STREET WORK IS PROGRESSING

Council May Have Enough Funds Left To Improve Elkton Road

Good progress is being made by the Olivere Construction Company of Wilmington in the local street work, according to a statement by Mayor Frank Collins this week. The street work to date, Mr. Collins says, is slightly ahead of schedule.

The total of the contract let to the Olivere Company is between $26,000 and $27,000, awarded under the unit system. The contractors are now working on South Chapel street. They started work at the Pennsylvania railroad and are working north.

The curb and gutter work is probably more than half completed, which is a large portion of the work. The street is to be built to about the Continental Fibre Company's office at a point to join with the work previously done.

After the work on South Chapel street Center street alongside of the new post office building is to be improved.

The indications are that Council will have more funds than was at first anticipated and, if this is true, some curb and gutter work on the east side of Elkton road may also be done this fall.

TREAT WHEAT TO CONTROL SMUT

County Agent Willim Urges Farmers To Be Careful With Seed Wheat This Fall

"All wheat growers should treat their seed this fall to control smut," says County Agent Ed Willim, Jr., in a statement issued recently. "It is very important," continues the statement, "that every farmer should continue to treat for smut until the whole county is rid of this wasteful disease. It has been brought to the Agent's attention that many wheat growers have decided not to treat their seed this fall. They treated their seed last fall in most cases, and few had enough smut to cause their wheat to be graded 'smutty.' Hence the prevalent idea that the seed they sow this fall needs no treating. Many say that their seed is clean. As a matter of fact nearly all seed wheat contains a few grains of this smut fungus and enough of the smut dust spores or seeds will be present on the wheat grains to grow into the disease and make the entire plant diseased if we have a wet cool fall, which retards the growth of the wheat but aids in the germination of the smut spore."

Since the wheat man cannot predict the kind of weather we will have this fall during the seeding season, it is best that he take every available measure to insure a smut free crop next harvest season. To do this he can use any of the copper or mercury dusts on the market in treating the seed he sows this fall. The cost per bushel for treating the wheat is very small compared with the damage he might have to take next year because his wheat goes smutty.

The Extension Agent in New Castle County is continuing to recommend the use of Copper Carbonate, "Copper Carb," and "Ceresan" for this treatment. It can be done at home with a barrel outfit on a rainy day or there are several treating outfits available for the farmer who wants to have it done that way. In either case, whether treated with the home outfit or by a larger cleaning and treating outfit, the rate of application should be two ounces of the dust per bushel, and it should be treated for about five minutes. Shoveling the grain over on the barn floor with the addition of the dust disinfectant during that operation is not recommended, because this does not give a complete covering on all of the grains in the pile and be-

NEWARK POST TO ISSUE HISTORICAL EDITION

The Newark Post is going to take a photograph, in type, of Newark and its surrounding territory. The records of Newark's history are only too short and unconnected. During the next few weeks The Post is going to remedy this condition, by getting the history of every firm and institution in and around the town, to be gathered together in one great Industrial, Agricultural and Historical Review.

Every community is in a state of perpetual change; The Post is endeavoring to make a snapshot of Newark as it is today, that future generations may find today's records with ease. It will be of tremendous value to the historian of twenty or thirty years from now to have such a record.

Let every business and professional man in town have the facts ready and when The Post representative calls on him all the necessary information will be at his finger ends. Also any individual who has authentic data on the history of the town will do us a great favor by allowing us to use it.

ELECT OFFICERS FOR HOME ROOMS

Fire Prevention Week Will Be Observed In Local School, Starting Next Monday, With Special Programs For Several Days

On Tuesday morning, at the home room period in the High School, officers for the respective home rooms were elected. The organization of the home rooms is the beginning of the student participation in school government organization for the Junior-Senior High School. It is the aim of the home room organization to guide pupils educationally and vocationally, to teach the discipline of self-control, to develop individual initiative, to train in parliamentary procedure and to bring about an honest, friendly, and cooperative spirit between the teacher and the pupil.

The home room officers, together with the members of the various committees who make up the departments of the General Association, are the leaders for each respective group in helping to build up class pride and school pride, promote team work and group spirit, as well as serve in the capacity of an administration board for all school activities and social functions.

At the election on Tuesday the president, vice-president and secretary for each home room were elected by secret ballot after the nomination held last week. The following pupils were elected president of their home room for one semester: Eleanor Van-sant, of grade twelve Charles Pies, grade eleven; Bill Meredith, grade ten; Roland Jackson, grade 9; Beatrice Jamison, grade eight-1; Margaret Murray, grade eight-2; Bernard Doordan, grade seven-1; Arthur Huston; grade seven-2; Eric Mayer, grade seven-3.

Fire Prevention Week will be observed in the Newark School during the coming week. For a number of years throughout the country there has been a special week set aside during which time the school pays special attention to the matter of safety in fire prevention. During the coming week the thought of fire prevention will be especially correlated in all grades and subjects.

The Industrial Fire Chiefs' Association of Delaware has offered prizes for the best essays on the subject: "What the School Child Can Do to Prevent Fire and What Should Be Done After the Fire has been Discovered." The prizes are as follows: First prize, $10 in gold; second prize, a fountain pen and pencil; third prize, $5 in gold.

For the best essay submitted by a child under 12 years of age a prize of $2.50 will be awarded. The Association is also offering a special prize of $2.50 for the neatest and most legible essay.

The Association, in announcing these prizes, said: "This contest is held in order that school children may keep in their minds the necessity of preventing fires, which are both costly and dangerous and for this reason this contest is held during Fire Prevention Week."

The Delaware Safety Council is again distributing special lessons in fire prevention, with special application to a survey of the community by the pupils of the school in the interests in safety and fire prevention.

EXTRA SESSION OF LEGISLATURE MAY BE CALLED

Mistake In Inheritance Tax Law It Is Feared Will Lose State Hundreds Of Thousands Of Dollars Unless Legislators Are Called Back To Take Action

UP TO GOVERNOR

Unless the Legislature is called in special session by Governor Buck to remedy the defects, it is feared that Delaware, in the next two years, will lose hundreds of thousands of dollars in inheritance tax, because of a mistake made by the Legislature last winter. Attorney General Reuben Satterthwaite, Jr., who has investigated the matter has given it as his opinion that owing to the mistake of the last Legislature there is now practically no state inheritance tax law. Governor Buck has the matter of calling the Legislature into special session under advisement and may announce his decision in a few days.

Attorneys said they know of no other way in which the law could be revised and made effective.

The defects in the law, it is declared, leaves the State virtually without an enforceable inheritance tax law and will, until removed, make it impossible for the State to obtain its share of inheritance taxes.

Governor Buck has expressed the hope that it will not be necessary to call a special session. He said he has as yet not placed the matter before Attorney General Reuben Satterthwaite, Jr., and the State judges.

Mr. Satterthwaite expressed the unofficial opinion that a special session of the Legislature will be necessary to further amend the law to include a section specifying what property is subject to the levy of inheritance taxes. There is now no such section in the law.

Estates will not profit by the defects, it is declared. The entire inheritance tax, however, will go to the Federal government and none to the State. Thus the State will be the loser of a portion of the tax unless the defects are remedied.

During its sessions early this year the Legislature decided to change the schedule of inheritance taxes. It adopted an amendment to the inheritance tax law.

The first defect is in the title of the amendment amends "Chapter 98" and the body sets forth the amendment as amending "Chapter 6." The amendment amended Chapter 6 and not Chapter 98.

The second defect is said to have come about through a mistake made by one of the attorneys for the Legislature.

The attorney is said to have not been aware that the inheritance tax law had been amended by the 1927 Legislature. The 1927 Legislature adopted a section which set forth

RULES ELKTON MAY CUT TREES

Court Lays Out Procedure in Row Between Council And Foresters

The Circuit Court for Cecil County, which heard the demurrer to the injunction petition of the State Forestry Department of Maryland, to restrain the President and Town Commissioners of Elkton, from cutting and removing certain trees on Church street, handed down its decision, which overrules the demurrer.

Counsel for the town contended that the Town of Elkton, was a municipality, and that the Forestry department had no right to be granted an injunction to restrain the Council from removing trees from along its streets.

The opinion says that whenever the Town wishes to remove a tree along the streets, it must first obtain a permit from the Forestry Department, before it can commence the work, but that if the department should refuse to grant the permit, as requested, the Town Commissioners have the right to sue out a writ of mandamus to compel them to do so. This would result in the Court being called upon to decide whether or not the reason advanced by the Commissioners for the removal of the trees were sound and logical.

The trees on Church street, which the town wishes to remove, it is argued, are unsafe and should be taken out to save the possible loss of life and damage to property. It is also contended that Church street is too narrow for the building of a sidewalk and at the same time allow the trees to stand. The Town had started to lay a concrete pavement along the entire east side of the street, and the work was brought to a standstill on account of the injunction proceedings.

chaplain; and Mrs. Kirk Jones, historian. The Auxiliary is planning for its usual social activities to be held throughout the winter months.

JAMES GIFFORD HANGS HIMSELF

The body of James Gifford, 37, butcher and huckster, living near Calvert, Cecil County, was found hanging by the neck from a rafter in his calf shed near his home late Monday afternoon, by one of his children who was playing nearby.

He had been gone from his home for only about one and one-half hours when the body was found hanging with the feet barely off the floor of the shed.

Mr. Gifford was the son of Joseph Gifford, a farmer, and a brother of Kirk Gifford, former sheriff of Cecil County.

According to officials Mr. Gifford had made other attempts to take his life, and recently, it was said, his father took a pistol away from him, fearing that he would commit suicide. He leaves a wife and several children. Coroner Howard W. Green will hold an inquest.

The quarterly Communion service will be held in the Presbyterian Church next Sunday evening at 7:30, with Sunday School preceding it at 6:45.

On Sunday, October 13, the annual Home-Coming service will be held, an all-day session being planned for this year, with preaching both morning and afternoon, and a lunch served at the church at noon. This is the time when special attention is paid to the cemetery and the fund for its upkeep, and so all interested in the old burying ground are specially urged to be present. There will be special music by the combined senior and junior choirs of the church.

A Letter To Delaware Clergymen

The following letter has been sent to clergymen throughout the State of Delaware by the Du Pont Chapter of the National Sojourners. Incorporated in this letter is material which should be of vital interest to every patriotic citizen of the State and we have the permission of its author, Lieutenant Victor E. Devereaux, to give it publication.—Ed.

"This letter is sent to you in the hope that you will give it the serious, unbiased consideration it deserves, and that you will respond to it in the spirit in which it is written. Addressed to some of the most prominent clergymen in the State of Delaware, it will constitute a survey of opinion upon the subject of Americanism and National Security that will create a powerful check upon the efficacy of the insidious and destructive influence of Communism-Pacifism which is rapidly gaining foothold in the educational and religious institutions of your country and mine.

"You may question the reason for hyphenating the words Communism and Pacifism. I do so because of the definite relationship which is known to exist between the two. Pacifism is an integral part of the communist program which has no other purpose than the destruction of religion, family relations, eternal truths, patriotism, property right, inheritance, law and government, in order that the world may be brought under the sway of its mendacious teachings. Communism and Pacifism go hand in hand, and one cannot be explained without involving the other.

"There is perhaps no question in the minds of most intelligent American citizens of the menace of communism to our ideals and institutions, although they may not know the lengths to which it has gone and to which it will go in order to attain its end. But, I believe, the great majority of us do not realize the part that pacifism plays in promoting the subversive activities of this thing that would destroy civilization.

"When I say that pacifism is an integral part of the communist program, I mean that it is, in general, the tool of socialism, insidiously peddled by paid propagandists of the American Section of the Communist (Third) International. Because related facts are purposely and cleverly so widely separated that a close study of the situation is necessary to determine the connection between communism and pacifism, it readily finds support among the uninformed, in the misguided sentimentalism of women, in a mistaken, though perhaps carefully guided, interpretation of Christianity of many clergymen, and in the inexperience of youth. Through its sentimental appeal for peace, pacifism is centering its efforts against adequate national defense, and says and does many things that are highly pleasing to the communist body. Indirectly obeying, whether unconsciously or otherwise, the dictates of its master, which emanate from the 'Red Square' at Moscow, it fights every military measure for the protection of the nation. It consistently distorts the meaning of the word 'militarism,' and broadcasts propaganda on the 'militarism' and 'imperialism' of America, all of which is intended to completely disarm the nation, and all of which is in line with the openly avowed intention of Soviet Russia to overthrow the government of the United States.

"This movement is carried on, boring from within in the churches, in women's clubs and in schools and colleges, by means of numberless organizations with interlocking directorates. To the initiated these subversive organizations are easily discerned. They operate as national councils for the prevention of war, international leagues for peace and freedom, peace societies and fellowships and unions of every sort. They attack the Constitution of the United States; they maintain lobbies which urge Congress to refuse appropriations for national defense; they carry on 'no more war' campaigns, and promulgate slacker oaths accompanied by absurd misrepresentation. There is no doubt that many well-meaning persons are affected by this slow poison of communism. There is equally no doubt that those fatuous Americans who follow the path so plainly laid out for them are slowly and unerringly pushing to destruction one of the greatest citadels of civilization—the Church.

"National Sojourners do not want war, but we are not pacifists. No sane thinking American citizen wants war. We believe in adequate national defense, but we are not militarists. We want to be prepared, when hot human passions burst their bonds and nations grapple for supremacy, to defend our country, and to save to America those fine ideals and institutions for which our forefathers unselfishly gave their lives and fortunes. We stand unreservedly for God, home and country, and we will bear arms in their defense. I know that you feel likewise, and I hope that you will lend the influence of your opinion and action to the battle being waged by patriotic organizations and individuals against the onslaught of the destructive forces of Communism-Pacifism.

"The President of the War Mothers' Association, those wonderful mothers who willingly gave their sons that the world might become a better place in which to live, has said: 'It had as well be known now as later that as long as a non-resistance policy is advocated and the song of the slacker is heard in the land, and as long as the refrain "Onward Christian Slavers, We're Marching to the Rear" floats back to us and the Socialist-Communist activities continue, the War Mothers' Association will never be demobilized.' To which we, as National Sojourners of the United States of America, say Amen, that these brave American mothers will not have sacrificed in vain.

"I am

Very sincerely yours,
Victor E. Devereaux, 2nd Lieut., Eng.-Res.,
Secretary-Treasurer."

What kinds of property would be subject to the law.

The 1929 amendment struck out all of the law after the first paragraph. The attorney is said to have consulted the 1925 volume of laws and struck out all after the first paragraph. The 1925 law with the 1929 amendment then went to the printers. Thus the law as it now stands does not contain a section which specifies what property is subject to the tax.

Mr. Satterthwaite said that because of the fact a section showing what property is subject to tax is not in the law, he does not see how the State can collect any inheritance tax.

Prosperities can only be enjoyed by those who fear not at all to lose them.—Henry Giles.

cause the dust coming from this open treatment is liable to make the operator sick.

Crothers Brothers, of Mt. Pleasant, and Thomas McWorther, of Middletown, have power machine outfits available for use of the farmers in this campaign to reduce the smut of wheat. George M. D. Hart and Son, of Townsend, have barrel outfits which they are loaning to the farmers of their territory. The dust disinfectant can be purchased from nearly all grain dealers and in some hardware and other stores in New Castle County.

"All grain dealers in the county are pleased with the progress of the smut eradication work," concludes Mr. William, to date, but they hope that all grain growers will continue to treat for smut as long as there is any chance of another outbreak of this disease. When questioned about this project all said that they hoped the County Agent would do all possible to try to get the farmers to continue the treating practice for the growers' own economic good.

TO ASK FOR INCREASE IN FEDERAL AID

The necessity for an increase, to $100,000,000 in the Federal-aid program of the United States Government, for the purpose of speeding up highway construction, was emphasized this week in a survey by the American Motorists' Association, National Body of the Delaware Automobile Association, Eleventh and West streets, Wilmington.

Highlights of the survey show that, taking the country as a whole, traffic on the highways has doubled in the last four and a half years. In some of the eastern, and more populated states, traffic from a mileage standpoint, has doubled in the last three years. Registration of motor vehicles is increasing at the rate of approximately six per cent each year. Motor production in 1928, when 4,357,384 vehicles were produced, increased 29.9 per cent over the previous year. Of the 1928 production only 18 per cent was exported, the remainder being sold in the United States. The net increase in registration last year was 1,359,883 vehicles. To accommodate this increased registration, there were added to the Federal-aid system in the 48 states, but 7,022 miles of improved highway.

The Federal-aid program was launched in 1921. Up to and including 1929 a total of 78,096 miles have been improved in the Federal-aid system. In 1921 the Federal government's contribution towards the cost was 6.9 per cent, while motor car owners contributed 11 per cent. During the present year the Federal government's share of the expense has decreased to less than five per cent, while motor car owners are contributing approximately 40 per cent, the A. M. A. national body of the Delaware Automobile Association points out.

"The total highway costs in 1929, for county, state and Federal roads, will approximate $1,675,000,000, of which the Federal government's share is but seventy-five millions. This should be increased, at the very least, to $100,000,000, which applied to the Federal-aid system, would mean an impetus of 25 per cent in the Federal-aid program," declares J. Borton Weeks, president of the A. M. A.

A brief urging an increase in Federal-aid funds, for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1930, to $100,000,000, and for $125,000,000 for the next three fiscal years thereafter, has been filed with the House Committee on Public Roads and the Senate Post Office and Post Roads Committee by the A. M. A. Affiliated clubs of the A. M. A. have voted to support enactment of the increased appropriation.

SLOW MOVING CARS DANGEROUS TO TRAFFIC

That road creepers often add to the dangers on main highways is explained by Linnaeus L. Hoopes, executive secretary of the Delaware Automobile Association, A. M. A., Wilmington.

According to Mr. Hoopes the motorist who insists upon crawling along, despite the protesting horns, not only adds to the danger of the road, but is doing anything but insuring the protection of himself or any passengers in his car.

Slow-moving cars that block scores of cars behind them merely compel the trapped motorists to take extra chances and create unnecessary highway hazards. The result is that the motorist cutting around the crawling car often is compelled to cut back to this own side of the road at too sharp an angle—and then the crash follows.

Mr. Hoopes further states that the slow driver's car is often damaged by the car racing around it. At times the damage is confined to battered fenders, but there is the possibility of the car being overturned resulting in serious injury to the occupants.

Russia Places Ban On Religion In Its Schools

In connection with the intensified anti-religious agitation which has been a feature of the last year in the Soviet Union, the schools are instructed to direct their teachers along atheistic lines. Before the revolution a certain amount of religious instruction in the doctrines of the Russian Orthodox Church was given in the Russian schools.

The revolution proclaimed the separation of church and state, the icons, or pictures of saints, were removed from the school buildings and religious instruction was stopped. During the first decade after the revolution, however, while religious instruction was forbidden, there was no very strenuous or systematic attempt to inculcate anti-religious ideas. The tendency of the schools was non-religious rather than actively anti-religious.

No Neutral Attitude Allowed

During the last year there has been a marked change in this respect. Anatole Lunacharsky last spring, when he was Commissar for Education, published in the newspaper Pravda an article in which he made it clear that the Soviet authorities would no longer be satisfied with a neutral attitude toward religion on the part of teachers. The teachers, Mr. Lunacharsky declared in this article, would be required on certain occasions to take part in anti-religious meetings, to deliver anti-religious lectures; and any refusal on his part to engage in such activities would be regarded as a serious disqualification for his post. In general, Lunacharsky characterized as anomalous the presence of religious teachers in Soviet schools, and recommended that they be replaced by anti-religious pedagogues as soon as circumstances should make this change possible.

A number of circular letters of instruction issued by educational departments in various Russian cities confirm and make more concrete the recommendations contained in Mr. Lunacharsky's article. Every agency which is calculated to impress young and impressionable minds; books, moving picture performances, lectures and excursions to the anti-religious museums which are springing up in Russia will be employed to attack religion.

So far as actual courses of instruction are concerned, it does not seem that atheism will be made a separate object of study. But the schools will endeavor to impart an anti-religious tone to their instruction in various ways. Thus a purely materialistic conception of the origin of the universe will be emphasized in natural science courses. When history is taught the alleged anti-revolutionary character and influence of various religions will be stressed. Children will be encouraged to prepare anti-religious entertainments and plays, especially on the occasion of such religious holidays as Christmas and Easter.

Orthodox Church Attacked

The anti-religious movement, which is now to be promoted in the schools, makes no discrimination as between various forms of faith. The Russian Orthodox Church is attacked as an agency of the Tsarist Government in the oppression and exploitation of the people. The Baptists, Evangelical Christians and other sectarians are denounced for their alleged connection with religious groups in "capitalist" countries and for their alleged influence on the "kulaks" or richer peasants in the villages. There is equally vigorous propaganda against the Jewish and Muhammadan faiths.

That children are expected to play an important role in spreading atheism throughout the country is evident from the following excerpt from a magazine. Godless, one of several Soviet anti-religious journals.

"At the beginning of the school year it is necessary to convene regional or city conferences of active child-atheists. These conferences must discuss the problem of anti-religious work in the school and in the detachments of Pioneers (the Young Pioneers are the Communist organization for children between the ages of eight and 16). In all schools groups of young atheists and school anti-religious circles must be organized in order to guarantee the full development of this work and its correct political lines it is necessary to develop work for the anti-religious education of the Pioneers,"—Christian Science Monitor.

The peculiar thing is that in the cities, where ordinances and police commissioners hold the speed limit to a low pace, practically every car owner devotes a portion of his time to voicing an indignant protest. Yet, on the country roads, where state laws permits a safe speed of 35 miles an hour, hundreds of motorists refuse to proceed at a speed as fast as is permitted in the cities.

ACCEPTS CHAIRMANSHIP

Honorable George W. K. Forrest, Mayor of Wilmington, has announced his acceptance of the honorary chairmanship for the State of Delaware of the Atwater Kent Foundation, of the purpose of which is to find young singers in this state to participate in the National Radio Audition. Mayor Forrest believes the state will this year be represented in the national finals and will participate in the division of the $25,000 and the ten musical scholarships the Foundation offers ambitious young singers.

Miss Alyce Nichols, of Wilmington, state chairman in charge of the Delaware auditions, is especially enthusiastic over the appointment of Mayor Forrest and the outcome of the local auditions, now taking place throughout the state. The National Radio Audition, this year, she regards as especially attractive to young singers, because of the additional cash awards and scholarships offered. During the first two years of the contest scholarships were given only to those who finished first, second and third in the national finals and there were much smaller cash awards. This year every national finalist will receive a scholarship.

"The idea behind the increase in cash awards and number of scholarships is to give every finalist a chance to pursue further study," said Miss Nichols in discussing the auditions. "Mr. A. Atwater Kent, of Philadelphia, president of the Foundation, has been so impressed with the quality of voice and ambitious spirit of all the finalists with whom he came in contact that he authorized scholarships for all of them this year with sufficient increase in the cash awards to give the young singers freedom from material worry while studying."

IN MEMORIAM

On September 23d, 1929, death invaded our ranks and took as its toll our beloved sister, Nancy Hopkins. Our sympathy goes out to her husband and family in this dark hour of sorrow. May they have an abiding faith in Him who doeth all things well and feel the blessed assurance that the day will come when we will meet in that Beautiful Temple above where there is no parting. We extend to you heartfelt sympathy in this your sad hour of sorrow and in Purify and Love we extend to you and your family our sympathy, and in Fidelity we point to the "Grand Chief of the Universe" who, if we are but faithful to the end we shall all be on equality and shall hear the Grand Ruler of the Universe say, "Well done good and faithful servants, enter thou into the joy of thy God" which is the prayer of her sisters.
Be it resolved: That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family of Sister Hopkins and a copy be spread upon the minutes of the records of Friendship Temple No. 6, Pythian Sisters, and our charter be draped for thirty days.

Blending the Old With the New

Antique and Modern Furnishings Not Necessarily Antagonistic, Says Adeline De Voo

Many, many home makers are asking what to do about the new movement in interior decoration. Is it possible to introduce the modern note into rooms where furnishings are conventional? May one use ultra-modern accessories with period designs. Or must the entire accumulation of older furnishings be scrapped and replaced with new in order to enjoy the modern movement "correctly?"

The room illustrated—one arranged by Adeline DeVoo for an exhibition of the Women Decorators' Club of New York—combines with rare skill, beautiful antique pieces, a modern chair and table, objects of art, and modern draperies. And the result is delightful.

Speaking of this and other settings in which she has used the old with the new, Miss DeVoo says: "It is difficult to put into words a rule that can be used as an unerring guide to success; but it is safe to say this: The way to combine mixed periods, or period and modern pieces, is to see that each piece, each element of decoration, fits in scale, in color, in feeling, in purpose with the general scheme. Then the appointments of the room will be assembled according to the principles of good decoration, and the result must be harmonious, correct."

On the subject of purely modern decoration Miss DeVoo has much to say as the result of her recent stay in Europe. Of the Paris Salon with its rooms and decorative arts she observes:

"On the whole the work seemed much simpler and finer than last year's expression. There was less attempt at making strange, exotic-looking furniture, and a better sense of color was displayed. There was less taupe, gray, bois de rose, and a little more gayety."

"One sitting-dining room planned for a simple house with not much space was quite charming in its directness and utility as well as its color scheme. Walls were pale yellow stucco; the rug a rough druggot in orange, brown, black and white. The window was a great wide one with a twelve-inch shelf giving room for the radiator and cupboards. Its only ornament was a huge rough pottery vase resembling somewhat our Indian ware."

"A low couch built up next to the window was covered with deep orange hand-woven fabric of rough texture, as were also the curtains, which had two broad bands of brown for trimming. Cushions of striped hand-woven material in tones of yellow, orange and brown were thrown at the window end of the couch, and at the other end was a small bookstand of macassar wood."

"In front of the sofa and window was a low square table with smaller sections pulling out from the four sides, instead of from one side like our nests of tables. It made a very comfortable place for four to dine without crowding. On the opposite wall was a long, narrow sideboard, with two wooden shelves in the center and two at the ends of glass. Books were kept in the center section and decorative things on the crystal shelves. Another smart modernistic piece was a low stand like a wardrobe trunk which opened and disclosed little shelves with compartments for bot-ties, a cocktail shaker and smoking things.

"And, curiously reverting to the old 90's, the chief chair in the room was a real Morris type with upholstered back and cushions of the same striped fabric used elsewhere in the scheme!"

GOLF TITLE GOES TO PIE FAMILY

P. F. Jr., And Charles Pie Will Battle For Championship Of Country Club This Week

Paul F. Pie, Jr., and Charles Pie, brothers, will battle for the golf championship of the Newark Country Club on Saturday or Sunday. In the semi-finals of the first sixteen for the club championship played last Saturday, Charles Pie defeated S. H. Stradley 4 and 3, while P. F. Pie, Jr., defeated H. A. Turner, Jr., 1 up in 20 holes.

Paul F. Pie, Sr., father of the two brothers, was also in the fight until the third round play Saturday, September 21, when his youngest son, Charles, by defeating the father, eliminated him.

In the second sixteen on Saturday F. I. Crow defeated Leon Spencer 2 up, while H. C. Souder defeated Dr. Walter Hulten, 5 and 4.

On Saturday the Newark Country Club golf team defeated the Coatesville, Pa., C. C., 10 to 7. Newark had about thirty players ready to enter this match, but when Coatesville arrived they brought but seven players with them.

HIGH PLAYS FIRST GAME SATURDAY

Injuries To Players Makes It Necessary For Coach Gillespie To Develop New Backfield

Coach Gillespie, of the Newark High School football team, is much pleased with the interest that is being shown in the sport at the school this year and the large number of candidates that have reported for practice and are battling for places on the team. He is drilling practically three teams more than 30 candidates having reported.

Newark will open the season on Saturday of this week, when they will have West Nottingham as opponents on the local grounds. The first game of the D. I. A. A. schedule will be with Middletown on Friday of next week, also on the local grounds. The remainder of the schedule follows: October 18, du Pont, away; October 25, Dover, at Dover; November 1, Middletown, at Middletown; November 8, du Pont, at Newark; and November 15, Dover, at Newark. Other games may be added to the schedule.

Despite the bad weather of this week, Coach Gillespie has been working the squad each afternoon, either on the field or giving blackboard talks. He has been spending considerable time in drilling them in the fundamentals of the game, such as carrying the ball, punting, throwing and catching forward passes, etc. There have also been several short scrimmages.

Coach Gillespie, in discussing his team says, with a veteran forward wall his main difficulty is in developing the backfield and the wings. On the eve of the opening game he has not picked his varsity backfield and will not decide on these positions until the day of the game.

His work has been handicapped by injuries to the players. Captain Mayer, "Rip" Smith, Ned McCulley and Rowland Jackson, who were expected to play most of the games in the backfield, are all out at this time with injuries, and will not likely be used until the first league games.

In practice, Barrow has been taken from the line and is being used in the backfield. Dean has been shifted from center to the backfield and Johnson has also been shifted to the backfield. Others who are trying for the backfield are: Smith, Johnson, M. Coverdale and Jack Collins.

The game with West Nottingham, on Saturday, will start at 2:30 o'clock. Coach Gillespie will probably start the following line: Sommermeyer and Willis, ends; Gallagher and McDowell, tackles; Schwartz and Surratt, guards; and Ford, center.

SELLING SEASON TICKETS FOR $5.50

Joe Rothrock, head of the physical education department of the University of Delaware, with the aid of some of the students, is making efforts to dispose of the special annual tickets for athletic events at the university. These tickets are unusually reasonable as they are being sold for $5.50 and are good for all home games in all sports during the entire college year which includes baseball, basketball, swimming, baseball, track, etc.

In football alone the holder could see four home games for which the general admission is $1 a game. These include games with Ursinus, Drexel and Swarthmore games. The basketball schedule will include about nine home games and there will be several home swimming meets, including meets with University of Virginia and William and Mary. All of these could be attended with the annual ticket in addition to next spring's baseball games and track meets.

We always admire the recklessness of the fellow who dares to order a meal in a swell restaurant without looking at the prices on the menu.—Imperial.

FRESHMEN FACTOR ON U. OF D. TEAM

Coach Zeigler Will Likely Start Five Or Six First Year Boys Against Rutgers

While rainy weather has greatly handicapped football practice at the University of Delaware this week, Coach Zeigler has his squad in fairly good shape for the opening game of the season with Rutgers, at New Brunswick, N. J., on Saturday.

In Rutgers the Blue and Gold has an exceptionally strong opponent for the first game. Rutgers last Saturday defeated Providence, 17 to 0. The New Jersey College has an unusually heavy team and it is said the line will average nearly 200 pounds to the man.

Coach Zeigler, judging from the practice and scrimmages to date, is going to depend a great deal this season on his freshmen candidates and it is likely that five to six first year boys will be started in the game against Rutgers. Zeigler is apparently building for the future, and although every candidate will be judged on his merits and what he shows in practice, yet it happens that there is an unusually large amount of promising material in the entering class, especially as to the line.

Captain "Ace" Taylor, who despite the fact that he has been handicapped by boils since preliminary practice started, is showing remarkable form and promises to even be better than last year. In scrimmages to date, Taylor has shown the most punch of any of the backfield men. Dave Loveland, a back with considerable experience, because of injuries may not be able to get into the first game.

Coach Zeigler may decide on Taylor at full back, Ross, a freshman, and Tunnell, of last year's scrubs, at half back, and Squillace, at quarter, to start against Rutgers, although he has made no announcement as yet as to the possible line-up.

Johnny Kane, who has shifted from tackle to end, with Sloane, will likely be the ends in the opener. This will be Sloane's initial game with the varsity, as he was not eligible last year, being a transfer at that time from P. M. C. Henning and Mudron, both freshmen will likely be the starting tackles with A. Walker, another freshman and Benson at guard positions and Staats at center.

Delaware's first home game will be October 12 with Ursinus.

CHALMERS HIGH SCORER IN FIRST VARSITY GAME

On Saturday last George Chalmers, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Chalmers of this place, and former football star of Newark High and Tome School, played his first game of varsity football, holding down the position of right halfback on the University of Maryland team in the game against Washington College, of Chestertown.

"Shorty" was high scorer of the game, making two touchdowns and scoring two points after touchdowns on drop kicks. The final score was 34 to 7, in favor of Maryland.

Washington College scored first. The Washington Star account of the game contains the following:

"Taking the ball on their own 30-yard line, with Miller, Chalmers and Settino doing most of the ball toting, they marched to a touchdown. Chalmers made the touchdown and kicked goal, and the count was deadlocked." "Chalmers got the second score in the next quarter after the Old Liners had marched 44 yards despite being set back 18 yards on a penalty. He failed to kick goal and the half ended, 13 to 7."

"In addition to the good running of Miller, Settino and Chalmers, Berger and May did some skillful pass catching."

Next Saturday Maryland will play North Carolina at College Park. Last Year North Carolina defeated Maryland 26 to 19. A writer in the Washington Star says that this year North Carolina is far better in virtually every department of play than last year.

RURAL ROADS IMPROVE

Low cost paved highways for rural districts are becoming increasingly common, as the new agricultural era develops. Production of road oils and asphalt has steadily increased over a period of a few years.

To the modern farmer, good roads are as important as they are to his city neighbor. Economical surfaces with low maintenance cost and excellent wearing and driving qualities, have proven a boon to rural America.

Unfortunately, international reform is more exciting than personal reform; if it wasn't we might get somewhere.—Imperial.

Leading in the Automobile Salvage Business

HAS LARGEST BUSINESS IN STATE OF DELAWARE

The Ploener Auto Salvage Company, of which Mr. David P. Ploener is the proprietor, is leading the State in the automobile salvage business.

Mr. D. Ploener's plant is located over Market street bridge in Wilmington, 520 South Market street, it being on the old causeway, which is now a real gateway to Wilmington from the du Pont Boulevard.

It matters not what you may want for a car, the chances are all in your favor that you can get it quickly and at a low price at Ploeners. The rear of your car, no matter what make of car, may go bad. You can without a doubt get what you need. Perhaps it may be only a small nut of a certain shape or size, but the chances are good that you will be directed to a car of your model and from which you can secure just what you want. It is not necessary to dwell on the saving to be made as this fact is well known all over the State.

You can get a tire, that will give you miles of service, or perhaps you only want a tube. No matter what you want if it is a replacement of an old or broken automobile part try Ploener's.

Automobiles like people reach an age where they are not fit to use as a conveyance; it is then the time to have a talk with Ploener. You will find here the best deal that you can get on your old bus.

H. F. McCall SECRETARY OF CLEARING HOUSE

The Wilmington Clearing House Association, which is composed of nine of the leading banks and trust companies of that city, met Monday at noon at the Equitable Trust Company offices for its annual meeting. Howard F. McCall, cashier of the Central National Bank, was elected secretary for the ensuing year, to succeed W. N. Ralston, whose term of office expired.

The association expressed hearty approval of the revival of the Wilmington Chapter of the American Institution of Banking, which will begin its course of instruction this evening at the Wilmington High School. Courses in Commercial Law and Fundamentals of Banking will be given by the Institution, and are open to all of the personnel of any bank of the city.

The course of Fundamentals of Banking will be taught on each Thursday evening, from 7:30 to 9 o'clock, under the supervision of Paul Lovett, and the class in commercial law will be held on Monday evenings.

BLUE HEN TEA ROOM

Usually, says Mrs. Reynolds of the Blue Hen Tea Room, only the tender hearts of celery are served. These are separated, taken in the fingers by the leafy ends and eaten with salt. Olives and nuts are eaten from the fingers.

A club sandwich is a complete meal, containing chicken, bacon, salad and dressing. It is cut with knife and fork and the cut portions are eaten with the fork, held in the right hand.

Apples, pears and peaches are peeled and cut into quarters. There is much in favor of the European way of eating these fruits, which abroad are never taken into the hand. The apple, pear or peach is held on the prongs of the fork and pared with knife. Then it is cut on the plate and cut portions eaten from the fork. Canteloupes are scooped out, bite by bite, and eaten with a melon spoon.

Best Lock Official

C. C. MacNUTT

Secretary and treasurer of the Best Lock Corporation of Delaware, which has its home at 908 Orange street, Wilmington. Not only is Mr. MacNutt one of the heaviest stockholders in the company, but next to Frank E. Best, inventor of the Best Lock system, and president of the company, he has the longest service of any of the officials. Mr. MacNutt has been one of the prime movers in establishing the Best Lock Corporation of Delaware.

ACTIVE CAREER FOR BEST LOCK OFFICIAL

One of the most active officials of the Best Lock Corporation of Delaware, with executive offices at 903 Orange street, Wilmington, is C. C. MacNutt, secretary-treasurer of the company and sales manager of its securities. A native of Boston, Mr. MacNutt moved to Nova Scotia and later to the Pacific Northwest where he engaged in business. He saw service as a lieutenant with the Fourth Division during the World War, seeing nineteen months of service overseas and receiving wounds twice in the Argonne drive.

After the war, he returned to the Northwest and took a course of study and application in electrical machinery in the government vocational school. Later, he took a position as city salesman for the C. Kirk Hillman Company, one of the largest electrical dealers in the Northwest. During his career with this company, he had full charge of dismantling and selling the equipment of one of the shipyards which was built and fully equipped during the war.

Mr. MacNutt saw opportunity in the then very young Best Lock Company and became associated with Frank E. Best, its inventor. He is one of the heaviest stockholders in the corporation and has been very active in its development. Mr. MacNutt came to Wilmington with Mr. Best and five other: a year ago and was a prime mover with them in establishment of the Best Lock Corporation of Delaware. This company has bought the factory and all assets of the Best Universal Lock Company, of Seattle, Wash., and will continue to operate that as its western factory. In the meantime, the officers are laying their plans to establish a factory in or near Wilmington, which will be the home office.

Mr. MacNutt is interested in civic affairs. He is a member of the Masonic order, the Veterans of Foreign Wars and sings in the Orpheus Club as well as Grace M. E. Church choir.

RECORD SUMMER FOR MUNDORFF, BOTTLER

Despite the advent of cooler weather, the business of the Orange Crush Bottling Company, at Thirtieth and Market streets, Wilmington, of which Harry A. Mundorff is the president, continues very good. In addition to the regular flavors carried by him, Mr. Mundorff now bottles Golden Orange Crush, which is made from fresh fruit, and ginger ale in quart bottles. The latter beverage is in response to a wide demand for this healthful drink in a large size bottle. Mr. Mundorff stated that the past summer was one of the best in the history of the company, having resulted not only in a large increase in sales but also in the acquisition of many new customers.

IMPORTANT AWARDS FOR CANN BROTHERS

Contract was awarded to Cann Brothers and Kindig, Twelfth and Washington streets, Wilmington, last week for the printing of 2,000 sample cards for a local leather manufacturer. Forty-eight samples of various grades of leather will be attached.

These folders will be used at the Show Manufacturers Convention, which will be held in New York City next month.

In addition to this award, the company is printing 100,000 pieces of matter, which will be addressed and mailed for a Wilmington company. Eleven thousand broadsides, in two colors, portraying wood resin are being printed for the Hercules Powder Company.

Cann Brothers have also received a multigraphing order for 30,000 pieces of matter for a furniture establishment, and will print besides, 5,000 booklets for a bank on "Getting the Most Out of Life Insurance." It is in colors and consists of 20 pages. The latter concern has also ordered 3,000 special policy folders.

William M. Cann, president of the company, left last Friday night with the American Legion to attend the annual convention in Louisville, while there, Mr. Cann will make several side trips in connection with business matters.

KILL PEACH TREE BORERS

The article on killing peach tree borers by E. B. Morrow, which appeared in the October 1 issue of "The Southern Planter," should be of interest to everyone growing peach trees. In this article Mr. Morrow states:

"Kill the peach tree borer by applying a dose of paradichlorobenzene. This chemical has a long name, but it does the work much more effectively than a man can do it with a knife and wire. It gives off a vapor heavier than air which is poisonous to insects but not to man and animals."

"Use three-quarters of an ounce per tree on trees four and five years old and one ounce on trees six years and above. Injury may occur to the bark and trunk if used on trees under four years of age. On trees under four years of age the borers should be dug out with a knife and wire."

"In most parts of the South the material should be applied during the last days of September or the first week in October. Remove all grass and trash and level the soil around the base of the tree. Then apply the material about one and one-half inches from the trunk in a continuous band about one and one-half inches wide. If the crystals are allowed to touch the tree, injury may occur to the bark and trunk. Cover the material with several shovels full of soil, mounding the soil up around the tree trunk."

"To avoid any possibility of the paradichlorobenzene injuring the trees, tearing down the mounds five or six weeks after making the application."

We applaud the effort and the art when a woman of forty tries to make herself look like a girl of twenty, but no one is fooled.—Imperial.

FAIRHILL ROAD IN MARYLAND IS NOW OPEN

Opening Of This Stretch Will Provide More Direct Route for Autoists Enroute to Con-owingo, Baltimore And Washington

HELP TO NEWARK

Opening of the new concrete road from Appleton to Fairhill, Md., last week, will greatly increase automobile traffic through Newark, especially by persons traveling between New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington. Although the road was only opened on Thursday and consequently many autoists do not know it as yet, there has already been a noticeable increase in traffic. There seems no doubt but what it will bring some additional business to Newark.

Delaware has had a modern road to the Maryland line over what is known as the Old Telegraph Road for some years but owing to the fact that the three mile stretch between Appleton and the Delaware line and Fairhill has been practically impassable for automobiles, this highway has been used little if any by persons traveling in machines between the cities mentioned.

Efforts have been made for years to get the Maryland highway authorities to build the three mile stretch but it was not until this past summer that the work was actually started. It had been rumored that some Maryland officials were opposing the building of the Appleton-Fairhill stretch until the bridge across the Susquehanna river at Perryville had been paid for by toll charges. It is understood that the bridge is now paid for, so that argument may have been what caused the delay in building the road all these years.

Now that the new stretch of road has been built it gives autoists a much more direct route not only to Baltimore and Washington, but also for the hundreds who visit Conowingo Dam weekly. Up until this time those persons desiring to go to Conowingo had either to go around by Elkton or Jennersville to avoid the bad piece of road between Appleton and Fairhill.

The route over the Telegraph Road is not only a more direct one to Baltimore and Washington, but it is now improved road all the way and has the additional advantage of passing through two towns, Rising Sun and Bel Air. It also takes the traveler over a beautiful piece of country and right past the famous dam on the Susquehanna river.

There seems no doubt that in the future hundreds of autoists traveling between the Southern and Northern cities and also those from Baltimore and Washington enroute to Atlantic City and other seashore resorts will use the Telegraph Road instead of the Glasgow-Elkton Road, as it is much more direct and does not pass through so many good sized towns.

THE BOOK AVALANCHE

In Spring and Autumn new books pour from the publishing houses in greatest quantity. Autumn is likely to run ahead because of the approaching Christmas. Whatever records the publishers have made in the past are being broken this year. There is a veritable avalanche of books, with more than 200 volumes a week coming on the desks of the critical supplements and periodicals. Nor does this number adequately picture the situation in its entirety, for a few works in science and education, and few children's books, ever reach the editors. The winnowing is going on apace. The steady increase in the number of pages of The New York Times Book Review gives some indication of the magnitude of the task.

Broadly speaking, the several types of books remain in about the same proportion from one season to another. It is the desire of every publishing house to keep its list as well balanced as possible. Yet, obviously, perfect balance is never achieved. This year fiction, always the largest of the book classes, is in greater quantity than ever. Biography continues to bulk large. On the other hand, there is this Autumn a falling off in the output of poetry, as there was last Spring. In the absence of actual figures, however, it is possible that the poets are keeping pace with the annual average if their production for 1928 be excluded. Last year was unusual not only for the total amount of poetry published but also for the amount of poetry of high excellence that appeared. The quality of this Autumn's fiction seems unusually high, on the whole. There is an increase in war novels and, a healthy sign of broadening taste, an increase in the number of novels translated from foreign tongues.

Whether the making of so many books is merely indicative of a tendency to follow the high-pressure methods of modern business in general, or is evidence of widespread interest in books and reading, time alone will tell. It is the contention of those in the business today that the latent demand for books has never been appreciated, and that the supplying of that demand has scarcely begun. If this is so, the future appears very bright, not only for the publishers themselves, but also for the authors and the public that they serve.—N. Y. Times.

COOLIDGE ON THE RAILROADS

"I think the future outlook of affairs is very encouraging," said former President Coolidge recently, in speaking of our national problems, "and one of the reasons for that is the confidence that the railroads have in their future prosperity. That is due in part to the encouragement they received from the decision in the O'Fallon case."

"That made it evident that they were to have a fair consideration in the treatment they were to receive from the government. The railroads are so important an industry in this country that when they are prosperous they carry prosperity to many other allied industries. They are a basic industry, almost as basic as agriculture and manufacturing."

No man knows more of the economic structure of this nation than Mr. Coolidge. We live in an age where transportation is not only necessary to agriculture and industry but is their very life-blood. The farm, the factory and the home are all dependent, directly and indirectly, on the railroads.

The fact that so far this year the lines have come nearer to earning adequate profits than in the past, is encouraging. And if the signs point truly and we are coming into a new era of railroad prosperity, every citizen in every walk and occupation of life, will feel the beneficial influence.

REDUCES FIRE WASTE

Teaching carefulness in regard to fire is a never-ending job, in the opinion of C. A. Ludlum, of the National Fire Waste Council.

"It seems to be necessary," he says, "if any impression is to be made, to create, if possible, a habit of caution and carefulness on the part of the individual citizen by constant reiteration and preaching of fire prevention."

"It is admitted and recognized that all fire losses are in the final analysis paid by society and that every fire loss accordingly represents a real loss to society, but the average individual is not much concerned over the final analysis from which he feels himself quite remote."

"Building to resist fire is as important as is the teaching of carefulness, and it should be apparent that all organizations interested in America's fire-safety and the conservation of its created resources should sponsor a safe and sane construction program that would reflect credit upon community intelligence, and combine their resources and informed knowledge to bring about greater fire resistance in buildings."

WHY WE ARE "GRINGOES"

The word "gringo," as applied to Americans by Mexicans, is believed to have originated from an incident in the Mexican War. When the United States troops invaded the country they sang Burns' "Green Grow the Rushes, O." The Mexicans called the invaders by the first two words, which they pronounced "grin go."

It would be easy to find good jobs for a lot of $4,500 men if they didn't have their minds set on $10,000 salaries.—Imperial.

THE OLD BOHEMIA CHURCH

Field Mass at Old Bohemia Church will be held Sunday, October 6. The public is cordially invited.

The annual field Mass at St. Francis Xavier's Church, better known as Old Bohemia, recalls many interesting facts about this earliest center of Catholicity on the Eastern Shore of Maryland. It was founded by Father Thomas Mansell, a Jesuit Father, in the year 1704, and was the earliest Catholic foundation in the English colonies outside of the Jesuit establishments in lower Maryland, in Charles and St. Mary's counties; it preceded the introduction of the faith into the province of Pennsylvania, and it is not unlikely that one of the priests residing at Bohemia occasionally visited the scattered Catholics of Chester County before Father Creation built Old St. Josephs in Philadelphia in 1733; it is the oldest, and, for many years was the only Mission on the Eastern Shore in the present Diocese of Wilmington. Consequently from Old Bohemia, the Jesuit Fathers emerged to establish Missions, Churches and schools in Delaware and Pennsylvania.

Bohemia Manor was the immense tract of land in Cecil county, Maryland, that was granted to Augustine Herman; but the name Bohemia was also locally and generally applied to the Catholic Church and residence of the Jesuit Fathers, and their property was known as Bohemia Manor. The true title of the church is St. Francis Xavier, and the original tract of land was named St. Xaverius. It is situated at the Little Bohemia creek, at a short distance from the village of Warwick in Cecil county, and the nearest railroad station is Middletown, Delaware. Bohemia two hundred and twenty-five years ago offered inducements which no doubt influenced Father Mansell to select it as a center of missionary enterprise, Bohemia Landing, which was not far from where the church was built, was then an important trading post, where supplies direct from Europe could be received and tobacco shipped in return, and the Delaware Path or Highway was an artery of traffic between the two bays; in fact, as the old geographies used to say, in praising the site of a town, Bohemia was "accessible both by land and by water."

At Old Bohemia the Jesuits founded a college which was attended by such famous men as Charles Carrol of Carrollton, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, by his cousin, John Carrol, the first Bishop of Baltimore and the United States, and by many others. This college was opened in 1745 by the Rev. Thomas Poulton, S. J., who is buried with four other pioneer Jesuits in the plot surrounded by boxwood at the rear of the church. This college was the original Georgetown University and continued until the present one was founded in the year 1790 in Washington, D. C., when Bohemia was abandoned by the Jesuits as a college site. An attempt, however, was made to revive it under other auspices in 1795 when the Sulpician Fathers from St. Mary's Seminary in Baltimore took charge of Bohemia. The Rev. Ambrose Marechal, subsequently third Bishop of Baltimore, was the regular pastor in residence, with occasional interruptions, during the whole time of the Sulpician occupation. Here they hoped to found a preparatory seminary for ecclesiastical students but, after four years trial, abandoned the project and returned to Baltimore. The Jesuits again identified with Bohemia and remained there until 1899 when the Rev. John A. Daly was appointed by the Rev. John J. Monaghan, becoming therefore, the first secular priest to become pastor of this historic church. Father Daly remained there a little over two years and was succeeded by the Rev. Charles P. McGoldrick, who was in charge about two and a half years. On January 11th, 1904, the Rev. Charles A. Crowley became pastor and in the course of time transferred his residence to Middletown, which is now the parish church of the people of the Bohemia Mission. In April of this year Father Crowley was made pastor of St. Peter's Church in New Castle, Delaware, and the Rev. John H. Walsh, the present pastor, now takes care of Middletown with Old Bohemia included.

MAKING BOXES STRONG

Laboratories of the United States Forest Service have recently found that boxes made with boards in which there is a small percentage of knots are more resistant to rough handling than those made with clear lumber. Boxes nailed when dry, it was also found, are stronger than when the wood used is moist.

KNOTS IN WHITE PINE NOW IN DEMAND

Fashion has brought about a strange change in the fortunes of the common white pine. Where once it was the smooth, easily-worked grain of its soft white wood that accounted for its popularity, now the knottiest the giants once abundant in Maine planing mill. This is due to the craze for early American furniture, which, as the Colonists disregarded the knots and left them in prominent places in their handiwork, must imitate the old pieces even in their imperfections.

The white pine has been so much sought after by the lumberman that the giants once abundant in Maine and Vermont have entirely disappeared, and old trees are hard to find anywhere south of Canada. It has become established as one of the most valuable of North American timber trees. In the past the part of the tree that was poor, discolored and knotty was either thrown away or used in packing boxes. Now the plank that the builder rejected has become the front of the cornice.

The fountain-head of the knotty pine industry is said to be an ancient pine-paneled room in the American wing of the Metropolitan Museum of Art. To this display have come many visitors whose purpose it is to analyze the effect and find some way of reproducing it with new materials. The visits are followed by experiments, trying out different types of boards and stains, and waxes for rubbing to get the gleam of old age. The pine-paneled effect is now found in many new Colonial-style country houses and even in city offices.

Architects' advisors from the factories of paint and varnish manufacturers have also studied at the Museum, and there has appeared on the market a stain called "knotty white pine" with full directions for "antiquing" the boards. It is used mostly by professionals, but amateurs occasionally try it.

The New York planing mill is ready to serve the amateur woodworker in the matter of knotty white pine. One needs only to present figures on the size of the boards wanted, and the material is delivered, sawed and sandpapered. The foreman knows what is wanted—good, firm knots that will not fall out, medium-sized and distributed symmetrically—and he has boards set aside in a grade named for its knots.

At the end of the month the mere job of writing the checks takes so long that a man often wonders how his family found time to do all the shopping.—Imperial.
