THE CONCRETE WALL described by Newark councilmember Gerald Grant as a "monstrosity," may never be built between the Newark Cemetery and the CSX railroad line.

According to city planning director Roy Lopata, CSX agreed to pay for the wall but doesn't want it on their right-of-way.

In May, Newark city council voted to extend the concrete wall that currently runs along the CSX railroad line near Fraser Field as part of an agreement which would provide

POLICE BRIEFS

Arrests in burglaries

Newark Police arrested two 20-year-old men on Oct. 22 in connection with numerous burglaries on the east side of Newark. William E. Caulk III, of Delaware City and Charles D. Lewis, of Kirkwood were charged with four counts of burglary 2nd, four counts of conspiracy 2nd, two counts of attempted theft, one count of felony theft and one count of misdemeanor theft. Police said the two would enter through an unlocked door and steal mainly cash.

Drug bust on Choate St.

On Oct. 23 around 4 p.m. Newark Police executed a search warrant at a residence on Choate Street and seized almost five pounds of marijuana as well as assorted drug paraphernalia. Police also seized $1,000 in cash. Wayne A. Jones, 45, was charged with possession with intent to deliver marijuana, maintaining a dwelling for the delivery of controlled substances, and possession of drug paraphernalia. Tonya M. Brady, 21, of Tucson, Ariz., was charged as a fugitive from the state of Arizona.

Slow learner

Shortly before midnight on Oct. 23 Newark Police observed Brent Robert Halter, 21, of New Castle hit another man as the two stood on West Main Street. Halter was charged with disorderly conduct. About two hours later, Halter was charged with criminal mischief, harassment, disorderly conduct and resisting arrest at the Mini-Mart on Elkton Road. Store employees told police Halter became upset and knocked over store displays when they refused to sell him cigarettes without an ID.

Party's over

Newark Police reported two men were assaulted on Oct. 23 around 2:25 a.m. by a group of about six men, one of whom allegedly was thrown out of a party at the Madison Street residence earlier. The group reportedly broke into the rear of the house looking for one resident. His roommate was also beaten and kicked. Police are investigating.

Man exposing himself

A 21-year-old female resident of Park Place Apartments told Newark Police her 28-year-old male neighbor was walking around naked outside her apartment on Oct. 21 around 2:30 a.m. The woman, who did not want to file charges at this time, told police the same man knocked on her door wearing only underwear the day before.

Now parking spot rage

Newark Police reported six vehicles parked in the 400 block of Wharton Drive were damaged on Oct. 23 between noon and 3:30 p.m. Witnesses said they saw a man striking the vehicles with a club. Police said the same suspect called police that day and complained he could not find a parking spot at that location. Officers said the man was intoxicated when they responded to the scene. Warrants were pending.

DUI charged after crash

On Oct. 16 around 10:45 p.m., police responded to the scene of an auto accident on New Street near the cemetery. Two persons were walking away from the car as police arrived. Police chased and apprehended James Ryan Haggerty, 19, of York, Pa. He was charged with underage consumption, driving under the influence and resisting arrest. His passenger, Jared Manning Kane, 18, also of York, was located near Main Street and charged with underage consumption.

The name of realtor Al Schweizer was misspelled in last week's Newark Post. Schweizer and his wife Robin, together with Todd and Cindy Ladutko, are partners in the project of relocating and renovating the old house from the former Newark Lumber site.

Halloween safety tips for drivers

AAA reminds motorists and children to keep eye contact with each other on Halloween. Drivers should also turn on their lights before dusk to increase visibility.

Other safety tips include disguising children with make-up since masks block their vision and make it difficult for them to keep track of approaching traffic.

Children should wear simple costumes that are easy to walk in and made of white or light-colored material to make them much more visible to drivers at dusk — when visibility is the poorest — and after dark.

Children should always carry a flashlight. A responsible adult or older teen should accompany the costumed children on a route through safe neighborhoods with well-lit streets. Traveling in groups is safer, but try to limit the size to four or five so the adult can keep track of all the children.

Before venturing out, remind children of the following safety precautions:

Never enter a stranger's house, even if invited. Always walk — don't run — to avoid falling. Cross only at corners, never between parked cars or in the middle of the block where motorists might not see you. If there is no sidewalk, always walk facing traffic and as far off the road as possible. Never eat any treats until you're home and an adult has checked for dangerous materials.

Other tips to follow for a safe Halloween include:

Always wash fruit and cut it into small pieces before eating to make sure no foreign objects have been inserted. Discard anything that is unwrapped in case it has been contaminated. Check the wrappers of commercially sold treats for signs of tampering. Notify the police if anything dangerous is found so they can find the person responsible before any children get hurt.

AAA Mid-Atlantic is an affiliated club of AAA. AAA serves over 40 million members worldwide with automotive, insurance, financial, and travel-related services.

A Message From

Pam Maier

The Maiers: Dave and Pam and sons Addison and Cameron

It has been a pleasure serving as your State Representative in Dover for the past four years. This past legislative session, we accomplished a great deal together:

- Passed legislation requiring graduated licenses for teenage motorists
- Passed legislation to reform nursing home safety procedures
- Acquired 500 acres of the Judge Morris property to be added as open space to the White Clay Creek State Park
- Instrumental in crafting a proposal to essentially eliminate state-mandated school property taxes
- Reduced state income taxes by more than 10%
- Passed legislation that represents the most sweeping changes in Delaware's child protective services system.
- Passed legislation increasing consumer protections and rights under managed care plans

THANK YOU for the trust and faith you have placed in me.
I will continue working diligently to improve the quality of life in our community.

Best Wishes,

Minsters currently involved in the fourth-generation family business include Marilyn Minster (seated) with son, Will Minster, and Kelly (left) and Melissa Minster.

Minster's gets second location

By MARY E. PETZAK

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Minster's Jewelers, a fixture in the Newark Shopping Center since the 1950s, is being joined by the first ever second location with that name.

According to Will and Kelly Minster, the Minster's name will replace The Jeweler, the name they have operated under for the last 14 years in Wilmington.

"I started a jewelry repair business in the back of the Newark store over 20 years ago," said Will Minster. "We moved it to a shop on Shipley Street in Wilmington about 13 years ago."

According to Minster, since they were not a retail store and joined a watch repair group at that time, they did not take the Minster's name. "The business grew dramatically over the years, however, and with the revitalization of downtown Wilmington, we decided the time had come to open as a full retail shop," he said.

Two years ago, the couple moved the repair and small retail business to the Market Street Mall where they are now changing the name to reflect the greatly expanded retail component.

Minster said their jewelry repair and custom design business will continue under the new name. In addition, their retail line will expand to include designs by his sister, Melissa Minster, and other jewelry artists.

The Minster's company was founded in Elkton, Md., by Will Minster's great-grandfather, Swiss-trained watchmaker Jacob John Minster, in 1895. It operated there for over 50 years before moving to Newark.

Will Minster said the fourth-generation family business serves a devoted clientele with special antique jewelry exhibits, advice on family heirlooms, special child's-art-into-jewelry items, and custom designs and remounts.

Marilyn Minster, who runs the Newark store with daughter Melissa, has said she will never move from that location. Will Minster said the family is not trying to duplicate the Newark store. "We each do custom designs and unique pieces as well as repair work, but each store is just a little bit different," he said. "Wilmington is a different market than Newark."

Still, Minster said he hopes to "take a page" from the Newark store's book. "Our customers love the Newark store," he said. "It's got a character all its own — one that's becoming rarer in these days of homogenized super stores."

A series of events are planned during the first week in November at the Wilmington store to celebrate the merger.

Lewis establishes University of Del. fellowship

University of Delaware officials announced a new fellowship program established by alumnus Chuck Lewis, executive director of the Center for Public Integrity in Washington, D.C.

The fellowship honors James R. Soles Jr., Alumni Distinguished Professor of political science and international relations at the University. Lewis said Soles "played a huge mentoring role in my life" at the University.

The fellowship is a one-year internship for a recent graduate who participates in the work of the Center on book, study and newsletter projects.

A Newark native and 1975 graduate of the University, Lewis co-founded the Center in 1990. Lewis was selected last June to receive a MacArthur Fellowship, known as the "genius award." His $275,000 award carried no restrictions and can be used however he wishes.

The Center is a nonprofit, non-partisan research organization that investigates and analyzes important, national issues, such as the politics of airline safety, conflict of interest and the government's regulation of toxic chemicals.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ TONY DELUCA FOR STATE SENATE

Tony DeLuca...
He's On Our Side

■ This week, the Newark Post continues to present candidate profiles of local persons running for office on New Castle County Council and the Delaware Assembly. Each legislative candidate provided information in response to questions on land development, school funding, and state surpluses sent to them by the Post. County candidates answered questions on managing growth, county council and the county executive, streamlining county government, housing, crime and other issues in some areas, and housing inspections and processes. In addition, the candidates could list initiatives they would propose and other issues of interest to them, in the event they are elected. Election Day is Tuesday, Nov. 3.

DECISION '98 - 6TH SENATE DISTRICT

SANTORO VS. SORENSON

Santoro wants more attention to health issues

VICTORIA SANTORO of the U.S. Taxpayers Party is challenging Liane Sorenson for the 6th Senate District seat in the General Assembly.

Santoro said the state government's role in long range planning should be restricted to insure that vital services are provided and that economic growth is not hindered by artificial means. "I think that many of our citizens have become disillusioned with the far reaching effect of the role that government has in our lives," Santoro said.

Santoro noted Republicans in the Assembly have proposed to eliminate state-mandated school property taxes over a five-year period. "I think this is a good beginning in restructuring what many believe is an unfair method of funding for public schools," she said. "But even if the property taxes are eventually eliminated, those parents who are sending their children to non-public schools, or who are home schooling, are still saving the state money, and should receive a tax credit to be used solely for educational purposes."

According to Santoro, the reported state and federal surpluses are basically coming from cuts in welfare and health care, including Medicare and Medicaid. "Before we get too excited about these surpluses, we better be sure that the most needy of our citizens are not being left out," Santoro said.

Among initiatives Santoro would work on, if elected are: getting managed care out of the medical care decisions and making insurance companies accountable, especially pertaining to patient access. "We need fair distribution of surplus dollars, especially for those who provide care for self-pay and uninsured," Santoro said. "We also need to insure that our hospitals and clinics remain community-focused."

Other issues Santoro supports are: an increase in standards in Delaware's schools so graduating high school students will be ready to go on to higher education and be prepared for the job market; mentoring programs that involve both students and parents; and stronger discipline programs in schools.

"I also want to provide better services for mental health consumers in support of education and employment," Santoro said, "(as well as) effect a major shift in the attitudes of employers, educators, and the general public about mental illness."

She also wants to help disabled people find accessible, affordable housing.

Finally, Santoro wants more regulation of abortion clinics and more input for parents in their child's sex education. "I would increase the age of parental notification for those girls seeking an abortion up to 18 years of age," she said, "and regulate abortion clinics and make them adhere to already developed medical standards."

Santoro also wants to inform patients who go to abortion clinics of their options and

Sorenson supports minimum state funding for public schools

LIANE SORENSON (R-Hockessin) is seeking her second term in the General Assembly for the 6th Senate District which includes Newark north of Main Street and along Route 896.

Sorenson said the legislature should be involved in controlling growth through statewide planning and other mechanisms. However, the state should let the counties do their jobs and only be involved in areas of the state's purview. "For example, DELDOT can approve entrances or exits to new developments," said Sorenson. "Another area where the state has control of growth is on the preservation of open space."

Sorenson said statewide planning should be coordinated with the counties, municipalities, and groups like the Wilmington Area Planning Council.

In the area of school funding, Sorenson would support state takeover of minimum standards for this purpose and was a sponsor in the last legislative session of the bill which proposed this change. "Local school districts would still have the option of going to referendum for extras," she said.

Future state surpluses should be used in much the same way as is currently done, according to Sorenson: tax cuts, debt defeasance, one-time expenditures for critical unmet needs, and school funding.

Sorenson

Sorenson said, if re-elected, she would like to continue with some initiatives from her last session in the legislature. "We have improved access to health care, but now need to focus on improving the quality of care and better collection of health care data," Sorenson noted.

In an effort to reduce smoking by youth, she would also sponsor initiatives to discourage youth from tobacco use. "(And) I would again be a sponsor of legislation to establish an Office of Child Advocate to provide better oversight of our child protection system," she said.

Sorenson believes the state is spending too much to incarcerate drug users and needs to invest in treatment programs such as the Drug Court First Offenders Program. "I (also) have a long time concern about our education system," she said. "I will actively monitor education reform efforts - particularly those related to accountability."

Finally, Sorenson said preservation of open space is a critical component of maintaining/improving our quality of life and she will continue to make this a priority.

A member of the senate's Joint Finance Committee, she is also the only Republican member of the senate's Banking and Education committees.

She is director of Women's Affairs at the University of Delaware.

DeLuca promises common-sense approach to concerns

ANTHONY J. DeLuca is challenging Donna Reed for a seat in the 11th Senate District in the General Assembly.

DeLuca believes the state must be involved in growth management and land use planning. "For too many years, land use decisions were being made at the local level, while decisions regarding infrastructure investments, such as road construction and maintenance and transit services, were being made at the state level," DeLuca said. "What resulted is the current pattern of irresponsible land use decisions being made with the local planning agencies blaming the state for not 'keeping up with development' and state agencies, such as DelDOT, blaming the local governments for approving new development without adequate capacity."

According to DeLuca, the state must take a lead role in managing growth by developing strategic investment plans for roads, utilities, and public services and only allow future growth in areas that comply with those plans.

DeLuca said a comprehensive study could help determine if current traffic patterns can be improved and certain intersections enhanced in the Bear-Glasgow area to increase traffic capacity on existing roads and highways. "We also must continue to assess where transit services can be utilized to not only provide services to seniors and working families, but also decrease traffic congestion in the area," DeLuca said. DeLuca believes the state can also act in a planning and advisory role in providing other infrastructure services such as sewage treatment facilities and adequate drinking water for the future.

In the area of school funding, DeLuca wants the immediate removal of all senior citizens from the property tax roles. "I believe that such a program would provide targeted tax relief to those citizens who need it most," DeLuca said "while ensuring the fiscal integrity of the existing structure of financing our public education system."

According to DeLuca, state surplus revenues can be partly used for school purposes. Areas where he would use surpluses include: in the public education system to ensure

DECISION '98 - 11TH SENATE DISTRICT DeLUCA VS. REED

Reed believes access by constituents is main job

DONNA REED (R-Breezewood II) is seeking a second term in the General Assembly for the 11th Senate District.

According to Reed, she co-sponsored legislation requiring statewide planning for development. "I worked for the preservation of open space and for the state to buy the development rights to area farms so that they will continue farming," she said. "I pushed for the passage of Brownfields legislation which helps clean up polluted sites so that they can be re-used instead of building on open fields."

Reed plans to continue to push for greater coordination between state and county land-use departments. "I will work to make state services and information available to county and city planners," she stated. "The state must use its strength and resources to help lead for a better Delaware."

Reed believes the Bear/Glasgow area needs help with infrastructure. "I pushed to have $50 million to be designated for road improvements at failed intersections," she said. "I supported requiring developers to make traffic improvements before they get approval for construction and opposed parallel access roads being built through some of my communities."

Reed

Reed has volunteered to serve on a Route 40 Steering Committee, which will make recommendations for future improvements. "I am also promoting the state to assist with fixing storm water and sewer problems, which have ruined Beck's Pond," Reed said.

In the area of school funding, Reed claims the current method to fund schools is not working. "Referendums for badly needed construction are failing," she said. "I co-sponsored legislation (which was killed) to have the state pick up a greater share of the cost. I will continue to press this important issue in January."

Tax surpluses should not be wasted, said Reed. "Our state debt needs to be paid down, and we must save for the future," she said. "We (also) should make road improvements, while there is still room and have a desperate need for more classrooms."

Reed also wants to continue to give tax relief to working families and seniors. "Delaware should use these years of surplus to prepare for years of lean, just as many of families are doing," she said.

In addition to those initiatives already mentioned, if elected, Reed wants to computerize the state's chil-

On The Issues ...

The time has come for the State to take a thorough and comprehensive look at the effect of HMO's and "managed care" on the health of Delawareans. We now have the experience of several years of managed care and its effect on medical costs and also its effect on the health of our families.

Complaints abound! We hear about limitations on the duration of hospital stays for women giving birth. We hear about the difficulty of getting bills paid in a timely fashion. We hear about patients prevented from using the physician of their choice. We hear about conflicts between insurers. All of these represent significant problems and concerns for patients caught in the tangled web of insurance forms, referrals, approved physicians lists and the like.

Doctors complain about the fact that if an individual physician orders too many tests or suggests too many specialists, he or she may be removed from the approved lists without any right of explanation, due process or appeal. Thus, doctors practice with one eye over their shoulder to keep a close watch on the insurer's reaction. Even more troublesome is the practice of some managed care organizations to pay a bonus to doctors who do not make such recommendations and, therefore, hold the insurer's costs down. In some cases as much as 10% of a physician's income may be derived from such bonuses.

I suggest the General Assembly convene a series of public hearings at which interested members of the public, as well as primary care physicians, hospitals, insurers, specialists and patients can relate to us their experience with managed care. Then, we will be much more able to draw conclusions about what steps the State can and should take to save and secure the best parts of managed care, while eliminating, to the extent possible, the troublesome problems.

DECISION '98 - 5TH COUNTY COUNCIL DISTRICT HORACK VS. VENEZKY

Horack has been 'in the trenches'

DAVID HORACK is challenging Karen Venezky for New Castle County Council in the 5th Council District.

Horack said "it's a shame" that the New Castle County government gives false hopes that the Unified Development Code will control growth. "In the 5th District that I will represent, there are as many developers and shopping centers that are already in the plans and will be controlled under the old codes," Horack said. "Both the old and the new codes have a certain language that allows the planning department to use their discretion which always favored the developer."

According to Horack, he would make sure the planning department uses their discretion to favor the community.

Horack believes county council could be more informative. "I am concerned when certain council persons say it is the constituent's civic duty to inform themselves and not the county council representative's," he said.

He also has reservations about the County Executive. "The constituents might think the Executive has done a good job," Horack said, "but when programs are cut like senior citizens and youth programs, without fully understanding the impact, or when county codes are totally rewritten, only time will tell."

However, Horack believes any effort to streamline county government without decreasing the quality of life is good for the taxpayer.

Problems like substandard housing, crime and other issues in areas like Brookmont Farms and Kimberton need a different approach, according to Horack.

"I think the Executive has stooped too low to even consider demolishing Brookmont Farms," said Horack. "Obviously, he's never

Venezky wants more public access to council

KAREN VENEZKY (D-5th District) is seeking re-election after seven years on New Castle County Council.

As the lead sponsor of the Unified Development Code, Venezky said she is proud of the code and its provisions to provide managed growth and sustainable development for the county. "Issues that I have worked on for many years, like protecting natural resources, tying planning and zoning so that residents of the area will know at the zoning stage exactly what will happen on the site (no more bait and switch), and requiring services be in place before development is approved are all part of the code," said Venezky.

The UDC also includes impact fees so that the costs of adding new services are paid by developers and not existing residents, according to Venezky.

"The UDC is a work in progress and will no doubt require some changes when we go through the process," Venezky said. "However, I will remain vigilant to ensure that the protections I put in to place are not adversely affected."

Venezky said the current county council working with the County Executive has streamlined county government with no tax increases for the past two years and none for the next two years. "We have accomplished all of this while more services are coming to the area, including a new library in Bear, a regional park and additional police protection," she noted. "Also, working with the County Executive and other members of council I co-sponsored legislation that makes 9,000 additional senior citizens eligible for a property tax exemption."

The council also changed the county code in September so that no notice is required to cite violators for tall grass, unregistered vehicles and poor maintenance practices. "There aren't enough code enforcement officers, so I pushed for more and New Castle County is hiring an additional seven," said Venezky.

Other county initiatives, according to Venezky, include the development of a Bear/Glasgow regional park, the expansion of the trail system in the Middle Run Valley, and acquisition of additional land for new trails and facilities at Beck's Pond Park.

Discussions have begun with the Friends of the Newark Library to identify expansion

DeLuca wants to address education that the ongoing accountability program succeeds; as tax relief for working families; and for a series of one time capital improvement projects such as repairs for local roads and highways, maintenance needs for Delaware schools, and repairs to state facilities. "These investments are responsive to the needs of the 11th District while continuing a fiscally responsible approach to state spending," said DeLuca.

If elected, DeLuca wants to address higher education. "Two new initiatives I would address if elected, are increased aid to Delaware's higher education institutions, and a review of the family court system," he said. "Delaware needs to ensure that every citizen who wants to attend college has the opportunity and access to attend our institutions of higher learning."

DeLuca would also work on the most critical issues raised by constituents during the campaign: improving education; fighting crime and drugs; and investing in roads.

As a lifelong Delawarean and a resident of the district for over 23 years, he is "terribly concerned" about the future of the community and the quality of life. "As state senator, the only special interest I will have will be the people — the working families of the 11th District," he said.

"I will bring a commonsense approach to solving problems and above all, give the citizens of Delaware the service they expect and deserve from a public servant."

DeLuca works as an electrician and lives in the community of Varlano Village.

Polls open 7 a.m. on Election Day

Election polls will be open on Tuesday, Nov. 3, in Delaware from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. Voters need to bring identification, such as a driver's license, voter registration card or utility bill, with them to the polling place. Persons needing information about where to vote in New Castle County should call the Department of Elections at 577-3464.

Public schools and all state and county government offices are closed in Delaware on Election Day. Federal offices, including post offices, are open.

options. "(In addition), a total of 179 computers have been ordered for all libraries in the system, including Bear," said Venezky. "All County libraries now have on-line circulation and card catalogs."

The county is approaching the issue of substandard housing, crime and community maintenance problems in a variety of directions, according to Venezky. "I am happy to announce that plans are underway to build a new police facility in Kimberton," she said. "We have initiated tough code enforcement procedures, are doubling the number of code enforcement officers and exploring ways to strengthen the home inspection process."

Venezky said the county is looking for ways to enhance the training of building inspectors and hiring more of them. "We are researching a variety of ways that other jurisdictions have handled this important issue and hope to present amendments to the code in the near future," she said.

The county is also encouraging community-based activities for the young including HOOPS which is providing week-end basketball at Kimberton. "Meetings with New Castle County Community Partnership, the New Castle County Police and residents of the Kimberton area are ongoing and include attempts to start a Community Watch program," she said.

Venezky said she will continue to work on the cleaned-up Brookside Shopping Center which now has a

New Castle County Police Sub-Station. "I want to continue to explore ways to make redevelopment of our failing commercial sites economically feasible," she said.

Other issues she will work on, if elected, include legislation to register lobbyists who come to County Council, improving and increasing library service, and exploring ways to strengthen the ability of communities to interact with County government and get the information they need to participate in the process as quickly and effectively as possible.

Venezky has been a Newark-area resident for more than 20 years. A graduate of Cornell University, she runs her own graphic arts business.

Reed said she has been working with the University of Delaware to monitor waterways and will fight to punish companies who pollute.

Reed plans to continue to work on education and crime as well as other community concerns. "I am helping to build a YMCA off Route 40 and I am working on a community center for the area," she said. "During my term, I ran a Job Fair attended by over 400 people and sponsored a hearing on crime and several programs to strengthen Community Watch."

Reed has previously said she believes being accessible to her constituents is her main job as a state senator. A former teacher, Reed is now a fulltime legislator.

Horack wants county council to have final say in development

been in a position where money is an issue."

Horack said he would work hard on bringing together the non-profit organizations that the state has from youth programs to programs that will assist in do-it-yourself projects.

If the county reduced the growth of developing, they would not have to hire more (housing) inspectors, according to Horack. "But the fact is, there will be more growth in housing, therefore we will need to hire more inspectors which should be funded by the developers," he said.

If elected, Horack would introduce legislation to allow county council have the final say in developing. "As it stands now, the (county) planning department makes the final decisions," Horack said.

Senior citizens are among other issues of interest to Horack. "I do not care for county council using senior citizens as a pawn," he said. "In July 1998, county council increased the senior citizens eligibility income so they may get a property tax deduction, but in September of 1998, introduced and passed Ordinance 98-94 which reverts the limited income back."

Horack is also concerned about misleading members of Maintenance Associations that the county will take over the stormwater management facilities. "In reality, it will be the responsibility of the Maintenance Associations to take care of minor sediment removal," said Horack.

Horack would like the county to allow a national organization who's primary function is to assist, educate, and lobby for Maintenance Associations, known outside of Delaware as the Homeowners Association. "The name of this organization is called Community Association Institute and has been around for 25 years," he said.

Horack concluded by saying it is time the 5th District has someone who's been in the trenches, is sensitive and will be an advocate for them.

"That being myself," Horack said.

Horack is a business owner and has lived in the Route 40 area for the last 18 years. He is currently president of the Glasgow Pines Maintenance Association.

Take the time to make a choice

LIVING IN A SMALL STATE with only three counties has advantages and disadvantages which become even more apparent when it comes time to vote.

In states like Pennsylvania and New Jersey, the average resident may never even see a state or county legislator in person in their entire lifetime. In New Castle County, Delaware, you are just as likely to meet them at your child's soccer game, at a local backyard barbecue, and on the checkout line at the supermarket.

When campaigning, candidates and incumbents already have a wealth of neighbors and acquaintances who know them on and off their platforms.

Speeches about the issues in the months leading up to Election Day almost invariably take a backseat to who you were before you decided to run — and what opinions people formed of you then.

The candidates profiled this week and last week in this newspaper are no exception. Most of the incumbents come with lists of accomplishments from their just-completed stints as lawmakers. Without exception, they all appear to be experienced, well-intentioned individuals who care about the public jobs they do.

The challengers, by and large, have genuine concerns which caused them to run for office and have informed themselves on the issues paramount in their districts. They have plenty of ideas, if not always details, about how to make life better for their constituents-to-come.

The campaign is winding down and the time has come for voters to do their part. Many of you know most of them. Take an hour next Tuesday and go to the polls.

Make a choice and vote for the neighbor you think will best serve you in the coming years.

Another notable collection at University's Morris Library

By ELBERT CHANCE

NEWARK POST COLUMNIST

FOR THE SECOND TIME IN RECENT weeks, this column is devoted to a significant University of Delaware collection.

In September the topic was the 40th anniversary of the University of Delaware Library Associates and the efforts of its members to expand the scope and quality of the collections in the Morris Library. Today I call to your attention the Historic Costume and Textile Collection currently managed by Associate Professor Frances W. Mayhew of the Department of Consumer Studies in the College of Human Resources, Education and Public Policy.

My involvement with this subject began when Post editor Mary Petzak urged me to investigate a UD news release announcing that Prof. Mayhew is seeking class blazers worn by Delaware undergraduates from the 1920s through the early 1970s. In the latter years, those distinctive blazers, differentiated by their pocket designs, were worn by junior counselors, a group of carefully selected upperclassmen, who served as advisors to incoming freshmen. At this writing, alumni have contributed blazers representing the years 1957, 1958, 1959 and 1963.

Though an intriguing project, the collection of the blazers is a relatively minor aspect of a sophisticated research and preservation effort that involves cooperation with the Center for Historic Architecture and Design, the Winterthur Museum and other area institutions.

The acquisition of clothing and accessories began about 1971 under the guidance of Ms. Fran Smith, a faculty member in the College of Human Resources. The effort received a boost when the family of the late Henry Francis du Pont, a former UD trustee, donated a number of handsome pieces that were considered inappropriate for display at Winterthur.

Prof. Mayhew assumed responsibility for the collection in 1976 and recalls that every available shelf and closet in Alison Hall was soon being utilized for the growing, but largely uncoordinated materials. This deficiency was remedied when laboratory and storage space were designated for the collection in the new Alison Hall annex. Not only was it possible to house the varied pieces in one location, but temperature, light and humidity could be maintained at optimum levels for the preservation of old and fragile materials. Racks, hangers and shelves were installed to accommodate a variety of shapes and sizes. Though most pieces in the collection are the everyday wear of people in the period from which they come, there also are fashionable pieces with the labels of such famous designers as Adrian, Balenciaga, Bonnie Cashen, Dior, Givenchy and Scaasi.

The collection has grown to about 2,600 pieces and includes clothing ranging from infants' wear to mourning clothes, mostly from the mid-nineteenth century to the present, although one priest's garment, a chasuble, is believed to date to medieval times. Among the other items are underwear, shoes, handbags, dresses and accessories, men's and women's suits, quilts and decorative decorative fabrics. Many cultures and countries are represented.

Local man involved in serious charge: Bond placed at $5,000

As a result of a conference Friday afternoon in the office of Charles B. Evans, in Wilmington, bail was procured for a New London Avenue merchant, held on a serious charge preferred by a 13-year-old girl living at the same address. He was released from custody of the local police upon bail. The case will be tried at the next term of Court.

He was arrested Thursday last by Officer Lewis and Detective Chanler. The latter has been on the case for some time, and has made several trips to Newark. Early last week he was threatened by residents of the New London Avenue section when he appeared at his store. Chanler had been secretly working on the case and even fooled the local police.

The accused man was locked up in the town hall Thursday.

Auto thieves in town last night

Residents of Choate Street were in an uproar about 2:30 this morning, when a daring attempt to steal the Oakland automobile belonging to Delaware Lovett was foiled by the quick action on the part of Mr. Lovett and neighbors. The thieves ran to Main Street under fire from two shotguns and disappeared. An accurate description of them could not be had. They were young white men, and believed to have been strangers in Newark.

According to eyewitnesses of the attempted theft, the bandits were pushing the Lovett car down Choate Street towards Main.

OUCH! ...the state swine-flu program is underway in Newark

Delaware joined the rest of the nation this week in offering the swine flu vaccination to its residents.

On Monday, public clinics, many large industries and a number of private physicians began administering the vaccination, which is designed to prevent a recurrence of the disease that struck Fort Dix, N.J., earlier this year, affecting 500 people and causing one death.

Band Day is coming to Newark

Newark Main Street merchants are turning the tables and playing a happy tune for the three Newark area senior high school bands.

Wednesday, Nov. 3, has been set aside as Band Day in the city's central business district. On that day, at least 20 participating merchants will donate a portion of their sales to the Christiana, Glasgow and Newark High bands.

The participating merchants are doing their share—they'll remain open until 9 p.m. that night.

Wilson Center funding woes? Feds want more income proof

Federal funding earmarked for the George Wilson Center might be eliminated if city officials can't prove the majority of people using the center earn low to moderate incomes.

In the past, Newark officials were permitted to estimate a block's income through data compiled by a consultant to New Castle County. HUD will no longer accept estimated income data.

Local food drive Friday, Saturday

The Newark Area Welfare Committee has designated this weekend as Good Neighbor Days, targeting Friday at the Newark Shopping Center, the College Square Shopping Center and Suburban Plaza from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Volunteers will be at Peddler's Pit Stop on South College Avenue Saturday and a woman will paint faces at the Newark YWCA for a dollar, all of which will be donated to the committee. The committee's goal is raising $2,000.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

To: Editor
From: Linda Newcomb
Thistleberry Drive

I attended the High School Band Festival at Newark High School on Saturday, Oct. 17. I arrived there at 8:30 p.m. The parking entrances were blocked off because they were full. As I rode up and down side streets, and down Main Street, there was no place to park.

I ended up parking in the Newark Shopping Center parking lot, along with a lot of other cars. After the festival ended, I went back to get my car. The car was gone! A police officer informed me it was towed because I had left the premises.

Now where else was I supposed to go when there was nowhere to park? He told me the towing yard was down by the Maryland line. My family and I started to walk from the Newark Shopping Center toward the Maryland line at 11:30 p.m.

Calls to two taxicab numbers gave no results — the man did not know when a cab could get there. Meanwhile, my daughter was waiting to get picked up at another high school!

We walked as far as the Newark Police Dept. and a dispatcher called a car to come to take us to the Ewing towing yard. There was certainly a lot of activity there — crowds of people coming to get their cars, and more cars being towed in. The cost to get the car was $85!!

Is that any way to treat visitors to the City of Newark? What a welcome! Never again will I ever shop downtown, or go downtown unless it is necessary. There are plenty of other places around to go to without having to pay a parking fine or having my car towed! There is inadequate parking in downtown Newark and not getting any better!

Each new piece acquired is photographed, given an identification number and properly cleaned and repaired before being stored. Appropriate information, such as color, style and size, is added to the database maintained for the entire collection, which eliminates the need for frequent handling of delicate pieces.

Through the years, Prof. Mayhew has established cooperative relationships with colleagues in museums and organizations who share similar interests. She frequently is sought as a speaker or consultant in addition to maintaining her normal teaching assignments.

If you have a formal gown, a wedding dress, a hat or handbag with which you are willing to part, I know a place where such items will be welcomed, professionally maintained and carefully stored. And I can assure you that if you are interested in learning more about the Historic Costume Collection, Prof. Mayhew awaits your call.

Survey reflects local opinions

Representative Stephanie Ulbrich (R-Newark South) released results from a survey conducted at the 27th Annual Newark Community Day.

In the survey, 79 percent of those responding said they believe funding for public schools should come out of the state budget. The remaining 21 percent said it should come out of federal budget. The question drew 120 responses.

In a question asking if a minimum academic performance should be required to receive a driver's license, 78 percent responded yes. This question received 126 responses.

Of the 103 people responding, 90 percent said they are not satisfied with DelDot's performance.

Finally, 63 percent of those responding felt property taxes should be frozen for senior citizens. 112 people responded to this question.

Gallery celebrates 20 years

THE UNIVERSITY Gallery of the University of Delaware celebrated its 20th anniversary this month. The Gallery was established in 1978 by the University's Board of Trustees to promote excellence and understanding of the arts and humanities on campus and in the surrounding community.

Under the guidance of its first director, William T. Alderson, professor, the gallery began as a teaching/exhibition space within the Museum Studies Program. It became an independent unit in the College of Arts and Science in 1989.

The gallery's opening in 1978 coincided with the reopening of historic Old College after extensive renovations and restoration. The inaugural show, "The University Collects," featured selections from the University's holdings of etchings, lithographs, sculpture, paintings and photographs by such renowned artists as Pablo Picasso, Eduard Manet, Marc Chagall, Rembrandt van Rijn, John Sloan, Alfred Stieglitz and N.C. and Andrew Wyeth.

The gallery also is the repository for a unique permanent collection of more than 6,000 art objects and ethnographic artifacts spanning the ancient period through the present. The collection includes works by such artists as Auguste Rodin, Aristide Maillol and Mary Cassatt, as well as a number of pre-Columbian ceramics and Russian icons.

Belena Chapp of Newark has been the gallery director for the past 12 years and last year also assumed responsibility for the Mineralogical Museum.

Located on the second floor of Old College at the corner of Main Street and North College Avenue, the Gallery is open 11 a.m. to 5 p.m., Tuesday through Friday, and 1-5 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday. For more information, call 831-8242.

'Delaware' to rise again at Gettysburg

By MARY E. PETZAK

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

THE DELAWARE CIVIL WAR SOCIETY is planning to rectify a century-old oversight when they raise the necessary funds for a war memorial at Gettysburg.

According to former University of Delaware president E. Arthur Trabant, the group plans to raise over $300,000 for the memorial to commemorate Delaware's two regiments that fought there in July 1863. More than 43,000 Confederate and Union troops were lost in the tragic three-day battle.

In addition to the memorial placed on the Pennsylvania battlefield, a painting will be hung in Legislative Hall in Dover, according to Trabant.

Newark resident and architect, Richard Dayton, designed the memorial which will include a bronze relief by New York sculptor Ron Tunison.

According to Newark resident W. Barksdale Maynard, an advisor to the project from the Delaware College of Art and Design, Tunison's other small-scale bronzes of Civil War soldiers are remarkable for their vitality and historical accuracy. "He is experienced with large-scale projects, also," said Maynard. "His Masonic Memorial at Gettysburg is one of the most prominent monuments on that battlefield."

Trabant, Dayton, Maynard, State Senator and Newark resident Steven Amick, University of Delaware administrator Ronald Whittington, and John E. Pickett III, a teacher at Hodgson Vo-Tech, were only a few of the people who worked on the plans for the memorial. "This is really a wonderful thing," said Amick. "It should have been done long ago."

Most states with troops which participated in the battle have placed memorials there. But only markers exist showing the positions of the two Delaware regiments during the fighting.

In "The History of the Second Corps," Francis Walker wrote that Lt. Col. David L. Stricker handled the (Second Delaware) regiment with "great courage and address," beating back the Confederates who at one point tried to cut off them off from safety. Historical accounts state that the Second Delaware was able to stem the tide of Confederate victory at a pivotal moment in the Battle of Gettysburg.

The six-foot wide by five-foot tall bas relief depicting the repulse of Pickett's Charge by the Delaware regiments will occupy the center of an 11-foot tall granite memorial on the Gettysburg

The artist's model of the bronze bas relief memorial shows Delaware troops advancing to meet Pickett's Charge on July 3, 1863.

Battlefield near the Visitor's Center.

Maynard said the advisory committee decided on a bronze relief rather than a free-standing sculpture because there are "countless in-the-round" works on the battlefield but relatively few memorable reliefs. "One of those reliefs, dedicated in 1886 for the 12th New Jersey regiment, shows the July 2 fight at the Bliss barn in which the First Delaware regiment participated," noted Maynard.

The Delaware Memorial, expected to be unveiled in April 2000, will be surrounded by a monumental structure of granite to make it eternally durable. "On the back will be the names of the several hundred Delaware soldiers who fought with the First and Second Regiments," Maynard said.

The front of the memorial will bear only the simple inscription: "Delaware."

By PHIL TOMAN

NEWARK POST ARTS WRITER

Photography and photographic exhibitions are my topic for the third time this month. That makes me very happy since I really believe that photography is a true art form, as much as painting or sculpture, etc. Each of the other two shows had a distinctive approach to the art form as does the one I am writing about today.

Now through January 6, 1999, the University of Pennsylvania Museum is offering "An Italian Journey: Photographs by Liana Miuccio." This exhibition of black and white prints juxtaposes portraits of the rhythms and lifestyles of the photographer's relatives who remained in Italy with the images of her family in this country. Each offering, like the one with my column today, has two photos, one from Italy, one from the United States.

The University Museum's PR director, Pam Kosty, told me "The photographs featured in this exhibition bring together the varied elements that constitute the photographer's Italian identity. The hand gestures, facial expressions, food preparation and religious ceremonies she captures make up the jigsaw of what she thinks of as Italian." Pam went on to point out, "Rather than illustrate the differences between Italians and Italian-Americans, these photographs highlight the traits the two groups share."

The University Museum is the fourth venue for the very interesting exhibition. Its first was at the Ellis Island Immigration Museum. From there it traveled to the historic Villa Trabia in Palermo, Sicily and from there to the Museo ItaliaAmericano in San Francisco. Along the way, it won international honors and recognition.

The photographer is a Manhattan-based editorial and commercial photographer. In 1997 Liana Miuccio won the Yann Goffroy International Competition for Photographers Under 35. In this country her pictures have been featured in "The New York Times," "The Village Voice," "Newsday" and "The Daily News." In Italy they have appeared in "L'Espresso" and "La Repubblica delle Donne."

The show has a great catalog which is available in the Museum

Store. In the volume author Gay Talese comments, "Through her photography Miuccio invites us to experience both cultures simultaneously. Although Miuccio's photographs achieve a highly personal form of photojournalism, they go beyond just telling one family's story. 'An Italian Journey' succeeds in reaching all of us who form this great nation of immigrants." I completely agree. These photos speak to us all regardless of the country from which our ancestors came.

Miuccio's paternal grandparents were among the over four million Italians who entered the United States through Ellis Island. They came from the small Sicilian hill town of Limina to settle in the Bronx in the 1920s. Her grandfather was a manual laborer and her grandmother was a sewing machine operator. They worked very hard to give all their children, including Miuccio's father, the opportunities they would never have had in Italy.

From now through May 23, 1999, Sunday admission to the University of Pennsylvania Museum is free. Regular admission is $5 for adults and $2.50 for seniors and students. The new Sunday admission See ARTS, 13 ▶

It matters who is voting in the General Assembly next year.

Education

- ✓ Strengthen early childhood education for future success
- ✓ Establish permanent, equitable funds for public schools
- ✓ Improve teacher training and increase classroom space

Jobs

- ✓ Working families in Delaware deserve living wages, home ownership, affordable healthcare, and retirement security.
- ✓ Expand incentives for first-time home buyers to help stabilize neighborhoods and promote community governance
- ✓ Attract new businesses which support community cooperation

Healthcare

- ✓ Ensure that patients and their doctors are responsible for medical decisions, not a distant 3rd party
- ✓ Make healthcare affordable and dependable, especially for seniors and retirees

These are goals we all want to achieve. The incumbent senator has voted against raising Delaware's minimum wage, voted against protecting our children from irresponsible gun possession, voted against upgrading Delaware's auto safety laws to conform to the industry standard, voted against better regulation of utilities companies, and cosponsored a bill to ease restrictions on transfer of development rights "to encourage growth."

Delaware families deserve better. Our community and families deserve a change. I ask for your vote on November 3rd.

By James C. McLaren

A witch on her broom
Glared up at full moon,
And decided to frighten the meek.
But her victim proved brave,
Snubbing trip to the grave,
And he slapped spooky witch on the cheek.

Haunted poor country bumpkin
Grasped an ugly gnarled pumpkin
To frighten the goblins away.
He no longer felt taunted
Nor satanically haunted.
His ghosts were now whisking away.

Why did the housewife with acid stomach send back her ailing stove at Halloween?
She was upset by gas-trick disorders.

When can one wear a mask of shame?
When there are skeletons in the closet.

To utter a Halloween BOO need not mean that one is forever sadistic.

Bad luck may not always follow a black cat's crossing one's path.

■ Author's note:

Lunacies like these have been inflicted on my poor wife, children and colleagues for years. They have been greeted by both groans and guffaws — the latter, perhaps, to pacify the punster and offset a further barrage. To its victims, punning can be seen as a disease, since any laughter, however sparse, can be contagious. I hope Post readers will tackle this word-play nonsense with zest, thereby assuring them Eternal Joy and a letter from Ed McMahon.

Pinball wizards in Newark

Newark residents have won listings in a new book of world records published for the video game and pinball industries. Listed in the Twin Galaxies Official Video Game & Pinball Book of World Records are: Rick Novak, Looney Labyrinth, Christopher Guest, Metroid II: Return of Samus, and Ian McLaughlin, The Legend of Zelda, all of Newark.

"This book is a landmark event for the $10 billion annual worldwide video game and pinball industry," says spokesperson Rachael Wendell.

"It's amazing that even though there are over 500 million video game and pinball players in the world, the video game reached 25 years of age before a 'Guinness-like' record book emerged to honor video game and pinball scores."

Walter "Rudy" Black and his wife, Elmyra, took a ride in their 1999 Dodge Durango with Chrysler Assembly plant manager Jim Wolfe as the brand new truck rolled off the assembly line in Newark.

Chrysler passes milestone in Newark

By MARY E. PETZAK

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Even at the rate of 800 vehicles a day, it takes a long time to reach a million-milestone. So last week, workers at the Chrysler Assembly Plant in Newark paused to savor the moment when the seven millionth passenger vehicle made at the facility rolled off the line.

It happened to be a Patriot Blue, 1999 Dodge Durango because that's the vehicle currently being produced at the plant. "We found out an employee is purchasing it, so that made the occasion even better," said Chrysler spokesman Paul Walraven.

Maryland resident Walter "Rudy" Black, an employee in the trim shop for 27 years, said he has purchased six cars in his lifetime but never had an experience like this. Black and his wife rode in the new car with plant manager Jim Wolfe as it rolled off the line.

"I still have to wait until it goes to the dealer's to pick it up," said Black, who purchased the car at Advantage Dodge in Elkton. "But it's a lot closer now."

Black and his family were presented with token gifts and a celebration after the rolloff.

Wayne Usilton, president of Local 1212, and James Johnson, vice president of Local 1183, were among the grinning carmakers who watched the event. "Couldn't happen to a nicer guy," said Johnson.

According to plant officials, commercial cars and trucks have been made at the Newark site since 1957 when the first Plymouth Savoy rolled off the line. The plant was originally constructed to produce tanks for the U.S. Army but retooled for passenger cars in 1956. "We're still trying to get a number for the tanks that were made here," said Wolfe.

Walraven said Mopar, Chrysler's parts division, has had a facility at the Newark location since 1948.

Chrysler vehicles that have been made on the Newark assembly line include the Dodge Intrepid, Dodge Spirit, Chrysler Concorde, LeBaron and LeBaron Convertible, and Plymouth Acclaim. The Dodge Durango is the first truck made at the plant.

Wolfe said there are currently 3,200 employees working at the plant on two shifts, producing 200,000 units a year. The milestone vehicle was the 179,814th Durango built at the site.

Christina grapples with bus driver questions

By STEVE WESTRICK

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

A pair of accidents involving Christina School District students has kept school bus safety a top issue.

On Oct. 7, a bus collided with a van on Interstate 95. The accident sent 40 students to the hospital where all were treated and released. Then on Oct. 15, a school bus driver turned into the path of an oncoming car in Wilmington.

The bus driver was cited in both accidents. The first driver was cited for inattentive driving as well as driving without an endorsement.

According to Ronald Albence, Christina transportation supervisor, the district does everything possible to keep all the drivers trained and knowledgeable of bus safety. "With both the contracted and district employees, we go over safety regulations regularly," Albence said. "Anytime there is an accident we review what happened and see how we can improve the safety. I don't know what we can do better. Sometimes a person might miss a safety issue — not because they were a bad driver — just because they weren't here long enough."

By federal law, all bus drivers are required to have a commercial drivers license. According to Capt. Walter Newton, of the Delaware State Police, the contracted driver in the Oct. 7 accident did not have the state certification. "Because she had the (commercial drivers license), she was permitted to drive a vehicle over 10,000 pounds," Newton said. "But she wasn't permitted to drive a school bus in this state."

"If she had been driving a bus taking senior citizens somewhere, or something like that, she would have been fine."

Christina spokesperson John Holton said the district uses several outside contractors. He said the contract with each of these bus services states that drivers must comply with federal and state standards.

The bus driver in the first accident worked for Ryder Student Transportation.

"When you have a contract with someone you expect them to abide with the contract," Holton said.

Concrete wall may cause gravesites to be moved safety upgrades at railroad crossings and along the tracks. Under the agreement, the city would build the fence with CSX funding and the owners of the cemetery would maintain it.

Families with relatives buried in the cemetery also wanted the fence to keep trespassers and vandals out of the old cemetery, according to councilmember Frank Osborne.

Lopata said this week that CSX is concerned about liability issues and wants the fence erected inside the cemetery which might require moving some gravesites. "I contacted cemetery owner Norris P. Wright and asked him about moving gravesites," said Lopata. "If he doesn't want to do that, frankly, the fence won't get built."

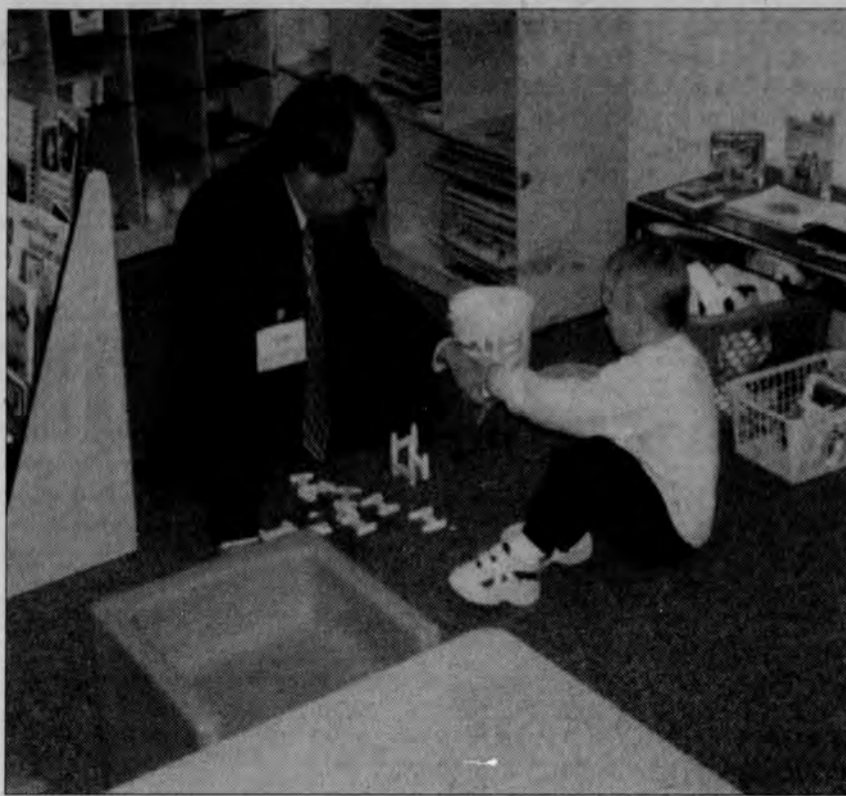

At city council's meeting on Monday night, Grant said he would be just as happy not to build this wall. "It's a remedy way out of proportion to the problem — a marginal safety issue where the problem, if any, is at the railroad crossings," said Grant.

Meanwhile, Lopata said he has heard from two families with people buried there wanting to know where the fence is.

Mayor Hal Godwin said maintenance at the cemetery Wright donated to the Methodist Church has become a problem. "Mr. Wright donated the land with the understanding the congregation would maintain it," said Godwin. "Now the church can't do it and the care has come back on him. People hoped we would help by building the wall."

Lopata said there is also a question about who would pay to move gravesites. "Council voted to build the wall, but moving gravesites is another matter," said Lopata. "The cemetery would have to notify the families. I don't know what's required, but I can't believe they would move graves without notifying families."

Edward Capodanno of Associated Builders & Contractors participated in class activity during his stint as Principal for a Day at the Sterck School for the Deaf on Monday.

Principal for the day a success

said the program is important to his school.

"I hope Mr. Capodanno comes away with an increased awareness of our program and that deaf kids are the same as other kids — just with a different language," Bosso said.

When the program began in 1992, only 23 schools took part. However, last year, 90 schools participated in the program, and a record 102 schools introduced business leaders and legislators on Monday to what it takes to run a school.

"I don't see a down side to it," said Linda Ochenrider, principal of Leasure Elementary School. "Schools get the benefit of knowing the businesses leaders and legislators get a chance to live in the school for a day. And hopefully the knowledge they get will effect how they do their jobs (in the private sector)."

Leasure, participating for the third year, had State Senator Dori Connor (R-Penn Acres) sitting in the principal's office on Monday.

Harmony Road closure coming

► HARMONY RD, from 1

temporary closure. "At the Oct. 1 meeting, the public said they wanted a test closure," Freil told the sometimes hostile audience this week. "(But) we feel it would be better if a broad selection of the community, those who live here and work here, would sit down with us and come up with a long term solution."

Barriers will be in place until Dec. 6 on Harmony Road just off Route 4 between Rosewood Drive and the entrance to Wynwood Assisted Living and Tutor Time day care. During the closure, DelDOT will place 15 traffic counters on surrounding roads to monitor how the closing affects local traffic flow.

Freil refused to make a commitment about what will happen to the road after the experiment ends. "I have no idea what the impact will be," Freil said, adding he would meet with residents after the completion of the test if they wished.

According to Freil, an average of 18,000 to 20,000 motorists use Harmony Road each day. The road is a popular shortcut linking Kirkwood Highway/Route 2 and East Chestnut Hill Road/Route 4 with Route 273 and Interstate 95.

Not everyone in the area wants the road closed. Charles Baranyai, president of Brookbend Civic Association, said the closure will cause a bigger problem with much of the traffic using the roads in neighboring developments.

Tom D'Alessandro, vice president of the Christiana Fire Department, asked that metal plates be installed along the sidewalk and grassy areas on the side of Harmony Road so emergency vehicles will have access.

"(With the construction work) going on at the Churchman's Crossing area, you're putting us in a bad area as far as getting you emergency help," D'Alessandro told the residents.

Child support help available

Governor Thomas R. Carper has proclaimed October as Child Support Month. While Delaware consistently ranks among the top states in collecting child support payments, there are still far too many children who should receive support, but do not. For information on how to obtain the child support payments your children deserve contact the Division of Child Support Enforcement in New Castle at 577-4800, in Dover or in Georgetown at 856-5586.

Holiday shopping starts at Downes Elementary

Downes Elementary School will host the PTA's "One-Stop-Shopping" night on Friday, Nov. 6, from 6-9 p.m. In addition to over 20 local crafters, there will be products from Discovery Toys, Tupperware, and Pampered Chef. The PTA will also be selling baked goods. A portion of the evening's sales will benefit the PTA. The event is free and open to the public, with free childcare for children over 3 years old. For more information, call 454-8940.

THE SIDELINE

It should be another great weekend for high school sports. There are some great football games this weekend as the local teams fight to stay in the state tournament hunt. Soccer and volleyball teams also have some big matchups coming. As we near November, the stakes in all of the fall sports grow bigger. The Glasgow-Newark soccer game Wednesday night is one that bears watching for local soccer fans.

ALL THUMBS

UP: To the Caravel Academy football team. The Bucs looked extremely good in knocking off a strong Tatnall team. The play-offs are still in reach.

UP: To the Glasgow High volleyball team. The Dragons defeated Flight A rival William Penn to just about seal up second place in Flight A.

DOWN: To the people that think comparing scores is the best way to determine who the best football team in the state is.

GAME OF THE WEEK

The Christiana football team will take on Flight A rival Brandywine Saturday morning. Both teams are still in the hunt for a state tournament berth. But neither team can afford another loss. This is what high school football is all about. Too bad it's at 10:30 in the morning.

DID YOU HEAR?

The 1998 Kappa Basketball Classic will be held at Christiana High this year. After years of playing at Wilmington High, the prestigious early-season tournament comes to the area. We just hope that Christiana's gym is done being worked on by that time of the year.

Newark knocks off Christiana

Defense doesn't allow a first down

By STEVE WESTRICK

THE CLICHE SAYS, "offense wins games, defense wins championships." Newark is proving that, while on the road to a championship, it may be the defense which wins the games.

The Yellowjackets' defense was completely dominant in a 14-0 win over Christiana last Saturday at Coder Field. Newark held the Vikings to 20 total yards from scrimmage and did not allow any first downs.

Despite the complete shutdown of any Christiana offense, Newark's 17th consecutive on-the-field victory was not a lock until late in the final quarter.

With 4:42 left in the game, and Newark leading 7-0, the Yellowjackets faced a third-and-21 on the Vikings' 47-yard line. The Yellowjackets came out with a four receiver set and tight end John Brennan found himself open 20 yards down field. Quarterback Charlie Porter lofted the ball to him and he raced down the sideline for the score.

Throughout the first half and most of the third quarter, Newark's offense had little more success than its counterpart. On their first seven positions, the Yellowjackets were forced to punt five times, were stopped on a fourth-and-five at the Viking 30-yard line, and were intercepted once. Both teams combined for a total of 13 punts.

At the 2:28 mark of the third quarter, Parson ended the offensive slump by racing through a wide hole on the left side of the line and making a defensive back miss in the open field to score from 59-yards away.

"We've been a second half team all year," left offensive tackle Kwame Harris said. "We knew it would come sooner or later."

As the 6-foot-6, 315-pound Harris explained, the first touchdown was a result of an on the field blocking adjustment.

"It was a great block by [tight end] John Brennan," Harris said. "[The Christiana defensive tackle] was off my outside and I was trying to get him all game but couldn't. So I just told John to block down and he laid a great block."

Still, it was the Yellowjackets' defense which controlled the line of scrimmage all game that dominated the game. Christiana's offense, which was unable to gain more than three yards on any running play, was rendered helpless as Viking quarterback Jeff Tatnall was 2-for-12 passing.

"All week we practiced with a high intensity level," linebacker Justin Caserta, who led Newark soccer team earns big win over A.I.

Gays' blast gives Jackets a 2-1 win

By MARTY VALANIA

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

One of the signs of a good team is its ability to rebound from adversity. The Newark High soccer team displayed its character in a 2-1 victory over a good Alexis I. DuPont team Friday night at A.I.

The Yellowjackets, who could have been down after a 3-0 loss to Christiana last Tuesday, not only displayed their mettle with the win, but with how they got it as well.

After seeing the Tigers score an emotional game-tying goal in the match's 74th minute, Newark answered with a Robbie Gays 18-yard blast just two minutes later. Gays' goal, set up by a good run by Lorni Antwi, gave the Jackets a 2-1 lead.

"It was really a beautiful goal to put us ahead," said Newark coach Hugh Mitchell. "Lorni made a nice run into the box and then made a nice touch pass to Robbie, who just blasted into the upper part of the net."

"It was, obviously, important. A.I.

had just scored to tie the game. And instead of us getting down or finger-pointing, we came right back with the goal."

The Jackets, with momentum back on their side, were able to hold the Tigers off for the remaining time and earn the big victory. The win, along with a 1-0 win over North East (Md.) Monday, improved Newark's record to 10-3-1.

"Certainly, emotionally this was a big win for us," Mitchell said. "I didn't feel we played with the desire we should've in the loss to Christiana. We talked about it afterwards and the captains held a meeting and I think we played with a lot more emotion and desire against A.I. I think that was the big difference.

"I think it was important to see that all their hard work really pays off."

Newark outshot A.I. by a more than two to one margin and had five corner kicks to the Tigers' one.

Following a scoreless first half, Newark got on the board first early in the second. Antwi again was the playmaker, working his way into the box and touching a ball to Chris Thomas, who finished into an open net.

"It really was a great effort," Mitchell said. "A.I. only had three or four good chances all game and we

Blue Hens get back into action against Maine

By MARTY VALANIA

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

The University of Delaware football team got as much out of an open weekend as it could've possibly hoped for. Now the Blue Hens get back to taking care of business for themselves, starting with Saturday's game against Maine at Delaware Stadium.

With William & Mary, Villanova and Northeastern all losing, the Hens are just one loss back in the loss column to Richmond (whom they face Nov. 14), Connecticut (Nov. 7) and a UMass team they beat to open the season.

"I really believe the rest did us good," said Delaware coach Tubby Raymond. "We're going to be very fresh and we should be excited about playing. Everybody except [offensive lineman Brian] Cook should be healthy now."

"It really should be an exciting conference race. The losses by William & Mary and Villanova support our cause. We can now almost author our own fate. We don't have to sit around and wait for somebody else to do something."

The first assignment for Delaware will be an up-and-down Maine team. The Black Bears have impressive wins over New Hampshire (52-18) and Villanova (44-10) to their credit. But they've also lost three straight games including 18-17 to Rhode Island, 35-10 to Richmond and 34-28 last week to James Madison.

"It's a very balanced league," said Maine coach Jack Cosgrove. "And right now, with three straight losses, we're not measuring up. Delaware, obviously, is still the kingpin. That's the level we're trying to get to."

"When you look at the Maine-Villanova game and then at the Maine-Richmond game," Raymond explained. "It doesn't even look like the same people."

Maine is led by one of the best quarterbacks in the Atlantic-10, if not the country. Mickey Fein threw six touchdown passes in the Bears' victory over Villanova and has thrown for 18 touchdowns on the year.

"He's a good quarterback," Delaware coach Tubby Raymond said of Fein. "When you see how they throw the ball around — especially against Villanova — you get worried. He's a big kid too. He's not somebody that lineman can just knock over easily when they do get in there. They really can be lethal. They're capable of beating anybody in the league anytime."

Delaware, though, obviously causes problems for Cosgrove and Maine.

"Offensively, Nagy and Conti can cause problems," Cosgrove said. "We got a big dose of Eddie Conti up here two years ago. We led 17-0 at halftime and he almost single-handedly led their comeback."

"Nagy has done a nice job of dispersing the ball around and I think their offensive line will probably be healthy again this week."

"Defensively, I was very impressed with the way they played against Youngstown. They have some guys that just fly to the ball."

"We definitely have some concerns about playing down there in that great environment. I'm not sure we're playing with great confidence right now either and that'll be our job as coaches to try and fix that."

NOTES — Delaware leads the series 18-4 and is 12-2 in games at Delaware Stadium... Saturday is Youth Day and the United States Army Golden Knights parachute team will deliver the game ball prior to the game and perform again at halftime.

POST PICKS OF THE WEEK

As November nears, so do the high school football playoffs. That means the games grow in importance.

This week will see a host of big games including one between Christiana and Brandywine that will go a long way in determining the Division I state tournament field.

We missed just one game last week (West Chester East against St. Mark's) and hope to do at least as well this week.

NEWARK (6-0) VS. ALEXIS I. DUPONT (2-4) – Friday night at A.I., 7:30. The Jackets finally get a breather in their brutal schedule. So far, they've passed everything thrown at them. They've played one of the most difficult schedules in the state and have won every time. For some people, this hasn't been enough. But they know what they've accomplished. This week may be the one in which they also post an impressive score. The Pick: Newark 35, A.I. 0.

CARAVEL (5-2) VS. BOYERTOWN (Pa.) – Friday night at Caravel's Bob Peoples Stadium, 7. The Bucs came up with a big victory over Tatnall last week and still have tough games with St. Elizabeth and Archmere remaining. Hopefully, they'll be able to keep things rolling to make those last two games of the year really meaningful as far as the Division II tournament goes. The Pick: Caravel 22, Boyertown 14.

GLASGOW (1-5) VS. MCKEAN (1-5) – Friday night at Glasgow, 5. The Dragons are coming off a very rough stretch of games in which they've faced some of the state's best teams. This week, they finally get a shot at another 1-5 team and a chance to reap some rewards for their improvement. The Pick: Glasgow 20, McKean 14.

CHRISTIANA (4-2) VS. BRANDYWINE (4-1) – Saturday morning at Brandywine 10:30. The Vikings are coming off a tough loss to archrival Newark and have another difficult task in Brandywine. The Bulldogs, along with Christiana, are still in the Division I state tournament hunt. In fact, Brandywine, with its come-from-behind miracle against William Penn is still in the hunt for a Flight A title. Christiana's defense, though, is the toughest Brandywine has faced to date. It should be a great game but we'll give the nod to the Vikings.

The Pick: Christiana 14, Brandywine 8.

WILLIAM PENN (3-3) VS. DELCASTLE (1-5) – Saturday morning at Delcastle, 10:30. The Colonials got back on the winning track last week against McKean. They'll stay there this week as well.

William Penn is the best three-loss team in the state and still has an outside shot at the state tournament. The Colonials won't blow that against the Cougars.

The Pick: William Penn 27, Delcastle 6.

HODGSON (3-3) VS. HOWARD (4-2) – Saturday morning at Hodgson, 11. This is a big game for both teams. The Silver Eagles are coming off a big win over Dickinson while the Wildcats routed Woodbridge. Howard has shown some big play capability and that could be the difference in this game.

The Pick: Howard 22, Hodgson 20.

MIDDLETOWN (6-0) VS. CONCORD (5-1) – Saturday morning at Concord, 10:30. This game could decide the Flight B championship and be a preview of a state tournament game. The two last met in last year's state championship game and Middletown won big. The Cavs come into this game after a big win over Salesianum and a week off to savor it. It'll be back to business against the Raiders, who do have a big win over St. Mark's to hang their hat on. It should be a good game, but right now Middletown appears to be too strong.

The Pick: Middletown 21, Concord 15.

ATHLETE OF THE WEEK

JASON DZIELAK – ST. MARK'S HIGH

By MARTY VALANIA

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

WHEN WE LOOK back on the season and talk about great weeks, Jason Dzielak's will go down as one of the best.

Dzielak began the week with a sterling two-goal performance to help St. Mark's knock off archrival Salesianum. He followed that with four goals against North East (Md.) including one in the game's first 10 seconds. In fact, all four of his goals were in the first 18 minutes of the game.

"I don't think I've ever seen anyone score that quickly into a game before," said St. Mark's coach Tom DeMatteis. "It was unbelievable."

He then added two more goals in the top-ranked Spartans' victory over second-ranked Dover on Saturday.

The eight goals gave the All-Stater 16 for the season and 59 for his career. His third goal against North East broke the school record for career goals (55) held by Jon Sturmfels and Brandon Little.

"He has been our top scorer the past two years," DeMatteis said of his senior. "But in the first few games of the season, everybody was really keying on him. It made it difficult for him to score, but really opened things up for other players. It's what being part of a team is all about."

The scoreless streak, however, was a bit of a frustration for somebody used to scoring as much as Dzielak. He scored 27 last season to break the St. Mark's single-season record.

"I think what really got him going was a penalty kick against William Penn," DeMatteis said. "He's never taken our penalty kicks but we gave him this one. It was our fifth game of the season and he hadn't scored yet. But when that went in, he got two more in that game and has been rolling ever since. I think he just had to break into the scorebook once."

DeMatteis credits Dzielak for being an all-around player.

"He has it all," the coach said. "He's fast, strong, a great leader and a hard worker."

Bantam Blue Hen hockey team defeats Hershey

On Saturday, October 24, 1998 the Bantam Jr. Blue Hens traveled to Mechanicsburg Pa. and destroyed the Hershey Bears 9-1 in a Delaware Valley Hockey League (DVHL) contest. David Kitchen and Garry Wright led the Bantam Jr. Blue Hens with two goals and assist each. Five other goal scorers for the Jr. Blue Hens were as follows: Kyle Morrison, unassisted at 7:22 of the first period; Josh Allen at 2:44 of period two; Brad Benedetto at 10:07 of period three; Andrew Cassidy, unassisted at 7:41 of the third period; and Steve Williams at 4:49 of period three.

Assists were also tallied by Josh Allen, Kyle Morrison, Chris Tyczkowski, and Chris Proctor.

Chris Proctor led the Bantam Jr. Blue Hens in scoring on Sunday, October 25, 1998 at home versus the Reston, Va. Raiders with a goal and an assist. Josh Allen and Garry Wright each had a goal in this 7-3 loss. Assists by Bantam Jr. Blue Hen players came from Quay Cobb, Josh Dries, and David Kitchen.

The Bantam Jr. Blue Hen's travel ice hockey team will try and scare a Wissahickon Pa. team out of their skates on Halloween, October 31st, at the University of Delaware Gold Arena at 2:35 PM. On Sunday, November 1, 1998 they travel to Aston, Pa. to face-off against the Phantoms.

Caravel earns win over Tatnall

By STEVE WESTRICK

FOOTBALL

The Buccaneers don't want people to forget their name when talking about the Division II playoff race. One team that won't forget is Tatnall.

The Hornets came into Bob Peoples stadium last Friday with their own dreams of the playoffs. However, they ran into a not-so-generous host. Caravel's defense yielded only 73-total yards in route to a 19-0 victory.

Offensively, Caravel did its damage on the ground with 355 yards rushing.

The Bucs use two primary running formations, what they call the double bone and Brahma Bull. In the double bone, Caravel uses two halfbacks and a slot back. In the Brahma Bull, the Bucs come at the defense with three massive backs lined up in a wish bone.

The Bucs used the latter formation to score their first touchdown and set up their last score.

The first score came when the sophomore Kameron Cale, who at 6-3, 345-pounds, plays fullback in the bull, scored with a dive from two-yards out. The score capped a 14-play drive and gave the Bucs a 6-0 lead with 10:16 left in the first half.

"Size wise, Tatnall is a huge football team," Caravel coach Dave Needs said. "They're probably a lot bigger than us along the lines. But when we use [the Brahma Bull] formation, we can use the power of our large backs."

Leading 12-0 in the final quarter, the Bucs used the bull to get themselves out of trouble. After Tatnall's Jesse Ohliger hit a 54-yard punt to pin Caravel deep in its own territory, Needs sent the bull in. Using the formation, Caravel drove to the Tatnall 43-yard line before fumbling the ball. On the drive, halfback Darrin Wilson gained 31 yards on five consecutive carries.

On the first play after the fumble, Caravel's Larry Steward intercepted the Hornets' quarterback. Following the turnover it took the Bucs only five plays before quarterback Chris Radel scored from 35-yards out on an option keeper.

"Tonight we showed we have multiple weapons," Wilson said. "You just can't focus on one of us. [Tatnall] started to key on me because of what I had done on the previous drive. That's when our quarterback broke it for a touchdown."

In all seven backs carried the ball for Caravel, with three, Wilson, Radel and halfback Drew Nelson gaining over 70 yards.

"This is the most complete victory I've ever been involved with," Needs said. "We've been waiting practically all year for our young offense to catch up to our defense."

Still, it was the Bucs' defense that dominated the game. Tatnall crossed into Caravel territory only once, early in the first half and led to a missed 41-yard field goal.

The win elevated the Bucs (5-2) into a crowded playoff picture.

"We have both St. Elizabeth and Archmere coming up," Caravel linebacker Brent Schreiber said. "Because both of those teams are also independents they are the Bucs' primary competition for a playoff spot. Things are really starting to click for us at the right time now. The team is coming together and getting ready to pull some upsets."

Glasgow volleyball team tops William Penn

By MARTY VALANIA

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

After a poor start, the Glasgow High volleyball team rallied to beat Flight A rival William Penn last Friday night. The victory improved Glasgow's record to 12-5 and all but sealed up second place in the conference for the Dragons.

William Penn began the match with a 15-4 romp in the first game. The Colonials' dominance was so thorough the game took only about 10 minutes.

"We were just totally out of it," said Glasgow coach Robin Dunlap of that first game. "[William Penn] served well and caught us a little off guard. And we just didn't seem ready to play."

The Dragons, however, woke up in time for the second game.

"We changed a couple of small things, but mainly we just talked about being ready," Dunlap said.

Glasgow jumped to an early lead, and in a reverse of the first game, easily won 15-5.

The Dragons' momentum continued into game three. They built a 12-3 lead and appeared headed for an easy victory.

However, William Penn, which fell to 9-3 on the season, rallied to stay in the match. The Colonials cut the lead to just two points before Glasgow put the game away.

"We finally started playing well in that second game and then we built up a big lead in game three only to give it away," Dunlap said. "But we were able to hold on and get the win. It's definitely a big win for us. It could get us into second place in Flight A. And it's good preparation for the tournament."

Candice Bowman helped lead the Yellowjackets with 10 kills, two blocks and two perfect passes.

LaShanda Simpson added 10 kills, two aces, six perfect passes, two digs and two aces.

"Candice played very well," Dunlap said. "They really stepped it up for us. And LaShanda had her typically very good match as well."

Jessica Marley contributed 10 perfect passes, two aces and two digs.

Glasgow finished its regular season with matches against Brandywine Friday and Ursuline on Tuesday. The Dragons will then head for the state tournament.

"I think we've gotten better as the season has gone on," Dunlap said. "But I still believe we can get better. I think we can pass better and do some other little things. Hopefully, we can be ready for the tournament."

Democrat
for A Change

Our quality of life and our children and grandchildren's future depend on the decisions we make today about our schools, job security, controlling development, open spaces, clean waterways, and healthcare. It matters who is voting in the General Assembly next year.

Education

- ✓ Strengthen early childhood education for future success
- ✓ Establish permanent, equitable funds for public schools
- ✓ Improve teacher training and increase classroom space

Jobs

- ✓ Working families in Delaware deserve living wages, home ownership, affordable healthcare, and retirement security.
- ✓ Expand incentives for first-time home buyers to help stabilize neighborhoods and promote community governance
- ✓ Attract new businesses which support community cooperation

Healthcare

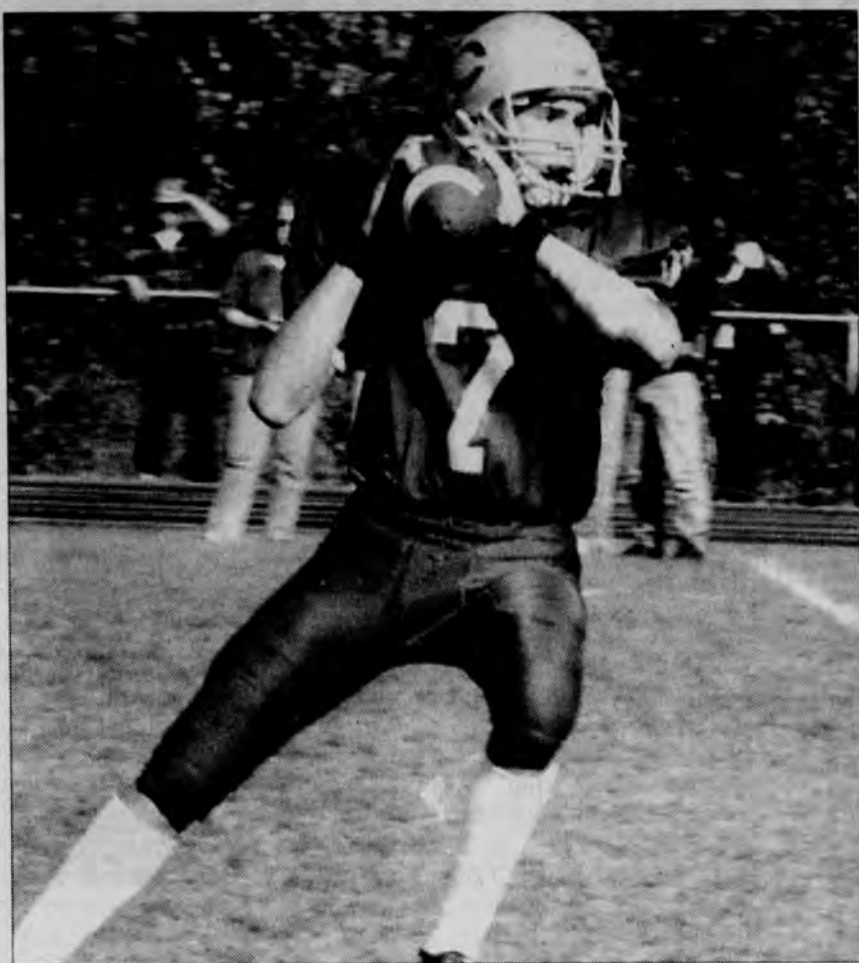

- ✓ Ensure that patients and their doctors are responsible for medical decisions, not a distant 3rd party
- ✓ Make healthcare affordable and dependable, especially for seniors and retirees

These are goals we all want to achieve. The incumbent senator has voted against raising Delaware's minimum wage, voted against protecting our children from irresponsible gun possession, voted against upgrading Delaware's auto safety laws to conform to the industry standard, voted against better regulation of utilities companies, and cosponsored a bill to ease restrictions on transfer of development rights "to encourage growth."

Delaware families deserve better. Our community and families deserve a change. I ask for your vote on November 3rd.

Christiana quarterback Dave Tatnall drops back to pass in the Vikings' game against Newark Saturday afternoon at Coder Field.

Newark with 10 tackles, said. "You have to give a lot of the credit to the coaching staff. They did a great job of preparing us in practice. What they showed us on film is exactly what we saw all game."

Parson, who was held in check most of the game, was responsible for 179 of Newark's 260-total yards from scrimmage.

Although Christiana's defense was strong most of the game, coach Marvin Spence was disappointed in two breakdowns.

"They played great all game except for two blown plays," the coach said. "A missed tackle and a missed coverage assignment. We don't miss the tackle on the run and miss that pass, then we don't give up two touchdowns and we don't lose the game."

Kirkwood Twisters earn shutout

The Kirkwood Twisters under-11 girls soccer team improved its record to 5-2-1 with a 6-0 win over Lower Merion Sunday.

The Twisters' offense was led by Alli Stanley with a goal and two assists, Megan Watson with three assists, Ashley Fogelman with two goals, Kate Attenberger with two goals and three assists, Danielle Weaver with a goal and Anna Lewis with an assist.

Megan Bastianelli, Heather Richardson, Shannon Crowley, Beth Kitchen, Natalie Brousseau, Rachel Andrews and Brittany Oncay all contributed to the defensive effort in front of goalkeeper Jennifer Piechowski.

had a bunch. I didn't think we shot the ball enough earlier in the season and, especially, against Christiana. We worked on that and we had a bunch of great chances against A.I.

Kirkwood Lightning wins, ties

The Kirkwood Lightning under-14 girls team won one game and tied another to move into second place in the PAGS league.

The Lightning defeated Swarthmore 1-0 and tied Concord 1-1. The results helped improve the team's record to 7-2-1 on the season.

Lauren Kovach was the goalie for both games. Kenya Hodges and Neddie Hughes provided strong defensive efforts and the goals were scored by Lindsay Strickland and Stephanie Carlin.

KSC Magic triumph

The under-11 Kirkwood Magic girls soccer team defeated Concord 2-0 last week.

The Magic was led by Katie Thomaides two goals. Mary Ann Magee and Heather Miller contributed assists.

Stephanie Kappler and Mary Ann Magee combined to earn the shutout in goal.

We had balls hit the post, the cross-bar and some that just barely missed. I knew if we kept pushing, we'd get them."

Newark closes out its regular season with games today against William Penn and Tuesday against cross-town rival Glasgow.

"If we can get through this week, we'll have 11 wins," said Mitchell, who started five sophmores and four juniors against A.I. "And I feel we'll be able to get into the tournament with that. Then we'll play Glasgow in a tournament-like atmosphere. But we'll have a chance to play a lot of people under those conditions and get them ready for the state tournament."

New job training offered at Goodwill

Office Skills Training is the latest course to join the vocational training programs offered by Goodwill Industries of Delaware.

The training offers instruction in typing, keyboarding skills, alpha, numeric and combination filing, computer programs such as Windows 3.1, Windows 95, and Microsoft Word; and use of common office machines, such as faxes, copiers and telephones. Both traditional instruction and self-taught computerized learning is available.

In addition, Retail Skills Training, the oldest course taught by Goodwill, has received an update that prepares clients for the movement towards computerized retail sales.

Goodwill trainees get paid, on-the-job experience by working in Goodwill retail stores, or with one of Goodwill's Business Services: Janitorial, Contract, or Staffing. Goodwill's staff also evaluate vocational abilities, teach work adjustment and job readiness skills, provide job development, placement, on-site training and follow-up after placement.

Over 95 percent of all trainees enter Goodwill's placement program. To date in 1998, Goodwill has placed 507 individuals in jobs.

Goodwill funds its mission primarily through the resale of donated clothing, linens, housewares, furniture, sporting goods, vehicles and more in its retail locations and warehouses.

For more information about Goodwill's vocational programs and services, please call Goodwill at 800-355-4770.

Dept. of Education receives $1.8 million in federal money

The Delaware Department of Education received $1.8 million in federal funding to implement school-to-work programs in school districts throughout the state.

According to Valerie Woodruff, associate secretary for curriculum and instruction, the state is presently developing an outline to guide schools when either starting or refining their school-to-work program.

"We hope to build on some really good existing programs in many school districts throughout the state," said Woodruff.

Although specific goals have not been set, Woodruff said one goal is to increase the number of internships available to students in each district.

"We hope to enrich the [cooperative programs] that already exist. And see what we can do to create new internships and co-ops," she said. "These internships can come in many forms from shadowing to paid internships."

"The whole idea of this program is to give students choices and not funnel them into one field that may seem to suit them. Instead, we want students to explore and gain a knowledge of what careers are out there. But, we also want them to realize what education is needed to reach their desired career."

Woodruff said if the program is to work, it must form a partnership between schools, businesses, institutions of higher education and the community.

"[School-to-work] has to be a win-win situation for everyone involved," she said. "For businesses we can help them get good workers that wouldn't need to be trained and retrained over and over again."

important information

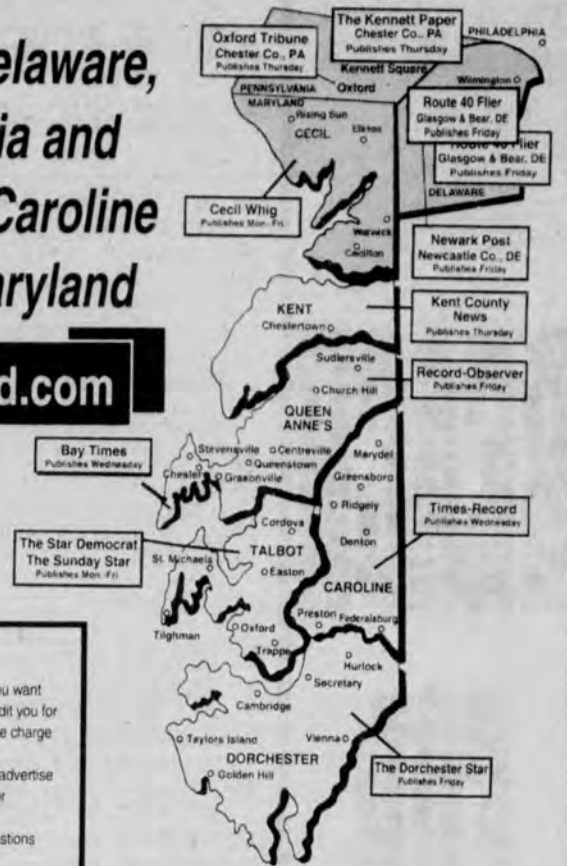

Please check your ad the first day to see that all information is correct. This will ensure your ad is exactly what you want readers to see. Call us the very first day your ad appears to make changes or corrections. By doing this we can credit you for the first day if an error occurred. The newspaper's financial responsibility, if any, for errors of any kind is limited to the charge for the space for one day.

The publisher wants to do everything possible within the confines of good taste and legal constraints to help you advertise your products or services to your best advantage. The newspaper does reserve the right to edit or reject any copy or illustration that does not meet the newspaper's standard of acceptance.

We make every effort to ensure that advertisers are reputable. However, we welcome your comments and suggestions concerning any of our advertisers. Call Classified and ask for the manager.

Classified customers of the Newark Post will be asked to pre-pay for private party advertisements. Customers may use Mastercard or VISA when ordering by phone, check by mail with a classified order form or place and pay for your ad in person at the main newspaper office. We cannot be responsible for cash sent through the mail.

Private party categories include, but are not limited to announcements, merchandise for sale, pets, furniture, yard sales, vehicles or boats for sale. The Classified Department can answer any of your questions regarding this policy and how it may affect your situation. Please call 410-398-1230 from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. with your questions.
