New Auto Sales Agency Here Is Latest Addition

Richards Property On East Main St. To Be Converted Into Large Garage; Erection Starts Soon; Former Wilmingtonian Heads Enterprise

It has been definitely announced that the purchase by Maxwell O. Hammond, of Flint, Michigan, a former resident of Wilmington, of the Richards house adjacent to Renshaw's lane on East Main street, is the first step in the establishment of a new automobile sales agency and garage here.

Mr. Hammond will begin the erection of a building on the corner of his property, occupying about thirty to forty feet of street frontage. It is believed he plans to eventually either tear down or move the present dwelling back in order to occupy the entire frontage for his garage.

The Buick and Chevrolet cars, products of General Motors, will be handled by Mr. Hammond as soon as adequate quarters are established. These two cars were formerly sold here by J. C. Vansant and Sons on South College avenue. Recently the Vansant firm took over the agency for Oldsmobile and Oakland, leaving the local field clear for the former cars.

Upon the completion of the Hammond venture, Newark will be housing seven garages, together with the agencies for eleven nationally known automobiles.

Comes From Michigan

The new purchaser of the Richards house, a large three-story dwelling, came east recently from Flint, Michigan, where he was in the employ of General Motors. He was originally a native of Wilmington, where his mother is understood to be living now. The sale was consummated through the Newark Trust and Safe Deposit Company.

Plans are now being drawn for the new building and arrangements made for an early start in its operation. What other improvements in the property Mr. Hammond contemplates have not as yet been announced.

Mrs. Robinson, Newark's Oldest Woman Resident, Passes Away; Made Her Own Funeral Plans

Three Pallbearers Chosen At That Time Have Since Died; Asked All Personal Trinkets Be Buried With Her; Funeral Yesterday

Following a long illness through which she rallied from time to time, only to suffer a relapse, Mrs. Mary H. Robinson, aged 93 years, died Sunday in her home on West Delaware avenue. She was Newark's oldest woman resident.

Practically without near relatives for more than fifteen years of her late life, Mrs. Robinson lived quietly in her little home here, a kindly neighbor always, and a friend to everyone in the neighborhood. She had been unwell for nearly two years. A few months ago, she entered upon what proved to be her last serious illness.

Planned Own Funeral

An unusual feature of the funeral services yesterday was the fact that they had been planned by Mrs. Robinson many years ago. Every detail had been previously arranged with E. Clifford Wilson, funeral director. Only two of the original group of five pall bearers, however, are living. They are Robert H. Gallaher and Robert Motherall. Three died since Mrs. Robinson made the arrangements—Henry Steel, William Brown and Mr. Herdman. Their places were filled yesterday by Samuel Rambo, H. Warner McNeal, Cecil Vansant, George W. Rhodes and Thomas J. Green.

Also pursuant to her wishes, practically every personal trinket she possessed was placed in the coffin prior to the opening of the services yesterday afternoon. Among them were letters, jewelry, photographs, newspaper clippings and many other odds and ends so dear to an old lady, among them, her husband's wedding gloves and their original marriage certificate.

The services were conducted by the Rev. Blake of Red Clay Presbyterian Church, an old friend of the deceased. The cortege passed from the house to Head of Christiana cemetery, where the interment was made.

NEGROES HELD FOR ROBBERY TRAVELERS

Pick Up Hikers Near Glasgow Saturday and Relieve Them of Money and Jewelry; Captured Later by Police.

George Carter Lee, Harry Wilson and George Matthews, of Baltimore, and John Short and Miles Pitlow, of Curtis, Md., all negroes, charged with highway robbery, were each held under $5,000 bail by Magistrate Jones in Wilmington, Saturday, for the Court of General Sessions, and in default of bail were committed to the New Castle County Workhouse.

The negroes were arrested by members of the State highway police after complaint had been made early that morning by Abe Kroll, 130 Dumont street, Brooklyn, and Robert Fagen, 276 Grafton street, Brooklyn, that they had been robbed of $20 and several articles of jewelry, after being given a ride in an automobile by the negroes.

The two boys were hiking it from Florida to Brooklyn, and at an early hour they were overtaken on the road near Glasgow and offered a lift by the negroes. They accepted the offer and rode as far as Bear Station when they were robbed at the point of a revolver and then thrown from the machine. The boys applied at a nearby farm house and from there telephoned to the highway police. Four of the colored men were soon captured and the fifth one was taken into custody later in the morning.

ELKTON JURIST STRICKEN

Philip M. Groves Victim Of Paralysis Last Sunday

Philip M. Groves, judge of the Orphans Court of Cecil County, and well known throughout upper Maryland, was suddenly stricken with paralysis at his Elton home Sunday. His condition has been considered very serious, although reports yesterday indicated that a slight improvement had been noticed.

Judge Groves is a prominent figure in court circles in his county. He was for several years assistant county treasurer and later was elected to the treasurer's post. From there he moved up to the Orphan's Court bench.

BARGAIN FLYING RATES

Thrill-Seekers Keep Plane Busy Here Sunday

The commercial airplane in charge of Messrs. Gurley and Kavanaugh, of Philadelphia, did a land office business here Sunday afternoon in its efforts to satisfy local thrill seekers. Bargain rates were offered and many Newark people took the opportunity to see how their gardens looked from the air. The plane's motor got little or no rest from early afternoon until dusk. Five minute flights over the town was the program.

Cobb Leads Clubs To More Honors At Springfield

Delaware Boys And Girls Lead At Exposition For Seventh Consecutive Year; Novel Scheme For Headquarters

Twelve boys and girls, members of the agricultural and home-making 4-H Clubs, conducted by the Extension Department of the University of Delaware, returned last Saturday from the Eastern States Exposition at Springfield, Massachusetts, where they had been representing Delaware in the annual program of judging and demonstrations conducted for all the eastern states.

For the seventh consecutive year, Delaware Club members succeeded in winning more honors in the judging competitions than any of the other twelve states represented. Competing with sixty-three teams, representing the territory from Virginia to Maine, the six Delaware teams won two first places, one second, and one third. Delaware led all other states in the total number of superior honor ribbons awarded individual members for judging, with five of the twelve Diamond State youngsters securing the coveted purple badges. Two members won second honor badges, and four received third individual honors.

When Grace Souders and Hazel Dean, of the Farmington Clothing Club, were announced the winners in the clothing judging contest it marked the third consecutive year that a team of Delaware clothing club girls has won this honor. Cassie Prettyman, of Millsboro, and Myrl McNicol, of Milford, made a valiant effort to make four straight years for Delaware in the girls' canning judging contest, but had to be content with second place, just three points behind the state champion team of New Hampshire. Neil Edgell and William Hastings, of Greenwood, won (Continued on Page 4.)

"MIKE" THE PRODIGAL

Campus Mascot Gets Back In Time For Classes Monday

"Mike," the irresponsible Airedale terrier, matriculated at Delaware early this week, and reported for classes as usual Monday.

The campus pet reports in his own language, a very interesting trip since last May, when he disappeared from his guardian's residence. Since that time, Mike has wandered far and has seen, no doubt, many strange and wonderful sights.

Accompanied by a roar of applause from the student body, he appeared on Frazer Field Monday afternoon, and held an informal reception before resuming his position as semi-official helmet carrier for the Varsity.

Mike was discovered at Havre de Grace a few days ago, where he had evidently stopped off for a day at the races.

Another Tyson Trained Horse Headed For Fame On Grand Circuit Race Tracks

With the sale last week of Zombro Dillon by George Roxbury, of Philadelphia, to the Hanover Shoe Stables, another charge of Herman Tyson's appears to be headed for fame and fortune. Ten thousand dollars was paid for the six year old gelding.

The big trotter campaigned this season under the brown silks of the Tyson stables, and has been credited with some sensational performances since the racing started. Last Wednesday at Hanover, Pa., Zombro Dillon breezed home in an exhibition mile in 2:08, shattering the track mark. As a four year old, he is credited with a mark of 2:04 made at Lexington, Kentucky.

"The fastest thing I've ever driven," said Mr. Tyson the other day when asked about his new star. "That goes for all of them, too, not even excepting little Harry J. S." Rarely does the Newark reinsman become enthusiastic in praise for one of his horses. Rather, he lets their

MOVE TO RELIEVE

SCHOOL CONGESTION

Overflow From Upper Grades In Grammar School to Have Additional Teacher and Room.

Plans for the immediate relief of severe congestion in the seventh and eighth grades of the grammar school here have been started by the Board of Education, according to word from J. H. Owens, secretary, yesterday.

The enrollment in the seventh grade makes it necessary to divide the group into three sections. A portion of the sixth grade is now housed in the portable building at the rear of the Armory. In order to relieve the situation, the Board has appointed Miss Mildred Ferguson an additional instructor in the seventh grade. A room formerly used for home economics on the third floor of the building is being fitted up and equipped to handle the overflow this year. The work is being done by J. C. Willis. A fire escape is being constructed for the safety of the students in the upper floor. With these improvements, it is expected that the crowding in the Grammar school will be remedied.

The Board also announces that the leaky roof on the old Primary School building is being repaired by Brinton Brothers, Wilmington contractors. This building will likely be held by the Board against almost certain increases in enrollment from year to year.

FOOTBALL MAKES DEBUT

Two Games Scheduled For Local Fans This Week

Newark followers of football gladiators restlessly await the opening of the 1925 season this week.

On Friday afternoon the High School eleven will tackle DuPont High in the first D. I. A. A. championship game. The two teams will engage on the new High School athletic field on Academy street. Game will be called after three o'clock.

Delaware opens the season with St. Joseph's Saturday afternoon on Frazer Field. No little interest is manifest in the strength of the Blue and Gold. A record opening day crowd is expected. The Freshmen will at this time be exhibited to the curious populace.

Bright Outlook Held By Officials Of Newark Mills

Fibre And Paper Industries Both Report Business "Picking Up" After Unusually Slow Summer; More Men Given Employment Here

LOOK FOR STEADY PROGRESS

An encouraging note has been injected into the community life here with the steady increase in business at the three large Newark mills. Through a survey undertaken this week by THE POST, it was revealed that all three are running 80 to 100 per cent capacity, with a healthy outlook ahead.

Scores of both skilled and unskilled workmen have been taken on for steady employment and to all events, the prolonged business depression noticed in Newark during the past summer has been shaken off. With the boom in fibre and paper circles, there is little or no unemployment.

Curtis and Brother, Inc., the pioneer plant in this community, reported through an official today that the mill is running five full days each week, at about 80 per cent of their capacity. Practically all of their old men, laid off during the slump the past few months, have been taken on again.

At the Continental Fibre Company, similar conditions are prevailing in the fibre business. Full time operation is the rule, and men have been taken on in nearly all departments. The newly completed warehouse, tub and fibre machine rooms have been occupied by the owners and additional floor space thus put at the disposal of the various departments.

Superintendent McClintock, of the National Vulcanized Fibre Company's plant, indicated this week that the fibre industry is due for a steady increase during the fall and winter. He reports his plant to be running about 90 per cent capacity. The "wet end" has been shut down from time to time for a day or two while the balance of the operating departments catch up with the influx of material. As in the neighboring plants, many more employees have been placed again on the payroll and some new men hired.

With the three mills running along close to full capacity, there is reflected throughout the community a feeling of general satisfaction. Banks, business firms and merchants alike anticipate, granting the industrial situation continues improving, a prosperous Fall and Winter.

MARYLAND OFFICIALS AFTER SIGN WRECKERS

Chairman Mackall of State Roads Commission To Prosecute Damagers of Property.

Chairman Mackall, of the Maryland State Roads Commission, has announced that he will vigorously prosecute any one found tampering with the newly erected warning signs placed by the commission throughout the various counties.

Signals of this type, he says, have been erected on State roads at a cost to the commission of $13,000. Notwithstanding that they have been of great service to motorists, quite a number of the signals have been destroyed and torn from their positions, while many others have been defaced. "The signals are so conspicuous and alluring to abnormal and child-like-minded persons," says he, "that the temptation to deface or destroy these guides have been too great. We have found that the signals are being used as targets to shoot at and to throw stones at; we have found that they have been hacked at with hammers.

"In one instance we found a signal that had been torn from its post by means of a wire cable attached to a motor truck. We propose to stop the malicious destruction of the signals. Motorists who have come to depend upon them for guidance are subjected to a serious danger in their absence."

Mr. Mackall said the signals cost $40 apiece. Erection of the signals along late Highways was completed in July.

Mencken's Drums Annoy This Critic

One can no more speak harshly of Mr. Mencken than of a lieutenant in the Salvation Army. It is quite certain that the editor of "The American Mercury" is on the Lord's side against the Philistines, that at heart he is a lover of truth and beauty, that he has courage and wit and brains. But one gets terribly tired of the drums and tambourines, of the Menckianian gospel hymns and the glib reiterated phrases; tired of the exhortations and denunciations and the endless marching round and round the same corner. Here and there, in this fourth series of his "Prejudices," he seems to be getting tired of it himself. His street preacher's voice grows hoarse. Or is it only changing, and is Mr. Mencken growing up? I am not sure that I want him to grow up, for I enjoy him just as he is, bright red Salvationist's ribbon and thumping tambourine and all.—Bliss Perry in Yale Review.

Kemblesville Man Succumbs In Car During Drive Home

Amos F. Wilson Victim Of Heart Trouble Saturday; Collapses On Son's Shoulder When Nearing Home; Funeral Yesterday

The Kemblesville community lost one of its valued citizens Saturday afternoon when Amos F. Wilson, aged 66 years, succumbed to an acute attack of heart trouble while riding in an automobile with his son Lawrence. Death came within a few minutes of his collapse.

Father and son were homeward bound after a visit with a daughter, Mrs. Elijah Reed, of Wilmington, when Lawrence felt his father lurch down in the seat beside him. Turning he saw that something was wrong. The older Wilson's head dropped on his son's shoulder. He was in a state of complete collapse. Hurrying to the home in Kemblesville, medical aid was summoned at once. It was found, however, that death had occurred during the short period between the collapse and the arrival at the Wilson house.

Deceased, a native of Cecil county, was a mason and stone work contractor, and had lived in Kemblesville for over twenty years. He was actively engaged in his trade up to the time of his death. For some months, it is reported, Mr. Wilson suffered occasional heart attacks, which left him in a weakened condition. He had been treated at various times. Recently he was forced to give up much of his activity, due to illness. He was a popular resident of Kemblesville and was widely known throughout the building trades in this section.

Funeral Held Yesterday

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon from his late residence and were largely attended. Rev. L. M. Mason, of St. John's M. E. Church, Lewisville, Pa., had charge of the services. Interment was made in the St. St. John's cemetery.

Mr. Wilson is survived by his widow, Mrs. Elizabeth Wilson, and seven children, Lewis Wilson, Mrs. Emma Cole, Mrs. Bessie Reed, Mrs. Edna Taylor, Mrs. Ella Rose, Harry Wilson and Lawrence Wilson.

Being a Nice Little Drama Suitable for Bed Time Story-Telling, or Maybe You Can Give It to the Ice Man

Scenario by J. SPIVUS All rights preserved

The scene is laid first in a pleasant living room on North Street, Elkton. The action begins abruptly and continues at a tempestuous pace for several minutes, then ends as suddenly as it began.

To be frank, the John Burkleys and the Ralph Robinsons were having a neighborly rubber of bridge. It is night. A particularly dark night, such as were common last week. Outside, the peace and quiet of the street was only disturbed by an occasional muffled snore. The citizens nearby were sleeping—all save the Burkleys and the Robinsons, their guests and the constable. But that's down a little farther.

From this point, the story brightens a bit and the action speeds up. According to reports, the Burkley phone jangled:

"Hello!"
"Jack, there's somebody snooping around your house. I can see him from over here. He's standing up looking in your downstairs window."

Section Two

Remember, it was four no trumps, doubled and set to simmer, when Mr. Burkley went to the phone. When he returned, the game was touch and go, as both gentlemen cleared the porch once and went into a skid around the corner of the house. Said a neighborly voice:

"He's beat it down towards the railroad, Jack."
"Thanks, who are you?"
"Constable Ott."

Chapter Sixty-one

Our heroes by this time have reached the North street railroad crossing, still in hot pursuit.

With every pounding step, they consume what little breath they have left to call down vengeance upon their quarry. On they dash, over the tracks.

Suddenly, so the report goes, a man stepped from the shadow of the watchman's box. In the man's hand the business had been attended to, delicious refreshments were served. The November meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Thomas B. Miller, Cherry Hill.

Mrs. Orville Ottey entertained at dinner an evening last week in honor of Mr. J. Elwood Zebley and his bride.

was a gun, and gun waved in cute little circles before the face of the first pursuer.

"Stop!"
The invitation was unanimously accepted by both Mr. Burkley and Mr. Robinson. When they had caught their breath, who do you think they saw, anyway?

Our informant says it was Mr. Sheriff Pierson. Now it might have been Jesse James or Gerald Chapman for all we know. Nevertheless, our heroes, having heard of Mr. Pierson some place, lost little time in explaining how really annoying it is to have someone gazing through the window and over your shoulder while four no trumps is being played. Mr. Pierson, it is said, accepted the apology and put his artillery to bed.

Thus runs the yarn, so reminiscent of that beautiful little story, "The Watchdogs of the Village." To those peaceful people of North street, our tale is not new. To the other 95 per cent of Elkton, it's not even recent. But it all goes to show, says our investigator, what really great work our guardians of the law are doing, day in and day out—watchful, ever watchful servants of the sleepy citizenry.

"Radebaugh Special" May Be Title Of New Tomato Seed Sponsored By Cecil Co. Agent

Says a recent Elkton dispatch to a Wilmington paper:

"Better tomatoes" is the primary object of a work now being done by the Extension Service of the University of Maryland in Cecil county.

A. D. Radebaugh, canning crops specialist, has been detailed to the task of improving the strain of tomatoes grown for canning purposes. He already has obtained this season more than 1,200 pounds of seed, and hopes before the close of canning, to increase this amount to 2,500 pounds. No state money was available for the work, so members of the Tri-State Canners Association agreed to furnish $3,000. Mr. Radebaugh has accepted orders for seed to be delivered to contributing members to the amount of $3,000.

This work was begun two years ago, and out of the crop of 1923 Mr. Radebaugh selected fifty pounds of seed, which was sold to canners for $300. From the demonstration bed of tomatoes planted that year he selected in 1924 sufficient seed to plant one hundred acres this year, and it is from this one hundred acres, scattered among four big growers of Cecil county, that he hopes to obtain a good part of next year's requirements.

The tomatoes from three plants are delivered to three factories and there personally inspected by him, the machinery washed, and the tomatoes pulped under sanitary conditions. The pulp is then placed in barrels and water is poured upon it. After settling for a day the pulp and skins of the tomatoes come to the top and the seeds go to the bottom. Then the seeds are removed to drying screens, and when the drying has been accomplished all foreign matter is removed by an air blast.

Two ounces of the cultured seeds are required to plant an acre of ground, so that the 2,500 pounds will seed 19,200 acres. Of ordinary commercial seed four ounces are used to the acre. The cost of the two varieties of seed runs from $3.50 to $4 a pound. The commercial seed runs 162,000 to the pound, while that prepared by Mr. Radebaugh averages 122,000. A result of using the improved seed is that the tomatoes average 85 pounds to the basket, while commercial seed produces 33½ pounds. Eight and one-half cans are produced from one basket of tomatoes with good seed, while six cans are produced by a basket from seed bought in stores.

It has been demonstrated that this selected seed produces fruit with heavy walls, insuring the canning of whole tomatoes, instead of the pulpy mass obtained from the commercial seed.

About twenty strains of tomatoes have been used in deciding the best seed. In a demonstration field on Bohemia river, these strains have all been tested and checked. Young plants from these seeds were started in a hot bed March 2. This was the day seeds were planted in the Georgia seed beds. The Cecil county plants were moved to the fields on May 2, several days before plants were received from the south. They began bearing ripe fruit early in July, fully a month ahead of the Southern seed.

T. B. Symons, director of the extension service, thinks the production of tomato seed one of the most important projects of this department, and that with the seed already obtained by his canning crop specialists, it will tend greatly to improve the quality of the tomatoes grown. No name has been selected for Mr. Radebaugh's seed, but it is reasonably sure that the appellation of Radebaugh Special will be adopted.

WHEN COLLEGE PAYS

Long, long ago the end of the college meant that many thousands of helpless and hopeful young people were being turned out upon a none too cordial world to hunt for "white collar jobs." College men were expected to become teachers, salesmen, professional men or denizens of offices, in various capacities. College women would of course try to be teachers or subordinate office workers. It was pessimistically predicted that they would not be much good in the home. So, bracing themselves for the onslaught, employers pleaded with the graduates to remember that they really could not engage a mere education. But this was long ago.

Today the graduates are more canny and less genteel. The truth that they will be obliged, not to conquer the world but to get a salary out of it—and preferable a large one—has been drilled in their ears so severely that they no longer care about the white collars. Teachers are scarce, ministers are scarce, country doctors are scarce. Some of the graduates want security and routine, some want excitement and fame, but all want money. Of course, it is well that the rush on white collar jobs has ended, in so far as that indicated snobbery or class feeling, but there are some who fear that the emphasis upon the practical worth of college training, the struggle for existence, and the advantages of making a lot of money as fast as possible has been too heavy. No bachelor of arts minds wearing overalls these days, provided that it pays in cash. He minds very much wearing an academic hood that will have no effect upon his bank account. As for the college women, far from scorning the home for a "career," they think themselves very fortunate if they are able to make a marriage which will take off their minds the dour necessity of earning a living.

We are a profoundly practical nation. We have had to be so, from our pioneer days. Perhaps that is the reason why, for years past, we have somewhat overdone this insistence upon the practical value of education. An education has no value at all unless it enables the person who has acquired it to live a happy and fruitful life. To live to make a living is a dreary matter. No graduate can compute what he "got out of college" in terms of salary, rent and bank deposits, blessed though the condition of financial security be. If he has enjoyed Theocritus and Cervantes; if he has been set free by knowledge to wander in the realms of the stars or in the marvelous universe of the atom; if like the hero of the popular play, "The Poor Nut," he has resolved to "give his life to the algae"—then college has paid. Perhaps he can't see it pay; he'll feel it.—From Sunday Star.

Canners Turning To Pumpkin As Work Eases

Late Apples Will Be On Market
Aplenty This Week; Grape Growers See Top Prices With No Crop

The pumpkin crop in Delaware this fall which to many farmers is only a side line and sort of pin money after the more important crops have been harvested is out as heavy on the average as last year. The production per acre will average, it is stated, about six instead of seven tons, but the price of $8 per ton is the same as last year. Canneries that have finished with tomatoes are preparing to start in with pumpkins and prepare the delicious pumpkin paste for the tables the coming winter.

The factory of the United Packing Company here has in the past experimented with the packing of pumpkin paste, but the record breaking tomato rush this season precludes, it is believed, any attempt to extend the activities further than necessary.

The canning of pumpkins is being gone into more thoroughly than ever. A housewife who wants a couple of pies can get enough out of one big can to supply her needs. She doesn't have to peel the pumpkin, cut it up and cook it before she is ready to make the piecrust. With the canned pumpkin all this labor is saved.

The dry weather of the past summer is blamed by the farmers for the falling off in the pumpkin crop. But with six or seven tons to the acre, the return for the small amount of labor given the raising of pumpkins, the general result will not be so small.

Growers of late apples are beginning to get ready to pick their best fruit and store it away. This fall there is less scab in apples than last year, due to the care taken in the spraying and the cool weather, but there is reported quite a bit of side worms in the fruit.

Apples started off this week at from $1 to $1.25 a bushel, which is a fair price but not as much as had been expected. Before the season is many months old those who are storing their fruit believe this price will be almost doubled.

The grape harvest in Delaware, because it was two to three weeks early this fall has not been the profit it was last year to the grower. During the height of the grape harvest the fruit brought from sixty to seventy cents a fifteen-pound basket.

Last week with to ninety cents and within a few weeks will reach probably $1.50. But Delaware grapes are done and it won't do the growers in Kent any good. Next year some of the growers will likely attempt to place their fruit in cold storage if the crop comes early again and see how they make out.

ENJOY LONG TRIP

Mrs. T. F. Manns In Group Of Western Tourists

Mrs. Thomas F. Manns has recently returned from a long motor trip throughout the West Coast, being the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Wells, of Duluth, Minn., her sister and brother-in-law. The trip to Duluth was made with Mrs. Ida Butties, by rail.

Starting from there late in July, Mrs. Manns accompanied her sister and family on a motor trip to Vancouver, B. C., on down the West Coast through Seattle, Portland and San Francisco, thence to Sacramento and through the deserts of Nevada and Utah to Salt Lake City and Denver, from which place the start home was made. A short trip through Yellowstone Park was also enjoyed.

Mrs. Manns is enthusiastic about West Coast cities, particularly Seattle and Vancouver. It was a most interesting trip. From Duluth the trip home was again made by rail.

FREE VERSE OF BIRDS

A clipping from the front page of "La France" believed to be a Paris daily, and containing an article by Dr. William Patterson, of the University faculty here, has been received by friends of Dr. Patterson in Newark.

"Free Verse Among the Birds," is the title of the piece. The following editor's note introduces Dr. Patterson:

Editor's Note
Monsieur W. M. Patterson, a distinguished American scholar, is the author of extremely interesting studies in phonetics. He is the originator of an ingenious process for registering the human voice.

In the course of his many experiments, he has been led to investigate the phonetics of birds; from hearing them sing, he has thrown light on more than one point long in controversy. We are happy to publish the following lines in which humor so agreeably rush hand in hand with the keenest observations.—(A. P.)

Year's Work In Agriculture In Schools Credit To Vocational Training Scheme, Reports Heim

That high school students of the state enrolled in the agricultural course are getting considerable practical experience under the direction of the agricultural vocational teachers, is shown in reports being received by Dr. R. W. Heim, professor of Agricultural Education at the University of Delaware and State Director of Vocational Education, from the agricultural instructors in the high schools. One recently received from C. R. Snyder, instructor at the Seaford schools shows that the instructor and the agricultural students under him took part during the past school year in many community activities. The report in part follows:

Made 185 project visits of high school boys; made 70 visits other than projects; had 135 requests for agricultural information; helped 14 farmers with poultry problems; helped 2 farmers with drainage problems; helped 5 farmers with rotation problems; helped 10 farmers with fertilizer problems; helped 4 farmers with lime problems; helped 18 people with spraying problems; helped 8 people with floricultural problems; helped to plan and arrange the programs for the new garden club organized by the women of the town; tested milk for four farmers; tested different seeds for 6 farmers; tested seed corn for 5 farmers; helped with the athletics in the school; organized and taught school band first place in corn judging, and Lawrence Meredith, of Greenwood, and Albert Condon, of Bridgeville, won third place in the same contest. The Delaware poultry judging team, Richard Poultny and Franklin Anderson, of Stanton, and the bread judging team, Sara Moore, of Dover, and Kathryn Vineyard, of Houston, failed to place in the awards, but gave a good account of themselves.

Sara Moore proved to be one of the most popular members in Camp Vail and brought especial honor to the Delaware party through her singing of the Four Leaf Clover Song, at the first assembly. During the week she was asked to repeat the song on six different occasions, the last time at the special request of Miss Nightingale, who came from England to study American methods of supervising club work.

This gathering of club boys and girls at the Eastern States Exposition is known as Camp Vail, in honor of the late Theodore N. Vail, and presents a wonderful opportunity for rural boys and girls to become acquainted with agricultural and home making problems of this section of the country. In the large exhibit hall provided for club work, each state had a booth illustrating some phase of club accomplishment. The Delaware booth was designed by A. D. Cobb, State Leader of County Agents, and erected by Mr. Cobb and Ed. Willim, Jr., County Club Agent of New Castle County. A log cabin, sixteen feet long and ten feet wide, was constructed entirely of Delaware corn stalks, and in this cabin the results of five years of Delaware corn club work was shown graphically by means of charts and stacks of corn. During the week the Delaware boys demonstrated methods of selecting, storing and testing seed corn.

As their part of the demonstration program the Delaware group gave demonstrations of bread baking, dress design, jelly making, sweet potato culture, poultry culling, and farm management.

State Leader A. D. Cobb was in charge of the Delaware party, and was assisted by Helen L. Comstock, County Club Agent of Kent County, and Ed. Willim, Jr., County Club Agent of New Castle County. In addition to his duties as leader of the Delaware group, Mr. Cobb has been Director of Judging in the club contests at the Eastern States Exposition for the past four years.

Delaware was also represented at the 4-H Leadership Training School held in connection with the Exposition. Mary Lockerman, of Greenwood, and Ralph Satterfield of Magnolia were selected as the Delaware members of this school. Both are former club members and are aiding other boys and girls of their home communities to organize clubs.

EARLY WINTER STARS APPEAR IN HEAVENS

Pegasus Takes Up Position That Means Frosty Nights.

Above the eastern horizon soon will appear brilliant stars of early winter. Pegasus takes up a position that means frosty nights. On October 7, says a bulletin of the American Astronomical Association, Jupiter will be in quadrature with the sun. That is, it will be ninety degrees east of the sun and on the meridian due south at sunset.

Mars is on the far side of its orbit from the earth. Its distance from the earth will decrease from 245,700,000 miles to 238,100,000 miles during October. The Big Dipper will be far over in the northwest during October. This noted group of stars never sets in the mid-latitudes of the northern hemisphere.

Venus As Evening Star

October star gazers will find that the constellation of Capricornus, The Sea Goat, and Aquarius, the Water-bearer, two constellations of the zodiac that contain no stars brighter than the third magnitude, have taken the place of the brilliant zodiacal group of Scorpio and Sagittarius that were conspicuous in the southern sky during the summer. Scorpio is far over in the southwest at sunset this month. Venus, which has been visible in the western sky after sunset since late in June, passes from Libra through Scorpio in October and will be seen as the evening star in the southwest for about two hours after sunset.

Saturn also will be seen for a short time after sunset a little to the northwest of Venus, but before October is over it will be too close to the sun to be seen in the twilight.

Jupiter Is Bright

Jupiter is still in the constellation of Sagittarius, directly north of the little inverted Milk Dipper, and it will be next to Venus the most brilliant object in view in the southwestern heavens in the early evening.

Cassiopeia lies directly opposite to the Big Dipper, with the north pole of the heavens about midway between the two groups, so when the Big Dipper is close to the northern horizon, Cassiopeia rides high in the heavens.

Cassiopeia lies about halfway between the curved lines of three second magnitude stars in Andromeda and the North Star. The star Alpha in Andromeda is the farthest west of these stars and in the northeastern corner of the Great Square in Pegasus. This Great Square, which is of enormous size, is one of the most distinctive configurations in the heavens and one that every star gazer should know.—Baltimore Sun.

KENT AND SUSSEX ENACT NEW DOG LAW

Registered Canines Become Personal Property; Owners Are Liable for Damages, However.

The Dog Law enacted at the last session of the Delaware Legislature became effective on June 1, 1925. This law provides that all dogs on Kent and Sussex counties must be licensed on or before September 1, for the year 1925, and annually thereafter during the months of January and February.

The Board of Game and Fish Commissioners, which is charged with the administration of the new law, employed a census taker in each Representative District, who made a census of all of the dogs found in his district and issued the licenses. The Board also collected the worthless dogs which were voluntarily surrendered by their owners and disposed of them in a humane way.

The statistics secured from the office of the Chief Warden disclose that 10,002 dogs were found in Sussex county and 8,836 dogs in Kent county, or a total of 18,838 dogs in the two counties. Of this number 988 were voluntarily surrendered and killed under the direction of the Board of Game and Fish Commissioners and it is estimated that an equally large number were disposed of by their owners.

Under the new law, registered dogs become personal property and the owner of any dog is liable for damages done by dogs to the live stock and poultry of another. Under this provision of the law, claims for damages done by dogs, amounting to $179 have been established and paid by the State Treasurer to the owners of the property destroyed.

A number of valuable dogs which had strayed from their owners' premises have been identified by means of the tag which each dog wears and restored to their owners.

Taxation In New York

In New York state the Grange is vigorously enunciating the taxation principle that from now on taxation should be based upon returns on farm property, as well as upon its assessed valuation, and many Pomona Granges are adopting resolutions in this direction. The Grange declares that if it is fair in cities to determine property values chiefly by income, the same principle should apply to farm property, though at the present time many farms are assessed far beyond what such a basis would warrant. This taxation proposition is meeting a strong appeal from the New York farmers, who find the Grange a valuable vehicle for voicing their convictions.

one of nine children. It was not until she was close to twenty years of age that her family emigrated to America. They landed in Quebec during the term of James K. Polk as president of the United States. A few months later, the family moved into the States and settled on a large farm along Lancaster Pike near Wilmington. From that day, Mrs. Robinson was a constant resident of Delaware.

On March 2nd, 1850, she was married to Joshua Robinson at Marcus Hook, Pa. The newlyweds moved to the farm now occupied by James Brown, near Newark, then later to the present Frank Jamison place near McClellandville. Over fifteen years ago, Mr. Robinson died and the widow moved to Newark, purchasing the little frame home in which she died. For over a decade she lived here with Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Vansant. Two distant cousins are believed to be living in the Middle West.

Loved by Many

While her life in Newark was not characterized by activity in church, social or civic affairs, Mrs. Robinson won for herself a host of warm friends. She was never too busy to hear their tales of troubles and joy alike. When sympathy was needed, she gave it gladly; when happiness came she shared their elation. Immediate neighbors loved the little old lady with the bright smile and cheery word.

Her one hobby was dogs, fox terriers in particular. She owned several during her life. She was a splendid woman, possessed a warm and friendly personality, kept faith with all her friends. Her passing marks the end of a useful life.

How Bridge Fares In the Middle West

Chicago claims an unusual record in a thirteen spade hand held by a woman bridge player. That tale pales into insignificance compared with the experience of four Lebanon, Mo., women. At a bridge party given by Mrs. F. R. Nelson, Mrs. Helen Abbot held thirteen spades, Mrs. Winan Mayfield thirteen hearts, Mrs. J. W. Owen thirteen clubs and Miss Lyde Bradshaw thirteen diamonds, from one deal. The cards had been shuffled, cut and dealt in the customary way. The game was not played. Mrs. Mayfield, excited by the unexpected array of thirteen hearts in her hand, threw down her cards. The others, equally astounded, laid down their hands.—Exchange.

"ROMEO" REFUSES TO LEAVE HIS BATHTUB

Visiting Alligator Hampers the Domestic Schedule in Milford Home.

"Romeo," who by the way is an alligator, has taken possession of the bathtub in the home of Dr. James Lofland, Milford, and refuses to quit the premises. The alligator was sent to Dr. Lofland from a friend in Florida.

The tub for him, thought the Milford physician, at least until a better place can be found. So into the basin, which was half-filled with water, went Romeo. Meanwhile, the doctor arranged another home for the 'gator, but when Romeo was asked to leave there was nothing doing. First, the kind-hearted doctor called him by name and then he attempted to lift him bodily from the tub. Whereupon Dr. Lofland learned that Romeo is deaf and that he has a very pliable set of jaws.

Anyhow, the Loflands are using the neighbor's tub until a new bathroom can be built or until Romeo can be induced to leave.

Weggenman Appointed Cadet Battalion Head

New Castle Boy Succeeds Fellow-Townsmen J. G. Lynch, As Student Commandant Here; Others Named

Edward Weggenman, of New Castle, a senior at the University, was late last week appointed cadet major of the R. O. T. C. battalion for the ensuing year. The appointment, along with those of other company officers, was announced by Major Arthur R. Underwood, professor of military science and tactics and head of the University's military organization. Weggenman succeeds former Major John G. Leach, also of New Castle, who was graduated last June.

Other appointments include Francis W. Barkley, captain-adjutant; J. Clyde Davis, Albert M. Hanson and Richard W. Torbert, company commanders; Lewis H. Kramer, cadet sergeant major, and Albert A. Simon and James E. Pryor color sergeants.

Major Underwood as well as the University officials it is understood are somewhat concerned relative to the future of the R. O. T. C. Congress has on one or two occasions cut appropriations for this work to an extent that it is handicapping the R. O. T. C., in different college and if reported threats of another cut by the next Congress should take place the R. O. T. C. at Delaware would be jeopardized or at least would have to be greatly restricted. University officials admit that the discipline taught in connection with the R. O. T. C. is a valuable asset to the students and would like to see the work broadened rather than restricted.

Major Underwood went to Washington recently in the interests of the band for the R. O. T. C. and it is understood was successful in getting the War Department interested to the extent that equipment will be provided for a band of 28 pieces.

Commissioned and non-commissioned officers of the band follow:

In Memoriam

In sad but loving remembrance of our darling baby, Elmer Luther Todd who was so suddenly taken from us early Tuesday morning, September 25, 1925.

In Federalburg cemetery softly sleeping,

Resting by the water fair,
He is waiting for my coming,
In the upper garden there.

Two years ago we laid you to rest
Across your breast;
In silence you suffered,
In patience you bore,
Until God called you home
To suffer no more.

Sadly missed by Mother and Father.

In Memoriam

Our darling baby and brother, Charles Lloyd:

Now our hope is sad and lonely,
How we miss his smiling face;
But he left us to remember
That no one can take his place.

Sadly missed by Mother, Father and Brothers.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank relatives and friends for kindness and sympathy, floral offerings and use of automobiles during our recent bereavement, illness and death of our darling baby, Charles.

Many Upsets Mark Championship Golf At Country Club

Clarence Hopkins Upsets Two Strong Favorites In First Rounds For Club Title; Dunn Loses To Armstrong 5 And 4; Second Flight Entries Battle

Grim golfers battled against each other Saturday in the first round for the 1925 club championship on the local links. While the going was good natured enough, the sociable side of the regular week-end twosomes was shoved a bit to the rear in the determination of every entrant to get into the second round of the tournament.

As a result, some mighty fine golf was displayed before dusk settled over the course. Moreover, upsets were frequent.

Take the match between Paul F. Pié, defending champion, and young Clarence Hopkins. Mr. Pié was looked upon as one of the favorites in the play. He struck a Tartar in Hopkins, however. The "big boy" played whirlwind golf all afternoon while Pié battled him hole for hole throughout the match. At the eighteenth green the match was all square. The first extra hole was halved, and still the pair refused to break. On the short second, however, Hopkins broke through to score a win and the match, one up.

Hopkins kept right in the next day and defeated Harry L. Bonham, another favored entrant, 4 and 3. He is now in the third round, squared off to play the winner of a match between J. P. Armstrong and C. O. Houghton.

How They Scored

Another surprise was the decisive defeat administered Frank Dunn by the veteran J. P. Armstrong. The Newark man won with little trouble, 5 and 4. H. L. Bonham's match with Frank Diver earlier in the week was a slam-bang affair, and was only settled at the last green when Mr. Bonham won the hole.

The scores for the first round follow:

C. H. Hopkins defeated Paul F. Pié, 1 up at the 20th hole.
H. L. Bonham won from F. W. Diver, 1 up.
C. O. Houghton defeated J. M. Terrell, 2 up.
J. P. Armstrong beat J. F. Dunn, 5 and 4.

F. C. Houghton won from C. J. Moore, 5 and 4.
Norris N. Wright beat William Bradford, 4 and 3.

C. T. Gardner won from L. J. Finnan, 3 and 2.
E. B. Wright defeated E. J. Menery, 4 and 3.

Second Sixteen
Survivors in the second flight, while no eligible for the championship, took part in some hard fought matches, as follows:

Dr. W. O. Sypherd beat C. B. Hawke, 4 and 3.
G. H. Ryden won from W. C. Wilson, 4 and 3.

I. W. Eby beat A. P. Clarke, 7 and 5.
E. W. Steedle won from C. A. McCue, 3 and 2.

E. B. Crooks defeated W. A. Wilkinson, 7 and 6.
Dr. Hullen won from H. G. Lawson, 6 and 5.

A. S. Eastman won from R. C. Seasholtz by default.
G. E. Dutton defeated S. J. Turner, 4 and 3.

On Sunday play was continued into the second round of the second sixteen when I. W. Eby beat Elroy Steedle 1 up in a close match.

Pairings for the next round in the championship flight are as follows:
C. O. Houghton vs J. P. Armstrong; F. C. Houghton vs Norris N. Wright; Ernest B. Wright vs C. T. Gardner.

County Seat Boys Surprise Weavers By Strong Attack

First Half Leaders Outplay Challengers For Title In Saturday's Game Before Big Crowd; Early Lead Helps Decide Issue

NEXT GAME AT ELK MILLS

Elkton effectually put a stop last Saturday to the extensive rumors that they have slipped badly when they put the well known skids under the Elk Mills "Weavers" in the first game of the Tri-County League championship series, score, 7-4.

A capacity crowd of fans from both towns and points throughout Cecil county witnessed the battle in Elk Mills ball park. From beginning to end, the first half champs held the Elk Mills team safe. While the three run margin of victory is not impressive, fans generally believed Elkton to be by far the better team last Saturday.

Ralph Robinson, former Newark star, essayed to hurl for the county seaters. So well did Robby perform that he was never in danger from solid hitting. Elkton presented their visitors with two runs in the third inning which tied the score. Robinson walked three men in that frame, and a wild throw did the rest. The only man who had the big pitcher's number was Gallagher, of Elk Mills, who completed a perfect day at the bat with four solid blows.

On the other glove, the Elkton offense was working smoothly all afternoon. Jumping off to a three run lead in the first inning, thanks to solid hitting, the Potts-Dunbar-Boyle combination, set sail to a flying start. They kept pecking away at McGovern all during the game, bunching hits for a score in the third, fifth and eighth innings. Elk Mills scoring came in the third and fourth. They were impotent thereafter.

Next Saturday the war will be re-physical condition of the men appears to be excellent.

HIGH SCHOOL MEETS NEW TEAM SATURDAY

DuPont High will play the role of "visiting firemen" on the High School field here Friday afternoon to assist Coach Nunn's young athletes in ushering in the D. I. A. A. football season.

This will be the first year DuPont has entered the strenuous sport among rural neighbors. They play soccer with great abandon and verve at the Kennett Pike institution. Confident of their ability to knock somebody or other to the windward they have organized football, learned some signals and will appear for the first time on any stage at Newark. Thus will the populace be given an unusual treat.

Coach Nunn is laboring hard with his football warriors out back of the High School every evening. While material for two fully equipped teams is not present, he manages to work up no end of excitement when he places a skeleton offensive team against a full line. His lineup for Friday's premiere is like any poor old tenant—very unsettled. This week has witnessed several minor casualties among his varsity group which may change the cast at the last minute.

George "Shorty" Chalmers is calling the signals this year, with great success. Incidentally he is tearing up the scrub line, scoring sideline placements with his forward passes and skirts the ends like a frightened deer. This young stars scales at close to 175 pounds on the hoof and will probably bear the brunt of the attack.

Friday's game will be played on the new athletic field at the rear of the High School. It will be the first test for Newark's strength and possible position in the D. I. A. A. race.

Norris N. Wright Scores Hole In One

For the first time in the history of golf in Newark, a Newark member of the local club has entered the mythical Hall of Fame.

Standing at the third tee on the second round of his match with William Bradford of Wilmington Saturday afternoon, Norris N. Wright, one of the club's consistently good golfers, addressed his ball. He whaled into it with his driver.

Three hundred yards away on the green Dr. E. B. Crooks and Prof. W. A. Wilkinson were holding out their putts. Suddenly a strange ball smacked the turf just off the green, skidded along the velvety carpet and dropped like a plummet into the cup.

In a few moments the news sped on wings around the course and into the clubhouse. While Messrs. Wright and Bradford played on through their match as if nothing had happened, the former's return to the locker room was the signal for congratulations from all sides.

No. 3 is a par four hole. Those who have played it will testify that a hole in one there constitutes a most remarkable feat. The short second hole here has been made in one by three golfers it was stated Monday by club officials.

College Eleven Meets St. Joseph's Saturday; High School Opens With Du Pont Warriors

Football, always a major sport among Newark fans, begins its season on two fields here this week.

On Saturday afternoon at Frazer Field, the Delaware eleven, under new management, will entertain St. Joseph's College of near Philadelphia in the opening game. Considerable interest attaches itself to this fracas, as the 1925 edition of the Blue and Gold is still an unknown quantity. Moreover, the spectators will have a look at the Forstburg-Myers system of coaching. Both mentors have been driving the squad hard for two weeks since the opening of college. Scrimmages have become the daily diet. Student opinion seems to be very optimistic concerning the strength of the Newark gridders and prospects for a mighty successful season are held out.

Kramer Out

Captain Lewis "Huck" Kramer, the young gentleman who tried his wrist against a balky Ford and failed some weeks before the University opened, will not get into Saturday's game, as the injured member has not healed sufficiently to warrant undue strain. His place on the line will likely be taken by Cathcart.

While no intimation has come from Coach Forstburg as to the lineup when the team trots out for battle Saturday, wisecracks on the sidelines this week have picked the following starters for Delaware:

Ends, Sweeney and Hanson; tackles, Torbert and Coppock; guards, Owens and Reybold; center, Lohman.

Quarterback, Rose or Cherpack; halfbacks, Wooten and Hubert; fullback, Weggenman.

Horace Patchell, star at Newark High last year, will likely see service in the backfield before the game is over, as he has been making a strong bid for a job during recent scrimmages. Others who will surely see part of the game from under a helmet are Creamer and Hill, quarterbacks; DiJoseph, halfback, and McKelvie, Loveland, Bonsall, Draper and Reardon.

Nearly sixty men have been prancing about during practice this week, and four full teams, a strange sight for students, have been on the run in signal drill. The squad has been reduced and a training table started. This no doubt will result in the fading of many hopefuls. Coaches Forstburg and Myers, however, are well pleased with the material and while the varsity will be green in spots, and a little light for a hammering season, the spirit is there and the

A Bargain In Quality Fine One-Profite Studebaker Coach —at a new low price

$1335 Delivered for Cash in Newark

Or, under Studebaker's fair and liberal Budget Payment Plan, this Coach may be purchased out of monthly income with an initial payment of only $440 Down

Here is a truly fine coach—built throughout from quality materials and careful workmanship. Fine northern white ash and hard maple are used in body construction. We pay a premium to obtain the toughest grades of steel. The upholstery is a durable woolen fabric—the windshield and windows are real plate glass. Extra equipment includes a gasoline gauge, clock, stop light, etc.

Today you can buy the same fine car without a single change in equipment or construction—at this new low price which only further emphasizes the Studebaker policy of offering you a "bargain in quality."

According to the rating of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce this Standard Six Coach is the most powerful car of its size and weight. Full-size balloon tires and an especially designed steering mechanism add to its riding and driving ease. A completely machined crankshaft gives perfect engine balance and reduces vibration to a minimum.

Yet this Standard Six Coach sells for no more than competing cars—its low price is made possible by the Studebaker policy of one-profit manufacture.

There are only two cars manufactured on this one-profit basis. Studebaker in the fine car field, and the Ford in the low priced field. Only in these two cases does one company in its own plants make all bodies, all engines, all clutches, steering gears, differentials, springs, gear sets, gray iron castings and drop forgings.

This one-profit policy not only eliminates the extra profits of outside parts and body makers—but it also makes possible unit-built construction. All parts for Studebaker cars are designed, engineered and built as a unit. And being built as a unit they function as a unit—which results in years longer life, scores of thousands of miles of excess transportation, greater riding comfort, lower repair costs and much higher resale value.

But the only way to judge this Standard Six Coach is to see it—to actually sit behind the wheel and drive it through the thick of traffic, over the steepest hills and rough country roads. Then, and only then, can you completely appreciate its amazing power, its velvet smoothness and wonderful riding qualities.

Resolutions Adopted At Regular Meeting Yesterday Of New Castle Co. Bar Association; Several Speakers Life Long Friends Of Deceased

The memory of the late Judge George Gray, one of Delaware's foremost citizens and an international figure in statesmanship was honored at the regular meeting of the New Castle County Bar Association held in the Court House, Wilmington, yesterday afternoon.

Practically every member of the Bar Association was present to pay homage to the distinguished jurist. In addition to numerous friends and associates of Judge Gray during his lifetime were present, including Chief Justice Pennell, Judge Victor D. Woolley, U. S. District Judge Hugh M. Morris, Resident Judge Herbert L. Rice, Judges Richard S. Rodney and Charles S. Richards and many other members of the Bar.

Judge Grubb Presides

Speeches in eulogy of Judge Gray, dwelling largely upon impressions from personal contact with him, as a man, as a lawyer and as a statesman, were made by a number of members of the association, who had known Judge Gray intimately during his long career in professional and public life.

Former Judge Ignatius C. Grubb, a life-long friend of Judge Gray and senior member of the Association, presided at the meeting. Following the appointment of the resolutions committee and the retirement to draft the document, Judge Grubb called on several speakers, among them, former Chancellor Nicholson, Robert H. Richards, Judge Victor B. Woolley and Herbert H. Ward, Sr.

The resolutions, in part, follow: "Whereas, George Gray during his manhood, has been a notable figure in his State, the nation and the world, and has left the impress of his character and personality upon the history and people of his generation. The roll of his public activities and services, in and by which he was honored and upon which he conferred distinction, fairly reflect the qualities of his mind and heart.

"And whereas his social relations with the members of the bar and the community in which he lived, the modesty with which he bore his honors, his untiring helpfulness to his fellow men, his forgiving disposition, the gentleness as well as justice of his judgments and estimates of the acts and characters of others, the courage with which he followed his convictions, the purity of his private and public life, and all the qualities which are tributary to the character of a gentleman, have left abiding memories with all who knew him;

"Therefore, be it resolved by the Bar of New Castle county:

"That by the death of George Gray, the Bar of the State of Delaware has lost a most esteemed, able and honored member and the community in which he lived has lost a most valuable and beloved citizen;

"That committees of this Bar be appointed to present these resolutions to the Supreme Court, the Court of Chancery, and the Superior Court of the State of Delaware, and to the Federal Court for the District of Delaware.

"That a copy of these resolutions be sent by the secretary of this meeting to the family of our deceased member.

NEW CENTURY CLUB
RESUMES ACTIVITY

First Meeting Scheduled for October Fifth In Club House Here.

After the long summer vacation and separation, the Newark New Century Club has happily planned to begin its fall work with a reception and tea.

There will be music also and an interesting travalog, for some four members have wandered far during the summer. They will tell of the distant lands visited and of their unusual experiences.

This pleasant opening meeting should stimulate every member of the club to pledge hearty co-operation with the President. Stimulate every member to think of the club as her club and hence determine that it shall accomplish worth while things.

Plan to attend this opening meeting at which the programs for the year will be distributed.

The time to be at the Club House is promptly at 2:30 Monday afternoon, October 5.

—Secretary.

How The Others See It

Young Bob's Only Danger
(From the Wichita Eagle)

Young Bob La Follette has made a magnificent start. But he has the election yet to win. However, he has nothing to fear except the awful possibility that the Republican National Committee might stop fighting him.

All reports from Minnesota indicate a steady comeback of the Grange in that state, with increasing interest in many sections and the likelihood of many new subordinates being organized the coming season. A revival of Grange activity in Kentucky is also in evidence.

A MARK OF CONFIDENCE

The recent issue of 500 shares of capital stock in this institution has been more than twice oversubscribed.

Once more, the community has given us its seal of confidence. Such overwhelming approval of the bank's program for the broadening of its service need not be further commented upon.

In return, this institution desires to express sincere appreciation of that response and to again pledge the service of its board and personnel to friends and patrons throughout the community.
