

Ordinances Set For Passage At Council Session On Tuesday

Three Drafts Expected To Get
Final Reading At Semi-
Monthly Meeting

Passage of three new ordinances is expected to highlight the semi-monthly session of the Town Council at 8 p. m. next Tuesday.

The drafts of the three proposed laws were given the first and second readings at the last session of the lawmakers on Jan. 3.

The most important of the bills sets up a sick leave plan for town employees, calling for cumulative payments at the rate of one day per month, the total not to exceed 90 days. Satisfactory proof of illness must be presented to obtain the benefits. Payments not over 90 days above the 90-day limit may be made in cases of serious disability.

Another of the proposed ordinances is directed against delinquent electric light accounts. According to the new law, service once cut off for failure to pay the bill, will not be restored until the account is met in full.

The third draft sets regulations on planting trees along town streets. Once passed, it will be unlawful to plant or maintain within ten feet of the curb line a tree less than ten inches in diameter or over four feet high. There will be a $25 fine for violations, with successive fines possible for continued violation.

Also likely to crop up again is a discussion of a practical method for compelling residents to lay sidewalks. Town Solicitor John P. Sinclair has been ordered to draw up an ordinance covering the matter.

Newark Trust Gives $1,000 Toward U. of D. Grid Stadium Fund

Local Firm Boosts Campaign
Toward $150,000 Goal; Cann
Turns Over Check

The University of Delaware's stadium fund this week received a big push toward its $150,000 goal when the Newark Trust Company turned over $1,000 as its contribution to meet "a long-felt need."

John P. Cann, a vice-president of the bank, handed the check to President William S. Carlson in the latter's office. "It is our feeling," said Mr. Cann, "that the proposed stadium will fill a long-felt need in your rapidly expanding athletic program and will lend dignity and prestige to the university's intercollegiate contests, and will be a source of pride to the student body, alumni, and citizens of the state. We hope that you may receive the fullest support and cooperation, in this worthwhile project, from everyone that may be contacted by you. You have our best wishes for a successful campaign."

President Carlson, in accepting the check, thanked the Newark Trust Company for its "expression of confidence in our plans for the future."

"With the general expansion of the university," said Dr. Carlson, "and the steadily increasing enrollment, there is a continuing need to plan for future growth. One of the great needs has been the lack of local facilities for carrying on our greatly expanded athletic program, particularly in football. Since I came to Delaware, we have been able to schedule only one football game on Frazer Field. Those most intimately concerned with the growth of the university have long felt the necessity for bringing all athletic activities back to the campus."

Plans for construction of a stadium have been under consideration for some time. With the active interest of the Alumni Association and other friends of the university, it now looks as though we will be able to take this next step in our growth. Football after all is another university activity and should be played in the university environment.

We also appreciate the generous sentiments of the Newark Trust Company in connection with the success of this important venture. Your contribution will go a long way in making the campaign a success."

Lions Club Provides Boy Scout Cabin At Town Picnic Area

A 16-foot cabin will be ready for use soon by Newark's boy scouts on the community picnic grounds, just outside of town.

Funds for the cabin were voted last week by the Newark Lions Club, and, thanks to the summer weather the past week-end, the project took shape in a hurry, under the chairmanship of Lion George M. Haney.

The cabin, 16-foot on each side with 8-foot walls, was previously located near the College Farms and was moved to its new site by Harold Gwaltney, Ivan Parsons and George Wilson and his son, Richard.

When the sections arrived at the camp site, a group of Lions and Scouts were already busily at work lining up temporary foundations. The Scouts were led by Neighborhood Commissioner J. S. Steiner. Troop 55 was represented by Committee Chairman R. M. Thompson, and committee members John Z. Miller and Carl S. Rankin. Troop 56 representatives were Scoutmaster Alfred Ploger, Assistant Scoutmaster William Skold, Scouts Richard Hardy, Edward Ratti, Gino Ratti and Frank Stewart and committeemen Rodney Dann and Ford McBerty.

March Of Dimes To Open Here Monday, Continue To January 31

Boy Scouts To Distribute Coin Cards January 21, Collect
Them January 28; Cards To Be Mailed
To Rural Areas

This community will join next week with the rest of the nation in the annual March of Dimes, seeking funds to combat polio.

The local phase, under the chairmanship of Samuel Handloff, will open Monday and continue through Jan. 31. Boy scouts will distribute coin cards from door to door on Saturday, Jan. 21 and return to collect them on Saturday, Jan. 28. Coin boxes will also be set up in public places throughout town.

Residents in rural areas will receive coin cards by mail with a request that a contribution be returned to the drive treasurer, Edwin Shakespeare at the Farmers' Trust Company.

Final plans for the local campaign were drawn up by the committee last night at a meeting at the home of Mr. Handloff.

With polio still ranked as a top disease threat in the nation, this year's drive will be as intensive as ever. The committee hopes to equal or better last year's excellent total, which was in the neighborhood of $2,000.

Half the money contributed is retained for use by the local area, and the remainder is turned over to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. A portion of the latter is set aside for research.

Mr. Handloff's committee includes: Mr. Shapkeare, Dr. John R. Downes, Morris Ewing, Mrs. George M. Haney, Michael Kubicek, T. D. Smith, J. S. Steiner, Worth Tracy, George M. Wilson, Col. L. A. Zimmer and Mrs. F. H. Squire.

The December report was also released this week by Fire Recorder Charles E. Moore. This listed nine calls in town with the loss estimated at $5,000 and three in the district with no loss.

The ambulance had an extremely busy month, making 29 mercy runs and covering 825 miles. Twenty-five of the calls were to Wilmington, two to Elkton, one to Chesapeake City and one to Delaware City.

Lack Of Adequate Recreation Facilities Here, Writer Says

Dear Mr. Editor:

In the January 9th edition of the Journal-Every Evening, it was announced that the Newark Trust Company donated $1,000.00 to the University of Delaware Stadium Fund. Congratulations to the Newark Trust!

This sizeable donation brings to my mind a fact not known to many of the local townspeople that local boys and graduates of Newark High have no auditorium in which to conduct local sports or meet competition from neighboring towns. For example, we have had a Newark Basketball Team for years since the war, and it has yet to play a game in Newark. In a meeting with the local School Board last year, I was told by the Board that the gym was not available to outside groups, still a Flower Show was held in the school last year for two days—Saturday and Sunday.

Our expenses for the Basketball Team are paid for by the Club Baseball Team which uses the Continental-Diamond Fibre Company's diamond free of charge. Four years ago when the town team was formed, the majority of the merchants of the town contributed to the club's uniforms while the members of the team paid out of their own pockets for the use of the Delaware City High School Gym which we used for our home games.

This year the club will be forced to seek donations from the local merchants and residents to help defray expenses, and though these are small comparatively, this situation would not occur if we had a place to play here in town. I certainly believe the town would support the team as it is the best the town has had in my time. As is, we go out of state for sports competition.

We are not endowed, and depend mainly on the generosity of Newark's people for our sports program. We hope this support will continue, and that before long we shall be able to afford local entertainment on our own courts for those devoted sports-minded fans and the players who have bucked this deplorable situation since they left NHS.

The above situation not only applies to basketball, but also baseball and football. For example, the Cleveland Avenue Clippers have no place to play football, either the 140 pound team or the midgets. In the summer season, both softball and baseball are conducted on the Continental Field and the High School Field. In Newark last summer there were 20 teams using these two fields, and even though the schedules sometimes conflicted, the Town Team, Junior Legion or the Midget League suffered the most. The Junior Legion Boys had no place to practice and seldom had a home diamond. In the years before the war, the College diamond was available to the Recreation Association for the town Softball League. If this were so now there would be plenty of room for everyone. Our town has grown to the extent that there is no longer a vacant lot every few blocks as formerly, and some thought should be given to the future, as participation in team sports is growing yearly. Will Newark support us?

NEWARK TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

From Issue of January 7, 1925

Elmer J. Ellison was elected chief of the Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Company at the fire house last Friday. He appointed Ira C. Shellenbarger as chief engineer, a position which Mr. Shellenbarger has capably filled for a number of years. The latter appointed as assistants: Eugene Stiltz, William Cunningham and William Stiltz.

Warren A. Singles was named treasurer, succeeding Arthur L. Beales, who retired. Richard E. Ramsey is the new secretary, and the board of directors named Robert H. Crow to his third term as president of the company. Harlan G. Herdman defeated Elmer Thompson for the vice-presidency.

The winners in the race for assistant chief were: Robert E. Crow, Walter R. Powell and Daniel Stoll. Frank M. Lutton was unanimously reelected, and Benjamin Devonshire is chief piperman for another term.

Rumor Unconfirmed
Rumors that Ernest Frazer contemplated selling his grocery store and newsstand on Main Street were not confirmed by Mr. Frazer this week. David Medill and Thomas Green are said to be the prospective buyers.

Council Finances
With all street improvement bills paid, totaling well over $19,000, and a balance of $2,457.71, with which to begin the new year, the finances of the Town Council appear to be in good shape.

Pardonable pride was exhibited at the regular meeting Monday evening when the Councilmen were taken over the financial hurdles by the Mayor and acquainted them with the facts.

Engagement Announced
Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Gallaher, of Newark, announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Marian C. Gallaher, to Harry Rossland, of Worcester, Mass., formerly of Newark, at a bridge party last Wednesday afternoon at their home.

Miss Gallaher, a popular Newark girl, is a graduate of the Women's College of the University. In last year's class, and is at present teaching in a school at Cacapon, N. C. Her splendid singing voice has been enjoyed on many occasions by Newark people. No date has been set for the wedding.

Personals
Word from Charles P. Wollaston, who is on an extended trip through the South and West Coast, reports that he is thoroughly enjoying the experience. Berry Aiken has returned to Perkomen school after a holiday visit at the Rowan home here.

FILLIN' IN

Belatedly but still in the spirit of the thing, we hereby mark the passage of the old year in traditional newspaper fashion by selecting the ten best stories of 1949—from the Newark Post, of course.

On second thought, perhaps we'd better call them the ten least dull stories and cut them down to about five. Even the best Post stories are inclined to pall, and we might be carrying the thing too far if we tried to force ten of them again on our readers.

Here, then, are our selections.

Most erroneous: This is our richest field, and, frankly, we don't know where to turn. Perhaps we should pick the article that announced the opening of an exhibition of water colors at the university as "an exhibition of water colors," but why rub old sores in the art department there? Maybe it should be the classified ad that offered a second-hand cook stove for sale for $85,000, but then our linotypist might think we hold a grudge against him. Every subscriber no doubt treasures his favorite in this department, but, if we were pressed, we would have to pick the wedding announcement, in which we had the bride planning to marry her future father-in-law with the prospective bridegroom scheduled to give her away, and for which we apologized the following week by saying, in a special article, that the bride was really going to marry her fiancé. In the end, the young couple were properly married despite us, and their only regret was that they had but one subscription of the Post to cancel.

Most startling: This, surely, was the first Fluorine story last January, announcing Dr. Musselman's proposal to treat the town water with sodium fluoride as an experiment in preventing tooth decay in children. The startling aspect of the article was that the Post said sodium chloride instead of sodium fluoride. Our readers proved to be better chemists than we and were thrown into a panic, thinking Dr. Musselman was at the bottom of a plot to spike the town's drinking water with common table salt. We suppose this story should properly be classified in the first department, but, after all, we thing too far if we tried to forist ten in some way.

Most dramatic: For our money this was the article describing the tense week before the town election, when the Town Council, in a burst of moral righteousness, almost violated its own charter. That was when the harried lawmakers, beset by old-time non-property owners who found themselves ineligible to vote because they had been missed in the town census, agreed to take care of them by setting special registration days but later got cold feet and canceled them. The week was marked by a series of crowded Council meetings, much charter quoting, constant thumping of legal volumes, heated exchanges between prominent citizens, and dark hints, from the gallery, that the spectre of Communism was looming. We spent a nervous week on the fringes of things, eyes peeled for spectacles.

Most mysterious: This was, beyond a doubt, the article dealing with the cloak and dagger session of Council held just after the election, when the lawmakers, in a burst of lord knows what, held an unprecedented closed meeting in violation of the charter. The affair is still a mystery, but many are the legends surrounding it. The only definite thing is that somebody is said to have called somebody else something that the second somebody didn't like and that Councilman Diehl demanded an apology from this unnamed person in response to which Mayor McBerty read a lengthy statement at a later public meeting in which he gave his position on town affairs and mentioned that somebody might have misunderstood something he had said previously, and there the matter was dropped. Altogether, a baffling incident in town affairs.

Most whimsical: This, for us, was the tizzy the Town Council was thrown into when Fire Chief Ellison went to the hospital, and the lawmakers couldn't find their water mains. The Chief, you might as well say, had walked off with them. This was because Chief Ellison, who has been head of the water department since Newark's prehistoric days, carries more information around in his head about where the underground pipes are than exists on any town map. In the early days, no one thought too much of maps, but Chief Ellison was always hanging around with his encyclopedic memory when a pipe was laid. When he went to the hospital, he left the Council with a lot of leaky pipes and no idea where they were. To meet the crisis, the Council enacted into law a resolution ordering Chief Ellison, on his return, to sit down before a town map and mark in all he knows about the water system. The Chief is back in operation again, and, presumably, has obeyed the law passed especially for his benefit. Our bet is, though, it was at Police Chief Cunningham's gunpoint.

Most imaginative: An easy choice this. The town displayed its imagination most vividly just after the Council gave approval to the Fluorine experiment. Within a few days, the lawmakers were getting complaints about the "fluorine taste" in the water. The odorless, tasteless chemical had not, and still hasn't, been added to the water.

Assemblies At Newark High

Last Wednesday, January 4, an assembly consisting of a talk and a movie was conducted by Miss Dorothy Markert and the guidance department.

After the opening exercises, Mr. Kutz, our principal, spoke on behavior in the assemblies, class rooms, and halls. Miss Markert announced a movie, in color, based on such professions as medicine and pharmacy. The movie told about medicine and food products and the precautions taken to make these safe for public use.

This week's assembly was presented by Miss Wilkinson's home room. It opened with the usual exercises followed by a movie, "Westminster Abbey," which lasted twenty minutes. Rose Martin played a selection on the piano at the request of the homeroom.

Good Grooming

In home economics classes the seventh and eighth grade girls have now completed a unit on sewing but will remain in the sewing room for two weeks.

The seventh grade girls are studying good grooming. Each student has a report to make on such things as hair styles now being used, color schemes of clothing, posture and others.

The eighth grade girls are doing difficult things. The 8-1 section chose color scheme in clothing while the 8-2 girls are working on hair styles and crocheting. The 8-3 section likes to work on knitting and decorating a girl's bedroom. The 8-4 girls prefer knitting, decorating a girl's bedroom and shampooing a girl's hair.

Girls' Leaders Club Busy

On Friday, January 6, members of Girls' Leaders Club discussed the Bacon Health Center. Kay Knighton brought up the idea of putting a box in every homeroom to collect money for the center. No one is Newark could not seem to get going in last week's game. After trailing by three points at the end of the first quarter, the local five scored only three points in the second period to trail by ten points at half-time. Newark outscored Rocco's in the third quarter but could not make up the ten-point half-time deficit.

Gene Schaen led the local club by scoring 19 points. Dick Evans played a good defensive game, holding Walt Hatz, one of the league's leading scorers, to six points, while contributing seven to Newark's total. Jack Hushback chipped in 16 points for the winning team.

Boys' Leaders Club Active

As usual this year, the members of the Boys' Leader Club have been helping Mr. Matt instruct the gym classes.

The duties of a leader are to officiate at games and do anything else to help the instructor.

The club meets every Friday morning and members play games and go over the rules of different sports. Right now the club is in full swing but there are not any special activities or programs coming up at the moment.

Jackets Split Week's Games; Bow To P. S., 41-33; Swamp Indians

Two Home Games Coming Up; Brown Here Tomorrow Night; Conrad On Tap Next Tuesday

Newark High's courtmen split their games the past week, bowing to P. S. duPont, 41-33, last Friday, then bounding back to swamp Claymont, 61-24, on Tuesday.

The season's balance now stands at two wins against one defeat.

Tomorrow night the Jackets meet Brown here and follow up with another home game on Tuesday with Conrad providing the opposition.

Against Claymont, the Jackets stepped off with 14 points in the first period and were never headed. Their superiority over the Indians was never really challenged.

Leading the Jackets' offensive was Bill Records who sank six from the field and three from the penalty marker for a 15-point total. Top supporting roles were taken by Bernard Blaney and Ronald Nagle, who contributed 11 points each.

In the prelim, the Jacket Jayvees also won, downing the Indians, 44 to 35.

Last Friday, the story was somewhat different. The Jackets took an early lead, but were quickly topped by the Dynamiters who led 19-17 at the half and remained in command for the rest of the fracas. Records was also the top point producer in this contest, dropping in six from the field and two from the foul line for 14 points.

News of London-Britain Vicinity

Martha Lee Ness, Correspondent
Phone Kemblesville 2171

The Elbert Pooles gave about 50 guests a very special party New Year's Eve in the new Recreation room. Steve Kioski's Orchestra played for the square dancing, and everyone thoroughly enjoyed the soft drinks, sandwiches and cookies.

On New Year's Day the Poole family went to Norristown, Pa., for a turkey dinner with old friends, the Leonard Carver family.

An unusual set of circumstances with great romantic interest has developed in this community. Two young ladies received their diamonds at Christmas time, namely, Mary Arnold and Margaret Beale. Mary is engaged to Weston Beale, Margaret's brother, and Margaret is betrothed to Roy Arnold, Mary's brother. It's not every day that two families become so "doubly related" by marriage.

Margaret Beale is a graduate of Newark High School and of Goldie's in Wilmington, and is at present employed as a secretary in the Pigments Department of the Wilmington office. Her fiancé, Roy Arnold has bought a farm adjoining the large farm owned by his father, above New London. The couple plan to live on this farm. No wedding date has been set.

Mary Arnold is a graduate of Oxford High School and works at the Red Cross Headquarters in Wilmington, where she is secretary to the field director of the Red Cross. Her fiancé, Weston Beale, spent two years in this country in the Signal Corps, mostly at Corvallis, Oregon, and Fort Monmouth, New Jersey. When he returned, he resumed his college work, and acquired a B. S. in Chemical Engineering. He is at present serving as an assistant in General Engineering at the University of Delaware while he completes work toward his Master's Degree in Electrical Engineering.

The many friends of all these newly engaged couples certainly wish them every happiness in their marriages.

Among the many attending "The Taming of the Shrew" Monday night at Mitchell Hall, from this community, were Mr. and Mrs. Russell Eaton, Mrs. Gerhard Filippi, Mrs. Harold Field, Mrs. George Kalb, and Mrs. Allison Woodworth, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Heath.

Residents of this area will be interested to know that the Flint Hill Methodist Church has decided to give a turkey dinner to get money for the purpose of redecorating the interior of the Flint Hill Church. The dinner is to be held at 5 o'clock, Thursday evening, January 19.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Sharpless spent a pleasant evening at the Andrew Ford home not long ago.

We mustn't forget the enjoyable card party given at the Jess Hendrickson home in Landenberg recently. Mr. and Mrs. George Cornell of Jenkintown, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McGonigle of Chesapeake City, Md., Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Whalen, Sr., of Newport, Del., Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Whalen, Jr., of Wilmington, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Richardson, of Landenberg, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Pyle, of Oxford, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Gibson, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Rigler, of Landenberg, were the guests of this event.

Our pleasant postmistress at Landenberg, Mrs. Sheehan, has recently said a reluctant goodbye to her daughter, son-in-law (Lt. Jg Robert Enright), and little grandson. They had to return to Newport, R. I., where Lt. Enright is stationed, after having spent their vacation with Mrs. Sheehan.

Mr. and Mrs. Masel Siple called on the Horace Healds of West Grove, this past Sunday.

Saturday evening at the George Bailey home brought welcome guests, Mr. and Mrs. Robert McAneny, of Naamans Road, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Brooks, from Chester.

Wrightstown, New York, received a pleasant invasion of "Landenbergers," the other week-end. Phyllis Bailey, formerly of Landenberg, now known as Mrs. Norman Martin, and Lt. Martin, were happy to see Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Crossan and daughter, Miss Bernice Bailey, Paul Bailey, and Miss Modesta Conner.

The London-Britain Home and School League held its regular monthly meeting, (the second Tuesday evening of each month at 8 p. m.) at Northbank School, January 10. Mr. Hallowell from the Downingtown Paint Store showed movies on the "Story of Paint," and "Color Conditioning". Also on the program were a report by the Health Committee Chairwoman, Mrs. Ness. Mr. Arthur Ness gave a report on his investigation into Lighting as it applied to Northbank and Southbank in particular. A very pleasant social period, which included refreshments provided by the committee, concluded the evening.

The London-Britain Township Road Commissioners had a meeting at the Herbert Crossan home Monday evening.

Scout Cabin

Recreation Association has sponsored the picnic grounds, on the south side of the area, and has improved the lane and done considerable cleaning up of the area.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce has built fireplaces and provided tables. Toilets have been provided by the Lions Club. Other organizations have provided a variety of improvements.

Much work remains to be done in the way of grading, which was well started some time ago by the Rotary Club. Seeding is also needed to provide better grass, and further clearing is required along the edge of the woods. The picnic grounds is proving more popular each year with the many service and other organizations of Newark. It has been the site of several highly successful Boy Scout jamborees.
