Covernor's Thanksgiving Proclamation

As each year a day is set apart for prayer and acknowledgment of the protecting care of Almighty God and thanks are given for His manifold blessings in accordance with the custom established by our ancestors, let us resolve to continue faithful to His teachings. As a people may we be strengthened in our influence for truth, justice and good-will to our neighbors and as a country may we maintain our high place in the hearts of nations throughout the world.

Now, Therefore, I, C. D. Buck, Governor of the State of Delaware, do hereby set apart and designate so that our people may gather in their homes, places of worship and in other appropriate places, and by words and deeds make known their appreciation of the love and guidance of their Heavenly Father.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of Delaware to be hereunto affixed this fifteenth day of November, in the year of our Lord one (SEAL) thousand nine hundred and thirty-four, and in the year of the Independence of the United States of America, the one hundred and fifty-ninth.

By the Governor: CHARLES H. GRANTLAND, Secretary of State.

On Thursday, December 6, the University Hour Committee of the University of Delaware will present Alexander Woollcott, prominent journalist and dramatist, in a lecture entitled "The Invisible Newspaper."

Mr. Woollcott has the unique honor of being the author of the current best selling non-fiction book, "While Rome Burns," which has beaded the list of best sellers for the past six months, His weekly column in the New York Magazine, entitled, "Shouts and Murmurs," has been a feature of that publication for several years. His Sunday evening talks on the radio have drawn to him a large following charmed by his pleasant wit and inimitable skill in telling a story. In fact, Mr. Woollcott has few peers as a raconteur.

Dover Group Instruct Local Company; Expect Great Decrease In Losses

Last night the Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Company held the first of series of meetings for the instruction of a Salvage Crew. The course will be given by Assistant Chief Tom Baker, of the Robbins Hose Company of Dover. Last night he was accompanied by G. A. Gleyer, Vocational Educator of the State Board of Education, and Chief Harry Hancock, also of the Robbins Company.

Chief Hancock gave a talk citing many instances in which loss has been lessened greatly by use of a salvage crew. In the first case $3000 worth of books were protected from loss in a cellar fire by using salvage covers, the only damage was $7.50. Similarly a valuable houseful of antiques was protected from loss—the fire was upstairs and two men were stationed at the bottom of the stairs sweeping the water out as it came down. Just last Sunday a houseful of furniture was protected in a similar manner during a chimney fire.

During last year, $280,000,000 was the loss from fire and approximately at the contest there will be account.

During last year, $280,000,000 was the loss from fire and approximately 75 per cent was caused by water and smoke. Chief Hancock said much of this could be avoided if the smaller companies would use salvage crews.

The equipment consists of salvage covers, sawdust, tar-paper, hammer and nails. An example of the use of salvage is to drill a hole in the ceiling, attack a salvage cover to it and a window and thus form a trough for water to run off. With about $10,000,000 worth of property alone in Newark, as well as such valuable things as the college records, the importance of such a group is readily understood.

The series of meetings includes:

THE CHILDREN'S PREVENTORIUM ON SOUTH MOUNTAIN

By FRANCIS A. COOCH

Without claiming any extensive knowledge on the subject, of all the many public charities conducted by the State of Pennsylvania, I can imagine none that serves a more helpful, a more benign purpose, than does the Children's Preventorium in Frank-

Living in a neighboring State and having from time to time found myself shocked at newspaper stories of conditions obtaining in the public institutions of the State. I found myself very agreeably surprised when I visited this institution recently.

Two principal roads take you to within a few miles of the Preventorium. Leaving the Lincoln Highway, in Caledonia Park about fifteen miles west of Gettysburg, a winding road leads you by easy grades, a distance of about four miles through the Michaux and the Mont Alto State Forests to the Preventorium located near the suramit of the mountain. From this point another road leads down the mountain side, through the Mont Alto Forest, past the School of Forestry to the Borough of Mont Alto, situated on the main road from Fayetteville to Waynesboro. The drive through the forests is, of itself, beautiful enough to merit another story.

It was on a pleasant day in late August when we called and asked admission to the Preventorium, although we had often driven past it, without more than stopping outside for a few minutes, to talk to the children.

minutes, to talk to the children.

About one mile east is the South Mountain Sanitorium for adults and of both institutions Dr. R. H. McCutcheon is the head; the Preventorium for children's work, founded in 1924, being under the special supervision of Miss Esther Williams of Warren, Pennsylvania, a trained nurse.

The building, which I guess to be about three hundred feet long, faces east with its back to the wooded mountain and fronts on grass, flower planted terraces, a driveway and ample playgrounds. The large windows admit an abundance of light, the rooms especially are large and easily aired, while fire doors and many exits add to the protection of the inmates.

Not only did Miss Williams manifest no annoyance, but on the contrary she seemed to take particular pains to see that I had every possible opportunity to inspect the premises, making no objection whatever to my questioning of the children or of the attendants.

Miss Williams avaleiged that the children or one than the contrary she was a superior of the strength of the children or of the attendants.

In the chapel separate religious services are conducted for children of both Catholic and Protestant persuasions.

In the winter, the population averages about two hundred and twenty and in the summer, a maximum of three hundred and sixty-five. The day I called, the number must have been somewhere near the maximum, for a large number of occupied cots were placed in the chapel.

Incurably mid-Victorian, at first, I was abashed somewhat by the undress condition of the children, whose ages range from very little tots to fourteen and fifteen years. All of the boys and the smaller girls wear no more than mere bathing trunks; girls a little older add a brassiere and those yet older, an abbreviated form of rompers. The children were so utterly natural and at ease with everyone, that my early embarrassment passed away very quickly, as I talked and questioned these young people to whom the matter of clothing seemed of little more moment that to Adam and Eve in their innocency.

evident, and it must be confessed that the colored children look as clean as any of the others I saw.

Indicative of the cross section of race, religion and color in the Preventorium, are the following names and answers of some of the children to whom I talked, viz:—Julia Czalplinski, age 15 years, from Duryea, in the anthracite coal regions, Julia's Catholic parents came from Poland. She came here because of underweight and has gained twelve and one half pounds in her six months' stay. Fern Zearfoss, age 6, is from Lebanon. Fern is a bit abashed and doesn't know what is her faith, but nods emphatically in reply to my question, "Do you get enough to eat?" I guess her to be Pennsylvania German.

YOU CAN PASTEURIZE MILK

how bicky she was

y she was that she could raise her haby where there was clean air and open fields and broat and intectious diarroea germs.

Pasteur discovered that when he heated milk to a certain degree for a certain length of time, these harmful batteria were destroyed and the milk was safe for drinking. This principle is the one used in the large commercial pasterizing plants in the large cities.

In a survey made several years ago

In a survey made several years ago we learned that 70 per cent of the pop-ulation in Illinois outside of Chicago platies in Hillinois outside of Chicago was without benefit of pasteurization. So in the research laboratory of the University of Hillinois we worked out a plan that would allow for home pasteurization. The various steps may seem complement the first time, but after a little practice, you will find that the routine is very simple. Certainly mach simpler and less worrisome than the care of a sick child, would be.

devised two simple temperature ors containing chemicals that "clear" at the desired temperaes. By the first you can easily tell on the right heat point is reached; when the right heat point is reached; in the second when the danger point of coolness is reached and the milk is no longer safe for the baby.

The heat-telling indicator is a saus-accommon of the milk is no longer and to min, long, into which 400 mg. of palmitte neld is placed.

The cooling-point indicator is a glass tobe 41s mm, in diameter, approximate by 8 inches in length, with a builb blown at one end. This builb is filled with mention, and the open end of the tube sailed.

With these two tubes, a vacuum bot-tie of one quart capacity, and a pan of-nore than one quart capacity with a side lip to facilitate pouring of milk from pan tube bottle, you are ready to so into the pasteurization business. The equipment necessary to carry out this melliod of pusteurization will cost less than $3. If you want to pasteur-be more than one quart at a time, then do not use a larger bottle, but get sev-eral quart bottles. The results are better.

GUN vs. PET

Carl and Jack, the same age, were cousins. For the first five years of their lives they lived in the same household, and seemed to be much alike. Then Carl's parents moved, and alike. Then Carl's parents moved, and the boy became the "little pal" of an tuncle whose hobby was guns, marksmanship and hunting.

At a very early age Carl received from this uncle a .22 rifle—a toy, the man called it. Carl mastered the weapon in a very short time, often went hunting, and rapidly acquired the characteristics of most persons who hunt and kill. He took up bigger arms—and with great "saccess."

At the age of lifteen the cousins met again, and the contrast, according to the story of Jack's father, was remarkable indeed. Jack's original love for pets had not abated, and when Carl saw him playing with an elighbor's cat he waxed sareastic." Still playing with cast? Going to be a baby all your life?"

"I am if kindness to animals makes one a baby," answered Jack.

That was four years ago, and the difference in character, shown by that verbal exchange, has increased. Jack is a young man of sterling qualities, dependability and high citizenship. He is attending university. Carl passed up his chance at education, spending a large part of his time trapping in Alaska with his uncle, He has been in "gun play" trouble twice, is known as a cruel and dangerous fellow, and is now working on a ranch in Idaho. Which is better for a maturing boy, to pet animals or to hunt them with a gun?

Tve always been interested in the relationship of crime to the childness to a pet the dear the property of the country's largest prisons revealed the fact that less than one per cent of the cinamate had a dog or any other to play with as a child. OUR CHILD we are sure, and it is that a great many children are in absolute need of one of the liver oils and it is very likely that practically all children would be benefitted. We witness one of the marvels of science and take it so calmly. We discover that aunshine is essential to the normal growth of children and to the health of adults. We find out why. Other investigations discover in the fish liver oils those chemical elements called "vitamins," and it turns out that they are identical with the elements manufactured in our bodies under the influence of the sun's rays. Thus, when the short day comes and children are deprived of sunshine because of attendance at school, we have at hand nature's own product and substitute.

I shall never cease to regard these own product and substitute.

I shall never cease to regard these discoveries as being among the greatest triumphs of man. We should rejoice in this knowledge and we should use it, that coming generations will be ever better fitted to carry on the world's work. To say that it is one of our obligations as parents and teachers is not putting it too strongly. Sunshine is as parents and teachers is not put-ting it too strongly. Sunshine is essential and it is better than the substitute. Lacking it in quantity, we should rely upon the next beat one of fish liver oils. But, as al-ways, get your physician's advice.

COMPLETE CAST SELECTED FOR NEW E-52 PLAY

"The Late Christopher Bean' Promises To Be Great Comedy Hit

On Thursday evening, December 13, the E-52 Players of the University of Delaware, will present in Mitchell Hall, Sidney Howard's famous play, "The Late Christopher Bean."

Director C. R. Kuse, for the past two weeks, had been faced by the serious problem of picking a single cast when he was fortunate concupt to have a sufficient wealth of material to provide two custs of equal excellence.

have a sufficient wealth of material to provide two casts of equal excellence.

Those chosen for roles after considering number of factors involved are: Dr. Haggett, Irvin Malcolm; Susan Haggett, Vera McCall; Abby, Caroline Cobb; Mrs. Haggett, Betty McKelvey; Ada Haggett, Jane Yost; Warren Creamer, Edgar Euster; Tallant, Tom Warren; Rosen, David Salsburg; Davenport, Harvey Maguigah. The understudies are T. Willey Keithley, Alvin Handloff, Abraham Eiseman, Mary Ellen Ballard, and Kay Castle. All but Warren and Euster, who are promising new talent, have an established reputation in dramatics at the University.

The lovable simplicity of an old country doctor in a New England village is skillfully characterized by Irvin Malcolm as Dr. Haggett. The entire play centers about him because he is the possessor of some rare paintings whose value he is innocent of. Attempts are made to swindle these paintings from him. Finally, however, when he discovers their worth, greed gets the best of him, and he attempts to use underhand methods to get them back.

greed gets the best of him, and he attempts to use underhand methods to get them back.

The distress of minds and the turmoil of action brought about by the mad scramble for the paintings in an ordinarily pleased family creates a comic effect which completely captivates the audience.

Mr. Howard in this, one of his best plays, wrote a piece which has truly magnetic appeal, and being presented by a record cast, this vehicle will have a tremendous drawing power, not only on the student body, but on everyone in Newark, Wilmington and vicinity interested in the theater and in good plays.

NEW KITCHEN CHARM READILY PLANNED

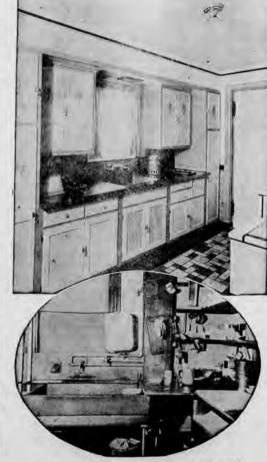

Added Conveniences Better Lighting Ease the Daily Tasks of the Housewife

Drab, dingy kitchens make a veritable ordeal of the task of preparing meals. Particularly is this true when the kitchen has a poor arrangement of equipment and is lacking in up-to-date facilities for the housewife. Kitchens of this type usually are those that were built years ago, before the modern kitchen improvements were available. Any old kitchen, no matter how great its shortcomings, can be transformed into a place of beauty and charm, and made comfortable and convenient. Why not include such a project as your part of clude such a project as your part of Newark's Better Housing Program, now under way.

If there is not enough natural light, windows can be enlarged or additional ones installed. Darkness can be further dispelled by placing a drop light over the stove or in other places where there is not sufficient light.

Thanksgiving

And so, once more, Thanksgiving Day draws near. We are really quite close today to those rugged Pilgrim Fathers who inaugurated this Holiday. Although we have gone far on the physical side since their day, mentally and spiritually we are altin.

inaugurated this Holiday. Although we have gone far on the physical side since their day, mentally and spiritually we are akin.

They were struggling valiantly with great physical forces; they were battling ceaselessly to tear a bare living out of stony soil, striving to make a home despite the buffets given them by a niggardly Mother Nature. Above all they possessed Courage—a really vital Courage—not a passive acceptance of their fate. They didn't succumb to the blows of adversity—they were down time and time again but never out. They had a stubborn fighting spirit that would never cry "enough"—they didn't, no, they wouldn't, know they were 'licked.' And in the end they weren't licked—they triumphed!

And in that first hour when they realized that at last they had turned the tide, be it in ever so small a degree, their first thought was to the God who had permitted them to triumph. Job-like, they had borne the burdens of adversity without grumbling—now they looked to Him who had lightened them. Their thoughts were not of the bitter toil that still awaited them before they could live a life in anyway approaching comfort and

The much discussed recent letter of the Du Pont Company will probably be the subject of protracted comment beginning Tuesday next when the du Ponts are again called before the Nye Committee in Washington. According to press reports Senator Nye is extremely chary in commenting on the letter. While admitting its fairness he is quoted as having stated that, "While there is a readiness there to seek some regulation. I do not consider that the regulation suggested is sufficient to meet the situation as it has been developed. We must go much farther."

The outcome of this further questioning and investigation will be awaited with interest. We not only hope such outcome will result in the best good but that, on this Thanksgiving Eve, conclusive steps toward permanent peace will be taken.

Football

On Thursday, Thanksgiving Day, Newark High plays Wilmington. We urge all those who enjoy a good football game to make every effort to get there. With our fingers crossed, as a result of the disastrous effect of our last prediction, we select Newark to emerge from the fracas the victor. Both on the basis of past performance, and also as a result of the records this season, we feel that the boys from the metropolis will be severely trounced. Newark has for a long time been known for the quality of its football teams and those from Wilmington High for their mediocrity.

of its football teams and those from Wilmington High for their medicerity.

The difference between the teams is really surprising when we compare the size of Newark with that of Wilmington. It must be a proof of the old adage that good goods come in small packages. It is in large measure due to the fact that the number of students in Wilmington High is too large for effective organization, and also that the half-session attendance is extremely demoralizing since upperclassmen are dismissed at noon and have to return at three-thirty or four for football practice. Such disorganization is not present at Newark, where the whole school furnishes a loyal and compact group, and the townspeople are behind the schoolboys in their efforts. May their confidence be justified once more on Thursday.

Alumni

We note with approval Dr. Hullihen's suggestion for closer relationship between the Alumni and the University of Delaware. It has been unfortunate, indeed, in the past, that most people seem to have forgotten utterly that period in their lives which they spent in Newark at the University. We feel that the Committees of Visitation would promote a feeling of responsibility and interest in the affairs of the University and remind the Alumni that their contact with the College need by no means cease upon Commencement Day. We also feel that a monthly news bulletin of Delaware happenings would certainly be appreciated by every graduate. The expense of such a project would be negligible compared to its value in keeping alumni interested in their Alma Mater. We hope the plan is approved by the Board of Trustees.

Grade Crossings

From the Newark Post of February 15, 1928.

Again, yesterday, the life of a small child was ruthlessly sacrificed to add weight to the conclusive evidence that the inadequately protected Baltimore and Ohio grade crossings in this town are nothing more than death-traps, waiting patiently to add size and variety to their list of victims. A young business man, two fine boys from the University, a substantial citizen, and now, an eager child just starting his school career. The list lacks a woman, but any day may see her added to the toll.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad must be forced to make these crossings safe by a body with authority and influence, and a civic body with proper determination and a sense of practical duty could force the railroad at least to add gates to both crossings.

Last Spring, the Town Council worked itself into a froth of civic righteousness over a potential menace to the water supply. The Chamber of Commerce is agitating for a public comfort station. All well and good. Now if these two bodies would turn some serious and united energy toward having removed a proven menace that is periodically claiming lives of citizens of this town, we believe some safety measures should be taken by the railroad company. Individuals may rant and newspaper editorials may sputter, but it is not until public opinion is centered in an organized group of citizens that any real change may be accomplished.

Motorists-Warning!

We earnestly and sincerely urge all drivers of motor vehicles to Take Care on streets and roads as slippery and dangerous as the ones today. The mud on Main Street in Newark made it extremely treacherous and few drivers realize the added hazard of dirt and water until too late. Two serious accidents have occurred on the Kennett Pike opposite William Raskob's home in the last twenty-four hours, making three accidents this week. With winter coming on, and ice, sleet and snow covering the roads we warn you to play Safety First. See that your tires are in good condition, but above all things Drive Slowly. The fast driver on slippery roads is as great a menace as the drunken driver. slippery roads is as great a menace as the drunken driver.

Job-like, they had borne the burdens of adversity without grumbling—now they looked to Him who had lightened them. Their thoughts were not of the bitter toil that still awaited them before they could live a life in anyway approaching comfort and security—they were thankful for a small measure of the good things of life.

And so we, too, could do well to be thankful for many small blessings, and many large ones too. When we compare our lot to theirs, even the most unhappy, unfortunate on the relief rolls has greater material confort and security than the leaders of the Fligrims. Our governments—national, state, and local—nave day and undergoing famine if it were not to be obtained.

Indeed it is a far cry from that day of scarcity to the present. Them a dispensation from the need of hunting food by day and undergoing famine if it were not to be obtained.

Arthurs & Ashley In Wilmington Fine Arts Soc. Exhibit

Arts Soc. Exhibit
The exhibition committee of the Wilmington Society of Fine Arts announced: An Exhibition of Paintings by Stanley M. Arthurs and Clifford W. Ashley. The show will be held from December 5 to 22, in the gallery of the Wilmington Library.
The two artists are friends of many years' standing, who met in Wilmington to study under Howard Pyle. They have adjoining studios at 1305 Franklin street, Wilmington. Each man is to take two walls of the large gallery to show his work, and they will divide the smaller gallery for drawings and the smaller gallery for drawings and sketches.

On the evening of Tuesday, December 4, the galleries will open with a Preview for members and their guests.

Next Thursday evening. December 6th, the eighth in a series of weely spiritual enrichment services will be conducted at the White Clay Creek Presbyterian Church. The meeting will begin at 8 o'clock, and the speaker will be the Rev. W. W. Harris, pastor of the Presbyterian churches of St. Georges and Port Penn. A short song service is a feature of each service.

At each of these meeting there is a different speaker. The Rev. H. Everett Hallman, of Newark, was the guest preacher last Tuesday evening, and gave a very helpful address on the text Romans 7:18, "For I know that in me (that is, in my flesh) dwelleth no good thing."

The pastor, the Rev. Clyde E. Riekabaugh, extends a cordial invitation to the general public to share the benefits of these services.

The true observance of Thanksgiving Day does not manifest itself in the mere celebration of abundance.

That was not the spirit of the little band that first observed Thanksgiving Day. They had few worldly possessions. But their hearts were rich empires of courage, faith and hope. They did not give thanks for the small blessings of a single day; they were thankful for the possession of health, security, and the strength which they knew would enable them to go forward and conquer the hardships of a New World.

Does Helen know?"

By R. O. Bausman, Department of Agricultural Economics, University

A questionnaire received by the Director of Agricultural Extension of the University of Delaware from the Washington office of A. A. A. asks among other things if Delaware dairymen are over feeding their dairy herds. What A. A. A wants to know is, can Delaware dairymen reduce the production of milk by reducing the rate of grain feeding and have more money clear at the end of the year.

Delaware Agricultural Experiment Station Bulletin 190 indicates that Delaware dairymen, on the average, apparently are not over feeding grain in view of maximum net returns. However, this study does show that some Delaware dairymen are overfeeding.

For the herds having an average annual milk production per cow of less than 4500 pounds of purchased grain to 3½ pounds of milk (about 1000 pounds of grain per cow annually) returns the maximum average net income. The farms in this group which feed in excess of this amount suffer reduced net incomes. Likewise, the farms which feed less than this amount suffer reduced net incomes. Likewise, the farms in this group which feed in excess of this amount suffer reduced net incomes. Likewise, the farms in this group which feed in excess of this amount suffer reduced net incomes. The farms in this group which feed in excess of this amount suffer reduced net incomes. The farms in this group which feed in excess of this amount suffer reduced net incomes. The farms in this group which feed in excess of this amount suffer reduced net income. The farms in this group which feed in excess of this amount suffer reduced net incomes. It would be expected that the low production herds would require more feed to produce a given amount of milk than the high producting herds.

About one-fifth of the Delaware altone the business men are in the business for profits. When measuring and about two-fifths of the dairymen are over feeding.

FARMERS SUBMIT FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

More than a million farmers submitted financial statements to institutions under the Farm Credit Administration in the past sixteen months, according to Extension Economist J. S. Robinson. Financial statements were presented to the Farm Credit Administration by over 30 per cent of all farmers using credit, representing an important step forward in the work for greater use of farm credit statements and farm inventories, as advocated by the program of National Farm Inventory Week, set for January 7-13, 1935, and sponsored by the American Bankers Association. American Bankers Association.

CREDIT STATEMENTS AID FARMERS IN SECURING LOANS

The results of reliable studies presented at a round-table discussion of the Agricultural Commission of the American Bankers Association show that farmers using credit statements have obtained a greater volume of credit and used it more successfully than those who do not present statements. A farmers' credit statement, as indicated by these studies, very often is the first sign of an improved credit standing, enabling the farmer who borrows money to plan his business more successfully and the bank to judge more intelligently the desirability of making loans. The results of reliable studies pre-

The new pamphlet, gotten out by the Department of Agriculture, is issued at this time to fit into the whole effort of the Federal government to stimulate home construction. A recent survey by the department is declared to show that rural people would like to do about six billion dollars worth of home building and repair work, and that they stand ready to borrow at least 10 per cent of this amount, even under present conditions.

The plans in this bulletin—Farmers Bulletin 1738—after being prepared by architects in State colleges and the Department of Agriculture, were reviewed by a committee of the National Institute of Architects, another committee of home economists, and a few landscape architects.

Working drawings and specifications for these houses—complete and ready for a builder to use—may be obtained from the State extension service at a small charge. In the past, most farmers have built without any plans except those fashioned by themselves.

Newark High Atumni Pain For Insketball Team

The backoball players who have graduated from Newark are planning, under Charles Cole's direction, to organize a tourn to be known as the Newark High Alumni. A Jay V team is also affect consideration. When necessity problems can be solved, such as getting a floor, organizing a first, accord and third team, a schedule will be made out. Such men as "Shorty" Chalmers, Paul Whiteman, "Bill" Doyle, "Ech" Morris, Charlie Pie, "Bony" Jackson, "Shiek" Holloway, and muny others are expected to comprise the squad. A game with Newark High School has definitely been arranged.

Newark In Good Condition
For Wilmington
Boasting of perfect physical condition, the Newark High School football team will neet Wilmington High on Thanksgiving Day. Coach Gillespie is afraid that the boys will be a little too sure of themselves after the beating Sallies gave High School. If they are, this will soon come out of them when they see the strength of the opposition. The starting line-up will probably be:
Daly—L. E.

the opposition of the will probably be:

Daly-L. E.
Ewing-L. G.
Cage-C.
Huston or R. George-R. G.
Skillman-R. T.
Wharton-R. E.
Maxwell-Q. B.
Mayer-L. H. B.
Smith-R. H. B.
E. George-F. B.
This will be the last High School game for Captain Daly, Huston.
"Harpo" Cage, "Joe" Maxwell,
"Dutch" Mayer, "Ernie" George,
Harold Tiffany and "Johnny" Applegate.

Newark New Century Club News

This week's meeting of the Newark New Century Club was featured by a covered dish luncheon at which the club was signally honored by having as its guest, Mrs. Frank L. Reynolds, the State Federation President. Mrs. Reynolds conveyed greetings to the club from the Federation at large.

A short business session followed the luncheon. Mrs. Harry S. Gabriel, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, gave a detailed report of the recent progressive activities of the Committee, including the Rummage Sale and the luncheon given to the committee, including the Rummage Sale and the luncheon given to the committee, including the Rummage Sale and the luncheon given to the vocational group of the State Teachers' Association.

Marked emphasis was given to the coming Christmas Bazaar, which will be held on Monday afternoon, December 10th, commencing at 1.30 p. m., with an intermission at 2.39 for the regular bi-weekly meeting of the club. Mrs. William Barnard and Miss M. J. Newcomb, are assisting with the plans and arrangements of the Bazaar. Fancy Christmas articles, cake, jelly candy, conserves, etc., will be on sale, together with refreshments. Postcards have just been received showing a view of the Club House, and will be on sale for the first time.

The evening program, consisting of a Variety Show with a continuous round of thrill and surprises, will commence about 7.00 p. m., with a small admission charge. Mrs. W. E. Holton announced a subscription dance for the same evening, to be held at the Club House.

Approximately three-fourths of the State cattle program has been completed and it is expected that the approximately 671,000 head of cattle on pasture in 39 States on November 15 will be disposed of by the end of December. This announcement was made today by the Federal Surplus Rellef Corporation, of which Harry L. Hopkins is president, coupled with a statement that the program is being speeded up in an effort to conserve feed atuffs for farmers and cattle raisers. This means that the program under which State emergency relief administrations are disposing of droughtarea cattle will virtually end by the first of the year. Delaware has received and disposed of 2,723 head.

The cattle, purchased by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration in the drought States and turned over to the F.S.R.C. for conversion into food and disposition to the needy unemployed, numbered more than 6,000,000 head, of which 2,785,254 were allotted to State emergency relief administrations in 45 States. "AGGIE NEWS" UNDER NEW AND BETTER ORGANIZATION

J. HANSON DEAD

IN BALTIMORE

AT AGE OF 70

Late Newark Resident Had Been B. & O. Engineer For Many Years

John M. Hanson, aged 70 years, an engineer on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad who made his home with his son, M. W. Hanson, of Newark; Baltimore and his sister, Mrs. Summerfield Baldwin, in Baltimore. The funeral was held on Saturday in Baltimore and interment made at Lowden Park, Maryland.

News of Mr. Hanson's death was a shock to his many friends in Newark and Wilmington this week. Mr. Hanson was born at Belair, Md., and entered the employ of the B. & O. Railroad 49 years ago. He had been an engineer on the road for many years.

He had been ill since early last spring when he had to give up his work. Previous to that he had seldom ever been ill a day and was a devoted fisherman and gunner. He had been an engineer of the Wilmington lodge of Elks for some years.

He is survived by four children, M. W. Hansom, of Newark; Murray M. Wansom, of Newark; Murray M. W. Hansom, of Newark; Murray M. W. Hansom,

A Winter

Thrift Idea

Saving money in winter is more difficult than in summer —fuel bills, light bills, druggist bills, winter coats. Consult your budget and you'll see. There is, however, an excellent way to cut down on the food budget, and have just as good food.

Have you watched the margin between canned and fresh food in summer and compared it to the winter margin? Fresh fruits and vegetables are often as cheap in mid-summer as canned vegetables, and if they are a bit more expensive we are tempted, anyway, by the first fresh peaches in the market, the first home-grown to-mattees, etc. Perhaps we indulge ourselves to some of the fresh luxuries on the market.

Cut down in winter, then, when these fresh foods, shipped in, are almost out of reach, by laying in a supply of canned foods—which, after all, are these same fresh home-grown fruits and vegetables put into cans when they are at their ripest and best.

A Good Suggestion

A Good Suggestion

Make different dishes of them

Make different dishes of them by combining two or more canned fruits or vegetables. Here is a suggestion:

Fruit Rice Parfait: Press out all the syrup from a No. 2 can of crushed pineauple, drain a No. 2 can of a pricois and combine the syrups. Bring to boiling, add one-fourth cup rice, boil five minutes, then cook over boiling water until the rice is very tender and the liquid all absorbed. Add one-fourth cup sugar, the drained pineapple and the apricois pressed through a sieve. Chill thoroughly and just before serving fold in one cup of beaten cream. Pile lightly in glasses and garnish with a bit of preserved ginger. This serves eight persons.*

Farmers can PROFIT from the NHA

The farmer was remembered when the National Housing Act (NHA) was passed. Money is available at low interest rates for both new farm construction and remodeling of present structures

Why not include in your improve-ment plansa concrete watering tank to help keep your stock healthy?

You can get information on the benefits to be secured through NHA from us—free, of course. And when you come in for it, we'll be glad to suggest names of reliable contractors and help you plan the improvements the money will make possible.

ACCIDENT RISE OVER YR. 1933 IS PREDICTED

Safety Council Says Last September May Prove Worst On Record

By the end of November, motor vehicle fatalities for this year probably will equal the total for the full twelve months of 1933, the Delaware Safety Council predicts. This prophecy hinges upon a turn for the worse which the nation took in September and is based on incomplete reports. September, 1934, after all reports are received, the Council says, may rank highest in motor vehicle fatalities for that month of all years on record.

Recent indications, according to the Council, are that the decline which occurred in autocides in August—to a point practically equivalent to August, 1933—was only a temporary drop. On the basis of September reports already filed, the Council estimates a national death toll of 3,360 for the month—an advance of 16 per cent from August, and about the same increase from September, 1933. This estimated toll for September represents a daily average of 112 fatalities; the average daily toll for the month in 1933 being 97.

The accuracy of Safety Council estimates is demonstrated clearly by the recent publication of the U. S. Census Bureau's accident fatality figures for 1933. While the Council had estimated that 1933 accident fatalities of all types would total 90,000, the total revealed in the government data is 91,085 for the entire country. The Council's motor death estimate was only 363 short of the government's figure of 31,363.

Motor vehicle fatalities in this state showed an improvement in the first 10 months of the year but since November 1st autocides have been running slightly in excess of the number for the corresponding period of last year: At the end of the 3rd week in November, 69 auto fatalities are recorded as compared with 68 for the corresponding period of 1933, 8, Sussex County to date, 8; corresponding period 1933, 8. Sussex County to date, 8; corresponding achieved in the last five weeks of this year that an improvement over 1933 can be recorded.

J. Neil Stahley, University of Delaware football coach is ill with the grip, at Westminster, Md. Coach Stahley went to Westminister to visit friends after the alumni banquet last Saturday night and has been ill there wise. He is exprested to return often

Saturday night and has been ill there since. He is expected to return after the Thanksgiving holidays.

Members of the football squad who were also ill with the grip are improving and all were able to return to their homes for the holidays.

Howard Jamison, of Wilmington, a members of the sophomore class, sustained a fractured leg in the sophomore-freshman football game Monday and is in the Wilmington Genera Hospital.

About 25 candidates reported to Coach Doherty for basketball practice yesterday. Several of last year's team will not be out until after the holidays. They were on the football squad.

Better Breakfasts

A GOOD breakfast is worth fighting for. Or at least that's the way the squirrel and the bluejay sometimes feel about it. If your mate has fought the battle and won the booty while you've sat back in the feathered nest, be sure that you make the most of the spoils.

Here is a breakfast that you too, can gloat over, for, although he has masterfully brought home the bacon, have you not broiled it to a golden crisp and turned the paneakes to perfection? The big moment of this breakfast, however, comes at the start—so we'll give you the simple recipe for mixing the fruit drink.

A word, first, about the coffee, it must be freshly made, of course, and you will find the drip method gives the best results. If it is vacuum-packed it has retained that fresh comes flavor and that enticing aroma which makes breakfast the most inviting meal of the day—and sends us forth to conquer.

A New Tale of Adventure and Romance

Out of the North Woods

"THE MAN

by HAROLD TITUS

Author of "Below Zero", "Code of the North"

A smashing story full of the action that readers have learned to expect from this virile writer.

Be sure to read it as it appears serially in these columns.
