweighed, but a fast, flashy attack might give them a victory. Rutgers took a sweet trimming from N. Y. U. last week when the Manhattan team downed them 30 to 0. If the Blue and Gold can erase the sour spots in their overhead game they may prove equal to taking the heavy footed Rutgers huskies.

Last Saturday afternoon the Delaware squad relaxed by watching the Navy pummel Colgate 13 to 7.

U. of D. Soccer Team
Loses Second Game

On last Friday afternoon the U. of D. soccer team lost to Haverford College Junior Varsity soccer team by a close score of 1 to 0. Haverford, with greater experience and smoother technique, outplayed Delaware throughout the game, but the aggressiveness of the Delaware backs kept the Haverford forwards from scoring more than one goal.

The line-up:
Delaware (0) Haverford J. V. (1)
Rynn goal Mawkinney
Bringham right fullback Berlinger
Powell left fullback Vogel

Newark Beats Wesley
Without RileyCome from Behind to Beat Heavier
Eleven; Doordan Scores Twice

On Friday afternoon the Newark High School football team, unbeaten champions of the D. I. A. A., went to Dover and gave the Wesley Collegiate Institute its first taste of defeat this season, by a score of 21 to 6. Newark proved its championship mettle in this game, for the first quarter went badly against them; Riley, Newark's tower of strength, was injured early in the quarter and then the heavier Wesley team made a touchdown in straight drives down the field.

In the second period, however, Morris handled a team that wouldn't recognize defeat and which drove Wesley back under its own standards, where a blocked kick resulted in a safety for Newark. With the goose egg wiped out, the champs took the ball and smashed their way down the field again for a touchdown, and 7 more points.

In the third period Morris opened up with an aerial attack that completely baffled Wesley and soon resulted in a touchdown by Doordan on a pass. The second touchdown in this quarter resulted from a series of passes, but Whiteman carried the ball over in a plunge through the line.

Newark proved in this game that they could play tight, co-ordinated football when called on. There was none of the sloppiness of the du Pont game in this struggle. The Newark line held like a rock at crises, though they were badly outweighed. Doordan and Mayer, on the wings, took care of everything that came their way and their vicious tackling threw many a Wesley runner for a loss. Doordan's accurate handling of passes and shifty running chalked two touchdowns to his credit.

Morris again handled his team in a masterly fashion and it was his passing that put Newark in a position for their scoring plays. He has more stuff than the average high school quarterback and, above all else, a well developed sense of team work. His interference and preliminary work is generally responsible for the scores that other players get credit for.

Jaquette, Smith and Whiteman gained ground whenever called on. Smith, a freshman substitute, will bear watching. With a little more experience, his off-tackle slants will be hard to stop.

Torrey and Chism featured in Wesley's offense, while Hammond starred for them in the line.

THE "FIREPROOF" MYTH

"An important truth is constantly being emphasized by the experience of fires occurring in so-called 'fireproof' buildings, which are not what their name implies. In other words, while they will not burn 'down,' they will burn 'out.'"

"This fact has been demonstrated in several more or less recent occurrences, in some instances in first arising from outside exposure, and again from the contents, inflammable in their nature, becoming ignited and the fire spreading through ventilating shafts and other openings to other floors, where more burnable material is stored," says the magazine, Fire Engineering.

"No matter how fire resistant the structure itself may be, it is only as fireproof as its contents. If the contents are inflammable, there is just as likely to be a hot and severe fire in the 'fireproof' building as in that of less resistant construction."

"The term 'fireproof,' as applied to buildings, is very deceiving, and its use should be discouraged, as it naturally gives to those not well informed in the matter, a false sense of security which is dangerous in the extreme."

"A much more sensible and certainly truer term is that of 'fire resistant,' which tells the story of the modern building, and emphasizes its advantages, without exaggeration."

MORE AND MORE AUTOS

Motor vehicle registration figures still continue their upward climb, according to the Bureau of Public Roads of the United States Department of Agriculture, which reports 19,697,832 vehicles registered in the first six months of 1932. This is 1,927,141 more vehicles than were registered in the corresponding period of 1925 or an increase of 10.8 per cent.—National Republic.

INCH OF RAIN IS 100 TONS TO ACRE

Several hundred pounds of water are necessary during the life of a cultivated plant to produce 1 pound of mature matter. Thus a plant such as wheat or corn requires each day an amount equal to several times its own weight. It is not often that nature supplies just the amount required for best development throughout the growing season. A much greater quantity of water is supplied to the soil in a moderately heavy rain than is usually supposed. With a rainfall of 1 inch, without loss by run-off, more than 100 tons of water is supplied to 1 acre of land.

Poultry Diseases

Dr. Frank Hare, Poultry Pathologist
"Roup"

Definition—A disease principally of the upper respiratory air passages, characterized by a discharge from the nostrils (colds), swelling of the region just below the eye (sinus roup), the formation of membranes on patches throughout the mouth and over the larynx or wind pipe (diphtheria), or possibly a discharge from, and later swelling of, the eye. One or all of these conditions may be present in the same bird. There is usually a very disagreeable odor accompanying the disease.

Cause—The principal germ found in roup is one resembling the germ of fowl cholera. This germ occurs abundantly in the soil, and has even been found in the throat and lungs of apparently normal birds. When the vitality of the bird has been lowered by an improper ration or lack of green food, by being chilled, by being infested with worms, or by being worked too long on electric lights, the germ no longer is held in check, and it produces the symptoms seen in roup. The first cases found are usually mild, but after the germ has passed from one chicken to another, it becomes stronger and produces the severer symptoms found in the later stages of the disease.

Control—The control, then, is quite obvious. Birds should be housed in comfortable and clean quarters that are free from drafts and dampness. They should be fed the proper ration, containing sufficient green food, or, in its absence, a quart of cod liver oil may be added to each hundred pounds of mash. Birds should be kept free from internal parasites from the broiler age, in order that they may reach maturity possessed of their full strength and vigor, and adult fowls in full laying should not be overworked on electric lights. Roup rarely ever occurs in the severe form in a flock that is properly cared for. Mild cases may appear in individual birds which are normally weak, undersized, or underdeveloped, but if these cases are removed from the flock, confined in a warm room and given special care, they will quickly recover. Change the litter occasionally, scald thoroughly the drinking fountains with boiling water, and guard against dampness as the result of drinking fountains overflowing. Disinfect occasionally, after first thoroughly cleaning the house. A solution made of three pints of crude carbolic acid to five gallons of soft water will destroy the germs that are destructive to fowls.

"The Best Poultry Remedies"

"The best poultry remedy for most diseases is a set of common handy tools, a broom, shovel, scraper, and spray pump, some crude oil, and other spray material, and the necessary energy and initiative on the part of the flock owner to keep the outfit in use. The Nebraska poultry keepers who have made the most net profit during the past four years in the University record flocks, are the ones who use this kind of a remedy to prevent disease among their flocks. They save the money other people put into high priced, brightly colored and strong smelling dopes of doubtful value. The money they save with the old broom, shovel, scraper, and spray pump adds to their net profit. Clean houses, clean food and water, and clean ground for the chickens to run over are the four points of their profitable business."—Extension Notes of Agricultural College, University of Nebraska, Vol. 14, No. 4.

TRI-STATE POULTRY
ASSOCIATION FORMED

The Tri-State Poultry Association has been organized by breeders of Delaware and nearby points in Pennsylvania and Maryland, with headquarters at Newark, Del. Breeders of pure bred poultry are invited to become members.

A poultry show will be held in Newark, January 10 to 15, and any breeder desiring information as to premiums offered, and manner of making entries, should address N. J. Lannan, Show Secretary, Box 85, Elmsmere, Del.

The officers chosen are all Poultrymen of wide experience as breeders and exhibitors, and include, Samuel Little, Newark, president; Jesse R. Cloud, vice-president, Landenberg, Pa.; Wm. Sterling Evans, vice-president, Elkton, Md.; J. W. Kennady, 2nd, treasurer, Landenberg; N. J. Lannan, secretary and show manager, Elmsmere.

HOUSEHOLD HELPS

To remove saltiness from a slice of ham, let it stand in sour milk or buttermilk for an hour or two. This will help to make it tender.

Oiled floors should be swept with a soft brush and dusted with an oiled cloth or mop. Occasionally clean them with a cloth wrung out of warm soapy water, followed by polishing with a cloth moistened with kerosene or good floor oil. Use water and soap sparingly.

The only positive label requirement in the Federal food and drugs act is that all canned food labels shall bear a correct statement of the net weight of the contents of the can. If other statements are made on the label, they must be true and must not be false or misleading in any particular.

Rancidity in lard is caused by chemical action of the air. The Federal Meat Inspection Service advises that lard should be well rendered, free from moisture and particles of scrap. Lard should be placed in completely filled, tightly closed containers, preferably of glass or earthenware and kept in a cool dark place for preservation.

Fresh pyrethrum powder is advised in bathrooms or damp storerooms where centipedes appear. These insects are more alarming in appearance than in reality, however. Centipedes destroy house flies, roaches, small moths and other insects, and seldom bite human beings.

DAIRY PRODUCTS SPECIAL

The Dairy Products Special of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad will be operated in eleven counties of Pennsylvania, nine counties of West Virginia and eight counties of Maryland, between November 1 and 20.

The schedule of its stops will be announced later.

The railroad company, in co-operation with the National Dairy Council, a health and child welfare organization of Chicago, has arranged a special exhibit for the benefit of county school children.

A feature of the special will be the daily talks of the humorist, "Happy" Goldsmith, to junior and senior high school students. Mr. Goldsmith has made a specialty of lecturing to senior and junior high school students throughout the country and the National Dairy Council has arranged for him to accompany the Baltimore and Ohio's special during the three weeks of its operation, so that pupils living on or near its lines may have the benefit of his talks.

The Dairy Products Special is another of many agricultural trails which the Baltimore and Ohio has run to help the communities which its lines serve. It is its way of putting the "Good Neighbor" policy into practice.

He who learns the rules of wisdom without conforming to them in his life, is like a man who labored in fields, but did not sow.—Saadi.

A gentleman is a man who would live just as he now does if there wasn't a law against anything.

Delaware Colony Annual Report

may well be proud of the work
has been done to date toward
proper care and segregation of mental defectives in Delaware.
We must caution ourselves that work is still in its infancy, and a great amount of effort must be expended to this cause before the people of Delaware can view with confidence the future of the group called "the feeble-minded." The individual coming under this classification is provided for and that he is protected from the menace.
There is a popular belief that all
normal individuals are potential
criminals. This is a mistaken notion.
Percentage of criminals among subnormal class is very little higher, if any, than it is among the normal class.
The province then, of any program
mental defectives, is to prevent recidivism, and to train the individuals to become self-sufficient.
There should be a State payment whose services should be able whenever needed, but especially for the Courts, the institutions, and the public schools. Such a program included in a program for
the feeble-minded would be of more value than any of us are willing to concede at present. Such a person should also be clothed with authority to transfer
one institution to another after finding that another institution or agency could best care for the individual, provided the governing boards
of such institution be willing to take care of him.
A portion of the program to prevent recidivism is one of which a great number of our citizens have given considerable thought. Sterilization will prevent reproduction and will therefore take care of the first part of the program.

question of training must be
care of by the establishment of necessary facilities for industrial training.
We have, at Delaware Colony,
vowed to train the boys and girls
lines of work which our limited resources would permit. But these lines must be added to if we are
to continue along the lines of the program as we should.

number of people interested in
development and proper care of children segregated here, believe
we have now grown large enough
to warrant the employment of a resident physician, some one who could be
in constant touch with their physical condition, and could bend his efforts
toward remedying their physical defects, thereby improving their mental condition.

have 96 individuals at the institution. Our applications now are
for the lower grade types, as
parents of the higher grade class
do not consent to placing their children here until there are more opportunities for their training.

Truitt divides her time between teaching and office work, but it is felt that this arrangement will result of the proper training and
care of the boys and girls here
should be trained.
Wish to acknowledge the following from the Board of Lady Patience, who, as you all know, are
an important factor in the work of the Colony.

CHURCH COMMITTEES ATTEND DINNER

Chairmen and members of laymen's
committees from Presbyterian churches
in the northern part of New Castle Presbytery attended a dinner in Wilmington, Thursday night, at the West Presbyterian Church. The purpose of the dinner was to discuss plans for raising New Castle Presby-
tery's quota of the $15,000,000 campaign now being carried on by the Presbyterian Church to launch its
new Service Pension Plan. Henry M.
Canby, Chairman of the Presbytery
Laymen's Committee, presided.

The quota assigned to New Castle
out of the $15,000,000 is $60,000. This will be raised by laymen's committees
in the various churches, each committee working among the members of its own congregation. The whole campaign in the Presbytery will be under the direction of Mr. Canby's committee.

Similar campaigns are now well
under way throughout the States of Pennsylvania and West Virginia. The campaigns in Maryland, Delaware,
and the District of Columbia will start in a few days.

Rev. Andrew Mutch, D. D., pastor
of the Bryn Mawr, Pa., Presbyterian Church, spoke at the dinner on the value of the Service Pension Plan and how it will benefit the whole Church
by increasing the efficiency and
raising the morale of its servants.

Joy Is Wealth

I have known men who would trust
their wives with their heart and their honor, but not with their pocketbook
—not with a dollar. When I see a man of that kind, I always think he knows which of these articles is the most valuable. Think of making your wife a beggar! Think of her having to ask you every day for a dollar, or
for two dollars, or for fifty cents!
"What did you do with the dollars I gave you last week?" Think of having a wife that is afraid of you. What kind of children do you expect to have
with a beggar and a coward for a mother? Oh, I tell you, if you have got but a dollar in the world, and you have got to spend it, spend it like a
king; spend it as though it were a dry leaf, and you the owner of unbounded forests! That's the way to spend it. I had rather be a beggar
and spend my last dollar like a king,
than be a king and spend my money
like a beggar. If it's got to go, let it go! Get the best you can for your family—try to look as well as you can yourself.

When you used to go courting, how nice you looked! Ah, your eye was bright, your step was light, and you
just put on the very best look you could. Do you not know that it is insufferable egotism in you to suppose
that a woman is going to love you always looking as bad as you can?
Think of it! Any woman on earth
will be true to you forever when you do your level best.

Some people tell me, "Your doctrine
about loving, and wives, and all that,
is splendid for the rich, but it won't do for the poor." I tell you there is,
on the average, more love in the
houses of the poor than in the palaces
of the rich and the meanest hut with love in it is fit for the gods, and a palace without love is a den fit for wild beasts. That's my doctrine. You can't be so poor but that you can help
somebody. Good nature is the cheapest commodity in the world; and love
is the only thing that will pay ten
per cent to the borrower and lender
both. Don't tell me that you have got to be rich! We have all a false standard of greatness in the United States. We think here that for a man to be great he must be notorious; or
he must be extremely wealthy; or his name must be between the lips of fame! It is all nonsense! It is not necessary to be rich to be great, or
to be powerful to be happy; and the
happy man is the successful man.
Happiness is the legal tender of the soul. Joy is wealth.—Robert G.
Ingersoll.

COOKIE SALE
IN FIRST GRADE

The fifty-two pupils in that section of the first grade in the public school, which is taught by Miss Sara Steele, held a cookie sale at recess time last Wednesday morning. The children of the grade brought the cookies to sell to children from other grades. Six dollars and twenty-five cents was the sum realized. Part of this sum will buy curtains for the school-room.

AN OLD DELAWARE

7½. Six cents reward is offered for the apprehension of a runaway slave. An excursion from Wilmington to Baltimore for one dollar the round trip, is advertised. Delaware College and Newark Academy have announcements of exhibits by students. Miss E. Grimshaw's Boarding and Day School, at the corner of Seventh and King Streets, announces rates from $8 to $15 per session, according to the age of the pupil. New fall goods called satinets; white, red and yellow flannels, linseys, alpaca lusters, merinos, Parisians, Chusan lusters, tickings, drillings, plaids, and painted velvets were offered; the cheapest materials bringing such prices as 12½ cts.; 18½ cts., to 62½ cts. per yard.

Of the 74 small ads that make up the back page of this little paper, 36 of them advertise patent medicines. Each one of these bids to health and good looks has tried to outdo the others in appeal. But we think the prize should go to the one which reads thus:

"War! War! War!"

"Upon the Wig-Makers.—Jaynes Hair Tonic.—We have heretofore numbered ourselves among those who believed that the 'Hair Tonic' prepared by Dr. Jayne, was one of the many quack nostrums whose virtues are never seen beyond the fulsome puffs of their authors. We are willing at length, to make public acknowledgment of the error of our belief. An intimate friend, some two or three months since, all the top of whose cranium was as bald as a piece of polished marble, maugre all our jesting and ridicule of the idea of attempting to cultivate so barren a spot, purchased a bottle or two of the Hair Tonic from Dr. Jayne, and according to his directions applied it. During the present week the same friend ushered himself into our presence, and uncovering his hitherto naked head, astonished us with a thin, though luxuriant growth of hair, from one to two inches in length—upon the very premises we had believed as unyielding to cultivation, as the trackless sand that skirts the Atlantic. This is no puff, but is religiously true, and to those who doubt, the gentleman can be pointed out. What is more in favor of this 'Tonic,' the case here cited was not one of temporary baldness—no sudden loss of hair—but was one of years standing, though the gentleman is but forty-five years of age.—Spirit of the Times."

On December 10, 1883, the Every Evening Printing Company acquired the good will and franchise of the Daily Gazette, and its weekly issue, the Delaware Gazette, then published by Bell and Taylor. The Gazette was the oldest newspaper in Delaware, the weekly edition having been established in 1784. The Delaware Gazette was merged into Every Evening's weekly edition, under the name of Delaware Gazette and State Journal. In later years the publication of the weekly issue was abandoned.

HAMILTON TALKS TO

The third theme, which Mr. Hamilton spoke of as the basis of the modern social drama, was evolved in the 19th century as a result of the upheaval caused by the French Revolution. This was used by several minor French dramatists, but obtained no great prominence until Ibsen, after a fair success as satiric poet and writer of historical and costume dramas, decided to devote the rest of his life in writing on the struggle of the individual against society. In each case of this series of struggles, society was the stronger and the individual doomed from the start to defeat, but in most cases the hero was right in his struggle. "Ghosts", which came out of this series has been translated and played in every country where there is a theatre. It depicts an enfranchised soul, struggling to rid itself of traditional and dead ideas.

During the portion of his address devoted to Ibsen, Mr. Hamilton digressed somewhat from the discussion of the play to tell of Ibsen's political theory. He said that Ibsen, while not particularly interested in the politics of his time, believed in minority rule and opinions in politics as well as in arts. He said what Ibsen felt was needed was a ruling nobility which would be a nobility of character rather than of breeding, wealth or intellect.

Ginther Competes
With Headliners

Last week, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Eddie Ginther, pro. at the Newark Country Club, took part in the Maryland Open and the Mid-Atlantic Open golf tournaments, which were combined in three days of golf at the Rolling Road Golf Club, Cantonville, Baltimore, The Maryland open, 36 holes, medal play, was held Thursday, and the 72 hole Mid-Atlantic open, Friday and Saturday. Eddie didn't bring home any of the money, but he gave a good account of himself in fast company. Leo Diegel, former Canadian open champion, won first money in both events. Other prominent tournament competitors were "Wild" Bill Melhorn, Bobby Cruikshank and Paddy Doyle.

"I AM THE CHURCH"

"I am the Church."
"I am of Gothic, Romanesque, simple design."
"I am the Rock of Ages upon which all human hope is founded. I am teacher of patience, forbearance, love. I am the solace of the sick, suffering and the wretched. I am bearer of joy and good tidings."
"I proclaim that 'God is in Heaven, and all's well with the world. I am the author of the Golden Rule. I sing 'Glory to God in the high and on earth peace, good will to men.'"
"I am the Church."
