Phi Kappa Phi Honors Twenty-One, Eleven From Delaware College

Ten Girls From Women's College Also Receive Honor Based On Scholarship Attainments

The Phi Kappa Phi Honor Society, at its annual election Wednesday night, honored eleven men and ten girls of the University. The election is based on high scholarship since a member must be in the top fifth of his class for four years. Election to Phi Kappa Phi is the highest scholastic honor in the University.

Phi Kappa Phi is a national honorary society, founded in 1897, and now has over fifty chapters in accredited colleges and universities of the country. The University of Delaware Chapter was installed in 1905. It is now headed by Dr. George H. Ryden, president; Dr. Q. C. Drake, vice-president; and Dr. A. S. Eastman, secretary-treasurer.

Those elected from Delaware College were: Edward H. Ehart, Cedars, Del.; G. Luther Heppe, Aldan, Pa.; James P. Hollis, Wilmington; James P. Hoopes, West Chester; John F. Kiefer, Wilmington; Frederick Kelso, Dover; Louis Parewzewski, Marshallton; Adair Rogers, New Castle; Lewis E. Simon, Wilmington; Alexander C. Tweed, Wilmington; Robert R. Vennum, Wilmington.

From the Women's College those elected were: Janereed Anderson, Washington, D. C.; Catherine E. Broad, Wilmington; M. Elizabeth Cloud, Wilmington; Velma Hollowell, Federalsburg, Md.; Jennie Morris, Harrington; Annabel Morton, Laurel; Aileen Pyle, Newark; Marguerite E. Sterling, Wilmington; Helen E. Sweetman, Wilmington; and Marjorie White, Bala-Cynwyd, Pa.

None of the faculty were elected this year to membership. The initiation banquet of the society will be held some time next month, probably Tuesday evening, March 21st.

Physical Education Aims Clearly Outlined

New Department Of The U. Of D. Misunderstood By Many

This is the first of a series of articles which will be printed in The Review on Physical Education and Health. We feel that with the aid of this column a broader and more accurate view will be taken as to the aims and objectives of the Physical Education Department at the U. of D.

Physical education organizes the physical activities of men and youth, so that, while observing and practicing the laws of health, the pupils procure organic vigor, strength and skill. Physical activities should be so conducted as to shape the individual and social character in such a manner as to make the participants useful and law-abiding members of the communities in which they happen to live and, this attained, enable them to enjoy life to the fullest.

1. Physical education organizes the opportunities for learning physical education activities, and in addition organizes and teaches people in the activities.

2. Physical education, inasmuch (Continued on Page 2.)

Economics Club Meeting

The Economics Club will hold a meeting in Old College on Tuesday, February 21, at 7.30 p. m. Freddy Max will be the speaker and though he has not announced his subject, it is expected to interest his audience.

Newark Music Society Concert

Four Artists Here Tuesday Night

In Mitchell Hall on Tuesday evening, February 21, Lucius Cole, violinist, Orlando Cole, 'cellist, Winifred Michaelson, pianist, and Max Aronoff, violist, will be sponsored in a musical program by the Newark Music Society. The artists are all talented and experienced.

Miss Michaelson held a fellowship for four years at the Juilliard Graduate School in New York City, studying piano with James Friskin. She was also in the normal department of the Diller-Quaile School for two and one-half years studying methods in class teaching with Miss Diller. Miss Michaelson is the first musician to have completed the full course for music directors at the New York School of Social Work. Last summer she went to London to study with Mr. Tobias Matthay at the Tobias Matthay Pianoforte School.

Miss Michaelson organized the Community Music School in South Orange, N. J., where she was director for three years. In the fall of 1931 Miss Michaelson came to Wilmington as Executive Director of the Wilmington Music School.

Miss Michaelson is a concert pianist as well as a teacher. She has given concert in Washington, D. C., New Jersey, New York City, and was heard in a recital in Wilmington last spring.

Mr. Cole, 'cellist, graduated from the Curtis Institute of Music last spring where he was a pupil of Felix Salmond for eight years. Mr. Cole is a member of the Curtis String Quartet which has been giving a series of Chamber Music Recitals in Philadelphia. He has been a member of the faculty of the Wilmington Music School for several years.

Mr. Aronoff, violist, has become a member of the faculty of the Wilmington Music School this year. He studied violin with Carl Flesch for three years at the Curtis Institute of Music, and has been a student in viola under Louis Bailly, the violist of the Flonzaley Quartet. Mr. Aronoff has been an assistant to Mr. Bailly at the Curtis Institute of Music for the past three years. He has been heard in recitals with Mr. Bailly, Salzedo and Kincaid, as well as having been soloist with the Curtis Orchestra under Fritz Reiner.

Mr. Cole, violinist, was a member of the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra for many years. He is a member of the faculty of the Wilmington Music School, and also the (Continued on Page 5.)

Sigma Phi Epsilon Wins Inter-Frat Play Trophy

"Things Is That-a-way" Easy Victors

For the third time in four years, the dramatists representing the Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity walked off with the Interfraternity Play Trophy, as a result of their capable and lifelike presentation of E. P. Conkle's "Things Is That-a-way," at the close of the Interfraternity Play Contest at Mitchell Hall last evening. The judges who decided in favor of the winning Fraternity were Mrs. W. C. Blatz, Mrs. J. R. Hatch, and Mr. Gayle Hoskins, all associated with the Drama League of Wilmington. Pete Rice and Willis Lawrence divided honors with their clever characterizations in Mr. Conkle's back creek sketch and came from behind to win.

Officially, the judges only select the winner, but in the humble opinion of this writer, Sigma Nu was justly entitled to a worthy second place, with Phi Kappa Tau, last year's winner, ending up in third place with a notable presentation of an original play by Tom Hanaway, "The Aftermath." Aside from the characters of the winning play, we recommend for clever performances, Irving Malcolm, H. V. Walker, Floyd Thompson, Sol Jasper, J. V. Hudson, and Gilbert Chase.

The committee in charge this year was headed by Thomas Dowling, 3rd, with Curtis Potts acting as stage manager, and Bill Richards as assistant stage manager. The stage crew included the Messrs. Ellis, Ridgely, Raniere, Jefferson, Montgomery, and Keiman. Following is a list of the plays and players in the order in which they were presented:

Blue Hen Progresses To Be Issued Middle Of May

With all the Senior and Junior individual photographs and nearly all of the group and club pictures taken and engraved, the Blue Hen is rapidly progressing toward the initial date of printing. Reports from the editorial departments indicate that the individual write-ups and other "copy" are rather slowly but steadily being assembled. The book in its present "dummy" form consists of two hundred forty-five pages with one hundred fifty-two individual Senior and Junior pictures. A distinctive modernistic cover, designed by Gilbert E. Chase, has been ordered for manufacture. Editor Veenum assures that the Blue Hen will be ready for distribution by the middle of May.

Students who have paid their Student Council Activities fee are entitled to a copy of the Blue Hen without any further payments. The price to students who have not paid their fee will be about six dollars.

Lady V. Sackville-West Speaker At Next Univ. Hour

Authoress To Lecture On "Novels And Novelists"

Of unique interest is the announcement by the University Hour Committee at the University of Delaware that on February 24, in Mitchell Hall, at 8.00 p. m., the Honorable V. Sackville-West will give a lecture on "Novels and Novelists." Lady Sackville-West is the author of The Edwardians and All Passion Spent, and is widely known as the heroine of Virginia Woolfe's Orlando.

Though this is the first lecture tour for Lady Sackville-West, few writers are so well qualified to discuss literature, politics and social life. As the only daughter of Lord and Lady Sackville of Knole in Kent, the Honorable V. Sackville-West's visit to this country is of more than ordinary social significance. As the author of the Edwardians, All Passion Spent, etc., her visit is of the greatest literary importance. She is the companion and confident of her brilliant husband, Harold Nicolson, and has travelled with him through the East, and all over Europe.

Lady Sackville-West is one of the most brilliant members of the Bloomsbury groups, a distinguished gathering of writers who have collected about Virginia and Leonard Woolf and the Hogarth press, among them Rebecca West, the Sitwells and Lytton Strachey. When in England Miss Sackville-West lives at Long Barn Weald, Sevenoaks, near her birthplace, Knole. But more often she is travelling in Ecuador, Persia or some equally fascinating and remote corner of the world.

Lady Sackville-West's best-known novel is probably The Edwardians, which has had the distinction of being chosen by the Book Society as the Book of the Month. It is a novel portraying a phase of the "smug and healthy snobishness of the British race." The setting for the book is the pompous, over-stuffed era of Edward VII, with Cheyenne (Knole Castle) for the immediate background. The author explains that "no character in this book is wholly imaginary." The leading actor is the young Duke Sebastian, handsome, charming, and sulky, master of one of England's greatest estates (Cheyenne).

The book concerns itself with the young duke's half-conscious struggle to tear his roots from an ancient soil in which the dead seem more alive than the living. Yet dabble as he will in casual love affairs with a mature married beauty, the caretaker's daughter, a doctor's wife, and an artist's model, he realizes that the only thing he can be is what he is, a slave to nobility. The incidental characters range from King Edward down to the housemaids in the servants' hall. There are those who see in Duke Sebastian a study of the present Prince of Wales, with his disinclination to marry and settle down to the routine of royalty.

Hugh Walpole had described the authoress as a woman with every sort of talent, very handsome, and possessing a beautiful voice. He says the famous house of Knole in Kent for a background gives her personality a sort of legendary color. "She has done everything in her life . . . simply because she

Univ. Host To Legislators

See R. O. T. C. Fire Gun, Visit Buildings And Lunch At Kent Hall

In playing host to members of the Delaware Legislature yesterday during their biennial visit, the University of Delaware not only succeeded in giving its visitors a cordial welcome, but also offered to take a ten to fifteen per cent cut in its appropriation from the state.

The proposal to take a slash in appropriations was made by Dr. Hullihen at a joint meeting of the Budget Committee of the General Assembly and the Finance Committee of the University which was held at the Faculty Club. At that time, Dr. Hullihen, speaking in behalf of the Finance Committee, expressed the willingness of that body to cooperate with the Assembly and to accept a cut in appropriations so as to keep within the economies of the state. In addition to Dr. Hullihen, William B. Heald, chairman of the Finance Committee of the Board of Trustees, and Charles B. Evans, secretary and treasurer of the Board, also represented the University.

The group arrived at the University at ten o'clock yesterday morning and was met by Dr. Hullihen, Deans Dutton, Spencer, McCus, and Robinson, and Business Administrator A. G. Wilkinson.

Following their introduction to members of the faculty the Assembly went on a general tour of inspection of the college buildings and equipment culminating at the dining hall of the Women's College where luncheon was served and a number of brief addresses were made.

The Rev. J. P. Jones asked the invocation. Dr. Hullihen welcomed the legislators and spoke of the willingness of the University to cooperate with the Assembly for the sake of economy. He said that two bills will be introduced at the Legislature. The first for a building of the Women's College which was passed during the last session of the Legislature, but was vetoed by the Governor because of inadequate funds in the State treasury. The second bill will be for an addition to the Library, which will defray the expenses of moving a collection of books from the basement where they are now, and where they will be ruined by the dampness.

The luncheon was then closed with further brief addresses by Senator Simonton and Mr. Heald.

The acceptance of this ten to fifteen per cent cut marks the second successive slash in appropriations. Two years ago the Legislature voted to cut ten per cent from the appropriation.

thought it would be a delightful thing to do."

Novels by V. Sackville-West include: Heritage (1919), The Dragon in Shallow Waters (1922), Challenge (1923), Grey Waters (1923), Seducers in Ecuador (1924), The Edwardians (1930). Her books of poems are: Poems of West and East (1917), Orchard and Vineyard (1921), The Land (1926), King's Daughter (1930). The Heir (1922) is a volume of short stories. Knole and the Sackvilles (1922) is a historical study of the family house, and Passenger to Tokerau (1926) is a travel book. All Passion Spent (1931).

EDITORIALS

The ultimate aim of a University is to attain high scholarship; and the ideal of every student is, besides grasping a thorough knowledge of the subject he is studying, to receive high grades. A suggestion, which is not altogether new has been offered us for the realization of such goals. Every course should have, after the attainment of a certain average for the year, exemptions from final examinations. It seems rather improbable that a student's marks should be lowered due to a final examination after a general year's average of eighty-five or ninety. If such conditions could be installed at the University of Delaware, there is little doubt that the students, as a whole, would strive to attain a high average in order that they might become exempt from the drudge of final examinations. For example, the military department, having an exemption mark within the reach of the average student, has attained one of the highest ratings in this University scholastically. Of course, there are a few engineering courses which offer a form of exemption—but it is merely form; the mark of exemption being so high that it is almost an impossibility for any student to obtain it. A system of exemptions would abolish the final examinations, which are, according to some of our professors, at this time, necessary evils.

Once a year it is our pleasure to congratulate a few of our classmates who have won the highest honor in the University, election to Phi Kappa Phi. After four years their scholastic averages are within the upper fifth of their class, hence their eligibility to election. Eleven men have, this year, brought honor to themselves because of their academic achievements; seven of them are in the engineering school and four in arts and science school.

Phi Kappa Phi is a national honor society in which the attainment of membership is based on scholarship. It "was established to provide an honor society dedicated to the Unity and Democracy of Education, open to honor students of all departments of American universities and colleges. Its prime object is to emphasize scholarship and character in the thought of college students, to hold fast to the original purpose for which institutions of learning were founded, and to stimulate mental achievement by the prize of membership."

Freshmen should note that it is the work that they accomplish beginning in the second semester of their first year that is considered in the averages that are used for Phi Kappa Phi elections.

To the newly elected members of Phi Kappa Phi we extend our heartiest congratulations.

Here and There

A ninety-year-old building at Bethany College recently was burned to the ground. Students formed a circle around it to prevent the firemen from saving it and sang "Keep the Home Fires Burning."

A research committee at the University of California reports that there are nine unskilled men at the institution.

A poem to console Flunkers:
The more we study, the more we know,
The more we know, the more we forget;
The more we forget, the less we know,
The less we know, the less we forget,
The less we forget, the more we know,
So—why study?

Incidentally, this was written by a Colgate Professor.

Columbia's football players are some nursemaids. The Lindbergh kidnapping case was the cause of their employment.

An English professor recently informed his class that he had discovered an essay copied word for word from a text-book not used by his class. Assuming a dignified mien he ordered the offender to see him after class, adding that he would omit his name if he showed up. After the class five students showed up.

A requirement for Freshman English at Drexel was to write an autobiography. One freshman started with, "I don't know how it all began."

At the University of California free beer was to be given out for one hour. Students were advised to come early, as the supply lasted 10 minutes.

A Harvard man recently lost a complete diary on the Wellesley campus. It is said that this book is receiving more attention from the fair students than text-books.

The University of Texas' famous Gumwood furnishings are no more. Recently 2000 wads of chewing-gum were removed from under chairs and desks—including the professors'.

Students at Washington and Jefferson were recently startled to see signs saying "Please Walk on Grass." The Dean says that the grass belongs to the students and since they walk on it anyway, why not make it legal?

During exam week a series of "Dawn Dances" were held at the U. of Alabama for students who studied late and needed mental relaxation. The dances ran from 6 to 8 a. m.

The youngest college Freshman in the world is enrolled at the U. of Alabama in the School of Music. He is 18 months old.

A survey of students in an Eastern University shows that 60 per cent of the students sleep through 3 hours of class each week!

A freshman at Alabama, asked to discuss briefly the value of mathematics to lawyers, said that "It helps to let a lawyer know what he should charge his clients."

Unemployed students to the regular under-graduate courses at Rutgers are being admitted free. The only requirement is that one must be under 30.

A machine to mark exams has been invented by an industrious teacher at Alabama. It calculates the percentages on the paper, and is as infallible as an adding machine. The machine cannot be influenced by cigarettes, "intelligent questions," or any other form of mid-flopping.

The Sophomores at Wake Forest recently went on a hair-cutting spree with Freshmen as the victims. Seniors, seeing a chance to meet expenses, insured the "golden locks" of the Freshmen. The Freshmen paid 50 cents for a $5.00 policy. Each "rat" was given a Senior as a bodyguard.

A Freshman at Fordham tried to get in a dance by presenting his student activities ticket. "Brother, can you spare a dime?"

College Men Should Publish Discoveries

New York (IP)—College scientists and laboratory workers were urged to make it a practice of giving out their discoveries to the public, in an address before the American College Publicity Association by Waldemar Kaempffert, science editor of the New York Times.

Too, often, he said, important scientific discoveries and theories remain hidden for years because the newspapers never hear about them. A case in point, he said, was the publicizing of the Einstein theory in 1919, which was fifteen years after it had first been advanced.

Seaweed Tonic

Washington (IP)—If you are trying to put on weight it probably will not be long before you will be taking a seaweed tonic as a stimulant to your appetite.

The new tonic has been developed by the United States Bureau of Fisheries, which has discovered that when fed to rats the dried seaweed gave the animals more zest for food, with the result that the rats given the tonic grew in weight more rapidly than those not given the tonic.

The Bureau does not report whether the new tonic tastes any better than cod liver oil, thus far the most popular (or unpopular) building, appetite-giving tonics.

Whoever has even once become notorious by base fraud, even if he speaks the truth, gains no belief.—Phaedrus.

The World Goes On

James M. Rosbrow

"AUTRE temps, autre moeurs," runs an old French proverb. Its truth is shown in the presence of Adolf Hitler, Austrian house-painter, in the Chancellor's seat at the head of the German Reich. Strange apparition indeed, to fill the seat once occupied by Bismarck. Hitler possesses the title of the "Iron Chancellor"—whether he possesses any of his admirable attributes will be demonstrated by his actions in the near future. Failing of a complete majority in the Reichstag, the Nazi leader secured a decree of dissolution from President Hindenburg and has gone to the country for a new vote of confidence. He is aided by the Nationalist leader, Hugenberg, and former Chancellor Franz von Papen.

AMON DE VALERA has been returned as President of the Irish Free State with a majority that gives some credence to his claims that Ireland will soon be a republic without any attachment to the British Empire. The new membership of the Dail gives de Valera's party a complete majority over former President Cosgrave's party and leaves him no longer dependent upon the support of the Labor Party. The rallying around the President after war with Great Britain shows a remarkable confidence in him. Paradoxically enough, de Valera, as well as Hitler, is a foreign head of a state. His father was of Spanish descent and he was born in New York City.

A MOVEMENT is on foot in Congress to give incoming President Roosevelt almost dictatorial powers in view of the economic troubles now prevalent. This is feverishly opposed by the Republican stalwarts, but many conservative thinkers feel this will be the only way to prevent anarchy. It is pointed out that President Wilson was granted great powers during the World War and it is held that the present situation, is quite similar in the respect that it presents an emergency that must be reckoned with.

AT last Sandino's revolt is over. The other day this famous Nicaraguan rebel flew down to the capital city of Nicaragua and informed the president that his men were ready to lay down their arms. He said that since the U. S. Marines had left Nicaragua and a legal election had been held, he no longer had any cause to be in rebellion. He was very cordially received and spent the night in the presidential palace. Plans were made whereby his soldiers will be given plots of land to cultivate and will become law-abiding citizens.

Playwriting Lectures

A series of lectures on play-writing is now being given by Mr. Kase in the English office at the Library on Monday and Wednesday afternoons at 3.20. These talks are intended primarily for the guidance of students writing plays for the Dean Edward Laurence Smith Memorial One-Act Play Contest. Plays for this contest must be in not later than April 1.

All students intending to submit plays should send their names to Mr. Kase at once, so that copies of the regulations governing the contest may be sent them.

For the accommodation of students desiring detailed information on that subject are collected on a shelf in the reading room of the Library.

Is life worth living? Yes, so long as there is wrong to right.

When the candles are out all women are fair.—Plutarch.

Physical Education Aims Outlined

as its activities are the expression of the most fundamental and violent instincts, tendencies and emotions in human nature, develops and gives the leader the opportunity to guide the development to the point of self-direction more than in any other activities during childhood and youth the system of interests, impulses, ideals, and attitudes that are at the foundation of character education. This system of interests may be symbolized by fair play and sportsmanship.

3. Physical education develops the function of the nervous system; thus it develops the energy, strength, and skill resources of the total neuro-motor system, under brain or mental control, for all the functions of life.

4. Physical education develops organic power; i. e., the power of the organic mechanisms (circulatory power, respiratory power, digestive power, heat-regulating power, eliminating power) and general power symbolized by endurance. Organic development is the development source of health. This phase of development as an educational objective has received so little consideration that it is scarcely known among educators as a possibility. Yet it is the most conspicuous fact, apart from motor skill, in the normal development of the athlete.

5. Physical education, because of the intense interest of men and youth in its activities and in achievement and development, gives a natural scientific basis for teaching health as self-direction in keeping fit, first, for the sake of satisfaction in achievement, and then for the older purposes of life; and thus it is the correlating center in health teaching or health education. Other activities, or subjects of study in a scientifically organized program of health teaching can reinforce the ideals and expend the information in the self-directing "keep-fit" program organized in physical education.

From these demonstrable objectives it becomes clear that physical education is concerned with the adjustment of the growing organism on which the other divisions of the school program should build a superstructure and a refinement of detail.

On Tuesday evening, February 14, 1933, the regular monthly meeting of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers was held in Room 308, Evans Hall. The guest speaker of the evening was Mr. J. T. Rea, who is a high ranking mechanical engineer of the Bethlehem Steel Works. Mr. Rea spoke to the men of the subject: "The Mechanical Engineer's Work in a Steel Plant." Mr. Rea's talk was very apropos for the group that he addressed and it was very well received by all those who had the opportunity of hearing him.

Author Of New Book

"George Moore: 'A Disciple
Of Walter Pater'" Work
Of Dr. R. P. Sechler

Dr. Robert P. Sechler of the English Department of the University of Delaware is the author of a new study in literary relationships entitled, "George Moore: 'A Disciple of Walter Pater,'" recently published at the University of Pennsylvania. The book deals with the influence of Pater on the work of Mr. Moore, and seeks to determine the extent to which the ideas, the style, and the technique of the latter have been shaped by those of the older man.

It is a thorough study of the subject. By diligent comparison of the two styles, by painstaking analysis of resemblances in thought and literary method, by liberal use of illustrative material from the works of both men, Dr. Sechler has established the importance of Pater's contribution to Mr. Moore's artistic development.

The author concludes by saying that of course Moore is "too important a person" to be called an imitator and nothing more, but that he "has acknowledged the inspiration which Pater was to him in his youth, gradually has come to the state where he is seeking a constant improvement in his literary work, and has wrought his own works of art with the sincerity and craftsmanship which are indeed consistent with 'a disciple of Walter Pater'."

Opportunity for Actors

A splendid opportunity for students desiring experience in acting and the related fields of dramatics will be given this semester through a series of one-act plays which will be produced by members of the course in Play Production. Each member of the class will produce one play before the class instead of writing a term paper.

One of the primary objects of these plays will be to give the many students who try out for the major productions and do not receive parts a chance to demonstrate their abilities and secure some experience. Each actor will be given a rating which will be kept on record in Mitchell Hall for the use of the directors of future plays. These records will be the joint possession of the Puppets, the Footlights, and the E 52 Players, and will be most valuable for future tryouts.

Tryouts for these one-act plays will probably begin next week, and will continue intermittently throughout the semester. Notices of these tryouts will be posted on the bulletin board.

Telephone Home
Each Week at HALF PAST EIGHT!

HERE'S a New Year resolution that's a pleasure to keep. "RESOLVED: I'm going to telephone home each week!"

Think of the thrill it will give your Mother and Dad — of the joy it will be to hear their voices each week! It's more than a substitute for cut-and-dried letters. A telephone chat with home is next best to being there.

Get the telephone habit. It's surprisingly inexpensive — especially after 8:30 P. M. That is when low Night Rates go into effect on Station to Station calls. For 35 cents you can then call as far as 100 miles away!

To take advantage of the night-time reduction, be sure to make a Station to Station call. (Just give the home telephone number and do not ask the operator for any specific person.) If you like, of course, charges can be reversed.

ST. JOE TROUNCES BLUE AND GOLD CAGEMEN 42-21

Zuber Scores 22 Points For Hawk Five

With Phil Zuber setting the pace, the St. Joe Hawks soundly trounced the University of Delaware cagemen Tuesday night by the score of 42-21.

The Hawks began to ring up points shortly after the first whistle and they never let up until the game was completed. Toward the end of the first half, the St. Joe players began to shoot from the center of the floor. Most of these shots split the net, and each one sent Delaware further to the rear.

Although the Hawk players were sinking shots from all angles, this was not an excuse for the ragged play of the Blue Hen quintet. Time after time they blew "pup" shots underneath the basket. The 21 points scored by Delaware were spread out to the credit of seven players. This was the first time the St. Joe five had defeated Delaware since 1931. The score:

Blue And Gold Fencers Lose To Baltimore Foe

Delaware's fencing team went down to defeat at the hand of the strong University of Baltimore team at Baltimore, 7-2. Slovin was the only man representing the Blue Hen team who was able to win from the Marylanders and he won two of his three bouts. Murray, Ridgley and Slovin were the three men who represented Delaware in this meet.

The following are the meets scheduled for the fencers this year:
Feb. 11—Balt. U. Away
Feb. 18—Drew U. Home
Feb. 25—Wil. Y. M. C. A. Away
Mar. 3—Princeton Frosh. Away

Military News

On Thursday morning, February 16, 1933, the legislators from Dover made an inspection of the University. In order that these men should be made to feel at home and be at the same time entertained, the Military Department arranged to have some blank ammunition for the 75 millimeter anti-aircraft gun and this ammunition was fired during the regular drill period. The firing of this gun attracted quite some attention as it was the first time that this particular gun had been fired in quite some time. During the stay of these men, Cadet Major Fred D. Bendler, Jr., and Cadet Captain J. Wilson Ward acted as their aides and accompanied them to lunch.

Cagers Meet P.M.C. On Home Floor Sat.

Traditional Foes From Chester Have Strong Quintet

Saturday night the University of Delaware basketball team will try to average an 46-27 defeat handed them by the P. M. C. Cadets last year. With the memory of the football game between these two universities played at Atlantic City last fall, still raging in their minds, the red clad team from Chester will probably come to Newark with blood in their eyes. The Cadet cage squad is made up of veterans. They have been very successful on the court this season and have lost very few games.

P. M. C. is quickly becoming and practically is the greatest foe on the Blue Hen athletic schedule. Since the withdrawal of Swarthmore from our athletic schedules and the degeneration of Haverford's athletic representatives, the Chester Cadets have become a strong and worthy foe for Blue and Gold teams. The game Saturday night should be one of the most bitterly fought contests seen in the Taylor Gymnasium this season. Let's go! Beat P. M. C.

THIS AND THAT

R. C. M.

John Branner has been elected to lead the Blue Hen football aggregation next fall. The letter men of this year's team could hardly have made a better choice. John is one of the comparatively few men from the southern part of the state who have been successful in their football aspirations on the Blue and Gold squad. Branner entered the University three years ago when the athletics at our University were getting a new life. Since his entrance to the State University, John has been the regular fullback on Charly Rogers' squad. Never spectacular or brilliant, John has been a conscientious, hardworking, dependable back. The past season marked the first time that he was out of the game due to injuries. Branner will without doubt fill the shoes of Bud Haggerty who has led the grid squad for two years. Good luck, John!

Another leader for next fall's team who was elected recently is "Del" Minner. Minner has been chosen to lead the soccer squad. He should be an able leader to fill the shoes of "Pete" Craig, who, like Haggerty in football, has led the soccer team during the past two seasons.

One of the most surprising things which have happened lately was the success of Delaware's swimming team on their southern trip shortly before the mid-years. Faced with meets on successive nights, the Blue Hen mermen came through with flying colors. We would like to pay tribute to "Ed" Bardo for his untiring efforts to bring the Delaware swimming team into fast circles. With the aid of the students who have swimming ability, I am sure that in a short period of time he will reach his goal.

The author of this article has heard rumors of dissention on the basketball team. This difference of opinion came to a climax in the Washington College game which was played a short time before mid-years. The last few weeks this distasteful matter has practically worn itself out. I do not think much of anyone who would hold a grudge which would lead to the degeneration of Delaware's athletic representatives. I believe that time has cured this dissention. I apologize for this paragraph if it is unwarranted, but I believe my facts were received from good sources.

Delaware Mermen Lose To Pitt And Wilmington High

T. Hanaway

The University of Pittsburgh, with a strong and well balanced team defeated the Blue and Gold tank team in the local pool last Saturday night 45-14. Delaware was only able to secure one first place and Lattamus, who swam the 50-yard freestyle in the fast time of 25.2. Wilson in diving and L. C. Barker were the only men on Delaware's team who were able to place second.

Schmeiller, Norton, and Denny of Pitt, captured individual honors, each taking a first place in their respective events: 200-yard breast stroke, 2:45.2, 100-yard freestyle, 57.8, and the 440-yard freestyle, 5:45.1. These three men also were members of the 200-yard freestyle relay team which defeated the fast Delaware relay team of Lattamus, Murray, Lindstrand, and Lawrence, in the time of 1:40.

The defeat of Delaware's tank team did not come as a surprise, although a closer score had been predicted. The lop-sided score was a result of Pitt's refusal to allow Coach Bardo to use his freshman swimmers. Pitt has a freshman ruling, but because of the difference in the size of the two schools it had been expected that we would use the freshmen.

The J. V. versus W. H. S. meet also ended in a sweeping victory for Wilmington High, 47-12. Croes was the only Delaware man able to secure a first place. He won the 100-yard back stroke in the time of 1:13.5. The winning of this meet made the tenth consecutive win for W. H. S., and the second time they have defeated the Blue and Gold freshmen team this season.

Howard, Wilmington flash in the two sprint events, won easy victories in both the 50 and 100-yard free style, while Captain Pruitt gained a second for W. H. S. in the same events. Bobby Beason gave a splendid exhibition to take first honors in diving.

PITT-DELAWARE

100-yard breast stroke—Won by Kenworthy, Wilmington; second, Massey, Wilmington; third, Hartman, Delaware. Time, 1:16.8.
200-yard free style—Won by R. del Valle, Wilmington; second, Carey, Delaware; third, Sieman, Wilmington. Time, 2:17. (New Wilmington High record.)
100-yard free style—Won by Howard, Wilmington; second, Pruitt, Wilmington; third, Croes, Delaware. Time, 57.6.

Delaware's J. V. tank team was forced to cancel their meet with the Lehigh frosh because of the ineligibility of so many of their swimmers.

A liar should have a good memory.—Quintilian.

Del. Cage Squad Win And Lose In New York

Dohertymen Win Over Pratt And Lose To Stevens

Revenge was carried out to perfection last week-end when the Delaware cagemen defeated Pratt and were then beaten by the Stevens. The scores for the two games were 35-27 and 19-25. Last year Pratt took the measure of Delaware and Stevens was defeated by the Blue Hen squad.

The game with Pratt was a fast, hard fought game. Two of local squad and one of the New York players were banished from the game due to rough play. Captain Kaufman was the leading scorer in this fray with 14 points, while Kemske succeeded in holding Pratt's high scoring forward, Riser, in check throughout the contest.

In the Stevens game the Blue and Gold representatives could never seem to get going. They were playing on a large floor and this seemed to handicap them. "Irish" O'Connell was the leading scorer of this game with 11 points. The scores:

Who Knows?

Philadelphia (IP)—There's a battle of the sexes on at Temple University.

Co-eds are inconsistent, husband hunters; they "fawn and gush," charges a male critic.

Men students are key hunters, fops, ill mannered, a co-ed retorts.

This all appears in the January issue of the Temple Owl, for which Edward W. Groshell, man student at Temple, and Miss Ellen Eaves, president of the Women's League, tell what they would like to be like if they belonged to the opposite sex.

Groshell, after muttering "fer-vent thanks" that he is not a co-ed, says that if he were he would first of all look up the word consistency and follow its dictates. He'd try to be an individual, he says, instead of just "trying to keep up with the janes." He'd dress warm in winter, and "take a pair of fleece-lined slippers to wear at football games where ten thousand girls freeze their feet for the sake of displaying trim (and not so trim) ankles."

"Fairness of face and form," he goes on, "is indeed a valuable asset, and if I possessed this uncommon feminine charm, I would capitalize on it; but my scholastic attainment would be a result of knowledge, even in those courses where grades are computed on curves."

"I," says Miss Eaves, "would be

Wooden soldiers in the war against decay

To conquer the forces of decay which attack telephone poles, scientists of Bell Telephone Laboratories carry on a relentless campaign.

They study many kinds of wood, test many preservatives. They isolate wood destroying fungi and insects—study them in the laboratory—search for a practical means of combating their attack. They have set out armies of stub poles in Mississippi, Colorado and New Jersey where altitude, climate and soil vary widely. At regular intervals they inspect these poles to learn which woods and preservatives are best.

Such scientific thoroughness is one reason why Bell System plant becomes more efficient each year. And why telephone service is so dependable.

Tobacco to smoke right

has to be a different kind of tobacco from that used in cigarettes...and it has to be made by an entirely different process...

OUT in Kentucky, where they have pretty women, fast horses, and blue grass, there grows a tobacco called White Burley. It doesn't grow anywhere else in the world.

There is a type of this White Burley that is best suited for pipe smoking. It is neither too thick nor too thin. It is not light and chaffy; at the same time, it is not rank or strong. "U. S. Type 31" is the government classification for White Burley.

Since no other pipe tobacco has yet been found which seems to equal White Burley, this is what we use in making Granger Rough Cut.

Next, we use the Wellman Method, a famous 1870 method of making pipe tobacco, to give Granger its fine flavor and fragrance. Then, too, Granger is "Rough Cut"—just like they used to "whittle" their tobacco off a plug with a jack-knife. It smokes cool, lasts longer and never gums a pipe.

And finally, we want to sell Granger for 10 cents. Good tobacco—right process—cut right. So we put Granger in a sensible soft foil pouch instead of an expensive package, knowing that a man can't smoke the package.

Granger has not been on sale very long, but it has grown to be a popular smoke. Folks seem to like it.
