Lay Corner Stone Of New Sunday School

Dr. Stevenson Preaches at Presbyterian Church Services; Stone Laid by George Griffin

The congregation at the First Presbyterian Church of this town, last Sunday morning filled all the pews and chairs were placed for many. The occasion was the laying of the corner stone of the new Sunday School building which will be a part of the present church. Previous to the actual ceremony of the laying of the corner stone, Dr. J. Ross Stevenson, president of Princeton Theological Seminary, preached an eloquent sermon. The special music included a duet by Messrs. Cobb and Barnes.

The following program took place at the new building: Responsive reading; reading and depositing of the list of documents and other articles to be placed in the stone, by Professor H. K. Preston, superintendent of the Sunday School; laying of the stone, by Mr. George W. Griffin; prayer; hymn; benediction, by Reverend H. Everett Hallman, the pastor.

The hymn which was sung at the laying of the stone was especially beautiful and appropriate. The words follow:

"The Church's one Foundation
Is Jesus Christ her Lord;
She is His new creation
By water and the word:
From Heaven He came and sought her
To be His holy Bride;
With His own blood he bought her;
And for her life He died."

A list of articles and documents which were placed in the corner stone of the new Sunday School building follows: Coins, dated 1927, presented as follows: one cent, by Orville Richardson; a nickel, by Billy Ford; a dime, by Marjorie Dougherty; a copy each of The Newark Post and the Delaware Ledger for the current week; a list of officers, teachers, and members of the Sunday School; list of contributors to the building fund; old history of the church up to the (Continued on Page 4.)

GAS PUMP ON FIRE

Faulty insulation in the wiring of a gasoline pump in front of Fader's Garage caused considerable excitement for a few minutes on Monday night. A wire leading to the light in the pump had short circuited and started a blaze within the pump. The Fire Company was summoned, but the fire had been extinguished by a hand extinguisher before they could respond.

AMBULANCE RUN

On Sunday Miss Thelma Shellander was brought to the Women's College from the Physicians and Surgeons Hospital, Wilmington, where she had undergone an operation for appendicitis. Charles Tasker and C. J. Springle made the trip in the Newark ambulance. Miss Shellander is a senior at the Women's College.

TO GO TO LIBERIA

RAYMOND RUSSELL

Raymond Russell To Take Job In Africa

Personal Interview With Harvey Firestone Results In Job In Liberia

Raymond Russell, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Russell, of this town, has been given a commission by the Firestone Plantations Company to go to Liberia, Africa, and is at present at Akron, Ohio, making final arrangements for his departure.

Young Russell made an application for a position with the company, and, about a week ago, received a wire from Mr. Harvey Firestone to come to New York City for a personal interview. As a result of that interview a wire followed to report at Akron for a physical examination yesterday.

The Firestone's Plantations Company, a holding corporation, has purchased two millions acres of land in Liberia for the development of rubber plantations, and Russell's work will include the management of clearing ten thousand acres and planting the same in rubber trees and to bring them to bearing. His commission, at a high salary, covers a period of eighteen months. He has also been given interesting concessions, including a three months' vacation, with full pay.

Russell, who was graduated from Delaware last June, was in the midst of graduate work in the Department of Plant Pathology at the University of Delaware and would have completed his work for his master's degree in the spring. He is an excellent student, and the department regrets his leaving, although proud of the offer that he has received.

The Firestone Plantations Company, also the Ford interests, are going extensively into the rubber-growing industry, in an effort to break up the British monopoly in Sumatra and Java. The Ford Company has the option on four millions acres in Brazil, along the River of Doubt, in the region where Roosevelt made extensive explorations.

T. R. DANTZ IN ADVANCED POSITION

Theodore R. Dantz has been appointed advertising manager for the rayon division of the du Pont Company, with headquarters in New York City, and entered on his new duties yesterday.

For the past year, Mr. Dantz has been associate editor of the du Pont Magazine. Prior to that he was four years on the staff at Kells, in charge of The Newark Post, going from there directly to the du Pont Company.

Mr. Dantz was graduated from the University of Delaware in 1922, and is a member of the K. A. fraternity. He has a large circle of friends here.

DR. WALLACE JOHNSON HEADS HOMEOPATHS

Dr. Wallace Johnson, of this town, was elected president of the Homeopathic Medical Society of Delaware at a meeting and dinner of the organization, held last Thursday evening in the du Pont-Biltmore. Dr. Johnson succeeds Dr. W. M. Pierson, of Wilmington, as president. Dr. Johnson served as vice-president last year. Dr. John C. Pierson was chosen vice-president; Dr. J. Asa Adair, secretary; Dr. Julian Adair, treasurer.

HUNTS WITHOUT LICENSE

University Trustees Hold Fall Meeting

Total Enrollment 706; Work to Start on Engineering Building; Student Committee Lauded

The Fall meeting of the Board of Trustees of the University of Delaware was held on Saturday. Dr. Walter Hullahen, president of the University, in his report stated that there were enrolled in the University 706 students, one more than the total last year.

Dr. Hullahen also reported that as yet no dean of engineering had been appointed to succeed Professor V. G. Smith, deceased, but that it had been decided to complete the plans and specifications for the proposed new engineering building.

A special committee of which Dr. Hullahen is chairman, has been looking over the field with the view of securing the best man possible for the money available to head the engineering department. A number of applicants have been interviewed but the committee as yet is not ready to make a recommendation.

The last legislature appropriated $220,000 for the proposed engineering building. The college had asked for $310,000 and this amount was cut down to $220,000. The present plan is to build one story and add a story when more money is available.

Professors Thoroughgood, Koerber, Blumberg and Preston, of the engineering department, have been named a committee to assist the architect with suggestions in the preparing of the plans. It had been hoped to name the new dean before the plans were prepared to get the benefit of his suggestions. The building is to be completed (Continued on Page 4.)

Red Cross Week In Newark

The local Red Cross campaign is in full swing, with the helpers collecting membership fees every day in the two banks. Those who have volunteered to help with the work are: Mrs. Walter Layfield, Mrs. W. E. Holton, Mrs. S. J. Smith, Miss Estella Yearsley, Miss Margaret Anderson, Mrs. F. A. Wheelless, Miss Alice Kerr, Mrs. Levi Bowen, Mrs. Allyn Cooch, Mrs. Richard Cooch, Miss Eleanor Duffy, Mrs. Barnes, Mrs. W. E. Hayes, Mrs. Geo. H. Lloyd and Mrs. Ernest.

Miss Lydia Fader is also receiving subscriptions at Fader's store. Those who wish to mail checks may send them to Miss Jane Maxwell, Newark, who is treasurer of the local chapter.

The $600 which was given last week as last year's subscription to the Red Cross, was more definitely the amount contributed for the sufferers in the Mississippi flood districts.

Newark and Laurel Will Fight for State Football Championship at Dover

Game to be Played at Ball Park at 2.30, Thanksgiving Day. Officials from Out of State. Laurel Will Out-Weigh Newark. Newark and Greenwood to Decide Soccer Title, at Dover, Saturday

It was announced this morning by Major Prince, field agent of the D. I. A. A., that the D. I. A. A. State championship football game between Newark and Laurel will be played at the Dover Ball Park, Dover, on Thanksgiving Day, at 2:30. The D. I. A. A. soccer championship will be settled on Saturday at Dover when Newark Junior High School meets Greenwood. The game is called for 2:30.

Major Prince announced that the referee and umpire for the football game would both be from Pennsylvania, and that the head linesman would be a person that had no connection with the Delaware School System.

It is planned to take the Newark squad to Dover on Thursday morning by train so that they may have a workout on the field before lunch. They will be accompanied by the Continental Band.

The Dover Ball Park is the largest baseball plant in the State and has a covered grandstand with a seating capacity of 1000. It is estimated that from 2000 to 2500 people will attend the game. The attendance last year at Milford was estimated at 1500.

Bitter rivalry exists between the two teams and they are both on edge for the struggle. Last year the same

J. P. Nields Publishes Cooch's Bridge Speech

Printed Under Title of "Washington's Army in Delaware, Summer of 1777"

Under the title of "Washington's Army in Delaware in the Summer of 1777," John P. Nields, Wilmington attorney, has had printed for private distribution the substance of the address he made at Cooch's Bridge on September 9, last, in connection with the 150th anniversary of the skirmish at that point between the American and English forces, and the "Battle of the Brandywine" two days later.

Mr. Nields has traced the movement of Washington's army from Philadelphia, through Wilmington, beginning August 23, and its route between this city and Chadd's Ford, based on the official orders and reports, and woven these into a narrative which is interesting as well as informing.

The value of the historic facts here marshalled is greatly increased by the excellent map of the entire region, from "Head of Elk" in Maryland to Chadd's Ford on the Brandywine in Pennsylvania and including the upper part of Delaware along the "circle" boundary and the line of march of Howe's forces from Elkton to Kennett; and also the site northeast of Newport where Washington's troops (Continued on Page 4.)

The colleges that will be represented at the conference will be: Cedar Crest, Delaware, Elmira, Goucher, Hood, Kenka, Hunter, New Jersey, New York, Russell Sage, Sweet Briar, Wilson, and Wheaton.

Lecture on "The Jew" at Wolf Hall Tonight

The public is cordially invited to Wolf Hall tonight at 8 o'clock to hear Dr. Morris Lazaron, of Baltimore, give his lecture, "The Jew; Nation, People, or Religion?" This is the second of a series of four lectures on Jewish Life and Culture that have been arranged by Dr. Benner, of the University of Delaware, through the co-operation of Rabbi Louis Mischkind and the Independent Order B'nai B'rith, of Wilmington.

Dr. Lazaron is well known in Delaware. He was one of the main speakers at the annual convention of the Delaware American Legion.

The other two lectures in the series will be given in Wolf Hall on the evenings of November 30 and December 7.

Delaware R. O. T. C. Honors War Dead

Holds Parade Armistice Day; Hangs Wreath on Memorial Tablet

Armistice Day was observed by the University of Delaware R. O. T. C. unit by a parade of the complete unit, followed by military exercises on the campus in front of Old College. The exercises were completed by hanging a wreath on the tablet which carries the names of Delaware men who gave their lives during the World War. Cadet Captain W. B. Derrickson, Jr., read the following orders by Cadet Captain Wilson as the wreath was hung:

"On April 6, 1917, the United States, in its own defense, joined the Allied Powers in their war against Germany. On November 11, 1918, the war was brought to a successful conclusion by the Allied and Associated Powers, of which the United States were one."

"Before the first date there had come to the University of Delaware eight men, each bringing with him the same high hope for a long, happy, and peaceful life as have all of us. Before the second date they had been called, one by one, to die in the defense of our country."

"All Americans should be proud of them. The student body of the University consider it their honorable duty to keep alive the memory of these men:

John Lee Fisher, Class of 1911
Rupert Mandell Burstan, Class of 1914
Alfred Rickert Hamel, Class of 1914
John Allison O'Daniel, Class of 1916
Lawrence Raymond Witsil, Class of 1918
Michael M. Hirschman, Class of 1919
Mark Donald Dare, Class of 1920
Samuel Taylor Lambert, Class of 1920"

"In memory of their supreme sacrifice, flowers will be placed before the tablet bearing their names."

CATCH CHICKEN THIEF

Officer Elderkin, of the State Police, on Monday arrested John Dudley, colored, of 1616 Lombard street, Wilmington, for the theft of one turkey and several chickens from the farm of James F. Stafford, living just East of Newark. He was arraigned before Magistrate Thompson, who committed him to the Workhouse for Court of General Sessions, in default of $500 bond.

On November 5, Dudley, who had been working on the Stafford farm, was seen leaving the place with a suspicious looking bag. Mr. Stafford stopped him and found the turkey and chickens in the bag. Dudley ran as Mr. Stafford was opening the bag and was not found until the following Monday.

STOP SALE OF MILK

Chief of Police Keeley this morning arrested a driver for the Fram Dairy Company, of Wilmington, for selling milk in Newark without a permit. The driver was released when an official of the company agreed to appear before Magistrate Thompson for a hearing.

UNUSUAL BLOOM

Mrs. George Porter, of Choate street, has growing in her flower garden a China aster with seven full blooms. This plant, unusual at this late season, has attracted considerable attention.

Education Meeting Inspires Teachers

Many Local Educators Take Part In Milford Meeting; Professor Brinser Toastmaster At Banquet

It is the consensus of opinion of the 22 teachers of the Newark Public Schools, who attended the annual meeting of the Delaware State Educational Association, last Thursday and Friday, at Milford, that it was one of most instructive and inspiring meetings ever held by the association.

The addresses of Dr. H. L. Miller, Professor of Education, University of Wisconsin, and Dr. H. V. Holloway, State Superintendent of Education, contained the most constructive thought, according to the local teachers.

The banquet on Thursday evening was the social highpoint of the meeting, and was kept sparkling and sprightly by the quips of Professor Ira S. Brinser, Superintendent of Newark Schools, toastmaster.

Local educators took a prominent part in the programs of the various sections. Professor Brinser, gave the report of the Committee on Ethics, which was a comprehensive analysis of the code as applied to the teaching profession. Professor Brinser also gave an address, "Teaching English for Mastery." Dr. Walter Hullahen, president of the University of Delaware, greeted the delegates. Mrs. Emma Robinson, Newark Schools, spoke on "Phonics and Word Study."

Miss Nancy Beyer, of the Woman's College, gave two talks on art. Dean George F. Dutton, of Delaware College, talked on "Creating Reading Interest." Dr. David Evans, of Delaware College, addressed the French section. Professor R. W. Heim, State Director of Vocational Education, spoke on "Tendencies and Deficiencies in Vocational Education." Miss Elizabeth G. Kelly, of the Woman's College, spoke on "Art in Dress." Miss Etta Wilson gave a talk on the new Delaware Citizens Association.

NEGRO COMMITTED AS WOMAN'S SLAYER
Following an inquest held Monday night into the death of his common-law wife, Bertie Lee Franklin, colored, of New Glasgow, charged with murder, was ordered held without bail for the action of the grand jury. The inquest was held in the office of Robert Jones, Newark undertaker, by a jury summoned by Coroner Harvey E. Nichols.

In a confession, Stewart said he had beaten the woman over the head on Saturday, November 5, and then carried her to a field and left her there so that it might appear that she had been struck by a hit-and-run motorist and left to die. She was found in a dying condition the following afternoon and died before medical aid could be given her.

Stewart claimed that the quarrel between him and the woman was over a dog.

WIN PRIZES IN WILMINGTON

Three members of Anchor Lodge, No. 4, A. O. U. W., were first prize winners at a masquerade party and dance given by Wilmington Lodge, No. 1, in their hall, in Wilmington, last Thursday evening. Miss Elizabeth Lindell and Miss Alice Fell took the first prizes for the best looking couple, they being dressed as bride and groom. Miss Edith Jackson, dressed as maid of honor, took first prize for prettiest lady. Mr. Price Jackson, also of Anchor Lodge, found the "lucky" peanut. The Newark party included about twenty-five members of the local lodge and friends. A feature of the evening was a mock marriage by the Newark group.

DEAN ROBINSON TO LEAVE HOSPITAL

Friends of Dean Robinson, of Women's College, will be glad to know that she is recovering satisfactorily from an operation which she underwent at a New York Hospital on November 2. Miss Robinson expects to be able to leave the hospital this week, and to spend some time with friends in New York City.

In accord with Dean Robinson's wish, the news of her illness was kept quiet for a week, until her speedy recovery was assured, in order that the students, faculty, and her friends might not be alarmed.

Grange Master Urges Farmers To Organize

Louis Taber Forecasts Farm Future; Tells Attitude On Public Matters

Condensed summary of the address to be given at the annual session of the National Grange at Cleveland, Ohio, by National Master Louis J. Taber, this afternoon, November 16, 1927.

In opening his address National Master Taber stresses the fact that "the city is the farmer's best customer," inasmuch as the agricultural people consume from 20 to 30 per cent of the manufactured goods of the nation, forcefully emphasizing the fact that rural purchasing power is responsible for a larger per cent of the prosperity, growth and material advancement of every citizen in the republic. Attention is then called to the fact that in the past fifty years, instead of a population 71 per cent rural and 29 per cent in cities and towns, the shift that has taken place almost exactly reverses this ratio, and yet the 30 per cent population now on the farms is still easily able to feed the 70 per cent in the cities, and significantly, too, the chief agricultural problem is one of surplus: indicating the degree to which American farm efficiency has kept pace with the drift of American affairs. Continuing, Mr. Taber makes this impressive statement:

"The decline of farm population cannot go on in the future as rapidly as in the past, but it is a safe prediction that inside the next half century only one-fifth of the nation's population will be living on the farms and that one-fifth will be feeding the other four-fifths efficiently and well. This is not a gloomy picture, but one indicating that those who choose agriculture for their portion may, by using modern equipment and modern methods, by calling science to their aid, and through sound business principles in marketing and production, have before them the promise of a life of maximum usefulness and fair financial reward."

The National Master also stresses the fact that "Regardless of the important issues of the day, we unhesitatingly say that organization is the greatest problem of American agriculture. It is sad but true that today less than 20 per cent of the farmers of the nation are dues-paying members in any bona fide farm organization."

"Equality for agriculture cannot come by legislation alone. No amount of governmental assistance, of education, of experimentation, or of research, will do for agriculture all that needs to be done. Whenever more than 50 per cent of our farmers are organized, our problems will begin to disappear: If they are social or educational, we will have sufficient membership to correct them; if they are economic, we will have the numbers and finances for their adjustment; if they are legislative, there will be the numerical strength to insure correction."

Mr. Taber then summarizes the Grange attitude on some big, pending questions of public nature as follows:

Export Debiture Plan

"This is the project which the National Grange is heartily sponsoring, a straightforward, honest attempt to bring tariff benefits to articles of which there is an exportable surplus, to do it in the simplest, most efficient and economic manner, without the creation of expensive machinery or the introduction of agencies or policies that might in the future be dangerous to rural life. The Export Debiture Plan simply seeks to remove inequalities and to bring to the nation's basic industry the same tariff benefits enjoyed by others. Hence the Grange backs the plan heartily and will exert its energies to secure its adoption."

Irrigation and Reclamation

"Instead of bringing more fertile land under cultivation, the policy of the government should be one of reforestation and purchasing of millions of acres of marginal land, not now needed for food or fiber production, and turn it back to forestry. The policy of the government the past 150 years has been unfair to the farmer in that the government through its sale of public lands and through its irrigation policy has been continuously bringing new virgin land into competition with farms already under cultivation. With the present surplus in many lines of food and fiber products, and the continued rural depression, we should actively oppose any appropriation for new projects at the present time."

Flood Control

"Congress should be liberal in its appropriations to prevent a recurrence of such disasters as that along the Mississippi River banks, and flood control measures should also provide for transportation facilities and utilization of water power resources that can be made available, all linked up with a sound reforestation and conservation program; with the planting of trees and building of dams along the headwaters of many of our great streams, not only checking floods, but guaranteeing timber for the future and providing natural refuge for wild life."

The Grange is in favor of the development of our inland waterways and especially the construction of a lakes-to-the-sea waterway.

Federal Farm Loan

"The creation of the Federal Farm Loan System has proved to be one of the most valuable assets to agriculture, and while not perfect, has met well the needs of the farmer. However, it must be remembered that the Federal Farm Loan System will fail whenever it ceases to meet the needs of our expanding agriculture. We do not need a Federal Farm Loan System adjusted to suit the desires of the nation's financial institutions or its business interests. We do need a system sound in its financial operation, guided and controlled by men competent to handle this huge undertaking yet who are in sympathy with and understand the problems of rural life."

Taxation

"The farmer is most concerned in the fields of local taxation and here the increase is constant and heavy. Farm taxes have increased 235 per cent in the last 50 years, and in 1926 the farmer paid 27 per cent of his net income in taxes. Economy, efficiency, elimination of waste, abolition of unnecessary offices and cutting out of frills in government are the imperative needs today, while the basis of state and local taxation, now altogether too narrow, must be readjusted because too large a portion of our tax burdens rests upon real estate and tangible personal property. Privilege, income and luxury must come to the support of property in maintaining the constantly-expanding government that the modern complexities of civilization require. Every state in the Union should have a debt control law and limit the life of bonds; also a workable budget law, and in every case budgets open for public inspection and hearing before approved."

Respect for Law

"With 12,000 murders in the United States during the past year, we glimpse the perils that threaten our welfare, and are brought face to face with the growing disrespect for law. A serious menace comes from the fact that many of our citizens are trying to choose which law they themselves are willing to obey. So far as the Eighteenth Amendment is concerned, the issue is a clear-cut: It is either law enforcement or the open saloon. The saloon, with its attendant evils, will never return if our citizenship understands the issue."

"There has been no change in sentiment among the nation's farmers relative to prohibition. Less beer is manufactured and more milk is consumed; there is less whiskey and more families riding in automobiles; there are fewer saloon fights and more happy homes. Prohibition at its best is better than the saloon at its worst. Let us tear off the mask of those who talk about 'modification.' It is either the open saloon or prohibition and it is time to think and act accordingly."

Campaign Expenses

"The use of large campaign funds to influence elections is reprehensible and should be condemned by the voters at the polls. No man should be permitted to hold office where there is conclusive evidence that he expended unreasonable sums in the primary campaign or election, nor if it can be proved that those who might have financial interests in the result of his acts have contributed to his campaign. If the time ever comes when only rich men can hope to hold office, dangers threaten our future. A candidate who spends in campaign expenses many times the amount of salary he can receive in office should be defeated at the polls, and if not defeated, should be denied office if evidence of corruption is found. An amendment should be made to the primary laws limiting the amount of money candidates may spend, on a population basis, with the limit placed sufficiently low to protect the public."

National Master Taber's address also presents many interesting facts from the Grange viewpoint on the question of World Peace, Education, Transportation, and Agricultural Research; under the latter heading urging increased emphasis by all public and private agencies upon the necessity of growing research work for agriculture, alike for the benefit of producers and consumers.

"Good parenthood requires knowledge of how to help children as well as the driving impulse of affection."—Ernest Groves.

SLIGHT MISUNDERSTANDING

"I tell you I won't have this room," protested the lady from the country to the bellboy. "I ain't goin' to pay my good money for such a small room. You think just because I'm from a small town—"

The boy interrupted: "Step in, madam. This ain't your room. This is the elevator."

MONOPOLIST

A little fellow left in charge of his tiny brother called out: "Mother, won't you please speak to baby? He's sitting on the flypaper, and there's a lot of flies waiting to go on."—Open Road.

Lions to Conduct Poster Contest

Roadside "Ad" Will Proclaim Advantages of Wilmington

In an effort to present to automobile tourists the industrial and historical significance of Wilmington the Lions Club will erect a poster panel on the Baltimore pike between Kennett Square and Hamorton which will serve to direct them into and through this city.

Many tourists while passing over the much traveled Baltimore pike between Kennett Square and Hamorton do not realize the short distance to Wilmington, and it is the purpose of the Lions Club to impart this information to them and to have them visit this city. Direction signs have been placed at the intersections of many highways leading to this city, but thus far no poster panel has been erected to present to tourists the value of visiting Wilmington.

The Lions Club desires to obtain the best poster interpreting the features of Wilmington, and to this end it is conducting a Poster Designing Contest, which is open to everyone in Delaware under 21 years of age. Prizes amounting to $50 will be awarded as follows: First prize, $25; second prize, $15; and third prize, $10.

Contest Opens Today

Boy Scouts Given 1,000 Acres For Permanent Camp

Announcement was made in Wilmington Monday of the acquisition by the Wilmington Council, Inc., Boy Scouts of America, of 1000 acres of land, embracing the present Scout camp site, known as Camp Rodney, Maryland, on Elk Neck, at the head of the Chesapeake bay, seven miles below North East. The property is the gift of Senator and Mrs. Coleman du Pont, of Wilmington, as a memorial to their son, the late Eleuthere Irenee du Pont, who was a member of a local Scout troop. A trust fund of $10,000, simultaneously created, will provide for taxes, insurance and repairs to the property.

The site, which has been used by the Scouts for the past five years, is probably one of the finest for Scout camping purposes in America. It has a mile of shore front on the head of the Chesapeake bay and possesses terrain that includes Bull mountain, hills, rolling land and a long stretch of safe bathing beach. Only about 15 per cent of the site is cleared land. The rest is in woods, composed largely of oak and pine trees and thickets, which, in many places, resemble a primitive jungle. The property is not enclosed. It contains rustic paths and roadways, and is altogether an ideal property for Scout purposes.

"For it is, after all, the distinctive trait of human nature to appreciate and be responsive to spiritual values,—to sincerity, truth, beauty, justice, and righteousness."

HARMONY GRANGE

Members of Harmony Grange enjoyed a good meeting on Monday evening. A communication from the Grand Master of the State Grange was read concerning the State and National meetings. There was also a notice of the fifth degree which will be given in the Masonic Hall at Newport, December 5.

A letter from the National Grange Monthly was read, asking that Harmony Grange keep up this year its established custom of seeing that the publication is placed in the home of every member of the Grange. The expense of these subscriptions is defrayed each year by an entertainment or sale of some kind. This year, there will be a Variety Sale held for that purpose on Monday evening.

The program was in charge of Mrs. Annie J. Dennison. A quartette including Mrs. Clara Eastburn, Mrs. Addie Klair, Mrs. Pearl Harrington, and Miss Margaret Derickson sang two songs. Jokes were told by Mrs. Annie Murray. Miss Emilie Mitchell told a Gingerbread Story, as it had been told to her when she was a little girl by her grandmother. Miss Mitchell showed the blue platter of Willowware on which her grandmother had served her gingerbread. Mrs. Lillian Dennison gave two recitations.

The Grange ordered flowers sent to Mr. Lewis Greenwalt, who returned yesterday from the Homeopathic Hospital.

The condition of James H. Walker, who is at Mrs. Walter's Hospital in Wilmington, remains about the same. His daughter, Mrs. Lawrence Pennington, visited him on Sunday.

Mrs. George M. Jones, of Wilmington, was a week-end visitor of Mrs. William Peach.

The First Harvest-Home in Plymouth

After prayer and fasting and a farewell feast, the Pilgrim Fathers left the City of Leyden, and sought the new and unknown land. "So they left ye goodly & pleasaunt citie," writes their historian Bradford, "which had been their resting place near 12 years, but they knew they were pilgrims & looked not much on those things, but lift up their eyes to ye Heavens their dearest cuntry, and quieted their spirits."

When, after many vexing days upon the deep, the pilgrims first sighted the New World, they were filled with praise and thanksgiving. Going ashore they fell upon their knees and blessed the God of Heaven. And after that, whenever they were delivered from accidents or despair, they gave God "solemn thanks and praise." Such were the Pilgrims and such their habit day by day.

The first winter in the New World was marked by great suffering and want. Hunger and illness thinned the little colony, and caused many graves to be made on the near-by hillside. The spring of 1621 opened. The seed was sown in the fields. The colonists cared for it without ceasing, and watched its growth with anxiety; for well they knew that their lives depended upon a full harvest.

The days of spring and summer flew by, and the autumn came. Never in Holland or England had the Pilgrims seen the like of the treasures bounteous Nature now spread before them. The woodlands were arrayed in gorgeous colors, brown, crimson, and gold, and swarmed with game of all kinds, that had been concealed during the summer. The little farm-plots had been blessed by the sunshine and showers, and now plentiful crops stood ready for the gathering. The Pilgrims, rejoicing, reaped the fruit of their labors, and housed it carefully for the winter. Then, filled with the spirit of thanksgiving, they held the first harvest-home in New England.

For one whole week they rested from work, feasted, exercised their arms, and enjoyed various recreations. Many Indians visited the colony, amongst these their greatest king, Massasoit, with ninety of his braves. The Pilgrims entertained them for three days. And the Indians went out into the woods and killed fine deer, which they brought to the colony and presented to the governor and the captain and others. So all made merry together.

And bountiful was the feast. Oysters, fish and wild turkey. Indian maize and barley bread, geese and ducks, venison and other savory meats, decked the board. Kettles, skillets, and spits were overworked, while knives and spoons, kindly assisted by fingers, made merry music on pewter plates. Wild grapes, "very sweet and strong," added zest to the feast. As to the vegetables, why, the good governor describes them thus:

"All sorts of grain which our own land doth yield,
Was hither brought, and sown in every field;
As wheat and rye, barley, oats, beans, and pease
Here all thrive and they profit from them raise;
All sorts of roots and herbs in gardens grow,—
Parsnips, carrots, turnips, or what you'll sow,
Onions, melons, cucumbers, radishes,
Skirets, beets, coleworts and fair cabbages."

Thus a royal feast it was the Pilgrims spread that first golden autumn at Plymouth, a feast worthy of their Indian guests.

All slumbering discontents they smothered with common rejoicings. When the holiday was over, they were surely better, braver men because they had turned aside to rest awhile and be thankful together. So the exiles of Leyden claimed the harvests of New England.

This festival was the bursting into life of a new conception of man's dependence on God's gifts in Nature. It was the promise of autumnal Thanksgivings to come.

Lay Cornerstone

time of its completion (1871); loyalty campaign literature; clippings from local papers relative to the raising of the funds; copy of the recommendations of the joint Boards to the church and congregation; program of the exercises held at the laying of the cornerstone; list of campaign committee; list of superintendents from about the time the present church was erected to the present time; Memorial List of those who gave of their talents for the interest of the Sunday School and who have entered into Rest; a description of the stone in which the articles were placed; contractor's record and list of sub-contractors; photograph of church; trowel used in laying the cornerstone; list of articles and documents named above.

The stone which was used as the back of the cornerstone has been on the church premises probably ever since that edifice was built. It was hollowed out for the box which is usually placed in the cornerstone of a new building. Though there is nothing definitely known concerning it, there is a conjecture that it may have been the cornerstone of the old church building farther down the street or one that was prepared for the present church and discarded. At any rate, having bided its time, it has found its fitting place.

Mrs. Annie Moore, of this town, was the only person present at Sunday's exercises who was also present at the laying of the cornerstone of the main church building, in 1868. She was a tiny child then, but her father had a great part in the building of the church, which required three years, and she recalls that the stones and timbers were shaped right on the premises. As far as Mrs. Moore knows, Miss Kate Darlington, a resident of Newark for many years, now of Christiana, is the only other person living whom she remembers seeing at the first cornerstone laying.

encamped and intrenched from September 6 for three days, before shifting north to the Chadd's Ford locality, in the effort to avoid being outflanked when Howe's strategy became evident.

Another distinct achievement to be recorded to the credit of Mr. Nields is the identifying of the "Crooked Billet" tavern noted as a route stop by Lieutenant McMichael in his diary, with the Bradford estate, now at Kennett pike and Brindly road.

Copies of this pamphlet are on file at the Public Library, Wilmington.

pleted by the opening of college next September and as it would have been impossible to have had the building ready last September even though work had been started in the spring not much time will be lost after all.

Dr. Hullihen paid special tribute to the student committee for raising funds for the addition to the gymnasium, containing a new swimming pool, and stated that the fund had been oversubscribed and work already started on the addition.

In summarizing the Summer School session, Dr. Hullihen pointed out significant indications in its growth and expressed hope that means would be procured to allow the Summer School to expand.

Dean Dutton, of Delaware College, in his report, suggested that a definite plan of promotion be formulated for the faculty.

TO UNVEIL TABLET TO CONSTITUTION PRINTERS

An invitation has been received by Professor George Ryden to attend an unveiling of a tablet on the site of the print shop of Dunlap and Claypoole, Soldiers of the Revolution, where was printed the first Declaration of Independence, the first Constitution of the United States, Washington's Farewell Address, and the first daily newspaper in America.

The unveiling, which will be tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock at 134 and 136 Market street, Philadelphia, will be under the auspices of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, and the First Troop, Philadelphia City Cavalry.

Dunlap and Claypoole were official printers to Congress and personal friends of Washington. As officers in the American Revolutionary Army and practical newspaper men, these staunch patriots exercised great power in moulding the public opinion of their day.

MRS. COOCH TO ENTERTAIN GIRL RESERVES AND OFFICERS

Mrs. Cooch desires the Girl Reserves of this town and their mothers to come to her home between four and six o'clock to meet Miss French and Miss Good.

This is the first time Newark has been honored by having one of its staff elected to official position in the D. I. A. A.

A Different Christmas Gift

Everyone has some friend to whom he would like to send a remembrance, something more than a card, but not so expensive as gifts are now-a-days. Then one doesn't always know a friend's tastes in gifts, even in books.

But any friend, young or old, will be delighted with a copy of the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States, beautifully printed on good paper, and attractively bound. It is an unusual gift, one that bespeaks the thoughtful giver. It will be a time-saver to put several of these books on your list and send us your order. Price, one dollar, plus postage. De luxe copies, ten dollars.—Adv.

"A post card may be delayed, but it need not be lost. An instance has been reported of a post card taking twenty-three years to go from one side of Paris to the other. How untrue it would have been to have said that the post card was lost. A mistake undoubtedly occurred somewhere, but it has been rectified as far as possible. The post card was mailed in 1903 and has just been delivered to the person for whom it was intended. In these days when the Atlantic can be traversed in thirty-three hours, it is in the nature of a negative wonder that a post card should be 23 years on its two-mile way."

Notes from the School Library

The Newark Public School believes that there is no better way of directing students than to teach them to direct themselves. It is for this reason that a student has a certain amount of reading to do in connection with his assigned studies. In this manner he may acquire an enlarged vision, a breadth of sympathy and understanding.

During the past few weeks eighty books have been added to the Library. They cover the fields of science, literature, history and biography. Some of the books:

"We," Charles A. Lindbergh; "The Old Ladies," Hugh Walpole; "A Portrait of a Man with Red Hair," Hugh Walpole; "Chemistry in Industry," H. E. Hoew; "The Chronicles of America," Allen Johnson; "The Pageant of America," Ralph G. Gabriel; "Letters to His Children," Theodore Roosevelt; "The Cathedral," Hugh Walpole; "Modern American Poetry," Louis Untermeyer; "Modern English Poetry," Louis Untermeyer; "One Act Plays by Modern Authors," Louise Cohen; "Seven Stories by Hawthorne," Hawthorne; "Modern Essays," and "44 Essays," Christopher Morley; "Modern American Plays," George P. Barker; "The Riddle of the Rhine," Victor Lefebvre; "Creative Chemistry," Edwin Slosson; "Discovery—the Spirit and Service of Science," Sir Richard Gregory.

"The Cathedral," Hugh Walpole. A man, Adam Brandon, who has risen to the position of Archdeacon, dedicates his life to the work of the Cathedral. He is a good man, but a man spoiled by power; an unscrupulous man who covets authority. A wife, a son that are entirely disregarded in the plan of the Archdeacon, but a wife and a son through which his enemies may strike; a daughter—these are the characters of this novel.

Just as a Gothic Cathedral is dominated by its spire, so was Adam Brandon dominated by his Cathedral, but during a week of a colorful carnival we see him meeting his greatest test. "Chemical Discovery and Invention in the Twentieth Century," Sir William Tildon.

Sir William Tildon, one of the most distinguished English chemists, has in this book given an account of the never ending struggle for the dominion of human knowledge over matter. By dividing his book into four parts he traces the development of modern chemical apparatus, modern chemical theories and discoveries, the modern application of chemistry, and a brief review of progress in organic chemistry—all of this covering a period of the past half century. To students participating in the Chemical Essay Contest this is of particular interest.

"Life of Pasteur," Vallery-Radot. Translated from the French by Mrs. R. L. Devonshire.

This year we celebrate the Centennial of the man who, by his research, gave to the world a "knowledge of the true nature of the process of fermentation—a knowledge of the chief maladies—a knowledge of the measures by which the body may be protected from these diseases, or the poison neutralized when once within the body." According to the London Times this book is the "greatest biography" of our age.

"Chronicles of America," Allen Johnson, editor.

This is a set of twenty-five volumes dealing with the rise and progress of America from its discovery to its position as a world power. Step by step in a decidedly readable form the history of America has been developed—a development that includes all the great phases of our national life.

"The Pageant of America," Ralph G. Gabriel, editor.

The thirteen volumes of this set in a pictorial history illustrate the rise of America. Because the "Chronicles of America" have no illustrations this is a companion volume to the other set.

Theodore Roosevelt's Letters to His Children," Theodore Roosevelt.

These letters were written by Theodore Roosevelt to his children during a period of more than a dozen years. Always they are characteristic of Roosevelt—his children were his mentation—a knowledge of the chief maladies—a knowledge of the measures by which the body may be protected from these diseases, or the poison neutralized when once within the body." According to the London Times this book is the "greatest biography" of our age.

"Chronicles of America," Allen Johnson, editor.

This is a set of twenty-five volumes dealing with the rise and progress of America from its discovery to its position as a world power. Step by step in a decidedly readable form the history of America has been developed—a development that includes all the great phases of our national life.

"The Pageant of America," Ralph G. Gabriel, editor.

The thirteen volumes of this set in a pictorial history illustrate the rise of America. Because the "Chronicles of America" have no illustrations this is a companion volume to the other set.

Theodore Roosevelt's Letters to His Children," Theodore Roosevelt.

These letters were written by Theodore Roosevelt to his children during a period of more than a dozen years. Always they are characteristic of Roosevelt—his children were his equals. He was ready to romp with them, to mourn with them, and to rejoice with them. As they grew older the playmate of childhood became the understanding companion of maturity. Radiant with the personality of Roosevelt these letters give accounts of the various incidents of his life when it was necessary for him to be away from home. There is also much of advice and guidance.

Delaware Subdues Gallaudet, 12 to 7

Blue and Gold Wins Game Decisively, But Loses Loveland

The University of Delaware football team won an expensive victory on Saturday when it went to Washington to beat Gallaudet 12 to 7. Loveland, Delaware's most potent offensive threat, came back with a broken wrist which puts him definitely on the casualty list.

In the very first play of the game Coach Rothrock uncorked a new stunt that left both the spectators and Gallaudet gasping. Acting Captain Glasser had elected to receive the kick-off and Gallaudet booted to Delaware's 5-yard line where Loveland caught the kick and dashed up the right side of the field, pulling Gallaudet's first line of defense with him. Taylor cut back of him at a dead run for the left side and Loveland passed him the ball. Taylor's interference was out ahead of him and cut down the secondary defense while "Ace" sped straight down the field for a touchdown.

Enraged at being outwitted, the mutes tore ruthlessly into Delaware for the remainder of the half, stewing the ground with Delaware injured. Reese, Benson and Green were knocked out, but were revived and continued playing. Late in the second period Loveland hurdled a tackler and was caught by another while in the air. He came down on his arm breaking his wrist.

Delaware made its second touchdown in the second quarter, when Rose went over from the two-yard line. Both Delaware's kicks for extra points were blocked.

Gallaudet made its score in the third period on a pass from the 30-yard line.

This Saturday the Blue and Gold will renew its ancient quarrel with Haverford, at Haverford.

Beacom Soccer Team Gives Newark Workout

Take Game 5 to 1, But Give Newark Valuable Practice

On Monday afternoon, Beacom College sent its heavy and experienced soccer team to Newark to give the Newark Junior High School passers a workout in preparation for their championship struggle with Greenwood, on Saturday. Newark was no match for Beacom and lost 5 to 1, but gained many valuable pointers from the game.

Beacom took the lead less than five minutes after the opening whistle, when Quillen hooked the ball in from scrimmage and shot it through for the goal. From this point on Beacom was never headed. Quillen registered two other goals in the same manner in this half to give the visitors a 3 to 0 lead at half time.

In the second half Quillen made his fourth tally of the day and before the end of the period Peters made another Beacom score on a corner kick. Newark's lone tally was made by Edmondson on a short pass from Walton just before the final whistle. The line-up:

Laurel Yields to Delaware J. V., 12-6

The Delaware Junior Varsity football team tried the mettle of Laurel High School on Friday last, and found it yielding. After trailing 6 to 0 in the first half, Delaware came from behind and took the game 12 to 6. This was good news for the Newark High School warriors, who will play Laurel on Thanksgiving for the State Championship of the D. I. A. A.

Marvil, who caused Newark so much trouble last year, made Laurel's score in the first quarter, when he caught a pass and carried it 30 yards for a touchdown.

Delaware made its first score on a Laurel error, West recovering a fumble and carrying it 50 yards for a touchdown. In the last part of the fourth quarter, Steel scored again on a short pass over the line.

CHALMERS STARRING FOR TOME

George "Shorty" Chalmers is again adding highlights to a brilliant career on the football gridiron. As triple threat man in the backfield of the Tome School team, "Shorty" has carried the brunt of this season's campaign. He was one of the factors in keeping the score down in the Lawrenceville game, and last week in the contest with Swavely, he garnered the majority of Tome's 47 points.

Wallace Scott, of Elkton, has been playing a great game at Tome this season, at center.

Manners require time, as nothing is more vulgar than haste.—Emerson.

Newark Wins Northern D.I.A.A. Championship

18 to 8 Victory Over DuPont Clinches Title; Will Play Laurel On Thanksgiving

By PAUL STEEL

Newark High School earned a victory and the Northern Half of the D. I. A. A. football championship by defeating du Pont High School on Frazer Field, Saturday afternoon, by a score of 18 to 8.

The game started with Newark feeling a little too confident. du Pont kicked off and the ball was put in play on Newark's 20-yard line. On the second play Newark was penalized 15 yards for illegal use of hands. Newark was forced to kick but the pass went over Cook's head and he was tackled for a safety. After holding Newark for downs, du Pont started a drive that Newark was unable to turn back. Weatherlow scored a touchdown on a very nice drive through the left side of Newark's line. He was in the arms of four Newark men in the 10-yard dash.

du Pont kicked to Newark and the home team seemed to find its stride. Time after time the Newark backs tore through du Pont's line for substantial gains. The parade ended when Tybinko went over from the 1-yard line.

du Pont received and showed very poor judgment by failing to kick and thereby giving Newark the ball on du Pont's 45-yard line. After two first downs Smith tore lose for a pretty 25-yard run, ending in a touchdown.

The second half seemed almost to be a repetition of the first in that Newark was slow to start. du Pont secured two first downs without much trouble.

Newark blocked the kick on du Pont's 45-yard line. Smith lost five yards and du Pont took possession of the ball on their own 40-yard line. du Pont was forced to kick and Newcomb received. He returned the ball to du Pont's 30-yard line. From then on it was his game. He ripped the du Pont line at will and was easily the star of the game. He put the ball in scoring position and a pass, Smith to Mayer, put it on the 2-yard line.

Mayer was called to the backfield and carried the ball over on the next play.

The feature of the game was easily the work of Newcomb. He showed himself to be a coming backfield man. He picked his holes with the ability of a veteran rather than a high school player.

Dayett's work on the defense was very pretty to watch. Time after time he was through du Pont's line and broke up play after play before it was started.

Newark has plenty to do to be ready for Laurel on Thanksgiving, but the boys are out to win. It is possible that the game will be played at the ball park, Dover. Summary:

When business or fun keeps you out late these cold, rainy evenings, and you come home chilled to the bone—that's when a Hot Bath means real comfort. It's like soaking up sunshine.

Delicious Sauces

The first sauce which comes to mind when thinking of Christmas is, of course, cranberry sauce. While it is not liked by everyone, it has many devotees, and both for them and for the others it will take on new charm when the sauce made from one pound of cranberries one can of crushed pineapple is added.

Not for the dinner is the following sauce but for the fruit salad which is the chief supper dish for Christmas evening. Combine four egg yolks or two whole eggs with one-eighth teaspoon of salt, two tablespoons of sugar and one cup of pineapple syrup. Cook in a double boiler stirring constantly until the mixture thickens, remove from the fire at once, add one teaspoon of lemon juice, strain and cool. When cold add one-half pint of cream which has been beaten stiff. Serve with any fruit salad. A No. 2½ size can of sliced pineapple yields one cup of syrup.

Sauces from Pineapple

There are several sauces suitable for serving over plum pudding which are superior to many of the more customary ones.

Pineapple Foamy Sauce: Melt two tablespoons of butter with two tablespoons of flour in a double boiler, and add gradually one cup of pineapple syrup, stirring until mixture thickens. Remove from the fire, and pour one egg white, slightly salted and beaten stiff with one-fourth cup of sugar. Season with one tablespoon of lemon juice and serve hot.

Pineapple Pudding Sauce: Cream one-half cup of butter with one cup of powdered sugar. Heat one cup of pineapple syrup and pour over one tablespoon of cornstarch smoothed to a paste in two tablespoons of cold water. Bring to the boiling point and cook until clear. Combine with the creamed butter and sugar, and stir briskly. Season with a little grated lemon rind and serve.

Pineapple Soufflé Sauce: Beat two egg whites until stiff, and gradually add one-half cup of sugar, beating constantly. When stiff as for meringue fold in one cup of crushed pineapple. Season with salt and a little lemon rind and serve. A hot sauce can be prepared by heating the pineapple to the boiling point before combining it with the meringue mixture.

A VANISHING ART

What has become of the old-fashioned chap who used to pucker up and whistle? He seems to have gone the way of the pug dog, the tidy that hung on the back of Aunt Tilly's rocking chair and the ankle-length skirt. All the whistlers nowadays are professionals or on the way to be.

Time was when every neighborhood boasted at least one man who scattered near-melody wherever he went. To be sure, his ear wasn't always of the best and he had a way of mixing "God Save the Queen" with "Pop Goes the Weasel" at times which was rather confusing to the listener, but, anyhow, he whistled for the sheer joy of it. Nor did he object to criticism. If others in the vicinity found no charm in his melody, as sometimes happened, they were privileged to speak their mind as freely as they chose. But, whether they liked his roundelay or not, they listened to it just the same as long as they were within range.

An aged cobbler back in Indiana always whistled as he drove pegs into the leather in applying a pair of half-soles. His favorite tune was "When You and I Were Young, Maggie," and he had worked out a system by which he could tell, without looking, just how far the work had progressed, simply by listening to his own music. Every third note of the song indicated a tap of the hammer. When he had whistled the song through four times he knew the job was finished.

Once in a while a traveling man, known in those halcyon days as a drummer, dropped in and he usually wanted a pair of half-soles in a big hurry. Did the cobbler forego the pleasure of whistling at his task merely because the customer was in a hurry? He did not! He merely substituted "Turkey in the Straw," or perhaps "Dixie," which automatically increased the tempo and turned out the job in jig time, so to speak.

There was something cheery and wholesome and neighborly about the fellow who whistled, no matter how badly, and his passing is to be regretted. The sobbing saxophone, however, seems to have been too much competition. —Los Angeles Times.

OBITUARY

Chandler D. Lamborn, aged 72 years, died on Monday, November 14, at the home of his son, William Lamborn, at Avondale, after an illness of four months, of a complication of diseases. Reverend R. C. #### UNIQUE VISIT

For probably the first time in the history of Delaware Masonry, an out-of-state lodge visited a Delaware lodge and put on a degree, when on Monday night about forty members of the Lansdowne, Pa., lodge visited the local Masons and conducted an initiation. A number of visitors from Wilmington and other lodges throughout the state were present and were greatly impressed by the ceremony. It is likely that the Newark lodge will visit Lansdowne in the near future and conduct one of their initiations.

AMERICAN MECHANICS HAVE BIG MEETING

On Monday evening, November 7, American Flag Council No. 28, Jr. O. U. A. M. held one of the largest meetings since its anniversary meeting last January. About one hundred and twenty-five members of this and visiting councils along with their friends were present.

At this meeting the Boosters Committee was present. Deputy National Councillor Chas. H. Simpkins, of Brooklyn, N. Y., delivered a stirring address on Juniorism. Brother Simpkins outlined the principles of the Juniors, showing the good a community may derive from having a live council of this organization in their midst. During the course of his talk he outlined the founding and rapid growth of this organization which has a membership of about a quarter million in the United States, of which Delaware has about seven thousand, which makes it the largest organization of its kind in the State.

Short talks were delivered by Past State Councillor A. W. Hope who is National Organizer for the State, Past State Councillor Chas. Sharp, State Lecturer Caulk, State Secretary Frank Seigrist and other brothers present. Music for the occasion was furnished by Professor Brinser and his orchestra, which was much enjoyed by all. Refreshments were served and the meeting adjourned at a late hour.

MRS. THOMPSON ENTERTAINS AT TEA

Neale and Miss Beulah Thompson, of this town. Miss Draper and Mrs. William Sipple, of Milford, poured. The assistants were: Mrs. Bonham, Mrs. Tiffany, Mrs. Holton, Mrs. J. P. Cann, Mrs. Houghton, and Mrs. George L. Townsend, Jr.

The table decorations were roses and snapdragons; a profusion of carnations and chrysanthemums decorated the other rooms. Mr. and Mrs. Thompson later entertained the ladies who assisted at the tea and their husbands at dinner and bridge.
