MUSICAL PROGRAM AT D. A. R. MEETING

Delegates To State Session
Elected; $25
For Soldiers

A musical program was presented on Saturday at the December meeting of Cooch's Bridge Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, held at the home of Mrs. Robert J. Boyd, Old Oak Road.

Arranged by the music committee, consisting of Mrs. Henry Wilson, Mrs. Holton, Miss Frances Wilson, and Mrs. Lanier, the following program was presented:

Trumpet solo, "Holy Night" by Richard Cobb; reading, "Christmas Carols," by Jacqueline Ernest; chorus, "Christmas Carols," by Robert Kirkwood Chapter, Children of the American Revolution; violin solos, Nancy Green; vocal solos, Catherine Gibbs. Accompanists were Miss Evelyn Ritterson, Miss Frances Wilson, and Mrs. Holton.

The business meeting was presided over by Mrs. J. Irvin Dayett, vice regent, in the absence of Mrs. Glenn S. Skinner, regent. Several contributions were voted by the chapter, one to the Mayor's Committee which is preparing Christmas gifts for Newark's men in service. Mrs. Boyd represents the chapter on this committee.

Twenty-five dollars will be sent to the "Save-a-Child" organization, headed by ex-Governor Allen, of Kansas, which helps to provide nurseries for orphan children or children of working mothers in England. A contribution of $25 was also voted to the Student Loan Fund, and donations for Ellis Island received by Mrs. McKinsey.

CASTAGNA CONCERT ENJOYED

Metropolitan Contralto First
On Program

Members of the Newark Community Concert Association were provided with a most agreeable program last Thursday evening by the Metropolitan contralto, Bruna Castagna. The program was the first of a series of three to be sponsored by the Association during the coming year. The audience reaction indicated approval of Miss Castagna's singing and her choice of selections.

In her first group of songs one may have especially noted the rather unusual rendition of Handel's "Where're you Walk." The soloist imposed a certain type of freedom on this work which is more often heard in a rather restrained manner.

The opera groups from Carmen and from Samson and Delilah revealed Miss Castagna's ability in a most impressive way. Here one sensed the dramatic nature of the soloist. Each aria abounded in a variety of vocal coloring—all in keeping with the word content of the arias.

The final group of songs in English was a pleasant surprise in that each word could be clearly understood. Mr. Tarrasch, the accompanist of the evening, played admirably. His solos contributed to the enjoyment of the program.

Closing the year with sixty-six members, the largest enrollment since reorganization five years ago, the chamber reviewed an eventful and progressive twelve months of community activities.

A nominating committee to select candidates for four vacancies on the Board of Directors was named by Mr. McClintock as follows: Dr. Geo. W. Rhodes, chairman, H. L. Bonham, J. K. Johnston, Weldon Waples and Geo. M. Haney. Four directors will be chosen at the annual meeting to succeed M. Pilnick, J. K. Johnston, W. S. Hamilton and Samuel Handloff whose terms expire on December 31.

The annual dinner and election will be held at the Newark Country Club on the evening of Thursday, January 8, with R. T. Ware, Geo. M. Haney, Alfred Deek and Meyer Pilnick composing the committee on arrangements.

A discussion of lodging quarters provided for overnight transients at the local jail resulted in the appointment of Alfred Deek, Geo. M. Haney and Weldon Waples on a committee to investigate the possibilities of creating a fund for providing more comfortable lodging for forty overnight transients such as soldiers, C.C.C. boys, etc.

Contributions of $25 each were authorized to the Mayor's Committee, which is providing Christmas packages for all Newark men in service, and the Flower Hospital Committee.

HOSPITAL FUNDS ARE NEEDED

Institution
Marks Fifteenth Anniversary

Gaining momentum daily, the campaign for funds in observance of the fifteenth anniversary of the Flower Hospital is progressing nicely and responses are beginning to be received.

Progress is slow, the committee points out, and they are especially anxious of concluding the drive before Christmas. A further appeal is made to all firms, organizations and individuals of Newark who have not yet done so, to contribute to this campaign.

Funds are used to help defray costs of maintaining the Flower Hospital, Newark's one and only institution of its kind. All checks should be made out and sent to D. A. McClintock, treasurer, at the National Vulcanized Fibre Co., Newark plant.

Other supplies, such as surgical dressings, linens, canned foods, etc., are also requested—these should be delivered directly to the Flower Hospital.

Miss Mary Ford, co-founder and present owner of the institution, has done a commendable job of operating the hospital for the past two years. No campaign was necessary during 1940 and the deficiency this year is a great deal less than in previous years.

MANY AT HOMECOMING SERVICES

Former Residents Of Stanton Are Present

Stanton, Dec. 10 — The Homecoming services at the Stanton Methodist Church Sunday were well attended. Many visitors and former residents of Stanton returned to worship at the church they had formerly attended. Holy Communion was observed at the morning service, after which the Rev. Frank O. Baynard, pastor, spoke on "Taking Christ from the Cross".

At the afternoon service the Rev. Oliver J. Collins, district superintendent of the Wilmington Conference, spoke, and there was a special musical program.

At the evening service, Rev. Baynard spoke on the subject—"Christ Among the Common Things of Life". Officers of the Methodist Youth Fellowship and Mrs. Paul Peach, sponsor of that group, were guests at the fellowship dinner of the Newport group on Saturday evening.

Pupils of the seventh and eighth grades of the Stanton School presented a "Delaware Day" program at the school on Thursday during their club period.

Class Pals will be revealed and gifts exchanged among the members this evening at the annual Christmas party of the Young Women's Class of Stanton Methodist Church. The party will be held at the home of the president, Mrs. Eleanor Trivitt, with Mrs. Lillian Wilkin, vice-president, serving as assistant to the hostess.

Miss Ruth Steele, a member of the Forest Oak 4-H Club, who won a trip to Chicago with 4-H members, through her canning achievements, returned home on Saturday.

Residents and business people of Stanton who are daily being inconvenienced because of the fact the White Clay Creek Bridge is still closed, are now becoming impatient. For the past two weeks, residents report there has been little or no progress made. While the concrete bridge is now in place, concrete railings are yet to be placed along the sides, but residents are still being compelled to drive miles around a detour. This is a 120 ft. span, and is being erected by J. A. Bader Co. The residents are asking that the bridge be opened to them—at least for the travel of the mail truck and school buses which must make several trips a day. Residents plan to contact Governor Bacon to see if this request can be granted.

The Forest Oak 4-H Club met Friday evening at the home of Betty Jane Abbott in Stanton. There were 14 members present. The girls enjoyed their Christmas party, and presented Mrs. Irvin Steele, their leader, with a leather er handbag. Miss Lora Little, assistant leader, was presented with a leather keychain. The next meeting of the club will be on Jan. 9th at the home of Elizabeth Zabenko, at which time members must select their individual projects for the ensuing year.

At the meeting of the Women's Society of Christian Service on Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Sue Smith, officers were elected, as follows—President, Mrs. William Vanamon; vice president, Mrs. Calver Talley; secretary, Mrs. Mary Abbott; treasurer, Mrs. Sue Smith. The society will hold a calendar party on Jan. 14th.

AMERICA AT WAR

A completely united and determined America is solidly behind President Roosevelt in his expressed determination to make very certain that the United States will never again be endangered by such treachery as was employed by Japanese bombers which attacked United States island territories in the Pacific Ocean at dawn Sunday morning, December 7, 1941, "a date that will live in infamy."

Striking back with unprecedented speed, the President asked and Congress declared a state of war existing with the Empire of Japan all within some fifty minutes—there being but one dissenting vote in both houses and that of Miss Jeanette Rankin, Congresswoman from Montana.

Although taken unaware by the surprise attack even while peace negotiations were being carried on in Washington and suffering severe damages and loss of life, the people and armed forces of this Republic have responded quickly and nobly to the emergency and will consider no effort, no cost or no sacrifice too great a compensation for the achievement of full, final American victory.

Residents of the nation, the state and this community are urged to rapidly make every preparation to answer wartime measures. Volunteers for observation, home guard duties, Red Cross work and other branches of service are needed. The purchase of Defense Bonds and Stamps will aid in maintaining the gigantic program of preparedness which will now be greatly accelerated throughout the land.

America is at war—the world is embroiled in a conflict of proportions never before equalled—the United States is involved in a death struggle with a treacherous, murderous, barbaric foe that must and shall be demolished, defeated and eliminated at any cost.

SERVICE RECORDS AVAILABLE

Information May Be Obtained From Local Boards

According to Gen. William Berl, Jr., state director of selective service, information concerning registrants, except certain data specifically defined by law as confidential, is a matter of public record and is available to any person making a legitimate inquiry provided its production does not interfere with the orderly functioning of the selective service system.

However, neither a registrant nor anyone except authorized officials may search or handle selective service records, he emphasized. Information must be obtained through oral consultation at local board offices.

Confidential and nonconfidential data concerning registrants, he pointed out, is specifically defined by selective service regulations. He quoted:

"All records pertaining to the physical condition of a registrant, and all answers on his questionnaire under the subject 'dependency', except names and addresses of claimed dependents, and to the questions on previous military service, shall be confidential and shall not be disclosed without the consent of the registrant, except as otherwise provided. The fact that a claim for deferment has been made on grounds of dependency or physical unfitness, and the classification of a registrant, are not confidential."

"Without limiting any other rights he may have, a registrant shall be entitled to know of all entries on his own record, including his questionnaire and record of physical examinations. He shall be further entitled to know of all statements and allegations which form part of his record."

The regulations, General Berl asserted, limit inspection of confidential records to selective service officials, who have to deal with classification of particular registrants, United States attorneys and their duly authorized representatives, or other duly authorized public officials. Confidential records, he said, may be produced in court in response to subpoenas or summons, without the consent of the registrant only in cases involving his prosecution or of persons in collusion with the registrant or in behalf of the government in suits or claims against it "arising out of the executive acts in the performance of which such records are compiled."

With regard to nonconfidential information, he pointed out that the regulations state: "All other records shall be available for public information, provided inquiries do not interfere with the dispatch of business," and stipulate that: "Neither a registrant nor anyone else, shall be entitled to search or handle the records. It shall be the duty of the custodian to read, and, if necessary, point out the information

John B. Doyle, aged 32 years, died suddenly about six-thirty Tuesday morning, at his home on Chapel Street. Mr. Doyle, for many years an employee of the American Vulcanized Fibre Company, had not been well, and unable to work for some time. He was, however, able to be about, and his death came as a shock to his family. He was on the porch of his home, when the family heard him fall, and hurrying to his assistance, found him unconscious.

Requiem high mass will be held in the St. John's R. C. Church on Friday, December fifteenth at nine o'clock. Interment in the Catholic Cemetery.

A wife and two daughters, Alice Doyle Adams of Wilmington, and Mary Doyle Press of Newark, survive.

BOOKS FOR THE CHILD

It would be a simple matter to select a book for the pre-school child if there was a fixed rule; but, unfortunately, there is none for any age. Generally, a child in this group does not enjoy fairy tales, alphabet and number books. Fairy tales create a problem because they introduce characters that do not live to a child who is desperately trying to understand his present surroundings. Reading is now taught by the recognition of whole words and not letters; numbers are taught when needed.

The baby's first book is one with pictures of something known in everyday life. The illustrations should be large and clear enough to give a true impression of the object. The dime stores have many books about familiar animals, trains, boats and airplanes. "The First Picture Book" by Mary Martin contains photographs of common things like a mug of milk, shoes, stockings and a bed.

Soon the child will need more than pictures to satisfy him; he will want with his illustrations some rhymes or very short tales about everyday things. Even though many of the rhymes make no sense, he will enjoy the rhythm and continual repetition. Mother Goose books are easy to secure at any price. Stories of the here and now fascinate the child at this stage more than we adults can understand. Tales about children eating and dressing by themselves hold his interest. Other subjects about which he likes to hear are: the pets in the house, the telephone, the sewing machine, the policeman, the fire engine. Here is a list of books in which the pictures are supplemented by rhyme or story:

"Angus and the Ducks," by Marjorie Flack; "The Farmer in the Dell," by Berta and Elmer Hader; "Things That Go," by Mary Phillips; "This Little Pig," by Helen and Alf Evers; "The Christ Child," by Maude and Miska Petersham; "My Blue Book," by Reed and Lee.

By the time the child is four, although he still enjoys pictures, his interest in the story predominates. He still likes stories of his immediate experience—the family dog, the activities of another child his age, the working of the steam shovel down the street, the story of rain and snow. The following books illustrate a prevailing interest in story.

"Here and Now Story Book," by Lucy Mitchell; "Told under the Blue Umbrella," "Told under the Green Umbrella," "Queenie, the Story of a Cow," by Helen Orton; "Winnie—the-Pooh," by A. A. Milne; "Arabella and Araminta Stories," by Gertrude Smith; "Millions of Cats," by Wanda Gag; "The Little Engine That Could," by W. Piper.

By no means are these lists of books for the pre-school child complete, but are merely suggestions. Choose any book which is right for his present stage of development.

FORTUNE IN LICENSES

It is now possible for a person at a busy intersection to see within an hour fortunes in a metal more precious than gold, silver, copper, lead or zinc. H. V. Daniel, Secretary, Associated Petroleum Industries of Delaware, declared today.

"The supply and current value of essential metals is a subject of more than passing interest," Mr. Daniel stated. "However, the metal having the greatest annual worth in the United States is that metal used to produce the 32,000,000 motor vehicle license plates required. These plates have a value ranging from $10 to $20 a pound. In some states truck license plates are worth their weight in gold.

"American motor vehicle owners pay annually approximately $475,000,000 for license plates, an amount in excess of the combined value of all the gold, silver, copper, lead and zinc produced in this country. This is remarkable when it is taken into consideration that all mining operations in the United States are now at the highest peak of many years."

"Staggering as this sum may appear, it is a little more than a third of the amount of gasoline taxes paid each year by motor vehicle owners. This sum is approximately $1,300,000,000 exceeding by a generous margin the value of all metallic products mined in the United States during the past ten years."

IF THAT FAMILIAR OLD OGRE, mid year examinations, doesn't raise his ugly head and take his usual toll, the University of Delaware cagers should fare right well on the basketball court this winter.

Although still plenty rough around the edges, the boys conducted themselves very well in the practice bout against Hercules on Saturday and despite the limited experienced material, Coach Emery Adkins, armed with his double pivot system, can be expected to develop a formidable quintet—if examinations at the end of the first semester don't prove too tough.

Three freshmen, "Buck" Thompson, Barney Runcie, and Ray Smith, stand out among the crop of recruits, and all three of them conducted themselves in fine style against the Hercules combination. Thompson, who was an outstanding grid performer at a flank post, is especially dangerous under the basket, both offensively and defensively, while Runcie, although handicapped by a lack of size, has speed and an excellent eye. Smith, another reserve end for Bill Murray's undefeated eleven, appears to be distinctly a team player and can be counted upon to turn in some dependable performances.

Although ragged in spots against Hercules, the Hens rolled up more than 50 points while the invaders were garnering less than 20, but the faults evident in the skirmish should prove easy to correct by the time the opener rolls around with Pennsylvania Military College on Dec. 17.

CREDITED WITH STAGING ONE of the most interesting and exciting grid contests ever witnessed in Wilmington Park, George Veneroso's Clippers and the Paterson Panthers will tangle again on Sunday in an American Association play-off.

Hopes of seeing a duplicate performance of the game played two weeks ago plus the fact that the victor will meet the winner of the Long Island-Jersey City conflict for the championship, is expected to bring a record crowd out for the encounter.

Criticized from all sides when the newly-installed "T" formation failed to function and ignoring the abuse of Wilmington's fickle sporting crowd, Veneroso stuck to his helm and has since justified the confidence of his bosses by steering the Clippers over a long, rough course into the playoff berth.

WILMINGTON'S ATTACK, STEADILY gaining momentum, reached a peak against Paterson when the two teams staged their last skirmish and the final score, 28-21 in favor of the home clan, is enough evidence that sports followers went away more than satisfied.

Announcement has been made that the play-off battle will get under way at 2:05 o'clock. In their last engagement, the Clippers topped George Cafego, all-American back at Tennessee for two years, and the Dixie League's Richmond Arrows, 17-0.

CRANFIELD AT STATE TOMORROW

Noted Cue Star
To Exhibit At Local Parlor

Arthur E. (Babe) Cranfield, noted cue performer, will perform at Jimmy Martin's State Parlor, tomorrow night at seven o'clock. He will be matched with a local player after which he will give a display of fancy and trick shots. Admission is free.

Running a dozen balls or more at the age of seven, making clusters of twenty and more before he had entered the grammar grades in school, Cranfield was raised on a billiard table in his father's ivory emporium.

In 1933 he won the junior championship at pocket billiards, while yet in knee pants, and went on to the world's amateur championship in 1938, still in his teens. In quest of professional championship, glory, "Babe" has been a member of the National Billiard Program for four years. He has met and defeated practically all of the leading pocket billiard players of the country in his home town of Syracuse, N. Y.

In July, 1938, he made a high run of 210 balls on a 5 x 10 table. "Babe" also plays fair three cushion billiards—and shoots way down low in the 70's in golf.

Plays To Be Presented By Christiana Students

"Christmas Eve at Home" will be presented by members of grades five and six at the Christiana School. Those who will take part are: Delena Amoroso, Joan Reynolds, William Reese, Virginia Cleaver, Dorothy Keeley, Richard Lambert, and Betty Musser.

The seventh grade will give a play entitled, "Through the Proud World Scorns." Those who will take part are: Annabelle Laws, Ramona Harst, Cora Baker, Elva Edwards, Francis Davis, and Robert Abrams.

Pupils of the school are collecting toys to distribute at Christmas. Baskets are also being made up.

To Appear At Academy

Erwin Rudolph

ERWIN RUDOLPH, WORLD'S CHAMPION CUE WIELDER TO APPEAR AT ACADEMY

Erwin Rudolph, four-time winner of the pocket billiard championship of the world and present holder of the title which he captured in Philadelphia recently, will stage an exhibition at Bunny Walters' Newark Billiard Academy, Friday evening at nine o'clock. He is the holder of the highest run ever made in an exhibition.

The veteran Cleveland cue expert set the world's mark in a match at Great Falls, S. C., in 1935 when he achieved the astounding string of 277 points in a single inning. The performance has never been equaled.

Prolonged runs are hardly a novelty so far as Rudolph is concerned. One of the real veterans of the game, he has run 200 points or more on ten occasions, 150 or more 28 times, and 100 or more over 300 times. He has engaged in more than 3,000 exhibition contests.

Born in Cleveland in 1893 of Bohemian descent, Rudolph started playing pocket billiards at the tender age of 16. Two years later, as a professional, he was the Ohio state champion and in 1920 entered his first world's championship competition. Rated as one of the greatest position players in the world, his conception of shots is amazing. Rudolph has the reputation of finding more seemingly impossible shots than any other top-flight star. An ardent devotee of outdoor life, he, when not on tour, spends all of his spare time in hunting, fishing, and playing golf.

LACK OF HEIGHT MAY HANDICAP JACKETS

Squad To Start Working Out Monday; J. V.'s Promising

By Olly Williams

Stymied by a lack of height, as in last year's case and by the absence of a number of lettermen, Coach Bill Gillespie's Newark High School basketball proteges will have hard going again this season.

Only six veterans, "Lefty" Riley, George Schaan, Wally Dunsmore, Harry Morrow, Herb Slack, and Joe Moore, remain in the varsity ranks, but even these men, despite their experience, will be handicapped by the fact that they will, in all probability, be called upon to face taller interscholastic opponents this year. With the exception of Riley, who tops 6 feet, the squad averages just over 5 feet, 8 inches. This is not an unfamiliar impediment to the Jackets, however, for last year's average was only 5 feet, 9 1/2 inches, while the 1939-40 figure was just 5 feet, 10.

"N" possessors who have graduated include Jim Duffy, Ken Barnes, and Bill Balling. The former is now serving in the U. S. Navy, while Barnes and Please Turn To Page—7

BLUE AND GOLD CAGERS SLATED TO OPEN SLATE AGAINST P. M. C., DEC. 17

Pleased with the showing made by his charges in a practice tilt with Hercules on Saturday, Coach Emery Adkins continues to drill the University of Delaware cagers in preparations for their opening clash with Pennsylvania Military College here on Wednesday, Dec. 17.

Using the double pivot system of attack, the Hens rolled up more than 50 points against the Hercules combination which proved able to garner less than 20. Ragged passing slowed down the Blue and Gold offensive which clicked spasmodically, however, and during the second half brought field tosses almost at will.

Conditioning will play a big part in the Blue and Gold campaign this year for the Hens are slated to invade the Wilmington Army for their second game of the season with West Chester State Teachers' College. Originally scheduled to entertain the Teachers in Taylor Gymnasium, the Wilmington engagement is considered the Pennsylvanians' home game, and the second battle between the two schools, originally slated for West Chester, will be played here on January 12.

Adkins' charges will see action only twice prior to the Christmas holidays and their first test, P. M. C., is expected to prove a tough one. Washington College, scheduled for a Newark game on Jan. 10, is the first game on the books following the holiday recess.

Despite the fact that only limited experienced material is available, the squad is rounding into good shape and the exhibition staged last week gave promise of a successful season.

Many faults were evident in the tussle with the Industrial League representatives, but the performance was good, considering the limited practice the squad has had, and Delaware will probably be represented by a more formidable quintet than the 1940 combination.

Forming the nucleus for the 1941-1942 team will be three lettermen, Capt. Freddie Mitchell, Conrad Sadowski, and George Barlow, while several members of last year's squad and a few promising freshmen are also expected to represent the Blue and Gold.
