DEATH TAKES HEAVY TOLL IN THE COMMUNITY ON EVE OF HOLIDAYS

Five People, Including Mother and Young Daughter, All Well Known in Newark, Stricken Down by Grim Reaper—Former Resident Buried Monday

MRS. CHARLES DUNLEVY'S SUDDEN DEATH A SHOCK

Newark was visited by the heavy hand of Death on the eve of one of the greatest holiday seasons in her history. No less than six homes in the vicinity were saddened on the eve of Christmas as loved ones were taken to their last haven of rest. Pneumonia in most cases was the cause of the deaths.

Two particularly sad cases were those of Mrs. Edgar Jaquette and her little eight year old daughter, Margaret. Here was shown an example of a mother literally giving her life for her child, for shortly after the death of the bright little girl, Mrs. Jaquette was stricken down with pneumonia and failed to rally. Both mother and daughter were widely known and very popular in and around Newark and the sympathy of the whole community goes out to the saddened father and the two little ones remaining.

The death of Mrs. Charles Dunlevy, one of Newark's most prominent women, was also a distinct shock. Mrs. Dunlevy had been seriously ill but a week, and none believed that the illness would terminate in her death.

Six deaths in which the entire community joins in mourning just at the Christmastide, has not been the case here in many years.

Mrs. Charles Dunlevy

Mrs. Charles Dunlevy, wife of the well-known Newark dentist, and herself enjoying a host of friends in the community, passed away at her home here Monday morning after an illness of about one week. Death was caused by uremic poisoning.

Dr. and Mrs. Dunlevy and family moved to Newark from Philadelphia about ten years ago, and immediately upon their arrival, took an active interest in church, civic and social activities of the community. Mrs. Dunlevy has been since her arrival in Newark an active member of the Presbyterian Church and interested in all its phases of work. Her illness was not believed to be serious when first noticed, but she gradually grew worse in spite of expert medical care.

The funeral will be held privately from her late residence on Main Street tonight at eight o'clock. Interment will be made tomorrow in Woodlawn Cemetery, Philadelphia.

The deceased is survived by her husband and two children, Mrs. Richard Coeh, of Newark, and Mr. Frank Dunlevy.

Mrs. Edgar Jaquette

Miss Margaret Jaquette

Two of the saddest deaths which have come to the community in recent years occurred last week, when both Mrs. Edgar Jaquette and her little daughter, Margaret, were called by the Grim Reaper.

A sufferer from scarlet fever for about two weeks, the little girl grew steadily worse early last week, and despite faithful and continuous nursing and care by her mother, passed away on Wednesday last. The little one was a bright, cheery youngster, and attended the local schools, where she will be sadly missed by pupils and teachers alike. The Jaquettes and their little family live on a farm between Christiana and New Castle. The funeral was held privately from her home the following day.

But a few hours after the death of her child, Mrs. Jaquette was stricken down with the same malady. Her constitution had been seriously undermined by her almost unceasing vigil at the bedside of the little one, and thus was made an easy target for the disease. To further complicate her condition, she suffered an attack of pneumonia in addition to the fever. She was rushed to the Hospital for Contagious Diseases in Wilmington on Thursday, but she failed to improve under treatment there and passed away with her husband at the bedside on Saturday. She was 31 years old.

The mother's funeral was held the next day from the home already saddened by the passing of the daughter. The news of the two deaths in quick succession cast a gloom over Newark and the community were the family was so well known. Interments in both cases were made at White Clay Creek Church.

According to reports, Mrs. Jaquette had been to market and on her arrival home found the little girl down with scarlet fever. The disease had reached an advanced stage. Death came in twenty-four hours.

The husband and two little ones, both under five years of age, mourn the loss of a devoted mother, and the sympathy of the community has long since gone out to the stricken family.

James O. Koelig

James O. Koelig, aged seventy-eight years, died on Wednesday last at the home of his son, Oliver, on the Eastburn farm north of Newark. The elder Koelig was long a resident of this section of the State and was well known by the older people. He had made his home with his son for the past several years. He was also well known over in Cecil County, Maryland, having once lived in that vicinity. He had been ill for some time.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon last from his late residence and another service later at Cherry Hill, Md. Interment was made in the Cherry Hill M. E. Cemetery.

Frances M. Frampton

Pneumonia called another victim from the community last week when Frances M. Frampton, aged seventy-three years, died at the home of her son, Murphy, on Cleveland Avenue, Newark. Funeral services were held Monday from her late residence with interment in Harmony Church cemetery in Maryland.

Mrs. Mary Haken

Three years, a resident of Philadelphia, died at her home in that city one day last week. She was the mother-in-law of John Tawressy of near Newark. Mr. Tawressy is well known in the community, and many remember the elderly lady, now deceased.

The body arrived in Newark Monday, accompanied by a number of relatives. Interment was made privately in London Tract Church cemetery, with members of the immediate family in attendance.

LOCAL POST OFFICE BREAKS RECORD

Rural Carriers Make Deliveries Christmas Day Although Granted Holiday

Postmaster Bowen announced Christmas morning that all the mail was sorted and delivered. The amount passing through the local office this year was perhaps the largest in the town's history.

Aside from this the Rural Carriers made their routes yesterday, the same as usual. Although granted a holiday by the Federal Department, our local men carried the Greetings, Gifts and Mail.

This, in view of the congestion of the local office equipment, is a record worthy of comment and compliment.

Kilmon Denies Charges

Ira Kilmon was a Newark visitor today and took occasion to deny the statement made in The Post a few weeks ago concerning the failure of his restaurant in Wilmington. Ira stated that his brother was the one who left Wilmington, after planning to take over the business from Ira. The younger Kilmon ran the restaurant for several days in Ira's absence and then left, and when the latter returned he found that creditors had pounced on the establishment. Ira further stated that he had paid all but one creditor, the landlord, who has demanded a three months' advance payment of the lease. The former Newark restaurateur deplors the situation into which he was forced and this correction is made in his favor.

Off To Florida

Dr. W. Owen Sypherd left Saturday last for Florida where he will spend the Christmas holidays. He will spend the vacation near Miami.

LAY PLANS FOR FOUNDING NEWARK FINE ARTS SOCIETY AT MEETING LAST WEEK

A meeting to which about 500 people of this community were invited was held in the Century Club last Wednesday evening for the purpose of discussing the advisability of founding the Newark Society of Music and Fine Arts. Dr. Walter Hullen presided at the meeting and was assisted by Prof. George H. Ryden.

The proposed organization will be formed, constitution adopted, officers elected and committees appointed at another meeting to be held in the club house on January 8th.

The Society's aim, as was brought out at the meeting last week, will not be to present plays or musicals by local people but will sponsor the bringing of outside talent to Newark and to promote in a general way throughout the community, a larger interest in Music and Arts in Home and School.

THINK INCENDIARY STARTED GARAGE FIRE

Truck Standing in Rear of Fader Motor Co. Consumed Sunday Morning

A fire, which many people believe to have been started by an incendiary, destroyed a small truck standing in the yard to the rear of the Fader Motor Co. on West Main Street, about 12.30 Sunday morning last.

The blaze was discovered by Harvey Johnson, driver for the Stiltz Bus Line. Johnson was taking some late fares home from the Pennsylvania station and upon his return trip down Main Street noticed the blaze. He immediately called Chief E. C. Wilson, and the latter turned in an alarm. The Aetna engine was soon on the scene and confined the fire to the truck. No property damage was reported.

The fact that a steady rain had been falling for several hours previous to the blaze and that the truck standing in the open was thoroughly soaked, gave rise to the suspicion that a firebug had started the blaze.

One of the fire ladders, in rushing to the blaze from the West End of town crashed through the safety gates at the Main Street crossing of the B. and O. Railroad, adding more excitement to the occasion. It is claimed that the crossing watchman had the gates down prematurely and that no train was in evidence. At any rate, the fireman got to the fire, all obstructions to the contrary notwithstanding.

STORES DO WELL

A survey of the local stores after the Christmas rush shows that business held up well in comparison to past years. The first part of the holiday season, into which warm unseasonable weather entered was not as busy as usual, but on the last three days before Christmas, business was going at high speed.

Had there been a snowfall before Christmas, all records would have been broken, according to one storekeeper. However, the local business men, with a possible few exceptions, were unanimous in saying that they had a big Christmas season.

WEDDINGS

Todd—Trice

Miss Nellie M. Todd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Todd, of Newark, and Mr. Leonard C. Trice, son of the late William Trice, also of Newark, were married by Rev. Frank Herson at the Methodist Episcopal Parsonage here on Saturday evening last at 6.45 o'clock. The couple will make their home in Newark, where the groom is a fibre maker in the employ of the National Vulcanized Fibre Company.

The attendants at the ceremony Saturday evening were Miss Sadie Butler and Mr. Charles L. Johnson, both of Newark.

Keith—McMullen

A quiet wedding was solemnized by Rev. Frank Herson in the M. E. parsonage here on Christmas morning at 10.30 o'clock, when Miss Norah M. Keith, daughter of Mrs. Annie Keith of Newark, became the bride of Mr. Harry J. McMullen, of Oxford, Pa., son of Robert McMullen of that town.

The attendants at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wesley Keith, of Newark.

WATCH NIGHT SERVICE

The Methodist Church will hold Watch Night services in the main Church room on Monday evening next, beginning at nine o'clock. The early part of the service will be held in the lecture room, where a social hour, followed by refreshments will be enjoyed. Musical selections will also be given. As the hour of midnight approaches, the gathering will move upstairs into the church proper. Rev. Herson will conduct the service.

POST OFFICE IS CLOSED

Postmaster Davis has received a communication from the Postmaster General at Washington notifying him that on the last day of this month, the post office at Bear Station will be discontinued, and that beginning on the first of the year the village and the surrounding territory will be served by a rural free delivery route from Castle.

The Postmaster at Red Lion, Del., has also received a similar notification.

COMMUNITY JOINS IN MAKING CHRISTMAS FESTIVITIES HERE BIGGEST IN YEARS

Churches and Homes Central Figures in Town's Holiday Activities—Visitors From Many Parts of the Country Spend Day Here

COMMUNITY SINGING AT TREE MONDAY NIGHT

That Newark and the immediate community enjoyed a right royal Christmastide this year is not doubted in the least. In fact, all signs pointed to the biggest holiday season in recent years.

While business men reported a slight let-down in buying during the early part of last week, due in a great measure to the unseasonable weather, trade again picked up and on Saturday the stores were jammed with last-minute shoppers.

The post office had the biggest Christmas in its history. Local carriers Morgan and Lewis on Monday were human packhorses, under their heavy loads of mail. They worked long and faithful to get the precious packages and letters to the patrons on time.

While most everyone connected with the two Colleges was away, the great majority of the town's population sat down to big Christmas dinners. The last minute drop in turkey prices made that dignified bird a common dish this year. Wild duck, guinea, plain duck and chicken were also favorite holiday meats.

Christmas Tree Sing

In the glow of the thirty-foot cedar, brilliantly lighted by E. C. Wilson and his committee of electricians and placed well out on the spacious lawn of the Academy, Christmas carols were sung on Monday evening, starting at seven o'clock.

A few minutes before starting time, the Continental Band and the Minnehaha Band started out at opposite ends of Main Street and serenaded the townspeople. The bands later centered about the Academy lawn and assisted with the singing.

The opening prayer of the Community celebration was delivered by the Rev. H. Everett Hallman, pastor of the Presbyterian Church. Then followed "Holy Night," the wonderful old anthem, led by William P. White, of Wilmington, and sung by the entire assemblage. Rev. R. B. Mathews, rector of St. Thomas' P. E. Church, read a portion from the Scripture, and after more singing by the audience, the services closed with a benediction by the Rev. Frank Herson, pastor of the M. E. Church. About five hundred people attended the community sing. Due to the cold, damp ground, some discomfort was suffered by the people, and this reflected in the singing which was not of the high order of former years. The true Christmas spirit prevailed, however, and everyone felt better after having attended.

Churches Active

The churches of the town where centered most of the holiday celebrations were all attractively decorated and at every service over the weekend and on Christmas eve and morning, the congregations were large. All the churches prepared for the great religious holiday, with children and grown-ups having equal parts in the festivities. In order to give a more full description of the affairs in the Newark churches, the following individual accounts are published:

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Special Christmas music and a splendid sermon by the pastor, Rev. H. Everett Hallman, featured the Sunday morning service at the Presbyterian Church this week.

Miss Nell B. Wilson, choir leader, had a large group of singers in the choir and three anthems were sung. Solo parts were taken by Miss Anne Ritz and Guy E. Hancock.

During the service Rev. Hallman was presented with a gift by the Trustees and congregation. George L. Medill made the presentation speech. Miss Wilson was also presented with a gift by the people of the church, in recognition of her untiring and faithful work with the choir.

Taking his text from the age-old story of the birth of Christ, the pastor delivered a strong sermon. He brought out with telling effect the growth of the Christmas spirit, and how the world over the nations are observing the greatest Christian holiday. That it has entered into business and commerce was illustrated by the pastor by an anecdote describing the singing of Christmas carols in a great department store and how hundreds stood in the rush of business and caught the spirit and holiness of this great holiday.

The church was well filled, considering the most unfavorable weather conditions.

The evening service was also well attended, the pastor occupying the pulpit.

METHODIST CHURCH

The holiday festivities at the Methodist Church here really began on Saturday evening last, when the annual Sunday School entertainment was given by the children. "From Many Lands" was the title of the pageant, and the beautiful costumes, attractive scenery and clever performance by the children quite won the hearts of the big audience.

At the same it was announced that a fund of about $330 was raised for general purposes and another sum of $54.00 was raised for the relief of Japanese earthquake sufferers. In addition to these splendid amounts, (Continued on Page 5.)

GENERAL EXCITEMENT REIGNS AS THREE CARS COLLIDE ON ELKTON ROAD SATURDAY NIGHT

A Chevrolet touring car bearing a New York license, and driven by a man said to be on his way to his home in Virginia, rammed a telephone pole a few hundred yards south of Marlow's filling station Saturday night last. The pole was splintered at the base and the car suffered a badly damaged front wheel and axle. The driver was not hurt.

A small truck belonging to McCool and Sentman of Elkton was despatched to the scene of the accident shortly before midnight, and started to attach a rope to tow the battered car in.

About that time a Ford touring car driven by a Mr. Ford of Elk Mills, loaded up in the dense fog and crashed into the rear of the truck. Ford alighted and entered into an argument with McCool as to the blame for the collision. While they were standing by their cars, a Newark car came along and rammed the back of the Elk Mills machine, completing one of the most unusual jams ever witnessed along the Elkton-Newark road.

A dense fog which hung close to the ground all Saturday night was responsible for the mishaps. Reports have it that Ford had passed the truck as the latter was getting ready for the tow, and that he turned about and came back to see what it was all about.

The spectacle of four cars hung together in collision, with three drivers in the middle of the road engaged in a heated discussion was according to reports a most humorous situation. Matters were finally straightened out and the truck towed the New York car into Elkton, where it was placed in a garage for repairs. The driver of the car took the 11.40 train Sunday from Elkton, bound for Virginia.

This was the only serious accident reported along the road that evening, although there were several narrow escapes. Glaring headlights in the heavy fog made driving hazardous to an extreme.

One carload of young men speeding along and evidently well supplied with "Christmas cheer" were waylaid by a Maryland State policeman near Meredith's corner early the same evening and taken to Elkton to a magistrate.

INCOME TAX FILING PERIOD JAN. 1 - MAR. 15

Some Forms Revised and Explained

Assured by the Bureau of Internal Revenue of prompt service in furnishing the necessary forms, taxpayers need experience no delay in the filing of their income tax returns for the year 1923. The filing period is from January 1 to March 15, 1924. On January 2—the 1st being a holiday—form for filing individual, corporation, partnership, personal-service corporation, information, fiduciary, and other returns required by the revenue act will be available at the office of Collector of Internal Revenue, John W. Hering, Post Office Building, Wilmington, Delaware. After January 2, a copy of the form desired may be obtained on written request.

Form 1040A, heretofore used for filing returns of individual net income of $5,000 and less, from whatever source derived, has been revised and simplified in the interests of the largest class of taxpayers, salaried persons and wage earners. The new form will be used for reporting net income for the year 1923 of $5,000 and less derived chiefly from salaries and wages. Reducing to a minimum the problem of correctly making out an income tax return, Form 1040A consists of a single sheet in which space is provided for answers to only three questions in relation to income, salaries, wages, commissions, etc., interest on bank deposits, notes, mortgages, and corporation bonds, and "other income." On the reverse side are instructions. Formerly Form 1040A has consisted of six pages, the questions pertaining not only to salaries and wages, but to income from business, professions, sales of real estate, and other sources. It is estimated that for the year 1923 more than 4,000,000 persons, or 70 per cent of those who annually are required to file income tax returns, will use the new form. Persons, any part of whose income for the year 1923 was derived from business or profession, farming, sale of property or rents, regardless of the amount, will be required to use the larger form, 1040. The use of Form 1040 will be required, also, in cases where the net income was in excess of $5,000, whether from salary, business, profession, or other taxable sources. Formerly Form 1040 was used only for reporting individual net income of more than $5,000.

Forms for filing individual returns of income will be sent to persons who filed similar returns for the year 1923. It being impossible to determine this year the form desired by the taxpayer—whether he or she be a person whose income was derived chiefly from salary or wages or from

WELSH TRACT SCHOOL P. T. A. MEETING

Big Program Given at Regular Monthly Session

The monthly meeting of the Welsh Tract Parent-Teacher Association was held at the school on Friday evening, December 21.

The meeting was opened with singing by the audience, "The Christmas Carol." The school kitchen, which was built by members of the association during the Thanksgiving holiday, was open to inspection. It was voted to appropriate money to paint the new addition, also to buy a mat to be used in the vestibule.

Readings on the subject for the month, "The School as a Community Center," were given by members of the association.

After the business meeting the evening was given over to the annual Christmas entertainment by the pupils of the school under the direction of their teacher, Miss Carpenter.

The school was prettily decorated with wreaths, red and green festoons, while a beautifully trimmed pine tree stood in one corner of the room. A large audience of parents and friends of the children witnessed the entertainment.

The following program was given: "Address of Welcome," Helen McCarns; recitation, "Christmas in Sweden," Louisa Whitten; recitation, "Jest For Christmas," William Coverdale; exercise, "Who Can Guess?"; recitation, "A Dear Old Man," Catherine Jarmon; recitation, "A Christmas Story," Margaret Wright; recitation, "Tomorrow is Christmas Morning," Bessie Coleman; recitation, "Christmas Is Coming," La Costa Hickey; song, "Bells of Christmas," Chorus of Girls; recitation, "A Present for Mamma," Paul Milliken; play by class of girls; recitation, "Christmas Bells," Charlotte Johnson; recitation, "Ready to Quit," Oscar Lane; recitation, "A Boy's Trials," Harvey Davis; solo, Vera Connor; dialogue, "What Santa Brought"; recitation, "Christmas Morn," Gladys Whitten; recitation, "The Day We Love," Clifton Lane; recitation, "The Sandman's Visit," Thomas Reed; recitation, "A Little Girl," Olive Whitten; recitation, "Earl Downs; recitation, "When Christmas Comes Late," Franklin Jarmon; recitation, "When Santa Claus Comes," Jane Reed; recitation, "Early Christmas Morning," Claire Morris; recitation, "Little Jack Horner," William Lane; play, "The Strike in Santa Claus Land."

Following the program, Santa Claus presented each pupil of the school with a box of candy. Refreshments were served, and a social hour enjoyed.

Summit Bridge P. T. Association held a meeting Wednesday evening, December 19th. The meeting was a very successful and interesting one. A pleasing program was presented by the pupils after which Santa made a visit.

The teacher, Alice W. Hutton, was presented with fifteen dollars as a Christmas gift from the parents and friends of the P. T. Association.

Season's Greetings

Good health, good-will, good-fellowship and good-fortune

THOSE are four of the many blessings which we hope will be lavished by Divine Providence upon the people of Delaware in the New Year upon the joyful Yuletide threshold of which they now stand!

And surely we could wish them no more, because those blessings are all-embracing. They form the very foundation of a happy and well-ordered human life!

To our personal and business friends our Greetings and good wishes go out with that special fervor which always marks those things when coupled with an intimacy of association that has existed for years.

This Season's observance makes its call today upon all peoples. It has assumed a broad, humanizing, happiness-giving nature which has thrown that observance wide open to men, women and children of all races, creeds and nationalities; and it is in that spirit that it should be met and embraced, as one of the most joyous festivals in the world's festival calendar!

CECIL COUNTY NEWS

The Appleton Grange will hold a special meeting at Grange Hall on Monday evening next. At that time, officers will be elected for the coming year and other important business will be transacted.

The Ku Klux Klan of Charlestown, Md., was publicly thanked by the pastor and congregation of the M. E. Church there for their large donation which was used for the purchase of a new heater in the building.

Over 75 scholars took part in the Christmas pageant given by the Elkton M. E. Sunday School last Sunday evening. The pageant was entitled "From Many Lands," and was very well rendered.

The suit of Richard Merriken, brought by his father, Manning Merriken, against the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company for damages resulting from an accident when a car in which young Merriken was riding struck a guy pole of the company in Caroline County last July, was tried before a Circuit Court jury in Elkton last week. The jury rendered a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $8000 on Thursday. An imposing array of legal talent was present at the trial, including Hon. T. Allan Goldsborough, former Governor of Maryland. Young Merriken stated that he had received a fractured skull in the accident, and blamed on the fact that the pole was in the right of way.

The annual turkey dinner of the Rising Sun Detective Association will be held on January 5th next in the Public Hall of that town.

Mrs. William A. Lang is recovering nicely from a fractured arm received in a fall in her home in Elkton.

The creditors of the defunct Second National Bank of Elkton received Christmas checks from Receiver Perkins. These checks represented the third dividend of ten per cent of their claims.

CHRISTMAS SALE
A SUCCESS

Elkton Women Realize Neat Sums At Annual Exchange

The Christmas sale held for two weeks prior to Christmas in Miss Lewis's store on Main Street, Elkton, was considered a great success this year. The ladies of the town made various articles and sold them there, receiving 90 per cent of the sale price. Many welcome Christmas sale checks were mailed to the contributors late last week.

ELKTON THEATRE SOLD

To Be Controlled by McCauley and Clayton

A real estate deal of considerable importance was consummated in Elkton last week when the old Opera House building was sold by Mrs. Richard Reese and Miss Roberta Tull to Messrs. Robert J. McCauley and Joshua Clayton, Esq., of Elkton. For many years this theatre was the only movie house in Cecil County. In addition to the theatre the building contains many law and other offices, the leases of which do not expire for several years.

Glee Club Concert

In Elkton January 2

The University of Maryland Glee Club will give a concert in the Community Playhouse in Elkton on the evening of January 2nd. The college boys have built up a splendid organization and have given several concerts during this season. They are planning a tour of the Eastern Shore, stopping at various towns.

The concert in Elkton was arranged by the Willing Workers of the M. E. Church and the entertainment will be for the benefit of the church. Tickets are on sale, and the general opinion is that the spacious theatre will be crowded on Wednesday night.

THRILLING SCENES IN COMING PHOTOPLAY

A film version of one of the most exciting sea stories of recent years is Metro's production, "All the Brothers Were Valiant," based on the story of the same name by Ben Ames Williams. In its screen form it comes to the Hanark Theatre for a run of two days, January 3rd and 4th.

Those who have read Mr. Williams' powerful whaling story cannot but remember it is an unusually vivid and thrilling tale. It has all the elements which go to make a thoroughly entertaining photoplay; and with the careful production which Metro has given it, it should be one of the season's biggest pictures.

Irvin V. Willat, noted director of sea stories, has been in charge of translating this splendid story to the screen. Mr. Willat's work in this type of story has brought him widespread recognition; and he has made a picture from the story and cast at his command which should add considerably to his directorial prestige.

Mr. Williams' story is one of heroism. There is a thrilling whale hunt, shown with remarkable fidelity; a bitter battle aboard ship, with two brothers temporarily on opposing sides; a search for pearls under adventurous circumstances; as well as many other episodes which should keep any audience constantly thrilled.

In the cast are several players whose abilities should make the leading characterizations especially vivid. Lon Chaney is seen in the role of Mark Shore, a scheming, crafty seaman, whose sudden disappearance from his ship is for a long time an unsolved mystery; Joel Shore is his brother, captain of the schooner which Mark himself once commanded. As played by Malcolm McGregor, this part is acted with genuine skill and power. The delightful actress, Billie Dove, is the only feminine player of any importance in the cast. She appears as Priscilla, the wife of Joel, and she takes part in the adventurous proceedings which form the main part of the story. Others in the cast are William H. Orlamond, Robert McKim, Bob Kortman, Otto Brower, Curt Rehfeld and William H. Mong.

The photoplay is an Irvin V. Willat production for Metro, adapted by Julian Josephson from Mr. Williams' story. It was photographed by Robert Kurlie.

Playhouse

"The Passing Show," the New York Winter Garden's tenth annual revue, the most sumptuous production ever made by the Messrs. Lee and J. J. Shubert at their famous Winter Garden, comes to the Playhouse, Wilmington, on Friday and Saturday, in two acts and twenty-six scenes. It is a whirlwind of vaudeville, comedy, ballets and beautiful girls. There is a company of one hundred in this aggregation. The large supporting cast includes Willie and Eugene Howard, Helen Rhenstrom, Zita and Naro Lockford, Peggy Brown, Emily Miles, John Quilan, Ruth Cameron, George Gilday, Wilbur de Rouge, Frances Winters, Michael Cavanagh, William Brandt, Emmet Douglas, Norma Hamilton, and a whirl of others.

DELAWARE AND DICK-
INSON WILL PLAY
NOVEMBER 22, 1924

The tentative schedule for the University of Delaware football games for 1924, shows that three teams were played this year will not be on the schedule next season, they being Muhlenburg, City College, of New York, and William and Mary. Stevens will be the new team on the schedule although until last year Delaware and Stevens had been playing every year for many years.

The other new team will be the one that is secured for the open date on October, 18th. Assistant Manager Crothers reported the tentative schedule as follows:

October 4th, St. Joseph at Newark;

October 11th, Ursinus at Collegeville, Pa.; October 18th, open; October 25th, St. John's, of Annapolis, at Newark; November 1st, Stevens (pending). The date is practically assured for this game, but it has not been definitely decided whether it will be played at Hoboken or Newark; November 8th, Haverford at Newark; November 15th, George Washington at Newark; November 22nd, Dickinson (pending as to where the game will be played).

AGAIN THE SHADOW MOVETH O'ER THE DIAL PLATE OF TIME

"No one ever regarded the first of January with indifference. It is that from which all date their time, and count upon what is left. It is the nativity of our common Adam. Of all sound of bells (bells the music highest bordering upon heaven), most solemn and touching is the peal which rings out the old year. I never hear it without a gathering up of my mind to a concentration of all the images that have been diffused over the past twelve-month. All I have done or suffered, performed or neglected—in that regretted time. I begin to know its worth as when a person dies. It takes a personal color; nor was it a poetical flight of a contemporary, when he exclaimed: 'I saw the skirts of the departing year.' It is no more than what in sober sadness, every one of us seems to be conscious of in that awful leave-taking."

BIG CHRISTMAS TREE AND SANTA CLAUS FEATURE ELKTON'S COMMUNITY CELEBRATION

Elkton's first Community Christmas proved a smashing success this year, and judging by the evident interest and approval shown by the townspeople, the celebration will take permanent form in the future.

Under the direction of the same Committee which handles most of the civic affairs for the town, the Court House Plaza became a real Christmas shrine on Monday evening.

A twenty-foot cedar, attractively decorated with colored lights, held the center of the stage, and underneath it, old Santa Claus, in the personage of Taylor McKinney, held his court and received the homage and rapt attention of some five hundred kids of the community.

For the first time in this locality,

Christmas treats were given to the children. As soon as the community singing was completed and the older people had finished their part of the program, Young America held forth for an hour more, slowly filing past the jolly bewhiskered gentleman, who carefully handed each one a small box of good plain candy and an orange. Although the committee managed to keep in pretty close touch with the town, they miscalculated the number of children in the neighborhood.

The candy ran out and a long line of youngsters still stood patiently awaiting their presents. 400 or more boxes had been prepared earlier in the day, but that was not enough. Committeemen raided nearby confectionery stores and cornered the small box

HOLIDAY FESTIVITIES AROUND MERMAID

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Walker ate their Christmas dinner with their daughter, Mrs. Lewis Krapf, of Newark.

Little Miss Jean Harland, of Philadelphia, is spending the Christmas holidays with the Dennisons.

candy market for a few minutes. In the meantime, between waits for more supplies, Santa Claus patiently listened to last minute requests from the kids. He promised them all a visit if they went to bed early, and jollied them along so that they did not mind the delay. Black and white, large and small, rich and poor, they all came to the Shrine and received their share. It was truly an inspiring sight, and caused scores of older folks to remain after the services were concluded. Chairman Feely, Sidney Lipman, H. Winfield Lewis and many other men of the town assisted in the receiving line.

Services Impress

Reading from Scripture and prayers by Elkton ministers, with the addition of Christmas anthems and music by the band, were features of the community celebration. A crowd numbering over three hundred people stood along the edges of the plaza, and out in the street, joining their voices with those of the choir singers from various churches, who occupied a point of vantage where they led the gathering. North Street and Central Main Street was freed from all traffic by State police, town officers and deputies, all cars being shifted through town by way of Bow and High Streets.

Later in the evening, the Gleaners, a church organization of young people of the town started out on their annual rounds of the town, singing Christmas carols at various points. They stopped principally in front of houses where some man or woman lay bed-fast and unable to attend the celebration earlier in the evening. Their clear voices on the still air carried over the town the wonderfully old Christmas songs generations old, and young and old alike knew that the greatest holiday of the year would soon be a reality. The singers started out at 10.30 and closed their part of the Christmas eve services shortly after midnight.

On Christmas morning, another custom, peculiar to Elkton, was observed as in past years. Clothing, old toys, and dolls were distributed among the poor children of the town by Miss Grace Wells, and her assistants. Each year, Miss Wells gathers up second hand toys, old clothing and playthings among the more fortunate residents and makes glad little hearts which seldom know visits from Santa, and whose Christmas would be dull and drab and merely another day in their lustreless lives. But on this morning, in the modest cottages of the poor, all was different. Kids gleefully dragged red fire engines with one wheel off, down the bumpy roadway. Little girls carried well worn "Mama" dolls, which refused to "mama," but nevertheless were glorified in their beauty by a childish imagination. Miss Wells and her helpers spread a joy throughout the town that no amount of singing and playing could accomplish. Everybody seemed happy in Elkton Christmas day; everyone had a wee something to be thankful for; and from the homes of the wealthy to the little shacks of the needy, the same spirit which has come down through the ages, was everywhere apparent.

several wash baskets of every conceivable kind of useful gifts held in readiness for the relief of the needy and placed in the car of the proper organizations.

On Sunday morning at the regular church hour a choir of twenty-four voices, the largest in Newark for years, gave two splendid Christmas anthems as special musical numbers. They were under the leadership of H. J. Gaerthe. Rev. Herson delivered a strong Christmas sermon. Three new members were received into the church at this service—Miss Katharine Green, Mr. Robert Watkins and Mrs. Moore.

Pledges to the amount of $1500 were raised among the congregation for use in the Building Fund. In the evening two more anthems were sung by the choir and Rev. Herson again occupied the pulpit.

The Church was filled with worshippers on Christmas morning at 6.30 o'clock to attend the special service conducted by the pastor. It was all in all a great Christmas at this church.

ST. THOMAS CHURCH

At the St. Thomas Episcopal Church last Sunday, the Rev. R. B. Mathews, the new rector, had charge of the services, and special music by the choir featured the morning service. Solos were sung by little Miss Jennie Slack and by Miss Taylor during the anthems. The rector delivered an appropriate sermon to an audience which was considered exceptionally large, notwithstanding the inclement weather.

On Christmas eve, services were held in the church, starting at 11.30 p. m. and continuing into Christmas morning. The musical program of the Sunday previous was repeated. Holy Communion was celebrated by the congregation. The attendance at the midnight service was very large. The church was elaborately decorated in the season's colors and presented a most attractive appearance.

PET DOG IS KILLED

A large sized Fox Terrier, white with black markings, was killed by an automobile yesterday along Depot Road. The body of the dog is lying in the lane between the homes of George L. Medill and L. K. Bowen. The attention of the accident is called to readers of The Post in an effort to locate the owner of the dog. It is in splendid condition and evidently a much prized pet of some member of the community.

NEWARK CAGE STARS DEFEAT ELKTON FIVE

County Seat Boys on Short End of 35-16 Score Friday Night

RUPP NAMED CAPTAIN

In a holiday game in the Armory here last Friday evening, Newark High gathered in its second straight victory of the season, when the local cagers downed Elkton High 35-16 in team was greatly improved over its first game. The passing, guarding and shooting was superior in every way. The game was never a runaway, but Elkton could not match the pace set by Wilson's team.

Shorty Chalmers and Hopkins led both teams in scoring from the field. Chalmers dropped in 4 goals and Hopkins 7. Rupp and Doyle held the Elkton quintet to four goals from the field, and Doyle held the Elkton quintet to 4 goals from the field, and completely shattered their attacks on the basket.

Patchell and Jacquette both had a crack at jumping center during the evening. This post is not as yet decided upon. On the whole, Newark's team looks fit for a successful season.

Before the game Friday evening, Rupp was elected captain of the five for this season.

PUPILS SHOW FINE TALENT IN MAKING

Good Exhibit at Newark School

The third floor of the Newark Grammar School was an interesting place to visit the day before school closed for the Christmas holidays, when the freshman and sophomore classes in Home Economics and the eighth grade class in sewing held their third annual exhibit.

The tables in the laboratory were filled with an attractive display. Among the articles were night gowns, dresser scarfs, table runners, towels, holders, candy, candy boxes, cookies, and canned fruits and jellies.

One very pleasing feature of the exhibit was the display of table runners and scarfs with borders of stenciling of block-printing in appropriate colors, for which the girls had made their own designs.

Another attractive feature was the display of Christmas candies, ready to be packed in gay boxes made by members of the sophomore class, and to be given, by vote of the class, to persons less fortunate than themselves.

Tea and cookies were served to the visitors by the sophomores, who were wearing dresses which they had made in their class in clothing construction.

The exhibit was arranged by members of the senior class in Home Economics of the Women's College, who have taught the classes in home economics in the Newark school since October first as part of their requirement in Practice Teaching, and Miss Mabel Buckner, the cooperating teacher of home economics.

"Give me a savings book made out in this young man's name," and he pushed a slip of paper across the counter. "He will probably return the signature cards to you shortly after Christmas. This is a gift for my nephew and a gentle hint at the same time. He ought to be saving money."

Perhaps you have relatives who would appreciate a similar gift.

True hospitality

The Holidays are here and guests will soon begin to arrive. Will you be ready for them?

Of course the guests will notice the bathroom equipment—the tub or shower, the lavatory and the water closet. They will also notice the presence or absence of an ample supply of hot water in the bathroom.

See us for particulars.
