Like many other places in Newark this Spring, the home of Howard and Alice Nielsen on Brook Drive in Silverbrook bloomed extravagantly after a mild and wet winter.

Lower rates wanted

RESIDENTS OF THE Southridge Condominiums want the city of Newark to change its law regarding commercial electric rates in common areas of condominiums. After some discussion, council voted 5-1 on Monday night to table the motion for further study.

According to Michael Goyda, president of the Southridge Condominium Association, the 86 members of the community want all their electric charges to be at residential rates. Goyda claims the present structure which charges higher commercial rates for common areas in condos is unfair.

City manager Carl Luft said Newark has the same rate structure regarding condominiums as that of other electric utilities in Delaware, including Dover, Seaford, Milford, Middletown and Delmarva Power &

School board tax credit acceptable

By MARY E. PETZAK
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

DESPITE THE LONG hours and traditional lack of candidates for their jobs, members of the Christina District School Board decline to accept direct compensation. The board agreed, however, to use a state tax credit, if offered one.

At their regular April meeting, vice-president George Evans sought input from other board members regarding a proposal in the Delaware Assembly to pay school board members statewide $100 for each meeting they attend, not to exceed $1,500 per year.

According to Evans, 70 percent of the funds would come from the state and 30 percent from the district.

Board member James W. Kent said he refused to take money from educational purposes and direct it for services rendered. "Despite the fact that we earn it, and deserve it," said Kent, "this is not the place to take money."

School board member Teresa Schooley agreed with Kent. "I am totally opposed to reimbursement," said Schooley. "However, I would be interested in hearing about a credit."

A separate bill proposed in the State House of Representatives would make school board members eligible for an annual tax credit of $150 in the event they decline to be reimbursed.

State representative Stephanie Ulbrich (R-Newark South) told the board the compensation was in keeping with what volunteer firemen receive in Delaware. "But where there is not direct compensation, they do accept a state tax credit," explained Ulbrich. "Considering the challenges (school board members) have to deal with, I think you need more incentives."

Kent said he believed incentives were needed to get people to volunteer their time to the board. "I would say an $150 credit is a nice start, but in terms of making a real difference, it won't matter one way or another to me—but I suppose you have to start somewhere."

Students follow what they see

By PATRICIA A. KOLY

ALCOHOL AND MARIJUANA, also known as pot or weed, are easily available to area high school students, according to students at Christiana and Glasgow High schools.

This bears out what University of Delaware officials said this week in a press conference about binge drinking on college campuses. "Most students drank before they came to college," said University president David Roselle. "The Northeastern United States is where you find the heaviest drinkers, so you would expect college students to follow that pattern."

According to junior Danielle Ragazzo, 17, "if you know the right people, it seems easy" to get drugs. The Christiana student said she has seen an increase in teen drinking and pot smoking since she started high school. "But drinking is worse because it has become so normal."

Kelly M. Zayakosky, 18, a senior at Christiana, said the drug problem in her school was worse in her sophomore year. "Everybody in school has passed out from drinking," Zayakosky said.

POLICE BLOTTER

Driver avoids hitting child on Reybold Rd.

County police report that on April 23 around 7:50 a.m. a 1992 International school bus was stopped on eastbound Reybold Road with its red lights activated waiting to pick up a six-year-old child. A 1991 Jeep Wrangler driven by Charles Hackett, 19, of Heather Woods traveling westbound on Reybold tried to stop but began to slide toward the child crossing the road. Hackett steered into the eastbound lanes and hit the school bus causing extensive front end damage to the Wrangler. Neither the child in the road, nor the bus driver nor another child on the bus were injured. Hackett, who required six stitches on a cut on his face, was cited for careless driving.

Residence entered

Sometime between 7 and 10 a.m. on April 25, unknown persons entered a residence in the 900 block of Alexandria Drive through an unlocked door. The suspects took the keys to a 1984 Oldsmobile Cutlass and fled with the vehicle. The car was found around 10:20 a.m. the same morning on Shull Drive in Newark.

Newark Police at full strength

As of this week, Newark Police are almost back up to full strength as six officers who recently completed field training were given departmental assignments.

"We now have 50 officers working in the department," said Cpl. David Martin. "Mike Szep, who formerly worked with the Cecil County Sheriff's Department finishes field training in a few weeks, and that will make 51."

In September 1997, Newark city council authorized the department to increase the fulltime roster of the department to 54 officers as of January 1998. "We have two more persons who will be done in the police academy in September and we're hiring one more," explained Martin.

New officers Thomas Smith, Scott Simpson, Paul Keld, Gerald Windish Jr., Kevin Feeney and Andrew Rubin went from field training to patrol this week. Within the department, existing officers were reassigned now that the force has increased.

Sgt. William Wilkers went from patrol supervisor to professional standards officer. Sgts. Thomas LeMin, Thomas Buglio and Robert

Men assaulted on Amstel Ave.

On April 26 around 1:30 a.m. one 22-year-old Newark man was hit in the face with a piece of wood and a second 22-year-old Newark man was punched in the face in the unit block of Amstel Avenue. Police charged James E. Gadsen, 18, of Wilmington in the incident. Additional charges are pending against other possible suspects.

Shoplifter at Pathmark

Newark Police report that on April 22 around 10:20 p.m. Dennis M. Prado, 23, of Wilmington was observed at the Pathmark in College Square removing store items valued at $144. During their investigation, police found a plastic bag with a trace amount of heroin on the suspect. Prado was charged with shoplifting.

Underage drinkers on Main Street

Newark police report that on April 24 around 1 a.m. officers responded to a complaint of disorderly subjects in the parking lot at 334 E. Main St. Police charged Jeffrey S. McKenzie, 19, and James Fenimore, 19, with underage possession of alcohol.

Agnor were named patrol supervisors. Sgt. Susan Poley was named special operations supervisor and PFC Philip Magorry was named a special operations officer.

PFC Curtis Davis was assigned as a patrol officer in the special operations unit and PFC Mark Farrall was named crime prevention officer.

According to Chief William Hogan, as of July 27, PFC Andrew Markovitz will be assigned to an office in Newark High School as a school resource officer. "This is something the school has wanted for a while," said Hogan. "A grant we received finally allowed us to fund that position."

At the same time, PFC Thomas Maiura will take over Markovitz' current position as family services officer.

FOR THE RECORD

David Correll Jr. denies he said he is a heroin addict as reported by the Newark Police and published in the Newark Post issue of April 17, 1998.

PUGLISI CASE

Flagg could also be suspect in Newark assault case

NEWARK POLICE said this week they are reviewing all open cases with suspects who fit the description of Donald Flagg, arrested on April 24 for the murder of Anthony Puglisi and the kidnapping and sexual assault of Debra Puglisi.

Flagg was arrested on the job at Newark's Chrysler Assembly Plant after an imprisoned Debra Puglisi made a desperate 911 call from Flagg's Wellington Woods home.

She had been kept tied up in the Bear residence since Monday, April 20, when Flagg entered her home in Academy Hill and shot her husband before abducting her in the trunk of his car. Flagg has reportedly admitted the murder and kidnapping.

Newark Police Chief William Hogan refused to comment on whether his department believed Flagg might be involved in any particular Newark case. "We're reviewing any and all cases," Hogan said.

Hogan conceded one of the cases could be an attempted sexual assault on Barksdale Road in September 1997. The suspect was described as a black male with medium build, approximately 6 feet tall, with a mustache and short hair, and wearing a denim jacket.

According to police, the suspect grabbed the 29-year-old victim while she was walking from the bus stop around 10:30 p.m. on Sept. 24. The man attempted to sexually assault her, spraying her with mace, beating her and forcing her to the ground before fleeing.

Police are also investigating Flagg's possible links to other crimes including a Glasgow woman found dead along Route 273 in October 1997.

Funeral services for Anthony Puglisi were held this week. Debra Puglisi attended the viewing and funeral with her two children and other family members and friends.

Flagg, charged with murder, possession of a firearm during the commission of a felony, unlawful sexual conduct and kidnapping, remains in Gander Hill Prison after being denied bail.

Alcohol the most popular drug among teens

► DRUGS, from 1

"There's a lot of drug use," said Tanesha Matthews, 17, a junior at Glasgow High School. "People don't pressure you to use it, but most people leave parties high."

Two Glasgow students, a sophomore and a junior, asked not to be identified. "My ex-boyfriend used to do drugs," said the sophomore. "He couldn't even count how many (different drugs) he has done."

He used heroin but had not "shot it up," instead using "this green goo that you put on your tongue," she explained.

The junior said, "Weed is the easiest to get, then there are 'snaps' (nitrous oxide) and LSD."

The junior's older brother goes to Philadelphia regularly to purchase drugs. "Weed is so easy to get," she continued, "because people grow it right in their bedrooms or their backyards. It's considered cool to have a pot plant."

Matthews said there's a male student in one of her classes who has a "fried brain." The other students laughed and said they all know kids like that.

Zayakosky said she doesn't want to do drugs because they scare her and because she wants to be different from everyone else. "I've been asked about a hundred billion times, but I feel strong for refusing," Zayakosky said.

All reported that they know students who smoke pot with their parents. "Some parents are cool with it," said the junior.

They said there is no overt peer pressure to try anything, but have all been offered the opportunity. "It all depends on the crowd you hang out with," Matthews said. "It is possible to be friends with someone who is zonked out on the floor at every party, without doing drugs yourself."

Zayakosky said that drugs are only used by a certain crowd, and that she does not know anybody who shoots heroin. "Most of the 'potheads' who smoke weed are trying to be cool, and they'll do anything to fit in," she continued.

"But pot smoking is more of a seventh- or eighth-grade thing," Ragazzo said. "The drinking is more out of control in high school."

According to a 1997 survey for the National Center on Addiction and Substance Abuse at Columbia University (CASA) titled, "Substance Abuse and the American Adolescent," the age at which children are beginning to smoke cigarettes daily, drink alcohol and use marijuana and other illegal drugs, including cocaine and hallucinogens like LSD, is the youngest ever.

Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare and CASA president Joseph A. Califano Jr., said he is infuriated about the resignation of so many parents and teens to substance abuse.

Some of the findings: more than 23 percent of 12-year-olds know a friend or classmate who has used illegal drugs like acid, cocaine or heroin; while 68 percent of 17-year-olds can buy marijuana on any day, only one-third would report a drug dealer at school; heroin usage among teens has doubled since 1991.

But the study concluded that alcohol remains the drug of choice among all teenagers, with 1.2 million 12th graders who are binge drinkers consuming more than five alcoholic drinks in one sitting. Alcohol is also the drug most associated with risky behaviors, including drunk driving, teen pregnancy, suicide and violence.

Matthews said alcohol is definitely the easiest drug to get. "It starts at home," she said. "if parents have a bar or any liquor around - and they leave you in the house."

The sophomore said, "Older cousins will buy it for you, or you can steal it from your parents."

Matthews said she thinks it is inevitable that high schoolers are going to try drugs and alcohol. Another student agreed, "Everybody else does it, and if you think about it long enough, you're going to want to try it."

Students disappoint Hogan

Large party turned disruptive when police tried to break it up

By MARY E. PETZAK

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

NEWARK POLICE CHIEF WILLIAM HOGAN SAID his two biggest disappointments concerning last Saturday's "Spring Thing '98" event on Elkton Road were being misled by the organizers about the need to get a permit and the behavior shown to police.

"Even before things got out of control, people were spitting on officers and pouring beer on them," stated Hogan about the fundraiser where alcohol was served and several live bands performed.

University director of government relations Rick Armitage complimented the Newark Police and officers from nine other police agencies who assisted. "I don't know that I would have been as patient if someone spit on me and threw beer bottles," Armitage told city council on Monday.

According to Hogan, the organizers contacted the city back in February to ask about the event. "We told them they needed a permit if they expected more than 500 people," said Hogan. "We also told them they needed permission from the property owner and liability insurance and we would need to make a determination about additional security."

The police department contacted the organizers again on April 24 when they had not heard from them regarding the permit. "I feel we were deliberately misled on Friday because they assured us they expected less than 500 people," said Hogan. "However, they called the former mayor (Ronald Gardner) Friday night and left a message on his machine saying they expected 800 people and had a permit."

Hogan said the message also indicated the organizers expected police to interfere with the event.

"We kept an eye on the party during the day but didn't do anything even though there was a noise violation," said Hogan. "We finally took action around 4 p.m. when we received citizen complaints."

According to Hogan, the crowd by that time was dramatically larger than the police were told. "Captain (William) Nefosky estimated more than 1,200 people were there at one time."

Most of the people left within the first hour after police arrived. "But when there were about 250 people left in the yard, 40 to 50 people who had just left stopped out in the middle of Elkton Road

Biden addresses binge drinking

By MARY E. PETZAK

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

U. S. Senator Joseph Biden came to Newark this week to announce a national effort to address binge drinking on college campuses. His assistance was appreciated, but the issue is old news to city and University of Delaware officials.

John Bishop, assistant vice-president for student life at the University, is coordinator of the Campus/Community Coalition established in 1996 to reduce high-risk drinking under a five-year grant from the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation.

"My perspective has changed since we started," said Bishop at a Town and Gown meeting in April. "I now realize that alcohol use is a large segment of our culture that's very well ingrained."

Bishop said he thought about big changes in the beginning. "But now I tell myself, 'think small,'" said Bishop. "The cumulative effect of a lot of things over the years can change things."

Although the Coalition is trying to reduce the abuse of alcohol, Bishop said their goal is not prohibition. "We're targeting the violence, the vandalism and the disturbances of the peace that come with alcohol abuse," said Bishop.

University Police Chief Lawrence Thornton told the Town and Gown committee that alcohol and drug offenses were down on campus since July 1, 1997, but alcohol arrests and student referrals for alcohol use were up.

At the same meeting, Newark Police Chief William Hogan said alcohol charges in the city since January were up by 79 percent over the same period last year. "I'm not saying all these are students," said Hogan, who also noted that charges for disorderly conduct, often associated with alcohol drinking, were up by 85 percent this year.

University President David Roselle said this week that the off-campus event on Saturday, April 25, was an example of the "aberrant behavior" that can result with the abuse of alcohol. (See related story this issue).

"Nationally, 17 students have died on college campuses during binge drinking this year, and the year's not over yet," Roselle added.

Biden said drinking on college campuses is not new but people have to realize the culture is different than it used to be. "I find this hard to believe, but the studies show 44 percent of all college students nationwide are binge drinkers and one-half of all college freshmen binge drink in their first week at school," Biden explained. "Basically, binge drinking is taking alcoholic drinks in Estimates of the number attending last Saturday's "Spring Thing '98" range as high as 2,500 people. A permit is required for events with more than 500.

and refused to leave," said Hogan. "Several officers were hit with beer bottles and that's when we called additional police units."

According to police reports, during the three hours it took to clear the crowd, bottles, cans and other items were thrown at the officers. Two officers were struck with beer bottles and cans but did not require medical treatment. Two police vehicles were also damaged during the riot.

"I am very disappointed in what happened here," he said. "Some of my officers were actually 'jumped' while they were trying to make arrests - the situation was totally out of control."

Police arrested nine persons on charges including: reckless endangering, disorderly conduct, resisting arrest, and underage alcohol consumption.

Hogan said the arrests came after police followed a "force continuum" of verbally telling people to leave, pushing and directing them with batons, and finally using pepper spray.

One student was taken to the University of Delaware infirmary for injuries related to being sprayed with pepper spray.

"I'm open to complaints from people who say they were sprayed without cause," said Hogan. "But anyone who was sprayed had ample warning and had to be in close proximity to an area where they should not have been."

Hogan said the event is still under investigation and he anticipates more arrests will be made. Charges of maintaining a disorderly premise and holding a special event without a permit are pending.

He would not comment on whether some of the same persons were involved in a similar incident which took place in that block of Elkton Road in September 1997.

"That was a smaller crowd and we only cited them for noise violation," said Hogan. "But it was a similar all day event in the same area."

Farrell files for vacant council seat

Woodmere resident John Farrell filed this week to run for the vacant council seat in Newark's First District, saying he had been interested in city government for years.

"I've already been involved with council as the liaison for the Aetna Fire Company," said Farrell. "I want to work on council because I see it as a logical extension of my many years of volunteer community commitment."

Farrell works for the New Castle County Emergency Management Services. He is a former chief of the Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Company and still volunteers as a firefighter.

"I will be saying more about the issues during the campaign," said Farrell. "The nice thing about Newark is that it is difficult to jump on any one issue because the city is run so well."

Abbotsford resident Scott Bowling previously filed for the council seat the day after former First District councilmember Hal Godwin was sworn in as Mayor.

On Monday, city council voted to leave the seat vacant until the election set for June 30. Persons interested in running in the special election must file nominating petitions by June 1.

Condo owners want lower electric rates

► RATES, from 1

Light Company.

"In addition, depending on the season of the year, our small commercial electric rates are 7 percent to 11 percent lower than Delmarva Power's," said Luft.

George Sarris, Newark finance director, said the change was originally brought to the city by former councilmember Anthony Felicia who lives in the Villa Belmont Condominiums. "We have five condominium communities where common meters are used and the city would lose approximately $23,000 annually if residential rates were applied to their common areas," explained Sarris. "Villa Belmont would benefit most since approximately $13,000 of the $23,000 in electric revenue is from there."

Sarris also noted that under Newark's cooperative rate structure, reductions in revenue from one source had to be balanced against increases from other customers. "(The Southridge residents) are asking their neighbors to subsidize their rates," said Sarris.

Councilmember Karl Kalbacher who succeeded Felicia in District 3, said he supported the proposal. "With the deregulation of the electric industry, Newark will have to compete and this is a good first step," Kalbacher said.

Proposed House Bill 570 relating to the restructuring of electric utilities in Delaware would mandate choice of utilities for customers of Delmarva Power & Light Company starting July 1, 1999, with a three-year transition, and for customers of Delaware Electric Cooperative starting Jan. 1, 2000, with a five-year transition.

Municipally-owned utilities like Newark's could choose when and how they wish to open their markets to competition.

Councilmember Thomas Wampler also expressed concern that apartment dwellers might seek the same residential rate for their common areas. "It would be reasonable for them to come here and ask us to justify the differences," said Wampler. "They get the identical services for the identical residential purposes."

In addition to proposing the new ordinance, the condominium association filed a lawsuit on the same issue against the city on March 5, 1998. "I'm disappointed the association took this action after being assured this issue would be brought before the full council," said Sarris.

Councilmember Jerry Clifton said he could see valid points on all sides but preferred to table the motion until the lawsuit could be reviewed. "I have a problem when someone takes an adversarial position and comes to us with a proposal," said Clifton.

Southridge residents also said they deserve special consideration because they are senior citizens on fixed incomes. However, Sarris said there is no defined discrimination under these circumstances and fixed incomes does not necessarily mean low incomes.

Biden addresses campus drinking problem

rapid succession for the express purpose of getting drunk."

Biden said some parents and students still think this is just one of the campus experiences. "They see it as a rite of passage," he said, "but drinking yourself to death is no right - it's just stupid."

Biden's Collegiate Initiative to Reduce Binge Drinking asks universities nationwide to appoint a task force and work closely with local town officials on reducing alcohol and other drug-related activities, eliminate alcohol-related sponsorship of on-campus events and provide students with an alcohol-free environment, enforce zero-tolerance of underage alcohol consumption, and vigorously enforce a college's disciplinary codes against violators.

All of these measures are already in effect at the University of Delaware. "It's ironic that that Sen. William Roth and I are co-sponsoring this legislation when the largest and most prestigious university in my state has already put these measures into effect," Biden said.

Ronald Gardner, who has agreed to continue working with the Coalition even though he is no longer mayor of Newark, said he appreciated Biden's effort to bring more national exposure to the issue.

"I said from the very beginning we needed someone to get this message across (nationally)," Gardner said.

Gardner and Roselle said the Senate resolution would enable many more colleges to address the problem. "When we were chosen as one of six schools to participate in the Robert Wood Johnson project, some other mayors indicated being in the study suggested our schools had bigger problems," said Gardner. "But we were ahead of the curve in dealing with the problem."

Roselle agreed. "The Senate resolution recognizes this is not just the problem of a few and no school will be able to avoid dealing with it now."

Governor unveils new legislation for child abuse investigations

Governor Thomas R. Carper has unveiled legislation that more clearly defines roles and responsibilities for caseworkers and law enforcement investigators as well as adding sanctions and incentives in child abuse investigations.

Carper's proposal mandates cooperation between law enforcement and child abuse investigators, makes causing physical injury to a child under age two a felony assault, creates subpoena powers for the Division of Family Services to compel cooperation in investigations, and takes steps to attract and retain experienced investigators by providing a salary supplement for qualified employees who take on additional responsibilities.

According to New Castle County Police Colonel John Cunningham,

"The measures proposed in this bill serve to protect the most innocent and defenseless among us — our children."

Carper's legislation would:
 • Provide a $5,000 salary supplement to experienced investigators and treatment workers who meet certain qualifications and take on additional responsibilities. Currently, many investigators and treatment workers transfer to other jobs within the department or leave state service due to the difficulty of child abuse cases compared to other positions at the same pay grade.

• Investigators who received the supplement would be required to be "on call" during weekend hours to investigate serious cases. Currently, child abuse cases reported during the weekend are initially handled by weekend workers who pass the case along to weekday workers.

Under Carper's proposal, investigators who make the initial response to the hospital would be responsible for the case until it is closed.

The legislation will complement administrative improvements announced recently by the Department of Services for Children, Youth and Their Families.

Thank you to the Gores

WITH THE "RIOT" offering spicy TV sound and picture bites Saturday and U. S. Senator Joseph Biden's press conference on binge drinking Monday, a significant event at the University of Delaware became lost in the media shuffle.

Last weekend, Gore Hall, the UD's new $17.5 million showpiece on the mall, was dedicated. The three-story, 65,000 square-foot building houses 25 classrooms of various sizes.

Its entrance portico is dominated by four columns, each 31 feet tall and weighing 24,000 pounds. The columns are the largest ever constructed by their Louisiana manufacturer. The interior, including a three-story octagonal atrium, is bright, beautiful and high tech.

But most important is the Georgian architectural character of the building designed by the renowned Washington, D.C. architect Allan Greenberg. The building, the last to be built along the tree-lined mall, completes the original plan for the mall, which was developed before Hullahen, Sharp, Memorial or other halls were constructed. Encompassing Year 2000 technology and construction standards, the "new" Gore Hall is a perfect complement to its neighbors.

A donation by Robert W. Gore, his wife Sally and mother Genevieve funded the building construction.

For many years, the Gore family has shared its Gore-Tex and other fortunes with Newark. Seniors now enjoy using the pool at the new Newark Senior Center. Girl Scouts regularly enjoy training sessions in the Gore auditorium of the Girl Scouts headquarters on South College Avenue. Their philanthropy is widespread and quiet. We applaud the Gores for allowing the construction of a beautiful new addition to our and the UD's community.

ONE PARENT'S VIEW

Stop complaining and listen

By RUTH KELLY

NEWARK POST CONTRIBUTING WRITER

THERE IS NO REASON FOR THE state of Delaware not to be the public school diadem of America and nay-sayers of education reform should be politely, but firmly brushed aside so educators can stay the course in focusing on teaching children.

I vacillate between being proud and hopeful of the education system in Delaware to utter frustration at those with special interests and those unwilling to change with the times. Since my daughter entered the system in 1991, I've observed many of the players in education whose decisions will ultimately affect my daughter's academic success and I worry a lot.

I have been very impressed so far with all of the teachers that my daughter has had. Each of the teachers offered something special in their varied teaching styles and presentation that my daughter needed at each level and delivered it with expert knowledge and professionalism. She was always prepared to progress to the next level.

Further accolades are given to my local school administration and my school district (Christina) and the direction they have been taking in education. At the state level, I've met highly qualified, caring people at the Department of Education and am quite content with those sitting on the State School Board. I remain ecstatic with the appointment of Dr. Metts as Secretary of Education. I trusted her at Christina and have faith that she will lead the state effectively through education reform with the best interests of all children in her heart. She also has the courage to stay the course in spite of the opposition of education nay-sayers.

I am not an expert on educational issues and doubt that I ever will be. Knowing this, I tend to do what I wish many nay-sayers would do and that is simply to shut up and listen. You just might learn something that you didn't know.

I have acquired an expertise in recognizing strong, effective leadership when I see it. After many years experience in the workforce, I have a keen sense of folk who are sincere and who are committed and dedicated to their work. This feel of people along with some common sense hasn't steered me wrong so far.

I have attended many meetings over the years statewide to try to understand the system and how it works. I have had the pleasure of meeting many people who are dedicated to the successful education of all children in this state. I have also seen the nay-sayers at work. In any public forum on the issue, they never appear to me to be listening. I watch as they lay in wait for that pause in conversation when they then jump up and break into a lot of rhetoric and espousing sentiments of how things just ought to be. These folks have probably been around education circles forever. I have a strong sense that their fundamental belief embraces the notion that "if it ain't broke why fix it?"

Most troubling to me is what I hope is a small number of folks who could care less about my child's educational success and may only be concerned with a certain segment of the children in our schools. I can hear it in comments made openly and sense it sometimes by things that are unspoken.

As we move into 1998 and enter a new millennium, success requires global thinking and children prepared to compete worldwide. Nay-sayers, I believe, tend to live in the past and can't see the big picture which is a world outside of Delaware.

I want my daughter to have an even better education than I received from Lower Merion (Pa.) High School. I consider myself a lifelong learner and have done quite well to have had no formal education since high school. The education I received in the 1960s has served me well but is not going to be enough for my daughter to be as successful in the year 2000.

There is, and will continue to be, much debate about high-stakes testing for students, an effective system of accountability for students, teachers, parents and the community, along with a fair assessment system for all

OUT OF THE ATTIC

Last Saturday's fracas on Elkton Road paled in comparison to the famous 1974 Deer Park riot. This week, courtesy of historian Bob Barnes, Out of the Attic features photographs from the March 7, 1974 incident. According to published reports and witnesses, the usual Thursday night crowd on Newark's Main Street was boosted by rumors. The Wilmington Evening Journal described Thursday night as the unofficial start of the party weekend. Rumors circulated that coeds of both sexes would "streak" across the University of Delaware mall and through the business district. Streaking, a fad of the 1970s, involved college students and others who would go racing nude through public gatherings. Football games and graduation ceremonies were favorite streaking sites. That Thursday night in Newark, the crowd grew quickly outside the Deer Park Tavern and by 10 p.m. Main Street was blocked by a mass of students. Newark police arrived and their patrol car was immediately bounced and beaten by the crowd. The mass of students became unruly and a liquor store adjacent to the Deer Park was looted. When police arrived at that scene, all of the windows of the police car were smashed. The situation deteriorated from that point on. All told, it took more than 200 police officers to quell the mob of 4,000. Tear gas and police holding riot shields eventually cleared the students from Main Street. Eleven arrests were made, most for disorderly conduct, and 10 police officers were injured. One Newark officer of the peace had his contact lens melted by acid thrown at him. By 3 a.m., calm was restored as the smell of tear gas lingered over Main Street.

In Delaware, over 130 people are currently waiting for an organ transplant. Many others are waiting for tissue.

Please consider an organ or tissue donation as a way to bring some good from tragic situations. One donor can help as many as 75 other people. Please let your family know of your wishes.

Everyday surgeons from many local hospitals use human allograft tissue to enhance and even save lives of Delawareans. Tissue donation is done immediately after the death of a loved one with the legal consent of the next of kin. This donation process does not interfere with any funeral plans. These people are the real heroes. At this time of great sorrow in their own lives, they are thinking of someone else who they don't even know and have never even met.

Tissues that are commonly used are heart valves for replacement surgeries, and bone eroding cancers. These can make the difference in whether or not someone has a limb amputated or can walk on two feet. Also, bones are used in a lot of sports injuries, ACL repair, spinal fusion and for patients with herniated disk disease in their backs. Reconstructive surgeries are necessary for patients involved in serious motor vehicle accidents. Skin can be procured and becomes a life saver for burn victims. There are also many veins and arteries that play a significant role in cardiovascular surgery and diabetic limb salvage. There is a long vein in the leg that can be used in heart bypass surgery.

Organs and tissues are not treated the same. Organs need to be removed and transplanted quickly into a body type that matches. Tissue has no time pressure. After tissue is donated, it is sent to a processing facility which cleans and prepares it. It can then be transplanted when needed and into differing body types.

Currently, the federal government designates an Organ Procurement Organization for each region. Ours is the Delaware Valley Transplant Program. They are located in Philadelphia, and they serve parts of New Jersey, Delaware and Pennsylvania.

They are doing a great job with organs. Staying in the larger pool is very important for organs which must match the recipient. In Delaware, approximately 20 organ donations and approximately 30 tissue donations were made during the past several months. I believe we can increase donations. I have had many talks with organizations such as the American Red Cross, about starting a tissue bank in Delaware. A great thing about this is that it is for Delaware. I believe that this program would almost triple the donors in Delaware and what is procured here stays here. The groups I have talked with have assured me that there will be a community educational program. They would also work with the hospitals to help their staff identify potential donors. Again, this is not possible without you, the people showing your compassion for others.

Only about half the number of Delawareans who want to donate have told their families. Then, because families do not know the wishes of their loved one, potential donors are not identified and their families are never asked.

Please sign a donor card at Motor Vehicle and share your decision with your family. Nearly all major religions support donations. There is no cost to your family, it does not interfere with medical care, and does not delay or alter funeral arrangements.

Delawareans always seem to do what is right and good for our fellow citizens even at the worst times in our own lives. Medical advances in organ and tissue technology makes it possible for you to save a life.

Shut up and listen

students. There has been much talking over the past several years and I've done a lot of listening, watching and waiting. For me to remain hopeful and happy as we move forward, I need to see a continuing of bold action now while my daughter is in the system. I sent her to you prepared and ready to learn and have done whatever was asked of me as her parent.

I now expect the state to do their part in preparing her for success to be a productive contributor to society.

Low turnout for candidates meeting

By PATRICIA A. KOLY
 NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Only about a dozen people turned out on April 23 to listen to three candidates running for a seat on the Christina District School Board.

Questions and issues ranged from accountability, theme schools and the use of portable classrooms to the number of schools in the district and the number of board meetings each candidate has attended.

Dean S. Alfano, a Pike Creek resident and senior officer with MBNA, said the school board meeting on April 21 was the first one he had ever attended. Alfano explained that because his son just entered first grade at Wilson Elementary School, this is his first experience with the Christina School District. Christianstead resident Jane M.

Kurz, a nursing instructor at Delaware State University, said she hasn't been to school board meetings because her involvement with school committees, such as Shue-Medill's Site Management Committee, and her recent completion of a doctoral degree have conflicted with the board's meeting schedule.

Former school teacher Theresa L. Schooley, a resident of Chapel Hill, said the first board meeting she attended was in 1989 when she and her daughter school board to make girls' lacrosse a varsity sport. Schooley has served on the board since 1994, and was the only candidate who knew there are 32 schools in the district.

All three candidates agreed that student and teacher accountability are necessary and they would recommend the Christina District to other parents.

Schooley said she doesn't think there are sufficient resources available to support theme schools. Alfano said he likes the idea of more parental involvement, but that theme schools may not work if parents only utilize them to keep their students local. Kurz said that while it is good to give parents more choices, there is neither enough publicity nor parental information to make theme schools successful.

Alfano and Schooley said they think portable classrooms, such as the three that will be in place at Brader Elementary in the fall, are a good solution to overcrowding. Kurz said she thinks there are enough good buildings available to use, and that portable classrooms are not good. She suggested shifting students to underpopulated schools.

School board elections take place this year on May 12.

NEWARK OUTLOOK

Bike for the Health of it

■ This weekly feature on the Lifestyle page is authored by the staff of the Newark-based Cooperative Extension Service.

MAY is National Bike Month, and this year's theme is fitness.

Bicycling is a low-impact activity that can be enjoyed by all ages for fitness and fun—a message that dovetails perfectly with the U.S. Surgeon General's recommendation that every American get 30 minutes of exercise daily to promote wellness and prevent disease.

Bicycling to work, a car pool, school, the store, weekend sports events or a neighborhood park also makes for a healthier environment by reducing pollution and congestion on the roads.

The Delaware Bicycle Council has planned a number of activities statewide and in our own city of Newark. May 3-10 is designated as Bike Safety Week.

University of Delaware Cooperative Extension is joining forces with White Clay Bike Club to offer Effective Cycling courses to the general public during the first three weekends in May. Sponsored by the League of American Bicyclists (L.A.B.), these certificate classes promote proficient cyclists capable of riding in traffic. As John Forester, the most Effective Cyclist, says, "Bicyclists fare best when they act and are treated as drivers of vehicles."

The law states that bicyclists are drivers of a vehicle and must abide by the same rules of the road as a motor vehicle. Too many times bicyclists forget this responsibility, which includes coming to a complete stop at red lights and stop signs, riding on the right side of the road and giving directional signals to pedestrians and motorists. In the city of Newark, it also means not riding on the sidewalks of Main Street.

May 13 is the Annual Legislator's Bike Ride to Dover. Governor Tom Carper will sign the proclamation for Bike Month and Bike-to-Work Week. Join fellow bikers on May 20 for Ride-Your-Bike Day. A collaboration of the UD Wellness Center, Public Safety and Cooperative Extension, Ride-Your-Bike Day is to recognize people who ride their bikes on a regular basis and to encourage others to consider bicycling as an option to driving a motor vehicle.

Participants receive a T-shirt and a chance to win other prizes.

For more information about Bike Month, related activities and bike safety tips, visit the following Web sites: DE Bicycle Council at <http://www.state.de.us/deldot/bike/welcome.htm>; White Clay Bike Club at <http://www.delanet.com/~wcbc>; and New Castle County Cooperative Extension at <http://bluehen.ags.udel.edu/ncc/>

GOOD NEWS FOR A CHANGE

By MARY E. PETZAK

DERRICK George was born eight weeks premature and spent two months in intensive care before finally going home.

By the time he was nine months old his family realized he still had problems. "He wasn't sitting up or rolling over so I knew we had to find out what was wrong," said his mother, Elizabeth George.

A magnetic resonance imaging showed brain damage and at one year of age Derrick George was diagnosed with cerebral palsy.

Now 7, Derrick spends a lot of time in a wheelchair but is able to walk with the aid of a walker. "He will have another operation in August and we hope eventually he'll be able to walk with crutches," said George.

A further complication arose for the family as Derrick grew older, however. Their Binns home did not have a handicapped-accessible entrance. "It got a little hairy when I had to get him and his wheelchair out to the schoolbus," said George. "He's a big boy."

When a friend bought a home with an unneeded handicapped ramp, the Georges arranged to take it and have friends help them attach it to their home.

Derrick George's smile was all the payment his anonymous benefactor wanted for building a deck and ramp so the boy could go out with the rest of the kids.

This is when the story took a turn for the better. Another friend told the Georges that the improvised attachment of the old ramp would look terrible and suggested adding a deck — something the family could not afford.

So the friend offered to build the new deck and ramp himself if the Georges paid for the materials. "We even had to knock out our dining room windows to make a doorway big enough for Derrick's wheelchair," said George.

The friend, who prefers to remain anonymous, spent almost every weekend for the entire winter working on the project.

"The day he finished, Derrick couldn't wait to try it," said George. "He got in his walker and cruised down very slowly — the look on his face was priceless."

George said Derrick now "runs" up and down the ramp with his walker. "He is such a happy camper now that he is free like the rest of the kids," George said.

NHS band and orchestra plan to be heard

THE NEWARK HIGH SCHOOL bands and orchestra are on the move again, this time to Virginia Beach for the Dixie Classic Music Festival on May 9 and 10. The Symphonic Orchestra, Wind Ensemble, Jazz Ensemble, Stage Band, Symphonic Band, and Marching Bands will compete with music groups from seven other states.

Directors Rosaria Macera, Jonathan Wittman, and Lloyd H. Ross have been working with Newark's performing groups for the past year getting ready for the festival. According to Ross, Newark students were at this festival in May of 1991 and they look forward to performing there again.

Almost 250 students and their instruments will travel in six buses and a trailer accompanied by staff and chaperons. While at the festival the performances will be recorded and each student will receive a compact disc of the Newark ensembles. This will include the field show performance of the marching band. Students will spend a day at Busch Gardens before returning to Newark.

Students raised money for the trip last fall by selling magazine subscriptions, making and selling 3,500 subs, and selling holiday candy and wrap. Chaperons pay their own way.

Last year the same ensembles plus the chorus traveled to Orlando for the All American Music Festival.

The music department will give a Pops

Concert at the school on May 21 at 7 p.m. with all of the ensembles (including the marching band) performing in the free concert.

The Newark Marching Band will also perform in Newark's Memorial Day Parade set for May 17.

Other performances for Newark musicians this Spring include the Jazz Ensemble playing at the Hotel duPont for the Christina Endowment luncheon; the double brass quintet playing for the graduation exercises of graduate students in education at the University of Delaware; and, the Wind Ensemble and Symphonic Band performing for the awards and graduation programs at the high school in June.

Univ. of Penn exhibit combines different studies

THERE ARE TWO MAJOR reasons that I think the current exhibit at the University of Pennsylvania Museum is an outstanding one. First, I like the combination of art with other forms of study. In this case it is the art of photography and the science of archaeology. Second, the exhibit gives us a chance to see things from a new perspective. So new, it was almost like a James Bond story to get the photos away from a government who wanted to keep them secret for military reasons. Strongly underpinning both reasons is my ardent belief that photography is an art form.

Now through June 20, the University of Pennsylvania Museum is exhibiting photographs by Marilyn Bridges called "Egypt: Antiquities from Above." There are 52 photographs in the show that bring us a new way of looking at some objects we have seen, at least in photos, many times from ground level.

The current exhibition is the culmination of Bridges' aerial exploration along the river so steeped in mystery, the Nile. We may see architectural achievements spanning nearly 4,000 years of Egyptian civilization along this great river and see them very well displayed for maximum pleasure and maximum historical impact.

What about my James Bond reference? It seems that Ms. Bridges was refused permission to photograph in the area by the Egyptian government. There is a strict military prohibition against any aerial reconnaissance in the area. Even though she was recognized for her work around the world, the answer kept coming back, "No." The Egyptians did not reckon with the tenacity of this woman and permission was finally given and we have a great exhibit just north of us, one we are not likely to have duplicated in the near future.

Following the Nile from Cairo to Abu Simbel [get your atlas out] Bridges' documentation spans the early Dynastic to Greco-Roman periods and includes the Lower Egyptian pyramids and great mortuary complexes at Giza, Saqqara, Abusir, Dahshur, el-Lisht and Maidum as well as temple complexes at Dendera, Esna, Edfu, Kom Ombo and Philae in Upper Egypt. The University Museum folks make it easy for you to follow the route with their many maps.

There are many other sites covered including the rock-cut tombs at Benis Hasan and antiquities around Aswan. Special emphasis is given to ancient Thebes with its grand temples at Luxor and Karnak and the great burial ground of the Valley of the Kings.

The museum is famous for its Egyptology exhibits and I have seen them many times since I was first taken there as a little boy. These photos have helped me go get a new perspective on the entire growth and development of this important civilization.

Bridges' journey ends at Abu Simbel. You may remember that this is where massive rock-cut temples were removed and rebuilt to save them from the rising waters of the man made Lake Nasser when the great dam was installed in the 1960s. If you really get interested in the show, a visit to the Museum Shop might be in order. You may purchase the photographer's book, with the same title as the show, to take these photos and her commentary home with you.

Also, I feel this exhibition really compliments the museum's permanent ancient Egyptian galleries. You may visit all the galleries for one admission price when you go to the complex at 33rd and Spruce Streets in Philadelphia. If you have a child, or any member of your family, interested in this mystic land, check out the twelve ton Sphinx and other monumental architectural elements from the Palace of Merenptah, c. 1200 B.C., and don't miss the mummies!

The museum is easily accessible by car, Amtrak or SEPTA. If you take the regional rail service, there is now a station right at the University of Pennsylvania so you no longer have to walk from Pennsylvania Station at 30th Street.

Admission for adults is $5, $2.50 for seniors and students with valid ID. The museum is open Tuesday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m. For more information, 215-898-4000.

■ Author's note:

Lunacies like these have been inflicted on my poor wife, children and colleagues for years. They have been greeted by both groans and guffaws - the latter, perhaps, to pacify the punster and offset a further barrage. To its victims, punning can be seen as a disease, since any laughter, however sparse, can be contagious. I hope Post readers will tackle this word-play nonsense with zest, thereby assuring them Eternal Joy and a letter from Ed McMahon.

Meals on Wheels recognizes year's top volunteers

DELAWAREANS Richard Reese Jr. and Rosemary Nemeth Finlayson have been recognized as 1998 "Meals on Wheels" volunteers of the year. Reese is the secretary for the Meals On Wheels Delaware board of directors and also coordinates regular meal deliveries by the Wilmington Kiwanis Club. Finlayson, a volunteer with the Newark Senior Center, has delivered Meals On Wheels for 26 years. Finlayson was nominated by Natalie Smith, Newark Senior Center's homebound meals coordinator. Smith cited the "lasting relationships" that Finlayson developed as well as her statement, "I get far more from delivering these meals than I give." The Reynolds Metals Company donated $1,000 to both Meals On Wheels Delaware and the Newark Senior Center in honor of Reese and Finlayson. In 1997, in honor of the 50th anniversary of Reynolds Wrap aluminum foil, Reynolds set a goal of recruiting 50,000 new volunteers for Meals On Wheels' programs nationwide. That volunteer recruitment effort has already resulted in more than 60,000 new volunteers.

Meals On Wheels originated in Great Britain during World War II when people lost their homes and had no place to prepare meals. The Women's Volunteer Service for Civil Defense delivered prepared meals to disadvantaged neighbors. The Meals On Wheels idea spread and the first home-delivered meals program in the United States started in 1954 in Philadelphia, Pa. In Delaware, volunteers can find the location of the nearest program by calling—Meals On Wheels Delaware at 656-3257 or 1-800-62MEALS.

Chimes Delaware is four years old

Newark-based Chimes Delaware is currently celebrating its fourth anniversary. At the request of the Delaware Division of Mental Retardation, The Chimes agency took responsibility for residential, vocational, employment, rehabilitative and support services in Delaware four years ago. Chimes Delaware serves 80 individuals in vocational services in New Castle County and nearly 50 individuals in residential services statewide. People of all ages receive this wide array of services and support through committed professionals in programs and facilities designed or customized to meet their needs. Half a century ago, The Chimes began in Baltimore, Md., using borrowed classrooms. The mothers of five children with moderate mental retardation volunteered their time to teach. Today Chimes serves more than 2,300 people through programs in Maryland, Delaware, Virginia, Washington, D.C., California, Iowa and Israel.

ASSE host families sought

ASSE International Student Exchange programs is seeking host families for boys and girls, 15 to 18 years old, from countries around the world for the upcoming school year. These academically select students speak English, are fully insured, bring spending money, expect to participate in household responsibilities and want to learn about this country through living as part of a family.

Families may select the youngster of their choice from extensive student applications, family photos and biographical essays.

ASSE is also seeking local high school students to become ASSE exchange students abroad. Students should be between 15 and 18 years old and interested in living with a host family in Europe, Asia, South America, Canada (French or English speaking), Australia or New Zealand. Students should have a good academic record. Academic year and shorter term summer vacation programs are available. For more information, call Tammy Bowers at 633-4674 or 800-677-2773.

Postal food drive on May 9

Delaware mail carriers will collect non-perishable foods on Saturday, May 9. Those wishing to donate are asked to place food donations by their mailboxes on that date, or take donations to their local post office. Special containers will be provided in the post office lobbies from May 4 to May 9.

Food donations will be delivered to the Food Bank of Delaware for distribution to more than 160 Food Bank member organizations. All food collected in Delaware stays in Delaware.

Last year, Newark residents donated more than 22,577 pounds of food. More than 198,400 pounds were collected statewide.

Many organizations have food drives during the holidays, but this is the time of year when the Food Bank of Delaware finds that its supplies are the lowest and the demand the greatest.

For more information, contact Paul Himmelstein at 738-7920.

Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Co. chili cook-off

Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Co. Newark is hosting the second annual chili cook-off and family festival on May 9 from noon to 5 p.m. at the fire station located on Route 273, across from the Ogletown post office and next to Winner Nissan.

The cook-off features a competition of chili prepared by contestants at the event. Judges will award cash prizes in the following categories: Best Overall, Peoples' Choice, Hottest Chili, Mildest Chili and Best Firefighter's Chili.

The event will also feature live music, children's games, chili making and fire-prevention exhibits.

For more information or to register to be a chili chef, call the Aetna Hall at 366-8696.

LPGA car raffle

Tickets are on sale for the car raffle at the 1998 LPGA McDonald's golf tournament championship May 11 to 17 at the DuPont Country Club.

The grand prize is a 1998 Ford

Expedition, four-wheel drive, Eddie Bauer, valued at more than $40,000. All proceeds from the car raffle will go directly to benefit families staying at the Ronald McDonald House. Gov. Thomas R. Carper will draw the winning ticket at the end of play on Sunday, May 17. It is not necessary to be present to win. For more information on buying raffle tickets, please contact the Ronald McDonald House at 656-HUGS.

NHS reunion

The Newark High School class of '78 will hold their family picnic reunion on Saturday, June 27 from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. followed by a party from 7 p.m. to midnight. The picnic will be held at Lums Pond and the party will be held at The Evergreens in the Newark Senior Center on Marrows Road. Call 731-4304 for more information.

McDonald House vehicle donations

The Ronald McDonald House of Delaware is seeking donations of cars, trucks, boats, trailers, motorhomes and recreational vehicles.

Goodwill Industries of Delaware will auction off donated vehicles and the net proceeds will be given to the Ronald McDonald House. The auction is held the second Wednesday of each month.

For further information on donating a vehicle, call Jim Starkey, Ronald McDonald House Vehicle Sales Chair at 737-3455, or contact the House at 656-HUGS(4847).

Newark Parks and Recreation spring flea market slated

Newark's Department of Parks and Recreation will sponsor its annual Spring Flea market at George Wilson Center, 303 New London Road (across from University of Delaware's Clayton Hall), Saturday, June 6, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

This year's flea market will be packed with an assortment of new and used clothing, toys, furnishings, bric-a-brac, etc. at reasonable prices.

The vendor fee is $15 for city residents, $18 for non-residents. Food vendors are especially welcome. This event is free to the public.

Rain date will be Saturday, June 13. For more information, call 366-7069/7060.

AYUSA International recruits host families

AYUSA International is calling on families interested in hosting young adults who are embarking upon the adventure of a lifetime. AYUSA students are carefully selected based on maturity, flexibility, achievement, civic responsibility and motivation to learn about American culture. Arriving in August, all students have full medical insurance, spending money and a good command of English. Host families are asked to treat their student as one of their own, providing food, board and a loving home environment. For more information on how to host an exchange student, call Cheryl at 994-3523 or 800-240-4931.

THE EDGE

IT WAS QUITE A week for sports in the Newark area. Local athletes made impacts on a far more than local scale. Butter Pressey and Kevin Mench are big cogs in the Blue Hens' football and baseball programs. The Glasgow High boys 4x100 team turned in one of the fastest times in the country at the Penn Relays. So much for the 'little old Delaware' label.

ALL THUMBS

UP: To the Newark High softball team, coaches and parents for making an outstanding effort to improve the condition of their field.

UP: To University of Delaware's Kevin Mench for breaking the school record for career home runs and for leading the country in home runs this season. The former Newark American Little League star and high school player of the year has had a great year.

DOWN: To everybody who blames all losses on officials or umpires.

GAME OF THE WEEK

Newark High's baseball team, after a bit of a slow start this season, finds itself in the thick of the race for the Flight A championship. Starting the week, Christiana, too, was tied with the Jackets and Brandywine for the league lead. The Vikings will host the Yellowjackets May 7 in a very big game.

JACKETS ON A ROLL

Newark now in hunt for Flight A crown

By STEVE WESTRICK

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

NEWARK EXTENDED ITS winning streak to four games by beating up on Delcastle 16-4 in five innings at Newark high on Tuesday.

Prior to Delcastle, Newark had defeated three straight ranked teams in Brandywine, A.I. Dupont and Dickinson.

"I think what is happening to us right now is our hitting, fielding and pitching is all coming together," Newark coach Curt Bedford said.

Newark started the streak by beating then second ranked Brandywine 7-0. Matt Flocco was outstanding on the mound, striking out six batters en route to the win. Chris Adams went 3-for-3, all of them extra base hits. Charles Porter also added two RBI on two hits in the win.

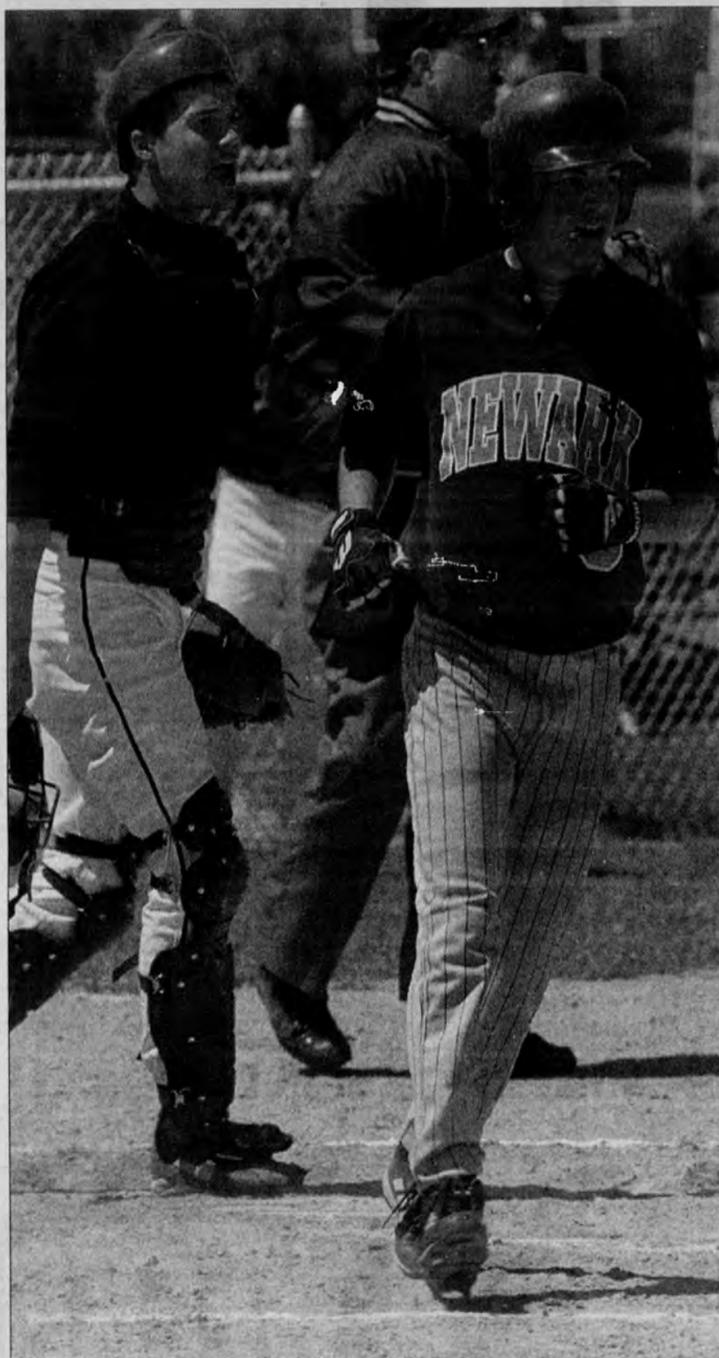

One day later, the Yellowjackets defeated then seventh ranked A.I. Dupont 11-7. Dave Lewis got his second win as Mike Fisher went 3-for-4 with three RBI.

Newark then finished the week by beating then eighth ranked Dickinson 9-6. Robert Holmes picked up his first win from the mound as Adams hit two doubles in the game.

Against Delcastle, Lewis improved his record to 3-0 as he pitched four innings giving up two runs off three hits and three walks. Lewis struck out two batters.

Newark, (6-3, 5-2 Flight A) had 11 players record hits against the Cougars. Adams had two hits, a home run in the second inning and a triple in the third.

Newark girls top Glasgow

Cope return boosts Jackets

By CHRIS DONAHUE

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

WHEN HOST GLASGOW and Newark met in a girls Blue Hen Conference soccer game last Wednesday, the Yellowjackets were on the way up, while the Dragons were on the way down.

Buoyed by the return of all-state midfielder Jill Cope from an injury, Newark continued to soar, getting goals from three different players, including Cope, to gain a 3-0 victory.

After an 0-2-1 start, Newark improved to 5-2-1 overall and 4-1 in conference play, which was crucial as it headed into a Friday showdown Dickinson.

"What I'm very happy about is how our team hung in there through some (early-season) adversity," said Newark coach Hugh Mitchell. "It would have been easy for them to maybe not have the pride or the intensity or the character to continue, because we had a tough early schedule."

Neither team showed much offensive cohesion in the first half at Glasgow.

However, Newark was more persistent on the ball, and it paid off about 16 minutes in.

Following a throw-in, Newark's Lindsey McKernan collided with Glasgow goalie Erin Hasty and the ball popped loose. McKernan, a sophomore, pounced on the rebound and slotted the ball into the open net from about six yards out.

Three minutes later, Cope, who had missed the entire season with torn ligaments in her left ankle, rocketed a shot off the crossbar.

Both teams came out sharper in the second half. Newark goalie Meredith McIntosh was called on twice to make

Glasgow shines at Penn Relays

4x100 team runs one of best times in nation

By STEVE WESTRICK

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Glasgow's boy runners shined at the Penn Relays last weekend. The relays are a national competition held annually at Franklin Field on the University of Pennsylvania campus.

The Dragons 4x100 relay team of Joe Swift, Issac Allen, Gary Payne and Vince Giles began Friday by recording a time of 42.68 in the qualifying heat. The time was not only a new school record, (crushing the old record of 43.20) but was 10th fastest among over 400 high school teams.

Only four American teams recorded a better time in the qualifying heat, the other five fastest times were set by Jamaican high schools.

In addition, the Dragon's time was faster than 30 of the 76 teams in the college men's bracket, including the University of Delaware, 45.73.

"I thought we could get down to 42-something,"

Glasgow coach Mervin Spence said. "I was hoping that by running on this track the guys adrenaline would be going. I thought we would have a good time, but 10th best that's great."

The eight fastest times in the qualifying heat advanced into Saturday's championship heat. Thus, Glasgow just missed the cutoff, however the team did run on Saturday in the large school consolation heat.

Despite their impressive time, members of the team said after the qualifying heat they could get a better time on Saturday.

"We ran good [in the qualifying heat], but we still made some mistakes, we can get a lower time," Payne said.

In the consolation heat, the Dragons did lower their time running a 42.46, while taking second place in the heat.

Glasgow's foursome of Allen, Darius Crawley, Brian Miller and Marlon Weir won the Northern Delaware 4x400 heat with a time of 3:29.39. Christiana took seventh in that heat, 3:38.92 and Hodgson finished 10th (3:40.70).

The win advanced Glasgow into the Philadelphia area 4x400 heat. However, the Dragons did not fare well finishing last out of a 10 team field as their time increased to 3:31.26.

ATHLETE OF THE WEEK

JOE SWIFT, ISSAC ALLEN, GARY PAYNE, VINCE GILES GLASGOW'S 4x100 RELAY TEAM

GLASGOW'S 4x100 TRACK team-Joe Swift, Issac Allen, Gary Payne and Vince Giles- launched themselves onto the national scene by finishing tenth out of over 400 teams in the qualifying heat at the Penn Relays.

The Dragons set a school record on Friday with a time of 42.68 in the qualifying heat. On Saturday, the team broke their own record, recording a time of 42.46 in the large school consolation heat.

After the qualifying heat, Payne said he felt the team would run better in their next heat.

"The track felt bouncy," he said. "We've only had a chance to run on a few good tracks, and this is a fast track. Now that we got a feel for the track our time will just get better."

The better time gave Glasgow a second place finish in the large school consolation heat. Only Roman Catholic High, from Philadelphia, recorded a better time in the heat, 42.21.

The Penn Relays always draw large crowds, and this year was no exception as 90,982 onlookers jammed the stadium over the three days. Still, the Dragons handled the pressure well.

"We really didn't do anything special [to get ready for the large crowds]," Allen said. "We had our minds set for this. We knew there would be a lot of people out here, but we just blocked it out. Some people get nervous before an event like this, but once you step on the track it all goes away."

Glasgow coach Mervin Spence said the foursome worked hard during the week leading up to the event.

Spence extended the passing zone, where the baton is exchanged from one runner to the next, to allow the runners to get quicker starts off the exchange.

Because all the members of the team are upper-classman and ran together in last year's state championship meet, they are familiar with each other. Still, Spence believed there were other factors contributing to the fast times.

"The competition brought it out, and 44,000 fans brought it out," he said. "They were the fifth best team in America, that is outstanding. Then they got a lower time, and they still think they can get better."

ST. MARK'S EDGES NEWARK

Eighth-ranked St. Mark's scored seven second half goals to pull away from Newark and earn a 12-6 victory in a girls lacrosse game last Wednesday afternoon at Christiana High.

Mench breaks school home run record

Blue Hens take commanding conference lead

Sophomore Kevin Mench broke the school record for home runs and helped the University of Delaware baseball team take a commanding lead over Northeastern in the race for the America East regular season title.

Mench hit two home runs in Sunday's second game against the Huskies to lead the Hens to a 12-9 victory. The win was the third in four tries over Northeastern in the weekend series. The wins left the No. 24 ranked Blue Hens with a 34-8 overall record and an 18-2 league mark. Northeastern is second in the league standings with a 13-7 record.

Delaware also swept a Saturday doubleheader, winning 13-0 and 3-0. Matt Phillips and Chris Frey both pitched shutouts to lead the Hens.

Phillips allowed just five hits and struck out nine on his way to ninth victory without a loss this season. He has also won 21 straight decisions.

Offensively, Andre Duffie had a triple and a home run while Brand Eyman added a triple, home run and four RBI.

In Saturday's second game, Frey (6-1) gave up just two hits and struck out nine. Mench hit a solo homer for one of the Hens' three runs.

After dropping Sunday's first game 10-4, Delaware rebounded to win the second game. Delaware fell behind 8-3 but rallied on the strength of home runs by Mench and Eyman to win the game.

Mench, a St. Mark's graduate, now has a nation-leading 28 home runs to go along with a .463 batting average and 60 RBI. He also has 47 career homers, breaking the record of 46 set by Jim Sherman.

Andre Duffie, who played at Christiana, his hitting .291 with eight homers and 45 RBI. Jeff Simpson, a Newark High graduate, is hitting .467 while seeing action in 15 games.

With just eight conference games left on the schedule, Delaware has the inside track for the regular season championship. The Hens will play doubleheaders at Vermont Saturday and Sunday as well as doubleheaders at Drexel May 9-10. Two games with Rider and a game at Rutgers are also still on the schedule.

The top four teams in the regular season conference standings advance to the America East tournament, which is scheduled for May 15-17 at Frawley Stadium. The winner of the America East tournament gets a berth in the NCAA Tournament.

Roller Hockey league at Western YMCA

The Western Branch YMCA is now registering boys and girls ages 7-16 for its summer youth roller hockey league.

Games and practices are held outdoors on weeknights. The league features over 350 players.

All participants need YMCA membership ($24) and required equipment in order to play.

Registration deadline is May 22. Volunteer coaches are needed. For more information, contact Elizabeth Colalillo at 453-1482.

Pressey leads White to victory

Former Newark High star Butter Pressey caught a touchdown pass and accumulated 123 total yards to help the White team to a 14-12 victory over the Blue in Saturday's annual Blue-White game before over 2,000 fans at Delaware Stadium.

Sophomore quarterback threw two touchdown passes including a 37-yarder to Pressey.

The Virginia Tech transfer, who also spent a year at Hargrave (Va.) Military Academy, carried the ball nine times for 46 yards. He had a long run of 23 yards and also had another catch for 40 yards. Saturday's game was his first after just practicing with the team during the fall.

"It felt good to be back," Pressey said after the game. "This was the final day and it's the best day I've had all spring.

"I've still a got a long way to go to learn the system."

Nagy, who started Delaware's last regular season game and its playoff games, ended up completing 5-of-13 passes for 105 yards. Halfback Craig Cummings carried five times for 76 yards.

For the Blue, junior quarterback Brian Ginn completed 7-of-13 passes for 52 yards and one touchdown. His TD pass was a three-yarder to former St. Mark's player Jason VanKerkhoven. Ginn started most of last season before a shoulder injury sidelined him at the end of the year.

The White outgained the Blue 224-103.

Defensively for the White, senior defensive tackle Bryan Soltes had eight tackles and a sack while senior linebacker Lamont Watson had five tackles.

Named as the Blue Hen Touchdown Club's Most Improved Players for the spring were sophomore center Jeff Fiss, who transferred from Temple; offensive tackle John Ahern (redshirt freshman), redshirt freshman offensive guard Jeff Dodge, redshirt freshman spread end Jamin Elliott, sophomore strong safety Mike Pearson and redshirt freshman linebacker Darrell Edmonds.

Delaware will open its season Sept. 12 at Villanova.

been shaky at times early in the year, seems to be coming on, Bedford said.

"As long as we throw strikes and not allow runs on walks, we'll be okay," he said. "We have a decent defense. We just need to allow them to work."

Delcastle scored a run in the top of the first inning. However, in the bottom of the inning, the Yellowjackets jumped all over the Cougars starting pitcher Javier Gonzalez. He lasted only one inning giving up seven runs off five hits.

Matt Shockley, Delcastle's second pitcher, was unable to stop the bleeding as Newark scored seven more runs in the second inning.

Newark plays cross-town rival Glasgow at Frawley Stadium on Saturday at 4 p.m. The game will raise money for the Blue-Gold All-Star Football game.

St. Mark's soccer edges Newark

By CHRIS DONAHUE

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

ST. MARK'S girls soccer team used two first-half goals and a defense that weathered a strong second half by Newark to earn a 2-1 nonconference victory Monday at Delcastle Recreation Area.

The victory pushed St. Mark's record to 7-1-1, while Newark, which entered the game 5-3-1 after starting the season 0-3-1, lost its second consecutive one-goal game.

"I told the kids to make the (state) tournament, we've got to win five more games," said Newark coach Hugh Mitchell, whose team had six games remaining.

With the toughest part of the Yellowjackets' schedule played, that remains very possible.

"If we play the rest of the way the way did in the second half (on Monday), we shouldn't lose too many," Mitchell said.

Monday's match was also a showcase for two of the state's premier offensive players - Newark senior Jill Cope and St. Mark's sophomore Ashley Dilworth. The two didn't disappoint.

After Cheryl Besosa opened the scoring, Dilworth used her accurate shooting ability to give the Spartans a 2-0 lead with her ninth goal of the season.

"I just try to keep improving and get better every year," said Dilworth, who also plays for Kirkwood Tigers and like some of her teammates, know several of Newark's players through club-level play.

"We knew today was going to be a tough game and we had to come out and play our game," Dilworth said.

Besosa, meanwhile, who missed two weeks in early April with an ankle injury, may have reinjured the ankle in the second half.

Cope, who had missed Newark's first seven games because of an ankle injury, scored her second goal of the season early in the second half with a 25-yard blast.

Cope, who hit four crossbars in her first two games back, will take her talents to the West Virginia University in the fall.

"Boy, does she strike the ball," Mitchell said. "That shot there, they don't come any nicer. And their goalie made a valiant try. (Cope) can shoot with either foot."

Cope's goal would be the only shot to elude St. Mark's goalie Christy Ganc, who was otherwise flawless fielding open shots or aerial balls in traffic.

"(Ganc's) been outstanding. I'd take her over anybody I've seen in goal," said St. Mark's coach Tom DeMatteis.

Including Ganc, DeMatteis cited the play of starting wing backs Sarah Amon and Sherry Smith, wing subs Bobbie LaFazia and Megan O'Donnell, stopper back Anjulee Alvares and sweeper back Kara Humphries.

"The defense has played really well all year," said DeMatteis whose team has only given up three goals all season. "In the second half, we had a little trouble building, but that's been the exception. I guess Newark had something to do with that the way they were working so hard."

Caravel softball team rallies to beat Padua

By MARTY VALANIA

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Two weeks ago Caravel coach Steve Baker was happy with his young team but concerned it hadn't beaten any that it wasn't supposed to.

Monday night Baker was very happy.

The coach had just watched his team score twice in the bottom of the seventh inning to edge fourth-ranked Padua 2-1. It was the second straight game in which his young Bucs had defeated an opponent ranked among the state's top five.

"This was a great win for us," Baker said after the game. "For six innings we didn't do anything to win the game. Fortunately, though, we didn't do anything to lose it either. We hung in there and gave ourselves a chance to win the game."

After limited to just one infield hit through the first six innings, Erin McGlynn led off the seventh inning with a single. Following an out, Stephanie Rice drew a walk.

Alexis Niggebrugge entered the game as a pinch-runner for McGlynn at second base. Her speed proved beneficial as she scampers around third base and safely home with the tying run on Erica Richardson's single to center field.

"That was a big hit by Erica," Baker said. "And I was hoping Alexis would be able to score. I'd hate to have a runner thrown out there. But I really wanted to force them to make a good play."

With the game tied and runners on second and third base, Nancy Tokar hit a ground ball back to the pitcher, Rice, the runner at third base, started home as soon as Tokar's bat made contact with the ball and beat the throw to the plate for the winning run.

"Stephanie was going all the way," Baker said. "Again, we wanted them to come up with the play."

Padua, after having runners on base in each of the first four innings, finally came through with a run in the fifth inning to take a 1-0 lead.

"We played well defensively," Baker said. "They had a lot of chances to score but we made some nice catches and plays and Jackie [pitcher Jackie Homiak] did what she had to do."

One of those nice defensive plays came in the sixth inning with Padua threatening to break the game open. With runners on second and third base and just one out a ground ball was hit to third base.

Caravel's Debbie Austin looked the runner back to third and then faked a throw to first base. The runner, thinking Austin was throwing to first, took off for home. Austin, after her fake throw, reached over and tagged the runner out.

"That was a great play," the coach said. "Megan Richardson and Jamie Keyes also made some nice catches in the outfield."

In all, the Pandas had five hits and left 10 runners on base. Caravel had just three hits.

"This is probably a situation where they think they should've won the game," Baker said. "But I'm really proud of the way we hung in there and were able to come back. We were still in a position to win the game and we did."

"This is a special group of kids."

NEWARK AMERICAN SCORE

The Pirates have opened the season with their third straight win in a 19-11 win over the Mets behind the pitching of JT Bowman and the hitting of Zach DeBoda, Joey Pfitzenmeyer and Nick Couden. Sean Zamboni and Kyle Webb each had hits for the Mets.

Glasgow excels at Penn Relays

► RELAYS from 16

"They seemed to be stuck at 3:29," Spence said of the 4x400 team. "They need to break that barrier. Their time increased in the second race, I think it was because the guys aren't use to running two strong races in one day. But I told them the day before the most important race was the Northern Delaware race."

Over 90,000 fans jammed

Franklin Stadium over the three days of competition, setting an event record.

In girls competition, Christiana and William Penn qualified for Saturday's Tri-State 4x100 heat. Christiana foursome - Danielle Bailey, Shannon Brown, Isidra Huewitt and Lynn Harris- finished sixth, in the eight team field with a time of 49.23.

difficult saves.

Eighteen minutes in, Newark freshman Kim Satterfield converted a long cross from about six yards out to make it 2-0.

With about eight minutes left, Cope put an exclamation point on the victory by blasting a 25-yard shot under the crossbar.

"Everybody is so up," Cope said about her team's resurgence. "We're just trying to take one game at a time."

Glasgow meanwhile, won its first five games of the season, but the Newark loss left it with a 5-4 record and coach Bob Bussiere mystified. In the four losses, his team scored twice - both off restarts.

"I think it's partly desire...I don't know," Bussiere said. "We spent two days working on transition play, we spent two days working on positioning and creating angles and we got no better tonight than we did last Saturday."

"And I told them, I can only evaluate myself based on what I do in our training sessions, and then what I see it in the game. It's like studying for a test, and I'm flunking everywhere. But the problem is that when I go back and evaluate myself, I don't know what I'm doing wrong. I really don't. It's definitely not because I'm not out there (in practices) yelling and screaming and freezing (play)...We haven't been going to the goal well and we've been reviewing that, working on working the ball wide, things like that."

Former Newark resident Agnes Frazer Jones died Friday, April 17, 1998, in Forwood Manor, Brandywine Hundred.

Mrs. Jones, 90, was a homemaker. She was a 70-year member of Daughters of the American Revolution Cooch's Bridge Chapter and was former senior state president and senior national chairman of the Children of the American Revolution.

She received the Gold Good Citizenship Medal from the Sons of the American Revolution, Delaware Society. She had been a women's golf champion at the Newark Country Club, was former president of the Ladies Auxiliary of Greater Wildwood (N.J.) Yacht Club and former chairwoman of the Newark Welfare Committee and the Youth Activities Committee of the Newark Recreation Association. Mrs. Jones was bridge champion several times at the Newark New Century Club.

She was a life member of the Newark Senior Center and the First Presbyterian Church, Newark. Her husband, Ira F. "Jake," died in 1974. A grandson, Gary D. of Gwinhurst, Holly Oak, died April 14.

She is survived by her son, Frazer F. of Brandywine Hundred; and two grandsons.

A memorial service was held April 22 in the First Presbyterian Church, Newark. Burial was private.

The family suggests contributions to the Agnes Frazer Jones Memorial Fund, c/o First Presbyterian Church of Newark, Newark 19711.

Designer home 'breathtaking'

The welcome mat is out at "Claremont," this year's Designer Show Home benefiting the American Diabetes Association.

Featuring decor in 23 rooms by more than 20 leading interior designers, the exhibition will be held through Sunday, May 24, at the home located behind Immanuel Baptist Church, at Greenhill and Pennsylvania avenues in Wilmington.

Now used as church offices, the house is arresting in its architectural style. The shape and proportion of the curved foyer is described as breathtaking. A sculpture by the Newark artist Charles Parks is on display inside. On the second floor, the master bath presents a clever compromise between the conveniences of modern day and the charm of the Victorian era.

One of the highlights of the home is the back door's 'mud room' where pigs are taking up residency and frolicking in their favorite brown bath. Stainless, white, and glass are key words that describe the renovation of kitchen and butler's pantry. Hardwood floors throughout have been refinished.

Called Claremont by its early owners, this example of early 20th century stone craftsmanship has been home to some of Wilmington's most prestigious residents, including Pierre and Alice duPont.

Philip D. and Elizabeth A. Gordy were the last owners, selling it to Immanuel Baptist Church for a mere $10 in 1962. Surrounding the home are classic stone, stucco, and brick homes in the Wawaset and Rockford Park communities.

Fox Point Grill will serve lunch in a cafe on site. Hours for tours are Tuesday through Friday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., Saturdays, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., and Sundays 12 noon to 5 p.m. Admission: $13 in advance; $15 at the door; and $12 for seniors. Children 10 years and under unfortunately not permitted in the house. For more information, call the American Diabetes Association at 656-0030.

1. Carriers are required to sort mail into delivery sequence, load mail into their vehicles, including parcels weighing up to 70 lbs., and deliver all mail and parcels to the designated addresses. They must maintain required information and record changes of address, maintain other reports as required and forward mail where required. They are expected to accept, collect and deliver all class of mail on their routes as well as sell stamp supplies and money orders.
2. The duties of this position are arduous and require that the incumbent be in good physical condition. Placing letters and parcels in mailboxes require careful handling of the vehicles and frequent shifting from one side of the vehicles to the other.
3. Incumbents of these positions are representatives of the US Postal Service to the public. It is essential, therefore that they maintain pleasant and effective working relations with their customers and present an acceptable appearance.

PROFICIENCY REQUIREMENTS:

1. Ability to read, understand, and apply written instruction.
2. Ability to perform basic arithmetic computations.
3. Ability to prepare reports and maintain records.
4. Ability to communicate effectively with customers.
5. Ability to work effectively without close supervision.
6. Ability and desire to serve the public effectively as a representative of the USPS.

PHYSICAL REQUIREMENTS:

1. Applicants must be physically able to perform efficiently the arduous duties of this position. A physical examination and drug test will be required before appointment.
2. Applicants must have vision of 20/40 (Snellen) in one eye, corrective lenses permitted, and be able to read without strain printed material the size of typewritten characters.

ADDITIONAL PROVISIONS:

1. Applicants must have a valid state driver's license and a safe driving record, and must pass the Postal Service road test to show the ability to safely drive a vehicle of the type used on the job.
2. Hourly rate: $10.59 per hour.
