'DeIDOT taking our life away'

A weary and disgruntled group of residents met on Aug. 29 in the clubhouse at the Stonestrow development to hear some answers about construction work on nearby Route 896.

It was one of many such meetings this year, and again, there were no real answers forthcoming.

On July 30, representatives of the governor's office and the Delaware Department of Transportation had promised to return on Aug. 29 with responses to complaints about the effects of the widening of 896 on nearby communities.

However, only Guthrie Carter, the governor's director for constituents concerns, showed up on the 29th. "I don't really have any answers," said Carter. "Glenn Pusey of DeIDOT said he was going to be

Could discs go 'round' any faster?

For the second time in three months, Linda Kangur of Disc-Go-Round came before city council to plead for help with city rules she said are hurting her business.

Speaking to councilmembers on Aug. 26, Kangur said the problem is a 15-day holding period for used CDs at her Galleria store opened in April. "I'm losing sales by having to hold merchandise," said Kangur. "CDs are an impulse purchase and if someone comes in to buy one I'm required to hold, they're not likely to wait two weeks. They just go across the street and buy it somewhere else."

Class of 2000 arrives in Newark

By ROB WHERRY

NEWARK POST CONTRIBUTING WRITER

When most of the University of Delaware's Class of 2000 gathered on the Mall Tuesday for the new student convocation, they were greeted with the first test of their college careers from university provost Mel Schiavelli.

"The Steel Phantom... the Cyclone... the Ultimate... the Thriller... What do they all have in common?" asked Schiavelli.

NEWARK POST ❖ POLICE BLOTTER

■ Police Blotter is compiled each week from the files of the Newark Police Department, The New Castle County Police Department and the Delaware State Police by staff writer Mary E. Petzak.

Residence burglarized

Newark police report that sometime between Aug. 25 at 2:30 p.m. and Aug. 29 at 3:40 p.m. unknown persons burglarized a residence in the 700 block of Elkton Road by entering through a rear door. Taken were a Motorola CD player, a VCR, an answering machine, 70 CDs and an undisclosed amount of cash. One of the CDs was a special order called "Dance of the Rainbow Serpent."

Sliding glass door entered

On Sept. 1 between 1:30 and 8:30 p.m., unknown persons burglarized a residence on Blue Jay Drive after breaking a sliding glass door at the rear. Taken were silverware and jewelry valued at $2,750. Anyone with information is asked to call Newark police at 366-7111.

Bicyclist killed

State police report that an alcohol was a factor in the death of a man riding a bike on Paper Mill Road on the afternoon of Aug. 31. According to police, James A. Shoemaker, 46, was pronounced dead at the scene after being struck by a Ford Bronco driven by Mark C. Gaaney, 26, of Pike Creek, as Shoemaker bicycled along the road together with his 13-year-old son. Police said Gaaney left the scene and the Bronco was seen driving over a neighbor's lawn later with Gaaney at the wheel. Gaaney has been charged with vehicular homicide.

Pool chemicals explode

Newark police report that on Aug. 30 around 8 p.m. a 48-year-old Newark woman was mixing two commonly used pool chemicals in a bucket of water when the mixture exploded. The explosion caused minor chemical burns to the woman and her 15-year-old son who were transported to Christiana Hospital. Neighbors told police the explosion could be heard for blocks.

Double homicide investigated

State police are investigating the remains of two persons, each of whom was shot once in the head, found near Route 7 north of Brown's Lane on Sept. 3. According to police, the discovery came after a report of a skull found in the same area on Sept. 1. State police detectives went out on Tuesday to begin a terrain search and found the fully-clothed bodies. Police said neither body was believed to be that of Anne Marie Fahey missing since June.

Child injured in collision

State police report that on Sept. 1 around 3 p.m. a 1986 Buick Century driven by James Visco, 31, of Newark was stopped at a traffic light near the intersection of Porter Road and Route 896 when it was struck from the rear by a 1988 Chevrolet Blazer driven by Lee Sweetman, 30, of Townsend. Passengers in Visco's car included his wife and three children, an 8-year-old, a 4-year-old and a 7-week-old infant. The 4-year-old daughter was flown to Christiana Hospital where she was treated for a fractured femur. No other serious injuries were reported. Sweetman has been charged with inattentive driving.

Sexual assault of child

County police report that sometime around 3:30 a.m. on Aug. 24 a 7-year-old girl was kidnapped from the Glasgow Trailer Park. According to police, David Franklin, 31, of Clayton was spending the night at the residence and awakened the child and took her to his vehicle parked outside. He then drove her to an unknown location and assaulted and fondled her. He then returned her to her home and drove away. At first the child's parents thought she had been sleepwalking, but finally notified police. The child was treated at A.I. duPont Institute but had no apparent injuries. Franklin has been charged with kidnapping, unlawful sexual penetration and unlawful sexual contact.

Curbside recycling workshops scheduled

Workshops to present a pilot program for curbside recycling in Newark will be held on four upcoming nights at the Municipal Building on Elkton Road.

The information sessions for the communities of Barksdale Estates, Cherry Hill Manor, Blair Village, College Park, Westfield, Elkton Road and the east half of Abbotsford are on Sept. 10 and 16. Both paper and aluminum cans will be recycled in those neighborhoods.

The communities of Cherry Hill, Elan, Country Hills, Pheasant Run, Country Place and the west half of Abbotsford are invited to meetings on Sept. 12 and 17 where plans to recycle paper will be discussed.

The pilot recycling program starts November 4 and continues for 26 weeks. All workshops begin at 7 p.m. in the city council chambers.

Busing starts off with a bang

THE FIRST DAY of school in the Christina District "opened nicely," according to one school official, but that was the good news.

About 3 p.m. on Tuesday, just as buses were rolling in every direction to pick up and deliver students far and wide, a serious accident involving a district school bus shut down northbound Interstate 95 for three hours.

State police said a 1989 Mazda 323 driven by Gloria Grenough, 20, of Dover, was rapidly changing lanes on the northbound side of the interstate at Churchmans Marsh near Route 7. The vehicle struck the left side of a pickup truck driven by Charles Gray, 35, of Annapolis, Md., bounced off, and then drove under the back of a yellow school bus stopped on the shoulder of the road.

Bus driver Robert Grees, 21, of Newark, was sitting in the school bus and waiting for assistance when the accident occurred. No students were on the bus.

Grenough was trapped under the bus until emergency personnel could remove her and transport her to Christiana Hospital where she was listed in critical condition with severe head trauma, a broken neck, and a punctured lung. No other injuries were reported.

Christina officials said approximately 15 buses which take students to and from Wilmington at that hour were trapped on the highway while the northbound lanes were closed and southbound traffic slowed to pass the scene. "We were able to alert drivers who had not gotten on yet and some were able to get off at other exits," said district spokesperson John Holton. "But some were trapped there and the situation had quite an impact on our schedule."

According to Holton, the last students in the district arrived home hours late at about 5:30 p.m. "Every bus carries a list of students and telephone numbers to notify parents in an emergency," said Holton. "But that's for an incident involving one bus. There was no way we could call thousands of parents."

In this situation, Holton said the district basically relied on the news media to get the word out.

"But other than that one incident," said Holton, "we opened really nicely on the first day."

Wish list on BGCCO agenda

A WISH LIST of desirable services and amenities for residents of the Route 40 area will be the subject of discussion at the Sept. 9 meeting of the Bear/Glasgow Council of Civic Organizations.

According to council president Deborah Cuomo, the problem is too many people concentrated in the area with nothing to do. "There's nothing there — no museums, no theater, no cultural anything," said

Cuomo recently. "You can only go to so many movies and they're expensive."

Among the items listed by the approximately 60 people attending the workshop held at Hodgson Vo-Tech School in February were: a regional park similar to Delcastle Recreation Area; library; police station; courthouse; theater; public meeting facilities; town hall; and community service buildings.

Cuomo said residents want "a lot more trees and less commercial use of land" in the area. Landscaping in the Route 40 median, extension of greenways, preservation of wooded areas in developments and state purchases of open space were also mentioned as important.

While there is now a state police substation in Fox Run Shopping Center as well as a county substation in the Boys and Girls Club, Cuomo said as far as residents are concerned, "there are no police stations" in the area now encompassing more than 20,000 households.

A grassroots group has raised $5 million to build a library on land donated by the Delle Donne and Associates but still cannot proceed. "Most of the money raised so far is state and county funding and we can't start until we raise at least $750,000 in local money," said Carol Harrington of the Friends of the Bear Library. The nearest library at present is ten miles away in Newark.

Harrington said local funding is a stumbling block because many of the area's 70,000 residents (including 15,000 school-age children) are in the 19-44 age group.

"They don't have the money for a library donation," said Harrington. "They're saving to send kids to college."

The public is welcome at BGCCO meetings held at 7 p.m. in Room 209 of the Glasgow Medical Center on Route 896.

Nick Awad, of Ho Ho Kus, N.J., pauses for a smoke Sunday outside the Dickinson complex after moving two daughters into their dorms at the University of Delaware. One daughter is a senior, the other a freshman.

'College is like a roller-coaster,' freshmen told

► CLASS, from 1

When the crowd, busy fanning themselves to stave off the heat, replied "Rollercoasters," Schiavelli smiled and agreed.

He added that it was the International Year of the Rollercoaster and that like the ups and downs of that famous ride, so will be the next four years of school.

But more important was the underlying hype surrounding the fact that this class, the first to graduate in a new millennium, will experience a completely different picture when leaving this campus in four years.

University president David P. Roselle speculated that four years from now commencement speakers would be saying, "make a difference in a new millennium."

U. S. President Bill Clinton, speaking at the Democratic Convention recently, remarked that this generation of students could be doing jobs that haven't been invented.

Most of the students at the ceremony had other concerns on their minds, however. "You know I haven't really thought about it," said Megan Forster a freshman in the college of art and sciences. "I'm just worried about making it to class first."

The same sentiments rang true a few rows back.

"I can't believe that this time last week I was sitting on the beach," said Michael Smiley who will study business.

Schiavelli offered some advice that included following a passion and finding a mentor on campus. He summed up his remarks by mentioning a bumper sticker that he saw while on vacation this summer.

It read: "Be concerned about your future, you're going to spend the rest of your life there."

The big squeeze

STUDENTS flowed back to the University of Delaware in an enthusiastic stream starting late last week and continuing through Labor Day.

With 3,377 students accepting an offer to attend the university, officials had to find rooms for 300 more students than last year.

Thirty freshmen will have to live in converted floor lounges in the Dickinson dorms and nearly one out of every three freshman will be crowded into a room with two other students, even though the rooms are designed for only two occupants.

Crowded dorms has been an occasional problem at the university since the 1970s. In 1974, the university faced a 500-bed shortage and in 1993, 76 students were housed in converted study lounges.

About one-third of Delaware's 21,000 students live in dormitories, including 95 percent of the freshmen. University officials said students in the converted lounges and 151 triple rooms will receive reduced rates until other space becomes available.

District numbers up as school year begins

By MARY E. PETZAK

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Schoolchildren throughout Delaware went back to school on Tuesday in ever-growing numbers and administrators at the Christina School District welcomed a substantial amount of their own.

John Holton, spokesman for the district, said enrollment would definitely exceed the 19,868 students in 1995 as well as the expected numbers for 1996.

"We projected 20,200 students," said Holton. "However, as of Aug. 23, we already had 20,233 on roll and typically there's a small surge when students show up who were not previously registered."

Assistant school superintendent Franklin Rishel said first day reports from the schools indicate the numbers will definitely be going up. "We just don't know how much yet."

Christina's enrollment numbers continued to climb even while schools entered the first year of School Choice attendance. In August, the governor's office announced that nearly 4,400 Choice applications were received for the state's 100,000 plus students. The report noted that 90 percent of the applicants changed schools but stayed within their home districts.

As of this week, 1,104 students had applied for and been given their choice of schools in the Christina district for the coming year. Rishel said. Even though the deadline for Choice applications was last January, parents who applied during the year due to relocation or other good cause were given consideration.

"I had to write back to about 75 parents and tell them their application was denied because they did not have good cause or the school of their choice was already full," said Rishel. "We made every effort to accommodate requests, though, and suggested they apply for a school not at capacity if they had good cause."

In addition to sharing space with more of their peers, some high school students will earn more credits thanks to new requirements approved by the state board of education in July. Starting with 10th graders, students need 22 credits in required courses to graduate, up from the previous 19 credits.

The board also decided that Delaware students will have to take more math and science classes, know their way around a computer, and be familiar with the arts to get a high school diploma in the year 2000.

The state board rejected a late effort to add a required foreign-language credit, but board members said they would revisit the issue later.

Social studies classes at all Christina District middle and high schools will have new textbooks this year for the first time in about a decade.

The textbooks were field-tested by teachers during the past year and each school selected social studies materials to be used this year.

Murray Alt, a social studies teacher at Glasgow High School, said in his opinion, these books are "so beautiful" the students can not help learning.

This coming year, district elementary teachers will review social studies materials for field-testing. Because social studies is constantly changing, teachers select a combination of textbooks, maps, globes, computer software, and other written materials to field test.

District officials report that over the past two years, $1.1 million was already spent for materials in reading and the language arts.

To date, all elementary, middle and high school students in the district have already received new language arts materials or English textbooks.

Jones Elementary dedication Sunday

THE ONLY SCHOOL in the Christina district not bearing the name of a "significant individual" will be formally re-dedicated this week.

Christiana-Salem Elementary School officially becomes the Albert H. Jones Elementary School during a ceremony starting at 1 p.m. Sunday on Main Street in Christiana.

Jones was president of the Christiana-Salem School Board from 1956 to 1960, during which he oversaw the merger of Christiana-Salem and the Newark Special School District in 1960.

Beginning in 1964, Jones served on the Newark Special School District Board, part of the time as president, until resigning in 1974 to accept an appointment from then Governor Sherman W. Tribbitt to be president of the state board of education. Jones continued in that position under governors Pierre E. S. DuPont and Michael V. Castle.

According to school officials, former state school superintendent William Keene approached the district about naming a school for Jones following his death in April, 1995.

"I knew Albert Jones for a long time," said Keene who also served on the Newark Special School District Board. "He was probably the number one education supporter in the history of the district and one of the most outstanding people I have known in my lifetime."

Keene said Christiana-Salem was the only school left in the district not named for an individual already. "That also happened to be the town where he lived most of his life and his children attended school," explained Keene.

Charles Hockersmith, president of the Christina school board will dedicate the building at the ceremony presided over by school principal Martin C. Groundland. Featured speakers include Tribbitt, Keene, and Dr. Iris Metts, current Christina School District superintendent.

According to the resolution prepared by the Christina District school board, a plaque and portrait of Jones will be placed in the school to proclaim the new name and Jones' service to education in Christiana and Delaware. Jones' widow, Sylvia P. Jones, is expected to unveil the portrait and Jones' three children and six grandchildren will also attend.

Community Day set Sept. 15

NEWARK'S Community Day will rise and shine on the University of Delaware Mall again this year despite construction work limiting the available space.

Organizers promise that all of the traditional exhibits and entertainment, profiling Newark's many facets, will be included in the festive fall events starting at 10 a.m. on Sept. 15.

Local groups will demonstrate the abilities of a kennel club, gymnastics, square dancers, martial arts, jazzercise and scottish dancers starting at 10:30 a.m. between Sharp Laboratory and Wolf Hall in the center of the Mall.

City and school district officials, community organizations and political candidates will supply information and answer questions for interested residents while 75 juried artists and craftspeople exhibit original works for sale.

Food will be amply available as always and children's crafts and activities, as well as the very popular scarecrow-making, will again take place.

Entertainers from Generations, the "Planet Folle" band, Nazaries, the Newark Community Band, Dayspring, the Mary Archer band, Keys, Announcements, and Juliet's Wishing Well will provide music and color throughout the day on two music stages.

Co-sponsored by the university and the city of Newark with assistance from the Newark Lions, the Christina School District, the Newark Arts Alliance also plays a part this year.

Primary elections tomorrow, polling places open 8 a.m.

The statewide primary takes place tomorrow with few local races in the running but a number of area residents putting themselves on the line.

In the State Senate 9th district, Republicans James E. Flynn of Roseville Park and Fritz Griesinger of the Hills of Skyline vie for the opportunity to challenge Democratic incumbent Thomas B. Sharp in November.

Contenders for New Castle County council include Republicans Joseph Miro and Rosemary Rafferty, both Newark residents, in county council #3. Glasgow resident Stephanie Hansen, former president of the Bear-Glasgow Council of Civic Organizations, is facing incumbent Theodore Ryan of Townsend for a shot at the county council president's seat.

Newark resident Peter Jamison is challenging Thomas Leipold for a chance at the county executive position, while Kenneth Boulden Jr. of Bear is seeking a spot on the November ballot for county clerk of peace.

Polling places are open throughout the state from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. For questions about where to vote, call the Department of Elections at 577-3464.

Stalemate likely to continue

Half of the state Senate and the full House of Representatives are up for re-election this year. But when the elections are over, don't expect to see a change in the balance of power.

Democrats most likely will continue to control the Senate and the Republicans will still rule in the House.

James Soles, political science professor at the University of Delaware, said district lines and the number of unopposed incumbents will play a major role in the final makeup of the General Assembly.

"Delaware usually returns incumbents and there seems to be no extraordinary divisive issues out there," Soles said.

Will we be strangled?

THE FIGURES SPEAK for themselves. The gap between funding and the transportation needs of New Castle County is widening.

The Delaware Department of Transportation's capital budget requests will fall well below $200 million in coming years. The figure could drop to about $100 million a year by the year 2000, a dramatic contrast to the $300 million yearly spending figures earlier in the decade as construction got under way on the Route 1 project.

Compounding the challenge will be the aging interstate system and past neglect that is now being more aggressively addressed by DelDOT.

A coalition of county business groups is pushing for additional transportation funding to meet the needs of the Delaware transportation system. Their efforts deserve strong support from the Newark business community.

While some disagreement exists over whether the state has become overly cautious in its borrowing practices, it is clear that transportation revenues will have to be increased.

Yes, this will mean an increase in the gasoline tax and other user fees. We also believe the Legislature needs to revisit the issue of paying the overhead costs of the Delaware Department of Transportation with Transportation Trust Fund revenues.

A Delaware House working group has proposed using the General Fund to pick up $10 million in DelDOT operating expenses, thereby freeing up $42 million annually for capital projects. The figure comes by leveraging available funds and bonds.

The purpose of the Trust Fund was to provide a reliable source of funding from fuel taxes and user fees. Unfortunately, it has become a back door to boost spending without an overall tax increase. Given the burden the Trust Fund currently shoulders, we seem to be back to business as usual with transportation struggling for scarce resources.

None of this is intended to favor highway work over mass transit, improved land use or other alternatives. Work should continue in all of these areas to make maximum use of available funding. However, without some boosts in overall funding, it is hard to see how transit or improved land use can have any impact on congestion.

No one likes to talk about spending more money. However, the message is clear. Without additional funding for transportation, Delaware's remarkable economic performance could be strangled by gridlock.

Traffic relief for Newark?

By SHIRLEY TARRANT

NEWARK POST COLUMNIST

SO, the first meeting of the Western Newark Traffic Relief Committee had to be canceled because at least six of its 15 members were unavailable. Well, we have waited over 30 years for some serious heads to get together and solve Newark's traffic problems, so I guess we can wait another few weeks. Summertime, especially late August, is the absolutely worst time to expect people to come out for some serious thinking about anything!

Tarrant

At its first meeting, I hope this committee will set an agenda for action, not talk. Enough with the talk. These folks need to take the most recent map of the City of Newark and look for possible locations for a relief route. In or out of Delaware, something must be done. If a plan is not underway within the next five years, we can forget any solution to our traffic problems. The options will be lost, such as they exist today. This may require action at the federal level, if the state is not willing to address Newark's serious, long-time traffic problems.

'Don't let the turkeys get you down'

By DOUG RAINEY

SPECIAL TO THE NEWARK POST

A FEW YEARS AGO, a popular greeting card carried the message: "Don't Let the Turkeys Get You Down." I feel like sending the card to the staff of the New Castle County Vocational Technical District.

Several stories in the Newark Journal have painted the New Castle

Rainey

County Vocational Technical School District as a prolific spender.

First of all, this is not a general criticism of investigative journalism. It definitely has its place and the issues raised by the N-J over the performance of a state employee and pensions of legislators deserved a full airing.

In the case of the vo-tech district, we have the example of the proverbial cannon being aimed at an ant. In the latest revelation, the district, under the

OUT OF THE ATTIC

This week's photograph shows Linden Hall which was located south of the present Amtrak rail line near the train depot on South College Avenue. According to Ruth Lewis Miller of Windy Hills, who sent in the picture, the large red brick house was built by James S. Martin who also built the Deer Park Hotel. First used as a ladies seminary, the building later served as a boarding house for ladies and in the 1930s, as a tavern and a residence called the Lockerman home. Between 1951 and 1952, the Chrysler Tank Plant had a temporary office for their purchasing department there. The building was torn down in the 1960s. "Out of the Attic" features photographs from Newark's history, recent and long ago. If you have a historic photo, we'd like to share it with our readers. Special care will be taken so that it can be returned to you after it is printed in this feature. For information, call the Newark Post, weekdays, 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., at 737-0724.

Boys' and Girls' Club Have Fine Exhibit

After all is said and done, the Boys and Girls Club Exhibits at the State Fair are taking Blue Ribbons in the minds of all who visit the annual event. In that display, Newark, as usual has reason to be proud for the exhibit of the New Castle Boys and Girls Club under the County Leadership of Miss Agnes Medill. Truly the exhibit is a wonderful one and yesterday, being New Castle Day, the building was crowded with interested friends and spectators.

The University of Delaware has its own building and it is there that the boys and girls have won their merited laurels. Mess Medill has 15 Clubs throughout the county with a membership of over 300.

The exhibit consists of sewing in all its branches, the practical as well as artistic—dresses, sewing bags, aprons, even darning and patching. Then the exhibit of canned goods is attractive and received more than ordinary commendation.

Public Schools Open

With 628 children arriving on the public school grounds and more coming, the faculty of the local public schools gasped when asked for a school story this week. Conditions already are fearfully crowded, and many rural pupils are not yet registered. The sight yesterday morning was interesting to the casual observer and distractingly confusing to the teaching staff.

There is a registration already of 163 in this year's high school, of which 23 wear the expression of Seniors. Freshmen enthusiastic, Sophomores easily discernible, Juniors with hair combed and sixteen year old smile, Grammar grades, Primary tots, all in mixed array gave the usual Fall demonstration of America's bulwark, known on the platform at least as Democracy's Public School.

University Taking Special Measures to House Students

The housing shortage at the University of Delaware remains a problem, according to Stuart Sharkey, director of the residence life office at the U of D. To help alleviate the shortage, some 118 students are now living at two area motels and the university has rented Ivy Hall Apartments. Students are also living in triple rooms and some sleep on bunk beds in converted recreation rooms in the residence hall.

Schools

The State Department of Public Instruction reports that the schools of Newark will open with over a four per cent increase in enrollment as compared with the one and one-half per cent decrease in total enrollment throughout Delaware.

The tremendous influx of people into the Newark area has been cited as the single most important cause of this reversal in State trends. Newark is in the center of the most rapidly growing area in the State.

Most Glasgow Residents OK 896 Reopening Plan

The state highway department's plan to reopen one southbound lane of the old Del. 896 has been accepted by residents along the route, but at least one property owner still plans to oppose it. Concerns of residents along the roadway about the reopening of "old" Del. 896, or South College Avenue, were addressed by Raymond Richter, assistant director of reconstruction for DelDOT, at a meeting held last week.

'Addressing Newark's traffic problems is not a new idea'

► TARRANT, from 6

I have to laugh or I would never get through the frustration of learning about WILMAPCO's four-day workshop last June to produce a plan which would 'scale down' Martin Luther King Boulevard to create driving connections between Wilmington's nearby neighborhoods. As far as I know, this is a new idea. How about a workshop to produce a plan which would 'scale down' the traffic in Newark? Where is WILMAPCO on this? Addressing Newark's severe traffic problems is not a new idea!

It amazes me that suddenly someone has realized that those Interstate-95 off-ramps entering Wilmington are obstacles for the Martin Luther King Boulevard neighborhoods to cross and to connect with the Christina riverfront development. Well, that riverfront development is a long way off. And DELDOT secretary Anne P. Canby assured me that "so are the boulevard changes." So, why a workshop on such a project at this time? I know that one should plan ahead, but this (project) is ridiculous. When do we begin to plan a relief route for Newark? —when the cows come home?"

Hey, what route will they take?

Lost in the quest for the latest headline leadership of Superintendent Dennis Loftus, was criticized for its spending on teacher training. A few examples were cited, including use of a Maryland resort and a crab feast. The state's other two districts also came in for criticism.

► RAINEY, from 6

It added up to a rap on the knuckles that included a scathing editorial, a cartoon with teachers frolicking by the pool and the obligatory "we view this with alarm" comment from a state legislator.

What was missing was a perspective on how the New Castle district, under Dr. Loftus, has undergone a dramatic turnaround, with students posting among the highest test scores in the state. Even more remarkable is the fact that the district typically draws the "C" student.

The county vo-tech district does not do things by the book — thank goodness. It actually sends performance evaluations home. I would have keeled over, if the school district in my area had done such a thing. It also cares a little more about staff development.

While the vo-tech district does spend far more per student than other districts, it would be more useful to discuss how basic skills showed such a dramatic improvement, rather than dwell on something that little more than a fly speck on the total budget.

Unfortunately, we are left with lingering impressions of things not being on the up and up.

It does a disservice to the many real accomplishments of the district and does nothing to contribute to the long-needed discussion of practical ways to improve schools.

Perhaps the taskmasters on Basin Road want to bring back the switch and dunce cap (maybe even those ancient film strips) although that would not fit in with their liberal leanings.

The New Castle County Vo-Tech District seems to have a promising way to bring standards up at a critical time in the careers of students.

We hope this is not lost in the quest for the latest headline.

Adopt-A-Tree program a wooded possibility

By MARY E. PETZAK

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

The city of Newark is considering an Adopt-A-Tree program for the 33 trees and other plantings lining Main Street.

"We're looking for volunteers to do deadheading of annuals after they bloom, pick up trash and debris, and plant bulbs and annuals as well," said Jim Hall, director of city parks and recreation, which would coordinate the program. "The main thing people have to remember is that this is a year-round obligation."

Peter Wells, pastor of New Ark United Methodist Church, said the program is one of several proposed through a community coalition of local people meeting in Newark for the past four months.

"We're looking for ways to celebrate community," said Wells, who directs the coalition. "This program is not just for beautification, but a way for people to take responsibility and empower themselves in the community."

Hall said several local groups have already expressed an interest in the program and city officials hope they will be able to go ahead. "We need enough volunteers so that we know the work will be done," said Hall. "This isn't just a matter of putting up money to do the work — the volunteers have to do the work itself."

In a related matter, Hall said almost all of the Bradford Pear trees planted a number of years ago on Main Street are now gone. "At one time, Bradford Pears were thought to be the perfect street tree," said Hall. "But they are very brittle and tend to snap limbs when it's windy."

Hall said the pear trees have been a maintenance problem in the areas where they are used and are no longer recommended for municipal plantings.

Parks' workers said only eight of the original 29 pear trees survive, and the remainder have been replaced with 25 red maples, gold crabapples and goldenrain trees, as well as Japanese tree lilacs of the variety "ivory silk."

Saving for the future

WE ALL SAY we should save but many of us just don't get around to it. Saving doesn't have to be a huge hassle, it just needs to be planned. Any extra income or change is a great place to start. Here are a few ideas:

■ Save a windfall... tax refund, work bonus, overtime pay, garage sale proceeds.

■ Collect loose change

■ Trim excess spending.... One method is to be conscious about your spending and then taking the money you'd save by not spending on that item and put it in the bank. For example...

Decide you'll go pack your lunch three times a week rather than once a week and save the difference.

■ Continue installment payments once a loan is paid off. If you've finally paid off your credit card, reallocate the money that you earmarked to pay off the debt and put it in a savings account

■ Pay yourself first... Consider savings like paying a future bill. Set aside a regular amount each pay period and put it in the bank. Better yet, direct deposit money to a savings account.

■ Maximize your contribution to your company retirement plans especially if they are matching dollars.

A seven part financial series, called "Take Charge of your Life by Taking Care of Your Money," will highlight savings and investment in one of the sessions. This series will be offered at the New Castle County Cooperative Extension Office Tuesday evenings from 6:30 until 9:00 starting Oct. 1, 1996. Pre-registration is required by September 16 and the fee is $20 for individuals and $30 for couples. Contact 831-1239 for more information.

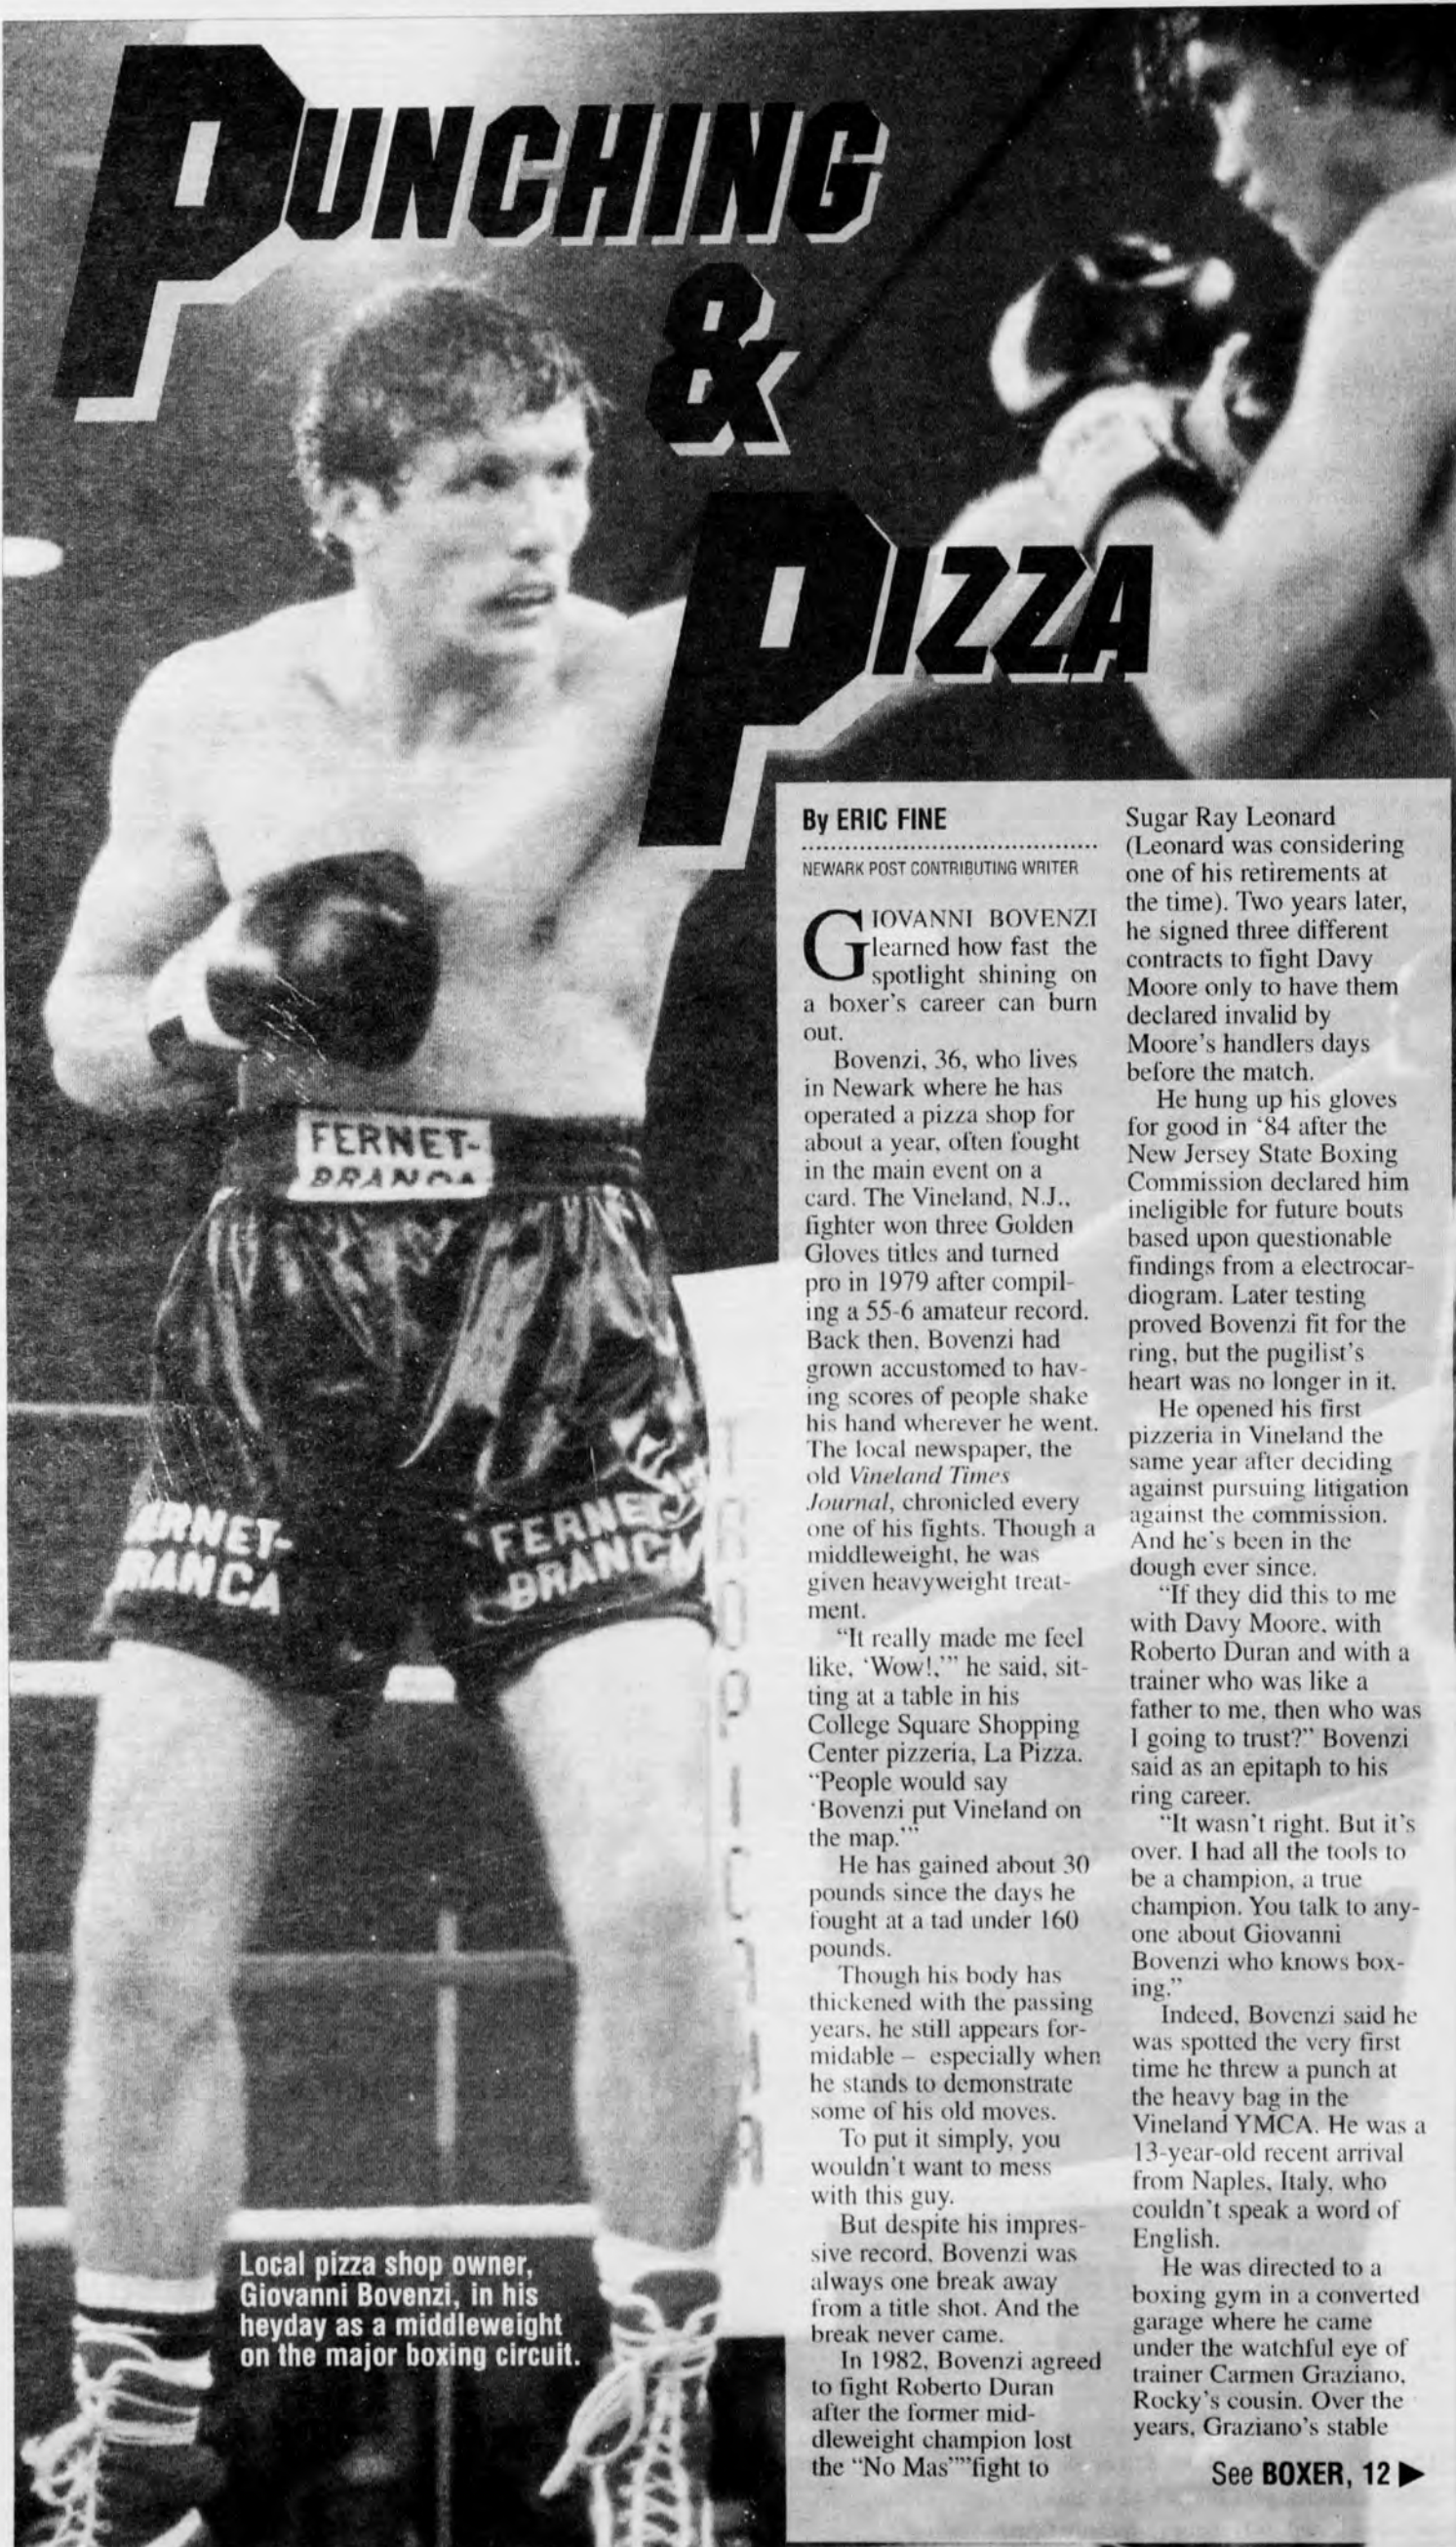

One of the things we've learned at these sessions is that many people feel they have to put a lot of money away in order for saving to be beneficial. The truth is putting any amount, even $25 per month, is a great start. There are many options for those who can't afford to put a lot away. Buying shares of mutual funds from a broker or financial institution is a simple start. There are several mutual funds that will allow you to make small monthly contributions. PUNCHING & PIZZA

Local pizza shop owner, Giovanni Bovenzi, in his heyday as a middleweight on the major boxing circuit.

By ERIC FINE

NEWARK POST CONTRIBUTING WRITER

GIOVANNI BOVENZI learned how fast the spotlight shining on a boxer's career can burn out.

Bovenzi, 36, who lives in Newark where he has operated a pizza shop for about a year, often fought in the main event on a card. The Vineland, N.J., fighter won three Golden Gloves titles and turned pro in 1979 after compiling a 55-6 amateur record. Back then, Bovenzi had grown accustomed to having scores of people shake his hand wherever he went. The local newspaper, the old Vineland Times Journal, chronicled every one of his fights. Though a middleweight, he was given heavyweight treatment.

"It really made me feel like, 'Wow!,'" he said, sitting at a table in his College Square Shopping Center pizzeria, La Pizza. "People would say 'Bovenzi put Vineland on the map.'"

He has gained about 30 pounds since the days he fought at a tad under 160 pounds.

Though his body has thickened with the passing years, he still appears formidable — especially when he stands to demonstrate some of his old moves.

To put it simply, you wouldn't want to mess with this guy.

But despite his impressive record, Bovenzi was always one break away from a title shot. And the break never came.

In 1982, Bovenzi agreed to fight Roberto Duran after the former middleweight champion lost the "No Mas" fight to Sugar Ray Leonard (Leonard was considering one of his retirements at the time). Two years later, he signed three different contracts to fight Davy Moore only to have them declared invalid by Moore's handlers days before the match.

He hung up his gloves for good in '84 after the New Jersey State Boxing Commission declared him ineligible for future bouts based upon questionable findings from a electrocardiogram. Later testing proved Bovenzi fit for the ring, but the pugilist's heart was no longer in it.

He opened his first pizzeria in Vineland the same year after deciding against pursuing litigation against the commission. And he's been in the dough ever since.

"If they did this to me with Davy Moore, with Roberto Duran and with a trainer who was like a father to me, then who was I going to trust?" Bovenzi said as an epitaph to his ring career.

"It wasn't right. But it's over. I had all the tools to be a champion, a true champion. You talk to anyone about Giovanni Bovenzi who knows boxing."

Indeed, Bovenzi said he was spotted the very first time he threw a punch at the heavy bag in the Vineland YMCA. He was a 13-year-old recent arrival from Naples, Italy, who couldn't speak a word of English.

He was directed to a boxing gym in a converted garage where he came under the watchful eye of trainer Carmen Graziano, Rocky's cousin. Over the years, Graziano's stable

Civil War troops plan for surprise attacks

THREE ORGANIZATIONS very much interested in preserving American history and recreating it for the enjoyment and education of today's citizens are coming together in northern New Castle County this weekend.

Their purpose is to present four Civil War skirmishes and a candlelight battlefield tour. The groups are Company A, 37th Regiment of North Carolina State Troops, Company B of the 42nd Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry and the Historic Red Clay Valley, Inc., (HRCV).

The activities will center along the tracks of the Wilmington & Western Railroad and around the Wilmington & Western Railroad's Greenbank Station on the Newport-Gap Pike, Rt. 41, a quarter mile north of its intersection with the Kirkwood Highway, Rt. 2. HRCV owns and operates the not-for-profit, all volunteer Wilmington & Western Railroad.

The troops will set up camp along the banks of the Red Clay Creek at Greenbank Station. Visitors are welcome to visit the encampment and ride the old steam trains to the activities being planned this Saturday and Sunday.

The troops of the United States and the Confederate States will be in copies of the actual uniforms worn by the Pennsylvania and North Carolina units. They will use actual weapons and copies of the weapons of the period from their pistols to their cannons. The women who are in the recreation activities will be wearing period dresses as well. Most all of the clothing worn is hand made by the participants and their families. Their accuracy is very carefully researched.

The first activity is set for Saturday afternoon at 12:30 when old steam engine No. 98 will pull antique, open vestibule coaches and equipment cars on to the main line to head for the first skirmish. Some troops will be on board and others will be hidden along the railroad to appear as the drama unfolds. Those on the train will move about to give the passengers many photo opportunities and to talk about the times. Somewhere along the Wilmington & Western there will be a surprise attack and the skirmish will be underway.

Another trip for the same kind of activity will begin at 3:15 p.m. on Saturday afternoon from the Greenbank Station.

The women of the group will take over center stage Saturday evening. At 8 pm they will begin a candlelight tour on board a Wilmington and Western train. This trip will be a much quieter one than the two in the afternoon, but none the less important. This event will center on the feminine point of view about the battle and the feelings of the women who are sending their men into battle.

On Sunday afternoon, two more skirmish trains will depart Greenbank Station, one at 12:30 and one at 3:15. After the last train returns, the troops will pack up their encampment and move out.

"These Civil War Weekends are no 'Ode to Mars,'" said HRCV Executive Director David S. Ludlow. "This is a chance for those of us living at the end of the 20th Century to vicariously experience this most troubled of times in our nation's history, the Civil War. We at HRCV are happy to be the catalyst to bring all the ingredients together to make it happen right here in Delaware's Red Clay Creek Valley."

HRCV schedules these Civil War Weekends each Fall, when most are back from summer vacations and the children are in, or about to begin, school. Many teachers feel this is a valuable learning experience for any American, but particularly for those who have studied or are about to study the Civil War in school.

If I may offer a suggestion to those who plan to attend? Bring your camera and plenty of film or tape. Photo opportunities begin at the railroad's Greenbank Station and last throughout the trip. Getting shots of the children with the participants is always fun and they are happy to pose as well as talk about the period they are recreating. Every person involved with the encampment and the trips is a volunteer. They like what they are doing and

By James C. McLaren

A deranged Basset Hound
Dug a hole in the ground
To cloister a cluster of bones.
He recovered his loot
And an old rubber boot
Which he filled up with pebbles and stones.

A Crustacean complained
There was no-one he pained:
"Why aren't there some fingers to grab?
"I'm frustrated by life
"And its salt-water strife.
"I'm sorry to be such a Crab!"

What is the favorite dessert of revolving staff at a large computer company?
Apple turnover.

What did a Grecian Urn?
More than he Ode.

Indecisive folks should try not to order waffles for breakfast.

A darkening storm need not make one fret about an oncoming sunset.

■ Author's note: Lunacies like these have been inflicted on my poor wife, children and colleagues for years. They have been greeted by both groans and guffaws - the latter, perhaps, to pacify the punster and offset a further barrage. To its victims, punning can be seen as a disease, since any laughter, however sparse, can be contagious. I hope Newark Post readers will tackle this word-play nonsense with zest, thereby assuring them Eternal Joy and a letter from Ed McMahon.

Local boxer was a big hit

► BOXER, from 8

boasted the likes of Mike "The Jewish Bomber" Rossman, a former light-heavyweight champion, and Bruce Seldon, who is scheduled to fight Mike Tyson this month.

Bovenzi fought in his first match at the age of 15. He won the first in a string of three Golden Gloves titles in 1977 in Pennsylvania. He made his 1979 professional debut after winning the Delaware Golden Gloves at William Penn High, the same year he graduated from high school.

"Back then, it was real good," Bovenzi said. "In fact, it was too good to be true. The whole time I did it, I loved the game, I loved the glory, I loved the reaction of the audience."

As hard as it was to get up before dawn to train, it was even harder to walk away from the ring. "What else would you do? You got the commission against you playing games with the EKG. Then six months later, the EKG comes up OK. How do you explain that when there's a big-money fight with Davy Moore [on the line]?"

"I feel like I was in the wrong place at the wrong time. All those years of dedication. And in the end, to be lied to."

Ex-fighter, Giovanni Bovenzi, and his wife Mary now own La Pizza in the College Square Shopping Center.

The fighter was bitter about the sport's corrupt nature for about five years after his last bout. But Bovenzi's marriage to Mary Tiberi three years ago provided him with a new beginning.

The two first met back when a teenaged Bovenzi regularly came to Delaware Park for amateur bouts and would sometimes pal around with Mary's brothers, Dave, Mario, Nick, Pancho and Joe afterward. Mary, the youngest of 14 children, often attended her brothers' bouts as well as Bovenzi's and soon became his biggest fan.

The couple began dating in 1990 after not seeing each other for nearly 15 years. They have a 3-year-old son, Giovanni Jr., and are expecting their second child early next year. "I feel like God blessed me a second time," Bovenzi said.

Looking back, the ex-fighter is not entirely dissatisfied with his career. After all, he fought at such first-class venues as the Spectrum in Philadelphia and several Atlantic City casinos, including the Tropicana, Resorts International and the Sands. He also spent a year in Italy where he fought several European champions.

ESPN, the national cable sports network, often televised his fights. And after more than a decade in the ring, his face shows not even a trace of a scar.

"Few made it as far as I did. No fights were given to me. No one helped me. This is nothing to cry about."

"Finally, A Managed Care Medicare Plan That Gives Me The Freedom To Use Out-Of-Network Doctors And Hospitals, Without A Referral!"

Introducing the U.S. Healthcare® Golden Choice™ Medicare Plan option.

Our new Golden Choice Medicare Plan option gives members more flexibility to visit doctors or hospitals outside the network, without a referral. With this option, members share the cost of the out-of-network care through a deductible and coinsurance.*

With the Golden Choice Medicare Plan option, you may opt to remain in the network. When you do, your benefits are the same as the standard U.S. Healthcare Medicare Plan, with no deductibles or coinsurance and virtually no paperwork. What it all adds up to is choice. In- or out-of-network, the choice is yours.

U.S. Healthcare is holding free informational meetings in your neighborhood. Call 1-800-282-5366 for a personal appointment or to reserve space at an upcoming meeting.

Don't miss out! Make plans to attend one of the following U.S. Healthcare Medicare Plan meetings to be held this month.

NEWARK POST ♦ IN OUR COMMUNITY

The New Castle Jaycees would like to extend sincere appreciation to all those who supported the 8th Annual Crab Feast. With much support, a generous donation was made to the Leukemia Society of America in Delaware, as well as to the Red Cross Center to benefit the victims of the fire at the Top of the Hill Apartments which occurred Aug. 11. "Thank you for making this project a success."

Jail and Bail The American Cancer Society is looking for people to lock-up at its Jail and Bail, Sunday, Sept. 15. Participants will be "jailed" at the Newark Community Day on the mall at the University of Delaware. With a set minimum of a $200 "bail" needed, "prisoners" are encouraged to obtain pledges to post the highest bail possible. To go to "jail" for the American Cancer Society, contact Peggy Sullivan at 731-5785 or Ziad Nashed at 453-9900 or the ACS office at 324-4227.

Class Reunion. Delcastle Class of 1996 is looking for you. The 10-year reunion will be Oct. 19 at the Brandywine Terrace. For information, call 995-8100.

Holy Angels School plans 40th anniversary Plans are under way for a fall celebration to mark the 40th anniversary of Holy Angels School in Newark. All events will take place at the school site on Possum Park Road. Former faculty members and alumni of the school are invited to be part of the celebration this October. For more information, call the school office at 731-2210.

Compassionate Care Hospice needs volunteers for 1 to 2 hours weekly to provide support to terminally ill patients and their families. For information, call 454-7002.

Time to save

bank or other financial institution who for a fee will invest your money for you or you can buy an annuity from an insurance company. In addition, you should contribute to an IRA savings plan.

You'll need to shop around. There are lots of options out there and it can be confusing. But what I suggest to people is that they have a sense of how you want the money to be invested, you want to know about the person and company with whom you work and you want to know about the policies and the fees involved with working with this company. You also need to look at the average rate of return on the investment over they last 5-10 years. Talk to people, interview the company and the person and read about the things you're interested in. Aside from taking the Cooperative Extension course, the library is a good place to get information. Money magazine, Worth Magazine, Fortune Magazine are good resources for reviewing available funds. Look for the annual issue that rates these specialty funds.

Savings is the foundation for moving forward but sometimes we have so many goals we don't know where to begin to create secure financial future. One way to look at savings goals is in steps. Savings is like building a strong foundation. I like to think of them as a hierarchy:

■ Solvency - being able to meet current expenses

■ Emergency reserve - this will help you to avoid using credit to handle emergencies.... A couple thousand dollars in a liquid account is a great start.

■ Risk protection - this is typically done by purchasing insurance to guard against financial loss.

■ Home ownership - as an investment

■ Investment plan - to reach specific goals such as retirement or child's education

■ Estate Planning - to transfer accumulated wealth

Participants in our program learn how to prioritize their savings goals and learn techniques that will help them achieve their goals whether it be how to reduce credit debt, save for retirement or best position their dollars to maximize their income for retirement.

For further information about savings or the upcoming financial management workshop series, contact the Cooperative Extension office.

NEWS & ITEMS OF INTEREST TO NEWARK-AREA SENIORS

SENIOR SHUFFLEBOARD AT NSC

Shuffleboard and other activities are a lot more fun for seniors like Hazel Johnson and Ethel Wilson (background) at the spacious Newark Senior Center, which opened in May off Marrows Road in Whitechapel.

Senior Olympics deadline near

Senior athletes are encouraged to enter the Delaware Senior Olympics planned in Dover in October.

Any Delaware citizen 50 years or older is eligible to participate in 38 events in 14 different sports during the games Oct. 5 through 13. First and second place winners qualify for the national games to be held in Tucson, Ariz., in May 1997.

Sports categories include: golf, cycling, volleyball, softball, tennis, track and field, racewalking, bowling, basketball, swimming, horse-shoes, table tennis, shuffleball and racquetball.

For information on entries, due Sept. 6, call the senior olympic office at 736-5698.

Assisted-living community seeks input

A focus meeting to present Venture Care's plans for an assisted-living community off Marrows Road in Newark will be held at the Newark Senior Center on Sept. 11 at 2:30 p.m.

Venture Care recently released plans for the 40,000 square-foot community which will include a hotel-style residence and clinic as well as up to 52 cottages on land next to the senior center on Whitechapel Road.

All residents of the new community will be able to use the assisted-care facilities provided as needed. Venture Care representatives will be available at the meeting to answer questions and discuss feasibility of the project with interested persons.

All are welcome to attend.

Help offered to recently-widowed

Recently widowed persons in New Castle County are helped through a time of loneliness and stress by the AARP Widowed Person Service.

The service, sponsored by the AARP and other community groups, deals on a one-on-one basis with the recently widowed to aide them with the transition to the single life and the adjustments that must be made. Counselors are persons who have been widowed at some point in their lives leaving them very aware what happens in the process.

In addition to counseling, the organizations also has information on other services needed by specific individuals. There is no charge for the service.

Persons interested for themselves or another should call 656-5722.

Ordinance blocks store's business of sellers and buyers of their merchandise, as well as mandating a holding period of 15 days between buying an item from a previous owner and selling it to a customer.

City solicitor Roger Akin said the purpose of the ordinance is to give police an opportunity to investigate and seize stolen property unknowingly received by such dealers but Kangur said the police have never come looking for stolen merchandise in the four months since the store opened.

In addition, Kangur said CDs are rarely marked and hard to identify because they exist in such huge numbers. "The ones I have here are an example of the kinds I get," said Kangur, hefting a handful toward council. "These are a dime a dozen and there's no way to tell one from another."

According to Kangur, she has another store for used CDs on Kirkwood Highway where this ordinance is not in force, and she did not know about Newark's regulation before opening her store here. "I've also been told that other businesses in town have not complied with this ordinance since it was passed in 1992," said Kangur.

City secretary Sue Lamblack

said city staff presently were surveying all dealers in second-hand goods to determine who would be affected and also reviewing the ordinance line by line to consider changes.

Kangur asked council to speed the process. "One hundred percent of my business is used CDs, unlike other music dealers in town where it is only a part," said Kangur whose stock averages 5000 used CDs at a time in the Galleria. "I have an enormous amount of money tied up while holding CDs, and there will be more now that the university students are back."

Still no 'concrete' answers

of DelDOT said he was going to be here but when I called his office today they told me he was on vacation."

Carter said the only information she had in regard to concerns raised by residents were either "no" or "not decided yet."

Carter said DelDOT "didn't tell me no" when asked if they would erect a concrete sound barrier in front of the community instead of a wooden one.

"They told us in writing they would not," said a resident. "They just told you what you want to hear. We don't want a fence like the one across from Caldor that's starting to buckle because it's green wood - we want the concrete barrier we were promised."

The most important issue concerning residents is the longterm value of their homes. Carter said the department of transportation told her they would not demolish the row of townhomes immediately adjacent to the highway although residents fear they will be sold below market value because of the noise from 896. "This will reduce everyone else's property values," said Tom Chidester, president of the Stonestrow Civic Association.

Another resident complained that although they requested publicity, it was not helping. "We're going to be stuck here because everyone knows about our problems now that DelDOT is taking our life away."

In a letter dated April 1995, DelDOT officials said there would be an "acquisition process . . . to provide an equitable solution for owners who may experience difficulty" because the road near their property has been identified as the 301 corridor.

Residents along Route 896 want DelDOT to either remove the 301 designation or honor what they view as a promise by DelDOT to compensate them for the loss in property values to date.

Chidester asked that the community's road be dedicated to state use immediately now that the original entrance to the development is gone. DelDOT has said they will consider dedicating the road when the construction is complete.

State senator Stephen Amick agreed that the state has refused to take responsibility for the additional road maintenance problems caused by construction.

Chidester has appealed to the governor in a letter. "At one time we were all just looking forward to the end of construction, . . . however, we now realize that unless all of our concerns are taken care of, we will be plagued with financial burdens and a decreased quality of life for many, many years after the last construction truck pulls away. Please do not let that happen to us."

Blue Hens to open season vs. Lehigh

Highly touted Delaware heavily favored to win opening game

By MARTY VALANIA

NEWARK POST SPORTS WRITER

The University of Delaware football team finally gets a chance to prove it is as good as all the preseason prognosticators say.

The Blue Hens, ranked fifth in country in Division I-AA, open their season Saturday afternoon at Delaware Stadium against Patriot League foe Lehigh. The Mountain Hawks — Lehigh has switched its nickname from Engineers — compiled an 8-3 record last season but two of its three losses were to Yankee Conference teams New Hampshire and UMass.

Delaware Coach Tubby Raymond, beginning year 31 at the helm of the Hens, uses one of those losses (44-36 to the Minutemen) as an example of how competitive this game could be.

"Their 36 points and a total offense of well over 500 yards kind of puts it into perspective that they're certainly a good Yankee Conference-quality football team," Raymond said. "And they have a lot of those players back."

What Raymond failed to mention is that Lehigh is winless in its last eight meetings against the Yankee Conference, including a 62-21 pasting by Delaware in 1993 and a 45-29 Hens' victory in 1994.

Lehigh Coach Kevin Higgins, on the other hand, uses that record as a motivating factor.

"This, for us, is a chance to play against the best I-AA team in the country," Higgins said of playing Delaware in particular and Yankee Conference teams in general. "We told our guys on Sunday that this is a measuring stick for us. A chance to go one on one against one of the best players in the country."

Higgins also knows that his Lehigh team will have its hands full.

"This is as good a Delaware team as they've had," he said. "[Quarterback] Leo Hamlett is phenomenal. He's so effective in that offense running the ball and he can throw the ball as good as any Division I-A quarterback in the country."

"Plus, the thing that stands out the most in watching them on film is their speed. They just have more guys with a lot more speed than we do."

"They also have one of their best defenses ever and a great kicking game."

The Mountain Hawks are led on offense by senior tailback Rabi Abdullah, who rushed for 1,536 yards last season.

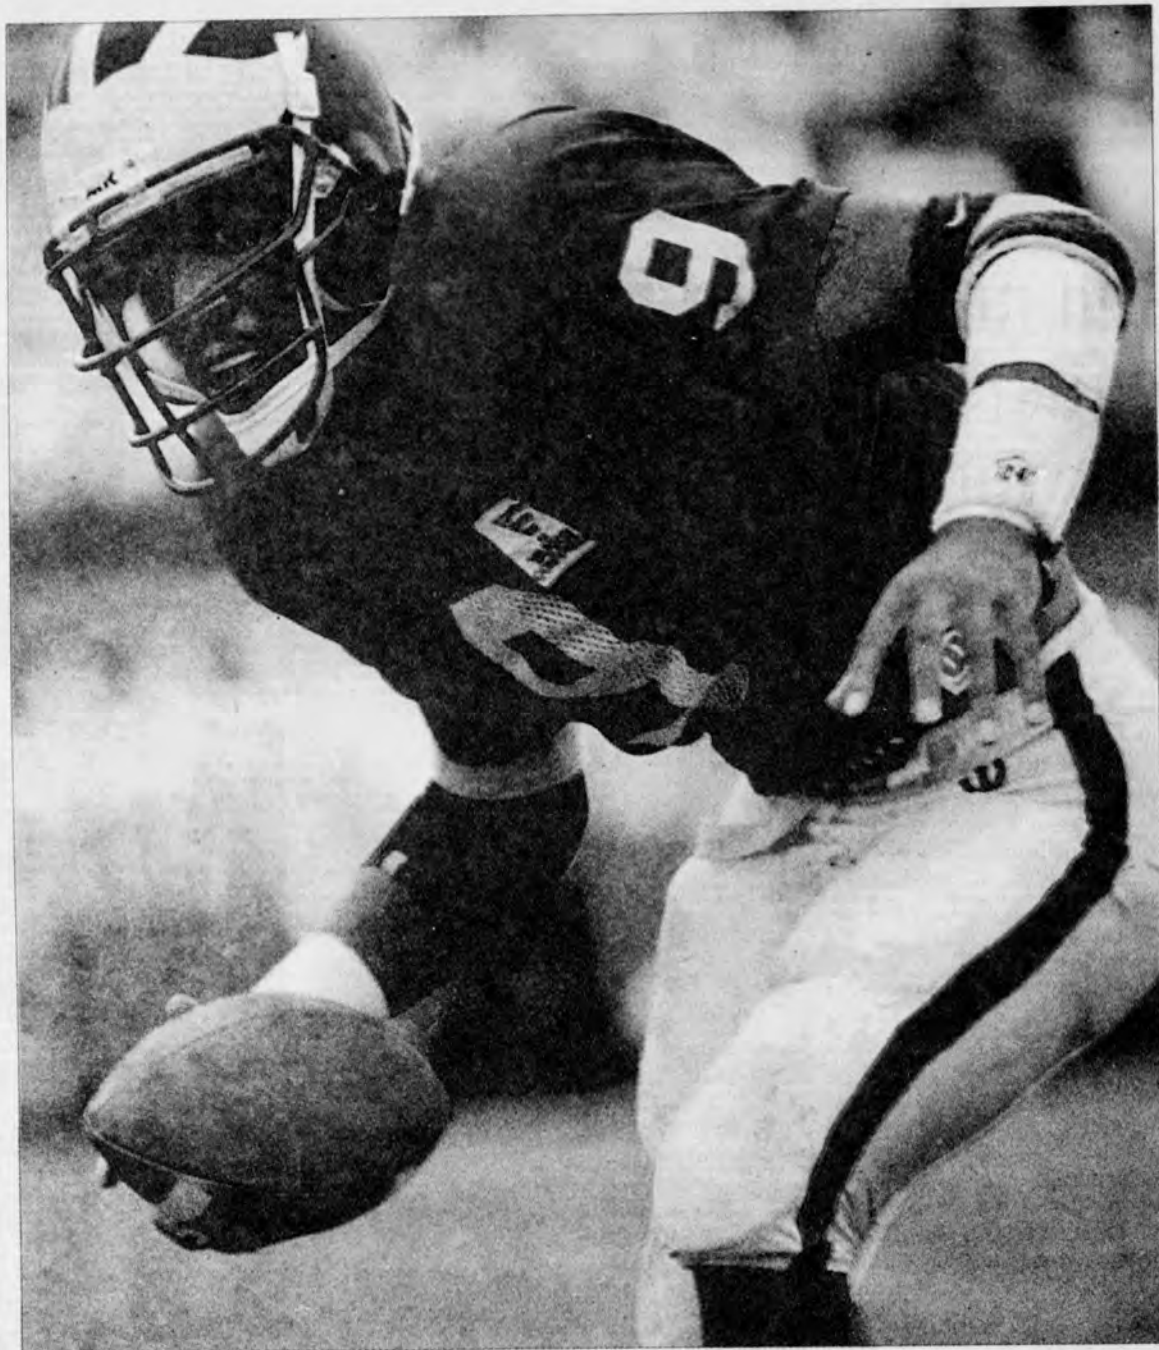

Raymond is fighting off talk of an easy opening win and the greatness of his squad.

"You can have Notre Dame here and I wouldn't think they're deserving of the accolades we've been getting," said Raymond, who has 24-6 in season openers.

"My biggest concern is the Georgia Syndrome," the coach continued referring to Georgia's 11-7 upset loss to Southern Mississippi last weekend. "Mike Bryson [who transferred from Georgia to Delaware last month] was here today. He was down there over the weekend when they lost."

"He said Georgia figured it was going to blow Southern Mississippi out. Well, I hope our people are brighter than that — that no one is thing we're going to blow [Lehigh] out because a lot of good things have been said about us."

Experienced Dragons ready to bounce back

By ERIC FINE

NEWARK POST SPORTS WRITER

GLASGOW — The challenge awaiting the Dragons is putting last season to good use. Glasgow finished 1995 with an abysmal 1-9 record, but the team returns a good blend of size and experience.

"It looks like a football team," Glasgow Coach Dave Scott said. "There's some size, some athletic ability and some speed."

But how good of a football team? Only the Dragons can answer that question, and they'll have to do it right out of the shoot. They open the season at Caesar Rodney on Sept. 12 and play defending state champions William Penn in Week 3.

Winning early for a team on the rebound is crucial. "Confidence is something a team coming off a 1-9 season really doesn't have a whole lot of," Scott said. "It's not that you're not confident. You're just used to the walls caving in on you."

Glasgow posted a late-season 14-0 shutout over Mount Pleasant for its only win of 1995. The Dragons ended the season by losing their final two games in overtime.

Glasgow is particularly deep at quarterback, where starter Ike Wilson (5-8, 145; Jr.), backup Jason Deal (6-1, 175; Sr.) and newcomer Derris Johnson (6-1, 170; Sr.) will all compete for time.

So how is Scott handling this potentially touchy situation?

Soccer season begins with a bang

POST GAME

By MARTY VALANIA

High school football is certainly not the only sport that kicks off this weekend — the soccer season starts with a bang as four of the best teams in the state play each other on successive nights.

Friday night gives us St. Mark's against Alexis I. DuPont in a matchup of two of the four semifinal teams from last year's state tournament. Saturday night follows up with a rematch of the state championship match between Glasgow and Salesianum.

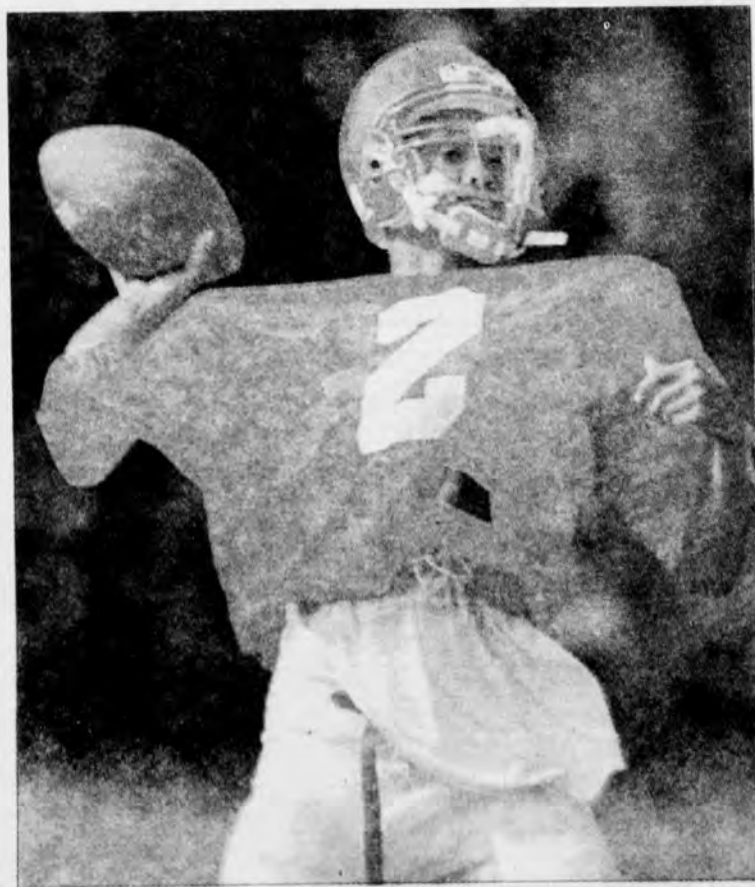

That is only the beginning of what is sure to be an exciting soccer season. All three Christina District teams will be in the hunt for the Flight A title while St. Mark's — once again — will also be among the state's elite teams.

Glasgow, the defending state champion, will have the unusual position — for it anyway — of everybody gunning for the champ.

"We have a big X on our back," said Glasgow Coach Bob Bussiere recently. "It's a different game when everybody is shooting for you."

Glasgow, with its returning talent, should

Christiana gridders eye big season

By MARTY VALANIA

NEWARK POST SPORTS WRITER

CHRISTIANA — You can tell Bill Muehleisen his Christiana High football team is one of the best teams in the state; just don't tell him it's the best team in the state — not in early September anyway.

"I think we're a top 10 team," said Muehleisen in response to the state's only preseason rankings which have the Vikings on top. "But there's probably four or five teams that you can rank number one. It's too early yet."

Nevertheless, Christiana — with a senior offensive line that returns in its entirety, a senior quarterback and a host of other seniors in key positions — is one of the teams among the state's elite and should challenge for the Blue Hen Conference's Flight A title as well as a state tournament berth.

"We have a nice line coming back," said Muehleisen, who begins his eighth year at the helm of the Vikings' program. "We expect it to be a good one on the field and one that also provides leadership."

Paul Oakes and John Maichle will line up as offensive tackles while Zane Gordy and Angel Morales will be the guards. Jeremy Stewart will center the ball to quarterback Joey Rineer.

Juniors Calvin Carr and Brian Chapman will handle the tailback duties while senior Shannon Lawson will be one of the split ends.

Senior linebacker Andrew Allen will lead the defense.

"Andrew Allen is an exceptional kid," Muehleisen said. "He's been

"It's been an enjoyable preseason."

BILL MUEHLEISEN
CHRISTIANA FOOTBALL COACH

our punter and kicker since he was a freshman. He was our defensive signal caller as a sophomore on our state championship team and he's 4.0 student — just exceptional."

Senior Jamin Burchfield will join Allen in the linebacking corps while junior Bryan Haman and senior John Fader will be the defensive ends. Senior Ira Hopkins and Dave Mulrooney will anchor the secondary.

Muehleisen feels the senior leadership has been a big key already this season.

"It's been an enjoyable preseason," said the coach. "That's not easy for me to say. It's normally hot and long for everyone involved. But because of the work ethic and attitude of the kids it's been great. It's probably our most coachable group ever."

The Vikings, who compiled a 4-6 record last season, face a difficult Flight A schedule plus non-conference foes St. Mark's, Dover and Seaford.

"We could be a much better team than last year and have a similar record," Muehleisen said. "This is a very tough league. I think — for the first time — there are five teams (Christiana, William Penn, Brandywine, Newark and Glasgow) with a legitimate chance of winning Flight A. Last year Newark and William Penn were above everybody. In the two years before that it was us and William Penn. One year it was Brandywine and before that Glasgow. Now, they're all in there will a chance."

"I think that the outright winner of the league will have at least one loss, if not two."

It won't be a big surprise, however, if that team is Christiana.

POST PICKS OF THE WEEK

Newark gets nod in opening night game

After a year's sabbatical the Post Picks make a return this high school football season.

Yes, it seems unbelievable but football season is upon us, and there is an awful lot to look forward to. The local teams all have potential to be strong. All three Christiana District teams — Christiana, Newark and Glasgow — could contend for the Flight A title and a state tournament berth that goes with it. In fact in 13 of the last 20 years an area school has won or shared the Flight A championship.

St. Mark's is coming off a 7-3 season and appears to be strong again. In Division II, Hodgson, after posting a 6-4 record last season, could be poised to make a run at the Flight B title and Caravel is looking to improve on last season's 3-7 record.

The season kicks off this weekend with three games. Everyone else gets going next week.

The chance to avenge that loss is Friday night. Will the Jackets be able to do it? — Newark 20, Sallies 19.

ST. MARK'S VS. BRANDYWINE — Saturday morning at 10:30 at Brandywine. Another big game to start the season.

Both teams are expected to contend for a state tournament berth and the winner of this game will have a leg up when it comes to the at-large berths.

The Spartans compiled a fine 7-3 record last season while the Bulldogs were 6-4. Both teams feature fine quarterbacks who have been lauded in the preseason. It should be an excellent football game. Brandywine 15, St. Mark's 14.

HODGSON VS. ARCHMERE — Saturday morning at 10:30 at Archmere. This is a great measuring stick for both teams to begin the season. The Silver Eagles, coached by Larry Cyle, are coming off their best year ever with a 6-4 record. The Auks compiled a 5-7 record last season.

Hodgson is looking to improve but is very young. Archmere returns numerous players and are looking to restore its lofty football tradition. Both teams will be good at the end of the season. The thought here is that Archmere may be a little better to start the season. Archmere 21, Hodgson 13.

NEWARK VS. SALESIANUM

— Friday night at 7 p.m. at Newark's Hoffman Stadium. This is a great game to get the high school season underway. These are two of the state's premiere programs year in and year out.

The Yellowjackets compiled a 9-3 record last season on its way to the state championship game. Newark's only loss last year to somebody other than William Penn came in the opener to Sallies. It was a game that most everybody associated with Newark feels it should have won.

Size a plus for Glasgow

► DRAGONS, from 18

The Dragons will start Wilson against the Riders. Johnson will line up at wide receiver and also play free safety. Deal will play line-backer.

"They're all pretty good athletes," he said. "We got to get them on the field somehow."

The offensive line also is strong on paper, and probably ranks among the largest pound for pound in the state. Guard TJ Cook (5-11, 186; Sr.) looks like a twerp next to behemoths like center John Babb (6-4, 270; Sr.), guard Bobby Bryant (6-3, 275; Jr.), tackle Greg Kirby (6-4, 290; Sr.) and either Brian Timpson (6-1, 265; Jr.) or Chad Blackson (6-1, 255; Sr.) at tackle.

On defense, Cook, Bryant and Jason Forbes (6-0, 170; Sr.) will line up at defensive end, and Babb, Jerry Potter (5-10, 170; Sr.) and Brian Duncan (6-6, 325) — the largest of all the Dragons — line up at tackle. Duncan "is pretty much a refrigerator and a freezer," Scott joked in response to mention of former Philadelphia Eagle William "The Refrigerator" Perry.

Tailback John Adams (5-10, 165; Jr.) should anchor the backfield, having rushed for more than 1,100 yards in his career. The rest of the cast includes fullbacks Charlie Hackett (5-10, 150; Sr.) and Eric Townley (5-9, 150; Sr.) and tailback Darius Dixon (5-11, 205; Sr.).

Split end Brian Miller was quarterback Wilson's favorite target last season, and the junior appears ready for the season to begin: he caught seven passes and scored three touchdowns in a preseason game against Wilmington.

Matt Bush (5-10, 170; Sr.) and Lee Gissler (6-2, 185; Jr.) play tight end.

Dixon, Deal, Hackett, Bush and Tim Bazemore (6-1, 165; Sr.) will play linebacker. Johnson, Miller, Adams, Marquis Swift, Joe Swift and Jeff Saunders will play in the defensive backfield.

Scott expressed concern about both his linebackers and secondary after losing his starters to graduation. Kicker/punter Kevin Krevchuck (6-1, 170; Jr.) is solid.

The coach summed up his team's prospects with a familiar refrain.

"It looks like a team," Scott repeated. "Whether there's a heart beating under there is a question these kids have to answer."

Spartans want hockey repeat

By ERIC FINE

NEWARK POST SPORTS WRITER

MILLTOWN — The Spartans will look to defend their Catholic Conference field hockey championship. They also want to do a little more damage in the state tournament.

But St. Mark's (10-3-3) will have some big shoes to fill. Center link Erin Cox (North Carolina) and center back Megan Fentzloff, both first-team All-State selections, graduated, leaving Coach Bill Eichinger to change his thinking for the upcoming season.

"We didn't change our style of play," Eichinger said. "But the offense and defense have to be spread out more. Everyone is looking to everyone else. We hope to get everyone involved in the offense."

"Last year it was basically Erin's team. We looked to her to make the plays."

Especially the forward line of Deena Toukan, one of four senior co-captains, Maura Hazzard and Sarah Jones. But it will have help.

Senior links Katie Quinn, Rachel Smedley and Colleen Mullins, who also will serve as co-captains, have offensive potential.

Junior Leigh-Ann Hlywak will play sweeper and senior Brenda Marley returns at goalkeeper. On the back line, senior Jennette Wikel will take Fentzloff's place. Juniors Sarah Weir, Jackie Spak and Joelle Sanders round out the other positions on defense. Senior Jen Lachance is the team's utility player, providing depth at several positions.

The coach wants to see his team, which lost in the second round of the state tournament to defending champion Cape Henlopen, go a little deeper into the postseason in '96.

Eichinger believes the key will be confidence, and maybe even little bit of a mean streak. "In the tournament... we have to go in with the feeling that we should be there and we should win. Too many times we're happy just to be there."

Newark field hockey looks for tourney spot

By ERIC FINE

NEWARK POST SPORTS WRITER

Newark Field Hockey Coach Susan Wells always starts the season with the same three goals. And the Yellowjackets achieved two of them last season.

But not the third — a state tournament berth.

The Yellowjackets improved their record (goal 1) to a respectable 7-7-1, by far the best mark of any of the three Christina District high schools. And they pulled off the big upset (goal 2), defeating Brandywine at home.

Wells, who is entering her third season, wants to see her team get over the final threshold, and she believes confidence will play a big role. The 'Jackets missed qualifying for the tournament by only two games.

"The biggest thing we've been working on is the negativity," she said. "It's finally sinking in that we can play this game. The girls can do it. They always rise to the occasion. The better caliber team we play, the better we play."

The district still lacks a feeder program, which puts its three high schools behind William Penn, Brandywine and Concord as well as private schools like Tower Hill — which finished second in the state in '95 behind Cape Henlopen — and Sanford.

"Christina, Glasgow and I have girls who are walking out on the field for the first time and saying 'I want to play,'" Wells said. "I really don't want to use that as an excuse."

But, she added, it's hard to compensate for their lack of "game knowledge."

Ironically, Wells learned the game from competing in an intramural program at Shue-Medill Middle School. She went on to become a four-year starter at St. Mark's. The middle school program has been discontinued.

Another reason for her increased expectations for this season is that 18 of her players attended summer camp, and many competed in the county's summer league.

The 'Jackets lost top scorer Niccole Clair to graduation, but the coach is counting on senior links Karen Von Stueben and Sharmili Mathur and forward Chrissy Wampel to pick up the slack on offense. Senior backs Bevin Keller and Becky Sacher will provide stability on defense.

In addition to improved skills, the coach said the 'Jackets will be a much fitter team on the field, thanks to lots of running during the preseason.

KSC Twisters capture second

The Kirkwood Twisters, a girls under-9 rep soccer team, captured second place in the under-10 division of the Kirkwood Kickoff Tournament.

In its first time playing together the team won three shutouts in a row to advance to the championship game.

The Twisters ripped West Chester 9-0, edged Hockessin 3-0 and beat Springfield 2-0. Daniel Weaver led the offense with four goals while Katie Attenberger and Heather Richardson scored three goals each. Ashley Fogelman added two goals and Anna Lewis and Erin Conrad each had one. Assists were provided by Beth Kitchens, Megan Watson and Katie Thomaides.

Fogelman, Richardson, Conrad and Michelle Betty were excellent in goal while Betty and Stephanie Kappier led the defense.

adjust pretty well though. Newark and Christiana will also be very good. Those three along with A.I. and Brandywine could all challenge for the conference title.

"It's a very tough conference," said Newark Coach Hugh Mitchell. "There are no easy games. It's a battle every time out."

St. Mark's, while not in Flight A, also plays a difficult schedule sprinkled with the best in-state teams and quality out-of-state opponents. Its schedule also sees the return of Newark to it. The two local rivals will square off Sept. 19 under the lights at Newark's Hoffman Stadium.

It should be a great fall and it all starts this weekend.

College update

An early semester update on former local high school players now participating on the college level sees the Lynchburg College soccer team with several standouts. Jason Concavage of Newark is a sophomore for the Hornets while Jamie Niergarth, also from Newark, is a freshman.

Glasgow's David Owens, who played on last year's state championship team, is a freshman goalkeeper for the University of Delaware. He is one of only three Delaware high school players on the entire Blue Hens' roster.

On the Blue Hens' volleyball squad is sophomore Liza Stapleford, who played at St. Mark's.

We will endeavor to try to keep up with the local players on the college level throughout the school year.

Sue Godwin, 67, operated Town Shop

NEWARK business operator, respected for her friendliness and ability to provide loyal customers with a type of specialized service that is near extinct, has died.

Suzanne P. Godwin, who along with her husband operated Sue's Town Shop in the Newark Shopping Center, died Thursday, Aug. 22, 1996, of pancreatic cancer in Christiana Hospital. She was 67.

Her husband and business partner, Ralph, said his wife ran the women's dress shop as if it were "an old country store." He said his wife was able to determine the particular needs of each shopper and would bring merchandise into the store to meet those needs.

Fellow shopping center merchant Marilyn Minster described Godwin's business acumen simply, "she would buy for her customer."

As shoppers headed to Christiana Mall and chain stores for fashions promoted nationally, Newark women were able to enter Mrs. Godwin's friendly store and buy the types of dresses they liked, whether or not they were trendy at the time.

And shoppers at Sue's Town Shop did more than spend money. "People would often come in the store to just talk. Sue would encourage this...and enjoyed casually chatting with customers," Mr. Godwin said.

Minster agreed. "Sue was very friendly and very well liked. It was her personality that made the shop successful."

After raising three sons, Mrs. Godwin first worked at Lucille's dress shop on Kirkwood Highway. Then, in 1976, she moved to the Town Shop, which was then owned by Mary DeFabio. The Godwins purchased the store in 1981. It prospered under Mrs. Godwin's management, despite increasing competition.

In January 1993, the Godwins decided to retire and closed the shopping center landmark. They donated left-over stock to raise funds for the Newark Senior Center building fund.

Throughout their 46-year marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Godwin were "inseparable. We just liked to do things together," Mr. Godwin said. The Godwins met six-and-one-half years before they were married at a World War II-era "barn dance" at Whitely's Garage on Paper Mill Road. They settled in Lumbrook in 1950 and raised their family here.

In addition to her husband, Ralph W. Godwin, she is survived by three sons, Ralph E. at home, Jeffrey R. of Milford, and Gary L. of Delaware City; sisters, Inez Burkheiser and Claire Lloyd, both of Murray Manor, Stanton; and two granddaughters.

A service was held Aug. 27 at Spicer-Mullikin & Warwick Funeral Home, Newark Burial was in Head of Christiana Cemetery, Newark.

Kelly T. Polen, 31, self-employed painter

Newark resident Kelly T. Polen died Friday, Aug. 16, 1996, at home.

Mr. Polen, 31, was a self-employed commercial and residential painter. He was a member of Armstrong Lodge 26 of Newport, and Mobile Surf Fishermen's Association.

He is survived by wife, Lisa Polen; parents, Doug and Eleanor Polen; and sister, Tracy Krakowski, all of Wilmington.

A service was held Aug. 20 at Krienen-Griffith Funeral Home, Kirkwood Highway. Burial was private.

The family suggests contributions to Alfred I. du Pont Children's Hospital, Children's Respiratory Clinic, 1600 Rockland Rd., Box 269, Wilmington.

Natalie M. Purse, executive secretary at area hospitals

Glasgow resident Natalie M. Purse died

Sunday, Aug. 18, 1996, of respiratory failure in Christiana Hospital.

Mrs. Purse, 65, was an executive secretary for 27 years, worked at Wilmington Hospital and later at Christiana Hospital.

She retired in 1993.

She was a 1948 graduate of Wilmington High School.

She is survived by sons, Robert B. Engel and Gary A. Engel Sr., both of Manahawkin, N.J.; daughters, Debra J. Puglisi of Elkton, Md.; and Mary Darlene Sillitoe of Manahawkin; brother, Arthur E. Purse Jr. of Williamsburg, Va.; 11 grandchildren.

A service was held Aug. 21 at Beeson Memorial Services of Christiana-Elkton. Burial was private.

The family suggests contributions to Delaware Humane Association, 701 A St., Wilmington 19801; or Delaware Hospice, 3515 Silverside Road, Wilmington 19810.

Harold W. 'Wally' Grant, 57, carpenter

Newark resident Harold W. "Wally" Grant died Tuesday, Aug. 20, 1996, of cancer at home.

Mr. Grant, 57, was a carpenter for the DuPont Co. for 14 years. Earlier, he was self-employed and had worked for local construction companies.

He is survived by wife, Christine; son, Ralph of Wilmington; daughters, Theresa Cometa of Middletown, and Traci Grant of Newark; stepsons, Thomas and Mark Jackson, both of Elkton, Md.; stepdaughters, Tiffany Christopher of Newark, and Helen Christopher-Bergman of Lehigh Valley, Pa.; brother, James E. of Odessa; step-brother, Earl B. Walker of Severna Park, Md.; and six grandchildren.

A service was held Aug. 24 at Robert T. Jones & Foard, Newark. Burial was private.

Dallas Michael Taylor, toddler

New Castle toddler Dallas Michael Taylor died Sunday, Aug. 18, 1996, of accidental drowning at his grandparents' home.

Master Taylor, 2, enjoyed Barney, Mickey Mouse, and loved the outdoors.

He is survived by parents, Dallas Jean Taylor Jr. and Charity M. Evans of New Castle; maternal grandmother, Carol Williams of Newark; paternal grandparents, Dallas J. Taylor Sr. of Delaware City, and Sandra Lee Phillips of New Castle; maternal step-grandfather, Mark Williams of Newark.

A service was held Aug. 22 at Beeson Memorial Services of Christiana-Elkton. Burial was in All Saints Cemetery.

James A. Bates, 72, Martin-Marietta clerk

Newark resident James A. Bates died Saturday, Aug. 17, 1996, of complications from Parkinson's disease at home.

Mr. Bates, 72, was a clerk for 30 years at Martin-Marietta Energy Systems Inc., Oak Ridge, Tenn. He was a graduate of Morgan State University, Baltimore, Md.

He is survived by wife, Catherine "Kitty" Bates; daughter, Tulah "Micki" Williams of Newark; and two grandchildren.

Both service and burial were held Aug. 24, in Athens, Tenn.

John E. Edwards, 73, horse trainer in Delaware and Florida

Newark resident John E. Edwards died Monday, Aug. 19, 1996, of cancer in Veterans Affairs Medical Center, Elsmere.

Mr. Edwards, 73, was a horse trainer at Delaware Park and Tampa, Fla.

He was a graduate of Penn State University and a member of the Horsemen's Association of Delaware.

He has no survivors.

A service was held Aug. 22 at Delaware Veterans Memorial Cemetery, Summit.

Burial was in the adjoining memorial park.
