Newark H. S. Fails To Regain D.I.I.A.A. Title From Laurel

Laurel's Powerful Machine Takes Game. 14 to 0, Newark Badly Outweighed, Wages Great Fight

2500 ATTEND

Laurel's mighty football team, chanting veni, vidi, vici as a defeated but unhumiliated squad of High School boys from Newark left the Dover Ball Park last Thursday. Newark, light, inexperienced, with nothing but straight football and boundless courage, had failed to regain the D. I. A. A. championship, which it had lost last year to the same team, but it had held Laurel's ponderous machine to but two touchdowns. The final score was 14 to 0.

Laurel, with practically the same line-up which took the championship from Newark last year for the first time in the history of the D. I. A. A., was heavier, faster and smoother than last year. Captain Pollit, whose great run won last year's game, led the attack and scored one of two touchdowns. West scored the other. Marvel, Laurel's giant roving tackle, kicked both extra points with beautiful drop-kicks.

Newark played a game, which for sheer courage was unmatchable. Outweighed 30 pounds to a man, and out-matched in football skill, it checked the big Laurel team time and again, and at times threw it back for a loss. Newark's only chance for

Dr. Silver Lectures Tonight In Wolf Hall

Noted Rabbi to Talk On "Jewish" Influences On Civilization Public Invited

Dr. A. H. Silver, of Cleveland, Ohio, will give a lecture in Wolf Hall this evening on "Jewish Influences on Civilization." This is the third of a series of four lectures planned for this fall on Jewish Life and Culture, by noted Jewish scholars.

There are few Jewish leaders in the country more qualified to discuss this subject than Dr. Silver. He is one of the outstanding rabbis of the country and an orator of great reputation, sometimes being compared to Rabbi Wise in this respect. He is a scholar and much interested in education. Dr. Silver is a member of the Board of Governors of the Hebrew Union College and Commissioner of Jewish Education of America. He is also vice-president of the Zionist Organization of America.

The lecture is scheduled for 8 o'clock and the public is invited to hear Dr. Silver. The final lecture of the series will be given Wednesday evening, December 7, and the speaker will be Dr. Hourwich, of New York City, the editor of the Memorabilia magazine.

POULTRY SHOW OPENS

With 508 birds exhibited, the Tri-State Poultry Association opened the largest show it has ever held, in the Armory, Monday. Due to a delay in the arrival of the cages, the birds were not arranged so that they could be judged yesterday. The judging is taking place today. The judges stated that the Rhode Island Red class was the finest that they had ever judged.

There is planned an illustrated lecture for tonight by Dr. Kent, of the Quaker Oats Company.

CLUB SUPPER

The annual supper and bazaar of the Newark New Century Club will be held tomorrow, Thursday evening. The bazaar will open at three-thirty; the supper hours will be from five-thirty until eight o'clock. The affair is in charge of the Ways and Means Committee. Mrs. George Rhodes, chairman. Mrs. Philip Myers is chairman of the supper; Mrs. Houghton, of the fancy work; Mrs. Ray Baldwin, of candy, and Mrs. Emerson Johnson, of cake.

Horticultural Show

The forty-first annual meeting of the Peninsula Horticultural Society will be held in Berlin, Maryland, December 15 and 16. This announcement has been made to the members of the Society and the public by Acting County Agent Ed Willim, Jr. Dr. J. F. Adams, Plant Pathologist of the University of Delaware and the State Board of Agriculture is secretary of this Society.

According to the information received from Dr. Adams by the Acting County Agent, a program of interesting and instructive talks is being arranged. Plans are also being made for a large commercial exhibit. The committee in charge hope to have the largest exhibit of the best fruit and vegetables grown on the peninsula at the meeting. The exhibit of fruit and vegetables, according to the Secretary, depends upon the participation of each orchardist and vegetable grower on the peninsula. By showing these things the actual visible results of the fruit grower's skill will be presented to other growers as well as the public. A special feature of the meeting will be reminiscences of the early days of the Society by some of the charter members and "Old Timers." It should be worthwhile to hear this part of the program and learn what the experiences of the members were forty years ago.

The meetings of the society will be held at the Globe Theatre, corner of Main and Bay streets, while the commercial and other exhibits will be shown at the Mitchell-Parker Garage on South Main street. Accommodations can be secured at the Atlantic or Hastings Hotel in Berlin.

The officers of the Association are: Henry L. Harrison, President, Berlin, Md.; Herbert Richardson, Vice-President, Wyoming, Del.; W. Lee Allen, Treasurer, Salisbury, Md.; and Dr. J. F. Adams, Secretary. Any questions relative to the program or meetings should be addressed to the latter at Newark, Box 45.

COLLEGE MEN ATTEND EDUCATIONAL MEETINGS

Dr. Walter Hüllihen spent Friday and Saturday at Atlantic City, where he attended a meeting of the American Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

Dean C. A. McCue and C. R. Runk, of the Agricultural Department of the University have returned from Chicago, where they attended the National Agronomy and Soil Survey meetings. Mr. Runk spent two weeks in the West, visiting Illinois, Purdue and Ohio State Universities.

Dr. Eastman, Dr. Townsend, Mr. Runk, Mr. Gilligan, Mr. George Baker and Mr. Myers attended the dedication exercises of the new chemistry building of the University of Maryland at College Park last Saturday. Mr. Myers gave a talk on "Some Factors Affecting the Jellation of Pectin Solutions," at the section meeting of the American Chemical Society.

A. D. Cobb is attending the Annual National Conference of Boys' and Girls' Clubs and the International Livestock Show and Exhibit of Hay and Grain at Chicago this week. Before his return home, Mr. Cobb will spend a few days at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Cobb, at Aurora, Indiana.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Coney spent Saturday in New York City, where Mr. Coney attended the meeting of Eastern College Librarians at Columbia University.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Whiteman, of near Newark, entertained a number of their friends on Sunday in honor of the fourth anniversary of their wedding. Their guests were: Mrs. Margaret Whiteman, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Cochran, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Whiteman, John Cochran, Sarah Cochran, Dorothy Cochran, Raymond Benson, Raymond Cochran, Theresa Cochran and Thomas Cochran, all of Newark; Mrs. Laura Currier, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Cochran, of New Castle; Mr. and Mrs. E. Spencer Cochran, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fritz, Jr., Billy Whiteman, Myrtle Whiteman and E. Young, of Newport.

BOARD MEETING

Mrs. C. O. Houghton, president of the Visiting Nurse's Association of this town, has called a meeting of the board at her home for Monday evening, December 5, at 7 o'clock sharp. Reports of prospective contributions for the year 1928 will be discussed.

Notice

All property holders of Newark abutting on the new sanitary sewer system are to take note that the new sanitary sewer system is now ready, and it is requested that all properties used as residences, adjacent to, and abutting on the same, have connections made as well as permits must be secured at the office of the Town Council.

GOVERNOR ROBINSON AT NEWPORT CORN SHOW

Donates and Awards Sweepstakes Cup for Greatest Number of Ribbons Won

The Newport Grange Corn and Home Products Show was held in Newport Monday night. Acting County and Club Agent Ed Willim, Jr., judged the farm products exhibit, and Mrs. M. M. Daugherty placed the women's articles. About 40 members and visitors were present. Governor and Mrs. Robinson are enthusiastic members of this group.

The competition was open to everyone and many outside of the Delaware Grange exhibited in the many classes. Following the judging Mrs. Daugherty and the County Agent gave short talks on the judging of the products exhibited.

Governor Robinson donated and presented the sweepstakes cup to Mrs. W. E. Cranston for having won the greatest number of ribbons in the show.

The following list gives the articles exhibited and prizes won in the women's section:

PARTY

A large group of friends attended a party given Ellis Cullen at his home on Choate street, on Saturday night. The evening was spent in playing games; after which refreshments were served. Those present were:

SON OF LOCAL MAN ON ARMY FOOTBALL SQUAD

Mr. H. E. Fletcher, Newark Manager of the Gas Company, attended the Army-Navy football game in New York, Saturday. Mr. Fletcher's son, G. E. Fletcher, a second year man at West Point, was on the bench in uniform as first string substitute for right end. This is young Fletcher's second year on the first squad, and while he didn't get into Saturday's game, he would have been first choice if a casualty had occurred on the right wing.

GETS MAIL CONTRACT

J. Frank Elliott was the successful bidder for mail messenger service between the railroad stations and the post office in Newark. His contract is effective December 1. He succeeds Otto Widdoes.

Henry Ford Gives Details Of New Car

Specifications Announced Today Of New Gear Shift Car; Public Reception At Fader's Friday

After six months of "saying nothing but sawing wood," Henry Ford today announced the specifications of the new Ford car which succeeds his famous Model T. A bare listing of those specifications presents a picture of an automobile that in performance appearance and mechanical features has heretofore been associated with a considerably higher price class.

Unusual speed and acceleration are among the outstanding features of the new car. It is announced as being able to make 55 to 60 miles an hour, with ease. In recent tests it has made even more without difficulty. What is more important, it is stated that when traveling at such speeds, it holds the road easily, and with comfort to driver and passengers. It is also stated with equal positiveness, however, that it performs in an equally spectacular manner on bad roads. In its design, Mr. Ford has held to his original idea of a car which can meet all conditions and types of roads.

Farm Bureau Holds First Fall Meeting

Will Hold Annual Meeting January 9th, Members Attend Milk Producers Meeting

The first fall meeting of the New Castle County Farm Bureau Executive Committee was held Saturday afternoon, November 26, in the office of the Acting County Agent, Ed Willim, Jr. The following members were present: H. C. Milliken, President; H. Wallace Cook, Secretary; J. D. Reynolds, Frank F. Yearley, Ed Willim, Jr., and G. M. Worrlow.

The committee members present selected January 19, 1928, as the date of the annual meeting. Wilmington was decided on as the place of holding the meeting. The building in which the meeting is to be held will be announced later by the President.

Mr. Milliken and the Secretary were appointed a special committee to arrange the program for the meeting and secure the speakers. It was decided at the Saturday meeting to secure a speaker who is versed on the national as well as state and county farm bureau activities.

Acting County and Club Agent Ed Willim, Jr., requested the executive committee to purchase 4-H achievement pins to be awarded to club members completing the work this fall. This was approved and the Agent in- (Continued from Page 10.)

FIRE DESTROYS HOUSE

On Sunday morning fire destroyed the home of Henry Mason, on the Hares Corner road. The fire was discovered in the chimney about three o'clock in the morning and the Christians Fire Company responded to the call, apparently extinguishing it. The fire broke out again shortly after six o'clock, during Mr. Mason's absence, and before it was discovered had gained too much headway to be controlled before the house had been entirely burned. The Christians and New Castle Fire Companies responded to the second alarm and prevented the flames from reaching the barn and outbuildings.

LIBRARY COMMITTEE TO INCREASE SERVICE

The Library Committee of the Newark New Century Club, with the cooperation of the club members, has made plans whereby the Town Library reading room will be open and books may be exchanged every evening of the week, except Sunday, from seven until ten o'clock. The trial will be made for two weeks and if there should be sufficient patronage to warrant its continuance, the plan will be carried on through the winter. The usual daytime hours will be continued.

MISS KEEGAN LEAVES NEWARK

Miss Ford and Miss Keegan, of the Flower Hospital, have dissolved partnership, and the business is now entirely in the hands of Miss Ford. Miss Keegan will live in Wilmington.

Glee Club Concert

The Delaware College Glee Club, which has been organized this year by Professor George M. Berry, of the English Department of the University, will give its initial concert in Wolf Hall, Friday evening, December 9th, at 8 o'clock, in Wolf Hall.

The Club has been practicing two evenings each week since the opening of school and is prepared to give a splendid program. The playing of Miss Blanche Van Ness Fisher, pianist, a graduate of the College of Fine Arts, of Syracuse University, will be an added attraction on the program. The program follows:

Prayer of Thanksgiving (Ancient Folk-Song of the Netherlands)—Kremser.

Kyrie at Sea—Durrner.

Suebian Folk-Song—Brahms.

Integer Vitae—Flemming. The Delaware College Glee Club.

32 Variations in C minor—Beethoven. Miss Fisher.

Good Night—Berwald. The Delaware College Glee Club.

Alma Mater. The Glee Club and Audience.

NORMAN ANGELL SPEAKS TO DELAWARE STUDENTS

British Publicist Lectures On "What's Happening In Europe of Interest To America"

Norman Angell, famed British publicist, was the speaker at "College Hour," held in Wolf Hall at 11 o'clock this morning. His subject was "What's Happening In Europe of Interest to America."

Ranked by critics on both sides of the Atlantic among the greatest of pamphleteers, perhaps the greatest since Swift, Mr. Angell is a unique figure in the field of political and economic literature, having made into best sellers, books dealing with politics and economics, usually deemed to be dry and abstruse subjects. "The Great Illusion" alone has sold over half a million copies, and has been translated into twenty-five languages.

Mr. Angell's first lecture tour in this country was made under the auspices of the Carnegie Endowment and he then lectured at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Columbia and Johns Hopkins Universities. In Europe Mr. Angell has lectured at practically all the British universities, including Oxford, Cambridge as well as the Sorbonne and the Universities of Berlin, Amsterdam and Heidelberg.

DANCE

On New Year's Eve Mincola Council No. 17, D. of P., will give a novelty dance, in the armory. Dancing from 9 to 12.

A Day's Journey With the Visiting Nurse

Historic Flag Will Return to Delaware

Delaware Militia Colors, Captured In 1777, Purchased and Will Be On Exhibit In Wilmington

A flag of the Delaware Militia, captured by the British in 1777, just prior to the Battle of the Brandywine, was purchased last Friday, in London, by Dr. A. S. W. Rosenbach, of Philadelphia, who was acting for the Historical Society of Delaware. The sale was at auction.

With the flag, Dr. Rosenbach also purchased thirty-nine autographed letters written by Colonel W. Dansey to his mother while on service in America between 1775 and 1783. The flag, together with drums and baggage, was captured by troops commanded by Colonel Dansey, then a captain. The capture is described in one of the letters.

The purchase price was $850 (about $4,250), but, according to Colonel George A. Elliott, president of the Historical Society, this price will be increased to almost $5,000, including commissions and other incidentals, before the flag is ready for delivery.

The flag, considered a real "find" by Colonel Elliott and other members of the society, is of green silk with seven red and six white stripes, in a corner in which are the colors of the Delaware Militia. The flag, together with the letters, will be brought to Wilmington and will be placed on permanent exhibition in the cases and stands now being prepared for the collection at the Old Town Hall.

CONFIRMATION SERVICE

A very beautiful and impressive service was held at St. John's R. C. Church on Sunday morning, when a class of twenty-one was confirmed by Bishop Edmond J. Fitzmaurice. Other priests of the diocese who were present were: Reverend John J. Bolen, chancellor of the diocese; Reverend P. A. Brennan, pastor of the church, and Reverends Tucker, James J. Lynch, James F. Earner, Charles Crowley and James M. Grant.

The class was prepared for confirmation by the Ursuline Sisters of the Ursuline Academy, of Wilmington.

STUDENTS TO ATTEND NATIONAL CONFERENCE

James E. Wilson, president of the Student Council of Delaware College, and Miss Geneva Lobach, president of the Student Self-Government Association of Women's College, will represent the University of Delaware at the annual meeting of the National Student Federation Association which will be held at the University of Nebraska, Lincoln, Nebraska, from December 12 to December 15.

POSTPONED MEETING

Anchor Lodge, No. 4, A. O. U. W., will meet tomorrow evening in their lodge room. The regular meeting falling on Thanksgiving night, it was postponed until this week.

University of Delaware Poultry Plant

The following information about the University of Delaware Poultry Plant was prepared by Mr. A. E. Tomhave and Mr. C. W. Mumford, who have charge of the plant. It is given here in order that those who do not have an opportunity to visit the plant may know something about its size, and management, and the type of experiments that are being conducted. These experiments are being conducted for the information and benefit of the poultrymen of Delaware.

Experiments

The experimental projects under way at present are as follows:

1. A study of the utilization of soy beans for laying pullets.
2. A study of the utilization of soy beans for growing chicks.
3. A study of the all-mash method of feeding laying pullets and old hens.
4. Confinement of laying pullets without supplying succulent green food in ration.
5. A study of the value of alfalfa leaves in the ration of layers.
6. Improvement of the Station flock through breeding and trapnest records.

Lands

The plant consists of six acres. The location is ideal as to exposure. The soil is a fertile silt loam, rather heavy, but fairly well drained on account of its rolling surface. About three and one half acres are used for permanent buildings and range. The remainder is used for movable brooder houses and rearing range. By means of alternating runs a growth of alfalfa is kept on the entire plant.

Buildings

The permanent buildings consist of a shed roof laying house 20 ft. x 220 ft. with 10 pens 20 ft. x 20 ft., and a 40 ft. x 20 ft. feed room and incubator in the center; one shed roof laying house 20 ft. x 60 ft., divided into 3 pens 20 ft. x 20 ft.; one permanent brooder house 14 ft. x 60 ft. with 4 brooder pens each 10 ft. x 14 ft.; 5 movable 10 ft. x 12 ft. brooder houses, and two 10 ft. x 12 ft. manure sheds.

The 20 x 220 laying house has a north and south range, the ranges being used alternately as an aid to sanitation. The 20 x 60 laying house has only a front yard 60 ft. x 80 ft., which is divided into 20 ft. x 20 ft. run for each pen.

Twice each year the pens are given a thorough cleaning and disinfecting. This is done by sweeping out the pens, and then soaking them with a coal tar preparation, allowing them to dry, and again sweeping them and spraying them with the coal tar preparation. Each piece of equipment in the pen is movable, and is taken out, cleaned and disinfected at this time.

Mature Stock

The mature stock at present consists of 400 old hens, 20 males and 1015 pullets. The present housing capacity allows for about 1300 laying birds to be carried throughout the year.

While the kind and method of feeding is usually governed by experimental and research work, the birds are, as a rule, fed in a manner and a ration which is applicable to average poultry flocks. At the present time birds not used for experimental feeding are being fed the following ration:

Dry Mash—100 lbs. ground whole yellow corn; 100 lbs. pure wheat bran; 100 lbs. flour wheat middlings; 75 lbs. alfalfa leaf meal; 75 lbs. meat scraps (55%); 25 lbs. dried buttermilk (30%); 25 lbs. steamed bone meal; 20 lbs. limestone flour; 3 lbs. table salt.

Grain—Whole yellow corn 200, wheat 100.

Drink—Water.

Grit and oyster shell.

Daily Routine

Daylight—Warm water in fountains. 6 a. m.—Germinated oats, 2 to 4 pounds to each 100 birds, depending on production. 8 a. m.—Fresh mash in hoppers. 10:30 a. m.—Moist mash, 3 to 4 pounds to each 100 birds, depending on production. No moist mash is fed as long as birds are laying 50 per cent or over. Moist mash fed in the mash hoppers on top of dry mash. 11:30 a. m.—Fresh water. 3:30 p. m.—Fresh water. 4:00 p. m.—Grain in mash hoppers on top of mash. Eight to fourteen pounds of grain fed each 100 layers, depending on the condition of the birds.

One hundred seventy birds are being trapped and yearly records kept on their production. Artificial lights are used in some of the pullet pens. All the birds with the exception of 300 breeders are used for experimental and research purposes. Eight hundred fifty of the 1015 pullets are used in experimental feeding projects.

Young Stock

With an incubator capacity of 3000 eggs most of the chicks are hatched during March and April. The eggs from the trapnested birds are pedigree hatched. During the past seven years the fertility has averaged about 90 per cent and the hatchability about 65 per cent. The mortality this spring was 7.1 per cent during the first eight weeks.

The earliest chicks are started in the 14 x 60 permanent brooder house and later moved to movable colony houses. Many of the later chicks are placed in the colony houses at the start. Coal burning colony brooders are used for most of the chicks. A few later hatched are brooded with oil burners.

Unfortunately the range available is so limited that it is necessary to brood the chicks on the same ground year after year. Since 1922 six to eight hundred pullets have been matured each year on the same range of approximately 1½ acres. In spite of the limited range available mortality has been kept low and the pullets have gone into the laying houses in good condition.

The past year the chicks were put in the brooder houses when 50 to 60 hours old. As soon as they were placed under the hover they received mash and lukewarm water. The mash and water was kept constantly before them from that time on. The chicks were fed the following mash mixture throughout the growing season:

300 lbs. ground yellow corn
100 lbs. pure wheat bran
100 lbs. flour wheat middlings
100 lbs. meat scraps (55%)
40 lbs. dried buttermilk
20 lbs. alfalfa leaf meal
12 lbs. steamed bone meal
7 lbs. table salt.

No grain was fed until chicks were 10 to 12 weeks old.

When the chicks were 10 to 12 weeks old an evening feeding (2 parts whole corn and 1 part wheat) was given. The amount of grain fed was based upon the rate of maturing of the chicks. In the case of slow maturing chicks the grain was fed sparingly, but if the birds were maturing too rapidly the amount of grain was increased to equal half the weight of the mash consumed. The early hatched pullets are fed very heavily with grain for about 3 weeks before being placed in the laying house.

DELAWARE CITIZENS ASSN. SEEKING 1,000 MEMBERS

The Delaware Citizens Association is waging an intensive drive to increase its membership to 1,000 men and women interested in the advancement of education in the respective communities before the end of the year. Organized scarcely more than two months ago to succeed the Service Citizens, Inc., which disbanded with the expiration of its charter, the body has grown to a membership of 500.

Mrs. A. D. Warner is chairman of the membership committee. It is expected that a personal solicitation for new members will be carried on. A movement is now afoot to take a reel of all work done in the public schools, and then to be shown in motion pictures.

The Delaware Journal, now issued under the auspices of the Delaware Citizens Association, is a continuation of "The Delaware P-T. A." It will aid in the program of adult education as well as in other activities.

"Hard work is the friend of the soul, the guardian angel of the conscience, medicine for the body, and protection against all sorts of temptation."

CONGRESSIONAL MEDAL A RARE DECORATION

The Congressional Medal of Honor, the highest decoration of the United States Government, awarded for conspicuous gallantry in action with the enemy, has been won considerably less than 2,000 times in sixty-five years, according to recent reports from the War Department.

To Corporal John C. Hesse and Sergeant Major Joseph K. Wilson of the Eighth Infantry went the honor of receiving the first medals, although the decorations were later rescinded because their gallantry did not take place in action.

At the beginning of the Civil War the Eighth Infantry was in Texas, scattered in small detachments along the Indian frontier. Confederate forces in overwhelming numbers had taken control of the State, and resistance on the part of a single Federal regiment was so futile that General Marshall Twigg, the department commander, ordered the troops to avoid resistance and to leave the State by way of the coast.

Company C of the Eighth Infantry, with the regimental colors in its possession, made an effort to reach the coast, but its plans were frustrated when it found itself surrounded in San Antonio by a larger force of Confederates demanding its surrender.

Tradition among soldiers dictates that the colors of the regiment are never surrendered. Corporal Hesse and Sergeant Major Wilson, who were to be exchanged as prisoners, took the tattered colors from the staff as well as the American flag the regiment had carried, and wrapped them around their bodies. They passed successfully through the Confederate lines and made their way to Washington without giving up their secret. For three weeks they traveled without daring to remove their clothing. Their arrival in Washington on May 26, 1861, became a State occasion. They were ushered into the presence of President Lincoln and turned over their colors to the Chief Executive.

The next year, when Congress authorized the decoration of the Medal of Honor, these two men of the Eighth Infantry were given the first two awards. Between 1862 and 1898 about 1,400 of these medals were awarded. The war with Spain yielded but twenty-six, and the World War produced eighty-nine Medal of Honor men.—N. Y. Times.

ELKTON M. E. CHURCH

The Evangelistic Campaign in the Elkton M. E. Church, W. G. Harris, pastor, will continue as follows: Thursday evening will be Fraternity Night.

Friday evening Young People and High School Night.

Saturday night will be an evening of Pageantry and Tableaus.

Sunday morning at 11:00 o'clock and evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Sunday School at 9:45 a. m. Everyone invited to enjoy our school.

Epworth League promptly at 6:45 p. m. This service can only last one-half hour because of the Evangelistic Campaign.

Services every night in the week except Monday night.

The Gleaners will meet at the parsonage on Monday evening.

The Willing Workers will serve dinner Monday evening to the Modern Woodmen, in the Church House.

The Girl Scouts will meet Monday evening at the Church House.

Charged with running down A. C. Dorsey, an employee on the high tension line being run from the Conowingo dam to Philadelphia, along the road near Rising Sun, and failing to stop and render aid, Edward Goad, of upper Cecil County, has been arrested and lodged in Elkton jail. Dorsey has been removed to Delaware Hospital Wilmington, suffering with a painful injury to his leg. It is alleged that Goad was intoxicated when he struck Dorsey.

William Raymond Singleton, of near Harrisville, given a hearing before an Elkton magistrate, on a charge of operating an automobile intoxicated, was fined $178.90 Friday.

The Hytheham Club of Port Deposit, has engaged Miss Jessie L. Snow, Secretary of the League of Nations on Non-Partisanship Associations, to speak at a public meeting of the Club, Tuesday afternoon December 6.

The November meeting of the Cecil County Farmers' Club was entertained Friday, at the homestead of Mr. Carroll Tyson, near Colora. The host addressed the meeting.

The Elkton Chamber of Commerce has appealed to each of its members to write personal letters to the United States Senators and members of Congress from Maryland, urging them to exert every effort to secure a Federal appropriation for dredging Elk River channel, from Cedar Point to Elkton wharves.

Edward W. Dawson, formerly of Elkton, who is now living with his daughter in Stroudsburg, Pa., is in a serious condition from injuries suffered when he was struck by an automobile while walking along the road. His back was injured.

Cecil Post, American Legion, has recently received a contribution of $45 from the women of the Fourth District Auxiliary to Union Hospital, Elkton, from a festival. Voluntary contributions for the upkeep of the ambulance have not been sufficient to pay necessary expenses.

The Remington Typewriting Company, of New York, has awarded to Miss Vera L. Nelson, a student in the Elkton High School, a jeweled pin for a speed of 72 words per minute for fifteen consecutive minutes. Miss Nelson is taking a special course in the commercial department.

The Needlework Guild, of Cecil County, has made over one thousand garments during the year just closed. Officers for the coming year were elected as follows: Miss Bertha Tyson, president; Mrs. Lloyd Balderson, secretary; Miss Mabel Reynolds, treasurer.

Wesley G. Harvey, age 39, employed as a locomotive engineer engaged at the Conowingo dam project is in Belair jail, on a serious charge preferred by a young girl of the Darling-ton section.

The executive committee of the American Legion of Maryland, Pennsylvania, and Delaware, Pennsylvania, and Delaware, will attend a joint meeting to be held at the Hotel Bayou, Havre de Grace, Sunday, December 4. Wallace Williams, of Elkton, department commander for Maryland, will preside and it is expected from fifty to one hundred persons will attend.

At the annual fall meeting of the Laymen's League of the Episcopal Churches of Cecil County held in Elkton, J. T. C. Hopkins, of Port Deposit, was elected its president for the ensuing year with Walter Touchstone, secretary and treasurer. Port Deposit was selected for next year's meeting.

Work on the upper deck of the state highway bridge, over the Susquehanna River, between Perryville and Havre de Grace is practically completed and was opened to traffic Tuesday. A large force of men put the finishing touches on the Perryville end Monday so there was no delay for the opening. Work on the upper floor, which will double the capacity of the bridge has been in progress just one year. The bid for the work was $237,730, and the contract provides that the bridge should be completed within one year after the work was started.

One of the first undertakings by the contractors was the lowering of the two ends of the bridge seven feet in order to allow for the approaches to the upper deck.

The path for pedestrians was erected on the first floor. Each deck will accommodate one way traffic, the east bound traffic being on the top deck, while the west bound traffic will use the lower or present floor.

The bridge will be the only double deck highway bridge in the world. Mr. Mackall, the state road chairman, stated the bridge will be free of tolls by early next year.

The bridge was built by the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore Railroad Company, in 1873. In 1908 the company built a double track structure, about one hundred feet north of their old bridge, and offered the old bridge as a gift to Cecil and Harford counties, to be used as a vehicular bridge, providing they would put a new floor in. At that time very little automobile traffic had developed, and the counties refused to accept the bridge.

Later, at its own expense, the railroad company provided a floor for highway traffic and a draw span, and after a long time several enterprising people of Havre de Grace and Elkton accepted the bridge as a gift from the railroad and operated it as a toll bridge until February, 1923. Those accepting the bridge each put up one hundred dollars as a working capital. The venture proved a sensational success, the toll from the increased traffic proving a perfect bonanza.

After considerable negotiation the lucky owners of the bridge consented to sell it to the state for $585,000.

The traffic continued to increase until it reached 300,000 vehicles passing over the bridge in a year, and the structure proved inadequate to its demands. The State Road Commission decided that maintenance included making the bridge satisfactory for travel, continued its tolls, and devoted the proceeds for the extension of the structure. Several plans were considered and finally the double deck project was adopted. The whole structure has been painted white to correspond with the other bridges owned by the state and operated under the control of the State Road Commission.

HARMONY GRANGE

There was a good meeting of Harmony Grange on Monday evening, in spite of the bad weather. The Variety Sale took the place of a program, and netted a sum large enough to place the subscriptions to the National Grange Monthly for every member.

There was a serious discussion relative to a law concerning the use of stop-lights on busses, which at present stop anywhere without a signal of any kind, endangering the lives of many persons.

Delegates were elected to Pomona Grange on Thursday, December 1, and the giving of the fifth degree at Newport, December 5th, was discussed.

The Grange decided to hold a Corn Show on December 19th, and a committee of six was appointed, with Paul Mitchell as chairman. This will be an open meeting and there will be special Christmas music.

Sympathy was expressed and plans for relief discussed for the family of Henry Mason, a member of Harmony Grange, whose home near Christiana, was recently robbed and burned.

There will be no meeting next Monday evening, because of the meeting at Newport. The meeting of December 26th has also been cancelled.

Sherman Wivel is in the P. and S. Hospital in Wilmington, seriously ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Derickson, with Mrs. A. G. Stroud, of Newark, attended the funeral of an old friend, Mrs. Laura Clark Long, at Chestnut Level, Pa., on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Peach and daughter, Miss Carolyn Peach, spent last week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Garrison, of Baltimore. Little Barbara Jean Garrison returned here with her grandparents for a visit.

The Moonlight Club was entertained at the home of Sara and Martin Pennington Saturday evening.

Strickersville

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Cook, of Brookport, N. Y., are visiting their daughter, Mrs. Geo. Jones.

Mrs. Sarah Pierson entertained her family on Thanksgiving Day.

Miss Emily Smith, of Elkton, recently visited her cousin, Miss Ruth Garrett.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Francois have returned to their home, after spending some time in Bethlehem, Pa.

Miss Jeannette Jones spent Friday with Mrs. James Cann, in Wilmington.

Dr. and Mrs. A. S. Houchin had for her guests on Thanksgiving day: Mrs. Eva J. Singles, Miss Dora Singles, of Wilmington, Miss Irene Singles, Mr.

O. G. Singles, Miss Martha Pyle, of Philadelphia, Miss Carolyn Norton, Mary Ella Lee, Andy Lee and Doris Lee.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Saddington, and Mr. and Mrs. James Cann were recent guests of Mr. George Jones, Sr.

Christiana

Naturally the most interesting events of the past week center around Thanksgiving Day, with its homecomings, its family gatherings and festivities of all sorts. One of the largest such gatherings was held at the home of Mrs. James Appleby. Her guests were Mr. and Mrs. Stille Chew, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. LeOtto and Mrs. Cupit, of Mantua, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Appleby and daughter, Kathryn, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Appleby, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Price and son Billy, of Middletown; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Prouse, Eunice and Doris Prouse, of Chalfont, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. H. Vernon Lynam, Paul and Lelia Lynam of Stanton; and Mrs. Sarah Appleby. Most of the guests were here only for Thanksgiving Day, but the Prouses stayed until Sunday, spending a part of the time with the Vernon Lynam at Stanton.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Maclary and Miss Florence Appleby also entertained a large family group at their home near State Road. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Stroud, Mr. and Mrs. George Jackson, Misses Anna and Ella Stroud, Mrs. Clara Cranston, Charles and Florence Cranston, all of Newark; Mrs. Oliver Rothwell, Oliver Rothwell, Jr., and Dorothea Rothwell, of Harmony; and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hance, of State Road.

Miss Doris Jarmon, formerly of Newark, spent Thanksgiving Day and the week-end with Miss Anna Moody. Thursday afternoon the young ladies attended the D. I. A. A. championship football game at Dover.

Miss Nellie Appleby, of Hare's Corner, spent the holidays with her sister, Mrs. George W. Davis, in the village.

Mrs. Sara Kilvington and daughter, Sara, visited friends in town over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Howell, Eleanor and Naomi Howell, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cleaves and Mollie and Vernon Cleaves were Thanksgiving Day guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Howell, of Newark, the parents of Mr. Wm. Howell and Mrs. Cleaves. The elder Mr. Howell has been quite seriously ill, but is now improving.

Mr. and Mrs. George Ware, Elsie and Vaughan Ware, of the village, spent Thanksgiving Day with Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ware of Newark.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Eastburn and son Warren had Thanksgiving dinner with Mr. and Mrs. John Eastburn and family, of Ogleton.

Miss Alice Phelps spent the holiday at her home in the village.

Miss Kate Darlington is visiting relatives in Baltimore, Md.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Greenwalt, of Harmony, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Moody, at Silver Hill Farm.

On Sunday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. R. Earle Dickey visited Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kane, of Bellevue.

This (Wednesday) evening the Christiana Eagles are serving their annual poultry and oyster supper in their lodge rooms in the village.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wilson, well known everywhere in this part of the State, sang at both morning and evening services at the Methodist Church last Sunday.

Our village was visited by a most disastrous fire early Sunday morning,

EGG RECORD REPORT

The October report of the Delaware Farm Egg Record Club, just announced by H. S. Palmer, extension poultryman, shows a considerable seasonal falling off of laying averages. The averages of the 122 farms reporting showed 5.8 eggs per pullet; 3.7 per hen; and 4.8 per bird in mixed flocks. The best average for the month was made by a flock of pullets in the 1 to 99 class, which was 23.2 eggs per bird.

By Appearances

The youngsters were intensely interested in the operations of several bricklayers during the construction of an apartment house.

"I guess I know what they're doing!" shouted one.

"What?" returned the others.

"They're buttering bricks!"

Jeremy's Challenge To God

As he sat there, getting hotter and hotter, there grew, larger and larger before his eyes, the figure of Terrible God. That image of Someone of a vast size sitting in the red-hot sky, his white beard flowing, his eyes frowning, grew ever more and more awful. Jeremy stared up into the glass, his eyes blinking, the sweat beginning to pour down his nose, and yet his body shivering with terror. But he had strung himself up to meet Him. Somehow he was going to save his mother and hinder her departure. At an instant, inside him, he was crying: "I want my mother! I want my mother!" like a little boy who had been left in the street, and at the other, "You shan't have her! You shan't have her!" as though someone were trying to steal his Toy-Village or Hamlet away from him. His sleepy, bemused, heated brain wandered, in dazed fashion, back to his father's sermon of that morning. Abraham and Isaac! Abraham and Isaac! Suddenly, as though through the flaming glass something had been flung to him, an idea came. Perhaps God, that huge, ugly God was teasing the Coles just as once He had teased Abraham. Perhaps He wished to see whether they were truly obedient as the Jampot had sometimes been in the old days. He was only, it might be, pretending. Perhaps He was demanding that one of them should give up something—something of great value. Even Jeremy, himself! . . .

If he had to sacrifice something to save his mother, what would be the hardest sacrifice? Would it be his Toy-Village, or Mary or Helen, or his soldiers, or his paint-box, or his gold fish that he had in a bowl, or—No, of course, he had known from the first what would be hardest—it would, of course, be Hamlet.

At this stage in his thinking he removed his arm from Hamlet's neck and looked at the animal. At the same moment the light that had filled the glass-house with a fiery radiance that burnt to the very heart of the place was clouded. Above, in the sky, black, smoky clouds, rolling in fold after fold, as though some demon were flinging them out across the sky as one flings a carpet, piled up and up, each one darker than the last. The light vanished; the conservatory was filled with a thick, murky glow, and far across the fields, from the heart of the black wood, came the low rumble of thunder. But Jeremy did not hear that; he was busy with his thoughts. He stared at the dog, who was lying stretched out on the dirty floor, his nose between his toes. It cannot truthfully be said that the resolve that was forming in Jeremy's head had its birth in any fine, noble idealism. It was as though some bully, seizing his best marbles, had said: "I'll give you these back if you hand over this week's pocket-money!" His attitude to the bully could not truthfully be described as one of homage or reverence; rather it was one of anger and impotent rebellion. He loved Hamlet, and he loved his mother more than Hamlet; but he was not moved by sentiment. Grimly, his legs apart, his eyes shut tight, as they were when he said his prayers, he made his challenge.

"I'll give you Hamlet if you don't take Mother—" A pause. "Only I could lose him, if that would do. . . . Only you must take him now—I couldn't do it tomorrow." His voice began to tremble. He was frightened. He could feel behind his closed eyes that the darkness had gathered. The place seemed to be filled with rolling smoke, and the house was so terribly still!

He said again: "You can take Hamlet. He's my best thing. You can—You can—"

There followed them, with the promptitude of a most admirably managed theatrical climax, a peal of thunder that seemed to strike the house with the iron hand of a giant. Two more came, and then, for a second, a silence, more deadly than all the earlier havoc.

Jeremy felt that God had leapt upon him. He opened his eyes, turned as though to run, and then saw, with a freezing check upon the very beat of his heart, that Hamlet was gone.

There was no Hamlet! In that second of frantic unreasoning terror he received a conviction of God that no rationalistic training in later years was able to remove.

There was no Hamlet!—only the dusky, dirty place with a black torrent-driven world beyond it. With a rush as of a thousand whips slashing the air, the rain came down upon the glass. Jeremy turned, crying "Mother! I want Mother!" and flung himself at the red glass doors; fumbling in his terror for the hands, he felt as though the end of the world had come; such a panic had seized him as only belongs to the most desperate of nightmares. God had answered him. Hamlet was gone and in a moment Jeremy himself might be seized. . . .

He felt frantically for the door; he beat upon the glass. He cried "Mother! Mother! Mother!"

He found the door, but just as he turned the handle he was aware of a new sound, heard distinctly, through the rain. Looking back he saw, from behind a rampart of dusty flower-pots, first a head, then a rough tumbled body, then a tail that might be recognized amongst all the tails of Christendom.

Hamlet (who had trained himself to meet with a fine natural show of bravery every possible violence save only thunder) crept ashamed, dirty and smiling towards his master. God had only played His trick—Abraham and Isaac after all.

Then with a fine sense of victory and defiance Jeremy turned back, looked up at the slashing rain, gazed out upon the black country, at last seized Hamlet and dragging him out by his hind-legs, knelt there in the dust and suffered himself to be licked until his face was as though a snail had crossed over it.

The thunder passed. Blue pushed up into the grey. A cool air blew through the world.

Nevertheless, deep in his heart, the terror remained. In that moment he had met God face to face; he had delivered his first challenge.—From "Jeremy," by Hugh Walpole.

Newark H. S. Fails to Regain D. I. A. A. Title from Laurel

scoring would have been with an accurate passing attack, which it lacked. It had to depend on straight football, and considering the overwhelming odds in weight and experience, it played a greater, more desperate game than Laurel. Newcomb was the outstanding offensive star for Newark. Zabenko at quarter and Frank Mayer, who succeeded him, played great defensive games. "Winnie" Mayer at left end caught the full force of Laurel's machine-like interference on each play around his wing, but on most occasions spilled them and got his man. McDowell played a strong game in the line. "Rip" Smith was another Newark backfield performer, who was generally in an embarrassing position for Laurel.

Newark relieved and Newcomb ran the kick back to his 40-yard line. After a play, Cook kicked to Pollit, and Mayer dropped him in his tracks. Laurel then made three first downs, and a pass to Marvel put the ball on Newark's 3-yard line. West took it over and Marvel drop-kicked for the extra point. Newcomb again ran back the kick-off to his 40-yard line and both teams battled evenly to the end of the period.

The second period opened with a 10-yard penalty against Laurel for holding. Newark lost the ball on downs and then Holloway intercepted a Laurel pass and ran it back 15 yards. Holloway made Newark's only "first down" in two plunges through the line. Newark then lost the ball on downs after incompleting a pass. Laurel tried rushing the Newark tackles and ends, but Newark aroused held them for downs. At the close of the half, Pollit made 30 yards on a pass.

The third period went to Newark by a good margin. Fighting with their hackles up, the Newark line stemmed the rushes of Pollit and West and forced Laurel to kick twice. Again they took the ball on downs. The ball was kept in Laurel territory, and while Newark could not advance it to the danger point, it more than stifled the Laurel attack.

The last quarter gave Laurel its second score. Pollit smashed through tackle for 20 yards to the 3-yard line and then took the ball over for a score. Marvel drop-kicked the extra point.

Over 2,500 people attended the game, including a large contingent from Newark. Major Prince, field agent of the D. I. A. A., supervised the game and everything went off like clockwork. The officiating, unlike that of last year, was accurate and fair. The Continental Band accompanied the Newark team and gave a concert between halves. The Laurel High School Band also gave an exhibition between the halves.

Laurel will retain possession of the Challenge Cup donated by Millard F. Davis.

WEDDINGS

SMITH-GREGG

Miss Beatrice Gregg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Gregg, of Cleveland avenue, this town, and Mr. Newton E. Smith, of Asbury Park, New Jersey, surprised their families and friends by being married at nine o'clock last Wednesday evening, at Trinity Parish, Elktion. The rector, Reverend J. Frederick Virgin, performed the ceremony.

The engagement of the couple had recently been announced and the wedding date had been set for December 23, but much to the surprise of all their friends they went to Elktion on the eve of Mr. Smith's return to Wilmington from Bradford, Pa., where he is now employed by the Underwriters' Association.

The bride wore a pink canton crepe dress, trimmed with metallic cloth, white stockings and black shoes. The bride's bouquet was of white rose buds.

Mrs. Ella Sexton, of Wilmington, friend of the bride and bridegroom, was matron of honor. She wore a small black hat, black satin back crepe trimmed with rhinestones, and carried a bouquet of pink rose buds. Miss Eloise Sexton, of Princess Anne, Md., another friend of the bride, was the only bridesmaid. She was dressed in a blue canton crepe trimmed with ecru colored georgette. She carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums. Mrs. Winfield S. Quigley, of Wilmington, was also an attendant. Mr. Winfield S. Quigley, of Wilmington, was best man.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Quigley, 218 N. Clayton street, Wilmington, where quite a number of Mr. and Mrs. Smith's friends were entertained.

Mr. Joseph Brown and Miss Luella Whiteman were married on Thanksgiving morning in Ebenezer Church, by Rev. Gehman. The groom's sister, Mrs. Amos Norton, was matron of honor, and the bride's brother, Mr. Kinsey Whiteman, was best man. Immediately after the ceremony the bride and groom left on a trip to Niagara Falls.

To keep oxalic acid on hand for cleaning purposes, buy an ounce of the crystals, put them in a half-pint bottle of water, and pour off the top part of the solution to dilute as needed. All of the crystals will not dissolve, but this method insures a strong solution. Label the bottle poison, of course, and keep it away from the children.

TIMES HAVE CHANGED

We quote from "Letters of Lady Mary Montagu," the letter dated from Adrianople, April 1, 1717: "I am going to tell you a thing that I am sure will make you wish yourself here. The small-pox, so fatal, and so general amongst us, is here entirely harmless by the invention of inoculation, which is the term they give it. There is a set of old women who make it their business to perform the operation every autumn, in the month of September, when the great heat is abated. People send to one another to know if any of their family has a mind to have the small-pox; they make parties for this purpose, and when they are met (commonly fifteen or sixteen together), the old woman comes with a nut-shell full of the matter of the best sort of small-pox, and asks what veins you please to have opened. She immediately rips open that you offer to her with a large needle (which gives you no more pain than a common scratch), and puts into the vein as much venom as can lie upon the head of her needle, and after binds up the little wound with a hollow bit of shell; and in this manner opens four or five veins. The Grecians have commonly the superstition of opening one in the middle of the forehead, in each arm, and on the breast, to mark the sign of the cross; but this has a very ill effect, all these wounds leaving little scars, and is not done by those that are not superstitious, who choose to have them in the legs, or that part of the arm that is concealed. The children or young patients play together all the rest of the day, and are in perfect health to the eighth. Then the fever begins to seize them and they keep to their beds two days, very seldom three. . . . Every year thousands undergo this operation; and the French ambassador says pleasantly, that they take the small-pox here by way of diversion, as they take the waters in other countries.

I am patriot enough to take pains to bring this useful invention into fashion in England, and I should not fail to write to some of our doctors very particularly about it, if I knew any of them that I thought had virtue enough to destroy such a considerable branch of their revenue for the good of mankind. But that distemper (small-pox) is too beneficial to them not to expose to all their resentment the hardy wight that should undertake to put an end to it."

Leather furniture coverings last better and last longer if they're rubbed occasionally with castor oil. The restores to the leather the oil that gradually dries out. The oil should be well rubbed in and any excess wiped off the surface, or it will collect and hold dirt which will darken the leather, and soil whatever touches it.

And They Wonder Why

Mrs. Myrtle Walkinshaw-Shupe

One Sunday night after church services, like a thunderbolt from a clear sky, the pastor read his resignation. The faithful few were the only members present—faithful in attendance, in all services of the church.

Then the news spread, and this is what was heard from the lips of almost everyone, "I wonder why he's leaving?"

And the answer was within the souls of the church members who asked the question.

1. Was I regular and conscientious in my attendance on the Sunday services?
2. Did I attend prayer meeting faithfully?
3. Did I, whenever it was actually possible, go to Sunday school with my children?
4. Did I fill to the best of my ability every office to which I was elected or appointed?
5. Did I try honestly to practice daily the Christianity to which I subscribed when my name was entered on the church roll?
6. Did I pay my subscription regularly by using my Duplex Envelopes?

If the answer to these six questions is "Yes," then you are one of the faithful few who heard the pastor read his resignation that Sunday night.

Let's make a comparison.

1. If a pastor held services only when he felt like it;
2. If he went to prayer meeting only when nothing else was "doing";
3. If he never went to Sunday school and sent his boy only when the weather was good;
4. If he never held board meetings, never visited the sick when asked to do so, and was indifferent to pastoral duties;
5. If he used profanity during the week and slandered his church members and did not pay his just debts;
6. If he did not contribute of both time and money to his field of work—

You would soon say, "Get out."

Do you practice the Golden Rule toward your church and its pastor? If so, you will never wonder "Why?"

FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

Don't leave the lettuce on your salad plate. Eat it for the sake of the vitamins it contains.

A flat narrow collar or no collar at all and a V-shaped or U-shaped neck line is most becoming to a short, stout figure. Square neck lines should be avoided.

A little kerosene in clear water helps in window washing. Wash with even overlapping strokes and rub dry with soft paper or clean cloth. A rubber wiper can be used on large windows.

Carrots are a good source of vitamins. In winter, when they are older and have been stored a long time, they may lose some of vitamin C, but they are still valuable for their minerals and for vitamins A and B.

Don't have the same menu every time you entertain. Plan several good "company" menus, according to the season of the year. If the same people come often to your home, it's a good plan to have some record of what is served to guests each time, or you may duplicate your menus.

Much dust and dirt can be kept out of the house by taking precautions. If the roads near your home are not oiled, stop some of the dust at doors and windows. Dust window sills, porches, steps and walks daily. Cover the pantry and storeroom window screens with cheese cloth to keep dust out but let air in. If the walks about the house are muddy get the family to use shoe scrapers and leave muddy rubbers and boots outside.

To store farm butter for winter use, the best method is to wrap the rolls or prints in parchment paper and pack them in a stone crock, covering them with a strong brine and store in a cool place. The butter intended for winter use should be made from sweet pasteurized cream churned at a fairly low temperature, washed thoroughly and worked merely enough to dissolve the salt.

ROAST CHICKEN

Sometimes it seems difficult to get a roast chicken really tender, but the following recipe is very reliable and quite simple.

Rub the breast of the chicken well with lemon juice and steam it for two hours, or until the breast when gently touched rebounds like a sponge. Then remove it from the steamer.

Prepare stuffing as follows: 1 egg well-beaten; 4 tablespoonfuls of breadcrumbs; 1 dessertspoonful of finely-chopped parsley; the same proportion of mixed herbs; lemon rind finely grated; 1 ounce of butter; salt and pepper.

Beat all lightly together and stuff the chicken. Rub the breast again with lemon juice, and lay on two rashers of bacon, and thick coating of basting fat. Cover the whole with grease paper. Next take the liquor made when steaming, put it in the baking tin, lay in the chicken, and roast in a moderate oven. About 20 minutes before serving remove the paper and bacon, baste well and cook the breast a golden-brown. Serve hot with brown gravy, rolls of bacon and bread-sauce.

Gravy

Pour off all fat, boil the remaining liquor with salt, pepper and a little flour to thicken; strain.

COOKING HAM

With modern conveniences for cooking, this aspect of housekeeping is getting more and more simplified. Although cooking is not done on so large a scale as formerly there still remain certain time saving and economical practices. Preparing a whole ham, either by boiling or baking, is one outstanding example. Meat is then ready for several meals with but little additional time and effort.

May Be Served Several Ways

When selecting the whole or half ham, ask the dealer to cut off one or more center slices, the thickness depending upon the method of cooking to be used. These slices can be served in any one of several ways.

For best results in boiling ham the water should be kept simmering, not boiling, and the kettle tightly covered. A mild cured ham may be baked without any previous boiling. It is important to keep this in mind when a temperature-controlled oven is used and other foods cooked in the oven at the same time. A temperature near 275° C. gives excellent results—a juicy ham that slices well.

To Boil Ham

If preferred, a ham may be boiled all the cooking period except the last hour; then scored, seasoned with a paste of mustard, brown sugar and fruit juice, stuck with cloves, and then baked for an hour.

Either baked or boiled ham is delicious when sliced cold. For the summer months salads and sandwiches are, of course, most popular. When chopped or ground, ham has almost countless possibilities. From the ham pattie for breakfast to the ham loaf for the picnic lunch, every bit can be utilized.

Ham Liquor Valuable

Even the ham liquor left from boiling has its valuable uses, as the basis of pea or bean soup or the essence of a delicious orange sauce.

The bone should be saved to cook with spinach or greens, to give a much desired zest to these vegetables.

CAN YOU BAKE BISCUIT LIKE MOTHER USED TO MAKE?

In every community, there is always at least one who has acquired a local reputation for the superiority of her biscuit and muffins. She is the envy of the other housewives. Invitations to a dinner at her house are always eagerly sought, for it means that there will be a plate heaped high with deliciously browned biscuit or muffins on the table.

There is no form of bread more appealing than properly made biscuit or muffins. Some housewives seem to think that the art of making good biscuit is inherited and cannot be learned. This is quite wrong. It is quite easy to learn to make good biscuit, and anyone can make them if a few simple rules are followed.

Overworking is the one thing that is most often the cause of inferior biscuit, and great care should be taken not to work the dough too much after the liquid has been added.

The first step is to mix the proper proportion of baking powder and salt with the flour. It is a good plan to sift the flour first, but, in any event, the mixture should be sifted at least once. The shortening is now rubbed in with the fingers or otherwise, until the mixture has the appearance of coarse meal.

The milk is now stirred into the mixture, being sure to stop very shortly after the mixture has become wet. Just a little stirring beyond this point will injure the texture of the biscuit. It is not necessary, and some cooks believe it is not even desirable to roll out the dough. Simply toss on a floured bread board or paper, and gently pat to the right thickness.

A pleasing variation of the biscuit, very popular in New England at this season, is the so-called blueberry biscuit. This most delicious form of bread is made by stirring in blueberries or huckleberries, just after adding the liquid.

In the case of muffins, it is even more necessary to avoid over-stirring. Before adding the liquid to the flour mixture, the muffin pans should be ready at hand and greased.

The stirring must stop the very moment the flour disappears, and the mixture should be immediately poured or spooned into the muffin pan.

When unexpected company comes, the can of evaporated milk placed on the shelf for just such emergencies, comes in very handy. Delicious biscuit and muffins are made with evaporated milk.

Biscuit—2 cups flour (pastry), 4 tsp. baking powder, 1 tsp. salt,  $\frac{1}{2}$  cup milk, 5 tsp. fat.

Sift the flour twice with the baking powder and salt. Rub the fat in with the finger tips until the texture is like that of coarse corn meal. Stir diluted milk quickly but thoroughly into the flour. Toss onto a board dusted with hard wheat flour. Pat or roll to  $\frac{1}{2}$ -inch thickness. Cut with a  $2\frac{1}{2}$ -inch cutter. Bake at 450° F. Yield: 15 biscuits.

Blueberry Biscuit—Add 1 cup cleaned blueberries to biscuit dough with the last few stirs.

Scones—Add  $\frac{3}{4}$  cup well cleaned currants and  $\frac{1}{4}$  cup chopped marshmallow cherries to biscuit dough. Pinch off small pieces of dough and press out on the baking pan to circles about 4 inches in diameter. Brush over with evaporated milk and sprinkle with sugar before baking.

"THE BIG PARADE" AT THE OPERA HOUSE

John Gilbert, in that magnificent screen triumph, "The Big Parade," will be shown at the Opera House three days, December 8, 9 and 10. This is an exceptional show and everyone ought to see it. The picture is a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production, directed by King Vidor.

Gilbert plays the part of Jimmy

Apperson, one of three buddies who went "over there." He is the only one of the three who lives through the maelstrom of the war. As a simple, human soldier boy, Gilbert reaches the high water mark of his career.

"The Big Parade" is the picture which launched Gilbert as a star. No player has been more fortunate in the choice of a first starring vehicle, for the picture is a tremendous and authentic portrayal of the war, a masterpiece in emotion, a great human comedy. Gilbert is delightfully entertaining at all times. He gives warmth, power, sympathy and understanding to the role that leaves an indelible mark on the memory of the spectator. Great as has been his work in "The Merry Widow," "The Show," "Flesh and the Devil" and other recent successes, his portrayal of the American doughboy in France remains his best.

Renee Adoree as the little French girl, Melisande, is unforgettable. Miss Adoree is a natural-born actress and in this part proves to have heretofore unsuspected histrionic power.

THE CAUTIOUS SINNER

Nellie, a small English girl of whom Punch tells us, had been banished to her room. Her indulgent mother subsequently sent word to her by the maid that if she were repentant and would promise to be a good girl she might come down for the pudding.

The maid returned without Nellie. "Did you tell Miss Nellie what I said?" inquired Miss Nellie's mama. "Yes'm," said the maid. "Well, what did she say?" "She said, 'What sort of a pudding is it?'"

There never was a man, or a business, or an institution, or a town, or a section, or a country—in short, there never was anything subject to human influence that the spirit of optimism could not help or that pessimism failed to harm.—Albany Herald.

Mary's Gift to Her Brother

One day Mary received in a letter a postal order for ten shillings. This was a present from a distant aunt in America who had suddenly remembered Mary's birthday. Filled with glee and self-importance she went in to St. Mary's with Miss Jones to spend it.

That evening when Jeremy was washing his hands there was a knock on his door and Mary's voice: "May I come in?"

"Yes," he said. She came in, her face coloured with mysterious purpose. In her hands she held a paper parcel.

"Oh, are you washing your hands, Jeremy?" she said, her favourite opening in conversation being always a question of the obvious. The red evening sunlight flooded the room.

"What is it?" Jeremy asked rather crossly. She looked at him pleadingly, as though begging him to save her from the difficulties of emotion and explanation that crowded in upon her.

"Oh, Jeremy, St. Mary's was lovely, and there was a man with an organ and a monkey, and I gave the monkey a penny and it took it in its hands and took off its cap. . . Miss Jones has got a cold," she added, "and sneezed all the way home."

"She always has a cold," he said "or something."

"And it goes straight to her face when she has a cold and makes all her teeth ache—not only one of them, but all. She isn't coming down to supper. She's gone to bed."

Still he waited, striving for politeness.

"I've got something for you," Mary suddenly said, dropping her voice in the sentimental manner that he hated. Then, as though she were ashamed of what she had done, she took the parcel to the bed and undid the paper with clumsy fingers.

"There," she said, "I got it for you because I thought you'd like it."

He looked at it; it was a book; it was "Swiss Family Robinson"; it was a companion to his "Robinson Crusoe." He stared at it; he could say nothing.

"You do like it, don't you?" she asked, gazing at him anxiously. "It's got lots and lots of pictures. There was a funny shop at the end of the street and I went in with Miss Jones and the man was very nice. And I thought it was just what you'd like. You do like it, don't you?" she asked again.

But he could only stare at it, not coming forward to touch it. He was buried deep, deep in shame. There came a rattle on the door and Helen's voice:

"Mary, if you're in there with Jeremy, mother says you're to come at once and have your hair brushed because it's five minutes to supper."

"Oh, dear, I'd forgotten." And with one last glance of anxiety towards Jeremy she went.

Still he did not move. Could anything have happened to prove to him more completely what a pig he was, what a skunk and a cur? Mary had bought it with her own money, five and threepence half-penny out of ten shillings.

He did not touch the book, but with chin set and eyes resolved, he went down to supper. When the meal was finished he said to Mary:

"Some upstairs a minute. I want to speak to you."

She followed him tremulously. He seemed to be clothed in his domineering manner. How often, especially of late, she had determined that she would not be afraid of him, but would dig up from within her the common sense, the easy companionship, the laughter that were all there for him, she knew, could she only be at her ease! She even sympathized with him in thinking her so often a fool! She was a fool when she was with him, simply because she cared for him so much and thought him so wonderful and so clever!

He didn't like the book! He was going to thank her for it in a way that he had when he was trying to be polite, and didn't find it easy. She followed him into the bedroom. He carefully closed the door. She saw at once that the book lay exactly where she had placed it on the bed—that he had not even opened it. He regarded her sternly.

"Sit down on that chair!" he said. She sat down.

"Look here, you oughtn't to have given me that book. You know that Aunt Lucy sent that money for you to spend on yourself."

"I thought you'd like it," she said, pushing at her spectacles as she always did when she was distressed.

"I do like it," he said. "It's splendid. But I've done something awful—and I've got to tell you now you've given me that."

"Oh, Jeremy! something awful! What is it?"

POSTAL HINTS FOR CHRISTMAS MAILING

No deliveries Christmas Day after 12 noon. Mail early for delivery before Christmas.

LIMIT OF WEIGHT, SIZE

No parcel may be more than 84 inches in length and girth combined. For delivery locally and in 1st, 2nd and 3d zones, 70 pounds is the maximum weight; all other zones, 50 pounds.

PACKING

Articles that are perishable or easily broken or crushed should be packed with care and marked "fragile" or "perishable." Consider what a package must go through with before reaching its destination and pack accordingly.

CHRISTMAS CARDS

The early mailing of Christmas cards is as important as any other mail. A habit of late mailing of cards has caused great congestion in post offices and considerable delayed delivery. Uniform sizes in greeting cards greatly facilitate handling, as odd-sizes upset the routine technique.

It will greatly facilitate handling and assure your mail of an earlier delivery, if you will tie your cards and letters in separate packages and "face" them. "Facing" is to arrange letters or cards so that the addresses are all in the same order. Mail that is "faced" can be cancelled without being sorted.

VALUABLE MAIL

All valuable mail should be insured. Coin, currency, jewelry and articles of similar value should be sent as sealed, first class, registered mail.

WHEN TO MAIL

Christmas mail addressed to points within one day's travel should be mailed not later than Dec. 20; within two days travel, Dec. 18; three days, Dec. 16, and for more distant points not later than Dec. 14. Mail for local delivery should be mailed Dec. 22.

He set his jaw and, without looking at her, made his confession.

"That day I went with Miss Jones to St. Mary's I was going to buy you a present. And I did buy you one. I went into that same shop you went to and I bought 'Robinson Crusoe' just like the one you bought me. When I bought it I meant it for you, of course, but when I got home I liked it so much I kept it for myself and I gave you that old bottle instead—and then I didn't like the rotten book after all and I've never looked at it since your birthday."

Mary's pleasure at being made his confidante in this way was much greater than her horror at his crime. Her bosom heaved with gratified importance.

"I've done things like that, Jeremy," she said. "I got six handkerchiefs for Miss Jones one Christmas, and I kept three of them because I got a terrible bad cold just at the time."

"That's not so bad," he said, shaking his head, "because I gave you an old thing that I'd had for years."

"No," she interrupted, "I've wanted that bottle ever so long. I used to go up to your room and look at it sometimes when you were at school."

"He went to the drawer and produced 'Robinson Crusoe' and gave it to her. She accepted it gratefully, but said:

"And now I shall have to give you back the bottle."

"Oh, no, you won't."

"But I can't have two presents."

"Yes, you can. I don't want the old bottle, anyway. I never used it for anything. And now we'll each have a book, so it won't be like a present exactly."

She smiled with pleasure. "Oh, I'm so glad you're not angry."

"Angry?" he repeated after her.

"Yes," she said, getting up from the chair where she had been sitting. "I thought you were when you asked me to come up here."

"He looked at her puzzled. She seemed to him a new Mary whom he had never seen before."

"Am I often angry?" he asked.

"Not angry exactly; but I get frightened that you are going to be cross, and then I say the silliest things—not because I want to, but because I want to be clever, and then, of course, I never am."

He stood staring at her. "Am I as beastly as all that?" he asked.

"Oh, you're not beastly," she reassured him. "Never—you're not," forgetting her grammar in her eagerness, "but I'm afraid of you, and I'm fonder of you than anybody—lots fonder—and I always say to myself, 'Now I'm not going to be silly this time,' and then I am. I don't know why," she sighed. "But I'm not nearly as silly as I seem," she ended.

No, she wasn't. He suddenly saw that, and he also suddenly saw that he had all this time been making a great mistake. He was a possible companion, not only possible, but living, breathing, existing. She was on her own tonight, neither fearful nor silly, meeting him on his own level, superior to him, perhaps, knowing more than he did about many things, understanding his feelings. . .

"I say, Mary, we'll do things together. I'm awfully lonely sometimes. I want someone to tell things to—often. We'll have a great time next holidays."

It was the happiest moment of Mary's life. Too much for her altogether. She just nodded and, clutching "Robinson Crusoe" to her, ran. From "Jeremy and Hamlet," by Hugh Walpole.

ANTIQUATED

He: "Teach me the Charleston?"

She: "If I can remember it. Let's see—it was one of those quaint old dances they were doing last summer, wasn't it?"—Virginia Reel.

"Meredith's 'The Egoist' belongs purely to didactic art, and from all the novels I have read—and I have read thousands—stands in a place by itself. Here is a book to send blood into men's faces. 'The Egoist' is a satire of singular quality—it is yourself that is hunted down; these are your own faults that are dragged into the sunlight and tagged, with lingering relish, with cruel cunning and precision. A young friend of Meredith's came to him in agony. 'This is too bad of you,' he cried. 'Willoughby is me!' 'No, my dear fellow,' said the author, 'he is all us.'"

An Old New England Thanksgiving Day

"I suppose every family has its own way of preparing for and keeping Thanksgiving, but possibly the children may be interested to know how their grandparents kept it at their age. Truth obliges me to tell that it began, like the old Jewish Feast of the Passover, with a great slaughter, not of lambs, however, but of equally innocent chickens, and—must I confess it?—on the Sunday evening of Thanksgiving week. I can only say in palliation of this, that it was a religious feast, or, if that does not satisfy the humane instincts of the age, I will add that in those days Sunday was universally regarded as beginning at sundown Saturday and ending on Sunday."

"Charles Dudley Warner says that, though this was the theory practically, as far as the young folks were concerned, and perhaps not altogether without example from their elders, the Sunday began at candle-lighting Saturday and ended at sundown the next day. But Warner, as we know, is a great humorist, and sometimes goes to the very verge of the actual to make a point; but, judged by his own representations, our fathers could hardly be called Sabbath-breakers because the hen-roads were never allowed to be visited till after dark. Will lawyers admit my defense?"

"Monday was devoted, of course, to the weekly washing, and nothing must interfere with that."

"Tuesday was the great day for the making of pies, of which there were from thirty to fifty baked in the great oven that crackled and roared right merrily in anticipation of the rich medley that was being made ready for its capacious maw. Two kinds of apple pies, two of pumpkin, rice, and cranberry made out the standard list, to which additions were sometimes made. Then in our younger days we children each had a patty of his own. These were made in tins of various shapes, of which we had our choice, as well as of the material of which our respective pies should be composed. The provident among us would put them aside until the good things were not quite so abundant."

"Was not that a breath equal to the 'spicy breezes of Ceylon' that greeted us as the mouth of the oven door was taken down, and the savor of the rich compounds penetrated every crevice of the old kitchen, like sacrificial incense? Then, as the pies were taken out and landed on the brick hearth, and a number of pairs of eyes were watching the proceedings with the keenest interest, it would not be strange if pies and eyes sometimes got mixed up. I remember once quite a sensation was produced in the little crowd because brother T. lost his balance, and, for want of a chair to break his fall, sat down on one of the smoking hot pies!"

"After cooling and sorting, the precious delicacies were put away into the large closets in the front entry or hall, which the foot of the small boy was not permitted to profane."

"Wednesday was devoted to chicken pies and raised cake. The making of the latter was a critical operation. If I mistake not, it was begun on Monday. I believe the conditions must be quite exact to have the yeast perform its work perfectly in the rich conglomerated mass. In due time the cake is finished. The chicken pies are kept in the oven, so as to have them still hot for supper. The two turkeys have been made ready for the spit, the kitchen cleared of very vestige of the great carnival that has reigned for the last two days and there is a profound pause of an hour or two before the scene opens."

"The happy meetings, the loaded tables, the hilarity and good cheer that prevailed, checked but not subdued in after years as one and another of the seats are made vacant by the departures to a better land,—these are things to be imagined, but cannot be described."—Arria S. Huntington, in "Under a Colonial Roof Tree."

Kolster Radio

Come and Hear It!

We could tell you that Kolster Radio sets are extra selective and super-sensitive. But we prefer to make no claims.

We say, "Come and hear a Kolster Radio, or let us give you a demonstration at home if you prefer."

Kolster Radio appeals to the eye but its main appeal is to the ear.

Musical experts while they seek beautiful cabinets and advanced engineering, choose their radios chiefly by comparison.

Their critical ears demand the utmost in reproduction.

That is why Kolster Radio has become known as the "musician's radio." It is preferred by famous orchestral conductors, singers, composers and musicians.

THE SICK

Henry Townsend is confined to his home here as the result of an injury received in a football game in Baltimore on Thanksgiving Day.

Mrs. Richard Whittingham has been on the sick list with gripe.

Rich, heavy foods should be served with lighter, more succulent foods. This eases up the calories and avoids too heavy tax on the digestive system. For example, a light lettuce salad is relished with a heavy meat dish.

Newark To Play Du Pont Here Saturday

Local Stars Will Meet Soldiers In Final And Biggest Game

This Saturday, on Joe Frazer Field, the strong Fort du Pont team will battle with the Newark eleven. Since each team has suffered only one defeat, this game should be a closely contested one. The Tonies are the only team to chalk a win over the soldier boys.

This is Newark's biggest and final game of the season and it is expected that the local team will close their season with a bang.

Last Saturday the Newark aggregation easily defeated the Aberdeen team to the tune of 26 to 0. This game proved the fact that Newark is getting stronger as the season progresses. Newark had a triple threat backfield and a line that held. Saturday's game showed the true punch and spirit of the local eleven and with a continuance of this spirit a real battle can be expected on Joe Frazer Field. It is this spirit of stick-to-itiveness and cooperation that has carried Newark successfully through the season. The team now asks for the cooperation of the local fans. A good game is assured so all those interested in football should be on hand to give the team the glad hand.

As a remembrance of the spirit which has carried Newark's banner through the season with only one blemish, it is thought fitting that gold footballs be awarded to members who have fought for the team throughout the season. The awarding of such footballs is possible only when you and I attend the local games. Those of us who see the games realize that it is no small offering which a player gives to the team and the town which he represents. As a token of your appreciation, we hope that those who come to the game will donate their "bit" at the gate. Your donations will not be in vain. That famous son of Newark will perform—George V. (Shorty) Chalmers. "Shorty" was all-Maryland halfback last year and is out for the same honors this season. Potts Preston, the local fullback, always attracts the fans attention with his steam-roller like plunges. "Bill" Rupp and "Tom" Kay are good bets at skirting the ends or juggling forwards. "Reds" Gill, the speedboy who made the touchdown against the Terrapins possible, will be a bearcat to stop. "Jim" Keeley, local favorite and star-member of former famous local teams, will be in uniform. "Elzie" Carr, one of the best linesman Elton has ever turned out will be on deck for action.

The Newark team has four nights scheduled practice this week in the armory. Practice will commence at eight o'clock Thursday and Friday evenings. Line-up of the teams:

"BIG PARADE"

"The Big Parade," one of the most famous photoplays ever made, which has been seen, judging from statistics, by some twenty millions of people, will return to Wilmington for its first presentation at popular prices at the Arcadia Theatre, the week of December 5th.

The story of the World War as told in "The Big Parade" is not a biased account of the Great Conflict, but a true story of facts, representing war, not so much as a blaze of glory, but as an unfortunate necessity that must be assumed by a government at the cost of the pride of the race.

John Gilbert, for all of his previous and subsequent successes, has never done any characterization as triumphant as he does the doughboy in "The Big Parade." The rest of the cast, including Renee Adoree as the French girl, is superb.

HOPELESS CASE

Teacher: "Write 'I have gone' fifty times. Perhaps that will help you not to use 'I have gone'."

When the teacher came back, some time later, she found the following note: "Please, Miss Jones, I have written 'I have gone' fifty times, and I have gone home!"

THOUGHTFUL PUPIL

"Aren't you ashamed of yourself for making the teacher stay after school with you because you didn't have your lesson?"

"Yes, Mother, but I was perfectly willing for us both to go home."

One can bear grief, but it takes two to be glad.—Hubbard.

Newark A. C. Trims Strong Veteran's Team

Colored Eleven Wins From Atlantic City Service Men In Smashing Game, 12 To 0

The Newark A. C., colored, football team took the colored War Veterans of Atlantic City into camp on Saturday to the tune of 12 to 0. The game was played on the High School gridiron.

Things looked bad for Newark as the game opened with Atlantic City making a determined march down the field. Newark braced and held for downs on the one-yard line, and then led by quarterback "Mike" Wilson, ripped the Veterans line to shreds and forced them back into their own territory. The first touchdown came at the end of the first half.

Both teams played smashing football, with Newark winning with superior teamwork. Wilson's generalship and carrying the ball were the playing features of the game.

A large crowd attended and assembled on the Newark side of the field. Atlantic City was ably supported by a cheering section of one, with a megaphone bigger than he was.

Dr. Manns took motion pictures of the game and had Marshall Manns appear in blackface in a rehearsed scene. Line-up:

London schoolboys either have an unusual penchant for what are generally known as howlers, or else the London schools have an unusually astute publicity agent. Anyway, not the least of the humor that enlivens the London press arises in that way. The latest group of juvenile atrocities is:

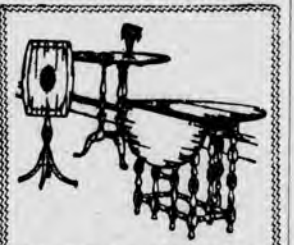

Cistercian: A garden plant with green leaves.

Macadam: The first Scotchman.

Boadicea: A dangerous serpent found in ancient Britain.

Theodolite: A saint mentioned in a poem by Browning.

Artisan: A kind of well.

Snowballs—And Snowballs

As we drove along, we told the dear old lady beside us that some one had put six snowballs into a thermos jug, placed the jug in the cold-storage plant of a steamer, and later had exhibited them to the wondering gaze of a family in Honolulu, who had never seen the like.

The dear old lady had been watching the beautiful blossoms on the lawns as we drove along. She seemed a moment, then she said, "Seems to me I would have taken roses." It's all in the point of view.

Delaware Rayon In Full Production

Delaware Rayon Co. at New Castle, Del., is now on a full production schedule, and is producing 3000 pounds of rayon yarn daily, according to John Mitchell, 3d, of James E. Mitchell Co., sole selling agents for the Delaware concern.

Production was started on a small scale early this year, but it was not until the first of the current month that full production was established, Mr. Mitchell said. The Delaware Rayon Co. employs the viscose process. J. P. Wright is president, and Leon Ryan is treasurer and general manager.

Prices on Delaware rayon, as given by Mr. Mitchell are as follows:

Fila-	Denier	ments	A.	B.	C.
150.....	30	$1.55	$1.50	$1.40
150.....	22	1.50	1.45	1.35
300.....	44	1.30	1.28	1.25

Rayon produced by the new firm has been well received in all branches of the trade, Mr. Mitchell said, and despite the prevailing competition distribution thus far has exceeded earlier expectations.

Evidence that rayon is expected to display continued growth is found in the fact that the largest producers are adhering to a policy of expansion in an effort to meet the growing demand, he said. With rayon constantly being put to new uses, coupled with the development and betterment of products in which it is already employed, there is every reason for belief that the demand will grow consistently in the future, he believed.

Newark Wins From Aberdeen, 26 To 0

Local Stars, Headed By "Shorty" Chalmers, Deluge Service Team

High class talent that could synchronize gave the Newark football team an overwhelming victory against the powerful eleven of 49th Aero Squadron from the Aberdeen Proving Grounds in a game played on Frazer Field, Saturday. The score was 26 to 0. This makes Newark's fourth victory in five games.

The crowd of local fans who turned out to see the game were well impressed with the work of the local eleven. The Newark backs repeatedly tore off long gains. "Shorty" Chalmers was perhaps Newark's best ground gainer, but he was ably helped by Potts Preston at fullback, who could tear through Aberdeen's line for long gains every time he took the ball. "Bill" Rupp and "Tom" Kay were also consistent ground gainers. Newark's heavy line put up a stonewall defense and also opened gaping holes. The work of Captain "Phil" Cornog at center was excellent. His accurate passing of the ball as well as his nailing of the backs was a feature of the game.

The game was one of the cleanest ever played on Frazer Field.

Although Newark piled up an early and large lead on Aberdeen, the soldier boys were not disheartened, but fought gamely and cleanly every second of the game.

For Aberdeen the playing of Kiki, the plucky little end, was very good. His deadly tackling and lightning speed were notable features. Line-up:

And perfect the day shall be, when it is of all men understood that the beauty of Holiness must be in labour as well as in rest. Nay, more, if it may be, in labour; in our strength, rather than in our weakness; and in the choice of what we shall work for through the six days, and may know to be good at their evening time, than in the choice of what we pray for on the seventh, of reward or repose. With the multitude that keep holiday, we may perhaps sometimes vainly have gone up to the house of the Lord, and vainly there asked for what we fancied would be mercy; but for the few who labour as their Lord would have them, the mercy needs no seeking, and their wide home no hallowing. Surely, goodness and mercy shall follow them all the days of their life; and they shall dwell in the house of the Lord—forever.—John Ruskin.

HIGH AVERAGE

A good-natured traveler asked a Pullman porter the amount of his average tip. The porter replied that the average tip was $1. The man thereupon handed him a dollar bill. The Negro, caressing the bill, said: "Yassuh, boss, but you is the fast pussion what has come up to the average."—Exchange.

Henry Ford Gives Details Of New Car

creasing importance of acceleration, the Ford Motor Company has given a great deal of study to this feature of the new car. In high gear tests with two passengers in a Tudor sedan it has shown an acceleration of from 5 to 25 miles an hour in 8½ seconds.

The new Ford car also introduces a new type of four-wheel brakes. An exclusive Ford development, they are of mechanical, shoe-expanding type, and are self-centering. The brake pedal and the hand brake each operates all four brakes. It is stated that this is the most reliable and simplest type of four-wheel brake, and also the easiest to adjust, all adjustments being made from the outside without removing any parts.

An engine that is practically vibrationless develops 40 horsepower at 2,200 revolutions per minute. This low revolution speed in relation to the high horsepower is illustrative of the unusual efficiency of the engine. Also, it means longer life, the lower engine speed insuring less wear on engine parts. The low revolution speed is also a substantial factor in lessening vibration. The bore is 3½ inches, stroke 4¼ inches. The unusually large crankshaft, which is both statically and dynamically balanced, weighs 28 pounds. This balancing, combined with the lightness of aluminum alloy pistons, further combine to reduce vibration and increase riding and driving comfort and safety.

In addition to freedom from vibration, it is announced that the car is unusually quiet, a great deal of attention having been paid to this feature by the Ford engineers. In the engine, the timing gears are made of bakelite fabric, which is much quieter than metal. The cams on the camshaft have been so designed as to prevent valve clicking.

The coachwork of the car is as distinctive as its performance. There is a noticeable European touch in line and contour. It is not only designed for exterior beauty, but has as well the interior roominess, convenience and luxurious appointments to be found in much higher priced automobiles. On an instrument board of satin-finished nickel are mounted the speedometer, gasoline gauge, ammeter and ignition lock, with a dash-light in the center. The new military-type sun visor, with crown roof and round corners, are features of the closed models. Unusually narrow pillars and very wide doors and windows give maximum vision. Nickeled radiator shell and headlamps further accentuate the exterior attractiveness, while choices of four colors in pyroxylin finish are offered.

Simplicity in design has also been carried to the ignition. There is only one coil, in a waterproof case. There are no vibrators to adjust, and no exposed cables to work loose or short circuit from water. The distributor is located in a readily accessible position on top of the engine.

Centrifugal water pump, large radiator and airplane propeller-type fan provide a cooling system which makes the car very difficult to overheat, except from abuse, such as running without enough oil, or dry radiator.

From 20 to 30 miles to a gallon of gasoline, depending upon driving speed, is the gasoline consumption announced. Feed to carburetor is by gravity.

The oiling system, also a distinctive Ford design, is a combination of pump, splash and gravity feed. The new transmission is of the selective sliding gear type, with standard shift, three speeds forward and one reverse. The main shaft runs on ball bearings, the counter-shaft on roller bearings and the reverse idler on bronze bearings, a power-saving design unusual on light cars. Shifting of gears is noticeably and easily accomplished at the pressure of a finger.

Multiple dry-disc clutch, rear axle of three-quarter floating type housed in electrically welded steel, and spiral bevel gear drive are interesting features. The axle shafts carry none of the weight of the car, the wheels running on roller bearings on the housing. Newly developed springs of the transverse semi-elliptic type and hydraulic shock-absorbers prevent excessive up-and-down movement and remove side sway.

Reversible steering gear, which prevents shocks from being transmitted back to the hands of the driver, makes handling exceptionally easy. Maximum steering safety is further provided by a gear housing of welded steel forgings, and a steel tube steering column welded into the housing, making a sturdy and exceptionally safe one-piece unit.

Ford-designed steel spoke wheels, completely welded into a one-piece assembly, are provided.

There are six models of the new car. They are the phaeton, roadster, sport coupe, coupe, Tudor sedan and Fordor sedan.

The Fader Motor Company is preparing for a public reception on Friday, when models of the new line will be shown in photographs and charts.

Professional Instinct

A tailor had a great desire to hear one of his customers, a celebrated tenor, sing. Obliging, the tenor gave him a couple of tickets for his next appearance at the opera house.

Meeting him a few days later, he asked whether he had enjoyed the performance.

"Oh, it was awful!" replied the tailor.

"Awful! What do you mean?"

"Your coat," the other groaned, "It was too tight under the arms."

"There are many people who seem to think that it is not social service to tell other people to grow potatoes. The fact is, however, that if you are going to do real service, you have got to serve your neighbor."

Of Course

Uncle Jim had given his smaller nephew a dime, and not long afterward the child appeared, long of face, to report. "That dime you gave me slipped through a hole in my pocket."

"Well, here's another," said Uncle Jim. "Don't let this one get lost, too."

The youngster looked thoughtful. "Perhaps half a dollar would be safer, wouldn't it, Uncle?"

Rare Coin

He: "Here is a silver franc piece I brought you from Paris as a souvenir."

She: "Oh, thanks. I wish you'd thought to bring me home one of those Latin Quarters I read so much about."—American Mutual Magazine.

WILMINGTON—NEWARK

OBITUARY

PATRICK HORTY

Patrick Harty, who was more than 96 years of age, died on Thanksgiving Day at the Flower Hospital, where he had been a patient for more than eleven months. He had been an invalid for a long time, and was a patient for seven years at the P. and S. Hospital in Wilmington. Mr. Harty was a veteran of the Civil War, and formerly lived in Wilmington.

The funeral was held at Sacred Heart Church, Wilmington, on November 26. Interment was made in the Cathedral Cemetery.

HAROLD P. MURPHY

Harold P. Murphy, aged four months, the son of Powell and Charlotte Murphy, of Christiana, died on November 29. The funeral service will be conducted at the home tomorrow morning, December 1, at 10 o'clock, by Reverend Hanson, of New Castle. Interment will be made in the Presbyterian Cemetery at New Castle.

MRS. CORA DE GROFT

Mrs. Cora De Groft, aged 52 years, wife of Charles De Groft, and daughter of the late Robert and Mary Hawthorne, died at the Physicians' and Surgeons' Hospital in Wilmington, on November 26. The funeral services were conducted yesterday afternoon at her home in Ogletown, by Reverend Spence, pastor of Christiana M. E. Church. Interment was made in White Clay Creek Cemetery.

Mrs. De Groft is survived by one son by a former marriage, Clifford Lynam; a sister, Mrs. Howard De Groft, and two brothers, Francis Hawthorne and Wilmer S. Hawthorne, all of Ogletown.

MRS. AZVIANNA E. REEDER

Mrs. Azvianna E. Reeder, aged 73 years, died on November 28 at the home of her son-in-law, Jehu S. Taylor, near Marshallton. The funeral services will be held at that place tomorrow afternoon, December 1, at 1 o'clock. Interment will be made at Rose Bank Cemetery, at Calvert, Maryland.

Farm Bureau Holds First Fall Meeting

structed to secure additional pins needed. These 4-H pins have been purchased each year by the County Farm Bureau and awarded to the completing 4-H members as a reward for the work done during the year. The pin has a 4-leaf clover design on each leaf of which is inscribed an "H". The 4-H's stand for Head, Heart, Hands and Health.

A special feature of the meeting will be the free lunch served to the first 50 county farm bureau members who signify their intention of attending the annual meeting.

Attend Producers' Meeting

Mr. H. C. Milliken, President of the New Castle County Farm Bureau, and George M. Worrlow, Assistant County Agent, attended the 11th annual meeting of the Inter-State Milk Producers' Association in Philadelphia on Monday and Tuesday of this week. The meetings of the Association were held in the Benjamin Franklin Hotel.

The session on Monday was executive in nature, members of the Association and invited guests alone being admitted. The afternoon was given over to the President's annual report and for general business. Special addresses were made at this session by J. W. Jones, of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and Hon. R. C. Bressler, Deputy Secretary of Agriculture for Pennsylvania.

The annual banquet of the Association was held Monday evening in the ball room of the Benjamin Franklin Hotel. As usual at these banquets the Philadelphia Inter-State Dairy Council presented some of its newest offerings as entertainment. The program included two numbers for the purpose of increasing the knowledge of the consuming public as to the value of dairy products in the diet.

Visits by the delegates of the Association to the milk distribution plants of the Philadelphia milk dealers were made on Tuesday. Mr. Milliken and Mr. Worrlow, with others, visited one of the largest milk plants in Philadelphia. Mr. T. E. Woodward, Superintendent of the U. S. Bureau of Dairying Experimental Farm at Beltsville, Maryland, talked on some of the essential factors in efficient production, and Dr. Theodore Appel, Secretary of Health of Pennsylvania, discussed the important steps in a safe milk supply at the general educational meeting on Tuesday.

DRIVER FINED

Theodore Rivero, a driver for the Fernow Construction Company, was yesterday fined $10 and costs by Magistrate Thompson for driving a truck without a rear vision mirror. He was arrested by State Highway Officer Edward Carpenter.

WOMEN VOTERS LEAGUE HAS ANNUAL LUNCHEON

Local Girl Wins Prize for Essay on "Legal Status of Women in Delaware"

The annual meeting and luncheon of the Delaware League of Women Voters, which was held yesterday at the Hotel Richardson, in Dover, was attended by fifty members of the League from all parts of the State. Dr. Charles A. Walker, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Dover, made the invocation. Mrs. I. Paul Jones, president of the Dover branch of the League, welcomed the guests and Mrs. A. D. Warner, a past president of the State League, responded.

An address was made by Russell Ramsey, of Arden, secretary of the Taxpayers' Research League of Delaware, on the subject, "Woman's Opportunity in Government." Short talks were made by Professor Barkley, of the History Department of the University of Delaware, and Mrs. Casper Whitney, regional director of the League.

At the conclusion of the luncheon, Mrs. Frederick Bringham, of Wilmington, president of the Delaware League of Women Voters, presented to Marjorie L. Johnson, of this town, the prize which was offered by the League for the best essay written by a student at Women's College on the subject, "The Legal Status of Women in Delaware."

CORRECTION

It was reported in last week's issue of The Post that Constable William Wideman, on Saturday night, November 19, raided a crap game and arrested eight participants. The time of the raid was in error; having actually taken place at 2:30 Saturday morning.

"Our government rests upon religion, and religion is the source from which we derive our revenue for truth and justice, for equality and liberty, and for the rights of mankind."—Calvin Coolidge.

Lodge Notes

K. OF P.

The Knights of Pythias held an interesting meeting on Monday evening when plans were made for a busy winter. It is the aim of the organization to have something going on every Monday evening. Brother William Tryans is going to furnish the entertainment on next Monday evening, December 5th, all members are requested to be on hand, there will also be an initiation on hand.

On last Wednesday evening William Tryans, Leslie Hill, Willy Von Ehren, Carl Ramsey and Mark P. Malcolm attended a quarterly meeting of the D. O. K. K., an organization connected with the Knights of Pythias, at Dover, Del.

MINEOLA COUNCIL

On December 6th Mineola Council No. 17, Degree of Pocahontas, will present a three-act comedy entitled, "The Beantown Choir," in the lodge room at Union, Del. Benefit of Leola Council.

NOTICE

The second preliminary meeting of those interested in forming a council of Sons and Daughters of Liberty will take place on Friday evening, December 2, at the home of Mrs. Christodora on Park avenue, Newark. The object of this order is to preserve the sacredness of the American Sabbath Day, to maintain and protect the public school system of the United States and demand the reading of the Bible in every school in our land, to restrict immigration so as to exclude the ignorant, the diseased, the pauper and those generally undesirable.

Its purpose is to teach American-born men and women the necessity of perpetuating American principles by and through organization and arouse a sentiment of America for Americans.

Does not every man and woman who loves their country as they ought, believe it to be their duty to unite with us? And by the work they can do in our council chambers, by the strength they can give us in the community at large, place us in that position, wherein the grand work of such a noble and patriotic order can be accomplished.

We ask the hearty support of all good citizens. "United we stand, divided we fall."

Sara Tryens, Deputy Organizer.

JR. O. U. A. M.

On Monday evening, November 28, American Flag Council, No. 28, held a spirited meeting with a large attendance. Encouraging reports were heard from various committees. Several new applications were received and voted on.

Plans were made to pay a visit to Old Glory Council, No. 12, at Delaware City on Friday, December 2. All brothers are requested to assemble at the Council room at 7:00 p. m.

American Flag Council will take a class of candidates to the Jr. O. U. A. M. Home, No. 907 Tatnall street, Wilmington, on Tuesday evening, December 6, to be initiated. The degree work will be exemplified by the degree team from Vigilant Council, No. 19, from Laurel, Delaware.

HOUSE PLANTS

House plants brought indoors for winter keeping should be given plenty of water and sunlight. Be sure that the pots are scoured thoroughly and filled with fresh soil before the plants are set out.

Geraniums belong in every window garden but are wont to grow ungainly in form. Prune them down to assist their symmetrical growth.

Ferns brought from the green-house now will become acclimated to the atmospheric conditions of the house better than if the change be made in mid-winter.

Any newly potted plant will appreciate being put out of doors in a sheltered place on very mild days before winter sets in.

Anyone who has had difficulty in starting hardy phlox from seeds may solve the problem by sowing the seeds in the fall and mulching well. In the spring, when the covering is removed, the tiny plants will be peeping above the ground. When large enough to handle, they may be transplanted to the borders, where they usually bloom from July until frost.

Success with sweet peas is dependent largely upon getting an early start. Two methods are commonly followed, and it is difficult to know which is to be more highly recommended. One is to plant the seeds in the fall and the other to prepare a place in the fall and plant in early spring.

For fall planting dig a trench one foot deep, fill it to within three inches of the top with rich, well-worked soil and, just before the ground freezes, plant the seeds six inches deep. They will remain dormant until spring.

For early spring planting, dig in the fall a trench at least two feet deep and carefully work the dug-out soil. In the bottom of the trench put in cinders or stones for drainage, then fill to within a few inches of the top with the garden loam mixed with well-rotted barnyard fertilizer or leaf mold. The seeds may be planted in the trench the following spring just before the frost is out of the ground.
