HE NEWARK POLICE Department is providing a fulltime school resource officer at Newark High School – and not a minute too soon.

According to Police Chief William Hogan, his department responded to over 300 incidents at the high school location in the past year. "Not all involve students – some are just things like speeding near that address," said Hogan. "But we have officers in and around the high school on a daily basis."

Two incidents occurred on May 28. Around 7:40 a.m., a 16-year-old male student from Newark threatened to kill Newark High School principal Frank Hagen during a conversation with a female teacher. According to the police, the student was cautioned about his remarks and said, "I don't care – I'm going to kill him."

Adult villas tabled

By MARY E. PETZAK

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

HE NEWARK Planning Commission took twoand-a-half hours on Tuesday to table the first attempt to use neo-traditional zoning since its approval in 1995.

Developer Edward Sobolewski sought to use the zoning to build 34 townhouse-style residences in a community called Old Paper Mill Adult Villas adjacent to Karpinski Park and the Creek Bend subdivision.

The home and barn of current owner Jeanette J. Ayars also would be turned into residences for the new community on the 11.282-acre site, according to the applicants.

Commission chairman Joseph Wald got everyone's attention immediately by reading a portion of the zoning code indicating that land in floodplains and other non-developable land should not be considered as open space for

Three injured in Monday crash

Delaware State Police report that a 22-year-old driver may have been traveling at a high rate of speed prior to a Monday accident on Route 896 near Porter Road.

According to police, John D. Hollis of New Castle was driving his 1985 Chevrolet Celebrity southbound in the righthand lane of Route 896 around 7 a.m. A 1991 Ford Explorer driven by Virginia M. Poore, 36, of Newark was attempting to cross 896 from Porter Road to enter old Route 896.

As a result of the severe storms on Sunday night, the traffic lights were out at the intersection but the Department of Transportation had installed Stop signs for Porter Road. The Explorer struck the right rear of the Celebrity which spun out of control and struck a utility pole. Hollis had to be extricated from the vehicle and was flown to Christina Hospital with a chest injury. Poore and her 7year-old daughter, who were wearing seatbelts, were also taken to Christina Hospital with minor injuries.

The accident is still under investigation. No charges have been

Burglary in Fox Chase

New Castle County Police arrested two men following a burglary at a home on Fox Chase Circle in Bear. Neighbors called police after seeing two suspects kick in the side door of the home around 1:30 p.m. on Friday, May 29. Police arrived in time to see the suspects flee through the front door of the residence. Caught after a foot chase on Route 72 were Ryan T. Bye, 18, and Sean M. Justice, 17, both of Middletown. They are charged with burglary 2nd, theft, criminal conspiracy and resisting arrest. Police recovered jewelry and cash allegedly taken from the residence.

Cocaine seized in Kimberton

County police arrested Ashien J. Brady, 18, of Kimberton in Newark after a drug raid on his residence around 6 a.m. on May 29. According to police, the county undercover drug unit had the apartment on Way Drive under surveillance for two weeks prior to entering with a search warrant. During the raid, police seized 58 grams of cocaine with an estimated street value of $6,000 as well as $1,500 in currency. Brady is charged with trafficking in cocaine, possession with intent to deliver cocaine, maintaining a dwelling for the delivery of drugs, and possession of drug parapherna-

Charges pending for Gap flasher

Charges are pending against an unnamed 34-year-old Joppa, Md., man for repeated instances of exposing himself in the dressing room at the Gap store on Main Street. According to store employees, the man described as thin and scruffy, with long blond hair, has left the dressing room door open while he had no clothes on from the waist down on at least four occa-

Equipment heavily damaged

Sometime between 3 p.m. on May 22 and noon on May 26 unknown persons entered the Sunset Lake Construction Co. on Margaret street in Newark and tampered with equipment. Police said the suspects entered a secured building and drove a Tampco roller with diesel motor out into a yard, heavily damaging the roller. The suspects also damaged the ignitions of two John Deere tractors. The company reported a total of $6,750 in damages.

Python lost in Newark

Somewhere out there, a four-foot python with a white belly is lost. According to Newark Police, a resident on Benny Street told them he had a party attended by about 50 people on May 28. Between 2 a.m. and 4:20 a.m. one of the partygoers apparently let the snake, known as "Pharaoh," out of his locked cage. Anyone with information is asked to call police at 366-7111.

Double trouble at residence

Police were called to 82 East Cleveland Ave. on two occasions last week. On May 29 around 2:25 a.m., police charged Jennifer A. Luby, 21, with hosting a loud party after music could be plainly heard from the residence. On May 31 around 3:45 a.m., police responded to a report of garbage burning in the dumpster behind the property. There are no suspects in that incident.

Police investigate motor vehicle collision

New Castle County Police are investigating a personal injury accident that occurred on May 31 around 6 p.m. on Route 301 south of Middletown near Middleneck Road. A Nissan Maxima traveling northbound on Route 301 struck a Chevrolet Astro Van traveling southbound on Route 30. Police believe the Nissan was attempting to turn left onto Middleneck Road and turned into the path of the van.

The van's front end struck the lissan's right front door. Both vehicles spun around after impact and flipped over. Five passengers in the van, including the driver, 48 year old Paul Ambruster of Carneys Point, N.J., were trapped for a short time. Ambruster was transported to the Christiana Hospital by Maryland State Police helicopter where he was admitted in critical condition with a closed head injury. Two male passengers in the van, ages 39 and 50, were treated and released with bruises and contusions. They are from Salem and Deptford, N.J. respectively.

One 38-year-old Sommerdale, N.J. woman was also treated and released with a broken arm and bruised forearm. Another 38-yearold woman from Carneys Point, N.J. was flown by Delaware State Police helicopter to Christiana Hospital where she was admitted in stable condition with a fractured leg and arm. The last woman in the van, a 27-year-old from Salem, N.J., was flown by Maryland State Police to the Christiana Hospital where she was admitted in critical condition with a closed head injury.

san were also treated and admitted to Christiana Hospital. The driver, 33-year-old Harris Brody of Ellkton, was admitted in stable condition with abdominal injuries. His 25-year-old wife was flown by Delaware State Police helicopter and admitted in critical condition with a closed head injury.

Their 3-and-a-half month old daughter, who was properly restrained in a child safety seat, was admitted for observation in stable condition with minor cuts and bruises. At the present time alcohol does not appear to be a factor. Some of the injured parties were not wearing seatbelts. The accident is still under investigation and there are no

Suspects arrested in Maxwell T's brawl

Newark Police have arrested eight Elkton men in connection with a fight at Maxwell T's on May 15. Robert Sheffler and Glenn Wright Jr., both 20, were arrested on May 29 and June 1 respectively.

On June 2, Newark Police assisted by the Cecil County Sheriff and Elkton Police departments conducted a fugitive roundup of six more suspects. Michael W. Matthews, 19. Jermaine Hall, 21, Kenya L. Minter, 22, Allen O. Smith IV, 17, Jamar L. Wilson, 16, and Edward Benson 3rd, 17, were all arrested in Maryland as fugitives from Delaware.

Newark Police were called to a large fight in progress at Maxwell T's on May 15 around 1 a.m. where approximately 300 disorderly persons began throwing bottles at the Delaware State Police, New Castle County Police, University of Delaware Police, Elsmere Police and Newport Police were called to assist.

One 26-year-old employee from Elkton was taken to Christiana Hospital and then transferred to Wilmington Hospital for emergency eye surgery after receiving lacerations to his face during the melee. Five other bar employees received injuries in the incident.

Police are still looking for five other suspects, including William D. Triplett Jr., 17, Anthony E. Fields Jr., 21, Jason V. Jones Jr., 18, Darron L. Griffin, 21, and Gregory N. Wright, 28, all of Elkton.

Anyone with information is asked to call Newark Police at 366-7111.

County police warn of scam artists

Elderly residents targeted

New Castle County Police Department issued a "scam alert" to the residents of New Castle County concerning recent activities of suspected con artists and fraud complaints.

On Wednesday, May 27 two elderly residents in the Stanton Crest area were the targets of women selling detergent door to door. The two suspects, described as middle-aged women with dark features, were selling a name-brand laundry detergent as a "miracle household cleaner that could clean anything.

One of the victims allowed the suspects into the house to find items to clean. This is a common tactic used by con artists.

One suspect will keep the victim busy while the other removes property and valuables. Luckily in this case the would-be thieves fled, taking nothing.

In a separate incident on May 8 in the Brookland Terrace area, a male subject with a heavy build impersonating a public utility worker attempted to enter an elderly victim's house to check for a leak. After she refused and asked for identification the suspect fled in a blue vehicle.

The New Castle County Police Department is offering the following tips:

Be cautious of anyone who solicits you to buy a product or service. These individuals may solicit you with business cards, brochures or phone calls.

They may seem very legitimate. Before you agree to anything check the phone book or with a consumer affairs group to establish the existence and reputation of the business. Avoid paying cash and obtain a receipt for goods and services.

If someone approaches your residence and claims to be a public utility worker, (gas co., water co., electric co., etc.) ask for identification. If they are on legitimate business they will provide the proper

Also don't hesitate to contact the company to see if there is a worker or problem in your area.

If you are suspicious or have any doubts about the legitimacy of someone's activities, contact 911. Report the suspicious activity to the police and an officer will investigate the complaint.

Newark Nite next Saturday

By MARY E. PETZAK

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Newark Nite, one of the city's premier events of the year, is coming next week.

Saturday, June 13, from 5 to 9:30 p.m., Main Street becomes the place to see and be seen.

Retirees, students, parents with strollers, family pets, and singles checking out the competition - all stroll the mile of entertainers, food vendors, shopping and community booths to take in the sights and sounds of Newark on a summer night.

Some of the teens who usually make downtown their own even appear with relatives.

Three stages will present live musical performances throughout the evening in addition to entertainers along the length of the street. New this year is a Children's Area in Newark Parking Authority Lot 3 behind Abbott's Shoe Repair where children's games with prizes, art activities, a giant slide, and a moonbounce will provide entertainment for the young.

Newark Shopping Center is planning an International food court and Market East Plaza at Tyre Avenue will have have firstever displays, antiques, and music.

Many downtown businesses also are planning special sales and promotions for the evening. Main Street will be closed throughout the event from Tyre Avenue to South College Avenue. Free parking is available in the Newark Parking Authority lots off Delaware Avenue and off Center Street, and University of Delaware lots in various locations.

The event is sponsored by Downtown Newark Inc. and the city of Newark in cooperation with the University of Delaware. Among the businesses providing support and sponsorship of events are: NuCar Pontiac, Saturn, Grotto Pizza, Wilmington Trust, Delaware Technology Park, PNC Bank, Mellon Bank, Dean Witter, DuPont Corporation, Klondike Kate's, Copy Maven, FMC, and Avon Corporation.

Free parking for Newark rail commuters

Parking at the Newark Train Station is free through the month of June to accommodate additional rail commuters during repairs to Interstate 95 in Pennsylvania.

SEPTA has added five extra trains on the R2 line between Wilmington and Philadelphia to help Delaware commuters and an extra car is being added to Newark trains to accommodate increased ridership. The SEPTA strike that went into effect on Monday, June 1, does not include regional rail service.

A tanker truck crash on May 23 claimed two lives and closed down the interstate about two miles north of the Delaware border for 32 hours. Repairs to the damaged roadway are expected to last until sometime in July.

About 50 extra commuters used the Newark commuter train station daily in the week following the accident, according to the site supervisor, Sgt. Burkhard Noack. On May 27, Noack said he believed more people would take the train from Newark if the parking there was free.

Free parking space at the Claymont Train Station north of Wilmington has been jammed since the Tuesday after the accident. Nancy Shevock, director of Delaware Transit Corporation, said in addition to the free parking in Newark, Claymont would get 40 overflow parking spaces during the emergency. The overflow parking is located on the Governor Printz Boulevard Extension and reached via a pedestrian bridge over Interstate 495.

Shevock said holders of June parking permits for the Newark station will be credited next month.

Trains leave Newark at the station off South College Avenue next to Chrysler Assembly for the 15-minute trip to Wilmington at 6:23 a.m., 6:56 a.m. (express), 7:26 a.m., 8:10 a.m., 5:57 p.m., 6:33 p.m., and 7:10 p.m.

Persons traveling to Newark can board trains leaving the Wilmington Train Station at 5:45 a.m., 6:16 a.m., 6:48 a.m., 7:22 a.m., 5:18 p.m., 5:55 p.m. and 6:26 p.m.

An off-peak "rail-bus" express (Route 59) will depart for a halfhour trip from the Newark rail station at noon and the Wilmington station at 12:30 p.m.

One-way adult fare for train or rail-bus between Newark and Wilmington is $2.25. A monthly Intermediate Pass for commuters between Newark and Wilmington is $49. Newark to Philadelphia one-way adult fare is $5; the SEPTA monthly TrailPass is $142.

Information and train schedules are available at www.statede.us/deldot or by calling 1-800-652-DART.

Dinner to honor former Mayor

All area residents are warmly invited to attend a farewell dinner for Mayor Ronald L. Gardner on Wednesday, June 17, at Clayton Hall, University of Delaware North Campus

Cocktails will be starting at 6:30 p.m. with dinner at 7:30 p.m. Cost is $25 per person with a cash bar. Payment must accompany reservations postmarked by June 8. Send checks payable to the "City of Newark" to: City Secretary's Office, P.O. Box 390, Newark, DE 19715. For questions or special needs, call 366-7070.

GRADUATED LICENSE NOW THE LAW

Governor Thomas Carper signed the new graduated licensing for teenage drivers into law before an assembly at Dickinson High School on May 22.

Graduated licensing is designed to allow young drivers driving responsibility to grow in proportion with their experience.

For the first six months, teens must drive with a licensed adult at least 25 years old and no more than two other passengers. For the second six months, teens must drive with a licensed adult from 9 p.m. to 6 a.m. (exceptions for church, school, or work activities) and no more than two other passengers. For that second six months, teens may drive unsupervised from 6 a.m. to 9 p.m. with no more than two other passengers.

The Department of Motor Vehicles shall have the authority to suspend driving privileges for violations. The new system will take effect July 1, 1999.

Brader Elementary students cleaning up in the dirt

Award winning teacher leads the way

By PATRICIA A. KOLY

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Aluminum pans brimming with topsoil glinted in the afternoon sun recently as Brader Elementary School students played in the dirt.

Teachers at the school don't mind if the students get their hands dirty. Thanks to Karen Derrickson, the winner of the Delaware Nature Society Environmental Educator Award, students in the entire school have the opportunity to plant flowers and trees, tend their own wetland occupied by a family of mallards and build a bird sanctuary on school grounds.

Mary Demeulenaeri, awards coordinator for the Nature Society, said, "Karen Derrickson won the award because she has done an outstanding job of raising funds for the entire school, not just for her class."

Derrickson raised more than $18,000 of environmental education grant money by applying to organizations such as Delaware Learn and Serve America and the U.S. Soil Conservation Service.

Derrickson feels that her students are developing a sense of responsibility for caring for the earth. Their observational skills are sharper, she said, and they have more respect for plants and animals.

"We try to teach the students to be stewards of the earth." Derrickson said. One student was overheard scolding another for disturbing newly planted flowers. "She said, 'Don't you have any respect for the earth?" related Derrickson.

Her class takes a weekly 30minute walk through the different habitats, recording and graphing their observations.

"Our goal is to give the students hands-on environmental science experience," said Derrickson. "We purchased 30 sets of binoculars for birdwatching and 30 pairs of rubber boots for working in the wetlands."

Brader School was recently accepted as a member of the "Adopt-A-Wetland" program by the State of Delaware.

Derrickson, a resident of Anvil Park, was recognized for her contributions to the district at the May meeting of the Christina School

Signal system downtown to be ready by September

Promised program finally ready to go

By MARY E. PETZAK

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Traffic signal synchronization is definitely coming to intersections in downtown Newark this year. Really.

Gene Donaldson, handpicked trouble-shooter for Transportation Secretary Anne Canby, told a Newark committee this week that the program promised by DelDOT for the past two years will start by September.

At the monthly meeting of the Western Newark Traffic Relief Committee, Donaldson said Eagle Signal Distribution was awarded the contract for the software and supporting central office hardware. 'The traffic system along Main Street and Delaware Avenue should be done by the end of August," Donaldson said. "Eventually we hope to do Cleveland Avenue and Elkton Road signals, also."

Donaldson and a special Newark traffic team from Del-DOT are investigating all the signals in Newark to determine what is necessary to bring them into the new system.

This system will use fiber optics in the future but Donaldson said it will start out with copper wiring. "Fiber optics has not been used in Delaware for signals and I don't want to take the chance it won't work initially," said Donaldson. "I don't want to say

We already have two dead kids."

ROBERT SMITH

Newark is the guinea pig, but this is the first place Eagle will put in place a system that will be used statewide.'

Donaldson also noted that the DelDOT staff was not ready for fiber optics. "We need new equipment that will cost $50,000 to $100,000 and the DelDOT staff has to be trained to operate it," he explained. "I don't want to be fighting the training problem and trying to get Newark online at the same time."

In addition, DelDOT is looking at a system for pedestrian signalized crosswalks in Newark. Committee member Robert Smith said cycle-lengths of signals for intersections where students cross was

"Some of the crosswalks have thousands cross a day when students are here," said Smith. "We can't have pedestrians wait too long, because the students shouldn't cross (against the signal), but they will if they wait too long."

Smith added. "We already have two dead kids (in pedestrian-related accidents)."

Donaldson said his background is routing both pedestrians and vehicles. "But we have to educate the students and anybody else using the system. If we do, I don't see any problem routing pedestrians and traffic here."

Buttons for activating the signals will not be part of the plan. "We don't need buttons because we're going to run on minimum cycles even late at night," said Donaldson. "That way pedestrians always know the signal will change shortly after they walk their father Raymond Harbeson Jr., chief engineer and CEO of the Delaware Department of Transportation, was honored at the convocation ceremonies for the college of engineering.

A crowd of 24,500 students, friends, family, and alumni watched as approximately 4,285 degrees were conferred, including 150 doctoral degrees, and 825 masters degrees. The graduates, who came from 40 states and 60 countries, ranged in age from 19 to 76, including 15 graduates who were 60 or older.

Also participating in the ceremony were representatives of the classes from the 1930s through 1998 ing alumni.

Kyla Olejarczyk of Vandalia, Ohio, and Daniel Steinberg of Fredonia, N. Y., received the Alumni Association's Warner and Taylor awards for achieving the highest cumulative grade index.

Olejarczyk, who received a bachelor's degree in elementary education, is now looking for a teaching job in Delaware. This week she is marrying her high school sweetheart, Bill De Stefano, who received his degree in chemical engineering on Saturday. Governor Thomas Carper jokingly noted the couple plan to honeymoon in the same place Carper and his wife did

> On a lighter note, senior class president Eli Lesser said his class was giving the University a fund for the continuous upkeep of "Harrington Beach," located behind the Perkins Student Center. "The class of 1998 spent many happy hours using Harrington Beach as a place for recreation and relaxation," said Lesser. "It is our goal that the beach will once again be as beautiful as it was four years ago when we arrived on campus.'

the purposes of this zoning applica-

City planning director Roy Lopata objected to Wald's interpretation, and said Newark has historically viewed open space as any open area in a plan not devoted to building purposes. "That's been the interpretation for decades of what we're doing here," said Lopata.

Architect and planner Richard Longo of Hillside Associates said the community would be more than one-third open space. "Under the plan (we are presenting tonight), the open space is approximately 37 percent," he told commissioners. "We believe we can get it up to 40 percent as we work on the buffer strips (of trees).'

The proposed subdivision plan includes as "open space," one natural pond, one stormwater retention basin called a pond, and a 3.369acre portion within the floodplain which would be dedicated to the city of Newark.

But Wald, who later presented his own concept of a possible site layout, said his interpretation of neo-traditional zoning was that the community got "something of value" in return for clustering the residences and increasing density. "I would like to see more usable open space not in the floodplain, reduced density, and a wider corridor for wildlife," Wald told the applicants. "This open space is essentially what would be here with single-family homes.'

Newark's neo-traditional zoning ordinance was passed with little fanfare in 1995, and no developer has sought to use it since. At that time, then Mayor Ronald Gardner noted, "The first development that incorporates neo-traditional ideas must be top-quality and well-designed because it won't get a second chance."

Prior to the applicant's presentation Tuesday night, Wald also criticized Sobolewski's plan as "cookie-cutter, with virtually every inch devoted to building lots. "There's no particular 'distinctiveness and excellence of site arrangement and design' here," said Wald, quoting from the neo-traditional ordinance.

Sobolewski pointed out that under RS zoning he could put 23 single-family homes on the site which he said would include even more roadway and less open space. He said the clustered buildings in the plan were arranged to leave the least amount of maintenance expense for the future owners who would share the costs.

"These are people 50 and over whose children are grown, who want first floor living, who want to be able to close the house and travel, who do not want to leave Newark," said Sobolewski. "This will be an upscale community with prices starting at $220,000 to $250,000."

Sobolewski added. "You should consider the people who have lived here all their life and want to stay here, with the freedom to travel, maybe have two homes - one on the back, and you'll probably get Outer Banks," he said. "These approval." townhomes will be as expensive, maybe more, than any other house in this area.'

But Newark resident Jean White pointed out that if potential buyers could afford second homes on the Outer Banks, they probably could afford higher maintenance costs.

Some concerns voiced by nearby residents of Creek Bend and Ridgewood Glen were: loss of wildlife, increased traffic along Old Paper Mill Road, emergency access to the property which will have only one road, the number of units per acre, greater buffers between the developments, and water runoff from the underground pipe already on the Orchard Road resident and environmental activist Dorothy Miller brought a laugh with some of her comments. "I don't live anywhere near these homes," Miller said. "I fought (the building) of all your developments and now I'm fighting this one, probably one of the last ones to go there.'

Miller, a long time champion of White Clay Creek which borders the site, was among residents suggesting a better use of the land might be as an addition to Karpinski Park.

After listening to the extensive comments, the applicants asked that the proposal be tabled so they could address concerns about density and

'Give us an excuse to use neotraditional zoning," Wald told them. "Give us density (of number of units) in the mid-20s and come Around 11:45 a.m. on the same day, a 16-year old Newark girl was put out of class by a teacher. While on her way to her next class she was heard to remark, "I'm going to get a gun and blow away every person that I hate - and I'm going to start right here." Both students were charged with terroristic threatening and released to their parents.

On May 20, school staff reported three incidents to police. Around 7:25 a.m. a 15-year-old girl pushed a male teacher. About an hour later, a 15-year-old boy pushed another male teacher. At 11:45 a.m., a 16year-old student threw papers at a woman teacher.

Hogan said a school resource officer will have an office in the building and free up the two detectives who currently respond to complaints there. "Detective Steve Fox indicated there is enough activity at the high school to keep a school resource officer busy on a fulltime basis," said Hogan.

The officer's salary and benefits will be paid through a $25,000 COPS Grant plus funds from the ings fulltime." Christina School District.

"We have funds from the grant for three years, but the district will only commit to the program for one year," said city manager Carl Luft. "We will decide what to do with the position if the school bows out after only a year."

District spokesperson John Holton said the Delaware State Police have had a state-funded trooper stationed at Glasgow High School for the past three years. "That individual has been promoted and the state is looking at funding to decide if they will continue to have an officer at Glasgow," Holton said, There is no officer on site at Christiana High School at present.

Holton added that the state Departments of Education and of Public Safety are interested in expanding the program to all Delaware high schools if the money can be found through grants, school districts and state funding.

"Every school in the Christina District has a law enforcement agency contact, and short of 911, that's who the school calls for police matters," Holton said. "But we do not have officers in the build-

A sad state of affairs

HIS WEEK, NEWARK CITY COUNCIL approved a school resource officer for Newark High School. According to Newark Police Chief William Hogan, almost daily incidents in the past year at the school justify a police officer there fulltime.

In approving the decision, councilmember Jerry Clifton said, "It's school system."

It is sad. Glasgow High School has had a state trooper in the school fulltime for the past three years. Christiana High School would like one if the Christina District could find funding.

The situation in Delaware is not as serious as at inner-city schools where metal-detectors have been students assault? brought in to scan students and others entering the buildings. And fortunately, the tragic and irrational epidemic of shootings in schools has not happened here.

But the amount and type of crimes reported to police by Newark High School staff just in the past month is seriously disquieting. On two occasions, school staff were forced to get out of the way of a student driving a car off the school grounds. On at least four separate occasions, teachers have been shoved by angry students.

A student was stabbed with a pencil by another student in an apparently unprovoked incident during a sad when this is needed in the gym class. This week, two students were charged with making terroristic threats. One said he wanted to kill the principal.

> Is this what parents expect their children to do when they send them out the door each morning? Have the parents explained to their children just who is paying the salaries of the teachers and other staff these

> The criminal nature of the incidents is a problem for the police and courts. But the lack of self-control and respect for authority shown by the daily behavior of students is a more critical dilemma for the whole community.

Libraries can change lives

By RUTH ANN MINNER

STATE OF DELAWARE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR

RECENTLY HAD THE OPPORTUNI-TY to speak at the Delaware Library Association's annual conference and it made me think about how valuable libraries are in Delaware.

I am no stranger to the personal challenges of self-education, the power of reading and the value of libraries. I know the importance of libraries in unlocking the mind and raising the quality of life for individuals, families and communities. I believe that Delaware's libraries are critical to strengthening families, building a strong economy and improving government efficiency and effectiveness.

In my eighteen years as a member of the Delaware General Assembly, I saw Delaware libraries strengthening families by providing educational support for students of all ages. literacy services for persons needing to to learn to read and lifelong learning opportunities for self-directed instruction and develop-

Nowhere else but in our libraries do our families gain so much information at so small a cost. Our libraries make sure that all families, even those who can't afford to pay for books and computers, have access to information on health, education and finan-

Delaware libraries also play an important role in developing and expanding family literacy. Library literacy services provide information and referral for low-literate persons, acquire special materials for new adult readers, and offer local literacy training. Libraries also support information literacy by helping parents and children find, evaluate and use information effectively.

As a small businessperson, I understand that knowledge is the most critical element required for Delaware's economic success. People who are knowledgeable, who are capable at locating and using information, are our most valuable economic resource.

As the peak of the Industrial age, 65 per-cent of the U.S. labor force was employed in industrial production. Today, industrial and manufacturing jobs have declined to less than 25 percent of the labor force, with more than 50 percent of all jobs in informationrelated fields.

Libraries support our labor force and help in building a strong Delaware economy by providing business and career information. Libraries supply access to computers and free connections to the Internet, the global information network.

Alex Brown, a Delaware entrepreneur, credits the library system with helping him land $750,000 in equity for his small business. He and many other small businesspersons and investors use libraries to build a stronger Delaware economy.

As Lieutenant Governor, I have worked to make government more responsible to the needs of citizens. Citizens want a government which provides information in convenient, user-friendly ways.

The connection between citizens and their government can be greatly enhanced through innovative, computer-based information services. Our libraries are logical links between citizens and the delivery of government

Delaware's libraries are at the heart of our local, state and national information infrastructure. Our libraries ensure that public access to government information is available to people of all ages and economic sta-

We need to continue to improve how government information is provided to the public. Libraries play an important role in assisting citizens in finding and using government information when and where it is needed.

Thomas Jefferson stated, "A democratic society depends upon an informed and educated citizenry." His message is as important for the 21st century as it was for his time. For Delaware and our nation to meet the challenges of a 21st century democracy, our libraries must prosper.

Libraries change lives. They build stronger families and communities. They open the world to all takers, feeding the mind and imagination. I know first hand the value of libraries in creating a brighter future for Delawareans.

OUT OF THE ATTIC

A train must have been due when this photo was taken of the old Newark Train Station on South College Avenue. According to Newark resident Robert Sheaffer, the date was sometime in the 1930s. Now owned by the city of Newark, the building houses the Robert Thomas Museum of Newark History, and the offices of the city credit union and the Fraternal Order of Police.

In an effort to provide more complete descriptions of our "Out of the Attic" photographs, volunteer historians of the Newark Historical Society are identifying and researching some historic shots. Readers are encouraged to send old photos to the Newark Post, "Out of the Attic," 153 E. Chestnut Hill Rd., Newark 19713. Special care will be taken. For information, call 737-0724.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To: Editor From: Steven H. Amick (R-Newark West) Donna Reed (R-Breeze wood II)

It is not often that we, in Dover, have the opportunity to think outside the box, and be a bit more creative than usual. But we believe that the time has come.

Delaware lawmakers are in the unique financial position of restructuring the way public schools, including Vo-Techs, are funded while providing a more equitable system for all Delaware taxpayers. The time is now to relieve local taxpayers of the burdensome task of passing referenda that are needed in order to fund various school programs as well as those increasing capital improvements.

The House and Senate Republicans have joined in offering a bold, new plan for the state. We are proposing an end to state-mandated local school taxes. That is worth repeating. Our proposal would end state-mandated local school taxes. Under our plan, the state would assume essentially all of the local share of school costs in grades K-12, in exchange for a matching dollar-for-dollar reduction in local school taxes. The proposal would be phased in over five years, resulting in an estimated $250 million in savings to local taxpayers.

What that means to the average taxpayer is simple. It translates into immediate tax relief for property owners - about a 20 percent reduction each year over the next five years. For example, if you are a homeowner paying approximately $1,000 in local school taxes a year, your tax bill would automatically drop to $800 the first year, $600 the second year, $400 the third year and so on through the fifth year. The districts do not lose any education dollars and the taxpayers get a 20 percent property tax cut every year for five years.

The Republican plan also requires the state to assume full fiscal responsibility for major capital expenditures now on the books but not in progress, or more simply, those projects already supported by positive local referenda results. All new capital projects which are subsequently approved by a state certification process would be funded at 100 percent by the state.

There has already been some discussion about the prospects of removing a district's control at the local level if our plan is approved. That is not our intent. We believe in the importance of a district's local control, and that is why our proposal still gives districts the option of local referenda. Our plan is designed to give districts the flexibility to continue utilizing the referendum process for initiatives that gain support of local taxpayers.

It is true that timing is everything. The time is right to seize this opportunity and remove from Delaware taxpayers the unnecessary burden of local school taxes. Given the state's strong and diversified revenue streams, accompanied by a bulging state surplus, we are confident this is the right tax relief for all Delawareans: individuals, parents, property owners, renters and those on fixed incomes.

We ask for your support of this your state representative and senator to voice your opinion. For too long, local school districts have had the pressure of campaigning for tax referenda to pay for things like leaky roofs and constructing new buildings, forcing them to divert their attention from what is most important — educating our children. In the meantime, Delaware taxpayers have shouldered those increasing costs. Our plan finally puts an end to that cycle.

To Editor: From: W. H. Day Arbour Drive

Your paper contained a very misleading article on May 22 entitled "Delaware must reduce greenhouse emissions". Evidently this story was based on a press release furnished by CEEP, a local advocacy group which is funded by the Clinton-Gore administration and is working for governmental control of all energy use in the United States.

I believe if you check, you will find that the Kyoto "Treaty" cannot plan and encourage you to contact take effect unless it is ratified by the U.S. Senate, and that this is unlikely at this time, considering the severe impacts it would have on our industry, jobs, travel, commerce, and standard of living.

Furthermore, the factual basis for such draconian restrictions is being challenged widely.

As Dr. Fred Singer, the eminent atmospheric physicist, pointed out in his May 13 debate at Tower Hill School, the earth's periodic warming and cooling cycles are correlated very well with increases and decreases in energy output by our sun (solar flares), earth's temperature cycles are not correlated with changes in the CO2 concentration in the atmosphere, water vapor traps solar energy but gases like CO2 do not, and the alleged recent "warming" of the earth disappears if all temperature data over the past 150 years (not just a few years) are examined. None of these scientific data were refuted on May 13 by Dr. Byrne or the lawyer sent by the Clinton/Gore administration.

Your readers should be provided with the "other side" of this impor-

Bear Library fund pushes past $1 million mark

The Bear/Glasgow Council of Civic Organizations helped in a small way to push the total funds raised for the new Bear Library past $1 million this week. The civic group is well on its way to being the second organization to be a $10,000 benefactor of the new facility.

BGCCO member Joseph Bussiere told the council on Monday that the $2,102 raised through a Bake & Flower Sale in May puts that group more than half-way toward their group's goal. "The weather was unfortunate and heavy rains kept the flower sales down," said Bussiere. "Still, this means we have now raised $6,034.30 to date for the library and are well on our way to our goal of $10,000 to be a benefactor."

On Tuesday, Carol Harrington, president of the Friends of the Bear Library, excitedly reported that the Friends had just gone over the $1 million mark in fundraising for the library. "The Laffey-McHugh Foundation which already gave us $50,000, sent another $25,000 in today's mail," said Harrington. "That means we now have $1,008,000 toward our goal of $1.5 million.'

The 7 & 40 Alliance has already donated $10,000, said Harrington. BGCCO president Jeanine Gerrick said her council will not stop their efforts once they reach $10,000.

"We will move on to help the next group to reach their goal," said Gerrick. "We will help with advice on their fundraising or even supply volunteers to help.'

Bussiere also noted that tiles are still available for decoration and exhibit in the new library. "Lowe's donated 1,000 tiles and there are still about 500 left," explained Bussiere. "For a $25 donation, anyone can decorate a tile which will become a permanent part of the library."

Bussiere said over $12,000 has been raised from the tile fundraiser for the library scheduled to open in October at the Governor's Square Shopping Center in Bear.

NEWARK OUTLOOK

It could happen here

VER THE PAST several months, this nation has been rocked by the senseless violence in schools in Kentucky, Arkansas, and Oregon. We've all talked about it and most of us have wondered if it could happen right here, in one of our schools with our children. Unfortunately, the answer to that question is, "Yes, it could happen here."

The question that we all ask is, "Why do these things happen?" The answer is a lot more complicated than kids having easy access to guns. Social scientist James Garabino has an interesting theory. He postulates that, just as our physical environment increasingly polluted toxic chemicals, there are also cultural and social poisons that pollute our Mark society. When heavy smog occurs, it is the very young and the elderly that are most at risk. He feels that when our society is polluted with various social toxins, there are particular kids who are the most vulnerable to these toxins. It kind of makes sense.

Research has shown that there exists in every community and family a series of protective factors and a series of risk factors. Quite simply put, kids with protective factors in place in their lives (such as stable home environments or good grades in school) are less at risk than those kids without protective factors. American culture is a mile wide and an inch deep. We no longer have any strong cultural values that help us as a society to put boundaries on responsible social behavior. We look to families to do the entire job alone and some of these families are held together by only the most tenuous of threads. When you factor in this environmental pollution with easy access to weapons of destruction such as guns, you have a recipe for disaster.

Several years ago, 4-H and the Delaware Sportsman's Association developed a program on gun safety for area school children. During the course of the program, we learned some interesting things about Newark ara kids and their parents. About half of all Newark area residents have a gun in the home. By the time they are 12 or 13, virtually every child not only knows where the gun is kept, but they know where the ammunition is he new floor in the cafeteria at Gauger-Cobbs Middle School was put to creative use when students graphed equations there recently.

Teacher Lillian C. Deal used students and streamers to solve algebra problems. The floor has patterns made of one-foot square tiles on which the students made a center vertical and horizontal line to be used for the X and Y axes. Students then found the coordinate points on the floor "graph" and stood on them. Streamers held by the students formed lines and geometric shapes.

Deal's graphing technique as well as other creative methods formed the basis for her presentation, "Algebra/Prealgebra: Everyone Learns, Everyone Understands."

Students from Deal's classes traveled with her to Washington, D.C. to participate in the presentation made to the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics.

The 12 student also used graphing calculators to formulate percentages and averages based on salaries of professional baseball players taken from the newspaper.

Another lesson was a card activity called

"rhombuses" which Deal said would help the students learn about probability. The entire audience played along using four suits in a deck of cards to determine the probability of selecting a rhombus (diamond) from the deck.

Deal has taught in the Christina District for 23 years. She has been teaching math for 20 years, the last two at Gauger. In 1990, while teaching remedial math at Drew-Pvle Elementary School, Deal was the first Delaware elementary teacher to receive the Presidential Award for Excellence in Science and Mathematics Teaching.

Cadets of Bergen County from Bergenfield. N. J.; Newark's Crossmen, who finished 6th in last year's world championships; Carolina Crown from Fort Mill, S.C.; Magic of Orlando from Orlando, Fla.; Bluecoats from Canton, Ohio; Spirit of Atlanta from Atlanta, Ga.; Jersey Surf from Berlin, N.J.; and Tarheel Sun from Cary, N.C.

In all, more than 750 youths between the ages of 16 and 22 years will come together in this not-to-be missed show.

The Crossmen, known for their awardwinning percussion section, will headline the show with their program, titled A Metheny Portrait. The corps, consisting of 128 outstanding young musicians and performers, is in its 25th year of operation.

Tickets are $15, $20 and $35. The $35 ticket includes premium seating, VIP parking, a souvenir program, and admission to the VIP tent. Family 4-Pack" tickets are also available for $40 - a 35% discount. Tickets may be ordered in advance by calling 737-5234, ext 19. Tickets will also be available at the gate.

Russian exhibit coming in August

N JUST TWO MONTHS THE most important single arts event in the history of our area will be underway. It is the Broughton International presentation of "Nicholas and Alexandra: The Last Imperial Family of Tsarist Russia." The 14 gallery exhibit will be offered in the First USA Riverfront Arts Center at 800 South Madison Street in Wilmington, on the banks of the Christina River. The dates are August 1 to December 31. It will be closed only two days in those five months, Thanksgiving and Christmas.

Advance sales began just five days ago and the best available times are already getting scarce. "Nicholas and Alexandra" will make only three stops on the American tour and calls are coming in from the eastern US and Canada rapidly. Ticket prices: adult, $12; seniors (62+,) $11; grade school children K to 12, $4; college students, $7.50 and school groups, $3. There are other discounts for groups, etc. You may call 302-777-1600 for more details. The on site box office is now open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

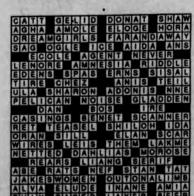

Three great Russian institutions not known for letting treasures of the magnitude of those in this exhibition ever go outside of Russia are cooperating with Broughton International. They are The State Hermitage Museum, The State Archives of the Russian Federation and The State Palace Museum. When I was in Russia last month I interviewed the directors of these organizations and they are very excited about the prospect of the tour and are doing everything they can to make it a success. Jim Broughton, president of Broughton International, told me that he has had to begin turning down some items. The 14 galleries are full.

What a wonderful point in time for this exhibition to be coming to Delaware. The final burial place in the Sts. Peter and Paul Fortress of Nicholas and Alexandra is due this month. The changes in Russia are of tremendous interest to all Americans and this exhibit will give us a heretofore unavailable look at the last days of the Romanoff dynasty in an unprecedented manner through the galleries designed to reflect Tsarist Russia.

Through these 14 specifically designed galleries visitors will experience the historical, social, religious and artistic aspects of the lives of Nicholas and Alexandra as they ended the 300 years of Romanoff rule.

Broughton International wants to make this exhibit very meaningful to all the school children in the area. They are planning extensive and far reaching educational programs for children K through 12 as well as for those in higher education. For the grade schools there is a package to help teachers which includes a 125 page curriculum guide and model classroom units. In conjunction with the University of Delaware, plans are underway to host an International Academic Symposium and comprehensive lecture series to coincide with the Nicholas and Alexandra Exhibition.

Jim Broughton and his staff are leaving no stone unturned to make this the artistic center of Delaware life for the last five months of the year. There are 1,200 volunteer positions open if you would care to help and become a part of this event. For more information you may call Margaret Bowman at 302-777-7767.

Be sure to mark the dates on your calendar and be sure your whole family gets to see Nicholas and Alexandra. It is the opportunity of a lifetime.

Delaware website lists local sources

GoDelaware.com is a new web site on the Internet that caters to the Delaware community with over 1000 links to Delaware web sites and other sites that have useful content. The links are indexed into one of 80 categories for quick and easy access. Get the latest Delaware weather, news, events, lottery numbers, TV programs, movies and more. Also get the latest computer, business, education, government, health, and travel information.

"We left out all the fluff that makes other sites take forever to load," said Webmaster Russ Fox. "We offer just information, sorry, no spinning graphics here. This site is easy to use and will work on the most basic browsers."

GoDelaware.com is an ideal starting point for kids working on school projects or anyone doing research. There are over 35 search engines to aid in searching for infor-

Ron Allen, director of marketing, likes promoting this site to local businesses because of its local content. "Let's say you own a landscaping business in Delaware. You are not interested in doing landscape work in California or Australia. If there was a place on the Internet that catered to Delaware, the landscape business would have a viable customer base. This is what GoDelaware.com is all about."

GoDelaware.com is looking for Delaware organizations, societies and agencies that are volunteer or not-for-profit groups that have web sites. We would like to list them in our resource directory and put a link from GoDelaware.com to their site. Perry Wing in planning stage

The Perry Wing Committee is working with architects Anderson Brown Higley Associates on concepts for the addition to the Newark Senior Center.

"In keeping with Warner Perry's desires, we will be adding meeting space so that the library will not need to be used as a meeting room," said Executive Director Jean Williams. "We will also be adding a computer room to accommodate our popular computer program and expanding the fitness center and shower room."

Williams said architect's drawings for the project would be available for viewing when they were were completed.

C. Warner Perry died on Aug. 6, 1998, leaving an estate of more than $1 million to build a new wing on the senior center.

Perry, a longtime member of the center, also commissioned artist Charles Parks to create the sculpture of three seniors which stands outside the door of the senior center. Engraved on the sculpture is the quote," Grow old along with me, the best is yet to be."

The Newark Senior Center, formerly located on Main Street, opened a $3 million facility on Whitechapel Drive in May 1998 following two years of community fundraising and construction.

According to Williams, the 4,000 square-foot wing will be added on the east side of the front of the building, between the existing facility and the driveway. It is expected to be built sometime in 1999

TRIBUTE TO THE he first state championship won under our new format, we've decided to dedicate this week's Edge to the 1998 Delaware High School State Championship baseball team - Caravel Academy.

The Bucs completed an amazing four-game run through the state tournament with an even more amazing 8-7 come-from-behind victory over Dickinson Monday night. A month ago the Bucs were 4-6 and a state title run wasn't even a thought. Heck, the program, which has had a number of excellent teams, hadn't ever won even one state tournament game (0-for-8). Everyone associated with the program points to the 12-day monsoon as the turning point in the season. Since that point, Caravel won four of its last five regular season games to just get in the tournament. They then proceeded to knock off perennial state powers William Penn, St. Mark's and Seaford in succession to advance to the championship game. Amazing. Let's not forget about the St. Mark's softball team. Even though it lost in the championship game, it had a super year. The senior players should get special notice. They lost just seven games in their four years and played in three state championship games

Bucs rally to nip Dickinson in state final

T WAS A FITTING WAY for the "team of destiny" to win a state championship.

Extra innings, runners on first and third base, two outs and coach Paul Niggebrugge sends the runners. The pitcher makes a move to the plate, then to first. A balk is called and the Caravel Buccaneers become state champions with an 8-7 victory over Dickinson at Frawley Stadium on Monday.

"The guy at bat hadn't hit much all year," Niggerbrugge said. "So I would rather go with the runners. I sent them in hopes of a double steal or balk. We got the balk."

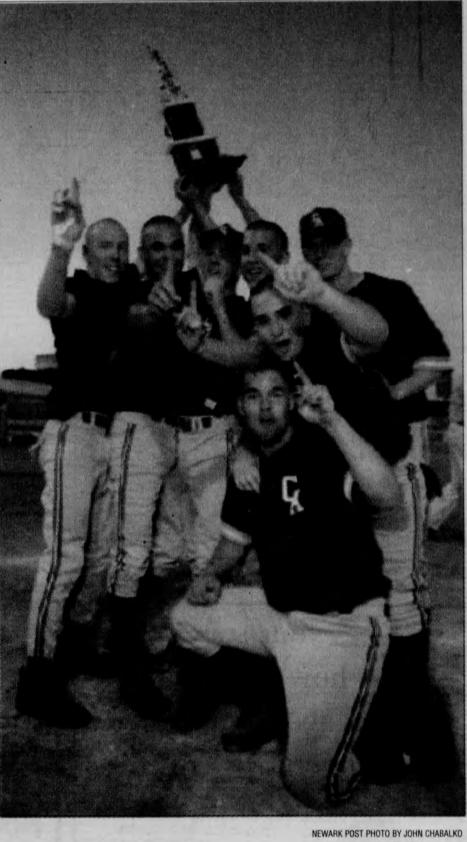

In a mistake filled game, a combined nine errors, two passed balls and nine of the 15 runs were unearned, Caravel was down to its last out in the bottom of the eighth. Adam Brown responded with a single to center field. The next batter, designated hitter Dan MacElroy, hit a slow grounder to third base. Dickinson's Dave Harden charged the ball but was unable to field it cleanly and get a throw off.

That final error proved the most costly as Bryan Brown hit a single to right field to tie the game, followed by the balk.

"I hit it and just ran as fast as I could," MacElroy said. "I heard the crowd and I just praised God.

"We've been waiting a long time for this. It wasn't the best played game, but we started hitting the ball at the end of the game and that's what provided

Late goal dooms Spartans in state semifinal match

By CHRIS DONAHUE

No quarter.

That was what St. Mark's and Alexis I. du Pont gave for almost 79 minutes of their semifinal-round game of the Delaware High School Girls Soccer Tournament 10 days ago.

It was a pitched battle that included everything from superb goaltending to bone-crunching tackles to games within a game.

And although it almost seemed unjust that one side had to lose because of the effort put forth by both teams, it was eventual state champion AI that emerged with a 1-0 victory.

Three days later, the Tigers mauled Ursuline 5-0 in the final for their third consecutive state title.

"Both teams threw out a tremendous effort," said St. Mark's senior forward Cheryl Besosa. "AI played well, we played well. We played our hardest and gave it our all and just one fluke at the end. Stuff happens." The victory over St. Mark's was the 16th shutout of the season for AI, which allowed three goals all season. St. Mark's had entered the game having allowed five goals, with two coming in a 2-0 defeat to the Tigers during the season.

Even in defeat, the star of the match belonged to St. Mark's goalie Christy Ganc, a junior who has played the position for 10 years beginning at the club level.

"It was probably the best game of my life," said Ganc, wearing a Led Zeppelin T-shirt. "I stayed really focused, and that's all it takes, really. "When you make a save, it comes up big," Ganc said when asked what she enjoys about being a goalie. "You don't have to run as much, that's a

Indian River tops St. Mark's in softball final

Spartans stymied by freshman pitcher

By MARTY VALANIA

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

It didn't end the way they thought it would or wanted it to. Nevertheless, the St. Mark's softball season ended with a 2-0 loss to Indian River in the championship game of the Delaware High School Softball Tournament Saturday afternoon at Polytech High.

The Spartans (19-2) were limited to just two hits by Indian River freshman pitcher Cara Deldeo. Deldeo also knocked in one of the Indians' runs with a first-inning double.

"She's a superb player," said St. Mark's coach Guy Townsend of Deldeo. "She's a great pitcher and she also hits the ball well."

Shortstop Christi McHale was responsible for Indian River's second run as she lined a triple to right field. An errant Spartan throw to third base then allowed her to scamper home.

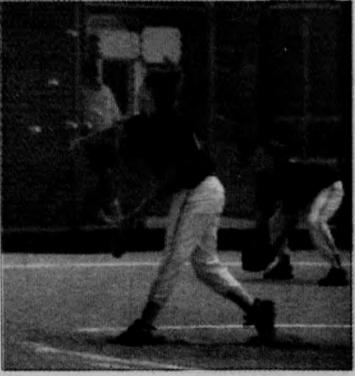

"Indian River played a heckuva game," Townsend said. "They did everything they had to do to win. It was just a great effort.'

Deldeo, who did not give up a run in the 28 innings she pitched during the four-game state tournament, had much more success in the championship game than in the short stint she pitched during the Spartans' extra-inning, regular-season victory.

"I'm not sure what the difference was," Townsend said of the two games. "Maybe, since she came in to pitch in the middle of the game, she wasn't as warmed up as she normally would be. I don't know what it was. But she did a great job [in the final]."

Local high school baseball players earn All-State honors

The Delaware High School All-State baseball team was announced last week. There were a number of area players that were selected including St. Mark's Brian Hudock and Anthony Argiroudis, who were first-team selections.

Hudock hit .324 with four doubles, a home run and 12 runs-battedin. The junior also posted a 6-0 pitching record.

Argiroudis, a senior catcher, hit .404 with four home runs, four doubles, a triple and 18 RBI.

Middletown High (and former Canal Little League standout) Nate Husser earned first-team honors at third base. The junior hit .508 with four homers, five doubles, two triples and 15 runs-batted-in.

On the second team were St. Mark's outfielder Scott McGillen, Newark's Chris Adams and Caravel's Davey Stevens.

McGillen batted .471 with two homers, eight doubles, a triple and 14 RBI. He also did not commit an error all season.

Adams, a Yellowjacket first baseman, hit .435 with a home run, five triples, six doubles and 15 RBI.

Stevens hit .500 with a home run, four doubles, three triples and 20 runs-batted-in.

Local players named honorable mention included: Caravel outfielder Adam Brown (.429, one homer, four triples); Glasgow designated hitter Ed Ryan (.455, two doubles, one triple); Christiana shortstop Jim Murphy (.367, two triples, three doubles); Caravel catcher Bryan Brown (.314); St. Mark's pitcher John Warren (4-0, 2.69 ERA, 28 Ks) and William Penn pitcher Wes Hayman (5-1, 0.76 ERA, 49 Ks).

The remainder of the first team included: Ryan Higgins (Salesianum, pitcher, senior), Randy Truselo (Delcastle, pitcher, sophomore), Steve Walls (Indian River, pitcher senior), A.J. Zickgraf (St. Elizabeth, catcher, sophomore), Darin Geracimos (Alexis I. Dupont, senior), Glenn Phillips (Laurel, first base, junior). Nate Pegelow (Seaford, first base, senior), Steve Harden (Dickinson, shortstop, junior), Scott. Glovier (Salesianum, outfield, senior), Andy Fox (Brandywine, outfield, senior), Aaron. Lewis (St. Elizabeth, outfield, sophomore), Phil Sullinger (Alexis I. Dupont, outfield, junior), Buster Hammond (Middletown, designated hitter, senior).

The second team players were: Andy Bacon (Middletown, pitcher, senior), Jay Vincent (Seaford, pitcher, junior), Aaron Townsend (Sussex Tech, catcher, senior). Keith Bunting (Indian River, second base, senior), Tim Bittner (Salesianum, first base, senior), Matt Day (Salesianum, shortstop, senior) Jay Balback (Sussex Central, shortstop, junior), Rich Creasey (Alexis I. Dupont, third base, senior), Jesse Ohliger (Tatnall, third base, junior), -Mike Aizzi (A.I. Dupont, outfield, junior) and Justin Blake (Indian River, designated hitter, senior).

ATHLETE OF THE WEEK

DAVE STEVENS - CARAVEL

NE PLAYER CAN'T win a championship. Caravel Academy proved that during its run through the Delaware High School Baseball Tournament.

During that run, which ended with the schools first ever baseball title, it seemed like a different player stepped up in every crucial situation.

The player who seemed to step up more then anyone else was Caravel third baseman Dave Stevens.

Stevens, who is the Bucs lead-off hitter, went 5-for-11, with three RBI, two walks and four runs scored in Caravel's final three games of the tournament.

No hit was bigger then Stevens' two run homer against then undefeated St. Mark's in the semi-finals. With Caravel down its last out and trailing by a run, Stevens launched a first pitch fastball over the hill, in left field at the Spartans field.

Stevens said coach Paul Niggebrugge told the team not to be satisfied with beating the defending state champions.

"Coach said 'be happy, but don't be content.' He told us to carry our momentum into [the semifinal game against Seaford]."

It was Stevens who made sure the Bucs kept that momentum, as he led off the game with a home run.

In the finals, Stevens went 2for-5 and scored a run.

When asked how important the junior third baseman is to the team, Niggebrugge said, "the most important. He hit .500 all during the regular season, and in the tournament he hit over .500. He's big! He's the man!"

Like his teammates, Stevens believed the team was destined to win, even when they trailed late in the final game.

"I didn't doubt for a second that we would come back and win," he said. "We have had a lot of breaks go our way.

"Dickinson played a great game, they deserve a lot of credit."

Stevens refused to take too much credit for the tournament run. He said his teammates, especially pitcher Brian Zeigler, who got the win in three of Caravel's four tournament games, deserves most the credit.

Area girls dominate the All-State high school softball team

Local softball players were a big part of the Delaware High School All-State Softball team.

Glasgow senior Kristin Nau was a first-team selection at shortstop. It is the fourth straight year that Nau, who will attend St. Joseph's University on a softball scholarship, has been a first-team selection.

Joining Nau on the first team is teammate Julie Van Deusen. Van Deusen, a junior pitcher, recorded a 13-2 record this season.

Caravel pitcher Jackie Homiak, just an eighth grader, was another first-team selection. Homiak helped lead the young Bucs to a 14-4 record.

Freshman left fielder Megan Richardson is another Caravel player to earn first-team honors. The Bucs' leadoff hitter helped spark the Bucs' offense all season.

Three players from the state finalist St. Mark's team were selected to the first team.

Sophomore pitcher Dana Travis, senior Leighann Hlywak, who plays third base, and outfielder Amanda Cariello.

The three were key components to the Spartans' Catholic Conference championship this season.

Cariello will attend the University of Delaware on a softball scholarship.

Glasgow seniors Jamie Sassaman and Kirsty Lloyd were honored as second-team selections. Sassaman played second base while Lloyd played third and was the Dragons' lead off hitter.

Caravel junior shortstop Melissa Beatson was also a second team selection as was St. Mark's catcher Sarah Weir.

'Run the play, run the play!'

HE PLAY WAS THE OLD first-and-third delayed steal. The object is to get the pitcher to balk or mess up the run down between first and second. The ideal result is to get the runner from third home.

It rarely works.

This time, however, voila. Kevin Zeigler's favorite play worked to perfection. The Dickinson pitcher did balk and the winning run did score. It gave Caravel Academy and Zeigler's son, Brian, an amazing 8-7 comefrom-behind, extrainning win over Dickinson and the school's first-ever state baseball championship.

Zeigler, a former high school, youth league and everythingin-between coach (as well as an all-around good guy), was standing (OK,

The savvy fan was close by as to get a simultaneous glimpse of the two greatest shows going – the game itself and a father/coach watching his own son play the biggest game of his life.

"When they had that first-andthird situation, I was telling everyone around 'run the play, run the play,'" said Zeigler, who was known for trying daring base running plays as a coach. "I used to love that stuff."

The winning run set off a series of hugs, jumps and fist pumps – and then a sprint down the to the field level stands.

The emotion was more than well deserved. The whole team played unbelievably for the last month of the season. And all Brian did was pitch three of the four state tournament wins – tying a record for most wins in a state tournament.

"Oh, I can't even imagine what my dad was like," Brian said after the game. "He must have been going crazy."

Well, you be the judge – or psychiatrist in this case.

Would a sane man chew on a tattered and, most likely, tasteless watchband for three hours? Would a non-Greenpeace member wander around picking up trash (voluntarily) in the middle of a one-run state championship game? Would a practical person—this side of Donald Trump—sit in

No nails left, but another Caravel victory. The Bucs then whipped Seaford Thursday to set up Monday's battle.

"I would rather be on the field," Kevin said early in the game. "Here, I can't do anything but watch. It's much more nerve racking."

You don't say.

Brian was ready though. How couldn't he be?

"I've been coming to this game with my dad since I was about eight years-old," Brian said after his complete game effort. "To actually play in it and win it... it's amazing."

Both Zeiglers accepted welldeserved congratulations from everybody in sight.

"Normally, before games, I talk to him about technical stuff," said the dad reflecting on the special day. "You know, what to look for and stuff like that.

"This time, I told him to enjoy the bus ride, enjoy the introductions, enjoy the national anthem. A lot of players never get this chance. I wanted him to just enjoy the whole experience."

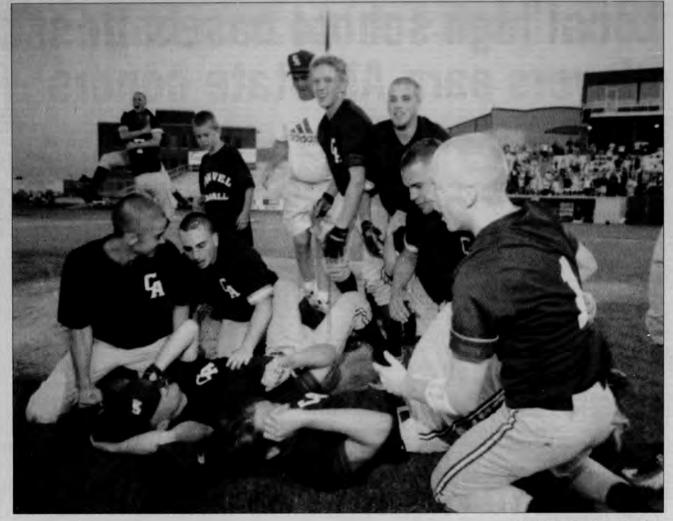

There's not much doubt that both son and father did exactly that.

Dickinson committed two errors and a dropped third strike, allowing Caravel to score four runs in the second inning.

The Rams fought back scoring five runs in the third and fourth innings. The Bucs had two outs in the fourth inning, when an infield error gave Dickinson the chance to rip off three consecutive hits, scoring three runs.

Caravel scored two runs in the fifth, but left the bases loaded. Dave Stevens began the inning with a single to left field. Adam Brown followed with another single to left, allowing Stevens to go to third base. MacElroy tied the game with an sacrifice fly that scored Stevens.

After a walk, Alex Faircloth laid down a bunt single to load the bases. One out later, Roger Richardson drew a walk, scoring the second run of the inning. Ram pitcher Steve Harden, who replaced George Heinly earlier in the inning, struck out the next batter to leave the bases loaded.

"I seem to have my best when the pressure is on. That is what I've been doing my whole life," Stevens said of his hit and performance through the entire tournament. Stevens, who hit around .500 all season, exploded in the final three games of the playoffs. He went 5for-11, with two home runs, three RBI, two walks and scored four Dickinson scored single runs in the sixth and eighth innings to force the Bucs' comeback.

"I didn't doubt for a second that we would come back and win," Stevens said. "We have had a lot of breaks go our way."

Brian Zeigler got the win, pitching the entire game. Niggerbrugge described Zeigler, whose final numbers were not spectacular, (seven runs, off 10 hits, one walk and six strikeouts) as a "battler who never gave in."

Of Dickinson's seven runs only three were earned. Zeigler admitted all the errors by his teammates added extra pressure.

"After the team makes an error-I know the team is not perfect, I'm not perfect- I have to push it aside and focus on the player at the plate," he said

"They were on me, they were really on me," Zeigler said of the Dickinson's batters. "I just had to keep [the ball] down and keep the team in the game.

"This is a Cinderella story. We are a team of destiny. Not a single team in the state gave us respect."

St. Mark's seniors complete successful high school careers game.

St. Mark's had a runner on in each of the first three innings. However, none of them got past second base. Deldeo allowed just one runner (on an error) over the last four innings.

Jennifer Nicholais and Christine Cariello recorded the Spartans' only two hits

"We had some chances early," Townsend said, "But we just couldn't convert."

St. Mark's sophomore pitcher Dana Travis, who was the winning pitcher in last year's state championship win over Brandywine, gave up just five hits to Indian River while striking out nine.

The loss marked the third straight year that the defending state champion lost in the tournament

"We certainly had a burden to carry," the coach said.

"I'm not sure it made a difference in this game. But it is something we've been thinking about all year. It's been 10 years since any team has won back-to-back championships."

Despite the loss, the game marked the end of a fantastic four-year run by the Spartans' seniors (Angie Baffone, Colleen Bathon, Amanda Cariello, Gina Denton, Leighann Hlywak, Sara Weir, Jamie Gallagher and Bree Tease).

Three times in the last four seasons St. Mark's has played in the state championship game. The one year the Spartans didn't (1996), they were the tournament's top seed.

In all, St. Mark's has posted an incredible 78-7 record over the past four seasons.

"My three captains (Hlywak, Cariello and Weir) have started all four years," Townsend said.

"This group has done a great job.

They have done everything I've asked.

"My heart really goes out to them."

Rival soccer coaches possess unique kinship

By CHRIS DONAHUE

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

What began as a player-coach relationship 13 years ago has evolved into one of the most unique situations on the Delaware sports

Tom DeMatteis is the head coach of the boys and girls soccer teams at St. Mark's.

Mike McFarland, who played three varsity seasons under DeMatteis in the 1980's, was DeMatteis' assistant for the boys' season last

McFarland also has another job he's head coach of the girls team at Alexis I. du Pont. And for the third time in two seasons, their respective teams met 10 days ago in a semifinal-round game of the Delaware Girls High School Soccer Tourna-

AI won the game 1-0, then went on to capture its third consecutive state title, its second under McFarland, who also plays professional soccer with the Delaware Wizards.

AI also beat the Spartans 2-0 during the regular season this year and

But rather than it being an uncomfortable situation when DeMatteis and McFarland pace similar sidelines, the two have become such good friends they're some of the biggest boosters of the other guy's teams - at least when they're not playing each other.

"I enjoy coaching against him more than anyone," said McFarland, because I know we can talk before the game and not have any tension; joking, kidding. And we know each other's teams so well."

The two have also seen each other on a regular basis for so many years because they live about a block from each other - DeMatteis in Meetinghouse Hill and McFarland in Deacons Walk.

"(McFarland) does a great job, he really does," said DeMatteis when asked if he's proud to see one of his former players succeed, even if it's at his team's expense.

"And it showed (in the 1-0 loss). They just kept coming and coming even when we giving them every-thing we had. "I was really happy (last season) when they battled Newark so tough and then won it. I've never had a situation where I've been so close to an opposing coach.

"I mean we're in constant contact; bouncing different things off each other about opposing teams. It's neat."

McFarland isn't the only former player under DeMatteis who became a coach, but it's the first he's had to face.

McFarland said he's used ideas gleaned from other coaches he's either played for or assisted, including DeMatteis.

"I think working with him this past fall was very good in being able to get to the state championship," said McFarland said, who still shows a youthful respect by referring to his old coach as 'Mr. DeMat-

"I learned a good deal about getting the kids prepared for tournament matches. I mean he's been at it for 12 seasons and won seven championships and was in the finals a couple other times. I guess there's nobody else better to ask or learn from than him."

McFarland recalled that before he began playing for St. Mark's, his brother had told him DeMatteis was "pretty intense and very driven to Those traits also describe himself, he said, but despite those rigorous standards, their teams seem to reflect the personalities of their coaches.

They both play with iron wills combined with flair, intelligence and good sportsmanship.

"After that semifinal game, I had never seen two teams so easily brought together," McFarland said. "Some were hugging. Some of his girls were hugging me and some of our girls were hugging him. I haven't seen that in many years in either boys or girls. I think it's a reflection of the girls playing together outside in club ball and my relationship with Mr. DeMatteis."

McFarland also took time to remind his former coach of his age. Diplomatically, of course. "We were talking the other day and I told him it's ironic how he won his first two state titles when he was 24 and 25 years old, and I won my first two when I was 25 and 26," McFarland

Their birthdays are also one day apart in October, and when McFarland played at St. Mark's, his parents threw their son a surprise party, and included DeMatteis in the celebration.

"I gave him a hard time about (being 35)," McFarland said with a

"I said when I was playing for you, nine years seemed like a lot.

NEWARK AMER. LITTLE LEAGUE

Cardinals 13, Mariners 12 Rocco Bradley's home run was one of 14 hits for the Cardinals, as they earned their first win of the season.

Red Sox 11, Pirates 3 - Danny Johnson, Lou Bingham and Ryan Vance combined to pitch a two hitter for the victorious Red Sox. Offensively, Frank Houser went 2-for-2, while Kyle Walker, Thomas Barr and Vance all had hits.

Twins 15, Phillies 5 - The Twins offense was lead by Eli Turkel, Jeff Carr, Mike Ingram and Josh Sweede. Dave Shinton and Joe Shekiro had hits for the Phillies.

Red Sox 6, Cardinals 4 - Dave Franck went 3-for-5 to pace the Red Sox. Ryan Vance, Thomas Barr, Kyle Walker and Jason Warren also added hit for the victorious team. Frank Houser, Danny Johnson and Vance combined to pitch a four hitter, for the Red Sox.

Red Sox 18, Rangers 8 - The Red Sox bats exploded behind the efforts of Frank Houser 3-for-3. Seven other players added hits in the winning effort. Jon Ogburn went 2-for-2 to lead the Rangers.

Braves 9. Indians 5 - Justin White led the Braves to victory with three hits. Evan Walker, Danny Ryan and Allen Gula all had hit in the inning effort. Home runs by Brennan McKane and Jeff Lovell weren't enough to power the Indians to victory.

Braves 8, Orioles 2 - Joey Matter-er hit two home runs to spark the Braves to victory. Dan Ryan, Randy Von Steuben and Doug Knight combined for the victory, which clinched a playoff spot for the Braves. James Tidwell, Matt Biddle and Peter German had hit in a losing cause.

Yankees 12, Mets 8 - Joey Kiser had a home run and single to lead the Yankees to victory. Taylor Fanty also added to hits for the victorious team. Ryan McVey had a triple and Conor Hughes-Lampros add two hits in a losing effort.

BROOKSIDE BAMBINO LEAGUE

White Sox 5, Orioles 3 - Michael Bender struck out 13 batters as the White Sox won the battle for first place. Bobby Pilato hit a triple to drive in the winning run and Sean Walker made a diving catch in center field preventing a potential Orioles run from scoring. Danny Barker went 2-for-2 for the victories team and Nick Dionisi had two doubles for the Orioles.

White Sox 6, Phillies 4 - Joey Basher pitched a complete game, four hitter with 11 strike outs to led the White Sox to their 11 win of the season. Bobby Pilato, John Jenson and Danny Baker all had fourth inning hits to break the game open.

Late goal lifts Tigers over Spartans plus. I just like being aggressive. I just think I'm going to go for every ball. If there's a big crowd of people, I just say I'm going to do what it takes and if they're going to hit me, they're going to have to deal with me."

SOCCER, from 16

Lanes at 737-5690.

"She's the most trustful goalie I've ever had behind me," Besosa said. "I've never felt so safe."

"I can't say enough about her, but then again I can't say enough about the whole group," said St. Mark's coach Tom DeMatteis. "When we played AI in the regular season it was our best game of the year. We didn't have nearly the balance in possession time. Not that we were at 50-50 tonight, but we didn't have nearly the offensive push that we had tonight. But we played really, really well and gave it everything we had."

As for the games within this game, one the most significant occurred between St. Mark's sophomore striker Ashley Dilworth and AI fullback Carrie Fitzpatrick, who would help prove to be the main dog of doom for the Spartans' offensive efforts.

Fitzpatrick stayed within a few yards of Dilworth, who scored 23 goals this season, virtually the entire match.

Only once was Dilworth able to display her lethal shooting ability, and that came on a free kick with 11 minutes left to play.

From about 25 yards out, Dilworth sent a right-footed rocket that appeared headed for the upper left corner of the net. But AI goalie Ann Hennessy was equal to what was probably the Spartans' best-placed shot of the game.

"Our (stopperback) Anjulee Alvares and Fitzpatrick are the two best markers I've seen, period," DeMatteis said. "They both did their jobs great tonight. Carrie deserves credit because Ashley has such a high work rate."

DeMatteis and McFarland also cited the play of St. Mark's senior sweeper Kara Humphries, who had sat out the tourney-opener after receiving 16 stitches to her head.

With seven minutes left, Ganc again soared high in heavy traffic to snare a dangerous direct kick, and as the minutes melted away, overtime seemed likely.

In the state tournament, two mandatory 10-minute periods are played, followed by a similar amount of sudden-death periods if the score is still tied. After that, penalty kicks decide the outcome.

DeMatteis said his team would have been prepared for that scenario, taking it segment by segment, and then perhaps have the edge in the form of Ganc.

But extra time wasn't to be, because Al's Laura Godsey was able to penetrate deep on the left side of the penalty area and send a low, curling cross that Ganc dove to her left to parry away.

In what took only a couple seconds to occur but seemed to take place in slow motion, the ball rolled free about 10 yards out. Speeding goalward was AI's Beth Belanger, who, with Ganc down and any St. Mark's defender close enough to clear the ball from harm's way, blasted a shot into the gaping net.

When the final whistle blew, AI's players and fans exploded in delight, and probably relief. For St. Mark's, it was a devastating outcome, and tears fell from many of its players long after the match had ended.

Still, in the ashes of defeat, there was pride and the realization that over the hills and far way, continued greatness appears certain, because the Spartans will lose only two starters to graduation.

"This team was so tight," said Besosa, who plans to attend either West Chester or Shenandoah (Va.) universities in the fall.

"No one wants to let each other down. We did everything together. We prayed together...I'm going to miss this team a whole lot."

Bernadon expanding in Delaware

The architectural, land planning and interior design firm of Bernardon & Associates, Architects is by opening a new offfice in the Greenville Center.

"We are expanding to better serve our existing major Delaware clients such as W.L. Gore, DuPont, Christiana Care, Emory Hill and other developers," said architect Bill Holloway who will serve as manager of the firm's Delaware operations.

Over 30 percent of the firm's projects are located in Delaware.

Completed works in New Castle County include 2 Read's Way in the Airport Corporate Commons, the Buck Kennett Building, the Endoscopy Center of Delaware, and various W.L. Gore facilities.

Earlier this year the firm won the prestigious Award of Excellence from the Delaware Chapter of the American Institute of Architects for the conversion of the Worth Estate in Centreville into corporate head-quarters for Intercollegiate Studies Institute

In addition to Holloway, the new offce will house seven staff, including a registered architect, two senior architectural designers, two architectural draftpersons and an administrative assistant.

Bernardon & Associates, which is celebrating its 25th anniversary in 1998, currently employs 44 individuals and expects continued growth in the years to come.

Phoenix reviews county division

Phoenix Management Services Inc. is being called back by county officials to further improve New Castle County's Community Development and Housing Division. The highly respected consulting firm helped provide a blueprint last year for the fiscal restructuring of county government for greater effectiveness and efficiency.

"The Phoenix management team will perform a multi-phased analysis of C.D. and H., examining the organization and operation to heighten accountability and improve service to the community," stated County Executive Thomas P. Gordon.

The Gordon administration has made reform of the housing division a priority since first taking office in January 1997. Record keeping, accounting, personnel and customer service have already undergone internal review and reform. New procedures, management techniques and technology are being utilized in an effort to maximize efficiency and correct and prevent problems.

"Phoenix Management is in the business of critically analyzing businesses in the private sector to improve performance," said Gordon. "Their approach also has a proven track record of success in the government sector in New Castle County, Philadelphia and the Tri-State area."
