American Association of University Women, at its regular meeting last Tuesday night, and Mrs. Jerry A. Nelson, chairman of the AAUW ed-ucation committee, complimented the district for library improve-ments made in the past year. It was pointed out, however, that 'many steps' are still to be taken if dis-trict libraries are to meet standards set forth in 1960 by the American Libraries Association. In other action, the school board agreed to provide local funds for the education program for children with vision and hearing defects. This program, which provides individual utoring to enable handicapped stu-dents to continue in a regular school program, had been supported by the division of child development and guidance. Stato Department of Public Instruction, but because of budget limitations, the division dis-continued this service in the New-ark schools. In Public Schools Reported By Shue

Superintendent Wilmer E. Shue today announced enrollment for the Newark special school district as of Sept 11. With students still enrolling, fig-tures are expected to show slight increases by the end of the month. The district has a total of 7,011 students enrolled in 11 schools. Of these, 4,010 are in the elementary, and 2,911 in the secondary schools. A total of 90 is enrolled in the district's special education classes at all levels. The district total shows an in-
