LIGHTING UP THE NEW STADIUM

Tri-Am Electrical Construction used a helicopter last week to install light poles at the University of Delaware's new Rullo Stadium on Route 4 east of South College Avenue. The $3.3 million artificial turf stadium, to be used primarily by the women's field hockey program, was completed with a $1 million donation from alumnus Fred P. Rullo Jr.

UD kicks off historic $225 million campaign

THE University of Delaware president has no doubt that the Newark institution will be successful in raising $225 million during the next five years and, at the same time, elevate the university's image nationwide.

Last week David P. Roselle detailed what he described as "the most ambitious capital campaign in the history of the university."

Admitting that only a small portion of the $225 million will go toward "bricks and mortar," traditionally the basis of the most successful capital fund-raising efforts, Roselle said "we're wandering into unknown territory, but I suspect we'll be successful."

Roselle has cause to be optimistic. In the pre-announcement or "quiet phase" of this campaign, individual and corporate donors have already lined the campaign's pot with $61.9 million in commitments.

Roselle said the effects of the campaign "will reach into every facet of the university,

IN ATTEMPTING to provide students with extra-instruction time, most schools in the Christina School District have set up mentoring programs. However, some of these programs don't come cheap.

The largest mentoring program used in the district is HOSTS (Help One Student to Succeed) which relies on community and business persons as volunteer labor.

Governor Thomas Carper who declared this week, "Mentor Appreciation Week" in Delaware, encouraged state employees to mentor during their lunch hours. And according to a press release from Delaware Health and Social Markovitz was assigned to Newark High School as the school resource officer in July.

Although Governor Thomas Carper has said he wants a resource officer in every public high school throughout the state, Markovitz is the only one currently in the Christina District.

In addition to manning an office at the high school, he is also resource officer for Downes and West Park elementary schools.

Marion Peavey, vice president of the University's development and alumni affairs, added that improved national status will offer graduates greater recruitment opportunities (more suitors at higher salaries) when they are finished studying in Newark.

With funds from the campaign, the University will be able to attract and retain a distinguished faculty. "Students will benefit from an improved faculty and greater learning opportunities," Roselle said.

POLICE BRIEFS

Strong arm robbery on Orchard Rd.

Newark police report that on Oct. 6 at approximately 7:50 p.m., a 36-year-old male was robbed in the 400 block of Orchard Road. According to police, two suspects grabbed the victim and forced him to the ground after which a third suspect put his arm on the victim's neck and demanded his money. The victim, who was not injured, gave the men $2. He was then instructed to walk away while the three white males fled on foot in the opposite direction. Anyone with information about the incident is asked to call police at 366-7111.

Man assaulted by four suspects

On Oct. 3 around 1:30 a.m. a 22-year-old white man was attacked by four white male suspects near Lincoln Drive and Elkton Road. The victim told police he was walking with a female companion when the four drove by in a 4-door white Nissan Maxima with a damaged left rear bumper. The suspects began hitting and kicking the victim and shoved the woman when she tried to help. Police have a license number of the car and are investigating.

Two mothers in melee

Around 5:20 p.m. on Sept. 29, a fight arranged by a female juvenile on King William Street resulted in a "free for all" involving seven suspects. Newark police said five juveniles and two mothers were in the fight which is part of an ongoing dispute. Police are investigating.

Fight results in arrests

On Oct. 3, around 1:30 a.m. police responded to a large fight at Haines and East Main streets. Anthony Grothans, 19, of New Castle, James E. Flamenti Jr., 22, of South Chapel Street and Brian P. Engle, 21, of East Main Street were charged with disorderly conduct. Charles D. Richardson Jr., 30, of New Castle was charged with assault for punching a 22-year-old Pennsylvania man. A Newark man also told police his car hood was dented and scratched during the fight.

'Peeping Tom' arrested

Newark Police, who have been receiving a significant number of calls of prowlers, burglars and attempted break-ins, made an arrest in one incident this week.

Police arrested William E. Caulk II, 20, who had used an outdoor chair to step up and peer into a Benny Street residence on Sept. 28. According to Lt. William R. Wilkerson, the Caulk was identified through fingerprints found at the scene.

Police also report that on Sept. 30 around 2:15 a.m. an unknown white man was seen peeping in the window of a residence on Yale Drive. On Sept. 23 around 2:30 a.m. an unknown black male entered the unlocked front door of a residence on Yale Drive but fled when he met a resident.

Police said an unidentified black male, around 26-years old wearing a green jacket with a logo on the back, attempted to use a credit card at Sears in Prices Corner taken from a burglary on Sept. 30 at a residence on Thorn Lane Apartments. The suspect fled from the store. Also taken during the burglary were CDs, a watch, a cell-phone and a mountain bike.

Sometime on Sept. 28 an unknown person stole the screen from a front window of a residence on South Chapel Street. Sometime between 11:30 p.m. on Sept. 29 and 7:45 a.m. on Sept. 30, unknown persons entered a residence on Thorn Lane through a window and removed jewelry, a Sony play station, games, two stereos, a TV, and a VCR.

Around 9 p.m. on Sept. 30, unknown persons entered an apartment on Wilbur Street through an open window and removed a video game player, CD games, CD changer and a stereo.

Sometime between 10:15 p.m. on Oct. 2 and 3:35 a.m. on Oct. 3, unknown persons attempted to pry open an apartment door in the Park Place Apartments. On the same date between 11 a.m. and 10:30 p.m. unknown persons broke into a rear bedroom window of a Thorn Lane apartment and removed a VCR, cordless phone, tape deck and an undisclosed amount of cash.

On Oct. 4 between 8:30 and 11:30 p.m. unknown persons entered a residence on Cleveland Avenue through an unlocked window and removed a VCR, stereo and CD player.

Anyone with information about these or similar incidents is asked to call Newark Police at 366-7111.

PART ONE OF A THREE-PART SERIES

Learning the job with Newark Police

Choose your weapons carefully

By MARY E. PETZAK

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

GO THROUGH Newark's Citizens' Police Academy and catch a glimpse of the desperation, the grueling days and nights, the intensity and the glamour of putting your life on the line each time you report for law enforcement duty.

Well, not exactly. Thrills are the least of what you get during the average day of a police officer in Newark. "A lot of people think it's glamorous," said Capt. Gerald Conway. "But it's not all that glamorous, and it's stressful — you're always thinking about it even when you're home."

Officers in the Newark Police Department spend the majority of their time consciously arranging to never meet a dangerous situation. "That's true," observed police academy coordinator Pfc. Mark Farrell, "but actually that's what we find one of the most exciting things about the job."

Only in the event that all else fails, and violence erupts, do they do what the rest of us actually believe is a daily occurrence — react decisively to contain the situation. "We (physically) act only when voice commands fail," said Cpl. George Stanko. "And then we get it over with the least hassle."

The Newark Police use a tactical weapon called "verbal judo," which was designed by an English literature professor who became a deputy sheriff. "It uses tactics to get people to do something they usually don't want to do," said Stanko, "without arguing, pissing them off or fighting with them."

The reason for always starting with the non-confrontational approach is simple. "We want to go home (healthy) at the end of the day," said Stanko.

Although they carry guns, and are required to stay qualified to shoot at all times, few of the current fulltime officers have ever used it on the job. Many are just as qualified, and spend more time, shooting video of events, crowds on Main Street, and other on-going situations for later review and instruction to themselves.

"The main way to solving crimes is communication," explained Conway. "You talk about it with other officers in the department and other departments, and review similar cases and situations with the state and county."

Nevertheless, the job that has emerged in the first weeks of this course remains an exciting and challenging proposition.

It's just not necessarily physical and threatening all the time.

Each week during the academy at least three officers participate in lectures on the jobs they do each day. Teaching is not their usual work, although in the course of their day they regularly instruct new officers — and each other.

A simple traffic stop which resulted in the murder of a Maryland state trooper a few years ago caused law enforcers throughout the region to review their own procedures. "Unfortunately, it's often tragedy that makes us change how we do things," said Stanko.

Other Newark officers stand around the room throughout the citizen sessions to observe, comment, and prepare suggestions for future such academies.

Almost all of these officers have already put in a full day's work, or will continue their shift into the night when the citizens go home. Nevertheless, they are attentive, patient, and passionate about what they do as they listen and answer questions.

School bus accident sends 40 children to hospital

A morning accident involving two school buses and a van on Interstate 95 on Wednesday, Oct. 7, sent 40 children to the hospital.

According to State Police media officer Walter Newton, the buses were traveling in the northbound lane when the school bus operated by Luz D. Carillo, 38, of Wilmington failed to stop and struck the 1989 Ford van operated by Robert A. Yacucci, 37, of Wilmington.

The van was pushed into the rear of the first school bus driven by Marian Diorio, 56, of Wilmington.

A witness saw at least four school buses as well as police vehicles, fire trucks and at least one ambulance on the interstate overpass near Frawley Stadium shortly before 9:30 a.m.

According to police, the buses in the accident were owned by the Ryder Student Transportation. A worker at the Christina School District transportation office said the accident involved children from the district on buses driven by contract drivers. The worker would not give any other information.

According to Scott Mash of Christiana Care, 39 children were brought into the Christiana Medical Center for treatment. Mash also said that two were sent to Wilmington Hospital, but according to his information, all were treated and released.

State police said Carillo was charged with inattentive driving and operating a school bus without an endorsement.

Christina District spokesperson John Holton confirmed that approximately 40 students complained of minor injuries and were sent to the hospital. "According to my information, two buses on their way to Pulaski (Elementary School) collided with a van," said Holton. "When we heard of the accident we followed our standard procedure."

Holton continued. "We responded to the scene and checked the medical condition of the kids," he said. "Some students were sent to the hospital so we sent someone to go with them and we notified the parents."

Holton said all the children were treated and released to their parents.

Statistically, school buses are the single safest form of highway travel, according to the National Association of State Directors of Pupil Transportation Services. However, school bus collisions in Delaware have risen 39 percent in the past five years with a slight decrease in the most recent two years.

In 1995-96, 204 collisions involving school buses were reported in the state. Most collisions, 151 of the 181 statewide in 1997-98, occur in New Castle County and on dry road surfaces.

School bus drivers were cited in 62 of the 181 accidents last year, and 57 of the 181 total collisions occurred in the months of September and October.

More than 1,500 school buses log a daily average of approximately 120,000 miles in Delaware this year. According to Ron Albence, transportation supervisor for the Christina School District, the fleet of buses in that district travels "a couple of million miles" per school year.

Habitat visitor from Zimbabwe comes to Newark this week

Sydney Mundeta, chairman of the National Board of Habitat for Humanity of Zimbabwe, will visit local Habitat sites in Newark and New Castle County this weekend.

According to spokesperson Janet Gross at Habitat for Humanity of New Castle County, Mundeta will be staying with local organization members during his stay in Delaware.

Tomorrow morning he will attend the 5K for Mission race organized by the University of Delaware chapter of Habitat which begins and ends at St. Thomas Episcopal Church on South Chapel Avenue.

At noon, Mundeta will have lunch with Barbara Thornton, owner of the home on Corbit Street rehabbed by Habitat last year. In the afternoon, he will attend the Home Show at the Bob Carpenter Center on Route 896.

Mundeta is in Delaware as a delegate to the board meeting of the international organization being held Oct. 15 to 17 in Wilmington.

Habitat for Humanity has been building and renovating homes locally since 1986. To date, 16 homes in Wilmington, four in New Castle and one each in Newport and Newark have been completed. Seven more in Wilmington are planned or underway.

Newark's resource officer says his job is 'about safety'

► OFFICER, from 1

officials requested he be given the new position. According to Police Chief William Hogan, between June 1997 and June 1998 Newark Police responded to over 300 incidents at or around the school.

Markovitz was quick to point out he is not the school disciplinarian. "School staff will take care of the food fights and students walking the hall without a pass," he said.

Markovitz is in charge of investigating all serious crimes like drugs, student violence against a staff member, serious student violence against another student and criminal mischief. "I have an open door policy," he said. "Any student can come in with a complaint — like their car was broken into — and I will look into it."

Newark Police media officer Mark Farrell said there have been 26 police calls at the school since Sept. 1 of this year. The calls range from one local fugitive and one suspicious person to one report of harassment and three property damage incidents.

Also included, however, are calls for three thefts, one report of carrying a deadly weapon (type not indicated) and one drug complaint. "These are complaints, however," said Farrell, "not incidents where we made an arrest."

In addition to his everyday duties, Markovitz and State Attorney General Jane Brady recently sponsored safety pledges for Newark's students to sign.

By signing these forms the students pledged to "help victims by speaking out against violence or getting adult help when it is needed." Students were provided with the phone number for the school's crime hotline.

Markovitz said eventually all students will be asked to sign such a form. "We don't want one of those situations where a student sees a gun and doesn't report it to anyone," he said.

According to Markovitz, most students seem to appreciate his presence at the high school because it makes them feel safer. "I want kids to know I'm not the boogey man and the last thing I want to do is arrest someone," he said. "But at the same time, if serious incidents do happen, I will do what I have to do to keep this school safe."

As part of his new role, Markovitz has joined the National School Resource Officer Association which provides literature and training for officers who work in and around schools.

He also attended the association's week-long training camp.

As the resource officer at Newark, Markovitz also wants to be involved in the educational process.

He will be a guest lecturer in several classrooms, sharing information from his police academy training on everything from constitutional law to a science class about forensic evidence.

Markovitz sees himself as just another one of the school staff. "In a typical day I meet the students when they get off the bus and say good by when they get on the buses," he said. "Anything could happen in between."

Ultimately, Markovitz said his job is about safety. "I really believe by being here I create a safer environment, and, hopefully, (that) will make it easier for kids to learn."

Bar raised for entry to UD

High school graduates in the Class of 1999 are going to find it a bit harder to gain acceptance to the University of Delaware next fall.

According to University president David P. Roselle, the bar is being raised to bring the student population back in line next year after the "surprise" the Newark institution received this September.

He said the acceptance rate of enrollment offers this school year shot up 4 percent over normal.

"We accepted fewer students than before but we ended up with 400 more freshmen," Roselle said. "We've been working since 1990 to control the student population but this year we got a surprise."

Next year, Roselle said, "it will be a little more difficult to get into the university."

He declined to give specifics of what criteria will be elevated to reduce the numbers.

“We accepted fewer students...we ended up with 400 more freshmen.”*

DAVID P. ROSELLE

PRESIDENT, UNIVERSITY OF DELAWARE

Roselle's revelation came during a news conference to announce an ambitious $225 fund-raising campaign.

"It is not our intention to grow the undergraduate population — we are comfortable with its size," he said. "We have the right number of faculty and the right number of dorm rooms."

reward distinguished faculty and a program to encourage early career faculty to become scholar-teachers.

Students will benefit from $50 million which will be directed toward merit, need-based and athletic scholarships, students awards, and endowment of fellowships and scholarships for graduate students.

Another $50 million will fund construction of a new engineering building, renovations and enhancements of the "living-learning environment," and purchase of state-of-the-art teaching, research, lab and technological equipment. An electronic library will be funded as well.

The academic program will be enhanced by $40 million in endowments to support undergraduate study abroad, research and internships. The funds will support collection development and acquisitions for the University of Delaware.

Rounding out the $225 million is an estimated $50 million in "expendable gifts" that will be realized through increased annual giving and alumni support.

According to Roselle, a team of high profile "friends" will lead the national fund-raising effort, including: Charles M. Cawley, chairman and CEO of MBNA America; alumnus and Newark native Robert W. Gore, president and CEO of W. L. Gore and Associates; Jack A. Krol, the CEO of the DuPont Company; and alumnus P. Coleman Townsend Jr., president of Townsends Inc., in Millsboro.

Their efforts will be supported by volunteers on nine campaign committees and a 17-person fund-raising staff headed by Peavey.

In addition to soliciting current and previous donors to the university, Roselle said he hoped this five-year campaign would yield a doubling of alumni gifts. Because of increases in the UD student population in the past decade, Roselle noted the university's alumni base is "quite young. We hope to get them into the habit of making gifts, particularly as they mature in their careers."

If Roselle and his team are successful five years from now with raising the $225 million, they will be credited with tallying the largest campaign in the history of higher education in the nation on a per capita basis.

► HOSTS, from 1

Services, HOSTS is a non-profit mentoring provider.

However, HOSTS is a business — a for-profit program based in Dallas, Texas, and presently used in over 12,000 schools in 42 states — the largest mentoring service in the nation.

According to Mike Walls, HOSTS coordinator for the state, 43 Delaware schools carry the program which makes Delaware the highest per capita HOSTS state in the country. Of those 43 schools, 19 are in the Christina District, including the only three high schools in the state with the program.

HOSTS offers tutoring programs in language arts, math and Spanish. However, with the exception of a math program at Bancroft, Christina uses only the language arts program.

To make HOSTS available to students a school first must buy a site license. According to Kenneth Brown, Christina's director of business and finance, all district licenses are paid out of the superintendent's instructional budget.

"The site licenses' cost varies depending on the total enrollment of the school," Brown said. "But what I can tell you, is that the average cost for a license is $4,475, and that Christina spent $85,000 for site licenses (in the 1998/99 budget)."

Under the site license, HOSTS provides training to school coordinators, two achievement tests for students, and access to a database which lists material that can help the students.

"Each coordinator gets five days of training for the first year and about two to three days every following year," Walls said.

However, those coordinators must be provided by the individual schools — meaning a school must use a teacher, or some other trained professional, to run the HOSTS program.

"(The coordinators) salaries come out of the regular budget allocated for staff salaries at each school," said Christina spokesman John Holton. "Some schools free up a teacher to just run the HOSTS program; other schools use a teacher half in HOSTS and half teaching. It's all up to the schools."

The average teacher's salary in Christina is $46,030 per year.

It is the school coordinator's job to set up an individualized lesson plan for each student. "The HOSTS coordinator's job is really to make the paradigm shift from class structure to one-to-one instruction," Walls said.

In addition, the school coordinator is responsible for recruiting volunteer mentors. To help do this the district also has appointed a district HOSTS coordinator.

"(The district HOSTS coordinator) is a regular district employee," Holton said. "Part of the responsibility for that position is to oversee the HOSTS programming, but she also has other responsibilities."

To determine if a child needs tutoring, the school coordinator gives the student the two achievement tests provided by HOSTS. The first test determines the student's individual instruction level. Meaning what grade level the student reads and writes. The second test pinpoints the areas of weakness.

LINDA LINDAL

HOSTS COORDINATOR, JOHN R. DOWNES ELEMENTARY SCHOOL

After it is determined what area the student needs help in, the coordinator can use the database to find instructional material.

"Basically the database gives a teacher access to the tools to make up the lesson plans," Walls said.

However, the school must purchase all the actual lesson plan materials out of its own budget. Brown said the cost of material for a school just starting the program is between $3,000 to $4,000. After the first year, Brown said yearly material expenses vary greatly, however he estimated that the average for a school is $1,000 per year.

Despite the high cost, Linda Lindal, HOSTS coordinator for Downes Elementary, believes the structure the program provides is worth the money it costs.

"What we receive is a lot of structure," Lindal said. "HOSTS gives us a support system. If something isn't working, you can call. If you're just running a mentoring program you don't have that support system."

Most of the eight district schools that don't have HOSTS have their own mentoring program. Representatives from two of those schools, Elbert-Palmer and Jennie E. Smith Elementary said the reason their schools don't use HOSTS is because they already have mentoring programs that work.

"We had this program in place before HOSTS became available," Smith principal Todd Harvey said of the mentoring program which has partnerships with MBNA and Provident Mutual of Delaware. "Our experience was, this program was working and we didn't want to change it. I wouldn't say anything negative about HOSTS, but our program, we feel, works."

Like the HOSTS program, Smith Elementary uses coordinators to match up kids with mentors and both of the school's coordinators are also full-time teachers.

Harvey said he buys some material for the program out of the schools' budget. However, unlike HOSTS, the program uses a lot of in-class material.

"HOSTS is going to work on a set of goals and objectives in reading with set material," he said. "But our program can also work with material from the classroom. (The student) may use his reading text one day; he may use his math material another day."

Elbert-Palmer mentoring coordinator Mary Lynch said that school's program runs through a non-profit organization called Creative Mentoring.

Staff from Creative Mentoring, which is paid through state grants, trains all the mentors and does follow-up work. Lynch said one of the main reasons the schools uses this program is because it is not limited to just reading.

"HOSTS is only reading," Lynch said. "We haven't limited it to only reading. Our kids come with their class work or home work — we don't have separate materials."

According to Harvey, the difference between HOSTS and other mentoring programs is just a matter of school preference. The important thing is the interaction between the mentors and kids.

"I think mentoring programs across the board are positive," Harvey said. "As long as the program has structure to it, it can really be beneficial to the students."

Christina District schools that use HOSTS include: Bayard, Brader, Downes, Drew-Pyle, Gallaher, Leasure, Marshall, Pulaski, Stubbs, West Park and Wilson elementary schools; Bancroft Academy; Gauger-Cobbs, Kirk and Shue-Medill middle schools; and Christina, Glasgow and Newark high schools.

One...two...$225 million will buy more prestige

University of Delaware president David P. Roselle's announcement last week of a record-setting $225 fund-raising campaign is good news to all Newarkers.

Not only do we believe that Dr. Roselle and his national team of volunteer solicitors will be successful, we think it's good for our town, current and future UD students, and all UD graduates.

With permanent monuments like the Bob Carpenter Center, Gore Hall and MBNA America Hall testifying to his success as UD's president, Dr. Roselle wisely has set his sights on raising the university's national and worldwide reputation.

The ambitious campaign will lure and retain distinguished faculty members and fund cutting-edge learning opportunities for UD students. Dr. Roselle maintains that the campaign seeks to make qualitative, not quantitative changes. He has no intentions of increasing the undergraduate population of UD. Certainly, $225 million will get this job done and everyone benefits.

Simply put, the more prestigious the UD is, the more prosperous the surrounding community will be.

All the while, the UD president insists he is mindful of the university's charter commitment to provide a quality education to all of Delaware's children. He said this campaign will enhance this obligation and future Delaware high school graduates will not suffer. Rather, they'll be served with an institution of higher education that is tops in the nation with more financial assistance in the form of internships and fellowships than ever before. The economics here are simple: the better status the UD has nationwide, the better the job offers for UD grads.

With many accomplishments to his credit, president Roselle could choose to stand on his laurels. Rather, he has chosen to push the Newark institution forward. We applaud him and wish his nationwide team of volunteers "good luck."

ONE PARENT'S PERSPECTIVE

Catch the feeling at your child's school this year

By RUTH KELLY

NEWARK POST COLUMNIST

SCHOOL IS IN FULL SWING AND my, what a time we are having! As always, the beginning of the school year brings more changes. This mom still wants to resign and run away from home at times, particularly as we exit pre-adolescence and enter into the preteen challenges.

Change didn't waste any time and began the first day of school. Kim left the house first and as she walked out the door I lovingly told her to have a nice day. She looked back and said, "See ya mom" and then hesitated and added, "Could you do me a favor and don't wave to me when you drive past the bus stop!"

Boy, did that hurt for a second or two. It killed me, but I drove by and did not wave as I saw the look of "please don't" on her face.

The first few weeks of school are a whirlwind of activity and lots of fun things are happening. I can't believe that we were so apprehensive about middle school. It has been wonderful and has ignited in me an enthusiasm like never before.

My first impression on entering the school building was the size and the length of the hallways. I could lose some serious weight trekking these halls daily!

I'm also beginning to feel that middle schools nationwide are getting a bad rap. I was bracing myself to witness bedlam and mayhem and have found quite the contrary. I see mannerly young adults working in the school office and helping out on orientation and open house night.

Kelly

I did not follow the bus this year, but have been in the building several times. I also chaperoned the Welcome Back School Dance and enjoyed myself immensely. I'm sure that we don't have a building full of angels, but have seen no examples of bad or inappropriate behavior that was my fear. I got to meet many kids who stopped to buy a soda and snack and all were truly nice, mannerly kids.

The warmth one feels at Kirk is intoxicating and I'm in love with my daughter's newest school. I was made to feel welcome from the very first day. More importantly, I feel gratitude and relief for my daughter who is loving her middle school experience.

You hear so much negative where our schools are concerned. More parents should visit our schools and take the time to see what is going on in the buildings. You might not be quite as excited as I am, but I guarantee you will be impressed and leave knowing that your child's education is in good hands.

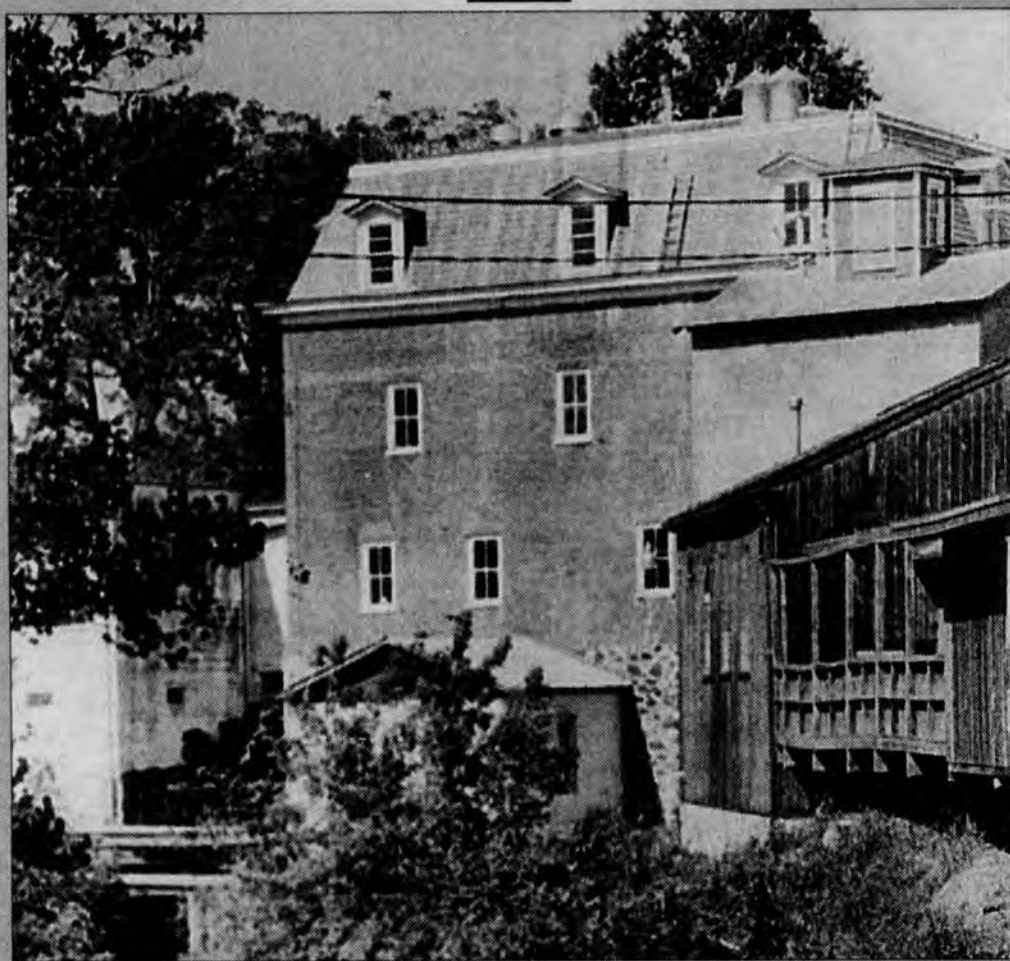

We just had our first Site Council meeting. This is the governing body of the school and has representation by all of the school's stakeholders including parents. We have much work to do — so much that it can be overwhelming.

But, as I watched and listened to the presentations made by the principal and staff members, that feeling was replaced with a dedication and commitment to doing my share to make sure our school has an academically successful year for all of "Kirk's Kids!"

School sites all over the state are struggling with Shared Decision Making and I don't think that's necessary. This concept should be embraced by all. The same energy used to struggle and resist the changes needed to produce a top notch school can be turned into a feeling of empowerment.

OUT OF THE ATTIC

The exact history of Dayett Mill at the corner of Old Baltimore Pike and South Chapel Street is unclear although it was in use early in the 18th century on a tract of land given to William Penn. The Cooch family acquired the property in 1774. The original grist mill was destroyed and a second mill built on the site was sold to John Dayett in 1887. It is one of only two working mills still in existence in Delaware.

Large potato crop in this vicinity

The success of the white potato crop in Kent and New Castle Counties is predicted by John S. Dennee, agricultural statistician of the United States Department of Agriculture in the division of crop and livestock estimates.

He also predicts a large yield of apples in Sussex County.

Because of the shortage of labor, many of the farmers in Kent County have not rented farms for next year. The same is true of farms in Sussex County. The public works and road works are getting all the help since they offer high wages.

Wilmington - Kennett trolley doomed

Residents of Hockessin, Marshallton and other sections of upper New Castle County who have made a valiant attempt to have the line in question restored, may be interested in the following discouraging report.

From present indications the lower end of the former West Chester, Kennett and Wilmington Electric Railway will soon be but a memory.

On Friday Richard W. Crooks, Joseph H. Martin and Samuel E. Cooper, owners of the road from Kennett Square to Brandywine Springs, agreed to dispose of their holdings to S. Snyder Corporation, dealers in rails and metals, of Rochester, N.Y.

Omega fight continuing

The Suburban County Hospital Task Force has spawned a new organization to help get the Wilmington Medical Center's Omega Plan out of court and into construction.

And although the group is only a fledgling, it's already preparing to cut its first teeth — on the City of Wilmington, the task force's longtime opponent.

A redevelopment authority for Newark?

Newark city officials and the Greater Newark Chamber of Commerce are searching for a way to consolidate planning and funding of a downtown revitalization effort into one small, decision-making committee.

As part of that search, the officials are exploring the feasibility of initiating a redevelopment authority in Newark.

Redevelopment authorities were used by many cities in the sixties and early seventies to seek federal funds for urban renewal-type projects.

October 8, 1993

Too much radon here?

A recent survey by the Delaware Department of Health shows a significant number of homes in the Newark area contain radon levels exceeding safe standards.

One home tested almost 41 times higher than the safe level—the highest level registered among readings gathered throughout the state for the known carcinogen. According to health officials, such a concentration has the same effect on human lungs as smoking six packs of cigarettes a day. Through corrective measures, the radon level in this house has now been lowered to a safe one.

Louviers closing not yet ruled out

DuPont officials have made no decisions about further layoffs affecting its five Newark area sites, but the company has more building space than it needs for its current work force, a DuPont spokesman said.

The company established Louviers in 1952 on Del. 72 in Newark; about 1,500 people are employed at the site, which is used as an engineering and computer center.

DuPont's combined work force stands at a little over 4,000.

Parents, we can't sit back and not be involved. Your child and their school has to come first. Their success depends on your involvement. The school system can't possibly do it alone. I feel there is nothing that I tant local issues, and strong opinion pieces that offer points of view and courses of action, are most often the starting point of discussion within a community.

The theme of National Newspaper Week, Oct. 4 to 10, is "It all starts with newspapers," a statement that gets right to the heart of our business. As recorders of activities large and small within the community, as the community's watchdog and often spokesperson, a newspaper plays a crucial role in day-to-day life in every city, town and village in the country.

Beginning with a birth announcement, newspapers start their coverage of people's lives at the earliest event. That coverage continues throughout a person's life, recording accomplishments, failures, milestones and finally, death. As a keeper of the stories of a community, the newspaper is there at the start, and the finish, and remains the only effective instrument for such record-keeping.

Most projects in the community are truly launched when objectives and fund-raising goals are splashed across the pages of the local newspaper. Coverage in the newspaper of fund-raising initiatives, door-to-door campaigns and construction schedules help the readers stay in touch with the projects from start to finish.

As they begin their search for an important household item, consumers usually turn to the pages of the newspaper to study advertisements and promotions placed by local merchants.

When planning trips, readers turn to the newspaper for information about possible destinations. When looking for a new home or attempting to sell their present house, people find the pages of the newspaper the best place to start. The classified section of any newspaper is the first source for people looking for employment. As always, it all begins with newspapers.

For many people, their first field trip in school is often a visit to the local newspaper.

And many people develop a lifelong love of reading by picking up a newspaper to follow the progress of their favorite sports' teams, see if their school or community award is mentioned, or check out weekend entertainment.

The habit of reading the newspaper is an important step in building literacy skills, as well as keeping a person well-informed on the issues of the day.

A good newspaper offers something for everyone, whether it is coverage of an election race, reports from council and school board meetings, display or classified advertising, or strong opinion writing that educates and excites the reader.

When it comes to creating an informed, educated, productive and opinionated community, it all starts with newspapers.

An unusual art show in Newark that's free of charge!

PHOTOGRAPHY is very much in the news this month and I plan to be writing about it in my column three times. Today I want to share with you some information about the University of Delaware Gallery in Old College. It is celebrating its 20th anniversary and is doing it with an exhibition which combines photography and hand painted art. The title of the exhibition is "Forgotten Marriage: The Painted Tintype and the Painted Frame."

I was fascinated by the combination of the two art forms. So was The University's Director of Museums, Belena S. Chapp. She said of her latest exhibition, "The photographs in the show highlight the importance of the tintype in the context of American society at the turn of the century. Since the tintype was an inexpensive, easily produced and durable form of photography, it allowed everyone, regardless of social status, the opportunity to immortalize their image." It is important to remember that before tintypes, portraiture was a very expensive affair. There were no "quick-shot" artists in your local department store. Before this time having a portrait meant hiring a painter or a visit to a private photographic studio, neither of which came easy on the pocket book.

Tintypes were produced from 1856 to the mid 1930s and, strangely enough, were popular only in this country. They were made by coating a thin, black lacquered sheet of iron with light sensitive chemicals. These portraits had no negatives so each one was unique in and of itself. Since the tintypes were dull and essentially colorless, they were sometimes hand painted to make a more realistic, life like portrait.

THE ARTS

By PHIL TOMAN

You read about steel and light sensitive materials but no tin in the tintypes? There is a good reason for that. There is no tin in the tintypes. They got their name from the fact that tin snips were used to cut out the iron sheets. That is Toman's Trivia for Today!

Most of those you will see in the exhibition now open in the second floor gallery of Old College on Main Street in Newark are still in their original frames. Museum Director Chapp pointed out however, "In some instances the tintypes have been removed from their original frames but still retain their original mats. In these instances, the tintypes have been given a period frame."

Frames in the exhibit are as varied as the pictures. They vary in style with numerous moldings ranging from the Federal to the Modern period. This is as it should be when you consider the many years during which tintypes were made. To make it easier for us, all are shown in chronological order. You may observe the various styles and relate them to the period in which they were produced.

This exhibit is a first for the University Gallery and for galleries around the nation. "It is the first to recognize not only the importance of the painted tintype within American art, but also the importance of the photograph and the frame as a single work of art," Ms. Chapp explained.

There are more than 100 tintypes on display in the gallery and they are all from the collection of Dr. and Mrs. Stanley Burns. The couple has spent the last 25 years performing exhaustive research on all manner of vernacular photography from tintypes to the old "button" pictures to photographic postcards. A Tip of The Toman Topper to the Burns family for their efforts and for sharing the fruits of their labor with us all at the University Gallery.

If you would like to see this unusual art show you may do so free of charge. Old College is located on the corner of Main Street and North College Avenue in downtown Newark. It is an easily recognizable building with its massive outside stairway. Gallery hours are 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Friday and 1 to 5 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday. Don't let that beautiful entrance with all those steps frighten you. The gallery is wheelchair accessible if you call in advance.

For more information about the show, or accessibility, you may call the University Gallery at 302-831-8242. You may read more about the exhibition on the Gallery's website, <http://seurat.art.udel.edu>.

You have until November 1 to enjoy the show.

Ocean waves, the Titanic and earthquakes at UD this week

Here's a chance to see a wave tank, hear a talk by the discoverer of the Titanic, and view earth-drilling equipment when the University of Delaware celebrates Earth Science Week through Oct. 16 on the campus in Newark. All events are free and open to the public.

A screening of "The Day The Earth Shook," a Nova program on the Kobe earthquake, will be presented at 8 p.m., on Tuesday, Oct. 13, in Room 006, Kirkbride Hall, West Delaware Avenue, Newark.

Robert Ballard, discoverer of the Titanic, will talk about his experiences at 7:30 p.m., Wednesday, Oct. 14, in the Bob Carpenter Center, Routes 4 and 896, Newark.

On Thursday, Oct. 15, an open house and wave tank demonstrations starting at 1 p.m. at the Ocean Engineering Laboratory highlight one of the most sophisticated coastal engineering experimental facilities in the world. This lab on Academy Street allows researchers to bring the ocean indoors with its unique wave tank as well as wave basins, flumes and other equipment where naturally-occurring processes can be studied.

At the same time, the Water Resources Agency, also on Academy Street, will host an open house and offer demonstrations of their Geographic Information System equipment, posters and displays.

Beginning at noon on Friday, Oct. 16, see the Department of Geology, inside and out, at Penny Hall on Academy Street. Special equipment on display will include the Delaware Geological Survey's 30-foot long by 22-foot high drill rig used to explore layers of the earth. Visitors can also view different layers of the ground through sound waves and swing a sledgehammer to see the resulting reverberations printed out on a computer.

A sandbox Fossil Find especially for children in kindergarten through grade 3, begins at 3 p.m. behind Penny Hall. Children will be able to sift the sand from the Pollack Farm Fossil site, located southeast of Smyrna, for 18 million-year-old marine fossil shells and shark teeth, terrestrial and vertebrate fossil remains.

Tours especially appropriate for groups of school children on the geology and hydrology of Delaware can be arranged during the week in the DGS building. To schedule a group tour or for more information, call 831-2833.

For more information, a complete schedule of events can be found on the DGS web site at <http://www.udel.edu/dgs/weeksch ed.html>.

KIDS BRIEFS

Halloween volunteers needed

The Newark YWCA is seeking volunteers to help set up/tear down and staff their Enchanted Village, an alternative to the scary side of Halloween. Volunteers help with crafts and face painting, wear costumes and make scarecrows, serve refreshments and sprinkle "pixie dust." The event is scheduled for 5 to 9 p.m. on Oct. 22, 23, and 24. To volunteer, call 577-4965 ext. 216.

'Virtual camping' offered by 4-H

The 4-H Health Cyber Camp will feature hikes through "virtual woods," exploration of health topics such as food nutrition and fitness, camping; outdoor and environmental issues; and relationships with others. Participants can also experience "virtual campfires" as well as other traditional activities.

The Camp will be held from Oct. 19-30. Campers ages 8-12 should register online at <http://www.4-h.org/cgi-bin/camp/Registration/index.cgi>. For more information call the New Castle County Cooperative Extension at 831-4977.

Hampster race planned

The 4-H Hamster Club will host a hamster race on Saturday, Oct. 24, at 10 a.m. at the New Castle County Extension office, 910 S. Chapel St., Newark (on Route 72 across from Caldor). Club members expect the event to be great fun for all - especially the hamsters! Participants, who do not have to be 4-H members, will need to bring a hamster and an exercise ball. Entry fee is $1 per hamster. For more information, please call Samantha Pettingill at 836-1111

TV critical-viewing workshop planned

Seminar on dating violence tomorrow

New Castle County Police are presenting a seminar on Dating Violence tomorrow from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the New Castle P.A.L. Center in Garfield Park, New Castle. The event, designed to educate persons age 12-18 on how to handle dating violence, includes a catered lunch. Those wishing to attend must pre-register by calling the voicemail box of Detective Gerry Donovan at 571-7430, ext. 2341. Please leave a name, number of people attending, and a telephone number.

UNICEF needs storage space

The U.S. Committee for UNICEF, Delaware Division, is in desperate need of a depot for the storage of gifts and greeting cards for the year of 1998 and 1999. A first-floor space approximately the size of an 8-foot by 10-foot room in the Newark, Elkton, or Cecil County area is preferable. To volunteer space or information about our volunteer programs, please contact, Amy Amos, project coordinator at 292-2721.

Spaghetti dinner planned

The Little Sisters of the Poor will hold a Spaghetti Dinner 2 to 7 p.m. on Nov. 8 at their Jeanne Jugan Residence, 185 Salem Church Road, Newark. Robert Piane, a 5-Star National Winner, is guest chef. A Christmas Boutique also will be held the same day, with proceeds from both events benefiting the elderly residents living at the home. Everyone is welcome and carry-outs will be available provided that you bring your own containers. Dinner cost is $7 for adults and $4 for children. For tickets, please call Cathy Marcum, Monday-Friday, 7:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. at 368-5886.

Reunion for CHS class of '73

Members of the Christiana High School Class of 1973 will hold a silver reunion on Saturday, Nov. 28, at Ruddertowne in Dewey Beach. The cost of $30 per person is due by Oct. 21. For information, call Diaz Bonville at 645-7544, Charles & Nancy Stenger Joseph at 645-4658, Tom King at 645-7275, Elizabeth Sumlin Allen at 684-8270, or Jackie Howell-Artis at 684-1745.

Salesianum reunion planned

Salesianum School's Class of 1973 will hold its 25th reunion on Friday, Nov. 27, at the Grille Room of Wilmington's Hotel DuPont beginning at 6:45 p.m. The cost of the event is $50 per person or $90 per couple. Members of the class interested in attending should contact Steve Truono at 475-8868 or Anthony Frabizzio at 762-7335.

Donations of vehicles sought by Lung Assoc.

The American Lung Association

is looking for donations of boats, RVs, campers, ATVs, even mobile homes in addition to cars, trucks, and vans. "The condition of the item doesn't matter," said executive director Martha C. Bogdan. "However, we do ask that a boat be on a trailer and that the item is in a place where a tow truck can get to it easily." Proceeds from sale of the items will be used to help the association prevent lung disease and promote lung health. For more information visit the association's website at www.donateyourcar.com or call the Don't Trade It - Donate It hotline at 1-800-577-LUNG.

Legal referral expands statewide

Legal Help Link, a centralized intake and referral service for legal assistance, is now available to all low-income Delawareans. The service, primarily operated by Delaware Volunteer Legal Services and staffed by Widener Law School students, began in 1997 in New Castle County. Residents of Kent and Sussex counties can now use the service by calling 800-773-0606. New Castle County residents can continue to use the original Legal Help Link number, 478-8850.

-town. "Main Street at night, especially on weekends, is a completely different place than daytime," Poley said. "It's like the boardwalk in summer - it's a freakshow."

Poley's officers are the ones most likely called out to deal with incidents like last spring's riot on Elkton Road. "You have to handle the situation while people are hooting, yelling, gesturing and throwing bottles at you," she noted. "It happens all the time."

Special operations officers, who work 6 p.m. to 2 a.m. on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, also aid the Alcohol and Beverage Commission with raids of loud parties and monitor liquor stores for underage buyers and fake IDs. "It's a difficult assignment," Poley said. "My officers can still be here doing their paperwork at 4 a.m."

But, despite all the stresses of the job, Pfc. Curt Davis of Poley's unit cited the most important tools of his trade as his flashlight and shoes. "Many of the places you go at night are not lighted at all," explained Davis. "And shoes are critical when you spend so much time on your feet."

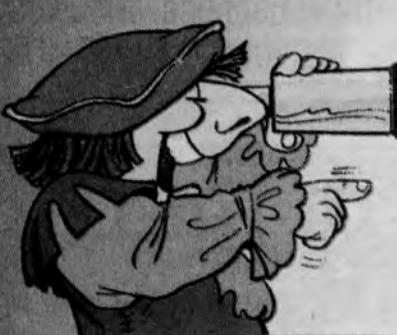

In fact, as described so far, policing is much more about choosing your weapons than using them. "It's a little known fact that more police are killed with their own weapons than those of others," said Stanko. "Our job is to be peacekeepers - keeping the safety of the public and ourselves in mind at all times."

ST. MARK'S TOPS NEWARK

Dzielak scores twice to lead Spartans

By CHRIS DONAHUE

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Two of the state's high school soccer heavyweights - St. Mark's and host Newark - went toe-to-toe last Thursday night as their seasons neared the midway point.

Defending state champion St. Mark's pounded out a deserved 2-1 victory, but the lingering feeling left was that the two teams will meet again when the bell rings late in the state tournament.

The outcome was also significant for several reasons.

For Newark, which entered the game 5-0-1 and was missing forward Sam Wade, one of its most creative forwards, it showed it can play with probably the best team in the state.

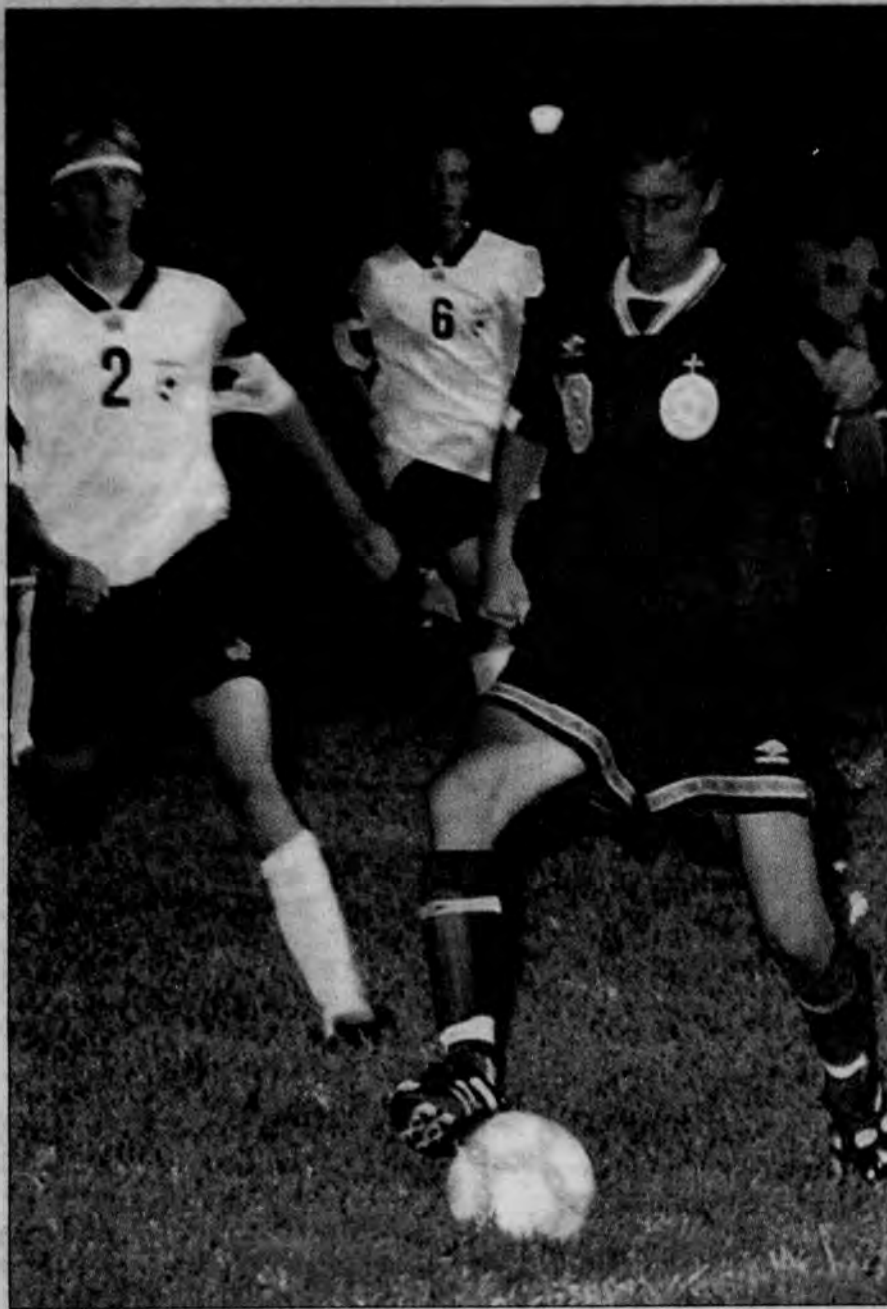

St. Mark's, which improved to 5-1-1, showed that it has closed ranks after losing nine of 11 starters from last year's 18-1-1 team. It also beat Newark without sweeper-back Jeremy Doucette, who was out with a concussion. However, stopper back Stephen Mangat filled Doucette's role as though he belonged there.

And, perhaps most ominously for any future opponents of St. Mark's, senior forward Jason Dzielak is regaining the touch that made him the deadliest scorer in the state last year when he notched 27 goals.

Against Newark, Dzielak scored twice in the first half - early off a pretty assist by Adam Stuller and just before the break after a textbook baseline run and feed by Will Hohman.

Dzielak's goals gave him six for the season and 49 for his career. He needs seven to set the school's all-time record, which is an impressive feat considering some of the players who have been the spear points of the Spartans' phalanxes over the years.

Dzielak said a pulled hamstring muscle, which can be devastating for a forward because it limits the ability to make the critical first step to shake off a defender, was one of the main reasons for his slow start this season.

"I struggled at the beginning of the season," Dzielak said. "It just wasn't there for me. Maybe it was because I was getting used to new guys or the game situations or whatever. Now I'm getting the touch back and things are starting to come together."

"I was (getting frustrated), but I was trying not to because it didn't do me any good, because the harder I tried the harder it became on myself."

St. Mark's coach Tom DeMatteis said he was aware of Dzielak's early-season frustration.

"He did his best to try to not let it interfere, and it was tough for him, but I think he's rounded into shape, and I think the whole team has," DeMatteis said. "We still hit some bumps. We were a little shaky in

Christiana soccer stays unbeaten

By CHRIS DONAHUE

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

As Christiana High's soccer team nears the midpoint of its season, the toughest part of its schedule looms just over the horizon.

But with a 7-0 record to start the season, there's little doubt the Vikings are already a side to be reckoned with.

As Christiana headed into a Blue Hen Conference Flight A game Thursday against Brandywine, the Vikings had outscored their opponents 27-5.

Only a similar start by the Vikings in 1988 can come close to what this team has done so far, said Christiana coach John Kendall, who's now in his 19th year at the helm.

"They're playing well. They help each other out," said Kendall, whose team was 2-0 in Flight A play before Thursday.

"One thing I've been able to do is move different players to different positions. About six or seven of them can play anyplace. There's times when I move the forwards back on defense and the defenders up on offense. The forwards, when I moved them back, have played so well because they're so fast. You can't get by them."

Senior forward Tom Alexander leads the Vikings in goals with 11, while junior midfielder Greg Victor leads the team in assists with eight.

Another key to the Vikings offensive success has been balanced scoring. Kendall cited the contributions of Marlon Jones, who is one of only four seniors who start, junior Chris Herbert and sophomore John McClain as examples of players who supply both goals and assists.

The defense has been staked by the play of two goalies - senior Jeff Matyger and junior Erich Bull. Matyger plays the first half of every game and Bull plays the second half.

Blue Hens face William & Mary

By MARTY VALANIA

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

The University of Delaware football team had a great Saturday in and out of Delaware Stadium. It hopes that good fortune continues this week.

Inside the stadium Saturday, the Blue Hens knocked off a tough Northeastern squad 27-20 to improve its record to 4-1. While that was going on here, Atlantic-10 rival and leader Villanova was getting waxed in Maine.

Throw in losses by previously unbeaten and top-ranked Youngstown State and previously unbeaten and fifth-ranked Hofstra (to UMass no less) and it's no surprise that the Hens are again ranked among the top six teams in the country in I-AA.

Delaware, however, has no time to kick back and enjoy their lofty status as road trips to No. 8 William & Mary and Youngstown State loom in the next two weeks.

This week's trip to Williamsburg is especially troublesome considering the Tribe knocked off Division I-A (in name anyway) Temple 45-38 last week. Villanova's loss also brings William & Mary right back into the conference championship hunt. It also should be mentioned that William & Mary has won the last two games against Delaware played in Williamsburg and three of the last four games overall.

"William & Mary is a good football team that's getting better," said Delaware coach Tubby Raymond, who holds a 12-7 record against the Tribe. "At the beginning of the season their defense was very modest. However, it's gotten much better over the last few weeks.

"And on offense, [quarterback Mike] Cook is the best passer in the conference."

The Tribe has beaten Rhode Island, VMI, Northeastern (24-21) and Temple. Its lone loss was to Villanova (45-28).

"We always seem to have tough football games against Delaware," said William & Mary coach Jimmie Laycock. "I don't expect anything different this year."

The Tribe has scored at least 21 points in each of its games this year and have benefited from the return of 1996 Atlantic-10 Offensive Player of the Year Mike Cook.

"Mike Cook is playing better than ever," Laycock said. "He missed most of last year because of injuries but parts of the second half, but (Newark) is a nice team. They have good speed.

"We scored one early, which usually can hurt a team, but it didn't hurt them. We scored right before the half, which can hurt a team, but it didn't hurt them. So they deserve credit."

Dzielak was denied a third goal in the closing minutes of the game when Newark goalie Colin Burns made a superb save of a low, hard shot.

That could have provided St. Mark's significant breathing room, because Newark's Noah Thomas had scored midway through the half to make it 2-1 and the Yellowjackets were swarming until the final whistle.

"I even told them before the game, let's not worry about the score of the game, let's worry about what kind of performance we put on," said Newark coach Hugh Mitchell when asked if his team gained any consolation from the outcome.

"The last couple of years (vs. St. Mark's) especially we had not played with character or played as well.

"That was kind of a goal coming into this, and they certainly did that."

It doesn't get any better than having a 4-0 weekend. That's what we were able to do in our four prognostications last week, including almost nailing the Hodgson-Caravel game right on the nose. We picked the Bucs 22-21 and they won 21-20.

Newark and Glasgow enjoyed open weeks but bounce back into action by facing each other this week.

Most teams start playing conference games this week, giving everybody a rejuvenated shot to make the state tournament.

Let's take a look at the schedule.

NEWARK (3-0) VS. GLASGOW

(1-2) - Friday night at Newark's Hoffman Stadium, 7. Both teams had a week off and are ready to mix it up in this cross-town rivalry. For Glasgow, after playing second-ranked Middletown last time out, it's like jumping from the frying pan into the fire. The top-ranked Yellowjackets have played three top 10 opponents and haven't had a game closer than 13 points. The Dragons are improving but this is way too tough a test this early in Coach DelPercio's rebuilding process. Newark's will continue its march toward next week's showdown with William Penn. The Pick: Newark 27, Glasgow 7.

CHRISTIANA (2-1) VS. A.I.

POST PICKS OF THE WEEK

DUPONT (1-2) - Friday night at A.I., 7:30. The Vikings are on a roll. They've posted impressive shutout victories over Seaford and Dover in their last two outings. The Tigers, meanwhile, are coming off 33-31 victory over Mount Pleasant - it's first win of the year after losses to St. Elizabeth and Tatnall. Christiana is a tough Flight A team. It appears to have too much for A.I. at this point in the season. The Pick: Christiana 34, A.I. 6.

ST. MARK'S (2-2) VS. CONCORD

(2-1) - Saturday night at Baynard Stadium, 7. The Spartans are probably the state's best team that already has two losses (Newark and William Penn). But let's not forget St. Mark's has two wins over two good teams in Christiana and Cape Henlopen. Concord, too, has a good squad as evidenced by its win over Brandywine. The Raiders also had a week off. This series has produced some exciting games. This should be no exception. The Pick: St. Mark's 21, Concord 15.

HODGSON (2-2) VS. MIDDLETOWN

(4-0) - Friday night at Middletown's Bill Billings Stadium, 7:30. The Silver Eagles are coming off a difficult 21-20 loss to Caravel while the Cavaliers stomped Delmar last week. Hodgson hoped to be able to play with the talented Cavs.

But they've made too many mistakes against lesser teams for us to see that happening this week. The Pick: Middletown 34, Hodgson 12.

CARAVEL (3-1) VS. INTERBORO

(Pa.) (5-0) - Friday night at Interboro, 7:30. The Bucs pulled out a thrilling one-point victory over neighborhood rival Hodgson last week. This week, the test is a lot tougher. Steve Lennox, who coached Dickinson to state championship, has turned Interboro into a perennial power. This year is no exception. Caravel hung tough against Maryland power Damascus. It'll try to do the same this week. The Pick: Interboro 26, Caravel 14.

WILLIAM PENN (2-1) VS. BRANDYWINE

(2-1) - Saturday afternoon at William Penn's Bill Cole Stadium, 1:30. The Colonials bounced back nicely from its loss to Salesianum with a last-minute victory over St. Mark's. William Penn, however, lost to Salesianum - a team that the Bulldogs beat. Brandywine has had a week off after being upset by rival Concord. It should be ready to bounce back. The game is a big one in Flight A and in the state tournament picture. The loser will have a tough time in both scenarios. The Pick: William Penn 14, Brandywine 13.

KSC Avalanche off to good start

The under-15 Kirkwood Avalanche girls soccer team began the fall season by taking second place in the Spirit United Tournament in Downingtown.

Prior to the Downingtown tournament, the team had a successful trip to Europe where it finished second in the Wteford Tournament in England.

The team is now competing in the under-16 division of the PAGS League and are in first place with a 4-1 record.

Afton Fisher had three straight goals in the season-opening win over the Marple Wildcats. Hannah Stiles also had a hat trick in the team's 8-0 victory over GCVSA. The Avalanche also beat Lansdowne 2-0 and loss 1-0 to Springfield.

Other players to score goals include L. Cox, K. Ross, E.

Ringstrom, R. Andaloro, M. Kittle and S. Neveras.

Other players include L. Brabender, R. Chadderdon, D. Cheeseman, L. Knabb, M. Metcalfe, K. Pearce, K. Perry and H. Worley. Goalkeeper Rachel Beaty has allowed just one goal so far this season.

St. Mark's falls to Wm. Penn

Last-minute TD lifts Colonials

By STEVE WESTRICK

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

One play sent two seemingly even matched teams propelling in opposite directions. The play was the infamous Colonial dive pass.

With only 18 seconds on the clock William Penn quarterback B.J. Davis found halfback Gerald Hynson in the middle of the defense for a 12-yard touchdown pass. The play gave the Colonials a 14-7 victory over St. Mark's and a sense of renewed pride after losing to Salesianum a week earlier. For the Spartans, the play capped a second consecutive heart breaking loss, while dropping their record to 2-2.

The dive pass, a mainstay of William Penn's offense for years, features the quarterback ducking down behind his line for a split second and then popping up to fire a pass, usually to a wide open tight end. However, this time the pass was to the wide open halfback.

"Hynson came to the side line and told me, 'coach I don't think there's anybody on me,'" coach Bruce Reynolds said explaining the conversation he had with his offense during a timeout prior to the play.

"They've run that play since I can remember," St. Mark's coach Vinnie Scott said. "We were aware of that play. We just didn't cover the kid. He made a nice catch and it was a nice throw."

Early in the second half, St. Mark's recovered a Hynson fumble at the Colonials 27 yard line. The Spartans used four consecutive carries by Steve Rogers to tie the score 7-7.

The game settled into a defensive struggle with the next eight possessions resulting in punts. The final punt gave the Colonials the ball at their own 39-yard line, with 3:04 left in the game.

William Penn began the drive on a strong note when fullback Colby Johnson rumbled off left tackle for 14 yards. After three short carries set up a fourth down and short, Davis found his other fullback Scott Linus for a 11-yard completion.

With less than a minute in the game, and William Penn at the St. Mark's 40 yard line, Davis went to the air. His first two pass were incomplete. However, on his third pass St. Mark's was flagged for pass interference. Davis' throw was clearly over the head of the Colonial receiver and seemed to be uncatchable. By high school rules, however, there is no such thing as an uncatchable pass nullifying an interference penalty.

"It's a crucial call," Scott said of the flag. "I'm not an official. It's not my place to evaluate that call."

It was the penalty which set up the dive pass two plays later.

William Penn's defense was dominant throughout the second half. St. Mark's was held to only 46 yards from scrimmage and two first downs.

"We knew we had to stop the run in the second half," William Penn senior linebacker/fullback Linus said. "They had passed a lot in the first half, but we figured in the second half they would come out running."

Thirteen of St. Mark's 19 second half offensive plays were runs.

William Penn scored on its opening possession. The Colonials used a 18-play drive to go 80 yards with back William Harvey scoring on an 11-yard sweep. The crucial play came, on a fourth and two from inside William Penn territory, when punter Joe Taylor picked up a low snap and ran for a first down.

Three times in the first half St. Mark's had the ball deep in Colonial territory but was unable to score. The first time, Spartan quarterback Matt Hall was intercepted by safety Ray Calloway. The other two instances ended in missed field goals.

KSC Magic wins

The Kirkwood Magic under-11 girls soccer team defeated Nether Providence 3-0 last weekend.

Mindy Hutson, Jessica Manlove and Katie Thomaides scored the goals. Allyson Olewine and Thomaides picked up assists.

Leigh Ann Jasinnas, Stephanie Kappler, Mary Ann Magee and Katie Hunt combined on the shutout in goal.

Twisters win again

The Kirkwood Twisters under-11 girls soccer team improved its record to 4-1-1 with a 9-3 victory over Radnor Sunday.

Kate Attenberger scored two goals and added an assist while Heather Richardson also scored twice. Ashley Fogelman had a goal and three assists, Megan Watson had a goal and an assist and Natalie Brousseau, Danielle Weaver and Rachel Andrews all scored one goal each.

Megan Bastianelli and Jennifer Piechowski each recorded assists.

The Twisters' defense was led by Shannon Crowley, Anna Lewis, Brittany Oncay and Beth Kitchen. Bastianelli, Richardson, Watson and Andrews shared time in goal.

really has gotten better as this season has gone along."

The rushing attack is led by Delaware native Hameen Ali. The sophomore tailback, who played at Dover High, has amassed 452 yards rushing in the first five games.

"We really didn't know who was going to play before the season," Laycock said Ali. "But Hameen stepped up and made some big plays all during preseason."

With as many times as the two teams have faced each other over the years, Laycock knows that his team will also have its hands full with the Hens.

"Continuity is very important in their system to go along with the outstanding athletes they have," said the coach. "They also do a good job of adjusting to the new people they get."

NOTES - This marks the fifth straight year that the two teams will both be ranked in the Top 20 when facing each other...Delaware is 6-5 all-time in Williamsburg...Split end Eddie Conti was named Atlantic-10 offensive player of the week for his seven-catch (234 yards) effort...Four Delaware players will return home to Virginia for this week's game.

Kendall said the two-goalie system has created a competitive atmosphere between the two rather than problems.

"They help each other out," Kendall said. "That's just what we need."

Kendall also lauded the play of his stopper-back, sophomore Lance Whitenight.

"He's really been playing well," Kendall said. "He's been marking the other team's best scorer and shutting him down."

On Saturday, Christiana hosts Caesar Rodney at 1:30 p.m. It was CR who knocked Christiana out of the state tournament's opening round last season.

After that, the Vikings meet Flight A foes Alexis I. du Pont and Newark, Salesianum in a nonconference game, then return to conference play against Glasgow.

"Then we'll see what we have," Kendall said.

DuPont's new anti-HIV drug gets critical attention

DuPont Pharmaceuticals new anti-HIV drug Sustiva (efavirenz), approved by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration in September, has already drawn criticism for its cost.

Sustiva is a once-daily non-nucleoside reverse transcriptase inhibitor for treatment of HIV-1 infected individuals.

According to DuPont, Sustiva is priced in the mid-range of the antiretroviral class at $3,942 per year ($10.95 per day). However, some AIDS activists complain that the price is double the cost of similar drugs in its class. A press release sent by ACT UP states that the average wholesale price (AWP), which is the cost to consumers, has been set to be almost $5,000.

"Like most people with HIV, I depend on public programs to get the drugs that keep me alive," said Joyce Hamilton of ACT UP of Philadelphia. "DuPont's price means that Sustiva either won't be covered, or it will bankrupt programs like Medicaid or ADAP."

According to AIDS activists, ADAP programs have only a limited amount of funding which comes through state legislatures and if more patients want the higher-priced Sustiva, the money will run out for treatment across the board.

DuPont Pharmaceuticals spokesperson Sandra James said the company held talks with HIV groups nationwide about the price before setting it. "DuPont has made research for drugs for people living with AIDS a priority," said James. "It could actually be less costly for people who take Sustiva without a protease inhibitor."

James said DuPont does not sell directly to consumers and has no control over the wholesale price. "Almost 80 percent of AIDS patients get their drugs through state ADAP programs which charge the AWP price less 20 percent," said James. "That cost is currently $10.51 a day."

According to the Treatment Action Group, a nationwide advocacy group for HIV and AIDS patients, it's difficult to say if either DuPont or ACT UP is right in their positions. "The average cost of the drug to patients depends on how many patients will get their drugs through Medicaid or a pharmacy or ADAP," said a Group member who did not want to be named. "And you can't know that ahead of time."

The member also explained that DuPont based their pricing on all anti-HIV drugs on the market, but those criticizing the price were considering Sustiva only in a class of specific drugs of its type. "It would be considered high-priced in that single category," said the member. "But since Sustiva could displace some of the other drugs being used by the patient, it could still be less expensive to use."

James said HIV patients using Sustiva could reduce the total amount of pills taken daily from 40 or 50 down to about five. "That's a tremendous improvement for them," DuPont submitted the New Drug Application in June and met the FDA's fast-track criteria. Sustiva is the first anti-

HIV drug to be approved by the FDA for once-daily dosing and will be used in combination with other anti-HIV drugs in both adult and pediatric patients.

Results from more than a dozen clinical trials involving more than 2,000 patients indicate that Sustiva reduces plasma viral RNA to below quantifiable levels (less than 400 copies/mL using the standard Amplicor assay) in a majority of HIV-1-infected naive and treatment-experienced individual in two-, three-, and four-drug combinations. Studies have shown that efavirenz penetrates into the cerebrospinal fluid, a common viral sanctuary.

The company conducted one of the largest and fastest enrolling antiviral Expanded Access Programs to make Sustiva available to patients who needed it while the drug was awaiting approval. To date, more than 13,000 individuals worldwide have benefited from this program.

DuPont Pharmaceuticals, a wholly owned subsidiary of DuPont, is a worldwide, research-based pharmaceutical company that markets its products under the DuPont Pharma name. The company is committed to helping patients seek reimbursement for Sustiva (efavirenz) and will offer both reimbursement counseling and a comprehensive patient assistance program to ensure access to the drug for eligible patients.

For questions about Sustiva, physicians and patients may call 1-800-4PHARMA (1-800-474-2762), or visit the company's website at www.sustiva.com.

COSTCO OPENS FIRST WAREHOUSE IN DELAWARE

Christiana Mall site opened last week

Costco Corporation opened its first membership warehouse club in Delaware last week.

According to manager Glenda Tuttle, the 136,000-square-foot warehouse at Christiana Mall will employ approximately 125 people, mostly from the Christiana area.

The warehouse is Costco's 213th in the United States and 294th location worldwide. Featured departments are fresh meats, fresh produce, in-house bakery, deli, pharmacy, optical department, tire center, food court, one-hour photo processing, and rotisserie chicken and ribs.

Costco's warehouses are designed to primarily help small-to medium-sized businesses reduce costs in purchasing for resale and for everyday business supplies. They also offer a wide range of merchandise for business and personal use.

"The company is able to sell top quality merchandise at the lowest possible prices by eliminating many of the overhead expenses ... like fancy display cases, sales people, advertising, billing, and so on," said president and CEO Jim Sinegal.

Costco members can shop at warehouse prices for national name brand merchandise as well as the Kirkland Signature line of private label products, including diapers, photographic film, cookies, coffee, soft drinks, clothing and detergent.

Costco is open to members only. All businesses, licensed professionals and members of qualified groups are eligible to join. The annual membership fee is $35 for business members and $40 for individual members of qualified groups. Both types of membership include a free additional spouse card.

Membership cards from either Price Club or Costco Wholesale are accepted at all Costco locations around the world, including the new Delaware location.

Costco Wholesale's home office is located in Issaquah, Wash. The company is publicly traded on the NASDAQ under the symbol (COST).

Deakins in RE/MAX Hall of Fame

Theresa Deakins of RE/MAX Associates was recently awarded membership in the RE/MAX hall of fame. The RE/MAX hall of fame award honors realtors who have received $1,000,000 in sales commissions during their RE/MAX career.

Licensed in 1987, Deakins joined RE/MAX Associates in 1992 and has achieved recognition through memberships in the coveted 100% and Platinum Clubs. In addition, Deakins holds the GRI, CRS designations, is and ABR candidate and holds a Delaware's broker's license.

The New Castle County Board of Realtors recently awarded Deakins the distinguished SPIRIT AWARD for commitment to her profession and service to her clients. As a parishioner of Holy Family church in Newark, she is a member of the Parish Council, chairs the Social Concerns Committee and has taught religious classes for 12 years. In addition, Deakins has been a member of the Real Estate Marketing University for three years while recently being a speaker for their coaching club.

REAL ESTATE BRIEFS

Newark architects design stadium

Design Exchange Architects Inc. of Newark, will design Ripken Stadium, a minor league park planned for Aberdeen, Md. Design Exchange was chosen from a national pool of candidates which included HOK Sport and Ellerbe Beckett. The selection was chaired by Peter Dacey, city manager of Aberdeen and included representatives from Maryland Stadium Authority and Maryland Baseball LLC. Since 1992, the Newark company has been involved in the design of 10 minor league ballparks, from Bridgeport, Conn. to Lynchburg, Va., including Frawley Stadium.

Stine named general manager

Former Newark resident Allison Stine was named general manager for Mount Vernon Hotel & Washington Cafe, located in Mt. Vernon, Va., and the Hopkins Inn, located in Baltimore, Md. The two hotels are owned by a foundation directed by Baltimore International College. Stine studied at the University of Delaware and Essex Community College.

Home improvement loans available

The Housing Rehabilitation Loan Program provides three percent interest rate home improvement loans up to $35,000 to low or moderate income homeowners. Landlords who rent to low-income families are also available.

The Delaware State Housing Authority in cooperation with the New Castle County Department of Community Services and the city of Wilmington Department of Real Estate and Housing is hosting a public workshop on the program. The workshop will be held on Tuesday, Oct. 13, starting at 6:30 p.m., at the Carvel State Office Building, on French St., Wilmington. For more information call 577-5001.

Malagoli hired by Healy

Robert V. Malagoli of Philadelphia, Pa., has joined Healy Management Services as the vice president of construction services. Malagoli, a graduate of Temple University with a dual degree in marketing and finance, comes to Healy from NC Builders Inc. where he worked as a senior project executive responsible for overseeing multiple projects. Previously, he was associated with Nason and Cullen Inc. and E.C. Durell. Malagoli has over 20 years of experience in the construction industry.

Gispert earns Platinum Club

Rob Gispert of REMAX Associates has attained the prestigious Platinum Club award for the first six months of 1998 according to Mary Beth Adelman, President. This nationally recognized achievement is awarded by REMAX International to only the top producers in the nation.

Top Deck the Walls franchisees honored

Suzanne and John Forney, managers of the Deck The Walls store located in Christiana Mall, were recognized recently among Deck The Walls' top-selling franchisees. Deck The Walls, the largest franchisor of art and custom framing retail stores has more than 200 stores in 38 states. Their franchise achieved the number 4 national rank in sales, number 4 eastern rank in sales per square foot, number 2 eastern regional rank in top sales volume and number 6 national rank in sales per square foot, based on data for 1997. Deck The Walls' Steve Lowrey, CEO and Pepper Levine, president and COO were on hand to present the award.

Founded in 1979, Deck the Walls, Inc. is primarily a custom framer, offering more than 1,000 custom frame mouldings and mat styles in each store. Retail offerings include a wide array of abstract, neo-classical and traditional prints and limited edition artwork.

The Forneys opened their Deck The Walls franchise in Christiana Mall in 1996. Important factors such as an extensive collection of artwork, customer loyalty, a knowledgeable staff and years of experience in the art business have all contributed to the success of their franchise.
