

Delaware Boat, Sportsman Show Opens At Armory

Exhibition To Be Held Through Saturday With Prizes, Entertainment

Delaware's biggest boat show—the Delaware Boat and Sportsman Show—is reported to be bigger and better than last year, and the public will have an opportunity to view what's new in boating for 1955 with the opening of this marine trade and public exposition this afternoon in the State Armory, Tenth and DuPont Streets, in Wilmington.

The show which will provide the largest boating shopping center in Delaware, will remain open until 10 p.m. tonight and will continue tomorrow and Saturday, from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.

A snack bar will be operated during the hours of the show and entertainment will be provided with underwater swimming in a 12-foot steel tank and the showing of motion pictures on boating and outdoor sports.

Valuable prizes including an outboard motor and a boat kit will be given away each night.

All types of small and large boats, runabouts and cruisers, inboard and outboard motors, will be displayed on the floor of the show and on the grounds surrounding the building, and the one-man trailer to be exhibited is sure to attract the attention of boat enthusiasts.

In addition to displays by dealers and distributors, a number of voluntary organizations in the state will have exhibits in the U. S. Power Squadron, U. S. Coast Guard Auxiliary, West End Rod and Gun Club, State Board of Game and Fish Commissioners, Delaware Marine Biological Laboratory of the University of Delaware, Delaware Department of Development, Recreation Promotion and Services, Inc., Girl Scout Mariners, and Sea Scouts.

Under the new law, the work regularity test for farm employees has been eliminated. Beginning January 1, 1955, the farm helper is included under the social security if he earns $100 in cash wages from any one farm operator in a calendar year.

If the farm employee is paid from $100 up to $199.99 in cash wages in a calendar year by one farm operator, he will earn one quarter of a social security credit. He will be credited with two quarters if he earns $200 to $399.99 in a year, and he will receive three quarters if he makes between $400 and $599.99 in cash from a farm employer, or any cash earnings of $400 or more in the four quarters of coverage or credit for the entire year. His earnings up to $4,200 will be reported for social security purposes. Total cash wages of less than $100 paid him by one farm operator will not be credited to his social security account.

The farm operator will report the wages that he has paid to the employee and he will send social security tax contributions to the Director of Internal Security Tax Contribution made. Two percent of this is deducted from the farm employee's wages and the remaining two percent is contributed by the farm operator.

My young friend will not get his social security card since he has never had one. He will have to show the card to his farm employers when he performs farm work that is covered by social security.

Conditions Cited For Loan On Corn To State Farmers

Final Date Of May 31 Set For Commodity Credit Corn Crop Loan

Farmers who wish to put their 1954 corn crop under a Commodity Credit Corporation loan still have plenty of time to get their corn and their storage in condition to qualify, according to Paul W. Mitchell, chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee in Delaware.

May 31, 1955, has been set as the final date when 1954 corn may be put under loan, though this date could be set up a little if weather conditions next spring endanger the grain, Mitchell explains. Applications for loans should be submitted to the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committees in Delaware.

To qualify for a loan, corn must be grade No. 2 or better, or No. 4 on the basis of test weight only. Both ear and shelled corn are eligible for loans. Ear corn placed under price support loan may have a moisture content of not more than 15.5 percent. If shelled corn is placed under loans through Feb. 1955.

The maximum moisture content permitted decreases to 19 percent during March; to 17.5 percent during April; and 15.5 percent during May. Any 1954 shelled corn may have a moisture content of not more than 13.5 percent, whether stored on the farm or in a commercial grain warehouse.

Structures in which corn is stored on the farm must afford safe storage for the grain. Before a loan is granted, the county ASC office inspects the storage structure as well as the corn, with particular attention to the roof, ventilation, protection of grain from rodents and birds, location, and general condition of the bin or crib.

Plans for building satisfactory storage structures; recommended drying and ventilating equipment; and best methods for controlling grain pests are available from county agents or the mailing room, Agricultural Hall, University of Delaware.

Social Security Official Advises Self-Employers

Self-employed persons who plan to file claims for Social Security benefits in 1955 must submit a copy of Form Schedule C from their 1954 Federal Income Tax return, Myron Milbourn, district manager of the Wilmington Social Security office, pointed out today.

Schedule C is the section of the income tax return on which the self-employed taxpayer computes income from his business. When a claim for Social Security benefits is filed, a copy of Schedule C for the preceding year must be submitted so that business income may be included in figuring the amount of the taxpayer's Social Security retirement benefit.

Potato Acreage In State Doubles In Past 10 Years

Cash farm income from potatoes has shown a steady increase in Delaware since 1943, according to a report recently issued by the department of agricultural economics at the University of Delaware.

Potato acreage in Delaware has nearly doubled in the last 10 years. In 1943, 3500 acres were planted and by 1953 the acreage had jumped to 6600. Diamond State farmers realized over $1,500,000 from potatoes in 1953, while in 1944 this income was only $184,000.

Kent county produces nearly 90 percent of all the potatoes in the state, the third most important crop in that county.

Part of the tremendous increase in Delaware potato production in Delaware can be attributed to the great influx of Long Island potato growers to the state.

Changes In Your Social Security By Myron Milbourn

Manager of the Wilmington Social Security Office

I want to explain the provisions in the 1954 amendments to the social security law that will affect agricultural employees. Farm operators will want to know about the changes in this part of the law if they have hired help on their farms or if they work for some other farm employer for part of the year.

Under the 1954 amendments to the Social Security Act, some farm workers were brought into the old-age and survivors insurance program for the first time. But there was a work regularity test which kept many farm workers from building social security protection for themselves and their families.

Take the case of the young farm worker who came to see me recently. After he had introduced himself, he gave me a brief account of his life. He'd been born and raised in Delaware, he had enlisted in the army, he had served overseas when he received news of his father's death. His mother's next letter told him that she was selling the family farm. Since she would have to settle very badly, she would have to sell the farm property at a price far below the farm property's actual value. A widow's benefits under social security might have enabled her to keep the farm or at least avoid selling it on a poor market. But she was a farm operator and was self-employed by the social security law until the amendments last year.

When my young friend returned from the service, he couldn't work on the family farm as he had planned, for he soon built a reputation as a good worker, and farmers were glad to hire him when they had work. He worked steadily throughout the year, but largely because of the nature of farming in that area, he worked for many different employers in the course of a year. This meant that he wasn't considered "regularly employed" under the social security provisions of 1950. The test for him to work for the same farm employer for at least five months in the year. Since he didn't meet this test, his wages as a farm hand weren't counted toward social security.

Now the young farm worker had come to ask me about the new law for a very special reason. He was thinking of getting married. He hoped that the new law would make it possible for him to begin earning social security credits in his work. He realized that his social security work under the social security program would count toward benefits when he retired. But as a young man, he was more interested in the protection that his work would earn for his wife in case of his death.

He didn't want her to have the financial difficulties that his mother had when his father died. I quickly told the young farm worker about the provision in the new law that will enable him, and over two million other farm employees who couldn't meet the "regularly employed" test before, to have the protection of social security.

Under the new law, the work regularity test for farm employees has been eliminated. Beginning January 1, 1955, the farm helper is included under the social security if he earns $100 in cash wages from any one farm operator in a calendar year.

If the farm employee is paid from $100 up to $199.99 in cash wages in a calendar year by one farm operator, he will earn one quarter of a social security credit. He will be credited with two quarters if he earns $200 to $399.99 in a year, and he will receive three quarters if he makes between $400 and $599.99 in cash from a farm employer, or any cash earnings of $400 or more in the four quarters of coverage or credit for the entire year. His earnings up to $4,200 will be reported for social security purposes. Total cash wages of less than $100 paid him by one farm operator will not be credited to his social security account.

The farm operator will report the wages that he has paid to the employee and he will send social security tax contributions to the Director of Internal Security Tax Contribution made. Two percent of this is deducted from the farm employee's wages and the remaining two percent is contributed by the farm operator.

My young friend will not get his social security card since he has never had one. He will have to show the card to his farm employers when he performs farm work that is covered by social security.

Q—I plan to convert my GI term insurance policy to a permanent plan. Will I have to send VA a new list of beneficiaries, or will beneficiaries already named carry over to my permanent insurance?

A—It is not necessary for you to submit a new list of beneficiaries when you convert your insurance. The beneficiaries you have named originally will carry over to your permanent insurance. You can, of course, change the designation of beneficiaries at any time you desire.

Q—What is the time limit for filing a claim for an allowance to cover the burial costs of a veteran?

A—A claim must be filed within two years from the date of permanent burial of the veteran.

Q—I have just been released from military service. Will the Veterans Administration help me find a job?

A—Job-finding assistance is outside the scope of VA's activities, as defined by law. Employment placement is a function of the Veterans Employment Service of the U. S. Employment Service. Any local State Employment Office can give you further information.

Q—I intend to buy a house with a GI loan. I have approached a lending institution, and it requires a down payment. Are down payments mandatory under the law?

A—The law itself does not require a down payment on a GI loan. However, since private lenders do make the loans, they have the right to make decisions as to terms and down payments.

Testing Of Soil Samples
Offered As U.D. Service

Now is the time to have your soil tested by the University of Delaware. By sending samples to the soil testing laboratory before the spring rush begins, prompt and efficient service can be expected.

The following procedure is recommended for taking soil samples. A slice or core of soil at least six inches deep on cultivated land or three inches deep on permanent hay or pasture land should be taken from at least ten places in each field.

Put these slices in a clean bucket and mix thoroughly. Send one pint of the mixed soil to the soil testing laboratory at the university.

Mark each container with the field number and your own name and address. Include as much information about past treatment and yield history of the field as you can. To get a fertilizer and lime recommendation, you must tell what crop you plan to grow.

Increased Acreage
Advised As Tomato
Farm Profit Boost

W. E. McDaniel Cites
High Net Income From Large Area Farming

Delaware farmers may find tomato production more profitable by increasing their tomato acreage for greater efficiency from machinery and labor.

The net income per acre of tomatoes has been highest on those farms with the largest acreage, according to William E. McDaniel, associate professor of agricultural economics at the University of Delaware.

"Commercial acreage of tomatoes in the state has dropped from 13,500 acres to 2,600 acres in the last ten years," McDaniel pointed out recently during Farm and Home Week at the University of Delaware. "The decline in production occurred even though prices received per ton have been the highest in the eastern states," he added.

The eastern area is the only major tomato producing section of the U. S. with a drop in production since World War II. This area includes Delaware, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland and Virginia. Leading areas of the U.S. for tomato production are California with an average of 37 acres per farm, the midwestern area with 10 acres per farm, and the eastern area with seven acres per farm.

McDaniel believes an increase in tomato acreage could be expected in Delaware with closer cooperation between the farmer and processor which would result in more efficient use of seasonal labor and specialized machinery.

An analysis of contracts between grovers and processors indicate many of the processors in the Midwest do custom work such as spraying and dusting for the growers. Nine percent of the eastern contracts state the processors would supply some labor to the growers as compared to 19 percent of the midwestern processors.

Mrs. John Sparks will play the wedding music and Robert Reed will be the vocal soloist.

Following a wedding trip to Florida the couple will reside in Middletown. Both young people are graduates of Middletown High School and are associated with the Delaware State Highway Department.

Woodpeckers Work
Winter Wonders
With Wood-Borers

In the winter, when home owners suspend their war against outdoors insect pests, winged arch-enemies of wood-borers are busy routing out the insects.

These are the woodpeckers, notably the hairy woodpecker and its smaller cousin, the downy woodpecker, who do the borer diet. Even in November and December these delicacies make up about half the woodpecker diet, according to Government surveys.

Davey tree experts receive many inquiries about woodpeckers at this time. Home owners are concerned about supposed damage to trees. In reality, the busy feathered friends are just digging beaks into trunk and branches to get at their favorite tid-bits, says R. J. McWilliams, Davey field representative. And the tree man advises inducements to have the birds nest right on the home grounds.

State Farm Bureau Offers Group Rate Hospital Services

Special Group Membership
Plan To Be Offered From
Feb. 21 Through March 2

James H. Baxter, Jr., president of the Delaware Farm Bureau, stated yesterday that in cooperation with the Group Hospital Service, Inc., the Farm Bureau will offer its active members the opportunity to enroll in Delaware's Blue Cross-Blue Shield Plan at group rates.

Group rates are lower than individual membership rates and this action affords Farm Bureau members an opportunity to obtain the advantages of Blue Cross and Blue Shield membership at the lower group rates.

At the meeting of the executive committee of the Delaware Farm Bureau held at the central office at 11 North Street, Dover, plans were made to hold a general re-opening of the Farm Bureau Blue Cross group from Feb. 21 through March 2, 1955.

Sol Hoke, executive secretary of the Farm Bureau, pointed out that the Farm Bureau has a continuing interest in improving the health of rural people. The Delaware Farm Bureau encourages the full cooperation of our community health plans—Blue Cross and Blue Shield.

"At present 375 members of Farm Bureau have enrolled their families in Blue Cross through the Farm Bureau group. During the 10 day re-opening of the group we intend to call on all eligible members of Farm Bureau who have not protected themselves and their families with Blue Cross and Blue Shield and remind them this is their only opportunity to enroll this year," Mr. Hoke continued.

Wonder how residents living along the Delaware-Maryland line will be affected by proposed bill in the Md. legislature to clear up once and for all the exact boundary?

The markers originally installed by Mason and Dixon have been neglected for two centuries, many are in bad condition, and several have been moved from their correct position or lost. The poorly marked state line has caused trouble for a few Delaware sportsmen who accidentally crossed the line while deer hunting this past season.

George Barczewski of Glasgow, a representative of the Youth Safety Conference, participated in a pale discussion on "Youth at the Wheel" last Friday afternoon at University Farm and Home Week exercises.

Delaware Food Market Report

By Anne Holberton
Consumer Information Specialist

Meats and Poultry

The Department of Agriculture has just released a special report indicating that record supplies of meat are in prospect for 1955. Beef and veal production will not be much but pork output will be considerably higher than last year.

Pork sales are currently featured in many Delaware food stores. Since pork quality is usually quite uniform, buying is easier than for other meats. Fresh young pork should be fine-grained and grayish pink as the meat changes to a rose color in older hogs. Good, flavorful meat is well marbled, or shows fine streaks of fat distributed throughout the lean, and is covered with firm white fat. The most economical cuts include loins, shoulders and shank ends of ham.

Veal is priced low enough to provide an economical change from other types of meat. Rolled bone shoulder, square cut shoulder and stew meat are the best values. Turkeys and fowl offer the best buys in poultry this week.

Seafood
Even though shad is just beginning to arrive on the market, prices are low enough to merit a "best buy" rating. Other economical seafoods include fresh pollock, scrod, haddock, cod, whiting, and regular haddock. Frozen halibut steaks, smelts, and perch fillets also are inexpensive.

Dry Groceries
Retail coffee prices responded quickly to the recent drop in production points, although the full impact of 5-16c per pound declines will not be felt until this week. Unfortunately for Mrs. Consumer, cocoa prices are not following the same trends as those of coffee. Prices on cocoa and chocolate have been low since October's sharp break, but most dealers agree that another substantial rise can be expected soon. This is a good time to add extra chocolate products to the pantry shelf.

OVER TAKES OVER

Meeting Orville F. Over for the first time on Monday, we were very favorably impressed with Newark's new and first city manager, and with Council's selection of the man from a field of qualified candidates for the newly-created post of chief administrator for the growing business that is the City of Newark.

His personality, manner, and appearance will make him many friends in Newark, and Mr. Over's ability has been demonstrated in his record as city manager of Lititz, Pa.

Newark's first city manager faces a tough job—last Monday was probably his easiest day to date, and may be a source of mild astonishment in retrospect over a long calendar haul ahead.

But Mr. Over is not here in Newark in quest of a soft touch. Lititz had its problems—every city does—and the people, the problems, and the administration of city affairs in Lititz, in Newark—and in every American community—are fundamentally the same.

Newark's new city manager is here by choice—his choice, that of City Council, a special committee appointed by Mayor-Doctor Wallace Johnson to screen more than 50 applicants, and the choice of the people of Newark—a winning combination.

City Engineer J. Francis Neide; City Secretary Charles D. Long; the mayor, and the councilmen will merit the appreciation of each resident in the community for their combined efforts to include the functions and responsibilities of a previously non-existent chief administrator. We believe that they have done a great job and accomplished much for the City of Newark—above and beyond the call of duty.

Mr. Over's presence will relieve each one of these men of some portion of this unified effort and responsibility—to the ultimate advantage of each individual concerned—and for the benefit of the City of Newark.

But the cooperation of the mayor, of each councilman, of each city employee, and of each resident of the city, is paramount if Newark is to obtain the optimum in benefit from Mr. Over's administrative talents. A sound administrator obtains cooperation—up to a point—and we feel that Orville Over will well attain that. But it's up to each of us to go all the way.

Among the problems faced by the new city manager—and they include preparation of the annual budget, increased electric power facilities, additional water supply, street repairs, the Delaware Avenue extension, working harmony, diversion of city sewage from the disposal plant to the county interceptor—is that of finding a house to rent as a place to live in town. Mrs. Over and the two children are living in Lititz and the entire family is eager for moving day.

Welcome, good house hunting, and the best of all good wishes, Orville F. Over!

Fibre Plant Merger

The Continental-Diamond Fibre Company signed a contract on Saturday to purchase the Delaware Hard Fibre Company plant at Marshallton.

The new owners of the Marshallton plant will continue its operations with all present employees. The new facilities are valued at $1,500,000 by C. G. Rupert, founder and retired president of the Delaware Hard Fibre Company.

J. P. Wright, president of Continental-Diamond, said that the deal has been under negotiation for the past year.

Continental and the Diamond State Fibre Company merged last year to form the new Continental-Diamond Fibre Corporation.

New Health Officer
Major C. S. Merriam, M.D., was elected New Castle County Health Officer for the State Board of Health, replacing Dr. Seth Hurdle who recently resigned to accept another position.

Major Merriam is a staff member at the U.S. Veterans' Hospital in Memphis, Tenn.
Dr. A. C. Jost, executive secretary of the State Board of Health, stated his regret that the board was unable to select a Delaware physician for the post, but that none of the Delaware applicants possessed the qualifications of the appointee.

Women's College Gym

Due to a number of changes in plans, bids for construction of the proposed gymnasium at Delaware Women's College will be opened March 6 instead of Feb. 20 as previously announced.

At the last meeting of the State Legislature, $150,000 was appropriated for construction of the new gymnasium in Newark.

Belmont Hall Sold

Belmont Hall, for many years the home of Mayor Eben B. Frazer, has been sold to his son Stanley Frazer to Wm. P. Wollaston, local merchant.

Boy Scout Jubilee

Newark Boy Scouts entertained parents and friends with an anniversary program on Feb. 14 in the American Legion room.
Whitney Day extended a welcome to the guests; Ott Widows, Jr., played a harmonic solo and Eugene

White gave a number of impersonations. A. B. Eastman delivered the principal address on the evening program, and Scoutmaster Arthur Tomhave gave a review of scouting activities in Newark.

Sports
After losing 12 straight games, the University of Delaware won their first of the season by defeating Drexel 24-22.

Johnny Lecarpentier, who replaced Orth in the lone Delaware substitution, fired the winning field goal a few minutes after entering the game. And hostilities ceased as the ball was returned to play.

With less than a minute to go, and trailing Drexel 22-20, Blue Hen Captain Barton fired one through the bucket from mid-court, and Lecarpentier added the crowning two points as time ran out.

The Delaware line-up: Hill and Roman, forwards; Taylor, center; Orth, Barton and Lecarpentier, guards.

Wilmington High stopped the Newark cagers, 34-15 in the Newark Army on Saturday night in the worst defeat of the campaign for the local squad.

Whiteman, playing the best game for Newark, scored five points—a pair of field goals and a foul shot—to lead the local pointmakers.

Delaware Story

"Delaware has fought and bucked, hated, reviled, admired and fawned upon, ignored and courted the du Ponts, but in the end, it has invariably bowed to du Pont benevolence and paternalism. Du Pont roads belt Delaware from end to end. Du Pont practical interest in its school system raised the state from thirtieth place in literacy to close to the top. Du Pont endowments to institutions for the handicapped and aged lowered the state's mortality figures drastically. The du Pont Company has raised the standards of living directly or indirectly in all three counties."

The attributes and defects of Delawareans other than du Ponts, also are summarized by the author, who writes that the people of Delaware are:

"Hardheaded with money. Courteous, to minimum requirements, with no urban frills. Completely self-sufficient in private living. Fine judges of good food and drink—the end of their own homes, which accounts for the indifferent public eating places throughout the state to this day. Honest at heart—but watch yourself carefully in all business transaction, for Delawareans are, of ancient times, close traders. Completely cynical in all basic philosophy. And utterly unchangeable, come hell, high water, the du Pont overlords or thermodynamic reaction."

And Mr. Bellah also provides a summary of physical Delaware. Closing his story, he writes:

"So then what have we really? A small but fierce and proud state with the faint eaveller and bond-servant shadow of Virginia upon its beginnings, a kinship with Maryland's delightful Eastern Shore, the Dutch, a lacking of Scandinavian, a broad overlay of Scotch, Irish and English, and a self-determined independence of thought and political entity that has given Delaware character and its people individuality for almost three centuries."

The average schoolteacher in the U.S. earns about $3,290 a year.

Mr. Rebikoff is the author of a number of books and articles on electronic lighting and underwater photography which have been published in French, German, Italian, Spanish and English. He graduated in electrical engineering and became chief engineer of Radio Control, Lyon, France. For three years he was a civilian prisoner of war in Germany assigned to repairing and making radio sets and instruments.

Following the war he made and patented the first electronic flash lamp in Europe: Eclatron, and Ikotron (Zeiss). He made and patented the Rebikoff colorometer and the 25,000 watt second electron flash studio for Drager and for Studio Jean Chevalier in Paris.

In 1949, he patented his electron flash torpedo. In 1950, he made the first color undersea movies with his movie torpedo. Since then, he has made from three to six underwater color movies each year which are the features of his phenomenally successful European lecture tours—already six times sold out in the Film Festival Palace in Cannes.

Mr. Rebikoff will be on campus Monday morning and may visit classes for discussions regarding his work.

He is our friend who loves more than admits us, and would aid us in our great work.

F. X. Gallagher

Addresses Scout Camp Fund Rally

Francis X. Gallagher, of Newark, was the principal speaker at a special breakfast held last Saturday for members of the Caesar Rodney Scout district and the $350,000 Boy Scout Camp Expansion Fund campaign. Eugene R. Perry, president of the National Vulcanized Fiber Company and Scout district chairman, presided at the breakfast held at the General Motors Boxwood Road assembly plant.

Mr. Gallagher stressed the fact that the Del-Mar-Va Council has doubled its boy membership in the past seven years, and that 5,000 additional scouts will become members during the next four years. "Unless we act now to enlarge Camp Rodney," Mr. Gallagher said, "1,000 scouts will have to be refused the chance to camp there in 1956, and 3,000 will have to be turned away in 1960."

"Campaigns like this are a part of maintaining the dignity of the individual and preserving the American way of life as we know it. Unless we do this, agencies over which we have no personal control would do it—and that's not the American way."

High School Junior Prom Scheduled For May 13th

The junior class of Newark High School has decided on May 13 as the date for the 1955 Junior Prom. The seniors will be entertained and a senior girl will be named queen. Thomas Kershaw, president of the junior class, has appointed committees on decorations, publicity, invitations, tickets, and clean-up. Kershaw and Mark Hurm will be co-chairmen of the dance.

The first great gift we can bestow on others is a good example. —Sir Charles Morell

Wherefore take unto you the whole armour of God, that you may be able to withstand in the evil day, and having done all, to stand. —(Ephesians 6, 13.)

Why should we try to go it alone, humanly weak as we are when God's love, His guidance and power are ours for the asking through prayer? He is ever present and willing; when we let our foolish pride and self-centeredness cut us off from Him, we deprive ourselves needlessly of all-power, all-good.

Yellowjackets Lose Two Tests To Wilmington High, Indians

Red Devil 1st Period Lead Stops Newark Cagers, 59-49; Claymont Gil Mahla Scores 27 To Defeat Locals 70-59; Jim Martin, Joe Lehman Top Scoring For Yellowjackets

Enjoying the favorable end of a 6-5 season's log, the Newark Yellowjackets ran into some heavy going at Wilmington High last week and were stopped, 59-49, for their sixth defeat. And on Tuesday night at Claymont, Newark fell for the second time this season before the powerful Indians in a 70-59 cage session and the current losing end of a 6-7 campaign record.

Newark's Jim Martin paced the Newark offense at Wilmington High as he scored 19 points—high mark for the game—with seven field goals and five free shots, a point ahead of the Red Devils' Cox, with eight field goals and a pair of fouls.

Early Pace

Newark got off to a slow start, with Wilmington High taking a 22-12 first period lead. The second quarter was a more even thing, 14-11, and in the third period, the Yellowjackets topped their opponents, 16-10.

Bob Downes and Joe Lehman came through with six points apiece for Newark and Mark Hurm completed the local scoring with a field goal and a foul shot.

27-Point Ace

Gil Mahla, Claymont's high-scoring ace, was the difference in Tuesday night's test. Mahla ran wild and rang up 27 points—12 field goals—and that did it.

Joe Lehman turned in the top-scoring performance for Newark with 17 points bolstered by seven field goals, and Martin with eight field shots.

Ed Chase, Yellowjacket center, scored eight with a trio of floor shots and a pair from the line, while Bob Downes and Ray Klapinsky each checked in with six points. Lee Schaffer, at guard, added to the scoring total with a pair of field goals.

Last Friday night's go with Mt. Pleasant was postponed by the weather. Man in their first game of the season, Newark nipped the Green Knights by a slim point, 52-51. Six games remain—all of them on the Newark court—and the Yellowjackets play the first of these tomorrow night, with Conard.

Squattro's cagers play an encore with Wm. Penn next Tuesday night.

Sullivan To Coach Hen Frosh Cagers For Rest Of Card

James V. Sullivan, University of Delaware physical education and Delaware football coach, will direct the freshman basketball team for the remainder of the season. Robert P. Siemen is relinquishing his court duties to coach the Delaware basketball squad.

The frosh quintet under Siemen's tutelage has earned a third-place standing in the Middle Atlantic race, with a 2-2 league record.

Sullivan came to the University of Delaware in 1951 after graduating from the University of Maine. He received a master's degree at Delaware in 1954.

Author of works on the care of athletic equipment, Sullivan has designed a revolutionary type of shoulder pad that is now being marketed.

Yellowjacket JV's Split With Red Devils, Indians

The Newark junior varsity basketball squad gained an even split in a pair of preliminary contests with the Wilmington High and Claymont jayvees—one win better than the Yellowjacket varsity in wind-up contests.

Coach Al Brayman's passers fell before the junior Red Devils, 48-36, before the Yankees last February were the American League Rookie of the Year, and Bill Skowron, of the Yankees, was named MVP.

Bob Conway set the scoring pace for the Newark jayvees in both games, scoring 14 points against Wilmington High's juniors, and racking up seven big field goals and three free shots to take high scoring honors in the Claymont game.

Conrad won the first engagement, 55-48, and Newark tripped the Colonials at New Castle, 54-46.

The Yellowjackets also stopped the A. I. Tigers in a previous meeting, 70-58.

Eight Newark High School Girls Win 5th Basketball Test

The Newark High School girls varsity basketball team won their fifth straight game of the season as they romped over Middletown, 44-24.

Carolyn Jones, who was high scorer in previous victories over Conard and A. I. duPont with 13 and 15 point totals, caged a big 24 in the Middletown melee.

Nellie Bradford paced the Newark Jayvees in their 20-16 win over the Middletown juniors with an eight point contribution.

And thanks to Carolyns Nutter and Chalmers for a sports item diverted from the "Yellowjacket Highlight" column elsewhere in the Post.

There may be snow in the north country, but it's springing in Florida. A lot of ball players already have buckled down to work down there in the citrus country—would-be major leaguers. Under present rules, there can be no spring work-outs among major leaguers before March 1.

While the youngsters now in training are not on big league rosters, many are of major caliber or are good major league prospects.

They are the rookies of the 1956 and 1957 seasons, and quite a few of them may move up this year. It can be done. In the advance school can be done. In the advance school can be done.

Bob Grim, who was to become the American League Rookie of the Year, and Bill Skowron, of the Yankees, was named MVP.

You may remember, too, what happened in the 1951 preliminary camps of the Yankees. Casey Stengel took a few looks at Mantle and Gil McDougald and decided that they could by-pass the American Association and go right into Yankee Stadium.

Mantle and McDougald came up from Joplin in the Western Association, and McDougald was the product of Beaumont, in the Texas League.

The first of this year's preliminary camps open was that of the Yankees. Thirty-three youngsters whose average age was 21, reported at St. Petersburg, Fla., Feb. 10.

They were to be sent to the big league club, and to help them along were Stengel, Bill Dickey, Frankie Crosetti and Jim Turner, as well as managers of the New York farm clubs, and scouts.

The Pirates' preliminary school for major league hopefuls opened at Port Myers, Fla., on St. Valentine's Day, with 30 young men on hand. The Athletics opened at Sanford, Fla., the same day, with 40 youngsters ready for inspection.

Dodgers had a Feb. 15 opening at Vero Beach, Fla., while others getting their preliminary work under way this month include the Senators and Cardinals.

The operation of a preliminary camp is expensive. The Yankees, for example, expect to spend $40,000 on theirs. However, Yankee big-wigs feel that it is money well spent. While Stengel is believed by many to have been the innovator of the preliminary schooling, Dan Daniel says that the idea actually originated with Branch Rickey. In 1946, when the Dodgers had a large number of returnees from the service, Rickey decided on a February camp in Florida to re-appraise the young men.

The Gay Nineties
Jack Ryan, the Boston Nationals' catcher of the Gay Nineties, used to get a kick out of relating a story about a four-alarm fire that saved John McGraw's life. It was at the old South End grounds, where the Bostonians played from 1876 until mid-season of 1914, the year they won the pennant and the world's championship from the Athletics in four games, the first time the four-straight feat ever was accomplished.

McGraw, at that time, was playing third base for the immortal Baltimore Orioles.

With the Orioles leading by one run in the ninth, Tom Tucker, Boston first sacker, led off with a triple. Tucker, eager to score the tying run, was faking dashes for the plate. Finally, he strayed off too far and catcher Wilbert Robinson snatched the ball down to McGraw, who kicked Tucker in the face with his spikes, then tossed him out.

Timely Fire
With the gore pouring down his features, Tucker started after McGraw, while the fans cascaded from the stands, intent on McGraw's scalp. As they did, a fire broke out in the Sullivan stands—a wooden structure that had been built outside the park by a gent named Sullivan where fans could view the game cheaper than they could in the ball park.

The conflagration took on the intensity and rapidity of a blaze in a celluloid factory. In seconds, it spread to the bleachers of the park and then the grandstand.

During the excitement McGraw took refuge in a millinery store on Columbus avenue. He came out later disguised in a woman's hat, and escaped the wrath of the irate fans.

Ted Williams is really living, with no outward concern for his future in baseball. The Sporting News relates that a recent visitor found Ted on the Florida Keys living in "perfect peace" as a fisherman.

"Ted lives by himself," the visitor said, "takes care of his own house and cooks his own meals. When he's not fishing he's playing some of his records."

POSTED

February is far from being a prize on the calendar insofar as the local outdoorsman is concerned, but it is attended with added daylight, an occasional breath of spring, the arrival of northbound, migrant birds who get a little ahead of themselves, and fishing of sorts—even through the ice.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Young, with sons Bobby and Wilson recently enjoyed the skating on Sunset Lake, and Mrs. Young reports that several hardy anglers were conducting operations with tip-ups at strategic holes in the ice—and were catching fish, too.

If you've ever fished Sunset Lake under more ideal conditions, you can appreciate the feat of taking fish from those challenging depths when the ice has closed in.

The Youngs, who take their fair share of fish from Sunset Lake in the spring, summer and fall, were impressed by the ice-fishing activity, but not to the point where they gave up their skating for a probable slow whirl with the yellow perch and pickerel.

Tough Enough
Ice skating is tough enough, and we have a lot of admiration for the Youngs' freezing trial. A bit envious, too, and sorry we didn't do more than think of it. That fire on the bank, a bright moon over the frozen lake, and the music of skate runners humming on the ice, with windy tears in the eyes—that's living.

Rip Smith reports that the ice fishermen have been having some fine days down on the North East River.

"They're catching 'em," Rip said, "with a lead spoon-hook. Chop a hole in the ice, drop that jig down to the bottom, and with your line tied to a short stick, raise her off the bottom about a foot, and let it wobble back down again. Then, bam, you feel something try to yank that stick out of your hand—you come up with the line—and you flop that yellow ned, pike, or bass out on the ice and he freezes stiff while you're looking at him."

And not only fish!

No Barbs
"I've made up a bunch of these lead spoon-hooks," Rip continued, "no barbs. That's to keep you from freezing your hands in taking the fish off. With barbed hooks you just shake 'em off, and there they are—right beside you in an open air deep freeze."

We'd like to get out with you, Rip, even though we've tried that ice-fishing jig before.

Delaware Defeats Haverford In Twin Bill On Saturday

Varsity, Frosh Cagers Stop Visiting Rivals By 89-62, 57-55 Scores

The Blue Hens came up with their highest point mark of the campaign in upsetting Haverford, 89-62, at home Saturday. It was the second victory in this conference season for the Hens, and gave them an overall record of 4-11, an overall record of 4-11, an overall record of 4-11.

Although it's too late to do much about the overall mark, the Hens could make their presence felt in conference competition with Drexel in Philadelphia and tail-end Ursinus here Saturday.

Drexel jolted the Hens, 88-70, but since finding their shooting eyes the Delaware combine should be harder to stop.

Ursinus will be welcome as it bowed, 88-81, in a previous encounter with the Hens, and Delaware has five men in double figures and every one of 12 players to see action for Coach Irv Wisniewski's Hens, scored. Even in the late stages, when the game was turned over to the scoring pace.

Before Bill Messick, Dallas Green, Pete Kelleher, Don Miller and Clyde Louth had hit in double figures, headed by Messick's 14 points, Jack Waddington and Ed Kwiatkowski each had nine in ably assisting the triumph.

Delaware's freshman five nipped Haverford's Jayvees, 57-55, in the preliminary game, Paul Flood showing the way with 18 points.

Earlier last week at Swarthmore, the Hens dropped an 84-70 decision to the Gamecock varsity following the Blue Chicks' 82-65 win over the Swarthmore frosh in the preliminary test.

Dallas Green and Bob Messick led the Delaware scoring with 18 points apiece, while Co-captain Pete Kelleher was shut out for the first time.

A short length of string and a willow wand, we are convinced that Outdoorsman Smith can perform even greater wonders through a hole in the ice over the more productive waters of the North East—and with a real lure on his line.

Final Report
West Virginia Paul Gainer related his experiences on the St. Jones River during the latter, more frigid half of the recent duck-hunting season. Didn't recognize him at first. The last time we saw Gainer, his face was blue with cold, he was lost in a great bundle of boots, sweaters, and hunting coats, and together we shivered and shak in the mud of the St. Jones marsh, straining the old eyes for a glimpse of ducks that just weren't there.

"It was close to the last day of the season," Paul said, "and with Dick Richards, Rip and I really had some shooting."

Rip is Gainer's Chesapeake retriever, not Rip Smith—or Collins—although the latter is crowned with a similar grade of thatch.

W. P. Gainer has taught Rip to shoot that 12-gauge pump gun, and we're not surprised at that after seeing him work.

"The ducks were really flying—mostly mallards—and we shot—and shot. Dick Richards and Rip were killing ducks, but I was either missing 'em completely, or sailing an occasional cripple," Paul continued, "And then I found out why. Trap loads—a pocket full of 'em. And I didn't find that out till we got home."

That's a new one—and not too bad, either.

Nelson Withdraws Name As Candidate For Indiana Post

Delaware Athletic Director Prefers Football Coaching In Mid-Six To Big 10 Job

Withdrawing his name as a candidate for Big Ten honors as athletic director at Indiana in favor of his athletic directorship and grid coaching duties in the mythical Middle Six Conference at Delaware, Dave Nelson is preparing for his fifth season as pilot of the Fightin' Blue Hen gridgers.

In announcing his withdrawal, the 34-year-old Admiral said: "I called Indiana and asked that my name be withdrawn from consideration. I didn't want to give up coaching yet. Probably that was the basic reason."

The Indiana position pertained to the athletic directorship only. Nelson, Nelson, former Notre Dame star and later an assistant to Frank Leahy at South Bend, is the Hoosiers' coach.

At the invitation of Indiana officials, Nelson visited the Hoosiers' campus at Bloomington, Ind., several weeks ago. His record as an athletic director at Maine and Delaware had attracted their attention.

Perhaps Nelson's strongest supporter for the position was John Mee, head of Indiana's athletic committee. It was Mee who recommended the one-time Michigan athlete.

Nelson came to Delaware as athletic director and football coach from Maine in 1951. In his four seasons as coach at Newark, the Blue Hens have won 24 of 34 games.

Dave's decision to stay at Delaware also means he'll become one of the oldest football coaches there in the point of duty. Only Bill McAvoy and Bill Murray will have served there longer.

McAvoy directed Delaware teams for 12 years over two different periods, from 1908 through 1916, and from 1922 through 1924, winding up with a record of 42 victories, 47 defeats and 14 ties.

Murray was at Delaware for 11 years, but was at the football helm for only eight because the university played no official schedule from 1943 through 1945 owing to the war. Murray's teams fashioned a 49-16-2 record, which included a winning streak of 26 games.

Delaware Pitchers, Catchers Report For Preliminary

Hens To Open 21-Game Baseball Schedule With At Home, April 13; Lettermen, Seven Frosh Winners Expected To Report For Squad Drill

The thrilling thwack of that hard horsehide padded mit has been echoing in Carpenter Field since Coach Bob Siemen has his Delaware pitching and candidates working out in preliminary practice, while squad scheduled to report on Monday, Feb. 28, varsity lettermen and seven soph who won season, are expected to bid for berths on the Blue Hen squad.

Against Michigan scheduled for March 1, the Delaware squad will serve them up from the Carpenter Fieldhouse, where Bill Patterson, an "Invited" pitcher, and Gentry Bachner, a freshman pitcher, will be training, while Buddy B. ranking member of the staff, is expected later.

Two Wilmington players, for Dallas Green and southpaw Dick McKelvie, their basketball jerseys, suits at the close of the campaign on March 9.

Bob Travis, recently the state's "outstanding" pitcher, and Dave G. Joe Thorpe, a Delaware native, are expected to be in the ball last spring.

Director Ray Ciesinski announces that the undefeated Vets will enter the Dover Invitational Tournament as representatives of the Newark Recreation League.

Delaware swimmers, outclassed by Gettysburg free-stylers, captured four specialty swimming events before losing the decisive final relay. The win by the host team in the 400-yard free-style relay gave them seven points to bring the total to 48-38, Gettysburg.

A crack breaststroke leg of the opening medley by Jack McDaniel gave a five point lead, but Gettysburg free-stylers took the next two events, and scored a first place in the diving for an early edge.

Hen Capt. Bob Wagner cruised to an easy first place in the 200-yard breaststroke, and a second in the individual medley and the 400 yard free-style.

THE SELECT "400"
Can Willie Mays hit 400 this season? The answer to that is he can't if he slumps as often as he did last season. As Stan Musial of the Cardinals puts it, "To hit 400, you can't afford to have a slump any time in the season." Stan's best shot at it was in 1948, when he hit .376. He might have made the magic 400 had it not been for a four-game hitless streak in September. It's a big order for Mays or anyone. After all, only eight men have done it since the turn of the century.

Carolyn Marsh Competes With Winners From 48 States In Chicago Test

Carolyn Marsh, 17, of Smyrna is winner of the Cherry Pie Baking Contest among Delaware 4-H Clubs. A member of the Woodland Beach Sea Gulls 4-H club in Kent County, she has completed four years of club work in the food preparation project and was 1954 Kent County food preparation winner.

Carolyn will compete with contestants from 48 states in the national contest at Chicago tomorrow and with Mrs. Ethel Robinson, local leader from Smyrna, they left Newark on Tuesday and will return Sunday.

A winner of the Daughter of America Revolution citizenship award for Smyrna High School, she is the daughter of Mrs. Susan Marsh of Smyrna.

Contestants were judged on their use and arrangement of equipment, the finished product and their personal appearance. Participants from other counties were Janet Jones of Hockessin and Patsy Jones of Georgetown.

The judges were Robert Stevens, extension horticulturist, University of Delaware; George Vappa, Kent County agricultural agent; Mrs. Anne Holberton, consumer marketing specialist, University of Delaware; and Mrs. Fred Stone, Newark.

The contest was held in Agricultural Hall at the University during Farm and Home Week.

County Ag Agent Advises Control Of Winter's Rats

Rats again are on the move and invading farm property, County Agent Edward Schabinger warns. He urges effective control measures to foil rats' migration from fields to farm buildings in cold weather.

Ratproofing corn cribs, granaries and chicken houses, removal of trash and other likely rat shelters, and your use of poison bait are the order of the day. Farmers who have conducted poison bait campaigns against rats have been repaid many times for their efforts, Mr. Schabinger reports. However, these and other control measures must be repeated, because a few rats always escape, and the rat population builds up again.

Warfarin and Pival are two chemicals recommended by the county agent for poison bait, whether you're fighting rats just on your farms, or on a county-wide basis. It's well to remember that concentrated attacks by neighboring farmers kill more rats per farm, and reduce the migration problem.

Poison bait can be prepared economically in bulk, and distributed to individual farms. About 20 pounds will keep your farm supplied for a whole year.

Rats are filthy and a public danger. They eat a surprising amount of feed, and contaminate even more, Mr. Schabinger says.

"When rats are destroyed, everybody gains," he emphasizes.

MYF members will attend the sub-district rally next Monday evening at Grace Methodist Church in Wilmington.

The Women's Society of Christian Service will meet on Feb. 24 at the church in an evening meeting. Members of the society plan to join with the United Church Women of Newark for the observance of the World Day of Prayer next Wednesday at the First Presbyterian Church in Newark.

Red Clay Creek Presbyterian Church
The Women's Fellowship planned last week to make bedside kits for patients at the Emily P. Bishop Hospital and to contribute magazines to the institution. Mrs. Leigh Rice showed members how to make decorated aluminum trays and novelty ceramics.

More than 150 parents, Scouts, troop committeemen, and leaders witnessed the court of honor last Wednesday evening when scouts were advanced, merit badges were awarded, and recognition given Cub Pack 58. The Golden Eagle Patrol won the much prized Golden Eagle award.

Star awards went to Raymond Jones, Leonard Williams, James Ashby, Frank Gillespie, John Williams, and William Spencer. Richard Ullman received his life award. Thirteen scouts received special merit badges.

The Valley Forge trip scheduled for last Saturday for the Scouts was cancelled due to the storm. The Red Clay Kiwanis Club was providing this outing.

The choir held a valentine party last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Millard Goss.

Circle One will hold a covered dish luncheon today at the church with Mrs. Samuel Dennison, Mrs. Abner Woodward, and Mrs. Arthur Eastman, Jr., as hostesses. Mrs. Lindley Fager will lead devotions and Mrs. Richard Oswald will have charge of the program.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Mitchell of Woodside Farms, entertained the West Grove Farmer's Club on Saturday.

Andy Wyeth of Limestone Road, is confined with the mumps.

Civil Service Examination Offered Warehouseman
An examination for position of warehouseman at $1.65 an hour with assignment at the Dover Air Force Base, or at the New Castle County Airport, has been announced by the U.S. Civil Service Examiners, Wilmington.

Persons appointed will be responsible for receiving, checking, storing, and issuing supplies, equipment and materials. No experience is necessary, but applicants will be required to take a written test designed to indicate their aptitudes.

Further information and necessary application forms may be obtained from Woodrow W. Singles at the Newark Post Office.

Poultry Record-Keeping Urged As Control Factor

Accurate records are about as important on a poultry farm as good quality pullets, says Assistant County Agent Ralph Barwick. Keeping daily records enables a poultryman to detect any abnormalities in the flock. If no records are kept, he has no way of detecting important variations in production and feed consumption.

Chinese Educator To Teach At U.D. Summer Session

Dr. Frederick Hung, associate professor of geography at Western College, will join the University of Delaware summer school staff again as an authority on the Far East. Dean W. O. Penrose, director of extension, has announced. Dr. Hung lectured at the University of Delaware for the first time last summer.

In addition to appearing in the series of Wednesday evening programs planned for the summer session, the China-born and European-educated professor will instruct two summer school courses. One, "Human Geography of the Far East," will feature the geographic, historic and cultural patterns and problems of China, the Soviet Far East, Korea and southeastern Asia.

The second, "Principles of Geography," is a study of the influence of geographic factors on human life and of man's adaptation and adjustment to his natural environment.

Graduate Training Enlistment Plan Offered By Navy

Petty Officer 1/c John D. Peters, Navy Recruiting officer at Newark, has announced that the Navy Recruiting Service is enlisting high school graduates for certain Navy schools under a new program known as "High School Graduate Training." Men enlisted under this program are assured of assignment to one of the four major service school training groups.

Prior to the announced program, the Navy enlisted men only for general service, guaranteeing them nothing as far as schooling went. Under the new system, if the applicant can meet the few basic requirements, he will be included for Navy schooling under one of the four major groups—aviation, electronics, administration or hospital.

Petty Officer Peters also stated that the Navy is accepting men for immediate enlistment in the "Navy Buddy Plan" where two or more persons can be enlisted and sent through training at Bainbridge Naval Training Center together.

In Newark the Navy's recruiting officer is at the Aetna fire house every Thursday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Winter Poultry Feeding Advice Offered By Agent

Keep a weather eye on feed consumption—and winter slumps in poultry production may be averted, says Assistant County Agent Ralph Barwick. Housing, health, and weather conditions alone or in combination, may affect feed consumption, but when these factors are under control, attention to adequate feeding management is still important.

University Listed As Hospital Site In CD Emergency

State Dept. Of Civil Defense Designates 65 Schools As Aid Centers

Sixty-five schools throughout the state, including the University of Delaware, have been designated as sites for emergency hospitals by the State Department of Civil Defense. Following a sudden air attack, students would be evacuated and the buildings could be converted to casualty care with an estimated capacity of 15,125 beds.

A total of 65 hospital sites have been picked. All are schools except one—the State Welfare Home at Smyrna.

Doctor-nurse staffs to man the hospitals in an emergency are being organized by Dr. Floyd I. Hudson, secretary of the State Board of Health and head of the state Civil Defense health and medical services.

The state's existing hospitals would not be able to handle the influx of casualties following a bombing attack, Dr. Hudson pointed out. Under his first aid plan, victims first would be treated on the spot at field first aid stations, equipment for which already has been stockpiled throughout the state.

Victims needing further treatment would be channeled to the emergency hospitals.

The formation of medical teams to staff the field first aid stations is the responsibility of the county CD organizations. Dr. Hudson is charged with organizing professional crews to man the emergency hospitals. Purchase of equipment for four such hospitals has been approved.

Designation of the schools as hospital sites was okayed by Dr. George R. Miller, superintendent of public instruction and head of the Civil Defense school division, some time ago when the list was first circulated to key personnel.

The 65 school sites include nine specialized institutions and 54 public schools. The nine are: the University of Delaware, Newark; Ferris Industrial, Wilmington; Woods Haven, Claymont; Kruse, Marshallton; Kings College, Delaware City; St. Andrew's, Middletown; Delaware State College, Wesley Junior College and Murphy School, all in Dover.

Chemical Control Of Weeds Offered Tomato Growers

Chemical weed control in tomatoes is suggested to growers for trial use for the first time in 1955, according to County Agent Edward H. Schabinger. Tests conducted the past two seasons indicate that Natria is satisfactory for use on tomatoes when properly applied.

When tomato plants are about half grown, Natria can be applied to prevent further emergence of weed seedlings. This means that immediately before application the field should be cleared of weeds by cultivation, for Natria will not kill weeds already emerged—it only kills germinating seedlings.

Further details can be obtained by referring to Delaware Agricultural Extension Circular No. 84, "Chemical Weed Control in Vegetable Crops." This circular may be obtained at county agent offices or by writing to the Mailing Room, Agricultural Hall, University of Delaware.

YELLOWJACKET HIGHLIGHTS

By the Journalism Class

Students of the Week
William Bruce Holland, who hails from Malden, Mass., is a new student at Newark High. A junior, "Buddy" was born Dec. 18, 1937, in Baltimore, Md. He attended elementary school in Baltimore from the first to the third grades. Then he moved to Malden.

Bruce has brown hair and brown eyes. He is 5'10" and tips the scales at 135. Bruce takes the scientific course and his favorite subject is chemistry. Future plans include aviation school.

His secret ambition? You guessed it, a pilot!
His favorite song is "If I Ever Needed You." Bruce's favorite actor and actress are Audrey Hepburn and William Holden; his favorite food is fried clams. He claims model cars as his hobby.

Bruce thinks Newark High is a friendly school—both teachers and students.

—Ligby Wooleyhan

Suzanne Schaal, a senior with a sparkling grin, came to Newark from Prospect Park, Pa., in 1953. "Suzy" was born Oct. 12, 1937, in Philadelphia, and attended two other schools before coming to Newark.

She is taking the academic course, and plans to attend college. Iowa State is her preference in colleges, and she is planning to major in home economics.

Our blue-eyed brown-haired senior weighs 132 pounds and stands 5'8 1/4" tall.

Suzanne enjoys playing guard in intramural basketball, and leftfield on the softball team. She is on the literary staff of the yearbook, faithfully holds down a traffic post, and is sales manager in Junior Achievement.

Gloria de Haven and the Martin-Lewis team are Suzy's favorite actress and actors, while Eddie Fisher's recording of "Count Your Blessings" is highest on her top tunes list. In the food line, Suzanne goes for a porterhouse steak (medium rare).

Suzanne is often seen riding around in her green Buick, playing tennis, or bowling. She also enjoys playing the piano and sewing.

Suzanne thinks going steady is okay, and prefers a tall boy with a smile. Her pet peeve is people with no sense of humor.

What Suzy will remember most about Newark after graduation is burning the midnight oil over her critical analysis.

Are you one of some people who skip breakfast this morning? Eating the "coffee" cup of coffee will not even if you are full of vitamin pills. R. Wilson, secretary of the American Medical Association, says you won't get a rash unless you join the "breakfast" club. But so the symptoms may be difficult to believe. It is a bad pattern for health. And malnutrition, in short, produces symptoms—physical, mental.

One Fourth good breakfast shows it one-fourth of your day. It should be of wholesome food, canned, raw, eggs or meat, toast, milk, and a touch of fruit. Such a meal cannot be eaten to the bus or when the seven-forty train can a good breakfast. It can help an adult more of most for parents) get essential nutrients to withstand the teen-age life without much on candy. Wolf Demonstrates Ability At General Assembly In Dover

Newark Representative Defends Critical Stand, Makes Up With Opponent

Henry Wolf, Newark Republican representative at the General Assembly, demonstrated his ability at the General Assembly in Dover by defending his criticism of the Democratic majority in the House, and at the same time establishing favorable relations with opponent and critic, Representative George T. Macklin (D-Milford).

Mr. Macklin criticized Mr. Wolf last Thursday for a statement the Newark representative made Wednesday alleging that the Democratic majority was unprepared and unready to provide leadership during the session.

Friday, after the House had finished its opening routine, Mr. Wolf received the privilege of the floor from Speaker James R. Quigley, and he said:

"I would like to make a few remarks regarding the discussion yesterday that involved me personally. First I would like to acknowledge the sincerity with which the gentleman from Milford made his remarks and I admire the way in which he defended his party. I would have done the same.

"I wish to emphasize, however, that my statements were not directed toward him personally nor toward any individual in the House. At this point I think it only fair to point out that this side of the House (the minority) is not very well informed on what is planned and for that reason there is much time for us to speculate. Remember, too, that the party represented by the gentleman from Milford gets by much favorable publicity by introduction of their bills and assurance that they will get much more by their passage so it seems to me that the spotlight is justified on the withdrawal of important bills, when the Democratic Party gives no public notice of their intentions.

"Now let me refer to another incident which occurred as last Tuesday. On that day as you may recall a situation arose which permitted one of the opposite party (a reference to Rep. Thomas C. Rowan, Democrat of Taylor's Bridge) to declare the higher moral purposes of the Democratic Party which is a most proper thing to do. Then very adroitly and with great finesse he put us poor Republicans in a very bad light—all based on his own interpretation of some past events.

"I admired the political sagacity of the gentleman from Townsend, so much so that after the adjournment of the session I complimented him on his handling of the situation and I was sincere in doing so.

"In conclusion I would just like to say this, that if the gentleman from Milford permit I would like to walk across the aisle and say again that no criticism was intended toward him or any of his colleagues."

Mr. Macklin said "That is not necessary," and started across the aisle himself. The two representatives shook hands and there was applause.
